Supreme Court Awaits Governor's Review

by Dan Phillips

The Commonwealth Supreme Court took another step toward becoming reality Tuesday when the Senate unanimously approved the House's version of the bill and sent it to Governor Tenorio to sign or reject.

"This is what the people want, in order to provide for self-government," said House Speaker Pedro R. Guerrero, adding that "whenever the self-government of the CNMI has been attacked, the Legislature has put aside their differences and stood together."

"It is very important that cases that originate in the CNMI remain within the CNMI," Speaker Guerrero said. "Federal judges have heard appeals before and have made mistakes, making decisions contrary to the facts. Outside judges are usually not familiar with our Constitution and the Covenant and are bound to make mistakes. We cannot afford to let that happen," he said.

Tim Bruce, legal counsel for the Senate, said the speed with which the bill has moved is due primarily to "a great deal of effort to reach out to members of the Bar Association and the private bar (attorneys), which have put a lot of time in."

Although the bill has sailed through the Legislature, some parts of the bill have come under intense scrutiny and criticism from attorneys and even Robert A. Hefner, Chief Judge of the Commonwealth Trial Court.

One of the most heavily criticized sections of the bill is one that would immediately give the Supreme Court jurisdiction over all appeals from the Commonwealth Trial Court and, more importantly, jurisdiction over cases currently pending before the U.S. District Court here or in the Ninth Circuit in San Francisco. There are currently 29 cases pending in the District Court and six pending in the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

"Some litigants will incur some extra expense," said Bruce, "but that is outweighed by the Commonwealth's interest in addressing its own Constitution and Covenant issues."

Hefner, on the other hand, said the provision could lead to "almost unending litigation."

"This is by far the most serious defect in the bill and is a great departure from the original bill," said Hefner.

Bruce, who says there is sufficient legal precedent for this provision, said, "The idea is to move as quickly as possible in establishing our own Supreme Court, because many important cases are currently being heard in the U.S. Ninth Circuit, cases that directly involve our Covenant and which should be heard by our own court, not a federal court," Bruce said.

Bruce said the biggest concern over the cases currently being appealed involve Article 12 of the Covenant, which says persons not of direct CNMI descent cannot own land.

"Some of the cases in the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court in San Fran-

Northwest Service Starts Sunday

by Dan Phillips

Northwest Airlines announced last week that the first flight of its newly added twice-a-week service to Saipan will arrive Sunday.

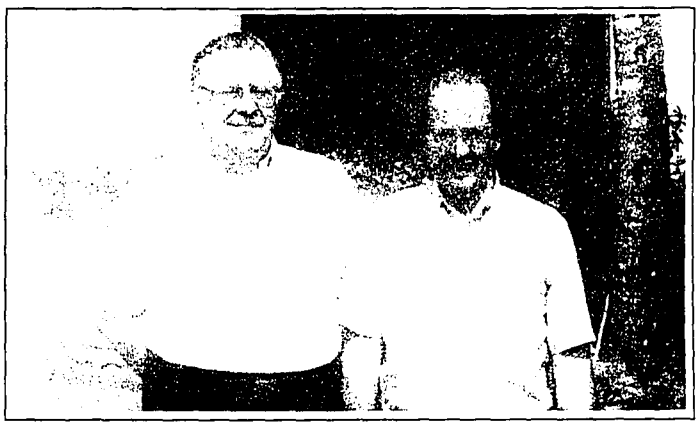
The new service will be adding a stop on Saipan to an existing route to Guam and Japan, according to Lester J. Gilbert, Jr., Northwest's Manager for Guam and Micronesia.

According to Gilbert, the new route will go from Tokyo, Japan to Saipan to Guam, then back to Tokyo. The flights will initially be twice a week, on Thursdays and Sundays, Gilbert said.

Northwest has had an office on Saipan, at the Hyatt Hotel, for four and a half years, but has not actually had these flights available until now.

Gilbert said that Northwest has been wanting to expand service in Saipan, but has had problems with Norita International Airport in Japan concerning departure and arrival times slots.

The new service will offer passengers three classes of service, first class, executive class, and economy class, according to David R. Ruch, Director of Marketing and Sales in the Pacific Region for Northwest.



Lester J. Gilbert, left, and David R. Ruch, repre-sentatives of Northwest Airlines, were in Saipan this week to announce their plans to expand their service here

Ruch says the planes are both 747s, which means added capacity and comfort for the customers.

Gilbert, who is in charge of setting up a new Northwest office in the Saipan International Airport, says the addition of Northwest to Air Micronesia can do nothing but benefit air service in Saipan.

"By increasing access to other areas, the number of passengers on all flights, including Air Micronesia and Japanese Airlines, will increase, he said."

Gilbert said he feels there is sufficient demand in Saipan for air service to easily support two airlines without hurting either one.

Ruch says Northwest offers direct flights to major U.S. ports from Tokyo, so that people from Saipan "can leave here and arrive

PHILIPPINE CONSULATE OPENING

The Philippine Consulate in Saipan will start consular services on April 4, 1989 at the CTS Building in San Jose. These services include among others passport processing, visa processing, authentication, and receiving of income tax returns.

All Philippine passport holders earning income in the CNMI are enjoined to file their income tax returns with the Consulate. Even those who are exempted from taxes should file returns. For those who are free only on weekends the Consulate will be open on 8 and 9 April, 1989. Deadline for filing will be April 15, 1989.

902 Consultations Date Proposed

(CNS) - Lt. Gov. Pedro A. Tenorio strongly urged the federal government to resume the 902 consultations on April 15 so that the issue of internal self-government could be discussed.

Tenorio, who heads the CNMI 902 Consultations team, warned in a March 30 letter to Mrs. Becky Norton Dunlop, the President's Personal Representative to the consultations, that the outcome of the next round of consult-ations will determine whether or not to place on the November ballot an initiative approved in 1987 whether to reaffirm, reject or renegotiate the Covenant with the United States.

"This directive by our law and our people will have serious implications on the future political relationships of the people of the Northern Marianas and the United States," Tenorio stated in his letter. "I am sure you will appreciate the urgency and importance of conducting another discussion as soon as possible so as to comply with the spirit of good faith and the commitment to resolve our differences before another embarrassing referendum takes place."

The Lieutenant Governor went on to say that "after more than two years of doldrums and double talk", it is about time the U.S. lives up

Bill Proposes MPLC Replacement

by Dan Phillips

Anticipating the dissoving of the Marianas Public Land Corporation, legislators have submitted a bill to the Senate that would create a new agency to assume the duties of MPLC.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Joseph Inos, would create a Department of Land Management under the CNMI government known as the "Depattementon Tano", which would assume the functions that are currently the responsibility of MPLC.

Article XI, Section 4(f) of the Commonwealth Constitution provides that the MPLC shall be dissolved and its functions transferred to the Executive Branch 12 years after the effective date of the Constitution. The twelveth anniversary of the Constitution is January 9, 1990.

The bill provides that the MPLC will be dissolved as soon as it becomes law.

The newly created Depattementon Tano would assume all of the responsibilities previously under the MPLC, including management and disposition of public lands, assessing and collecting rental fees for the use of public land, and participating in land exchanges as FORUM: A MEETING PLACE FOR OUR OPINIONS . . . AND YOURS.

CNMI Needs Supreme Court

I have nothing short of admiration for our lawmakers this week for approving a vital piece of legislation which will culminate in the establishment of a CNMI Supreme Court. Gentlemen, you deserve the salute of our people for your courage, vision and ability to shove aside bi-partisan politics infavor of moving the CNMI one more step towards greater self-government.

Your unanimous approval of this measure reflects a sense of political maturity and local resolve to begin, in fact, the gradual attainment of true self-government. Indeed, you have made history in your public service for your action in this regard. You have showed the world and most importantly, our people, that indeed there's such a thing as leadership in the CNMI. My personal gratitude!

You can rest assured that many of our people have silently marched behind your leadership with hope that through divine providence you can translate their fears and humility into vital legislation such as the one which would establish a CNMI Supreme Court. Many will ever be grateful for your taking the lead in this matter, a matter that in fact puts into positive motion our inalienable right to self-government.

Indeed, you were under tremendous pressure especially from the legal community to discourage your giving your assent to this piece of legislation for fear that skeletons may begin rattling out of their legal closets or for fear that they may be caught with their legal briefs down. It's a comic situation and thanks to our lawmakers for being level headed enough not to be turned clowns by the "we few" legal clowns in this community.

But who says that the legal community, especially the alleged unscrupulous and greedy bunch, can't be forced to honor our Constitution? They knew that a lot of their work will be floating in the sea of uncertainty even before they accept representing innocent clients on land matters. Yet, greed took the better part of their judgment. Well, there's malpractice suit against attorneys, an avenue which clients must aggressively explore if in fact they feel misrepresented in all these land deals.

Well, we're not interested in climbing ladders or call it the beanstalk to the federal government. We feel safer on the ground we call the CNMI Supreme Court. The phrase "member of the American political family" is as shallow and empty as one can want it to be. It is in fact meaningless and irrelevant today given the now deeply rooted perception among our people that we have been treated as "illegitimates" in a family we claim and call our own.

Let us join hands and march on to greater self-government. May I once again salute our representatives and senators for their vision and a job well done. Indeed, you're men of principles and you have demonstrated just that by your approving legislation providing for the establishment of a CNMI Supreme Court. For those of you who still disagree, we respect your right to do so. And we expect nothing less in return for what has happened is in fact another strideful step in our inalienable right to self-government. It is as American, Chamorro and Carolinian as you may wish it to be. Si Yuus Maase membron i san hilo yan san papa' na guma pot in appreba este na proposito.

JR's Agenda

By John DelRosario, Jr.

The Opinions expressed in this column are the personal opinions of its author and may or may not express the opinions of the newspaper.

Letters To The Editor....

