PROGRESS.

The Life of the Land is Established in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, FEB. 7, 1894.

And Still an Oligarchy.

SEVERAL of the late papers have contained correspondences from Hawaii wherein something appears which is claimed—on the very best authority of course—to be the new constitution for the intended new Hawaiian Republic. The document is very likely genuine; it is at least sufficiently outrageous, selfish, and idiotic to make a "missionary paternalism" extremely probable. We shall give some of the most prominent points in this "state document" especially for the benefit of the Hawaiians who then can see for themselves the consideration which the revolutionary government has for their civil rights and also how "Western civilization" understands republican institutions, equal rights, and government by the people. The proposed republic is to have a legislative body consisting of an upper House, and a lower House sitting apart. Qualified to vote for representatives to the lower House are everybody who can speak and write English, and have paid their taxes. Nothing is mentioned in regard to citizenship or term of residence, and we are justified in believing that the intention is to allow all aliens a vote, thereby continuing the abnormal condition heretofore existing, that any foreigner can receive the rights pertaining to citizenship, without assuming the responsibilities or burdens, and can, whenever it suits him, call upon some foreign government, to which he owes allegiance, for protection and interference, if his citizenship in Hawaii should become disagreeable. Under the electoral qualifications for the lower House the Japanese will receive a vote, when qualified but nothing is said about the Chinese. There are a large number of Chinese who can read and write English, and we suppose that they will also be admitted to a vote. We have virtually nothing against the reading and writing qualification, although we must say, that it gives a peculiar illustration of Republican ideas, to demand that a man in his own country shall be proficient in a foreign language before he receives civil rights. But let that go. The lower House, elected in the manner described, has no power whatever. The members may amuse themselves by passing acts, but if these acts don't suit the high and mighty gentlemen in the upper House, they go in the waste-basket and the upper House makes laws which are enforced, without ever being submitted to the lower House or to the people. The upper House does not work as a check on the people's representatives merely, but it assumes all the legislative power, and the lower House is simply allowed to modestly suggest measures. If the suggestions suit, well and good, the measures decided on by the people's representatives become laws, if not, they are ignored. There are not to be any conferences between the two Houses. There are no provisions for over-riding the eventual veto of the executive or the upper House. The rights vested in the representatives of the people are simply nil. If such a programme is not the most barefaced, the most impudent fraud and an insulting attempt to blind and bamboozle the people, we don't know what it is. The people cry for bread—the missionary capitalists give them a stone. But, thank the Lord, the people are sufficiently civilized to know the difference between the bread and the stone. The high and mighty upper House—Senate we suppose—is constituted of men belonging to that wealthy and highly intelligent class now represented by statesman Dole, Emmeluth and one W. N. Armstrong. To be qualified to vote for these great lights, it is necessary to be a property owner—presumably of unencumbered real estate—and further more to possess certain educational qualifications, ye God and very little fishes! may we ask to the parents of this proposed constitution, what educational qualifications they desire to find among these selected favorites, and who are to constitute themselves judges of these desired educational qualities? Reading and writing was enough for a voter for the lower House, but to be a voter for senators, it is necessary to pass an examination. But in what, we repeat? Is it necessary to know how to make out a mortgage (and especially how to foreclose it)? Is it to be proven that a man can "shave" a Chinese note or sell goods at 100 per cent. advance? Or must the voter show, that he can read the doxology backwards, and preach without practising Christianity, or that he is familiar with the creed of Abraham, Moses and Ephraim? Or is it diplomatic and political knowledge which is necessary; say to know, how to betray one's country, to conspire, commit treason, break sacred oaths, bite the hands that fed him, excell in ingratitude, hypocrisy, and general scoundrelism? if so, we know who will have the majority at the polls! But if the educational qualifications mean that the voter must be an "educated" man as we understand the term—why there will be more senators than voters, and it will be most difficult to find an "examining board." And where then will all the great supporters of the P. G. be? The men, whom Mr. Dole recognizes as the only earthly authority? Where will Mr. Mulligan be? Where the League? Where the Club? Where the Councillors? Yes, where our ministers, and our courts. Barred from voting for lack of educational qualifications!!

The constitution furthermore provides for an executive body headed by a President. This body is to be elected by the Senate, the people not being heard in the matter. And that is what is called government by the people! This is how these expatriated Americans who now howl to and cringe before the American people propose to show their American principles of liberty. This is what the Hawaiian nation and all the civilized men are offered by the oligarchs who overthrew the monarchy in the name of liberty and who bluster, and roar about having freed us from tyranny, (tears) freed us from the yoke of royalty (tears and cheers) and given to every man the unestimable, invaluable privilege of equal rights, of self-government, indeed of government of, by, and for the people! We compliment the parents of the production of their efforts and our sympathies are in order because, the product is deformed, crippled and in fact simply a miscarriage. Try again.

