JEANE BOWMAN

Ann McCarthy, writer-learned and indefatigable, has a genius for covering a story. Her latest one is no exception. She also has a knack for "telling" the story, which is just another way of saying that she does it in a way that makes it easy for the reader to follow the story. In this case, she has the story of the Japanese invasion of the Philippines.

Ann started at the beginning, and now we are at the end. She has written a story that is so well put together that it is easy to follow the events. She has also written a story that is so well written that it is easy to understand.

BLINDNESS . . . anomalies

A balance of some twenty years ago on the matter of blindness and other eye anomalies is not the same as that of 1930. The eye is a very complex organ, and the anomalies of the eye are equally as complex. The anomalies of the eye are not just a matter of the eye itself, but are also a matter of the whole body. The anomalies of the eye are more than just a matter of the eye, but are also a matter of the whole body.

Dr. Kagawa Lauds American Christians on Influence for Good Exerted in Japan

Dr. Kagawa, noted Japanese-Christian leader, speaking before a large gathering of American Baptists and Christianity in Japan, voiced the belief that the spiritual influences which the Christian Baptists had had in the United States were not as great as the spiritual influence of Japan on the United States.

Upon his experiences in Christianity in the United States and Japan and regarding there was no such thing as Christianity in the United States as was the spiritual influence of Japan on the United States, Dr. Kagawa said, "I believe in the power of Japan." He said that Japan had been the source of spiritual strength for the United States.

Dr. Kagawa said that he had been impressed with the spiritual strength of the United States and that the spiritual influence of Japan on the United States was not as great as the spiritual influence of Japan on the United States.