(Published as an open letter to the public by Rep. Juan S. Torres.)

I make these comments at the risk of swimming upstreams against the current of local pride. But I make my belated appeal to the people in the hope that you might respond to the Governor before he signs into law the Court Reorganization Bill that recently swept through both houses of the legislature.

While the intent and scope of Senate Bill 6-124 (Supreme Court Bill) is admirably consistent with the goals of self-government, its timing is premature. As a result, the implementation of the Supreme Court will cost several hundred thousand dollars at a time when our basic infrastructural needs are not yet adequate. In our rush to pass a costly and unnecessary piece of legislation, we seem to have overlooked a few of its negative features.

1. Cases can still be appealed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals for another five years. This means we shall have a Supreme Court in name but not in fact. Why don't we pass this legislation when cases will be directly appealed to the United States Supreme Court. Why are we in such a hurry?

2. There has been no evidence or testimony to indicate the appellate workload will justify a full time Supreme Court. Appellate cases are now being heard by the NMI District Court on an occasional basis by a panel of judges sitting part-time. We have a resident U.S. citizen population of approximately 20,000 which is the size of a small town in the States. The fact that we are a Commonwealth does not change the workload. In addition, no-respecting Supreme Court justice will want to be without a full-time law clerk. The law clerks in the NMI District Court receive approximately $40,000 per year.

3. It is unprecedented that full-time judges should make more than the Governor of a State, so why are we so readily willing to pay part-time appellate judges in a small workload jurisdiction, a salary in excess of $70,000; more than $20,000 than our Governor receives annually. Even the trial court judges will receive $66,000-69,000; more than $10,000 over the governor's salary. These excessive salaries will increase pressure for salary raises all throughout the government. Is this sensible? Can we really afford this legislation when we still have some of the worst roads in the Pacific? Isn't this desire for the increased status and prestige of having our own Supreme Court supremely out of whack with our basic infrastructural priorities?

4. There is one feature of the bill which seems unfair to those part which have appealed their cases from Commonwealth Trial Court and have not yet received final appellate decisions. It says that these pending appeals will be under the jurisdiction of the new Supreme Court.

Why are we changing the rules in midstream? There doesn't seem to be any consideration for the parties of criminal and civil cases who have spent money, argued their cases and must wait patiently for an appellate decision, only to have it jerked back to a Supreme Court which has not yet been organized and does not have any appellate rules which govern the administration of appeals? How much of a delay will this take? How many of the new Supreme Court justices will have to rescue themselves from hearing cases involving Northern Marianas land? What is the motivation and rationale for such a provision? Does it have any bearing on the current land cases; some of which are at the appellate level or soon will be? Are we perhaps suggesting a two-tier system of justice; one for the local and one for the outsider? Is this appearance of locally biased justice worthy of our Commonwealth? Will those persons desirous of leasing our precious land begin looking for land in Guam or somewhere else because they perceive it to have a fairer system of justice?

These are some of my concerns which have been largely ignored by the seductive marching music of the legislative bandwagon. If you share them, please let our Governor know before it is too late.

Sincerely,

/s/Juan S. Torres

Grand Opera Music Coming

Singers from the San Francisco Opera Center will perform everything from the most popular grand opera selections to the time-tested Broadway songs of composer Cole Porter during a mid-April charity concert on Saipan.

The program, titled "Grand Opera and Broadway Classics," is sponsored by the Saipan Rotary Club and will benefit local charities. The single Saipan performance is set for April 15th, 7:30 p.m., in the Magellan Room of the Pacific Islands Club-Saipan.

Bob Bracken a director of the Rotary Club who is coordinating the appearance described it as "both a great treat for music-lovers and a break for charitable causes on our island."

The performers are four of the San Francisco Opera's young singers in-training and the program features the most popular portions of the wide-ranging repertoire of the company. There will be highlights from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," Verdi's "Rigoletto," Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," and Bernstein's "West Side Story," among others.

The $35.00 tickets for the event include wine, beer and hors d'oeuvres and are being sold by Rotary members and at various local businesses, according to Bracken.

The members of the company will be coming to Saipan fresh from a month of performances in Japan, following a three day stop on Guam.

Among major supporters of the San Francisco Opera Center are Continental Airlines and the San Francisco-based Inter-Pacific Group which owns and operates the Pacific Islands Clubs on Saipan and Guam.

cisco involve a direct attack on Article 12," he said, "and some of the Ninth Circuit Court's decisions in the past do not agree with the Commonwealth's right to self-government."

"We want cases away from the Ninth Circuit, because signals from there are uniformly bad in terms of self-government for the CNMI, and decisions being made there now have broad ramifications as to whether or not the U.S. can make laws for us, without our consent," said Bruce.

Hefner aired his complaints in a letter to Manuel P. Villagomez, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Judiciary, Government and Law.

In the letter, Hefner said he felt the name of the Commonwealth Trial Court should not be changed to Commonwealth Superior Court, as the bill proposes. "No reason has been given for the name change which will only cause confusion and interpretation problems," he said.

The current judicial system allows appeals from the trial court to be made to the U.S. District Court, from there to the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco, and finally to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Soil And Water Week Coming

(CNS) - Emphasizing everyone's role in protection soil and water resources for future generations, the Soil and Water Districts of the Commonwealth are encouraging local churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 30 - May 7, 1989.

The CNMI Soil and Water Conservation Districts work throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures and have set aside this week to highlight man's responsibility to be active stewards of our Commonwealth's and our Nation's soil and water resources.

Isidoro Cabrera, chairman of the Saipan and Northern Islands Soil and Water Conservation District, said that although farmers and ranchers know that good conservation practices help increase yields and improve their profit potential, they also know the importance of passing on well-cared-for natural resources for future food producers. "We could give our children all the money in the world, but it would do them little good unless we also give them a productive soil on which to live," said Cabrera..

Since 1955, the National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil and Water Stewardship Week, in cooperation with nearly 3,000 local conservation districts nationwide, as a way to emphasize the importance of good stewardship of basic soil and water resources. This is the first year the Soil and Water Conservation Districts of the Commonwealth have participated.

Two Bills Inked

(CNS) - A bill to govern the admission to practice before the Commonwealth Trial Court in the CNMI (H.B. 6-45) was signed into law by Gov. Pedro P. Tenorio on Tuesday (Mar. 28).

Under the law, persons admitted to practice before the Trust Territory High Court on or before January 9, 1978 and those who have actively practiced in the CNMI for two consecutive years, and are attorneys licensed to practice in any of the 50 states in the U.S., its territories or possessions and who have engaged in the practice of law for at least five of the last 12 years, shall be admitted to practice before the Commonwealth Trial Court. They will no longer be required to take the CNMI Bar Exam.

Gov. Tenorio also signed a bill to authorize the Municipality of Rota to enter into joint venture with the private sector for construction and operation of a cable television system.

The bill states that "Cable television enhances economic development, helps reduce unemployment, provides weather, news, educational, public service, and emergency broadcast information vital to the well-being and prosperity of the local citizens."

Under the law, the Mayor of Rota is authorized to enter into a joint venture agreement with other government entities, or with private parties or corporations for construction and operation of cable television. It also empowered the Mayor to establish a public television corporation and lease operation of such corporation to a private entrepreneur, "providing the Municipality retains control over basic policies relating to the operation of the public television corporation."

Students Take Over Today

by Dan Phillips

Students will invade the Legislature and other government agencies today in the annual CNMI "Student Takeover Day".

There will be student counterparts for the Governor, Lt. Governor, Attorney General, Director of Finance, Department of Public Safety Director, the Mayor, all members of the Legislature, and various other public agencies.

Cecilia Tudela, who is coordinating the activity as an advisor for the Saipan Interscholastic Council, said tradition calls for the student body president of Marianas High School to be the Governor's counterpart. She said students from MHS, Mt. Carmel, and Hopwood Junior High School will be taking part in the activity.

There will be a mock meeting of the joint legislature so that the students can get an idea of how the procedures work.

Most of the positions to be "taken over" were filled on a first-come, first-served basis, Tudela said.

She said 108 students will participate, with 60 of those coming from MHS, 35 from Mt. Carmel, and 13 from Hopwood (the school's 13 student body officers).

The extent to which students will actually take over the various positions is up to each of the actual office holders, Tudela said.

Turtle Poaching Investigated

(CNS) - The Division of Fish and Wildlife is investigating two possible cases of marine turtle poaching during February of this year.

On February 4th, Fish and Wildlife conservation officers were patrolling one of Saipan's beaches and spotted what appeared to be turtle tracks heading up the beach and back to the sea along with a turtle nest. Apparently, the turtle made it back to the sea but the nest was dug up and all the eggs were taken.

Again on February 11, conservation officers observed turtle tracks at the same beach leading up from the sea and a turtle nest. However, the nest had all the eggs removed, leaving broken eggshells behind. In addition, there were no turtle tracks returning to the sea. Nearby tracks in the sand indicated that the turtle was turned over onto its back, dragged a few feet and loaded into a vehicle.

Arnold I. Palacios, Chief of Fish and Wildlife, said that there has been an alarming decline in turtle numbers worldwide in the last few years. Consequently, all CNMI marine turtles are classified as threatened or endangered.

Penalties of up to $5,000 can be given for each violation of possessing a turtle or turtle eggs. Transportation of turtle products such as meat, shells, or eggs is also prohibited. Palacios said that he hopes eventually turtles will become re-established and hunting of these animals can resume on a controlled basis.

JACK MAFNAS AGUON
CHAIRMAN

Hafa Adai!

The Democratic Party Open Primary is now just a week away, when you, as voters, will take the first step to determine who will lead our islands into a new decade as Governor and Lt. Governor. In the great tradition of democracy, ordinary citizens once again will pick their own leaders and decide their own future.

