THE VARIOUS STYLES OF CANES.

Kinds of Wood Used—Beautiful of Different Styles—Cheap Imitations.

There are many kinds of wood from which canes are made, and much of it is imported from China...

The winter sticks are more expensive, and are made of hard and heavy material. They are usually quite thick...

Nearly every kind of expensive wood is imitated. The material used is dogwood, maple, and American ash...

THE PRINCIPAL NAMES GIVEN. The principal names given to canes in trade are the elk-head, crutch-hook...

Influence of Stones and Gems. Concerning gems, and their language, it is said that the Slavonic races of Europe have a fanciful belief...

How Consumption May Be Inherited. A recent investigator into the cause of consumption says that the disease is often inherited because the hair has taken for his personal use the decedent's old mattresses, upholstered chairs, and carpets.

Arthur Johnston, Editor and Prop'r.

The objections urged against Mr. Morrison's tariff bill in the United States seem to be sectional complaints rather than objections to the tariff principle contained therein.

We have often called the attention of the public to the merits of the Overland Monthly. The Overland is distinctively an American magazine of the best type, and it is upon real merit that it has placed itself in the lead with its wealthier rivals in the United States and elsewhere.

The first article explains and defends the position taken up in convention by the Knights of Labor. "From one thing especially," says the writer, "should the laborer be shielded, and that is from the operation of the competitive system."

With Caucasians only to confront on this point, we enjoy a reasonably sure prospect of eventually gaining a triumph; but with a horde of people in our midst, whose education from the cradle unites them to mingle with us as equals in industrial marts, the outcome is not so encouraging.

The Chinese are destructive to the best interests of the State, and dangerous to its peace. They come, not as freemen, but as serfs and hirelings of a master. It needs no Solomon to predict the result: disputes will take place, and blood will flow, to be followed by the expulsion of a population who will be driven from the state by violence instead of law.

The paper then rehearses the Los Angeles massacre of 1871 as a partial fulfillment of the prophecy. The "Tacoma Method" of getting rid of the Chinese is next given as an illustration of the peaceful means, and is followed by a "Sequel to the Tacoma Method" which shows that the so-called method "has borne its legitimate fruitage at Seattle, in Caucasian blood spilled in the streets, citizens imprisoned, and the business of the city turned upside down under stress of martial law."

REPORT OF THE CITY MISSIONARY.

Read by Mrs. Southwick at the Annual Meeting of Fort-Street Church.

At present the pressure of the city mission work is not so great, so fatiguing to the body and trying to the mind as in times past; not that it is less important, but from the fact that it has been systematically organized into as many departments as we have worked and means to sustain.

The Fowler Yard work has so far increased in numbers and interest, and since the last report given we have established a Sunday school and a day school. The old building being entirely too small to accommodate those desiring to attend the services and school, it has been enlarged and answers the double purpose of a mission chapel and school-room.

The Sunday evening Bible class, which started in the beginning of the year 1882, and was removed from Fort-Street Church into the Yard, last August, varies in the same proportion, though at times, from the crowded room, the veranda windows, and groups of people outside, we have estimated that seventy-five were within hearing of our voices.

We have been requested to speak of the work as regards conversions. We consider this part so specifically the work of the Holy Spirit that we hardly know how to express ourselves. A number have expressed a desire to lead honest Christian lives; how deep the work of grace is, we can only leave the Lord to judge, and continue to inculcate the Christian principles of love, justice and faith.

We feel that in others the spiritual life has been quickened, and their knowledge of divine truths made clearer. The early education of these people, even their religious training, warrants them in what are inconsistencies to us; but time and patience will help to eradicate these, and place them on more solid ground. Let us see that the children are early instructed in the right way. The work has been crippled for lack of room, but with the new building at our disposal, we hope to reach more and bring them under the influence of the Gospel of Christ.