THERE seems to be a special bureau attached to the New York Sun attending to Hawaiian affairs. All private letters from private people in Honolulu of all ages and sexes favoring annexation and abusing the Queen, addressed to private persons in all parts of the States find their way to the columns of the Sun. We wonder if it is not a single man hired by the P. G. who does all the writing of these 'private' letters. We notice one communication from a "ten-year old" which is deserving of being read because the mental capacity and education of the missionary clique in Honolulu is well represented by anything a ten-year old can write or say.

AND now it is seen that Mr. Dole in spite of the blustering and bombast of his organ and his supporters has humbly and quietly furnished, Minister Willis the specifications, explanations and, according to the language used, with an apology and a promise to apologize some more. Mr. Dole's outrageous letter—and we believe that is what was written in Honolulu—contained a number of charges and insinuations against the American Administration which naturally were very improper and offensive to the American representative here. The Hawaiian minister of foreign affairs now shields himself by saying that he builded and based all his accusations on news-items appearing in certain American papers. Bravo! Mr. Dole we are proud of seeing the high regard in which you evidently hold the power of the press! Anything which was published in the New York Herald appeared to Mr. Dole as official and he immediately held the American Minister in Honolulu, who most likely never had read the papers, responsible and accused him of creating bad feelings and anxiety and provoking insurrection and war. Mr. Dole's letter was a blunder—Mr. Dole's specifications are a still worse blunder. The whole business shows the absolute unfitness of the present government to meet any diplomatic complication with foreign powers because its members lack the very first rudiments of diplomatic knowledge and the tact necessary to transact any delicate business. If Mr. Willis and his government are satisfied with Mr. Dole's "specifications" we shall be pleased to know it. We cannot conceive anything more disastrous to Hawaii-nei than an open rupture between our country and the United States. To that end, we hope that the next "specifications" will be a little more "specific" and that Mr. Dole in the future will not take everything for gospel which appear in a newspaper—the HOLOMUA, of course, always excepted.

Who is the new port physician? It is impossible to suppose that there isn't a doctor of standing and of long residence here who could fill that important and highly paid office, without it becoming necessary to import a stranger? "President" W. O. Smith has a peculiar way in which he shows his love for kamaainas. He reserves all his love to theoretical expressions from the platform of the League, and shows his practical hatred from his desk in the office of the Board of Health.

THE appointment of Mr. Atwater to a clerkship in the custom house must be very pleasing and encouraging to the league and to the club. Mr. Atwater is another of the species who shook the dust and departed from Hawaii only to turn up when trouble was in sight. Is there no good man left among those who shouldered a gun, laid down their lives, and performed various other heroic acts, competent to fill the clerkship or in need of a job? By the way, is Mr. Atwater any connection of the minister of finance?

"THEREFORE we must show them that American ideas predominate. We should preserve in our declaration that the native Hawaiians shall never suffer by the change of government." W. N. Armstrong. Wouldn't His Excellency be kind enough to tell us what he understands by the word "American ideas." Do they include "One man, one vote." "No taxation without representation." "Government by the people, of the people and for the people?"

WE are sorry to notice that Mr. W. N. Armstrong in his address to the secret league last Monday evening, stated that Lorin A. Thurston in 1892 went to Washington in the interest of annexation. As Mr. Thurston emphatically has denied ever to have dreamed of annexation, leave alone favoring or furthering such a scheme on the floor of the Legislative Hall in 1892 after his return from Washington, there must be a lie somewhere. It is due to Mr. Armstrong to say that subsequent events have severely impaired the public's faith in Thurston's veracity—if he ever possessed any of that article.

"CONGRESS was then enthusiastic for annexation. The clouds of continental policy broke away.

This departure was divided with admiration for our courage, our pluck and willingness to fight." W. N. Armstrong.

Who can tell us when during the late "unpleasantness" the Hawaiian ex-Attorney General displayed his "courage, pluck and willingness to fight?" We thought that he arrived here "after the fight was over" and that his capacity in that line always had been confined to a healthy competition, with a now deceased gentleman, to see who could get the most out of Kala-ka-ka, be it in the line of influence, coin or—say gin.

THE Star devotes space to publish a letter from something, which claims to be a sailor in the British navy, at present serving on board H. M. S. Champion. The fellow is evidently very familiar with the ordinary mode of punishing offenders in the British navy. If by chance anybody should waste sympathy on the Star's correspondent they should remember, that any soldier, or sailor in any army, or navy in the world who publicly parades his little grievances in newspapers, and by his whining sullies the uniform which honors him by covering his carcass, can surely be found among the very poorest, inefficient and contemptible specimens to be found in any service.