In this respect, we would like to take a moment to acquaint you with some key aspects of our political goals and philosophy -- views and concerns we believe you share:

* Our islands CAN and MUST have reliable water and power. Fundamentally, these and other problems we are experiencing are the result of inadequate planning and management of development. We are determined to institute a system of comprehensive planning and coordination of government policy and will reorganize the government as the necessary to achieve that goal.

* In the past, our government has focused too much on the benefits of new developments and not enough on the costs. Development should contribute to the quality of life for our people, never detract from it. Future developments must be made to pay the cost of supporting infrastructure and general improvements in the surrounding area. This can be accomplished through a system of development impact assessment fees and permit requirements.

* We believe the greatest resource of the Commonwealth is its people. An increase in the minimum wage is essential if we are to attrack local workers into the private sector. The private sector is the backbone of our economy. In order to realize our ambition of an increasing standard of living as a part of the American political family, the minimum wage must be increased to match the minimum wage in the U.S. or Guam, whichever is greater, within three years.

* We are committed to revitalization and strengthening of the merit system. Placement and promotion in government must be based objectively on committment and performance. We must replace the current two- tiered system of ungraded and classified positions with a comprehensive pay policy covering all positions from bottom to top. Employees should be rewarded for good work, and everyone should be treated equally and fairly.

* We are determined to vigorously pursue resolution of issues affecting our relationship with the United States. Of particular importance are control of our oceanic resources, access to third country foreign assistance, and prevention of nuclear waste dumping, as well as the need to reach an understanding clarifying the self-government/sovereignty issue which has in recent years soured our relationship with the United States.

* We are committed to strong and effective measures to ensure clean and honest government. Government white collar crime must be prosecuted as a deterent to future crime and to restore public confidence in government integrity. With or without legislative action, a strict Code of Ethics Must be implemented for all members of the executive branch. If necessary, a special task force should be appointed to develop a comprehensive ethics law for the CNMI, including enforcement that is free of political influence.

* It is time for all primary roads connecting the various villages and residential areas to be paved. Existing paved roads dating to the 1940's and earlier need to be resurfaced, widened, and improved. Good roads are essential part of our people's right to a good quality of life. Among other things, dusty roads have a negative impact on public health. The paving of all primary roads can be accomplished by creating Saipan, Rota, and Tinian Highway Trust Funds, then obtaining a highway bond issue to be repaid from fuel taxes and development impact assessments accumulated in the highway trust funds, along with future federal highway funds.

In closing, we humbly solicit your support and vote of confidence in the open primary on Saturday, April 8, 1989 and express our personal appreciation in advance.

SEN. HERMAN ROGOLIFOI GUERRERO FOR GOVERNOR
REP. MANUEL CABRERA SABLAN FOR LT. GOVERNOR

This November, the people of the Commonwealth will elect a new Governor and Lt. Governor. The next Governor and Lt. Governor will be either the team that wins the Democratic Party Open Primary on April 8, 1989 or whomever the Republicans nominate.

Today the CNMI faces an almost overwhelming rush of events and influences. We need fresh, vigorous, committed -- and experienced -- leadership for the years ahead and to secure a bright future for our children. Don't take a chance on our future leadership. We urge you to participate in the open primary on Saturday, April 8, 1989 and vote for the Democratic team that if elected in November will make the best Governor and Lt. Governor.

You know the issues. Senator Herman Rogolifoi Guerrero (Nong) and Representative Manuel Cabrera Sablan (Añge) have an established record on those issues -- you know where they stand and you know they mean it.

The American political system is founded on the principle of government of the people -- common, ordinary people. Senator Herman Rogolifoi Guerrero (Nong) and Representative Manuel Cabrera Sablan (Añge) are committed to that philosophy . . . they believe that government should serve all the people, regardless of family or political party affiliation.

Local Artists Get Money Along With Stature

Close to 20 local artists found out last week that their handiwork earned them extra cash, as well as artistic stature among their peers. On Tuesday, March 21, 1989, judges from the Commonwealth Ports Authority (CPA) and Dairy Farm selected the pieces of art that they felt should represent the CNMI at the Saipan International Airport.

Visitors to Saipan, arriving at the airport, will be treated to several different art mediums. Murals, oil and watercolor paintings, photographs, pandanus and te'er weaving, and beadwork will great tourists and residents alike.

The CPA judges were: Rafaila Perry, CPA board member and Chairperson of the Selection Panel; Carlos Shoda, Executive Director of CPA; and Joe I. Guerrero, CPA board member. These judges selected photographs and paintings to hang in the terminal, as well as murals to be painted on the terminal walls. Manny Perez and Charlotte Downs-Siska each were commissioned to embellish the airport with 1 mural apiece, while Joe Kani and Janet Foster were selected to do 2 each. Ms. Downs-Siska and Mr. Kani also had paintings selected to decorate the terminal. Pakka Kavan and Steve Fisher each had 1 photograph chosen, and Tom Camacho had 3 photographs honored.

As well as the 20-dimensional art pieces, craftswomen of the CNMI will also have their handiwork featured in the airport terminal. Pandanus weaving of various baskets and hats were crafted by Maria Crisostomo, Esther M. Aldan, O Tang Iyor, Francisca C. Hocog, and 3 members of the Inetron Manamko' Luta (IML) from Rota. Te'er weaving and bead-work by Vicky Olopai was also picked to beautify the terminal.

Ermie Camu, Dairy Farm manager, coordinated the selection process fora rt pieces to adorn the airport restaurant and VIP lounge. Local photographers Rose Jung had 6 pictures selected; while Ms. Kavan and Ms. Downs-Siska each had 3 photographs chosen. Debbie Winkfield had a painting chosen, Ms. Foster had 3 selected, and Doug Rankin will have one of his watercolors displayed.

Artists will have until April 14, 1989, to complete all craftswork, photography, and any other commissioned artwork chosen. Muralists will have until May 1, 1989, to complete their work. Then on May 6, 1989, the Grand Opening of the Airport Extension will be held, and the public can take the opportunity to see first-hand the efforts of the Commonwealth art community.

Deputy Executive Director of CCAC, Sandy McKenzie, informed me that this will not be just a one-shot deal. The CPA Board, who came up with the idea of using local artists to decorate the "gateway" to the CNMI, will hold more of these art selection projects in the future, to either add-to, or rotate-with, the pieces just commissioned. Also, similar plans are in the works for Rota and Tinian.

Many thanks go to all the artists who submitted their work, and congratulations to those whose art was selected. Special thanks also goes out to the CPA and Dairy Farms for their active involvement in the selection process, and their subsequent purchases. Additional thanks to Ms. McKenzie who helped bring it all together.

This project should be an incentive to all prospective artists here in the Commonwealth. Art is not only great therapy, and enjoyable, but can also be very profitable, plus, you'll have the proud feeling of showing your family and friends what you've created.

I'd like to take this opportunity to apologize for a faulty photo caption. Last week, I erroneously identified a member of the Sunset Cruisers as David Ayuyu,. It should have read David Laniyo.

Alonzo Igisomar
Acting Chairman
CNMI Republican Party
Saipan, MP 96950

Dear Mr. Igisomar:

This letter serves notice of my intent to be a candidate for the office of Mayor of Saipan during the general election next November.

For the past four years, I have faithfully served in the legislative branch, deligently working on issues and matters to the benefit of my constituents. My work is always for the "common cause" and the rights of the indigeneous people, a mission that will impact on our lives and the lives of the future generations of our COMMONWEALTH.

The late Mayor Gilbert C. Ada has laid down a foundation for leadership that must continue forward, providing the services that our people have come to expect. I share the same ideals, concepts and dedication and pledge my total commitment to serving the poeple of Saipan, should they elect me to this prestigious office.

I kindly request the support of the CNMI Republican Party in my endeavors to become the Mayor of Saipan. Thank you for your consideration, as we look forward to another successful election this coming November.

Pangelinan Confirmed

(CNS) - The Senate in its Tuesday (Mar. 28) session unanimously confirmed the nomination of Jesus B. Pangelinan to be the next Director of the Department of Community and Cultural Affairs. Pangelinan, 46, replaced former Director Ramon B. Santos who died in a car accident in late December 1988.

The Senate Committee on Executive Appointments and Governmental Investigations, Chaired by Sen. Herman M. Manglona, stated in its report to the full Senate recommending approval that based on Pangelinan's qualifications, experiences and community involvement, he is "well-qualified" to be the Director of the Department of Community and Cultural Affairs.

Prior to his appointment on March 2, Pangelinan has been serving as Historic Preservation Officer under the same Department since 1979. Pangelinan's deputy in that position, Mike Fleming, was appointed by the Governor to be the Historic Preservation Officer. Pangelinan was also the Acting Historic Preservation Officer for the Trust Territory Government, under the Department of Resources and Development.

Pangelinan started his government career in 1964, following his high school graduation, as Supply Clerk for Marianas District, becoming the Acting Supply Officer in 1967. He was then appointed Chief, Airport Operations for the Marianas in 1967 and, in 1968, became the Emergency Housing Supply Coordinator. In 1970, Pangelinan joined the Trust Territory Government's Division of Lands and Surveys where he was a Land Classification Trainee, then Land Classification Technician, and eventually in 1971 was appointed Land Management Specialist, serving in that position until 1975. In 1977, he became the Grants Manager for the T.T. Historic Preservation office until he moved to the CNMI Historic Preservation Office.

Pangelinan is active in community affairs. Currently, he is the President of the CNMI Little League Baseball Association, a position he has held since 1982. He became chairman of the Board of Directors of the Commonwealth Council for Arts and Culture in 1981. He was a member of various community-oriented organizations.

Pangelinan received support for his position from many government officials, including members of the Legislature. In his capacity as HPO, Pangelinan was nominated for the Secretary of the Interior's Special Achievement Award which will be announced in April of this year.

