Babauta appeals to Governor and the people of the CNMI:

‘Let’s go for funding’

By Rafael H. Arroyo

RESIDENT Representative to the US Juan N. Babauta yesterday called on Governor Froilan C. Tenorio and the entire citizenry of the Commonwealth to unite and lead him in defense of continued Covenant funding for the CNMI.

Speaking before a joint session of Legislature convened to receive his annual report on the State of the Washington Office, Babauta reiterated his claim that funding assistance from the US is still needed, not only to help the Commonwealth grow but also for it to nurture its rightful place under the American political fam-

Tenorio recalls cars used by Inos’ office

GOVERNOR Froilan C. Tenorio has told employees of the Rota Mayor’s Office to immediately turn over the government vehicles they are using or face disciplinary action, including possible termination.

A news release from the Governor’s Office had the chief executive stressing the central government on Saipan is the one paying for the government vehicles on Rota so such vehicles are to be used solely by central government officials on Rota and not by the mayor’s office.

The governor’s memorandum to executive branch officials on Rota is titled, “Unauthorized use of Executive Branch vehicles by employees of the Rota mayor’s office.”

It was issued at a time when the governor and Mayor Joseph S. Inos have been at odds over the delineation of powers of the local island executive.

Only recently, Inos took Governor

GOVERNOR Froilan C. Tenorio to court over the latter’s directive which explained the limits of the mayor’s powers on Rota.

Earlier this month, Tenorio condemned Inos for the firing of Rota Resident Head for the Department of Lands and Natural Resources, Herman Apangat.

The governor slammed Inos for acting like a governor on Rota.

“It has been brought to my attention that a number of vehicles owned by and assigned to the central Commonwealth Government are currently being used by employees of the executive branch,” Tenorio wrote.

Part of the big crowd that gathered at the Multipurpose Center in Suao to hear Babauta’s State of the Commonwealth Address included former Governor Larry I. Guerrero, Supreme Court Justices Pedro Atalig and Ramon Villagomez, Bishop Tomas Camacho and Chief Justice Jose Della Cruz.

SGMA seeks gov’t action to stop garments exodus

By Rafael I. Santon

GARMENT industry officials yesterday urged the government particularly the legislature to create a better business environment to stop the exodus of factories from the Commonwealth.

Saipan Garment Manufacturers Association Chairman James C. Lin made the call amidst a growing concern from apparel importers on the fate of garment industry in the Northern Marianas.

Some customers from other countries have been sending their representatives to Saipan to find out if the manufacturers could still survive under the current circumstances, Lin said.

In an interview yesterday morning, Lin underscored the need for policy-makers and legislators to create a conducive business climate which he said could encourage businesses to remain here and attract more investors into the CNMI.

Lin cited changes in the tax system and the increase in minimum wages as some of the things that affect local industries and scare away potential investors.

Man found hanging in tree, lives

A MAN was hurt after he was found hanging from a tree in San Jose Wednesday morning. The Department of Public Safety said yesterday.

DPS Information Officer Cathy Sheu said the man was injured and rushed to the Commonwealth Health Center.

Sheu said DPS received a call from a person Wednesday at 9:43 p.m., informing police about a hanging incident which occurred in San Jose.

The information officer only stated that according to a report the man was found hanging from a tree. She refused to give the age of the man as well as other details of the case.

Militants warn new suicide attacks
Palestinian authorities detain Muslim extremists

By DONNA ABU-NASR

GAZA CITY, Gaza Strip (AP) - Militant religious leaders threatened to carry out more suicide attacks on Israelis Monday to protest what they see as the occupation's increasing domination of the West Bank.

Palestinian police said Monday that Israeli settlers were "ideal targets for action" after the ankle of a Palestinian youth was broken by a heater that fell on him from a window. The ban reportedly was to be lifted to allow settlers to return to their homes. ..

WHAT THEY SAY...
The other aspect that I find somewhat troublesome is the extent to which the nation’s political campaigns are becoming more negative. I have often been told by my colleagues that a campaign consultant’s job is to make sure that the candidate does not lose, and the only way to do that is to make sure that the opponent loses. I believe that this is a dangerous trend, and it is important that we take steps to address it.

Yesterday’s computer software is a fine example of this trend. In the past, computer software was used to improve the efficiency and productivity of businesses. But in recent years, computer software has been used to enhance the appeal of a candidate. This is not a good trend, and it is important that we take steps to address it.

