WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Brief Sketch of a Rising American Newspaper Woman.

Mrs. Ella A. Hitchcock lately sailed from New York for Europe, and will be abroad for a year, perhaps longer. She will journey from point to point, writing newspaper letters about matters that strike her attention. Mrs.
Hitchcock is a fine example of what a woman can do when she makes up her mind. She is thoroughly educated. When she first began to earn her own living she became a telegraph-er. In a short time she became noted as a lightning operator. She began her career in Philadelphia, and so excellent was her work, so apparent her executive ability, that the place of manager of the office in which she was employed was soon offered to her. She declined it, however, and went to New York. Here for a time she was in a broker's office, then accepted a place in the huge Western Union building on Broadway. Here she at once became noted for her skill and strength, and presently a "long distance wire," of the kind usually operated only by men, was placed in her charge. It is generally considered that women have not strength of wrist to work the instruments that send messages across the continent, but Mrs. Hitchcock proved that she could do this with the best.
Next, for a year or two, she was the operator on the special wire in the office of the Brooklyn Times. Meanwhile, at odd intervals, she wrote some newspaper letters on her own hook, and proved that her capability here was no less than that it had been in telegraphy. She seemed to grasp intuitively the salient points of interest in journalism, just as her ear and brain had read the meaning of the "click, click" of the telegraph. Finally
Mrs. Hitchcock abandoned telegraphy altogether and entered the journalistic work.

Openings for newspaper work
came to her with what seemed marvelous luck. But it would have been no luck if she had not been brilliantly able to do the work. Mrs. Hitchcock is a prominent member of Sorosis, and a large, handsome, merry woman, with scores of friends, who wish her all success in her journalistic career in Europe.

Annie Besant, from being the best hated woman in England, has become, perhaps, the most beloved one. Of all the English women who have "views" she is the ablest and most fearless. Ten years ago her ideas were so unpopular that the British nation stood up and howled. Clergymen preached and wrote against her, the law attacked her, the British matron rolled up her eyes to heaven, and the mob, set on by all these, cursed her, and stopped only short of personal violence. In the midst of it all I visited her in the autumn of 1882 in the little London office in which she assisted Charles Bradlaugh in editing his radical newspaper. I suppose she was at that time almost the loneliest woman in all England. I enjoyed visiting her all the more that I was warned it was hardly the proper thing to do. I found a sweet voiced, comely young woman, with a face full of light and vim and conviction. Her eloquence was second only to her earnestness. I was so charmed with the radical English woman that I came straightway home to America and wrote a long newspaper letter about her full of gush and admiration, of which she looked every bit. I remember that the editor of the paper for which I wrote the letter had some hesitation in publishing it, so intense was the prejudice against Annie Besant at that time. And now she has lived it all down simply by standing by her colors
and working for the good of mankind.
She has served long and admirably as a member of the London school board among other posts of trust and honor she has held. She has suffered as few women have, and now the good time is coming for her.

A new definition of a society woman is abroad. A society woman is now defined to be a woman who belongs to a great number of societies and clubs.

In the leading social circles of Washington are several young women who honorably earn their own living. Thus the Capitol sets, as it should do, an example to the rest of the republic.

In 1875 one-fifth of the female population of Massachusetts were wage earners.
In 1885 nearly one-third were thus engaged, and there were only eight branches of industry in the whole state in which women did not work.

SEALED TENDERS

Will be received at the office of the Department of Interior until 12 o'clock noon, on TUESDAY, the 8th day of March, 1892, for the erection of a building on the Insane Asylum Grounds at Palama.

Plans and specifications are to be seen at the office of the Superintendent of Public Works.

Each bid must be accompanied with a certified check in the sum of five (5) percent of the amount of the bid presented, made payable to the order of the Minister of the Interior, which said check will be forfeited to the Hawaiian Government in case the bidder shall fail or neglect to execute a written agreement and give the bond required for the faithful performance of said work within six (6) days after written notice of the award is given to him.

All bids must be distinctly endorsed, "Tender for Insane Asylum Building."

The Minister of the Interior does not bind himself to accept the lowest or any bid.

THE Daily Bulletin

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, but established for the benefit of all.

MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1892.

An important item is that on banana flour, cut from the Sanoa Times. This is certainly a product in which Hawaii should be able to compete with the rest of the tropical world.

With the danger of a glut in our market for fresh bananas on the Pacific Coast, any chance for working up our surplus into preserved articles of export should be eagerly investigated.

In the opinion of the Supreme Court in 1887, on the question put to it by the Cabinet as to the eligibility of notaries public to take seats in the Legislature, the Court declared that they were not eligible for election.

Should this opinion hold good in an actual test at law, it ought to have the effect of giving the seat, in any case, to the eligible candidate having the next highest vote to the one whose election is voided.

This is the rule followed in other countries; for instance, in the late famous gubernatorial contest in Nebraska. Mr. Boyd had the majority of votes, but his opponent was given the seat by a decision of the Supreme Court of the State.

The judicially declared incumbent held the seat some months, until the federal Court decided that Mr. Boyd was eligible.

A correspondent in this issue expresses clearly the common-sense aspect of the annexation question. There have been no disinterested overtures from this side. No encouragement has been offered from the other side. There has never been a candidate, much less a party, to come forward for legislative honors in this country without taking care to declare for national autonomy in asking for votes.

Whatever the ultimate destiny of the islands may be, it does the country no good to anticipate any necessity for giving up its independence. Premature conclusions or action on the part of Hawaii may, indeed, have the result of making a desirable solution of the problem, in case of a change becoming necessary, more difficult than if affairs are allowed to take their natural course.

