Hotels say they help with water

By Nick Legaspi, Senior reporter

©1988 Marianas Variety

Hotels and factories, often blamed for taking water away from households, are actually turning to alternative sources of water for own use.

With enough legislative or other persuasive action by the government these establishments, with their financial resources, could totally stop using water from the public system.

This came to light during the hearing conducted Monday afternoon by the Special Senate Committee on Water Resources. Five hotels and five garment companies were represented in the hearing. Four other hotels, five factories and golf course operators invited by the committee failed to send representatives to the hearing.

Felipe Salas and Sumiki Mitta, representing Diamond Hotel, said the establishment is utilizing 64,785 square feet of concrete roof area to collect rainwater. So far the catchment facility has collected about two million gallons of rainwater, according to the two officials.

They said the hotel used 2.6 million gallons of water in January with an average occupancy rate of 60.8 percent. The hotel consumed 2.5 million gallons in February with 77.8 percent of rooms occupied, and 2.24 million gallons this month with 85.8 percent of rooms occupied. They said the hotel still depends on the public water system but does not use pumps to siphon off water from the line.

Brent Smith, representing Pacific Islands Club, the new owner of Surf Hotel, said the company drilled two wells near the hotel at a cost of $12,000 to provide part of the establishment's water needs. The hotel also acquired a reverse osmosis water purifying machine at a cost of $230,000 and a monthly operating and maintaining expense of $5,000 to give its guests clean water.

Smith said the hotel, which must cope with low water pressure from the public system, plans to be self-sufficient in water and power.

Hiroshi Takagi said Hotel Nikko Saipan, with 303 rooms, would open April 1 and would need 350 to 380 tons of water a day at full occupancy. It is now drawing 10 to 20 tons of water (about 2,500 to 5,000 gallons) from the public system daily.

Garment factory represenatatives also testified that they were not forcing water out of pipes, although they complained about the lack of water.

Payoffs?

Papers are expeditied for buck$

By Nick Legaspi, senior reporter

Payoff, the word first brought up in public by William Millard, now the essence of several grand jury indictments, has allegedly crept into the nonresident labor processing system.

Several representatives of employment agencies told two legislators in a meeting Wednesday that a woman closely linked with a highly placed official of the Department of Commerce and Labor had been allegedly telling prospective employers of nonresident workers that she could speed up processing of the workers' permits in two weeks for a fee of $75-$100 for each permit."She can do it," Margie Carino, one of 12 representatives from employment agencies who attended the meeting, said.

Two other ranking officials of the department were linked by the employment agents to delays in the processing of applications to hire nonresident workers and the alleged payoff scheme.

The agents also said Korean and Chinese agents were allegedly able to have their papers processed without delay.

Director Sablan declined to comment on the payoff allegations. . He also said that he was waiting for passage of the new budget to be able to hire additional manpower and expedite the processing of applications to hire nonresident workers

Rep. Antonio M. Camacho, chairman of the House Committee on Judiciary and Governmental Operations, said he would write to Commerce and

Final public hearing on water to be held April 4

By David T. Hughes
editor

The Senate Special Committee on Water Resources will be holding the final of its four meetings on Monday, April 4 , 7 p.m. at Tanapag Elementary School. The meeting is for the residents of precinct four, but is open to anyone in the public. Also, anyone may speak on the issues.

Those who were unable to attend the meetings held at Northern Marianas College, Marianas High School and the Carolinian Utt may want to attend this final session. Previous meetings have resulted in the committee members being told dozens of water woes, but the general public has also learned a few things about how the water system works.

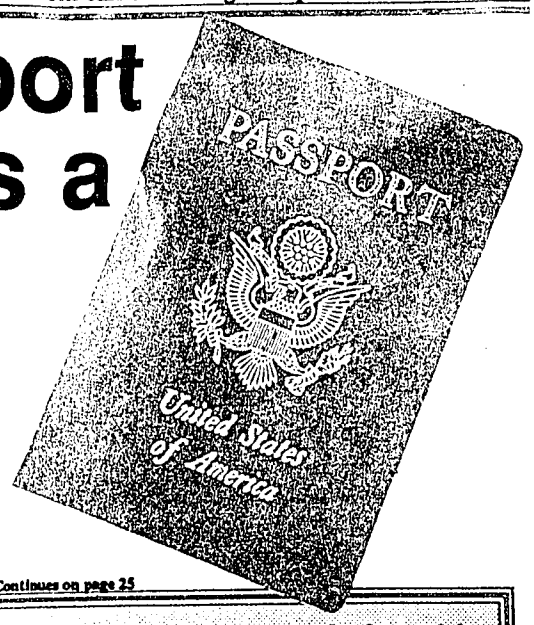
Latest passport case reaches a compromise



By David T. Hughes, editor

©1988 Marianas Variety

An interim compromise agreement has been reached in the newest passport lawsuit filed against the United States by Larry Hillblom. The compromise agreement forumated by the U.S. Department of Justice basically gives the two plaintiffs, Rufina Takai Palacious and Dolores Takai Deleon Guerrero what they want - a way to travel.

Easter a time of hope for CNMI

The Easter season is traditionally viewed as a time of renewal and resurrection of hope. Of course it is tied to Christ's rising from the grave on the third day, but also it is tied to the renewal of the land in springtime.

Here in our island paradise we take little notice of the passage of "seasons", but elsewhere on the Earth cold winter snows are giving way to warming spring rains, blooming flowers and the like . . in other words— new life springing from a once-dead land. Hope springs eternal.

This newspaper hopes that the 1988 Easter season can be the beginning of a new and more harmonious relationship between the United States and the Commonwealth. It seems to have gotten off to a good start with two ladies getting their U.S. passports.

There was great joy when the CNMI became "part" of the U.S. through its commonwealth status. Everyone really began to think of themselves as belonging to the greatest family on earth - an AMERICAN citizen.

But, that joy had turned into anger for many people because of red tape and closed minds in Washington, D.C. Perhaps it is appropriate that yet another Larry Hillblom suit regarding passport (and with it - citizenship) rights went through federal court during this season. While we have very fundamental and basic differences with his methods and ideas on challenging the U.S. on matters such as land and how we elect our legislators, we now feel he is right in this one endeavor.

We fully understand the caution that the U.S. places in awarding that little blue book which identifies one as a United States Citizen. Those who don't have a right to possess it, shouldn't. But, the U.S. negotiated an agreement that said ALL persons so-entitled to a passport would be issued one. That agreement is not being honored in its entirety

Citizens of the Commonwealth who don't fit into a category defined by persons who may not have been past Los Angles are being told they aren't good enough to be U.S. citizens by that government's employees. These wronged people now have to take the United States into that nation's own court system to force it to abide by its own agreements. The Variety feels that the U.S. Congress fully intended for our citizens to be part of the U.S., and petty little bureaucrats in the State and Justice Departments are flexing their paper muscles, causing anguish to many.

Rota politico is admired

I had the rare opportunity to visit Rota last week with the governor to attend the inaugural ceremony of the second municipal council.

I was rather impressed by the eloquence of Councilwoman Laura Manglona who stated her views about the job ahead without grandstanding. She made history for being the first woman ever to be elected into public office in that beautiful little island we know as Luta.

I also took back with nostalgia as the Senate President addressed the crowd that evening for the first time since he became the presiding officer of the Senate. He's more than a seasoned leader who knows the fonds and follies of his people having served them for about 30 years now. He's watched and seen his little island go through the pains of growth and development. Indeed, he's done an outstanding job as a leader and is known by his people as "Rota's Favorite Son".

And so there's now a gradual transition however slow in leadership from the old guards to the new. Rota Island is still growing at a pace so dictated by its people and leaders. Throughout the ceremony I kept pounding upon the weekly travels that the Rota Senatorial Delegation must make to attend sessions on Saipan. It wasn't a choice since the bi-weekly commuting is part of the job. It must be hard on their families and we should be grateful to them for putting in their share of sacrifices.