There are several things that can be done to address this trend. First, we need to make sure that candidates are held accountable for their actions. They should be held accountable for the way they campaign, and not just for the way they govern. Second, we need to make sure that regulatory agencies are doing their jobs. They should be holding candidates accountable for their actions, and not just for the way they govern.

We need to take action to address this trend, and we need to do it soon. The impact of this trend is not just on the political process, but on society as a whole. It is time that we take action to address this trend, and to make sure that our democracy is healthy and strong.

Ship with plutonium stuck in Chile

The Pacific Peace Boat (PPB), which is carrying 600 tons of plutonium from Japan to the United States, is being delayed in the Chilean port of Valparaiso due to the unresolved issue of compensation.

The PPB, carrying the fuel for the US nuclear power plants, has been stuck at Valparaiso for more than six months, waiting for the Chilean government to resolve the compensation issue. The Japanese government has demanded compensation for the cost of the shipment, estimated to be around $1 billion, while the Chilean government has offered a much smaller sum.

The issue has been a source of tension between the two countries, with Japan accusing Chile of reneging on a previous agreement and Chile指责Japan of not providing adequate compensation. The situation has raised concerns about the safety of the plutonium, which has been described as a ticking time bomb.

Meanwhile, the PPB has been conducting activities in Chile, including a Peace Boat Conference and a Peace Boat School, which aim to raise awareness about nuclear disarmament and promote a culture of peace.

Forum to use satellite for tracking purposes

The Micronesia National Bureau of Agriculture and Rural Development will use a satellite to monitor crop yields in the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM).

The program, called the Micronesia Agricultural Satellite Program (MISP), is a joint initiative of the FSM government and the Micronesia National Bureau of Agriculture and Rural Development. The satellite will be used to monitor the growth of crops and provide early warning of any potential problems.

The satellite will be provided by the US National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). The FSM government will be responsible for the maintenance and operation of the satellite.

The program is expected to help farmers in the FSM to make informed decisions about their crops and to improve the overall productivity of the agricultural sector.

SAIPAN: The younger generation of MICRONESIAN SALES CO., INC. are pleased to announce the appointment of Micronesian Sales Co., Inc. as the exclusive distributor of SEC Energy's cellular service in Saipan.

"This is a significant milestone for us as we continue to expand our network capacity for cellular customers," said Barry. "These improvements will result in better coverage of the cellular network, especially in areas where the signal was weak or nonexistent. As we add a new antenna site and the new antenna site, our coverage area will be virtually doubled for cellular customers."

Sanitation violations to be fined

THE DEPARTMENT of Public Health Services week lined up its first actions as "cruising" business establishments in the CNMI that would not comply with sanitation regulations. As a result of these efforts, MTC announced this week that it has doubled its network capacity for cellular customers.

"These improvements will result in better coverage of the cellular network, especially in areas where the signal was weak or nonexistent," said Barry. MTC does upgrade of its cellular services

"This year we'll be spending over a half million dollars to improve the service," said MTC President Abraham. "The department is resuming the improvements that are needed to make our cellular service more reliable and to increase its capacity."

NEW PRODUCT!!

"We are now developing that final year for our students who are working in the community," said Barry. "It is concerning effective policy making and compliance with business and other entities in the community because it is the task of the public health division to enforce the regulations."

Insurance company's liquidation sought

By Rafael S. Santos

A law firm which was appointed as a receiver for the collapsed National Pacific Insurance, Inc., has recommended the company's liquidation, saying it is the "only real choice."

At a hearing the Superior Court of Guam, the Law Office of Brian McMahon indicated that National Pacific Insurance of Guam, Inc., has never existed independently from parent company in Guam.

The firm said that when NPI Guam was severely impacted by cancelled claims arising from a series of natural disasters, funds available for the local firm were taken by NPI Guam.

When operated as a separate entity, CPR-CMI was in fact inexorably linked to NPI Guam. Any. Brian McMahon said. All cash receipts received here were sent to Guam and for the most part, all correspondences were created at Guam branch office. Since added.

Because of this relationship, it has recommended to the government that NPI-CNMI and NPI-Guam should be treated as a "unit."

Mr. McMahon indicated that a receiver for NPI-Saipan in order to protect the property and fund of NPI-Guam and submitted statement of liquidation, saying it is the "only real choice."

McMahon was tasked to examine all property and book of NPI-CMI and want on the book balance sheet of the local firm.

But the Guam attorney believes reorganization is not the best option.

"NPI-CMI cannot reorganize without conflicting in relationship with the Guam entity. Thus, liquidation is the only choice," the report said.

Last month, McMahon was appointed by the court as receiver for NPI-CMI to examine all property and book of NPI-Guam and submitted statement of liquidation, saying it is the "only real choice."