HERE'S HAPPINESS!
- Sins forgiven
- Rich and meaningful living with purpose now, under the blessing of God
- God's promise of everlasting life with Him

The angels in heaven are overjoyed when a sinner repents. Luke 15:10

Listen, friend, you too are lost unless you have come to God for forgiveness of your sin through Jesus Christ, and unless you have been genuinely born again.

It isn't enough merely to know and believe these facts about salvation through Christ. "You must be born again." And that new birth must be manifested by a changed life resulting from a changed mind and heart.

God loves you and wants to save you. Undoubtedly, He has arranged circumstances so that you would read this little book... that He might show you your hopeless, lost condition, and then show you how you may receive His pardon. God says in the book of Hebrews that to refuse the truth and spurn His love means for that person "a certain, fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation." God has here shown you the way by which you can be pardoned. There is no other way. You may receive life on His terms —otherwise forget about Heaven, and face the fact that you have chosen to continue in your own will, and toward judgment and the fearful punishment of

by Dan Phillips

Senate President Benjamin Manglona cautioned a small group of legislators and businessmen to have a carefully laid out plan before going on with major development on the island.

Manglona gave a speech as part of a "planning advisory team workshop" regarding the Public Land Use Plan of Marianas Public Land Corporation (MPLC).

"The positive aspect of growth is that it can be very good both financially and economically, as long as there is proper planning that never loses sight of the fact that these lands belong to our people, and to our future generations," he said.

The workshop was held to discuss the necessity to adopt a comprehensive land use plan with respect to public lands, as mandated by the Commonwealth Constitution.

"Public lands on Saipan, Tinian and Rota accounts for 67 percent of the total land mass. For this reason it is of paramount importance that we immediately develop a plan that will designate land uses for all CNMI public lands for the next 25 years," said Manglona.

"We must always keep in mind the true cost of development to our people, and the cumulative impact of each separate development on our overall island environment," he said, adding that, "Generally speaking, such developments usually translate into more people, less water, more pollution, less electricity, the need for more roads, less tranquility, and so on."

Manglona aksed that the MPLC consider ten factors in drawing its comprehensive public land use plan.

Manglona's concerns were: (1) preserving archaeological, historical, and architectural resources on the island; (2) promoting the conservation of non-renewable resources, such as forests, underground water and reefs; (3) providing recreational facilities, particularly for the local people; (4) include flood control, wetlands preservation and watershed management in plans; (5) encouraging energy conservation; (6) protecting lands that would be damaged by leasing them to commercial developers; (7) including impact fees in leases; (8) coordinating public land use plans with zoning of private lands; (9) providing for homestead policies; and (10) setting up local planning commissions.

Maria T Palacios, a first-grade student at San Antonio Elementary School, holds an envelope containing $10, which she won for writing the winning theme for the school's National Energy Education Day observation on March 17.

Her theme is entitled "From Garbage to Usage".

Entries will be accepted up until the start of the event, according to Bill Sakovich, coach of the Saipan Swim Club.

Sakovich said about 100 swimmers are expected from Guam, in addition to the 35 from Saipan Swim Club.

Awards will be given to the first eight places in each division.

to its part of the political agreement "and give us what is rightfully a grant in the Covenant and United Nations Trusteeship of self-government and self-determination. Any concession short of this will make a mockery out of our agreement entered into in good faith between our people and the Government of the United States."

Lt. Gov. Tenorio also criticized the Federal Govern-ment for delaying decisions on such issues as the taxability of bonds issued by the CNMI, internal sovereignty and its encroachment into the affairs of the CNMI by making unilateral changes in the Covenant.

"We have had some extremely unhappy experience in the past of being so trusting that problems so dear and important to us are sacrified because of our trust that the federal government will come around in time to resolve them with us," Tenorio stated in his letter. "We cannot continue to sit back and hope for the best because we are running out of time."

In her March 16 letter, Dunlop, who is the Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife and Parks at the Department of the Interior, stated that while she is not prepared to schedule a formal session in April, she would consider an "informal discussion" and schedule a formal meeting sometime in May.

Joeten Observes Disabilities Awareness Year-Round

Disabilities Awareness may end today for many, with the end of National Disabilities Awareness Month, but it is a year-round matter for J.C. Tenorio Enterprises. The company has two hearing-impaired employees, both graduates of Marianas High School, class of 1986.

Twenty-seven-year-old Bernadita Blas, daughter of Alesandra Iglesias Blas and Domingo M. Blas, has been deaf since birth. She started working in Joeten's wholesale department as a messenger immediately after graduation. In November of 1987, she transferred to the computer department.

"It's been very impressive having Bernadita in the computer room," says Eddie Tenorio, head of the department. He was impressed that it only took a week to train her. She is responsible for entering data-accounts receivable and inventory transfers - for all departments and arriving at the grand total of transfers. It is a very responsible job and she does it well and promptly, according to Tenorio. It's hard work she says, but she likes it.

Twenty-four-year-old Rudy Aldan, brother of Tommy Aldan, former director of finance for the Commonwealth, started working in the Joeten warehouse in January, 1988, at the invitation of Roman Palacios, purchasing manager of the wholesale division. From 1986-88, he was an assistant cook at the Hyatt, and he worked at Duty Free while attending school.

Bernaditta Blas pauses while entering accounts receivables.

Aldan became deaf as a very young child, when someone stuck an object into his ear. With a hearing aid, he can hear quite well and he drives.

According to Frank Sablan, manager of warehouse operations, Aldan, the son of Felipe and Ana B. Aldan, is very dependable and a hard worker. His work is mainly clerical, including xeroxing and distribution. Sablan does use some sign language in communicating with him.

Both employees put in a forty-hour week, but when not working they enjoy sports. Blas plays softball, volleyball, and table tennis. Aldan plays basketball on the Joeten team and bowls in the Joeten league; he also likes to play basketball and swim.

For their co-workers at Joeten, these two hardworking employees are constant reminders that disabilities do not have to be disabling.

Ex-U.S. Attorney To Visit Japan On Insider Trading

_ Former Manhattan U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani, who led a crackdown on white-collar crime during his five-year tenure, said Tuesday he will travel to Japan next month to offer advice on prosecuting insider trading and other securities fraud.

The Japanese government is currently embroiled in a stock scandal of its own that has implicated government officials and is putting pressure on Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita.

Giuliani, whose office brought about 50 securities fraud indictments in his term that ended in January, said he was contacted by private attorneys in Japan and will lecture to officials in Tokyo April 13-14.

"I think it's very, very important for the United States that in other countries that are part of the world market that we have a similar set of rules," he said. "Otherwise we're at a competitive disadvantage."

Giuliani, a possible New York mayoral candidate now in private practice, said he will meet with more than 10 Japanese investment firms and U.S. firms with offices there, as well as government agencies, securities officials and law enforcement organizations. He said he will discuss U.S. insider trading and other securities fraud laws and cases.

Japan, home to the world's biggest stock market, modeled its postwar laws on securities fraud after those in the United States but rarely enforced them. Markets in some European countries and Hong Kong are loosely regulated, and insider trading and other financial scandals recently hit France and Mexico.

"Many of them have statutes and laws, some similar to ours, some a little different," Giuliani said.

"The major problem they're undergoing is the same problem we were undergoing in the '40s, '50s and '60s _ not enforcing them, not knowing how to enforce them and not having educated the institutions on the importance of the rules," he said.

The current scandal in Japan involves the sale of thousands of shares of unlisted stock by the Recruit Co. to politicians and other prominent people at bargain prices. The buyers reaped windfalls when the shares were publicly traded later.

At least 17 senior politicians, including Takeshita and former Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, have been linked to the scandal.

Military Plane Found At Sea

MANILA, Philippines (AP) _ A military plane carrying a brigadier general, election officials and a television news crew landed safely on a sand bar today and was found more than eight hours after it was reported missing, officials said.

Philippine Air Force station commander Col. Santiago Medrana said the twin-engine Nomad plane was located off the tiny island of Ramos on the southern tip of Palawan, in the western Philippines. He said the nine passengers and three crewmen were safe.

"The aircraft was able to land on a sand bar," Medrana said in a telephone interview. "The plane was intact and capable of flying."

Aquino-Communist Can serve If Elected

MANILA, Philippines (AP) _ President Corazon Aquino said today on the eve of nationwide village elections that pro-Communist candidates who are voted into office in the balloting can serve if they are freely and fairly chosen.

The military claims the rebels will use the vote to expand their base.

Also today, the rebels claimed they have recovered from setbacks suffered during Mrs. Aquino's administration, and police said three men shot up the home of an anti-communist activist near Cebu, killing three people, including the man's wife.

On Tuesday, voters in the country's 42,000 villages, or "barangays," will select about 287,567 local council members.

The military claims the rebels are backing pro-Marxist candidates in hopes of solidifying their control in thousands of rural villages.

Mrs. Aquino was asked if the government would prevent rebel supporters from claiming council seats. The Communist Party of the Philippines is banned, but Tuesday's balloting is supposed to be non-partisan.

"Well, if they have been elected legitimately, there has been no force, they will hold office," Mrs. Aquino told reporters. "We have to abide by the law."

Col. Gerardo Flores, intelligence chief of the Philippine Constabulary, said the rebels hope to capture 60 percent of the village council seats in areas under their control.

The rebels claim to control about 8,500 villages nationwide. But the Commission on Election puts the figure at about 2,800. The difference is believed to be in definitions of "control."

"In remote, inaccessible areas, there is hardly any government presence," said election commissioner Haydee Yorac. "So the

Wyden Wants Trade Sanctions Against Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) _ An Oregon lawmaker Tuesday urged the Bush administration to impose trade sanctions against Japan in an effort to force the Japanese to lift trade barriers that block imports of U.S. wood products that could be worth $1.2 billion a year.

