CNMI warned: Beware of Nigerian money scam

by Rafael H. Arroyo

Assistant US Attorney Richard Pierce recently flashed an alert to CNMI residents about a common scam that has been circulating in the territory. The scam involves Nigerian scammers promising to make a donation to the recipient, only to ask for more money in exchange for a fee to process the donation. The scam involves creating a sense of urgency and fear to make the victim send money.

Both House conference committee members on the proposed pay raise bill continued to meet until Thursday night at the MPLC’s building on Taminian and have reported “substantial progress”, in an attempt to arrive at a compromise.

A letter put out by Pierce last Tuesday, indicated that at least one report each in Guam and in the CNMI has been received by his office both with the same nostrum opened. Pierce in an interview said that he was not sure if those involved was a syndicate or an individual operating all by himself. All I’ve received are skimped on his radar, according to Pierce, the scam involves letters supposedly from Nigeria, asking readers to share in the sender’s ill-gotten wealth by simply sending in their bank account numbers, bank addresses, individual routing numbers, and signed copies of business stationery.

Prospective victims are then made to believe that some of the ill-gotten wealth will find their way into their bank accounts. Pierce said that this “get-rich-quick” scheme may usually end up with businessmen discovering large debts in their accounts.

Agency from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), who were tasked to conduct a check on the matter confirmed the existence of such a mail scam. Calling them “solicitation letters”, Special Agent Paul Amoy said would-be victims could be gypped out of their money, if they go on to extend to defraud someone with this scheme.

Nothing is really enticing. "These guys would say that they got lots of money in Nigeria and would be willing to give out a few thousand dollars to unsuspecting businessmen," he said.

Amoy also pointed out that a list of the more prominent businessmen in both the CNMI and Guam may have been gotten into the hands of the unscrupulous people, and that a warning may have to be in order to prevent people being victimized by them.

"We just like to issue a warning to all residents to refrain from dealing with these people since you may not have anyone to cry to if you go on to extend to defraud someone with this scheme," Amoy maintained.

The upshot being drummed up to the top of war currently being conducted to maintain the generally accepted idea of the public good is what the present situation is all about. This is due in the fact that the act of being put on the chopping board has been built in merits and demerits, designed to give the public good, and that the act of the government is also public good. In any event, one gets the idea that such an act was being passed and scrutinized very thoroughly in order that the best possible arrangement may be derived for the public service.

This is in view of the so-called cost of living, which most people will agree on, the upshot, thanks to the growing complexities of modern times.

With this in mind, perhaps the thought of surplus funding being realized supposedly due to effective management of government resources, an equitable distribution of wealth seems to be a valid raison d'etre.

Having the issue resolved seems to have lost grip on the issue, observers tend to be thinking in terms of what other motives seemed to be a valid raison d'etre.

Superior Court tells AG what to do

by R. B. Concepcion

Superior Court Associate Judge Alan C. Cuerda issued an order telling the Attorney General’s Office “what to do” to avoid failure or absence of an Administrative Agency hearing.

Judge Cuerda issued the order dated May 29 after assistant AG Thomas Sheldon failed to appear a hearing, involving a case against illegal aliens.

Sheldon should have been the attorney who would represent the Commonwealth in a case filed against foreign citizens. The Court, upon Sheldon’s non-appearance, directed the AG’s office to come up with an explanation on why it failed to send an assistant AG to the case concerned, suspended the proceedings.

The response provided several reasons for his absence to which Sheldon contended as “excusable neglect,” while Judge Cuerda disagreed, dismissing the explanations as “poor management and unacceptable.”

Sheldon’s reply provided that he was ill, but failed to go to the Chief to ensure that cases set before the Chief may not be expeditiously handled if the attorney responsible for the same failed to “recall” the cases to the Chief.

Judge Cuerda also put into consideration counsel’s concern that “...such failure is excusable in view of the counsel’s concern responded to. Thereby, it is understandable in view of the circumstances.”