WHAT is the matter between "President" Emmeluth and "Editor" Smith both of the Star? The latter is scoring the first unmerciful and the first actualy talks back in "Chinese" to the latter. When the crib is empty the horses bite.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or the utterances of our correspondents.]

EDITOR HOLOMUA:

Will you allow me a resident of the Islands for some years to express my opinion in regard to the present state of affairs and annexation in particular. A person reading the P. G. press would come to the conclusion that they have a monopoly of the Islands especially in regard to brains, wealth and numbers. Now this is very far from being the truth; if I intended to make this letter personal; and take the liberty of using other people's names, without their consent, I could make out a list of well known men numerically as strong as the P. G.'s in wealth and far superior in intellect; not to mention that large middle class; the backbone and strength of every i. e.: the mechanics and small merchants, who with small exceptions are on the side of the Queen and her subjects. Allow me as an American Citizen to express my heartfelt sympathy with the Queen and the natives, and my utter contempt and disgust for the P. G.'s Government. I have faith in God, and in Grover Cleveland; and that great body of loyal American Citizens in the United States of America to believe that they will and right the great wrong of Jan. 17th 1893, and make a return of the stolen property to its rightful and lawful owners. I love Hawaii and the Hawaiians, they have been friend to me and mine, I came here from the States many years ago to better myself I have bettered myself; and I am thankful to the Hawaiians for the opportunity they have given me for so doing, and I thank God that I can look the natives in the face honestly, and that they know that I an American had no hand in the high-handed robbery of Jan. 17 1893. I am opposed to annexation to the United States or to any other country. Our greatness as a nation depends on our independence; and our weakness as a nation will be our strength; for as an independent nation we shall be respected by all and feared by none. The future of the Hawaiians as an independent nation is bright with promise, her future as an annex to the United States is overcast with gloom. As an independent nation Hawaii will be the stopping place and supply port for vessels of all nations passing through the Isthmus (and it is only a question of a few years when the ships' canal through the Isthmus will be completed.) but as an annex of the United States she would be subject to America's changeable tariff laws and get all the harm and none of the benefit; in other words the Hawaiian would be taxed to protect the American mechanic and the American manufacturer, whereas as an independent nation she can exchange her native products for their equivalent with all the nations of the earth. Hawaii has nothing to gain by annexation, but everything to lose; look at the condition of affairs in the United States today; thousands of skilled workmen in every one of her cities out of work and begging their bread. The rich getting richer; the poor, poorer. Surely it is presumptuous for such a nation to ask this prosperous little island to throw in its lot with them, we are better off in independence. Annexation is bad in everyway, bad for everybody the rich and the poor, if the islands were annexed to the United States every large monopolistic concern in the United States would establish a branch here; they would soon swamp the local dealers and it would be impossible to establish local manufactures, with our independence; with wise laws our future prosperity lies before us. The present of the islands has been brought about by allowing foreigners to hold office; no man can serve two masters; neither can a man be loyal to two countries. I sincerely hope that when the Queen is restored that no foreigners will be allowed to hold any office until he has entirely renounced allegiance to his own nation and sworn his loyalty to this; if he is a traitor then enforce the penalty, the same as it would be enforced in any other civilized country to day.

Don't delay your mail to the Coast.

Valentine day is due next Wednesday.

Business people complain of great dullness in all lines of trade.

Mrs. Mary Ailau will not return to San Francisco before March 3rd.

The Chinese Konohi festivities were of very short durations this season.

The Alameda is due this evening from the colonies en route to San Francisco.

A dozen expectant sight-seers left by the Kinau yesterday afternoon for the Volcano.

The entrances to the Panahou Preparatory school is being graded and curbed for walks.

Much needed improvement has been made in Miller street by the placing of sidewalks therein.

Mr. Stoeckle of the Popular Phonograph Parlors has a record of King Kalakaua's last speech.

The Hawaiian hula is reported to be veing in attraction with the Persian dance de ventre at the Midwinter Fair.

Pastor Parker of Kawaihae church and Tax-Assessor Shaw are mixed up in a court dispute over taxation matters.

The bark Mauna Ala, Captain Smith, sailed yesterday afternoon for San Francisco, with a sugar cargo valued at $55,564.

There will be a private exhibition at the Arlington parlors to-morrow evening by Mr. E. Nestor Edison who will show his loud talking phonograph to a number of invited ladies and gentlemen.

There are indications that Honolulu is now becoming much overstocked with unemployed white labor.

The mango season is now in and early morning raids are being made in all yards which have trees containing the fruit.

Tonight the minstrel show of the Champion boys takes place at the Queen Street Armory at 8 o'clock. A large audience is expected.