"These are strong actions to contemplate," Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., said in a letter to U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills. "But we believe the record of Japanese restrictions with respect to wood products may be among the most onerous in the Pacific Rim.

Wyden asked Hills to investigate allegations from the National Forest Products Association that the Japanese use duties, licensing constraints, exclusive distribution arrangements and building code restrictions to block imports of U.S. wood products into their markets.

Under federal law, Wyden said once the investigation is complete, Hills would recommend specific "remedies" to the president.

Wyden told Hills that recent amendments to the 1974 Trade Act "would then require the president to take agressive action against these foreign trade barriers, up to and including counter-measurers affecting Japanese imports to the United States, if a satisfactory resolution cannot be negotiated."

Japan recently refused to reopen so-called "sector-specific" talks on forestry products, talks Wyden said "offered what appeared to be the surest and swiftest solution to these trade problems.

The National Forest Productions Association said that Japanese barriers affect such U.S. products as softwood and hardwood logs and lumber, plywood, veneer, millwork, laminated wood products, waferboard and particleboard.

The association said that while $2.2 billion worth of U.S. wood products were sold in Japan last year, over 70 percent involved raw materials.

Bush's Younger Brother To Work As Consultants

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) _ William Bush, the younger brother of President Bush, has agreed to work as a consultant for the Samsung group, one of South Korea's largest congolomerates, a company spokesman said today.

"A basic agreement has been reached and both sides are working on details, including terms of a contract," said the spokesman, who declined to be named.

Under the contract, the spokesman said the younger Bush will occasionally advise Samsung Chairman Lee Kun-hee on managerial matters on a case-by-case basis.

Samsung is a major exporter of electronics and machinery to the United States. Washington is pressuring South Korea to admit more U.S. imports to help reduce Seoul's trade surplus with the United States, which reached $8.6 billion in 1988.

President Bush visited Seoul last month for brief talks with South Korean President Roh Tae-woo.

North Says South Korean Battleships Violated Territorial Waters

TOKYO (AP) _ Two South Korean battleships violated North Koreaaterial news agency said.

The battleships crossed into North Korea's territorial waters off Tungsangot in the Yellow Sea between China and the Korean peninsula before dawn said the Central News Agency.

The two ships "fled south in haste" when North Korean patrol boats tried to approach them, according to the agency, monitored in Tokyo.

It condemned the violation as a "grave military provocation" caused by the U.S.-South Korean Team Spirit military maneuvers.

About 200,000 South Korean and U.S. soldiers are taking part in the annual 10-day exercises, which began March 14.

The communist North has charged the exercises threaten stability on the divided peninsula. U.S. and South Korean officials say they are defensive and vital to South Korea's security.

About 43,000 U.S. troops stationed in South Korea under a mutual defense pact are taking part in the maneuvers, along with 30,000 American troops stationed in the United States and other Asian nations.

The Korean peninsula was divided in 1945 at the end of World War II. The countries fought a bloody three-year war after North Korea invaded the South in 1950.

JAPANESE REPORTED SEIZED IN SOUTH KOREA IN BUSINESS DISPUTE

Tokyo (AP) _ A South Korean company has seized a Japanese machinery company president for the second time in four months in a business dispute, and his whereabouts are unknown, his company said Thursday.

Koji Kohno of the Japanese company Osawa Press Seisakusho said the firm has received 12 telephone facsimile messages from Namil Machine Co. in South Korea requesting $3.8 million.

He said recent messages declared that Osawa Press president Tokuo Osawa had been beaten, and that one of his fingers would be cut off and sent to back up demands for payment. The messages also threatened Osawa's family, Kohno said.

Japan has asked South Korean authorities to cooperate in the case, Foreign Ministry spokesman Taizo Watanabe said.

Bus Workshop Stresses Children's Safety

PSS - Dr. John Romisher of Northern Marianas College was the instructor of the Public School System's one-day workshop on "Human Relations", attended by all 31 PSS bus drivers, as well as officials from Saipan, Rota and Tinian at W.S. Reyes Elementary School's library last Thursday.

At the end of the workshop, Romisher told the bus drivers a short story about a wise old man and two young boys. His story went like this: "The two young boys, trying to test the knowledge of the wise old man and attempting to prove that the wise old man was not so intelligent, caught a small bird one day and one of the boys placed the bird in his right hand and hid it. The two boys' strategy was to ask the wise old man to determine if the bird was alive or dead. They planned that if the wise old man said that the bird is alive, they would crush the bird and it would die; and that if the wise old man said that the bird is dead, they would release the bird and it would fly away, proving at least that the wise old man was not so wise after all. So the two boys went to the wise old man, and the boy with the bird hidden in the palm of his hand said, " 'Wise Old Man, I have a small bird in the palm of my right hand. Is it alive or dead.' The Wise Old Man looked at the boys and quickly responded, 'The choice is in your hand!' ".

That's the parting thought that Romisher said he would like the bus drivers to keep in mind when doing their job. "How you do your job is all up to you. The choice is in your hands," he said.

In the workshop, the importance of children's safety was stressed, Ben Teregeyo of the PSS Bus Office said, adding that the drivers were taught proper ways of conducting discipline on the bus in order to achieve maximum student safety.

That concern for student safety was echoed in Judge Ramon Villagomez's keynote address to the workshop. He reminded the bus drivers that they play a "very important role in the community," and that they should be aware of safety measures at all times in order to avoid accidents or injuries.

There was no school on March 23 (Holy Thursday), but the bus drivers chose not to remain idle. They had workshop from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. that day.

Of the 31 participants who attended the workshop and received certificates signed by Commissioner of Education Henry I. Sablan, CNMI Personnel Officer Jesus Mafnas and Dr. Romisher, were from the PSS Central Bus Office in Saipan, and two each were from Rota and Tinian.

PSS Acting Teacher Training Officer Joe Diaz presented the certificates to the participants on behalf of the government.

Women Organizing Meet To Be April 14

An organizing meeting to prepare for the upcoming National Council of Women Convention in June will be held April 14 in the Governor's Conference at 2 p.m., according to Anicia Tomokane, the Special Assistant for Women's Affairs.

Tomokane is requesting that all government office managers and administrative officers appoint a representative to the meeting.

"The meeting is being held for the behalf of all office women," she said.

Other organizational meetings have been held and will be held, for the purpose of spreading the word about the upcoming covention, as well as to educate the women of the CNMI about the purpose of the National Council of Women.

Tomokane said the NCW would unite the women of the CNMI and give them a greater voice in issues that concern them.

The NCW, a worldwide organization, currently has no chapter in the CNMI, but the convention in June would change that.

CHC Needs Volunteers

The Commonwealth Health Center Volunteer Association is in need of helping hands to work in their Gift Shop and other areas of the hospital. The Gift Shop provides needed services to staff, patients and visitors at the CHC.

"Being a volunteer is really fun," said Susan Schwarz, president of the CHC Volunteers. "It really gives us a good feeling to help out, and it's also an opportunity to meet and work with some nice people."

One of the most challenging tasks and greatest achievements of the CHC Volunteers has been the raising of $77,600.00 to purchase a mammogram X-ray machine, which has already been donated to the hospital and will be operational soon. This mammogram machine will be used to detect early signs of breast cancer in women. The Volunteers raised the funds for the machine by raffling Thanksgiving Baskets, an annual event, a Walk-a-thon, proceeds from the Gift Shop and generous donations from the business community as well as individual contributions.

For more information, please contact the CHC Volunteers at 234-8950 extension 2908 or Susan Schwarz at 234-6891.

EXTRAORDINARY THINGS!

Dear Chairman Igisomar:

This letter is my official declaration of intent to pursue our party's endorsement of my candidacy for the Office of the Mayor of Saipan in the November 4, 1989 general election.

Mr. Chairman, after the untimely death of our beloved Mayor Gilbert C. Ada, many people from all walks of life in our community began urging me to run for Mayor of Saipan in the upcoming election. Before committing myself to a final decision on whether or not to declare my candidacy, I made a courtesy call to Mayor Jose M. Taitano. Mayor Taitano indicated to me in no uncertain terms that he does not wish to be a Mayorial candidate this year.

For these reasons added with my strong desire to be an involved and effective public servant, I hereby appeal to you and to the officers and members of our party to give this declaration full support and favorable consideration.

Marianas, Pacific Studies Expanding At College

One of the significant expansions underway at Marianas College is in the area of Marianas-Pacific Studies, which will eventually include a whole range of courses centered around the Northern Mariana Islands and their neigboring Westwern Pacific area.

George Haberman, a NMC instructor, is in charge of putting the program and the new courses together. "The college has been offering a course on Marianas History for several years now, and this year we've added a new course on Commonwealth Government," Haberman explained. "Our goal is to add three new courses each year for the next several years. Three years from now, we hope to be able to offer our students a regular two-year Associate of Arts Degree with emphasis on the Marianas and the Western Pacific. Basically, NMC wants to be able to offer its students a course of study which will help them become more knowledgeable about their corner of the world, and to retain as much of an awareness as possible about its culture and rich heritage."

Haberman has been involved in the research, preservation and teaching of Western Pacific history for some time. He has spent the past twenty years as a curriculum specialist in the history and cultural fields, working for the Trust Territory Government of American Samoa and for the CNMI before coming to the college five years ago as an instructor.

Still, he does not plan to tackle the job completely on his own. It's important that the courses we offer are specific to this area of the Pacific," said Haberman. "I will be forming an advisory committee, comprised of local community leaders and others who are knowledgeable about this area, to advise and assist me in determining what should be taught, and even who might be good for teaching the courses."

Haberman's intention is for the college to offer much more than just the basic history/government types of courses. Some of the courses proposed include archeology of the Marianas, classes in conversational Chamorro and Carolinian, creative writing and speaking for native Chamorro and Carolinian speakers, and traditional arts and crafts, dance and music.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Marianas-Pacific Studies Program should contact George Haberman at the college.