Rota Island is still making a steady recovery from the ravages of Typhoon Roy. Coupled with the dry season, you can imagine how slow it is for the vegetation to return to normal. But the people in that island community are a courageous few and I am sure that in no time they should be able to return to normal conditions as they work each day towards recovery. My personal congratulations to Edward Maratita and the other gentleman too upon their inauguration and may your tenure be one of success.

Poker profits must be taxed too

Dear Editor:

I read with considerable interest your Editorial Opinion in the March 4, 1988 edition of the Marianas Variety. I was quite surprised to hear that profits from poker machine operations are unregulated and untaxed. This appears to be contrary to Commonwealth revenue policy, rules and regulations. Income and profits from any source is subject to income tax, unless specifically excluded. I refer to local law as opposed to the Internal Revenue Code which I am not commenting upon.

While its several years since I worked with the Division of Revenue and Taxation, I'm certain that poker profits as well as other types of income are covered in Revenue Regulations. The Division of Revenue and Taxation should ensure compliance with their regulations by frequent audits to make certain profits are correctly reported by business establishments where poker machines are in operation.

Very truly,

She asked that they and others make allowances for "honest checking account users." The woman said she she didn't shop there becauase they won't take her checks.

A woman also complained that this newspaper didn't staff the island's bseball games. "Most players did their utmost best that were worth mentioning instead of waiting for the following week's paper. Don't you agree?

Another caller felt CUC's Pete Sasamoto's promise to make water pumps illegal was misplaced logic. "I think that's a very poor excuse on his part for the water problem we are having. Does that mean he is also going to stop the hotels from using the water pumps?

A male caller dialed up to say that he was a "local man and wanted to respond to those who want to amend the alien labor law."

He said "I don't want to see any changes made in the legislation based on the assumption that ' law is a law' . . . The rationale behind the law is to protect the local people."

He said that the laborers are not being subjected to sudden changes, "they have had seven or eight months to know about it."

Another man called in saying he would be in favor of a moratorium on garment factories. "In fact I would be in favor of a moratorium on all develop opt with the possible exception of residential."

Nikko Hotel tour shows off Saipan's newest attraction

Normally this column has a bunch of "hummrph" stuff in it. I gripe about this and moan about that. This week - in keeping with the Easter season, I want to talk about at least one thing that's positive.

I had the pleasure of a "nickel tour" of the new Nikko Hotel last weekend and it was really a nice experience.

Susumu Muto, assistant general manager for the Hotel Nikko Saipan, Inc., took time from his busy schedule to show me around his multi-million dollar "place".

I have seen some very posh hotels in my time, and one of the first things that I judge a hotel on is its lobby. Here the Nikko shines. Like many of the island's hotels it has the open air concept, but also a quiet elegance that immediately draws you into the "happy" feeling that the hotel tries to exude.

Instead of cold marbled floors and walls which are in at least island hotel, the Nikko has vaulted ceilings with art on the walls, and two huge urns in the lobby's center. Sculptured lighting and soft music greet you as you want in the door, along with a bevy of bowing and smiling hotel employees.

Although the hotel doesn't officially open until today, there were still a few hundred guests at the hotel during my visit. They were travel and tour agents from Japan getting a "pre-opening look-see" of the place. I couldn't understand their Japanese language, but with all the smiling, finger-pointing, and exclamations of awe over the hotel's amenities, I can guess they were impressed and enjoying their stay.

Muto took me to the 15th floor in their classy glass elevator. That was a view in itself!

The hotel executive took me to what he termed a "mini-suite" renting for about $250 per day. It had a wonderful view of the bay, Managaha Island, and the hotel's own grotto and water terraces. I don't think I could ever afford more than one night there, but I think it would be like being pampered.

The room was not in use, but individual bath sandals, robes, etc. were all laid out - waiting for its first guest.

The assistant general manager showed the room with obvious pride, pointing to such niceties as a bath telephone and superior stereo system in the room.

"Many of our guests are young people," he said. "They usually always travel with a tape player and this system will allow them to enjoy their tapes here in their own room with great fidelity."

Even walking to your room on the 15th floor is an experience. Little terraced flower gardens are spaced along the walkway - each with their own little watering tube. The view is breathtaking on both sides, with the ocean on hand and the towering Marpi heights on the other.

With a little over 300 rooms, and about the same number of employees, Muto said the guests would be "well taken care of."

Continuing the tour. Muto showed me two of the restaurants, including a traditional Japanese food dining area. Also available in this restaurant are private dining rooms (like I've seen on TV) to cater to small or private parties.

Also available is the "cook-while-you-watch" dining area. Personally, I was always a little nervous being around flashing knives and sizzling hot vegetables. Muto laughed and said they hadn't lost a guest yet.

The "western style" restaurant is spacious and will feature a buffet breakfast, he said, for the guests or local residents who would like to try the hotel's eateries.

"Of course, we welcome anyone to come and dine with us," Muto said. "We hope that our chefs' work can speak for itself."

Alas, there is no "local rate" lunches or meals at the Nikko, he said.

There is so much to talk about that it would take more than one column, so I am going to save it for their May 15th grand-open-

We applaud the compromise measure agreed to by the United States. This agreement will give the two women Hillblom was suing to get passports for that document on an 'interim' basis. The lawyer said the passports would be good for "as long as we are litigating the issue."

This 'bending of the rules ' is a good sign and we should all draw some hope from it. The Variety truely believes that such give-and-take by all parties is the way to better relations.

The compromise also could open a door for others who fit these ladies' 'class'. If the U.S. agrees to give passports to them, then it would be very difficult to turn down others in their identical circumstances.

Also, this newspaper feels that another example of good neighbor policy might be for the U.S. to place a satellite consulate office here in the Commonwealth. This would enable local employers needing to get Guam or U.S. visas for their employees without having the tremendous expense of sending them to Palau. This same office could also handle other problems that requires the attention of a U.S. diplomatic agency.

Yes, Easter is a time of renewal. Will we see a REAL renewal in good relations with our Big Brother to the east? Only time will tell.

Hearings raise anger and awareness of citizens

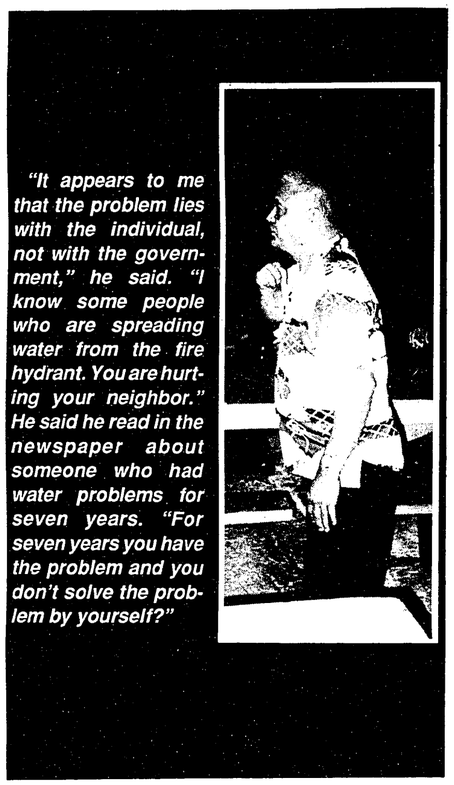
By Wesley Goodman
Staff reporter

It's been a tough week for a lot of CNMI public servants. Legislative water committee members, accompanied by CUC executive director Pete Sasamoto, have faced animated and angry testimony which included yelling, waving arms, requests for water hauled to individual homes, tales from elderly citizens about years and years of water problems, opinions about development and exploitation of the island, questions about budgets and plans, and endless talk about leaky water pipes, poor water quality and no water.

Sen. Juan N. Babauta, chairman of the Legislative Joint Committee on Water Resources, said legislators will be introducing water bills after public testimony on the ever-present water issue is finished. "I'm sure that at least two or three bills will come out of this," Babauta said Tuesday evening in an interview.