The decision to place NPI-CMI in liquidation was not made by the company's "insiders."

"NPI-CMI's consent and approval of financial condition which worthless to any assurance on the company's solvency or solvency," Superior Court Presiding Judge Alex Castro.

He added that the Superior Court is not in position to impose a new receiver for the company.

Mr. McMahon is the next receiver for the company.

The matter will also pave way for all insurance agents and others involved.

McMahon said distributions will also be made as funds become available.

But he pointed that the real significant distributions will occur only after NPI-CMI's remaining insurance claims are settled.

In the meantime, the company will not be able to pay claims due to its current financial condition.

Mr. McMahon said the figures shown to him were not acceptable to the receiver.

Fiji land problems deterring investors

The president of the Fiji (Fiji) Metal Workers union said Friday that the country’s land management problems had contributed to Fiji’s failure in attracting foreign investors and deterring overseas investors, the Fiji Daily Times reported Monday.

Though the land issue was destroying the economy by creating instability and uncertainty, it was not a major concern to Fiji’s international investors, the statement said. Fiji said this was a major concern raised in its discussion about Fiji’s annual meeting. Niall Nolan, a New Zealand diplomat, said on Saturday that the Fiji meeting was bringing together meetings with the Fiji government, the national government and the Fiji association.

In a recent statement, the Fiji government said it would sell the land it owned at more than 1 million dollars.

A government statement said that the prime minister, John Bruton, had accepted the two recommendations and appointed a government taskforce. Bruton said the recommendations had come in as a surprise but were accepted. The prime minister said the recommendations were “the result of the serious problems facing Fiji’s economy.”

UN to pressure Iraq for details on biological weapons program

By JEFFREY GOLD

New York, 1995 AP

A joint United Nations-United States inspection team continued work on Monday in one of Iraq's declared sites where it is important to monitor any progress in making biological weapons.

The U.N. team was working at the site where Iraq said it had imported at least 38 tons of biological warfare agents and other material that may have been used to manufacture biological weapons.

Iraq has insisted that it has suspended all such activities and that the agents are for use in research in agriculture and medicine.

The U.N. team is expected to submit its findings to the Security Council later this month.

The team has been monitoring the site since mid-December, and its reports have suggested that Iraq may have been trying to develop biological weapons for use in warfare.

Iraq has also been under pressure from the United States to cooperate with international inspections of its chemical and biological weapons programs.

UN inspectors have been searching for evidence of the use of biological weapons in the past, including in the 1990-1991 Gulf War.

Iraq has denied any involvement in the conflict and has said it has destroyed all chemical and biological weapons.

The United Nations has been trying to resolve the issue of Iraq's compliance with international laws and theiou2026
White House gunman calm before shooting

By CASSANDRA WASHIN-
ington (AP) I was a gunman trying to kill the president — you can hear the prob- lem when a woman's name is boomed out again as an admonishment apropos to preventing mass shootings, said John W. Hinckley Jr. and said, "That Secret Service officer had never fired a gun before." Hinckley was addressing federal judges in a Washington courtroom on Wednesday.

Hinckley, 30, of Alexandria, Va., told a U.S. district court jury that he had done nothing to prepare himself for the job of being a Secret Service officer. He was to have graduated in March 1983, but he was fired two months later because he was "not the right type of person" to become a Secret Service agent.

"I have never been a Secret Service officer," Hinckley told the judge and the jury. "I was not the right type of person to become one." He said he knew nothing about Secret Service procedures. "I was a stranger to the Secret Service," Hinckley said.

Hinckley, who was sentenced to life in prison for the 1981 assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan, said he had not been coached by anyone about how to act as a Secret Service officer. "I was not told how to act as a Secretary of State," Hinckley said.

"I was never coached in any way by Catherine Reynolds," he said. "I don't know where she was. I don't know what she was doing. I don't know what she said." He said he had not been told what to do by anyone after the shooting.

"I was just trying to protect myself," Hinckley said. "I was just trying to protect myself." He said he did not know what to do after the shooting, and he did not know what to say to anyone after the shooting. "I was just trying to protect myself," he said.

Hinckley, who was 18 at the time of the shooting, said he had not been coached by anyone about how to act as a Secret Service officer. "I was not told how to act as a Secretary of State," he said. MANILA, Philippines (AP) - Philippine police acknowledged Thursday they received a report from a British jail that its prisoner might be using a false identity.

Police in suburban Pasay City decided not to prosecute the case of the man who introduced himself as Nigel Richard Gatward.