Students Teach Their Parents Computers

Parents of second-graders at San Vicente School recently visited the computer lab to learn firsthand what their children do in their computer classes.

In each of the three one and a half hour evening workshops, the students became the teachers and enthusiastically taught their parents how to "boot" (start up) the computers and run various programs such as "Alphabet Circus", "Galaxy Math", "Magic Spells", and "Print Shop". These and other similar programs are used to help reinforce the concepts that are being taught in the students' regular classes. This is known as Computer Assisted Instruction (C.A.I.).

For the past few weeks, Mrs. Marian Ponton and Miss Deedee Rengiil, San Vicente's computer teacher and aide, have prepared the children through role-play to become excellent facilitators.

The children were very serious about their new positions and insisted that their parents follow all the rules of the computer room.

The youngsters were demanding that their parents extinguish their cigarettes, leave all food and drinks outside and even leave their shoes outside the room. What was even better was that these children could also explain the reasons why to the bewildered parents! Each of the workshops were a tremendous success for all involved.

In this age of computers there are many who are apprehensive of the new technology. Many of the businesses here in Saipan are computerized and it is heartening to see that the next generation are adapting so readily to the new information age.

The students of San Vicente, the first school on the island to have a computer program, have been working with computers for the past 5 years.

Nancy Weil, Energy Education Officer and CNMI 1989 NEED Coordinator, on March 13 talked a group of Koblerville Elementary students before showing them a video on energy conservation. The week of March 13-17 was observed as National Energy Education Week/Day in the CNMI. Weil said she also visited other schools including Hopwood, San Antonio, and Mt. Carmel during the Week and talked about energy conservation issues. Most of the schools in Saipan took part in the Week observation by doing the can-recycling, which they did last October. The schools also went back to the beaches literally claimed by the schools in the Adopt-A-Beach program held for the first time last year. "This is a wonderful example of schools assuming responsibility in a community," Weil said. (PSS Photo by Joe Fejeran).

Student, are involved in activities relating to the occupations of carpentry finishing, simple interior design, living room, kitchen, closets, and cabinet components. Within the job families, performances range from making simple stools, shelves, cabinets and counters, framing simple walls, install doors and windows, and renovations.

From shop drawings of a set of cabinets, the cabinet maker must be able to develop a cutting list, then quickly and accurately cut the right-sized parts from solid lumber and sheet materials as specified.

He must then be able to do all of the required machining opeations necessary for making joints for hardware installation. Then the parts must be assembled into cabinets as specified and prepared for finishing. The cabinet maker may also be required to finish the cabinets, install them, and install plastic laminator countertops.

In addition to these operations, cabinet makers may be involved in measurements, blueprints, and preparing estimates and bids.

In order to do these things, he must be able to read and interpret blueprints, and he must be familiar with woods for cabinet making and with sheet materials such as plywood, particle board, medium-density fiber board, hard boards, and plastic laminates.

Skills in operating a wide variety of woodworking machines are also very important. It is also necessary to be familiar with a number of products used in cabinet-making, such as adhesives, abrasives, hardware, fasteners, and finishes.

The project, that involves mostly students were renovating the school cafeteria during second quarter. They are starting their project that will be displayed during the Education Week, April 15-21, 1989, and the cabinet making I class, preparing their project too.

Cabinet making students are also involved in door installation and repairs around the school campus.

MHS Student Wins Ed Week Design Contest

PSS - Austin Lloyd Buccat, a tenth grader at Marianas High School, has won the Education Week Design Contest.

His design, illustrating the Education Week theme "Education: The Lighthouse of Our Life", was selected as the winning entry Tuesday by the members of the Education Week Executive Planning Committee from over thirty entries, submitted from all the public schools in the Commonwealth.

Austin Lloyd Buccat

Committee members said that when they were reviewing the designs, they did not know who made them and what schools they came from.

Buccat will be recognized during Education Week, April 15-21, and he will receive a $50 prize from the committee for his accomplishment.

His design shows a lighthouse beaming a bright light to guide a wooden outrigger canoe into a harbor. Written on the sail are the names of the CNMI public schools, with the names of potential careers for students printed on the land.

The design captured the attention of the Committee members for its clarity, and was overwhelmingly selected from the top four.

Buccat, 15, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anastacio and Luz Buccat of As Terlaje, Saipan. He was selected by the Public School System Administration earlier this year as one of the three CNMI high school students to represent the Commonwealth in the Pacific Rim of the Close Up Foundation program to be held in San Francisco, California, April 1-7, 1989.

MHS Holds Forum For Democratic Candidates

by Dan Phillips

A never-before-held question and answer session with this year's candidates for Governor will take place Tuesday at Marianas High School.

The event, sponsored by the MHS Honor Society, is designed to "enhance ideas that the students learn in the classroom," as well as to "give the students who will have a chance to vote an opportunity to meet the candidates," according to Joe Borja, advisor for the Honor Society.

According to Borja, there are over 200 eligible voters at MHS, out of over 260 seniors.

Oliver Gonzalez, the student coordinator for the activity, says, "The candidates will have a chance to publicize their platforms and students will be able to familiarize themselves with the candidates' views."

A panel of five students will ask questions of the three Democratic candidates for Governor, Antonio Guerrero, Herman R. Guerrero and Froilan Tenorio.

The production will be made entirely by members of the Honor Society. This is the first time such an event has been attempted at MHS, and this is the first year of existence of the Honor Society at the school.

The panel will comprise of Claire Dela Cruz, Rowena Rechebei, Oliver Gonzalez, Elaine Inos and Bobbie Concepcion. The moderator will be Honor Society President Loomi Bermudes.

Panel members will be able to ask each candidate one question, with each panelist asking questions in turn. Candidates will have a time limit of two minutes to answer each question.

The session will be held on the MHS stage outside and will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Advisors for the Honor Society and the event are Borja and Chandra Sekaran. Other students participating include Mildred Sablan, Cathy Teregeyo, Lynette Manibusan and Lisa Manglona.

Master of Ceremonies will be Cecilia Tudela, a counselor at MHS.

Members of the MHS Chapter of the National Honor Society must possess a grade point average of 3.5 or above and demonstrate good leadership skills.

The MHS chapter currently has 27 members, 22 of which are seniors.

Artist-In-Residence To Help "Mold" Future Artists

When Barry Wonenberg came to Saipan 3 years ago, he came with his new bride, Maggie, for their honeymoon. But when he left he decided, along with his wife, to return someday and teach his craft to the up and coming Commonwealth artists.

Mr. Wonenbergs' dream came true, when on March 19, 1989, he came to Saipan after being chosen for the Artist-In-Education (AIE) program. The AIE program hires artists-in-residence under a grant from the National Endowment of the Arts, through the Commonwealth Council for Arts and Culture (CCAC).

Barry is a ceramicist/sculptor and will have the opportunity to help nurture CNMI students in 3-dimensional art and printmaking. Along with working in Plaster, Raku, and Ball Relief techniques, Mr. Wonenberg will be able to work with the indigenous clay found on only a couple of Micronesia islands. According to Margo Vitarelli, Arts Coordinator for the Public School System (PSS), Saipan, along with Palau and Yap are among the older islands in Micronesia that have evolved long enough for the earth to form pockets of this local clay. Ms. Vitarelli went on to say that although Hopwood Jr. High School Art Teacher, Noel Quitugua, has experimented in the clay, this medium has yet to be fully tapped. Barry will get his chance to work with Mr. Quitugua, one of the CNMIs outstanding art teachers, when he joins the Chalan Piao school for 2 weeks.

Mr. Wonenbergs "Home Base" will be San Antonio Elementary School, where he will instruct students for 6 weeks. Although there have been dance and movement teachers at the school in the past, Ms. Vitarelli said Barry is the first bona fide "art teacher". Mr. Wonenberg will be instructing grades 1-7, but will concentrate on the upper elementary levels. Classes will be held about 3 times a day, with each session lasting around 45 minutes.

The 3-D artist will be moving to other CNMI schools as well. Along with his 2 week stint at Hopwood, Barry will also be at Mt. Carmel School for 1 week, and travel to Tinian to teach at Tinian School for 2 weeks. After school lets out for summer vacation, Mr. Wonenberg will move to the CCAC workshop for the remainder of his 5-month contract, which ends September 1, 1989. The workshop area is presently being chiseled from the existing Historical Museum, located in American Memorial Park, Garapan. To help Barry get around the island, the Microl Corporation has generously made a Chevy Sprint available to him for the tenure of his contract.

The CCAC workshop will be open later this spring to everyone interested in the arts. Whether you're a teacher, wishing to enhance and expand your knowledge into the world of 3-D art so others may benefit' a young person who wants to learn about all the different mediums available for ceramics and sculpture; or the someone who wants to use this knowledge as a hobby to explore the personal pleasures art can bring.

When his contract expires, Barry would like to remain on Saipan, teaching children the aesthetic aspects of life. As there is a shortage of art teachers, Mr. Wonenberg would be a welcome addition to the CNMI education system.

Barry has been getting acquainted with members of the PSS since his arrival, and I finally got a chance to talk with him when he met with San Antonio Elementary School Principal Jose B. Aldan, and Ms. Vitarelli, at the home of the "Octopus". The meeting was held on Monday, March 27, 1989, and the three discussed their plans for the remainder of the school year.

Barry comes to us from Boise, Idaho, where he grew up, attended Boise State University, and was the preparator for the Boise Art Museum before making his voyage to Micronesia. While attending BSU, Barry met his future wife, Maggie Deleon Guerrero. Maggie is from Saipan and was also attending the university. They were married in 1986, and have a 7 month-old girl, Coral Marie.