"One (bill) that we forsee so far is a bill for the management of water resources. That would involve the permitting of water hookups, well drilling and installation of pumps. And the permitting would be given to the CUC to administer."

Babauta said it is too early go into detail about possible legislation that will come as a result of testimony on the water issue. "I'm now talking very prematurely" he said about the possible "permitting" bill.



"It appears to me that the problem lies with the individual, not with the government," he said. "I know some people who are spreading water from the fire hydrant. You are hurting your neighbor." He said he read in the newspaper about someone who had water problems for seven years. "For seven years you have the problem and you don't solve the problem by yourself?"

The senator's committee has heard testimony on Saipan's water problem from the Commonwealth Utilities Corporation, government officials, and representatives from public and private organizations on the island, including people from hotels and garment factories. The committee, composed of senators Babauta, Paul A. Manglona, Herman R. Guerrero and Manuel P. Villagomez heard testimony from the people during evening sessions March 28 at Northern Marianas Community College and on March 29 at Marianas High School. Villagomez was not at either of the meetings.

As in the Monday meeting, most of the meeting was in Chamorro, because the committee felt the elderly citizens who didn't speak English should understand what was going on.

Monday, at least one person asked that the meeting also be either translated in English for those who didn't understand the vernacular.

Babauta said the committee was to be joined by House members Juan S. Reyes, Juan S. Torres, Antonio M. Camacho and Vicente M. Sablan to hear public testimony at the Carolinian Uut March 30 and on April 4 at Tanapag Elementary School.

Congressmen Camacho and Sablan were also part of a four-man fact finding team from the legislature which went to Marianas High and Garapan Elementary Schools March 25 to see the problems that come from lack of water in the schools.

Sen. Manglona said, "I think that we expected their comments. It's hearing directly from the people about their water needs, problems and recommendations."

He also said the public may be learning something from the testimony. "Garment factory and hotel people said they have their own wells and their own water tanks, most of them. It's good to let them know so once and for all they stop complaining to their officials."

One man told the committee Tuesday night that some of the water problems could be solved by the people. "It appears to me that the problem lies with the individual, not with the government," he said. "I know some people who are spreading water from the fire hydrant. You are hurting your neighbor." He said he read in the newspaper about someone who had water problems for seven years. "For seven years you have the problem and you don't solve the problem by yourself?"

A Susupe resident said that although the area around his home is often flooded by lake Susupe, he still has no tap water in his house. Sasamoto said he has never heard of Lake Susupe used as a source of potable water. The resident, saying he was desperate for water; "If you can deliver a truck to the school, you can deliver some water to my house."

An American voice added to the complaints, saying: "Nobody can tell me the hotels and garment factories aren't sucking this island dry of water. Some people say development is good for the island but it sounds like exploitation to me."

During Monday's hearing at Northern Marianas Community College an angry water 'user' said," Everybody can produce their own water instead of bothering our infrastructure. Let the garment factories and hotels have their own water from the ground."

Babauta said in an interview the committee is recording the sentiment and testimony of the people literally on tape and also in their minds.

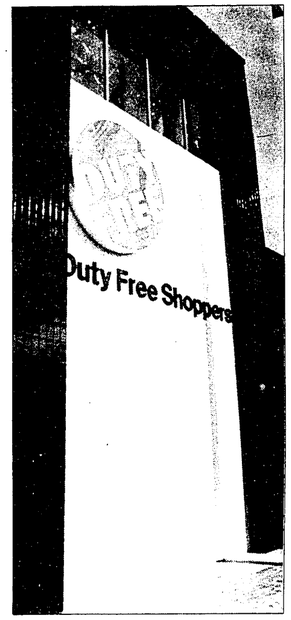
Saipan's Duty Free store one of most modern now



By Nick Legaspi
Senior reporter

One way to attract tourists is to offer them more of the good things, and Duty Free Shoppers is one tourist shop that just completed a proven attraction: a big store with a large stock of coveted merchandise.

Duty Free Shoppers Limited will be holding its grand opening April 8 of its new store in Garapan. The new store has about 17,000 square feet of shopping space or over 120 percent more than the old store which is now being turned into a parking lot.

The new downtown shop was built in 17 months at a cost of $6 million, according to a press irelease issued by the company. It is the largest among Duty Free's eight outlets in Saipan and part of the 18-store Mid-Pacific Division of Duty Free Shoppers Limited. The company has a total of 130 retail outlets in the Pacific Basin and in mainland United States.

Duty Free (Saipan) President P. Thomas Picarro and other company executives said in an interview Tuesday that Duty Free offers tourists, specially the Japanese, a wide choice of name-brand merchandise at prices about 25 percent to 50 percent savings than in Japan. As an example, they said that liquor costing ¥ 50,000 in Japan could be bought for ¥ 8,000 in the local Duty Free Shop.

In addition to liquor, fast-selling items at Duty Free include leather goods, cosmetics, souvenirs and chocolates.

The Saipan branch of Duty Free is among the largest private employers here, with 265 employees, almost all CNMI residents or American citizens.

Grand opening ceremonies start at 9 a.m.at the store on April 8. Adrian D.P. Bellamy, board chairman and chief executive officer of the Duty Free Shoppers Group, and R.J. Bruso, president of the Mid-Pacific Division, are among the special guests in the grand opening.

Tenorio sets April as Child Abuse Prevention Month

By Wesley Goodman
Staff reporter

"Stop, look and listen" is the theme for Child Abuse Prevention Month in the Commonwealth. Governor Pedro P. Tenorio signed a proclamation March 30 designating April as the abuse-prevention month.

"I urge all citizens to work with their local organizations toward reducing child abuse," Tenorio wrote in the proclamation.

"The theme for April...is 'stop, look and listen' in recognition of the fact that many, if not most, incidents of child abuse and neglect are made possible by lack of communication between children and their parents or caretakers."

The governor also wrote that child abuse is a complex and ongoing problem that affects many children in the Commonwealth and that community action is needed to help stop abuse and improve family life.

He said the "welfare and development of every child is the responsibility of every adult human being with whom he or she comes in contact."

The proclamation says that the National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse "hopes to involve every Commonwealth community in support of programs that foster prevention of child abuse and neglect."

The Commonwealth courts have been hearing a multitude of child abuse and sexual abuse of a child cases as of late. Social workers from both the catholic and CNMI services have voiced concern about the lack of education on what is really considered as child abuse. The governor's proclamation hopes to bring a tighter focus on this information.

Hotels and factories helping .

Takagi said the hotel had tested 10 to 15 rooms and found that each room would need 50 to 100 tons of water everyday. He said the hotel had dug a well with a daily output of 300 tons of water, which is mixed with water from the public system and then filtered.

Hyatt Regency's representative, Aurelio Mones, complained that the hotel was receiving less water than other similar establishments. He said the hotel gets 15,000 to 20,000 gallons of water daily. The hotel, which suffers from low water pressure, is expecting a significant increase in its water requirements when it completes its expansion project to increase the number of rooms from 173 to 255.

None of the hotels represented in the hearing said it was using booster pumps to siphon off water from pipes.

Garment factory represenatatives also testified that they were not forcing water out of pipes, although they complained about the lack of water. Nick Sablan,representing Linson Saipan, said the company does not depend on the public water supply. He saidd Linson built its own well at a cost of $200,000. It also collects rainwater in a catchment facility capable of holding two to three million gallons.

Sablan said rainwater is mixed with well water before being used in the factory.

Benigno R. Fitial, who testified on behalf of American International Knitters Corp., Pacific Garment Manufacturers and American Investment Corp., said that the establishments were receiving only 10,000 gallons of water a day from the public water system. He said the firms had to rely on water catchments and was using sea water to flush toilets.

Margaret Guerrero and Eddie Young, representing Marianas Garment Manufacturers, said the company had 348 nonresident workers and depends on the public system for water needs. They said the factory in Chalan Piao also has its own rainwater catchment system with four tanks. They said about 6,000 gallons of water are used daily for personnel sanitation in the factory. The company representatives said they receive water from the public system about four days every week.