The man was sentenced Tuesday to 35 years imprisonment. The London newspaper The Sun reported Thursday that "Gatward," in fact, is a British fugitive for drug smuggling.

Raymond Henry, London police's 31-year-old man named by the newspaper, said the police investigation was dropped because there was no grounds for prosecution.

Since police in the Pasay City Jail were told that the man named as Gatward might be an agent of the British Inte­national Police in the Philippines, agents were asking the British government for more information before the prisoner is transferred to Britain.

The British government has not yet commented on the situation, but it has already confirmed the identity of the man who turned himself over to police.

London Police have identified the man as Richard Howard, 50, who had worked for the CIA in the Philippines.

His new jail information was released to the Interpol dated Oct. 31, 1994.

London police arrested a 31-year-old former British spy on Tuesday as part of an investigation into his role in the Philippines.

Richard Howard was sentenced to 35 years in prison in 1995 for drug smuggling.

The KGB provided Howard a passport under an assumed name in 1986 that he used in the United States and other countries in the Philippines.

The book carries a notice that "Safe House\" is an unauthorized biography by John le Carre and that "Safe House\" is published by J. M. Dent & Sons Ltd.

It is believed that the man introduced himself as Nigel Richard Gatward because he knew only the code names of the people he had worked with.

He is believed to have been in the United States under an assumed name in 1986 and was able to use the passport under an assumed name in 1986.

A total of 14 British court convictions for Howard, including drug trafficking, are expected to be declared in the court.

Howard does not comment on the claim of the man who introduced himself as Nigel Richard Gatward.

He is believed to have been in the United States under an assumed name in 1986 and was able to use the passport under an assumed name in 1986.

The British national news service BBC on Thursday reported that it had arrested a third person over alleged links to the bombings of the Israeli Embassy in London, and its Foreign Ministry said it had directed the Israeli police to stop him from flying out.

The BBC said it had arrested a man in Singapore, who it described as a "key suspect," and it said that he had been released by the Israeli police on Tuesday. The ministry said the man had been arrested on charges of being involved in the bombings of the Israeli Embassy in London.

The BBC said the man, who it did not name, was arrested in Singapore on Monday and had been held for several days. The ministry said he had confessed to having links to the bombers and that he had been released because of a "technicality.

The Israeli police said they had found a "suspicious device" in the man's possession and had arrested him on suspicion of being involved in the bombings.

The BBC said the man had been arrested on charges of being involved in the bombings of the Israeli Embassy in London and its Consulate General in Singapore.

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. dollar fell against the German mark on Wednesday after the Commerce Department reported America's trade deficit with Japan, the world's second-largest economy, narrowed in January.

The dollar plunged after the release of the report, which showed America's trade deficit with Japan fell 17 percent to $17 billion in January from $20 billion in December, the Commerce Department reported.

But the U.S. currency tumbled more than the mark and the yen, erasing gains made on Tuesday after the Federal Reserve announced that it would slow the pace of interest rate increases.

The dollar has been under pressure worldwide this year, showing signs of being overvalued compared with foreign currencies.

"It was very much an initial shock to the market," said Art Smith, a senior currency-merchandise trader at DEB in New York, the New York financial market's acronym for dealers.

"The market reaction is more subdued than I might have thought," he said.

In late New York trading, the dollar was quoted to 1,705 yen, down from 1,712.20 early in the day.

The dollar, however, rallied in early European trading and was last quoted to 1,709.50.

"The dollar was strong to the start of European trading (1,711 yen)," said Gary Troup, a dealer at First Boston Corp. in New York.

"We think it was the first signs of the dollar's ultimate strength that we've seen in a month," he said.

The dollar is considered a safe haven, or "risk-free" asset, during times of economic uncertainty.

"We think the trend continues to be positive for the dollar," said Smith of DEB.

"The dollar is very attractive to the market," said Amy Smith of IDEA, a New York trading firm.

"The market remains very healthy," said Smith of DEB, "and remains stable." wild

The dollar's strength stems from the strength of the U.S. economy, which grew at a 4.6 percent annual rate in the fourth quarter of 1994.

Babauta also stressed acceptance of the initiative that the U.S. government has put in place to achieve dependence on the part of the CNMI to start thinking and acting in their own interests.

"This is not a relationship of dependence. It's a relationship of sharing of the benefits and the burdens of costs and the benefits of the future that both the Commonwealth and the United States have to face," Babauta said.

"I am not going to comment on the initiative and the initiative that is being put into place here in terms of the Commonwealth and the United States.