In connection with our labors here we established a German Bible class last October for the double purpose of instructing these people in Bible truths, and the English language, but this had to be abandoned, as our instructor left for the Coast, and we have not been able to fill his place. One of the most satisfactory departments of the work, is the day school organized January 11th of this year with Miss Frances Johnson as teacher. The average attendance is twenty-four. The children only have high wooden chairs on which to sit and no desks; but their progress is really remarkable and if they advance as rapidly in morality as they do mentally we shall feel the work is very satisfactory.

Through the kindness of Miss King we have a fine blackboard, which is of great assistance in the instruction. We design in this school to instruct the children in principles of morality, temperance, and to help them form habits of cleanliness and order. The Young People's Christian Temperance Union, organized September 4, 1883, was so well sustained that on October 7, 1885 we formed an auxiliary of smaller children. We might have built up a much larger society did we not exclude smoking. Our society of old members number fifty-three in good and regular standing, though from distance, nightwork and various circumstances, fifteen or more of these can seldom attend; but we keep posted as to their loyalty to their pledge. Of this society probably thirty-five has been the largest attendance at any one time during the year and about sixteen the smallest. The auxiliary numbers fifty-seven and thirty-five is the average attendance. This is a promising society, and with a little effort might be enlarged. The children are taken before they have acquired the habit of using tobacco, which has been a discouraging feature in the older society, though the work is encouraging on the whole. These children meet at our own house, are instructed in the principles of total abstinence through the medium of temperance stories, are served with refreshments and after some parlor games and music, go home happy carrying with them some little temperance leaflets and card of merit. One mother said to me of her boy, fourteen years old, who lives so far away he cannot be present: "He keeps his badge always hanging where he can see it and puts it on every meeting night." This boy is studying Latin, philosophy and astronomy, while the boys who dropped out of the union for the sake of their cigarettes are mostly receiving their education in the streets. A father said to me: "I can't prevail upon my boy to go out and buy a bottle of whiskey for me, he won't even bring me a glass of it from the cupboard." Such instances of fidelity to the society are common. We believe that this Union, if rightly cared for, will, at some future day, be an important factor for good in Honolulu society; or may be its influence will be felt in different places throughout the world.

There is not the necessity for quite so much calling as formerly, for the reason that the work is so well known that those desiring assistance can, and do, apply, as a general rule. During the year there have been about seven hundred calls made on families, the sick, and those in trouble, which is a monthly average of fifty-eight. We have attended several funerals and superintended a few entertainments. All the calls have been received with expressions of gratitude, and often attended with God's blessing. Of the sick visited we have kept no account outside of the general calls. There have been about thirty different individuals assisted with loans or gifts of money, and more than sixty with clothing.

As regards employment for different individuals, including men and women, and the procuring of homes for destitute children, we estimated the number assisted at about fifty. There have been hundreds of magazines and many more papers of the best matter distributed among boarding houses, families, hack drivers, and on shipboard, wherever we felt it would be appreciated. We feel that this is a means of doing much good and the bringing of comfort to many who, unable to procure the best literature, would have to do without, or be content with that which would do more injury, both mentally and spiritually, than otherwise. We have rejoiced in the receipt of three large cases of magazines and a box of clothing from the Island of Kauai, assuring us that the interest in this work was not confined exclusively to Honolulu.

We feel the work is one of progress; that there is much yet to be done in the line of organization when we have sufficient means to warrant our undertaking more and when enough workers are forthcoming. We desire a kindergarten school for the small girls; a training school for the larger ones, that they may be instructed to be cleanly, orderly and systematic in household duties, fitting them for service in families, which would indeed be a blessing in this country, or for homes of their own; a free night-school for boys and girls who are at work during the day; a fruit and flower mission; and last, but not least, a home for destitute women and children and aged men.