The committee, headed by Sen. Juan N. Babauta,started the hearing Monday morning, during which officials from the Commonwealth Utilities Corp. and other government agencies testified about the water supply and distribution situation. The committee has also scheduled hearings in several schools to receive comments from Saipan residents. The body is expected to finish its report by the middle of May.

Payoffs for faster labor permits . . .

Labor Director Jesus Sablan for a formal explanation regarding the alleged payoffs and other complaints aired by the employment agents and employers."Then I'll bring them in (for a hearing)," he said in an interview after the meeting at the Casa de Roma Restaurant.

Rep. Manuel C. Sablan, a JGO member who was with Camacho at the meeting, agreed that even simple courtesy is lacking at the department's labor division, which processes applications to hire nonresident workers.

The employment agents and employers said they had applications pending and unacted by the division for as long as 12 to 18 months.Eddie Taimanao said he submitted his application to hire a nonresident worker in June 1987. In January he was told to get a surety bond for the worker. He submitted the bond in February. He said during the meeting he still had not received the worker's permit.

Reps. Antonio M. Camacho (right) and Manual C. Sablan met with employment agents Wednesday afternoon regarding alleged corrupt activities in the Division of labor.

"They're making labor their business," he said."They make money."

"Only those strong with labor (division) and has money are entertained," Carino said.

Roma Diaz-Aranda, who organized the meeting, said she was losing her clients in the recruiting business because of the long delay in processing of papers. Other participants in the meeting said the usual response to their efforts to inquire about the status of their applications was "still under processing."

Rep. Sablan said that under the law the maximum period allowed for the processing of these applications is 60 days."Look at the logbook, see when the papers were submitted and when they were released," Diaz suggested.

A construction company owner said that because of the delay in the processing of his applications to hire additional workers he decided to pay an agent $127 for each application. As of last week the contractor, who declined to be named,and his agent are still waiting for permits.

Karl Reyes, representing Sablan Construction Corp.,said his company also had not been able to get the permits for workers although the necessary papers had been with the labor division since June 1987.

Director Sablan declined to comment on the payoff allegations when contacted by phone Wednesday. He also said that he was waiting for passage of the new budget to be able to hire additional manpower and expedite the processing of applications to hire nonresident workers.

Governor Pedro P. Tenorio said in an earlier interview that also had heard the allegations about payoffs at the department and was looking into them.He said he was also planning an overhaul of the department. He did not disclose the details of the overhaul plan.

"Nobody has ever gone out in this kind of forum to talk to the people directly," he said. "They're frustrated. They don't want any more promises, They want something done with the problem. they want action."

Sasamoto, often called upon to defend himself, the CUC and Saipan's water system, told one meeting, "Changes aren't going to happen over night or even in one year."

Paint may yield telling evidence

Police think they have hit-and-run boat

By Wesley Goodman
Staff reporter

Police have confiscated a motorboat from a Koblerville resident after a witness identified it as allegedly being the same hit-and-run boat that allegedly struck Japanese tourist Akitoshi Kojima, 26, while he was windsurfing near Managaha island on March 13.

Cpt. Frank M. Camacho said that no arrests have been made yet because the police do not have enough evidence against the boat owner.

"We scraped some paint from the surf board from the area where the surfer was struck," Camacho said. "We are sending the paint to Washington, D.C. We're also sending a paint sample from the boat to the lab for comparison."

Camacho said that police are waiting for laboratory results before they can take action.

"At this time we cannot make an arrest unless the lab tells us the paint we extracted from the windsurfer is the same paint from the boat," he said. "We have reasons to believe that that boat may be the one, but we don't have probable cause. We don't have all the facts."

Other police news includes the arrest of Segundo P. Sablan, charged with two counts of forgery, according to documents filed in the CNMI courts on March 29.

Police report that Sablan, in jail for the past several years, is released on parole but that he allegedly continues forging checks.

Police say that Sablan had been on parole for about two weeks before his alleged forging of checks in March.

Court documents allege that Sablan forged an $800 check on March 26 to Delia C. Forrester, doing business as Club Imperial, and a $454 two days later to Olympic Market. The papers say both checks were allegedly written against the account of Augustin Enterprises.

Francisco B. Castro, a vice principal at Hopwood Junior High School in Chalan Piao arrested for allegedly possessing about 10 pounds of marijuana and a loaded .38-caliber revolver, has pleaded "not guilty" to all charges.

New generators should let CUC overhaul Mitsubishis

By Nick Legaspi
Senior reporter

Six generators purchased by the Commonwealth Utilities Corp. will start arriving early next month to provide power to most households and businesses in Saipan while the generators at the main power plant are shut down for overhaul,CUC Chairman Jose Taitano said yesterday.

CUC Executive Director Pete Sasamoto said in an interview Monday that the emergency generators manufactured by General Electric were bought by CUC from Guam-based Synergy-Obrien at a total cost of $2.63 million. The contract between CUC and Synergy-Obrien also includes an additional amount (not known during the interview) for the operation and maintenance of the emergency power plant by the supplier.

Taitano said in a press statement released Monday that the generators were capable of producing 15 megawatts of electricity or more than half the total power output of the main power plant. Each of the new generators has a capacity of 2.5 megawatts, compared to the seven-megawatt output of each of the generators at the main power plant.

Taitano said three of the new generators would arrive early April and would be commissioned at the end of the month. The other three are expected to start operating by May 19.

Sasamoto said the engines should have been overhauled three years ago. The lack of an alternative power supply delayed the overhaul

Sasamoto said the contracts for the purchase and operation of the emergency generators were signed Feb.19. He said CUC still had to sign a contract for the overhaul of the Japanese-made engines in the main power plant. He said the engines should have been overhauled three years ago. The lack of an alternative power supply to take over their place, however, delayed the overhaul.Sasamoto said he was still discussing with Mitsubishi the amount CUC must pay for supervision cost under the proposed overhaul contract. The total cost of the overhaul is not known yet.Money for the purchase and operation of the new generators, as well as for the overhaul of the old engines, will be borrowed by CUC from the Commonwealth Development Authority under the $140-million development bond program.

Cliff P. Jones to represent NMCC in competition

Commencing this summer the Land Grant Program at Northern Marianas College will have a participant to represent the Commonwealth in the National Science Foundation Young Scholars Pacific Region Program at University of Hawaii. Sometime in early part of June, Clifford Pangelinan Jones will be leaving the Commonwealth to attend a six-week summer program at University of Hawaii focusing in agricultural engineering, economics, plant sciences, genetics and animal sciences. He will also be given the opportunity to study together with other students on campus, under the guidance of scientists, while living in university facilities.

He is from As Lito is now a junior at Mount Carmel School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Marilyn) Jones.

Lawmakers touring the NMI schools

By Wesley Goodman
Staff reporter

Congressman Antonio M. Camacho said he and fellow legislators David C. Sablan, Vicente M. Sablan and Gabriel B. Babauta are in the process of touring schools on Saipan, Rota and Tinian to see how both public and private schools are dealing with a lack of water.

Camacho and Vicente Sablan are also on the Legislative Joint Committee on Water Resources, which is in the process of hearing public testimony on Saipan's water problems.

The four legislators began their fact-finding mission on March 25 by going to Garapan Elementary and Marianas High Schools.

That school was threatened with closure March 11 when public health sanitarians discovered there was no water to flush the toilets. MHS principal Victorino S. Cepeda decided to keep students in school to finish instruction for that day. The Saipan municipal government supplied a 3,000-gallon water truck so school toilets can be flushed.

Camacho said he feels the student's tight schedules do not allow them enough time to get water from the truck to flush toilets.

"They're bailing water from the mayor's water tank," he said. "But it's the inconvenience to the students there."

Cepeda said that this has resulted in unflushed toilets and urine on the floors.