Capt. Robert A. Andrews formerly in command of the wrecked steamer C. R. Bishop, is now chief officer of the steamer Claudine of the Wilder Steamship Co.

It is not generally known that Mr. Frank L. Hoogs is the business manager for E. Nestor Edison, who gives a phonograph exhibition on Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Roast beef, macaroni and cheese, poached eggs, mashed potatoes! and yet the Advertiser calls out poison! when the stomachs unused to such food begin to rebel.

Mr. John Hayes who arrived here as mate of the bark Martha Davis, from Boston, has obtained a position as Captain of the 4-masted schooner G. N. Watson now at Mahukona loading for San Francisco.

The members of the German Benevolent Society met this afternoon at the office of H. Hackfeld & Co. Measures were adopted looking to the relief of all deserving poor or distressed people of "Fatherland."

Mr. Julian Palmer the local representative of the Boston Transcript visited the HOLOMUA yesterday and proved himself, in his short stay, to be a bright representative of the well-conducted, influential and well-known paper.

J. A. Magoon charged with assault on J. W. Luning was tried in the Police Court yesterday and Judge Robertson reserved decision until this morning. The verdict of the Court is that Magoon is found guilty of the charged and is ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

Complaint is made that a target shoot was in full swing on Sunday last at the Makiki butts. Further complaint is made that not only the day was disrespected but that a passing funeral was interfered with by the sharpshooters. The participants in the match fully and openly placed themselves on record in the Tiser of Monday having no fear of the laws of the land or respect for themselves.

It is understood that at the meeting of the Directors of the well-known firm of C. Brewer & Co. held this morning, Hon. J. O. Carter, the manager of the firm was requested to resign his connection with the firm. Mr. George Robertson will be his successor while Mr. P. C. Jones, whose health a short time ago prevented him from holding the office of minister of finance, has been elected president of the company. The alleged reason for the change is the honorable stand taken by Mr. Carter in the affairs of Hawaii since the revolution, a stand which on account of its honesty, naturally would be distasteful to the clique, holding the majority of the stock.

An Unfinished Story.

AND ONCE AGAIN.

More Poisoning Among the P. G.'s.

There was considerable excitement about town last evening on account of rumors being current that thirty men of the Provisional troops had been poisoned by the mixture of strychnine or some other deadly metallic poison in the food taken by them at their supper, at their mess-rooms in the Palace grounds, at about 5 p. m. Investigation was immediately made by a representative of the HOLOMUA the belief in the reporter's mind being that the story was the usual "fake" yarn generally started just before the departure of a steamer for the Coast and intended (as Admiral Irwin has charged) to influence public opinion in the United States. The story as told, at first was to the effect that thirty men had been poisoned, five of whom, including one, Coyne by name, being then wriggling in death agonies. Investigation proved that only fifteen men had become ill, from eating a mixture of macaroni, cheese, cabbage and other epicurian dainties, and all of those had been seated at one table. Coyne was also taken sick but he was at the officers table and was the only one so taken the others eating of the same food showing not the slightest illness. The true facts of the case are, that a portion of the men of Company F, were eating at their special table and soon after their supper a number of them complained of feeling ill and commenced to vomit. Coyne who was seated at another table also displayed the same symptoms. Poisoning was at once charged only in this instance no one has as yet even hinted that Royalists were concerned in it. Dr. Cooper was sent for and under his care the sick men were taken in hand, their stomachs relieved their fears dispelled and they soon became convalescent, none being now in any danger. The cause is believed to have been from the condition of the vessels in which the cooking was done, at any rate no satisfactory evidence of any kind has proved intentional poisoning. The pans and food have been sent to Professor Lyons the chemist at Oahu College for examination and test.

REVENGE.

A Cowardly Deed.

A dastardly deed was committed last evening by some unknown persons and by which two valuable dogs were done to death, strychnine being the means used. The facts as obtained show that, the Schuetzen Club had a meeting in their hall last evening and to it Captain Klemme and his brother, accompanied by their dogs, went. Just before the meeting was ended one of the dogs came into the meeting room and staggering towards its master, dropped dead. The other dog was looked for and found to be in a dying condition. Veterinary skill was employed and also the aid of Mr. W. M. Cunningham a local dog-fancier but all without avail the second dog soon following his mate to more "happy hunting grounds." The owners of the dogs offer a reward of $50, backed up by another $50 from the Marshal, for information which will lead to the discovery of the dastardly deed. Mr. Klemme has strongly voiced his opinion that it is one or more of the riff-raffs that belong to the P. G. crowd.

William Hansen a Dane, died here lately, intestate. The acting Consul for Denmark has taken charge of the estate.

The strength of the wind has greatly decreased and now the mercury mounts close to 89 degrees, in the shade.