We have been told that there was not sufficient demand for anything of this kind, but we think if these same people had been under the necessity of placing their own homes and strength in the line of nursing and baby tending to mothers with from two to six children, chiefly because there was no other disposition which could be made of them; if they could only see a poor little motherless girl of four years of age, so forlorn and friendless and dirty, to say nothing of five motherless boys, of poor women whose physical sufferings are so great as to make life one continual burden with no medical attention, proper food, nor pure air to breathe; of very aged men with none of life's comforts; if they could see this they would feel differently on this subject. A home of this kind would provide a place, where poor women could leave small children for the day for a small remuneration, while they were out to service.

As this year closes the work of your city missionary, in connection with this church, we desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the dear friends who have so faithfully and earnestly co-operated with us in this work, and have given so willingly of time, talent, and means, and especially to those who have upheld us by their loving words of sympathy and earnest prayers, remembering the message of the blessed Savior of the sin laden, and weary hearted: "As ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

The Chinaman, Aciau, alias Chun Hook, arrested the other night for attempted burglary, had five charges entered against him in the Police Court yesterday.

The following passengers are booked to leave for San Francisco by the steamship Geo. W. Elder to-day: C. M. Rowley, wife and son, W. W. Merrill, Col. Powell and wife, F. Baldwin and wife, Captain Crawford and wife, Col. Borlton and D. Notley.

A native named Solomon was arrested night before last while trying to induce some chickens to elope with him. He received a present of six months imprisonment at hard labor, from Judge Bickerton, in the Police Court, yesterday morning.

Just as the refreshments were being served at the Fort-street Church meeting last evening, a large shaggy dog walked into the room and helped himself to the sandwiches on several of the ladies' plates. It could not be learned whether the dog went outside and died afterward or not.

The danger of fast driving is exemplified in Honolulu every day in the week. Yesterday evening another example of reckless driving occurred at the corner of King and Nuuanu streets. Some of the people who drive in this reckless way would be very much offended if their names should appear in print some morning.

The steamer Lehua arrived in port yesterday, bringing the broken shaft from Pepeekeo Plantation Mill. On account of the shaft breaking the mill was obliged to shut down until the shaft could be repaired. The foundry hands were working on the shaft last night, and if finished in time it will be sent back to the plantation by the Lehua this afternoon.

It was reported in yesterday's PRESS that a man had been shot in the leg, at Hamakua, Hawaii, and brought to Honolulu by the steamer C. R. Bishop. It was learned yesterday that the man was a Norwegian laborer on the Paubau Plantation, who had got into a row with a luna on the plantation, and during the row he was shot in the leg, just above the knee. He is being treated at the Queen's Hospital.

The annual meeting of the members of the Fort-street Church was held in the vestry of that Church last evening, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Deacons, A. W. Peirce and Dr. Whitney; Church Clerk, W. W. Hall; Sunday School Superintendent, J. B. Atherton; Assistant Superintendent, W. A. Bowen; Superintendent Primary Department, Miss M. Hopper; Treasurer, C. M. Cooke; Librarian, E. A. Jones; Assistant Librarian, W. Forbes. Mr. W. W. Hall as Church Clerk then read his report. The Treasurer's report was read by Mr. E. A. Jones. Mr. C. M. Cooke the Treasurer being absent. Mr. J. B. Atherton then read the report of the Sunday school Superintendent, and was followed by the report of the Primary Department read by Miss Hopper. The report of the Librarian was then read by Mr. E. A. Jones. Miss Spooner and Mrs. Allen read papers relating to the Christian Endeavor, and the Ladies Benevolent Society, respectively. Mrs. Southwick, City Missionary, then read a paper on the work done for the past year, which report appears in another column of this paper. Refreshments were served between the reading of the reports and the election of officers.

At the monthly concert of the Beth-el, last Wednesday evening, the subject of which was "Japan," papers thereon from recent Mission journals were read, and an interesting account of Japan was given by Mr. R. W. Irwin, Hawaii's representative to the "Sun-rise Kingdom," illustrative of its progress in civilization and social ethics, and a succinct historical sketch of the old and new introduction of Christianity, and the promising outlook for a general acceptance of religion by all classes with the next change of ruler.