Andie Dela Cruz, MHS vice principal, said she met with the congressmen when they toured

Bad marshmallows jerked from store shelves by the HD

Sanitarians from the Division of Public Health confiscated spoiled marshmallows from the shelves of a Chalan Piao store, shut down a Chalan Kanoa snack bar and told a local bakery to get rid of rats during recent inspections.

Chalan Kanoa's O.K. Snack Corner will be out of business until the establishment cleans up and installs another toilet as ordered during a January inspection. Seven packages of marshmallows were pulled from the shelves of Chalan Piao's Sunny Market after an inspection determined they were spoiled and unfit for human consumption. Herman's Modern Bakery in San Vicente got a "B" rating along with a warning to take steps to get rid of rats in the facility. Rat droppings and other signs of rodents were found in several areas of the bakery. The company was also told to remove cobwebs and accumulations of dust and flour on walls and shelves.

Rat droppings in cabinets and unprotected food in the kitchen contributed to the "C" grade of Lela's Coffee Shop in Puerto Rico. Piles of trash, a greasy exhaust fan, a defective water heater and uncovered food also earned the Tokyo-En Restaurant in Garapan a "C".

The Yurakuen Restaurant at the Diamond Hotel in Susupe and the refreshment operation at the Saipan Botanical Garden in Papago got "B"s. "B"s also went to the Globe Mart One store in Chalan Piao, Meisan Mini Mart, Koblerville, Ralph's Store, Susupe, Herman's Food Basket, Garapan and Ann's Retail Store in San Antonio. Problems at Herman's included expired candy on the shelves, dusty merchandise and missing floor tiles. Missing tiles, a dirty air conditioner and dusty merchandise were among the problems at Ann's.

Chalan Kanoa's Round House Restaurant went from a "C" to an "A" as did Garapan's Kingfisher Restaurant.

More letters to editor:

Pageant is open to all qualifying

Dear Editor:

This is in reply to the Letter to the Editor from E. Saures in the March 25th issue of the Marianas Variety News.

We thank you for your concern in regards to the 1988 Northern Marianas Beauty Pageant Association (NMBPA).

As you assumed, a participant in the NMBP contest need not be of indigenous nature or be born in the CNMI. However, a participant must be a U.S. citizen or be domiciled in the CNMI for at least (5) years.

The participants of the Miss International pageants are competing for the title through beauty of face and figure, poise and personality, and intelligence. These pageants are held to promote worldwide peace, friendship, and goodwill among nations regardless of race, creed or color.

The winners of the Miss Northern Marianas Beauty pageants represent the CNMI by promoting the beauty of our islands and the warm hospitality of her people to audiences worldwide.

A news release is sent out each year informing the general public that the NMBPA is meeting to elect officers and anyone interested in becoming a member is urged to attend. We would certainly appreciate your input if you wish to become a member We also put in several news releases in local newspapers and the PDN to solicit for all interested ladies to join the pageant. All NMBPA members were out soliciting in persons, trying to encourage as many ladies to participate. We found it difficult to have many contestants due to the ladies who are either going off-island to further their education or because they did not meet the qualifications.

Meetings for 1989 Miss Northern Marianas Beauty Pageant will begin in July or August of this year. The public will be informed via the local media. We urge you and all interested persons to join and make next year's pageant another successful one for the CNMI.

Japanese baseball team donates $1,000 to CHC volunteers

Kintetsu Buffaloes want to help Saipan

Saipan's growing popularity as a winter training spot for Japanese baseball teams led indirectly to a recent $1,000 donation to the Commonwealth Health Center Volunteers.

For the past four years the Japanese Kintetsu Buffaloes, a professional baseball team from Osaka, have trained at the Civic Center ball field.

This year, amateur players from Japan came on the scene in the form of a comany team sponsored by the York-Benimaru department store chain of northern Japan.

York-Benimaru President Zenbei Ohtaka and his team apparently liked training on Saipan so well that they're expected to return next year.

Wanting to thank the island for its hospitality, Ohtaka asked Marianas Visitors Bureau Director J. M. Guerrero to name a suitable recipient for a gift. Guerrero sent Ohtaka to Governor Pedro P. Tenorio who in turn called in CHC Volunteers Association President Susan Schwarz to receive the $1,000 cash contribution.

Schwarz said the money will go to the Association general fund which has most recently been used to purchase a mammography machine which will be used for breast examinations.

Among current Volunteers Association activities is an effort to help out psychiatric patients at the facility. Most of these patients are in for long-term care and could benefit from more activity, according to psychiatrist Dr. Ruth Dickson. Dr. Dickson has encouraged entertainers to visit the psychiatric unit.

CHC Volunteer Tom Aldred has been conducting a weekly bingo game for the patients and Dr. Dickson says nearly all of them have been participating. The Volunteers have also established accounts for the patients for their shiop in the CHC through which they can purchase small items.

Camacho El. Super Students

The following are the "Super Students of the Month" for February 1988 for Gregorio T. Camacho Elementary School in San Roque Village, Saipan.

They were selected for the honor because of their high academic achievement, exemplary behavior in classroom, and good attendance in school.

The northern-most school in Saipan has a total enrollment of 180 students.

Music society holding tryouts for Lil' Abner on April 4,5,6

The Northern Marianas Music Society is holding open auditions for the musical comedy LI'L ABNER April 4th, 5th, and 6th at the Convention Center on Capitol Hill from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

If you saw last year's musical production of SOUTH PACIFIC and thought it might be fun to get involved, come and give it a try! Open auditions are for everyone, members and non-members of the Music Society. LI'L ABNER requires a very large cast so there are lots of parts available.

If being on stage is not for you, but you would like to participate, there is a lot that goes on back stage as well: stage handing, costumes, building sets, etc. Stop by auditions and sign up. Your help would be most welcome!

With LI'L ABNER, Al Capp's world famous comic strip characters have been placed in a gay, colorful Musical extravaganza. The plot is a hilarious mixture of hill-billy nonsense and sharp, critical humor. All this contributes to making LI'L ABNEr one of the classics of American Musical!

LI'L ABNER will be directed by John Mazur, who just recently directed the Music Society's production of the dramatic play PICNIC, and will be produced by Elizabeth Judith, who co-directed/produced and starred in SOUTH PACIFIC last year. LI'L ABNER promises to be the Music Society's biggest production yet! Come join in the fun!

Performances will take place the first two weekends in June. For more information, please call 234-8979 or come to open auditions April 4th, 5th, and 6th at the Convention Center, 7-10 p.m.

Child restraint seats also required

Mandatory seat belt lawon the way

By Nick Legaspl
Senior reporter

A bill awaiting passage by the Legislature is expected to minimize the number of people being injured or killed in traffic accidents by requiring the use of seat belts and child restraints.

"In the past two years there were 16 lives taken as a result of traffic accidents,"Public Safety Director Edward Manibusan said in a written testimony for House Bill 6-33."It is a great loss for the families and friends of these people. To us who have seen these tragedies, we know that were the loved ones of these families wearing seat belts, they would still be laughing with friends and families today."

H.B.6-33, introduced by Rep. Gabriel B. Babauta, Speaker Pedro R. Guerrero and Vice Speaker Benigno M. Sablan, makes the use of seat belts and child restraint systems mandatory for drivers and passengers in cars, vans or pickup trucks.

"The concept behind this bill is a major step towards the eventual establishment of a CNMI comprehensive highway safety program,"Eddie C. Deleon Guerrero, executive director of the Criminal Justice Planning Agency, said in a written testimony submitted to the House Committee on Health, Education and Welfare, which is reviewing the bill.

Statistics from the Department of Public Safety and attached to Guerrero's testimony show that 12 persons died and 467 were injured in traffic accidents from 1984 to 1986. Seven other persons died in traffic accidents in 1987.

A total of 746 traffic accidents involving 966 vehicles happened in 1984, resulting in three deaths, injuries to 168 persons and property damage totaling $487,556. The following year saw 797 traffic accidents with one fatality, 148 injured and damages to property estimated at $560,396. The number of traffic accidents rose to 1,038 in 1986, with 1,644 vehicles involved, resulting in eight fatalities, 151 injured and property damage of $570,664. The total number of accidents during the three-year period was 2,581 with 3,863 vehicles involved, resulting in 12 deaths, 467 injured and damages exceeding $1.6 million.