The assistant AG also put into consideration counsel’s concern that “...such failure is excusable in view of the other circumstances. The failure to ‘recall’ the cases to the Chief may not be expeditiously handled if the attorney responsible for the same failed to ‘recall’ the cases to the Chief to ensure that cases set before the Chief may not be expeditiously handled if the attorney responsible for the same failed to ‘recall’ the cases to the Chief.”

In another issue, Supreme Court Associate Justice Francisco C. Villagomez also issued an order, asking the AG to go to the Chief so he can ensure that cases set before the Chief may not be expeditiously handled if the attorney responsible for the same failed to ‘recall’ the cases to the Chief to ensure that cases set before the Chief are handled expeditiously.

Palau: The possibility of Independence

If Palau adopts the Compact of Free Association with the United States, it would become almost independent while still retaining certain dependencies. The Compact would enable Palau to receive substantial financial assistance and export duties on behalf of the United States. The U.S. has expressed its desire to work with Palau in order to achieve a mutually beneficial agreement. However, Palau must also be willing to accept certain conditions.

Under the provisions of the Compact of Free Association, Palau would be granted limited self-governance, and the U.S. would be responsible for Palau's defense. Palau would have the right to establish its own political and economic systems, but it would not have complete sovereignty. The U.S. would retain control over certain areas, such as defense, foreign affairs, and national security.

The Compact of Free Association would provide Palau with leverage in its negotiations with the United States. Palau's leaders have stated that they will not enter into an agreement that is not in the best interests of the Palauan people. The compact is expected to be a significant step towards achieving independence for Palau.

The Compact of Free Association would be beneficial for Palau in several ways. It would provide the Palauan people with greater economic opportunities and political autonomy. The compact would also provide Palau with a voice in the international community, and it would strengthen Palau's relationships with other nations.

However, the Compact of Free Association would also bring challenges for Palau. The Palauan government would need to carefully consider its options and ensure that the compact is fair and equitable. The compact would require Palau to make difficult decisions about its future, and it would need to be mindful of its obligations to the United States.

In conclusion, the Compact of Free Association is a step towards achieving independence for Palau. It provides Palau with a voice in the international community and greater economic opportunities. The compact also presents challenges for Palau, which will need to carefully consider its options and ensure that the compact is fair and equitable.

Counterfeit bill found

A counterfeit $100 bill was found by police officers from a woman who was about to be re-assigned from the chief financial officer's office to the tax division.

Police Chief Tony Reyes said that the bogus bill was found during the process of William D. Torres, 25 of San Jose, who was detected at the Stars up-bank on Sunday night for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Reyes said that the bill will be examined by bank officials to determine if it was counterfeit or not.

In other news:

• Two Bank of Hawaii employees who were either fired or had a chance to find themselves in trouble and to be involved in a disagreement of $10,000.

Reyes said on Thursday that Antonio R. Aguas, 23 of Pacifica, and Jennifer R. Leong, 26 of Koblerville, who were connected with the bank as tellers, were terminated from their jobs after the supervisor announced that the money missing while she was checking the bank's debit records.

The money has yet to be recovered and Reyes said that as of Thursday, no formal charges have yet been filed against the two bank employees.

“The employees were at the bank when the boy was found in the possession of William D. Torres,” Chief of Police Tony Reyes said.

“It is not clear if the boy was involved in the disappearance of $10,000,” he added.

Police Chief Tony Reyes said that the boy was about to be released from detention on Monday morning.

The money was indeed, bogus.

Justice Calvo said that “We realize that there are a lot of candidates for the job but Charles reflects the Supreme Court’s integrity. He updates files, communicates with the attorney’s and protects the court’s integrity.”

Chief of Court Calvo is responsible for all the cases filed in the Supreme Court.

Justice Calvo said that “We are happy with our work and pleased that the cases are completed, even after the justices have gone home.”

Abused alien worker cases mount to hundreds

by Ten M. Flores

The cases range from verbal abuse to sexual overtures to attempted rape and many from the community are still not aware that abuses happen everyday of the week.

