Russia on Saturday proposed peace negotiations between the United States and Red China, but there was no immediate response.

The question of how Russia could present itself to the world is being debated in the United States. Some experts believe that Russia should present itself as a peace-loving nation, while others believe that Russia should present itself as a power that cannot be underestimated.

The story now can be told of the mutual agreement by the United States government to Asia and the Far East, with respect to the Philippines, that Filipino President Quezon has signed the U.S.-Japan agreement.

For President-elect Harry S. Truman of the United States to arrive in Asia, with full justification and international recognition, and for President Quezon to sign the U.S.-Japan agreement on May 15, 1945, the immediate aftermath of World War II, the United States and the Philippines have agreed to establish a new economic and political cooperation program, to be known as the U.S.-Japan Economic and Cultural Agreement (ECA).

The ECA program is designed to promote mutual understanding and cooperation between the two countries, to foster economic development and trade, and to strengthen the economic relationship between the United States and the Philippines.

The ECA program is expected to provide assistance in the form of grants, loans, and technical assistance, and to support the development of infrastructure, education, health, and other public services.

The ECA program is also expected to contribute to the economic growth of the Philippines, and to help create jobs and reduce poverty.

The ECA program is a significant step in the modernization of the Philippines, and is expected to benefit the Filipino people in the long run.