The number of vehicles in the Commonwealth is also increasing,thus raising the likelihood of accidents on the road. Statistics from the DPS' Motor Vehicle Bureau shows that a total of 6,056 vehicles were registered in the CNMI in 1984.This went down to 5,331 in 1985 but rose again to 6,239 in 1986 and reached 6,810 in 1987.

New chaplian takes over at CHC this month

Father Roque E. Bitancur of the Diocese of Chalan Kanoa has assumed duties as Chaplain of the Commonwealth Health Center, which include conducting a 10 a.m. Sunday mass at the CHC Chapel.

The previous CHC Chaplain was Father Jose Villagomez, OFM-Cap., who is currently pursuing an advanced degree on the mainland.

Father Bitancur said that his duties include ministering to CHC patients and staff. In addition to conducting the weekly mas, he will make regular visits to the facility.

Bishop Tomas Camacho proposed Father Bitancur for the vacant position, receiving the unaminous support of the Pastoral Consulters.

Father Bitancur came to Saipan last September from the Diocese of Sorsogon in the Philippines.

Students leaving for U.S. Mainland

Fifteen students from NMI schools left Saipan March 25 for a two-week trip to the United States. They are part of the Closeup Foundation International program. Here the group took a few minutes to pose with governor Pedro P. Tenorio just before they left.

Team makes recommendations for NMI school compliance

The Western Association of Schools and Colleges accreditation team that visited the Marianas and Rota High Schools March 13-19 made some commendations and recommendations in meetings with CNMI government officials, Marianas High School staff, students, and parents.

Among the commendations the six-member team made on Marianas High School were:

- Open sharing of information at the school.
- Well edited self-study and other school reports.
- Good curriculum set up for Kindergarten through grade 12.
- Close community working relationship with the parents and other sectors of the government including the Marianas Visitors Bureau.
- High level of enthusiasm at the school.
- Well edited self-study and other school reports.
- Good curriculum set up for Kindergarten through grade 12.
- Close community working relationship with the parents and other sectors of the government including the Marianas Visitors Bureau.
- High level of enthusiasm at the school.
- The number of counselor/staff fit the student ratio for effective counseling.
- Counselors should be commended for sponsoring career awareness day.
- The IDEA (Integrated Directions for Educational Actions) Plan is excellent.
- Good working relationship among the staff, students, and parents.
- Students take sincere interest in school.
- The idea of Student-Take-Over is excellent.
- Parents show interest in their children's educaton by taking an active part in school activities such as fundraising and PTA meetings.

Among the recommendations the team said the school should do are:

- Implement IOTA (Instrument of Observation for Teaching Activities).
- Provide directions to reduce vandalism.
- Set up a regular classroom visitation schedule.
- Provide school budget information to the staff on a monthly basis.
- Provide greater accountability and inventory of instructional materials.

her school. "They told me that they were really trying to do their best to take a look into the situation," Dela Cruz said. "To me, they're very serious about it.

"It's about time those community leaders come and take a look. I believe those people are one of the best groups to come in and help solve the problem."

Camacho said that lawmakers will be looking for extra money for the schools. "The House will be assisting the Department of Education almost 100 percent, especially the schools," he said. "I'm going to give them my full support on the (upcoming) budget. I don't know about the other members, but I think they are with me."

Camacho said the legislature has authorized about $6 million for the school system in maturing bond money, in addition to the upcoming education operation budget. The bond money will be used for construction and facility renovation, Camacho said.

He said he hopes that will help the schools work with the Commonwealth Utilities Corporation. "I hope that both agencies will work hand in hand to improve water for the schools."

Dela Cruz said that during the visit, Congressman Babauta requested she write a report outlining the major water problems at the school. "I told him I would do that," she said.

She also said she told the congressmen that there are not enough bathroom facilities at the school and that some should be added.

Camacho said he feels the school has enough bathrooms. "But what's the use of having bathrooms when there's no water?" he said.

Dela Cruz said the school has a water tank that was finished about three weeks ago and that Commissioner of Education Henry I. Sablan is working on getting the water pump. "Whenever we have problems with the city water, we'll just turn on the pump and that will supply water for bathroom facilities and the science (laboratory) classrooms," she said.

Camacho said, "It would help a little if they activate that tank, but it would not be enough for the rest rooms there."

But, until water starts flowing through the pipes, tanks and truck will have to help supply water needs for the schools. It's better than going to local hotels to use the bathroom, which Dela Cruz said she and others from Marianas High School used to do.

The accreditation team visited the two high schools to find out if they are ready for accreditation. The two schools have been candidates for accreditation since May 7, 1987.

The team members will submit their findings to all the twenty-one (21) members of WASC in the middle part of April for their review, and WASC will officially notify he Northern Marianas during the third week of May, 1988, of its final decision. They said there are four options available to the two cNMI public high schools: six-year accreditation, 3-year accredition, 1 or 2-year accreditation, and denial.

The accreditation team members are Mr. Stanley Steddam (Chairman), Principal of Cerritos High School in California; Dr. Marilyn George, WASC Assistant Executive Director; Dr. Kenneth Sahl, Superintendent of Roseville Joint Union High School District in California; Mr. Hiroshi Kato, Provost of Windward Community College in Hawaii; Mrs. Shirley Miyamoto, Analyst at the Hawaii State Department of Education; and Mrs. Lourdes Boyd.

ment which gives the women a one-year "limited" U.S. Passport for travelling only.

In exchange for agreeing to the interim solution to his client's problem, Hillblom has also agreed to drop the request for a temporary restraining order which was tried last week and was still under consideration by federal judge Alfred Laureta.

A new assistant U.S. Attorney took the place of off-island George Proctor for this case. Paul Vernier heads that office's civil cases office on Guam and he appeared before the judge Tuesday to represent everyone sued in the case except the Trust Territory government. He asked that Laureta delay making his final decision on the March 24 case heard in the court for at least another two weeks - possibly even one to allow the consolidation of effort for all the defendants. "I think that is a reasonable amount of time," he said.

But, Hillblom wouldn't hear of the "obvious attempt to block the original case" filed earlier this month.

The local attorney alleged the U.S. was just trying to delay action. "They have had since 1983 to work out these problems," Hillblom said, "now they want more time . . . "

Vernier said during the hearing that he couldn't see what difference two more weeks could make and Laureta seemed to agree with his

Close family ties lessen

BANGKOK (UNIS) - It is a slow process, but gradually the entire concept of appropriate social security systems for Asia and the Pacific is changing. At one level, planners are reluctantly coming to realize that development is breaking up the "extended family" far more quickly than had been anticipated so that some kind of formal support is urgently needed. At another, attention is being focused on the rural poor, so far generally considered to be unreachable, as the people most in need for support. Against these growing demands for yet more public expenditure is the grim truth that many governments are having to cut back.

Such is the main social development message of the 1987 edition of the Economic and Social Survey of Asia and the Pacific which this year highlights the dilemma surrounding falling commodity export prices and earnings. Published by the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP), it emphasizes the need for some kind of public safety net for agricultural workers.

In the Philippines, for example, economic stabilization measures forced the government to reduce spending by 17 percent between 1979-84. Education, health and community services were worst affected. The Survey notes that "infant mortality rates registered a sharp rise in the worst affected area (Negros). Also on the increase were the more visible signs of social misery such as street begging and scavenging, along with a rise in stealing and other petty crimes."

Sri Lanka is another grim showcase where enforced cuts in social security expenditure, mainly on food subsidies, have greatly affected the nutritional status of the rural poor. Daily per capita caloric intake among the bottom 20 percent of the population plummented from 1979-82 with tragic effects for child malnutrition and inadequate growth.