For the alien contract worker, the only refuge where they can go is the Philippine Consulate. The Consulate has received 43 complaints from house-workers. The cases range from verbal abuse to sexual overtures to attempted rape and many from the community are still not aware that abuses happen everyday.

The possibility of a labor union to represent the alien workers is not far behind. We may eventually get what we need, it depends on the availability of funds and what we can do to expand our services," Manzano said.

Solar power suits Saipan homes well

Living with solar power does mean having to think about energy use in the home, but it doesn’t have to mean having to work, asserts Charlie Frear. Frear, a member of Saipan’s Biology department, says that people who use solar photovoltaic ( pv) panels to bring them electricity.

"For us, we all have re- duced in the discharge of battery. And then we use the power from the storage batteries to run the batteries. We do it at a little different way, and it is working without," he explains.

"That’s big savings in money, and in power consumption," notes Frear.

They have to remember to do the wash in the morning, when the batteries have more power from the pv panels and less from the storage batteries.

"We have to remember to do the wash in the morning, when the batteries have more power from the pv panels and less from the storage batteries," says Frear. In

"Why did they wait so long to add the pv panels? Well, first we had to finish building the house (it was four bedrooms, and a total of 3,000 square feet)," said Frear.

"And then we had to save up for the panels," said Frear. In "And Frear said, "We have reliable solar power." They payed like pop- corn," he said.

"With the new inventions on the market, I didn’t have to wire the house for DC, and I didn’t have to put up with DC-operated appliances to run the panels, so I guess in a way its lucky I waited," commented Frear. In

"It’s a problem with storage batteries that we have here," says Frear. In

"I don’t believe in dryers, with all thepanel we have here," says Frear. In

THE PEOPLE OF THE CNMI
HAVE THE RIGHT TO KNOW HOW THE
PUBLIC SERVANTS COMPENSATION RIGHTS COMMITTEE OPERATES

Among those present at the June 6, 1991 meeting of the Public Servants Compensation Rights Committee were:

Personnel Officer Jesus Mafnas
CUC Director Ray Guerrero
Assistant Attorney General John Cool
Rhoda Smith (wife of Assistant Attorney General Eric Smith)
Pamela Mathis (wife of an Assistant Attorney General)
Public Works Director Elizabeth Balajadia

HERE ARE SOME EXCERPTS FROM THE MINUTES OF THEIR MEETING:

Public Works Director Balajadia:
"Ray, do we have a switch that turns off all the power for the other islands?" (LAUGHTER)

Chairman Ray Guerrero:
"Yes. The more signature on that letter will scare the Mayor of Saipan and the others."
"Another thing, I can use to the extent, maybe the other department probably can do it alternating probably every hour, alternate a site maybe like Capitol Hill. DPS can park maybe two or three of the patrol jeeps with the sign there on the side of the road in front of the Legislature, then followed by CUC, followed by every other department so that they know that we are there continuously for that day for eight hours... Like CUC, for example, we will not respond to trouble shooting calls for one hour and that’s power, water, and sewer. I will use the emergency vehicles to be parked with their flasher on. Every public who passes on the road will see it. Same thing with DPS.”

Anthony Tenorio (Dept. of Public Safety):
"I have pull out our emergency vehicle from that. I can’t cut off the needs of the public in emergency cases. We have no problem parking the vehicles, but..."

Chairman Ray Guerrero:
"No, but you probably have unmarked vehicles that we can use for one hour. I don’t think anything drastic will happen in one hour."

Personnel Officer Jesus Mafnas:
"Those police officers who are off-duty can drive up there for an hour and they alternate. That’s what the Chairman is to..."

Chairman Ray Guerrero:
"It’s very easy for them to meet our demand because I have the switch. I’m serious. Let me tell you, I’m serious. My stuff, I promised them (salary increase) that I’m going to give them and I approved that yesterday. It’s a matter of passing the salary act. So let’s not forget that Rota will have a blackout, so will Tinian, and will Saipan - if we have to become very drastic..."