They say: That the Ceylon made a remarkably quick passage from Hong Kong to this port; that the merit of being a politician does not always lie in abusing your opponent; that the late burglaries do not suggest any improvements to be made in the police force as it is at present organized; that the next three months will expose some strange political bed-fellows; that the next Legislature will develop some very "funny business;" that the rest of this week will be spent by some of Honolulu's citizens in anticipating the news to arrive by the Mariposa; that the man who was scared almost to death the other night by thinking he saw a burglar was afterwards convinced that it was only his wife going to the tap under the window for a pitcher of water to cool him off with; that the abrogation of the treaty would bring back the old-time liveliness to the streets of Honolulu; that turkeys under the old regime were only worth four dollars a dozen; that the aftermath of the Honolulu social world will not make a full crop this month; that the man who gave a free concert at the corner of Beretania and Nuuanu streets, the other night, has not a very good voice; that the new display-card of the Inter-Island Company is fair to look upon; that the citizens who own fast horses don't want others to run fast horses against them on the eleventh of next June; that the rain fell gently last night; that the people who gossip about strangers generally gossip about their friends when they get a chance; that the people say the communication of "Justice" in yesterday's PRESS tells a "right smart" of truth; that the policemen are immortalizing themselves by capturing the unfortunate thieves who happen to stumble in the way; that the sale of stocks the other day by Mr. E. P. Adams has caused a demand for stock sales; that the Portuguese ought to have a court interpreter appointed, as well as the Japanese; that the police ought to all be sentenced to two years each for not catching the burglars; that the rain prevented the night-watch from sleeping last night; that the rumored burglary in Nuuanu Valley last night turned out to be a canard; that the fellow who is accused of stopping a hack with a revolver the other night claims that he was only trying to get a ride home; that the politicians are formulating a new theory of government for Hawaii; and that the people are determined to show the politicians that government is nothing more or less, for that matter, than a corporation.

At twelve o'clock noon yesterday, the brig Allie Rowe, her boats, sails, etc., were sold at auction, Mr. T. Lucas being the purchaser, paying $4,100.

A CARD. Mr. H. Armitage. DEAR SIR: We have just returned from a trip to the Volcano of Kilauea per the "W. G. Jules Verne's Story Outdone. The submarine boat of Jules Verne's story, directed by the mysterious Capt. Nemo, sinking a ship and sailing back...

Keeping Out of Publication. It is perfectly easy, nowadays, for any New York family, no matter how wealthy or consequential they may be, to keep out of publication. All they need to do is to shut their door. No reporter will pry it open.

The Amateur Photographer. There was a time when a man could be pretty certain that he had a vested inalienable and indisputable right to the sole possession of his own features. Unless he was a criminal and forced to sit for his portrait as a much-needed addition to the rogues' gallery he felt that he had a certain control over any counterfeit presentation of himself which might come into existence.

Sam Ward and the Senator. Sam Ward was once seated opposite a well-known senator at a dinner in Washington. This senator was very bald, and the light shining on the breadth of scalp attracted Ward's attention.

The Tobacco Beggar. Tobacco-begging, like money-getting, comes to be an insanity. The beggar who begs to protect himself from beggars is sane, but there are men who beg tobacco because tobacco begging has a fascination for them.

Always Falls on Somebody. Justice always falls on somebody in China. A barber in Hankow threatened his assistant with prosecution on the charge of stealing 25 cents, whereupon the accused man took opium.

Use of Solar Power. In a new French apparatus the heat of the sun falling upon metallic plates tightly covering a thin layer of a volatile liquid, like ammonia, is combined with the natural coolness of water to generate power for pumping.

The Largest Collection of Canes. A Philadelphia journalist has the largest collection of canes of any man in America. They were gathered from all quarters of the globe.

Encouraging to the Electricians. The famous electrician, Bell, says the problem of seeing by electricity is so nearly solved as to give much encouragement to those at work in that field of science.