NMI Senate says U.S. practices "discrimination"

By Nick Legaspi
Senior reporter

The Senate adopted a joint resolution Tuesday to condemn the United States for racial discrimination, ask it to stop appealing a wage case and pay more than 900 Micronesians over $20 million in back wages.

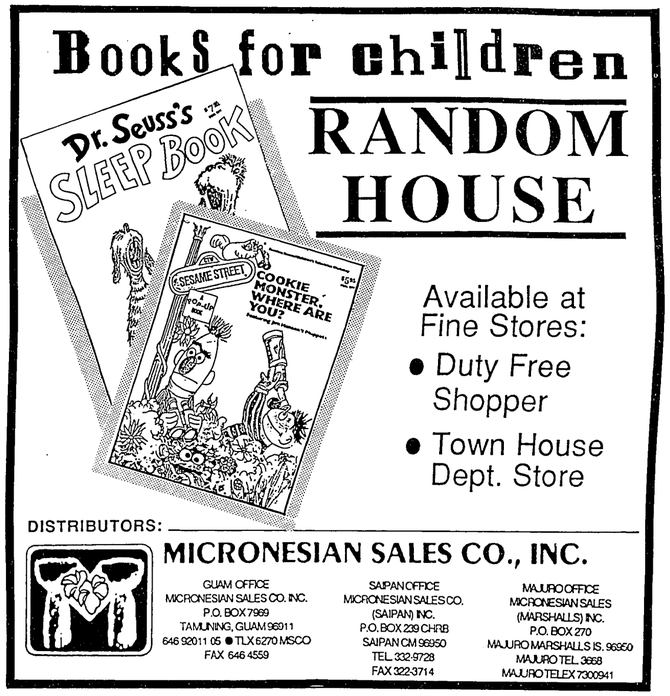
Senators Herman R. Guerrero and Juan N. Babauta introduced Senate Joint Resolution 6-2 in reaction to a decision by the U.S. to appeal a District Court judgment in July 1987 that the Trust Territory government and the U.S. practiced racial discrimination by paying Micronesian employees half of the wages of their counterparts who were Americans or of European stock. District Court Judge Alfred Laureta awarded the Micronesians more than $20 million in damages to recover the wages they should have received while employed by the TT government.

The Committee on Federal Relations and Independent Agencies, in recommending adoption of the resolution during the Senate session Tuesday, recalled that the court found evidence that the dual salary schedule used by the TT government was in direct violation of the United Nations charter and the U.S. Constitution. "Thus, the United States Government should and must be condemned for its unwarranted and negligible action," the committee chaired by Sen. Paul A. Manglona said in its report."It is a shame that the United States Government, a government that prides itself to be the champion and protector of human rights is now seen as violating its own principle and undoubtedly making a mockery to its democratic system of justice."

The U.S. filed its appeal Jan.26 and the committee said prompt action on the bill was needed so it could be transmitted to President Ronald Reagan and other top federal officials.

The resolution notes that proceedings on the appeal, unless stopped by the U.S., could drag the seven-year-old case for another two years. The U.S. and the TT government, according to the resolution, "have conceded and stipulated to their conduct, thus the ethical and moral correctness of the District Court's decision cannot be doubted..." It adds that the appeal would only be an exercise for lawyers.

The House is expected to take the same action when it votes on the joint resolution. After passage by the two houses copies of the joint resolution will be sent to Reagan, Vice President George Bush who is also Senate president, Speaker Jim Wright and other U.S. legislators and the U.N. secretary-general, Trusteeship Council and Security Council.



$ave Energy

Plan to do as much cooking as possible in the early morning and late evening hours. This will reduce heat build-up in your home during the hottest part of the day, and will also help to shift utility demand to off-peak hours.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Coastal Resources Management Office is soliciting proposals to investigate possible sources of manufactured sand in the Northern Mariana Islands. The area of study is expected to include Saipan, Tinian, Rota and Pagan.

The work may involve several phases including, but not limited to, reconnaissance geology, testing, detailed analysis, and possible drilling. The end product of this study is expected to be a technical report specifically locating and evaluating manufactured sand sources in the CNMI. The report should indicate those sand sources which would meet Federal Standards for construction projects in the Commonwealth.

Proposals shall be reviewed and ranked utilizing the following criteria (listed in descending order of importance):

(1) Qualifications of Offeror
(2) Research Design and Methodology
(3) Cost of work broken down by task or phase - include time schedule

Discussions may be conducted with responsible offerors who submit proposals for the purpose of clarification and to insure full understanding of, and responsiveness to, solicitation requirements.

Proposals must be in sealed envelope, marked RFP88-0041 and submitted to the Chief, Procurement & Supply Office, Lower Base, Saipan no later than 4:00 p.m., April 13, 1988. Interested parties may acquire additional project information at the Coastal Resources Management Office located in the Nauru Building, Susupe, Saipan at telephone no. 234-6623.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Public School System (PSS) is requesting proposals from vendors to develop and install a Financial Management System (FMS). The purpose of the FMS is to provide the PSS with the capability of assuming its responsibilities for: processing its financial transactions; accounting for the funds it disburses; and preparing its financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

The successful vendor must be able to:

A. Obtain all necessary hardware, software, and all software licenses (if applicable) needed to successfully implement the system.
B. Provide all site preparation necessary to successfully install the system.
C. Comply with all the detailed requirements specified in the RFP.
D. Successfully install a FMS that meets the user's needs as defined in the RFP.
E. Train all users in the proper operation of the system.

Interested vendors may pick-up request for proposal packets at CNMI Procurement & Supply Office, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays, between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., from March 7, 1988 through March 28, 1988.

Eight (8) copies of each proposal must be submitted in sealed envelopes, marked RFP88-0029, to the Chief of Procurement & Supply, CNMI on or before 4:30 p.m., Saipan local time on Monday, April 4, 1988. Any questions pertaining to this request for proposal may be directed to Mr. Juan Borja, Chairman, FMS RFP Committee, Public School System, P.O. Box 1370 CK, Saipan, MP 96950. The government reserves the right to reject any or all bids if in the best interest of the government.

ing. However, I would be remiss if I didn't talk about a few other things, including their hundreds of feet of flowing waterways.

I was all set to gripe to Mr. Muto about the use of all that fresh water for decoration when he told me that it was sea water. Of course I was glad I hadn't opened my mouth.

Muto offered his apology for the water being "not clean", but " we are still getting ready for the opening", he said as we strolled along the (what I thought was crystal-clear) flowing waterfalls, eddys and dams. Pausing here and there he showed where the hotel had placed local tropical fish specimens to liven up the pool.

Everywhere one walks flowers are blooming, growing or being planted. Come a few months the hotel walkways will be a riot of color.

One attraction I was itching to try is the water slide. Yep - a big green water slide (for guests ONLY he said emphatically) will transport you willy-nilly from about 20 feet in the air into their huge fresh-water pool in just a few seconds.

When I was younger I used to frequent a place that used those devices. It was one heck of a lot of fun, let me tell you.

Well, I have gone on much too long. In short, I recommend that everyone try to take in the hotel's exterior walks at least. Muto said he would welcome anyone who wants to just walk around and look at the hotel's landscaping.

The price is right - free.

Until next week, may your family be blessed during the celebration of Christ's fulfilling of the prophesy.

Easter is a time of hope and beauty, let's enjoy it safely.

To my daughter in Florida - happy Easter, Deb. I love you.

Death benefit to help family

The family of Danilo G. Trono received a $20,000 death benefit check from Pacific Basin Insurance. He was killed in a car accident earlier this year. Accepting the check from Joseph C. Royce, president of the company is Mrs. Marlette Forciuncula - representing the Fidelity Construction Compnay, the dead man's employer.

Gathered stars

Pictured above is a group picture of the various recording artists from Saipan who will be performing at the upcoming Puegen Marianas. The special show on April 9 is at the Hyatt Regency Hotel and will benefit CNMI artists wanting to attend the International Festival of Pacific Arts. Also some of the money raised will be for the Saipan Sports Association's programs. Tickets are on sale for $10 at various locations, including the Hyatt's

I have to admire J.Q. Calderwood's agility for concocting his own version of my personal views which has resulted in nothing more than a total misconception of what was expressed. Thus, justice was never rendered and he's stuck with his own convoluted concoction for life.