Tanapag school brings honors for winning 5th at the National Energy Competition

By Ted M. Flores

It started with just a small dream and with the help and support of the Tanapag school officials and the community, the dream might not have been fulfilled. Nevertheless, after the Tanapag Elementary School’s Energy Conservation Club was formed, the club members have brought honor not only to the Tanapag school and community but, it has also earned recognition for the Commonwealth when the club placed 5th among 28 clubs participating.

Ten months after the Tanapag school community, the children of the school officially launched the program called NEED which is the National Energy Education Development to help improve the community about energy conservation.

The Energy Club then organized energy related activities which were actively participated in by the school children and the community as well. Jackson said, "It started with just a small dream for everybody but, it paid off in the end." Banks said.

Jackson said that school officials particularly its principal Martha Haberman and the Parent-Teacher Association Chairman of the school David Igito backed the students 100% in every effort that they did.

The school’s Energy Club was founded by Banks last year after the Commonwealth Energy Office (CEO) launched a program to help schools about energy conservation. The Tanapag community, the children brought out to the Saipan community by putting posters about energy conservation in major department stores on the island.

The five members of the Energy Club who were selected from the Tanapag school population, were then sponsored by the Commonwealth Utilities Corp. to appear in live energy related commercials which were aired on Cable T.V. every now and then.

Public service announcements were also published in the weekly papers of the Commonwealth and on a personal note, the members also became involved in performing science experiments. The Tanapag that was neglected during the October 14th

Meet the celebrity baggers at Payless Saturday, June 15
by Teri M. Flores

On Saturday, do not be surprised if the person who is doing the bagging for your groceries might just turn up to be the governor or your government official. From 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday at the Payless Supermarket in Chalan Kanoa, government officials and other registrants will take turns bagging for you. This is in support of the first fundraising of the Marianas Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

"Payless has allocated five percent of the day's sales to the Cancer Society," Carmen Galikus, one of the event's coordinators said.

She said that entertainers, who also sold some of their favorite items, were willing to give their support to the cause.

On the list were some of the Gaudy's who will do the giving.

"All our associates have been very supportive," she added.

SAIPAN SWIMMERS COMPETE IN KAMEHAMEHA NATIONAL SWIM MEET

Saipan's young swimmers, the Saipan Mariners, competed in Honolulu this past weekend completing two of many Saipan teams from Hawaii (all islands), California and Arizona. The swimmers competed in the Kamehameha National Swim Meet June 8-10, 1991 at Farrington High School Pool with Ryo Saso, Dan Palacios and Jensen Westfield each making the finals. The 800m (10 yrs.) led the way with Saipan placing 12, the 200m in 24:52 (6th place) and the 200 individual medley (9th) in 2:32:27. Jensen Westfield (11 yrs.), swam a national "A" time which placed him in 40.80 in the 100 breaststroke, and Dan Palacios (9 yrs.) made the finals in the 100m freestyle in 1:46.52. All boys swam their best time ever.

Claudia Adriano (15 yrs.), posted two national times in the 50m freestyle (31.72) and the 100m freestyle (30.06) in her two best events. David Palacios (13 yrs.) who owns the men's events, six, dropped 4 secs, 1.5 seconds respectively off his best times, improving to 23.15 in the 100m free and 30:10 in the 200m individual medley. Yens Jh Niu (10 yrs) swam four events with her best finishes in the 50 in 26.47 (17th) and the 100m freestyle 1:32.48, dropped two seconds from her best times.

There were up to 69 swimmers representing the top half of almost all of the 29 events. They swam very well for their first real international competition.

The schedule was tough with warm ups beginning at 6:00 A.M. each day. The competition started at 8:00 A.M. and the last event ending at 4:30 P.M. We had swimmers in the first and last events each day. The weather was cool in the morning but warm up during the day with sunny light showers.

This was a very successful meet for the Saipan Swim Club, culminating with a good showing in their first international competition, and shows that the Mariners should have a good future in swimming. Most of the team will return to Saipan Friday afternoon.

The swim club will also be conducting trials again this summer July 15th, at 8:00 A.M. in the morning Monday-Tuesday for two weeks. All school age children are welcome for $10.00 per child.