Mr. Wonenbergs main goal while instructing the students is "to give the kids a positive experience with art", plus allowing the children a break from the academics and into the arts. However, Barry will, at the same time, try and instill "creativity derived from art and turning in towards subjects like mathematics and science, using a free way of thinking, so students can put the numbers and formulas they learn in such classes in practical sense."

Well, he's got a great place to start, as San Antonio Elementary is right on the beach, with a beautiful view of the multi-hued ocean- - great inspiration for an artist!

UPROAR OVER FSX REFLECTS TOUGHER ATTITUDES TOWARD JAPAN

NEW YORK (AP) _ American opinion leaders who favor a more nationalist trade policy have found a cause celebre in President Bush's plan to share U.S. fighter aircraft technology with Japan.

Opposition to the FSX fighter deal has galvanized lawmakers, executives, academics and others who say the United States should discard its devotion to free trade and adopt Japanese-style measures.

For a change, opposition to aspects of the jet fighter deal have come not only from lobbyists and think tankers, but from prominent figures in Bush's own administration, including Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher.

The ferocity of the FSX debate marks it as a turning point in American attitudes toward competition with Japan_reshaped by the persistent trade deficit and rivalries in semiconductors, high-definition television and superconductivity.

"There is no doubt that the FSX issue is important, in that it's the first evidence that some elements of the U.S. government are starting to come to grips intellectually with the challenge of Japan," said Chalmers Johnson, a professor of Asian studies at the University of California at San Diego.

"For the first time in the postwar world, instead of trying make the Japanese look like us, we are behaving ever so slightly like the Japanese," Johnson said.

Under the agreement signed late last year, St. Louis-based General Dynamics Corp. would join forces with Japan's Mitsubishi Heavy Industries to develop and produce the FSX, an advanced version of the U.S. F-16 fighter.

President Bush last week said he endorsed the deal, but agreed to insist on modifications to safeguard U.S. technology and assure American industry has a share in the plane's production.

Some opponents say Japan should simply buy F-16s, which would be cheaper for Japan and help shrink the U.S. trade deficit. Japan has refused to do that, but only because it was not pushed to the limit, they say.

So far the debate hasn't led to bitter displays of emotion, like last year's fury over Toshiba Machine Co.'s illegal sales to the Soviet Union, which led congressmen to smash Toshiba radios outside the Capitol.

But as with any good rallying issue, the FSX reflects bigger concerns, including the loss of America's high-technology leadership and the dominance of military considerations in American foreign policy.

"There's a sense of frustration in the country," said Kevin King, editor of "Japan Bashing Alert," which tracks comments about Japan in 1,500 U.S. publications on behalf of Dentsu, of Japan, the world's largest advertising agency.

"The aerospace is such a sensitive issue because it's the last industry which we can safely say we still dominate," King said.

In Washington, the seismic change in opinion has split the Commerce Department, which promotes U.S. commercial interests, apart from the State and Defense departments, which put global security issues first.

The Commerce Department's star is slowly rising, although the adjustment "is still lagging behind events," said Ernest H. Preeg, a senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington.

A leader in the fight against the FSX, Clyde V. Prestowitz Jr., gave intellectual respectability to the cause of managed trade last year in a book called "Trading Places: How We Allowed Japan to Take the Lead."

Prestowitz, a former U.S. trade negotiator, compared Americans to lonesome cowboys and Japanese to settlers: "Under attack they circle the wagons together and take on all comers. And win."

The United States cannot be a free trader when Japan blocks advanced American products from its own market while developing competing products of its own, as in the case of supercomputers, some of the new interventionists say.

"We must begin to act like we were a developing nation," said Kathryn Harrigan, a professor of strategic management at Columbia University. "Our false pride continues to make us ethnocentric about where ideas come from."

In contrast to those who fear foreign investment, Ms. Harrigan said she favors it as long as Americans benefit with good jobs.

"We want the critical tasks done on American soil, so Americans, I don't care who they work for, manage to keep themselves on the cutting edge," she said. "In time of war, we (could) exercise our sovereign control over property."

All this talk of managed trade and industrial policy troubles free traders such as Edward Hudgins, director of the Center for International Growth at the Heritage Foundation in Washington.

"There is no way we could set up that sort of a management system in the United States. It's a very fierce, aggressive, no-holds-barred competition of special interest groups here. We do not have a sort of consensus culture as they do in Japan," Hudgins said.

But even Hudgins sees some Japanese things worth emulating. He favors repealing most antitrust laws, eliminating taxes on earned interest income to encourage savings, and breaking down the distinction between commercial and investment banks.

Voters Select Village Leaders

MANILA, Philippines (AP) _ Voters chose village leaders Tuesday in balloting the government hailed as the final step in restoring democracy, but the military said rebels would use the elections to expand their control in rural areas.

Voters in more than 41,000 villages and urban wards on the island nation chose about 287,567 council members from more than 860,000 candidates.

Election officials expected to complete the vote count by Wednesday.

The elections were non-partisan. But political analysts said the outcome will influence national politics by enabling political factions to establish grass-roots organizations in advance of the 1992 presidential election.

Col. Gerardo Flores, intelligence chief of the Philippine Constabulary, said communist rebels were backing candidates in hopes of capturing 60 percent of the council seats in areas under their control.

The rebels claim to control about 8,500 villages nationwide and to operate in another 3,500. The Commission on Election estimates the rebels control about 2,800 villages and urban wards. The difference is believed to be in definitions of "control."

"In remote, inaccessible areas, there is hardly any government presence," said election commissioner Haydee Yorac. "So the party members are the ones who exercise the most serious influence."

On Monday, President Corazon Aquino said pro-Communist candidates can serve if they are freely and fairly chosen.

"Well, if they have been elected legitimately, there has been no force, they will hold office," Mrs. Aquino told reporters. "We have to abide by the law."

The Communist Party of the Philippines is banned here. Maj. Gen. Ramon Montano, chief of the Philippine Constabulary, said council members will be allowed to serve if "there is no substantive evidence" of links to the rebel movement.

Tuesday's elections, the last scheduled before the 1992 presidential vote, are the fourth nationwide since Mrs. Aquino took office in February 1986.

Voters ratified a new constitution in February 1987, selected members of a bicameral Congress the following May and chose provincial officials, mayors and city council members in January 1988.

Hilario Davide, chairman of the election commission, said extra troops had been deployed in about 3,500 districts considered "hot spots." Voting was postponed in a handful of districts because of fears of violence.

Civilian and military authorities claim the rebels are losing strength because of more effective counterinsurgency operations and improvements in the Philippine economy.

They also maintain that the rebels lost much of their appeal following the February 1986 ouster of President Ferdinand Marcos' authoritarian administration and Aquino's rise to power.

She has vowed to crush the insurgents before her term expires in 1992.

In a statement marking Wednesday's 20th anniversary of the rebel New People's Army, guerrilla Chief of Staff Romulo Kintanar said 30,000 fighters was deployed in 65 of the Philippines' 73 provinces, 800 of 1,500 cities and 12,000 villages and neighborhoods. The army is the armed wing of the Communist Party.

"NPA units have largely recovered from setbacks in 1985 and 1986 and have reconstituted guerrilla formations which had been reduced for a time," Kintanar said.

Kintanarwas captured in March 1987 but escaped last year from the stockade at Manila's Camp Crame after attending a birthday party for his former jailer.

used for the construction of the north and south wings at the multi-purpose gymnasium in Susupe. In 1987, $683,265 was received of which $383,265 was earmarked for the construction of the Rota multi-purpose center; and $300,000 for the emergency sanitary facilities on Saipan and Tinian involving construction of 148 septic tanks and accessories for the FEMA home recipients who did not have access to public sewer.

Last year, $321,800 was received and transferred toward the completion of the Rota multi-purpose center.

Sablan said that MIHA has received word that it will receive $500,000 in Fiscal Year 1989 for various community projects. He said public hearings will be held on Saipan, Tinian and Rota next week to get the input of the general public on what types of projects they wanted financed by the CDBG program.

Community Development Week Ending

(CNS) - To highlight the contribution of the Community Development Block Grant Program (CDBGP) Act of 1984 toward the betterment of communities, Gov. Pedro P. Tenorio signed a proclamation on March 23 declaring March 24-31 as Community Development Week.

In signing the proclamation, Gov. Tenorio pointed out that, since 1975, a total of $4,722,215 has been received by the CNMI through the Mariana Islands Housing Authority under the CDBG program.

He said the grant funds received provided the needed funding for planning and construction of water supply and distribution systems, sewer collection systems, individual sanitary waste disposal systems, street and drainage improvements, housing for displaced families, street lighting and recreational facilities.

". . .The projects and activities which have been assisted under the Community Development Block Grant Program have contributed toward the betterment of our community, the general well-being of our residents and our economy," the proclamation stated.

The Governor urged all residents to join in recognizing the many significant improvements which have been made possible by the CDBG program in the Commonwealth.

John M. Sablan, Executive Director of MIHA, said that the first grant received by his agency was back in 1975 when it was awarded $100,000 for the construction of the Puntan Muchot Sewer Line Project in Garapan. A year later, MIHA received $197,800 of which $115,480 went to the Sugar King water distribution system and service laterals at the Sugar King homestead site. Sablan said $33,326 was earmarked for preparation of the Chalan Kanoa/Susupe Redevelopment Plan and $48,846 was for the Rota Park and Recreational Facility in Songsong Village.

In 1978, $238,550 was received under the CDBGP of which $160,846 was used for the Garapan Annex II street and drainage improvement; $24,164 for the Puntan Muchot Drainage in Garapan; $48,808 for the San Jose water facility in Tinian; and $41,680 for the Rota water facility to provide matching funds for an EDA grant for the construction of the one million gallon reservoir.