I also have to admire his fragility for turning into a coward when confronted with discriminating perhaps out of fear of his own shadow. All along I thought we now have among our midst a Legal Eagle from the British Isles. And for a man who gives us the impression of a staunch fighter for individual rights and therefore a highly principled person, why doesn't he take his case before appropriate forums, i.e., the Marianas Trial and District Courts so to challenge the constitutionality of Commonwealth Laws?

If you feel you were rejected by the U.S. Air Force for a job with PACBAR because of your citizenship, why didn't you sue them so to end the injustice that was rendered you recently? Take your case beyond the "Letters to the Editor" column where they could do the most good. You preach one thing and then go basking in your own sea of complacency.

After reviewing what you've said one could only conclude that you're a highly principled person only in though and not in being. Therefore, I wish to rest my case by saying that perhaps it is you whose principles have far greater elasticity than this humble scribe. For all your efforts barking up the wrong tree, you might also lose your right to free expression to someone who has a better perception of what was said rather than your personal but convoluted concoction of what you thought was said. Happy Easter!

MARIANAS BAPTIST CHURCH

A FOOL'S PARADISE

Text: "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Prov.14:12).

Multitudes are travelling the broad road to destruction in a way that seems so right to them. Such people live in a world of make-believe, a world of unreality, a real fool's paradise.

THE WORLDLY MAN DWELLS IN A FOOL'S PARADISE. He thinks of the law of God as if it had but one table, the first being entirely overlooked. He passes in the circles of the business world for a man of good character. He conforms to the rules of a civilized society by showing industry, veracity, honesty, and sobriety. Because he is diligent in business, deceives no one, & pays his honest debts, he considers his way is right. He reasons that, if man approves of his conduct so must God. It never crosses his mind that the Scripture says, "That which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God" (Lk.16:15).

THE ATHEIST ABIDES IN A FOOL'S PARADISE. He is one of the most daring beings in the universe - a condemner of God to His face, exploding His laws by denying his existence while everything he must depend upon for life and well being comes to him from God's gracious hand. His account of how all things began is a fool's account. A chair could not make itself, but the sun is self-created! Your coat had a maker, but your soul had none! Truly it is written: "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God" (Psa. 14:1).

THEY HYPOCRITE WALKS IN A FOOL'S PARADISE. He has been baptized and is a member of some church. He follows the routine of endless religious observances. He thinks of himself as sincere, zealous, and devout, but is most devout in his opposition to the Gospel of Christ because it is so very different from anything he hears in his own "church." When doubts assail him as a result of sometimes shocking moral depravity, drunkeness, and baseness that surfaces from time to time in the very leadership of his denomination, he is quickly lulled back to sleep by rationalizing, "My church has to be right; it's the oldest and biggest." But never does he ponder the Savior's warning that "wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be that go in thereat" (Mat.7:13).

However, the glorious Gospel of Christ extends hope even for such fools as these PROVIDED they turn from their folly and place their whole trust in the risen Savior. But "Do you see a man wise in his own eyes? There is more hope for a fool than for him." (Prov.26:12).

argument. Hillblom said that his clients were "stateless persons" and couldn't travel together as they had been planning.

"Has anyone been prejudiced?" Laureta asked Hillblom and Vernier. Hillblom again repeated the facts of his clients not being able to travel. "Could you have a signed affidavit to that effect here?" the judge asked.

Then Hillblom asked for "a couple of days", but Laureta continued the hearing until 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, telling him to have the signed documents so he could render a decision whether to grant the U.S. request for more time.

The lawsuit was filed in U.S. Federal Court to help secure passports for Commonwealth citizens who have been cited as "stateless persons" by a local attorney. They are people over 18 years of age, born in the Northern Marianas, who once had Trust Territory passports, but those documents have since expired, or in the process of expiration and can not be extended because the CNMI is no longer part of the Trust Territories.

This time the suit has added a few more teeth. A $10,000,000 punitive damage judgement is asked against the United States.

In mid-summer of 1987, Hillblom filed a case in the same court which helped obtain passports for many CNMI citizens under 18, and who had one parent who was not an American citizen or a CNMI citizen at the time of Commonwealth status being granted to the Mariana Islands.

The U.S. Attorney said that the compromise agreement was for this one specific case and instance. "It can't be used as a case precedent by another potential litigant."

His suit claims the U.S. violated a "contract" between themselves and the Commonwealth through the Covenant and selective interpretation of the term "citizens" by the Justice Department. The action names not on the the United States as defendants, but also the Trust Territory government, U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese, Director of the Executive Office of the United States Attorney, Herman Marcuse, State Department passport officials Nancy Finn and Edward D. Hart.

Vernier spoke by telephone about the settlement Wednesday afternoon. The U.S. Attorney said that he settlement was not an admission of liability and the case will also still be heard at a later date.

He said the agreement was a compromise "you could call it that . . I think that's a fair thing to say."

Hillblom had originally suggested that the U.S. extend the plaintiff's expired Trust Territory passports, but this solution came from the Department of Justice.

The U.S. Attorney said that the compromise agreement was for this one specific case and instance. "It can't be used as a case precedent by another potential litigant."

Vernier said he couldn't comment on a statement made by OTIA's Mark Hayward that settlement of the passport hassles could be as close as 30 days away.

Asked how the Justice Department could order the State Department to give anyone a passport, Vernier said that an agreement of what to do and how things would be handled was "worked out" ahead of time and everyone agreed what would be done.

Hillblom also commented on the settlement, saying that he felt "it was a move in the right direction. I also really believe that all the people in this class will probably hear good news from the United States before the Trusteeship Council meets on May 9. I can't believe the United States will go back to the Trusteeship Council with this problem existing."

He said that "of course I am happy that these people are now able to travel - that's all they wanted to do. It's a classic example of someone being able to do what they want if they just try hard enough. . . where there's a will, there's a way."

Volleyball teams hit the courts

The 1988 islandwide Men's Women's Volleyball League got underway Monday night, March 7 at the Civic Center Basketball Court. With a total of 10 Men's and 6 Women's Teams participating. The games started out with a brief ceremony by Bill Sakovich, President of the Northern Marianas Amateur Sports Association and Joe Lizama, Sports Coordinator - DYS.

Swimming family dominates Micro Beach club events

By Nick Legaspi
Senior reporter

The "Swim Family Sakovich" dominated three of the seven divisions in the 12th Annual Saipan Ocean Swim held off Micro Beach Saturday.

The son, Jonathan Sakovich, the Commonwealth's "Golden Kid", finished the 2.8-kilometer seniors event in 30 minutes and 38 seconds. Sakovich won two golds and four other medals in swimming events in the 1987 South Pacific Games to become the CNMI's first medal winner in the SPG, the Pacific's version of the Olympics.

The daughter, Anneka, swam the same distance as his brother but in the younger, 13-14 year-old division.She finished the course in 35 minutes and 21 seconds.

Finally, the father, Bill Sakovich, competed in the 45 years and over division and finished the 1.2-kilometer race in 20 minutes and two seconds, more than five minutes ahead of his closest rival.

The mother, Jean, was grouped with the 44 years old and under and swam the 1.2-kilometer triangular course. She finished second in her class with a time of 24 minutes and 20 seconds.

In the other categories, Jun Yamagishi finished the 600-meter course in 14 minutes and 15 seconds to win the eight-and-under division. Sheila Cummings won the 9-10-year-old division by finishing the 1.4-kilometer race in 20 minutes and 45 seconds.

Tomoyuki Hirokata swam the 1.5-kilometer course in 23 minutes and 39 seconds to top the 11-12-year-old class.Geoffrey Burke topped the masters division with a time of 17:29 in the 1.2-kilometer race.