A total of $450,000 was received in 1979. The MIHA Executive Director said that of that amount, $130,742 was used for the Mihaville street improvement in Garapan involving street paving and construction of curbs and gutters at the 48-unit Section Eight housing subdivision; $136,021 for street paving and construction of curbs and gutters in a 20-unit Section Eight housing subdivision on Tinian; $126,950 for street paving and construction of curbs and gutters in a 30-unit Section Eight housing subdivision on Rota; $9,671 for construction of a 12,000 gallon water storage tank for 30 Section Eight Housing units on Rota; and $9,868 to make emergency repairs on the Section Eight housing subdivision septic tank and leach field at Liyo area in Rota.

In 1980, $100,000 was received and used to provide supplemental funds for street improvement at Liyo area on Rota and in 1981, a grant of $300,000 was received, of which $299,800 was used to build seven replacement homes and related water, power, sewer and street improvements on Saipan for families relocated from Pagan following the volcanic eruption on that island. Sablan said that $400,000 was received in 1982 and the entire amount was used to construct water and sewer lines at Koblerville Homestead subdivision on Saipan. In 1983, half a million was received by MIHA through CDBG program of which $421,600 were used for construction of Koblerville water and sewer projects which was initially funded under the 1982 grant. In 1984 and 1985, $400,000 and $450,000 were made available respective and the entire amount was used for Koblerville water and sewer projects and street paving around the homestead subdivision.

In 1986, the sum of $380,800 was received and

Dredging To Start In Saipan Harbor

(CNS) - The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers recently issued a federal permit to Saipan Sea Ventures, Inc., Saipan, Northern Mariana Islands, to perform maintenance dredging and to install six mooring dolphins at Delta Dock in Saipan Harbor.

Under the permit issued by the Honolulu Engineer District, the harbor side of the existing concrete dock will be dredged to a depth of 7 feet to provide boating access. The approximately 2,100 cubic yards of San and silt to be removed will be dewatered behind berms on the dock before being trucked for disposal at an approved upland site. Temporary causeways or any other discharges or disposal in the water are not authorized by this permit. Also, silt curtains are to be used around the dredge area.

The permit also authorizes future periodic maintenance dredging of the area until Dec. 31, 1998. Saipan Sea Ventures must notify the Honolulu Engineer District at least 30 days prior to the start of any dredging cycle.

The application for this permit was sent to all federal and local reviewing agencies for their review and comments. Subject to conditions included in the permit, no objections were raised against the maintenance dredging or dolphins.

The permit includes special conditions to address and comply with requirements of other regulatory agencies, the U.S. Coast Guard in particular. The permit stipulates that dredging will be done in such a manner so as to not effect the nearby mangrove habitat.

HEREBY SUPPORTING THE PUBLIC AWARENESS CAMPAIGN BY THE CNMI GOVERNMENT ON DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES, SALUTING THESE SPECIAL GROUP OF PEOPLE, AND RECOGNIZING THEIR POTENTIALS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

Hospital Board Proposed

by Dan Phillips

Commonwealth Health Center would be established as a nonprofit public corporation under the control of a Board of Hospital Trustees if a bill introduced in the House last week becomes a law.

The aim of the "Hospital Reorganization Act" is to remove responsibility for running the hospital from the Director of Public Health and Environmental Services and to place that responsibility into the hands of a Board.

According to the bill, "The functions and responsibilities surrounding hospital care are too complex for continuation of the present administrative system ("one-man-rule") and require collegial input from responsible members of the community."

American hospitals are used as an example where hospital boards have taken over governing hospitals from "unitary bureaucracy" or "one-man, one-rule".

In 1985, the Commonwealth Health Coordinating Council had a survey done to test what the most effective forms of governing a hospital are and found that governing boards are strong because they are there "to bring a reasonable degree of public accountability and public oversight into the otherwise closed process of administering their services."

. According to the bill, "The Legislature finds that a most significant function of a hospital board is to place community individuals into a position of trust and responsibility so that they can serve not only to provide oversight and guidance of the hospital's activities, but also to more effectively communicate to the public on its accomplishments and needs."

"To assure that management of the hospital is consistent with the public goods, there is a need to provide for a governing body which will control and set policy for all hospital operations and personnel," the bills says.

The board would be composed of nine voting members appointed by the Governor, with approval of the Senate. The board would be required to have at least two members from Rota, two from Tinian, one of Carolinian descent, one woman, one licensed to practice medicine in the CNMI, and one from the private sector of the community.

Members of the Board would serve staggered four-year terms, with reappointments not allowed for more than one term.

A Board member would be automatically removed with three absences from Board meetings, and could be removed for other reasons as well.

Board meetings would be at least once every three months.

Comments Sought On Transmitter

(CNS) - The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers requests public review and comments on an application for a federal permit to construct a radio antenna facility in a wetland near Tanapag village on Saipan, Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

According to Col. Chip Wanner, Honolulu District Engineer, the Far East Broadcasting Company, Inc., Saipan, proposes to construct the radio antenna facility in the wetland located in the Lower Base Industrial Complex. Far East Broadcasting was granted a federal permit in 1978 to construct a similar project less than a mile away. Due to adverse public opinion, this project was never constructed and the permit expired.

The new site for the proposed project is 6.2 acres in size, of which, 4.7 acres are wetlands. Elevations within the site are slightly lower than the surrounding lots.

The project includes a 240-foot high tower, three sets of guy cables and concrete anchors, grounding system, transmitter building, access road, and three temporary access causeways. The transmitter building and 155 feet of the access road would be constructed on existing fastlands and are not subject to regulation under the federal permit. However, permit authorization is required for placement of fill in the wetland to construct the tower base, six anchor blocks, remainder of the 200-foot long road, and causeways.

Temporary causeways would be constructed to provide access during entrenchment of the anchor blocks. All temporary access causeways would be removed upon completion of the anchoring systems.

A total of 120 transmission radials would extend from the base of the tower. In the wetland, radials would be laid on ground surface. In fastland areas, radials would be entrenched 6 inches below grade. All swamp reeds on the site would be mowed to install the radials and then be allowed to revegetate the site.

Wanner asks that comments on this permit application and any request for a public hearing to consider problems and issues in the proposed radio antenna transmitter facility at Tanapag be mailed to him by April 12. Write to the Honolulu District Engineer, Building 230, Fort Shafter, Hawaii 96858-5440.

The District Engineer has sent notice of the proposed activity to the Commonwealth Historic Preservation Officer and the U.S. National Park Service for their comments on cultural resources. Notice has also been sent to the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service for their comments on endangered species and other areas of environmental concern.

All comments will be considered by the District Engineer before he makes a final decision on this application.

The public notice outlining additional information on this application, No. 2079, is available from Corps operations offices in Agana, Guam, at the Pacific Daily News Building, telephone 344-5203, and in Honolulu at Fort Shafter, Building 230, telephone 438-9258.

'in the U.S. the same day."

Northwest has been planning this expansion for over three years, but going has been slow "because we've needed to negotiate with the different governments involved, which is a very regulated procedure," Ruch said.

Ruch said Northwest has definite plans to further expand in Saipan, but that those plans depend much on the situation in Japan.

"We owe a lot to the support of the Saipan people who have requested our service. Without them, we wouldn't have come," said Ruch.

He went on to say that now that people will have a choice in some cases whether to take Air Micronesia or Northwest, it will likely force Continental/Air Micronesia to improve the quality of its service, which will only benefit the customer.

He also said that he felt the two airlines "will compliment each other to a great extent."

Rocball Finals Near

Saipan's Marianas High School rocball players are four teams and about two weeks from producing their fifth world champions. The quarter finals ended Monday when the Outsiders defeated and eliminated the Amateurs from the play-offs.

Out of the six teams that made it into the quarter finals, the Big Times '89 and Outsiders from the Solar League and the A-D IX'ers and Bombers from the Pulsar League made it into the semi-finals. The Bombers and A-D IX'ers of the Pulsar League eliminated Kil'em & the Gang in two games to clench their semi-final play-off spots. The Outsiders, the third place team of the Solar league, played their way into the semi-finals by upsetting and handing the Solar League leading Big Times '89 their first defeat of the year. The Outsiders lost their first quarter final game against the Amateurs, the second place Solar league team, and were in a do or die situation against the Big Times '89. Their victory over the Big Times '89 set the league's leaders up against the Amateurs. If the Big Times '89 would have lost to the Amateurs, they would have been eliminated and the Amateurs and Outsiders would have made it into the semi-finals. But, Big Times '89 won and sent the Amateurs back to face the Outsiders. In their first game of the quarter finals the Amateurs defeated the Outsiders 19 to 16 in one tough match set. In the game that meant a semi-final playoff spot though, it was the Outsiders who decisively won the contest in three sets, 36 to 6.

The semi-finals will determine who plays for the 1989 world rocball champion-ship. The Solar League Big Times '89 will play the Pulsar League Bombers and the Pulsar League A-D IX'ers will play the Solar League Outsiders in this intra-league best of three games elimination competi-tion.

Eliam and Capelle Win Pingelapese Tennis Tournament

Pingelapese living in Saipan had their first ever tennis tournament last Saturday at the Civic Center Tennis Court. Two young men from Koblerville - Dakes Eliam and Annes Capelle - emerged the overall doubles champions, winning a total of $130 cash and a trophy, Eliam said.

They are from Pingelap, a .67 square-mile atoll located 160 miles southeast of Pohnpei Island.

Eliam and Capelle, former University of Guam students, played superbly in the Flight A group and emerged undefeated, eliminating all their opponents in two hotly-contested playoff games. In the final game, they ousted the duo of Elieu Kelly and Youngten Jack. The latter team capturing the second overall spot with a $50 cash prize.

Eliam said that of the $130 he and Capelle jubilantly pocketed that night, $50 was contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Derson Ramon, and the rest was from collections by the Pingelapese Organization of the Commonwealth (POC), headed by Phillip David, CNMI Chief of Classification in the Personnel Office. The two trophies were from Yamamoto Enterprises in Garapan.