SPOILED STAFF OF LIFE.

Erastus Wiman has an article in the North American Review, on "The Bread of the Future." He says: "The demand has been made for white bread; fashion calls for it; the millers complied. Mechanical skill has come to their assistance, and every part of the wheat which would tend to darken the flour is being removed with a precision and thoroughness which are simply wonderful. But does this tend to make the bread better? Does it give the workman a greater return for his hard-earned loaf? Does this refined milling process give to the convalescing invalid, to the growing child, more strength and nutriment than did the old-fashioned dark bread? The answer to the foregoing questions is decidedly in the negative. Indeed, on the other hand, it is impossible to estimate the injury done by the elimination of the most valuable constituents of the grain. A prominent English physician, when discussing this question, has recently said:

"Wheat and water contain all the elements necessary for man and for the hardworking man, too. Where is the man that can exist on our present white bread and water? There is an old joke about doctors being in league with undertakers; it would rather appear as if the millers and bakers were in the doctors' pay, as if, were it not for them, and for the white bread they are so zealous in producing, the doctors would have less to do. Separating the bran from the flour became fashionable at the beginning of the present century. This fashion created the dental profession, which, with its large manufacturing industries, has grown up within the last two generations. It has reached its present magnitude only because our food is systematically deprived of lime, of salts and phosphoric acid, the creators of nerve, bone and tissue, which especially are so signally absent from our modern white bread."

The essayist in the Review proceeds to say that what is needed is a reversal of the opinion which demands a white, starchy flour, and, further, "a milling process which will grind the whole berry of the wheat to such fineness that the grain will not act as an irritant on the membrane of the stomach and bowels."

Attempts in the United States to introduce "a more rational and digestible flour" have all "stranded against the unreasonable demands of the consumers for white flour and bread." A company formed in London in 1890, however, has made gratifying headway in conquering the unwholesome prejudice in question. "It was a small beginning, but the results have been such that, within a comparatively short space of time, large numbers of leading bakers have commenced furnishing whole wheat meal bread and biscuits to a rapidly increasing host of consumers; sub-companies are being formed in the different cities, and sales have reached an imposing figure."

MAUI NOTES.

There is nothing new or particularly interesting hereabouts. Business is exceedingly dull and money very scarce.

Plantation work is progressing, the weather having been clear and favorable for cane hauling. There is a rumor about that Chas. B. Makee is shortly to resume the management of the plantation at Waioae. The native employees are rejoicing thereat, as he is very popular amongst them, as well as the whites in this section.

Arrived at Kahului, Wednesday, March 3, brigantine J. D. Sprackels, Christianen master, 19 days from San Francisco, with an assorted cargo of merchandise.

Sailed the same day, 3-masted schooner Sadie, Smith master, for San Francisco with 6670 bags sugar.

Vessels in port are the Beulah and K. The former will probably get away next Tuesday or Wednesday if winds are favorable, and the latter in about a week or ten days.

General health of the public good, Waioae, March 5, 1892.

FOOTBALL MATCH.

The football match between the Punahou College team and the Razzledazzles or town boys at the new baseball grounds drew a large attendance on Saturday afternoon. The Punahous through a code of signals rattled the town boys who were in no part of the game "in it."

Mr. Nichols acted as umpire and Mr. Theo. Richards was referee. Game was called at 4:20 o'clock with Punahou for the first kick. Captain J. Q. Woods, of the Punahou, showed great generalship and the way he managed his boys was a treat. Henry Hapai, one of his players, was a host in himself. Captain Peck of the opposing team played excellently, but his boys need a little more training.

The first half of the game ended 16 to 0 in favor of the Punahou. After ten minutes rest the next half was started, and although the Razzledazzles pushed their opponents, they had in no part of the game a change at victory. Game was decided Punahou, 32; Razzledazzle, 0.

BANCO SESSION.
A special banco session was commenced in the upstairs courtroom of the Supreme Court this morning at 10 o'clock. Justices on the bench were Chief-Justice Judd and Associate-Justices Bickerton and Dale. The following cases were argued and submitted:
Regina vs. Lu Self, maintaining a lottery. Exceptions from October term. Deputy Attorney-General C. Creighton for the prosecution; J. L. Koulikou for defendant.
Regina vs. Apoi, assault. Exceptions from November term, 3d circuit. Attorney-General Whiting for the prosecution; P. Neumann for the defense. Mr. Neumann stated that he would withdraw his exceptions and ask the Court to consider the fact that the defendant had already served four months in jail. The Court refused to reduce the sentence and ordered that, as the exceptions were withdrawn, the mittimus must go into effect.
M. Rose vs. Administrators of the late D. Kalakaua's estate, damages. Exceptions from October term. A. S. Hartwell and W. O. Smith for plaintiff; F. M. Hatch for defendant. Hatch read bill of exceptions and argued. Hatch for defense argued contra.
Heeia Agricultural Co. vs. Wm. Henry, water controversy at Koolau. Being argued. C. Brown for plaintiffs; J. A. Magoon for defendant.

THE MAKEE ACCIDENT.
Mention was made in Saturday's BULLETIN of an accident which happened on the steamer James Makee, at Kapaun last week. The particulars are that while an 11-ton piece of machinery was being transferred from the steamer to a scow, the foremast to which the hoisting gear was attached showed weakness as if going to break. The machinery was quickly lowered, it being thought that the falling of the machinery into the sea would be better than the falling of the mast and perhaps the loss of life. The machinery was therefore dropped into the sea, whence it will have to be fished out.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO.

ASSETS, $120,000,000.—SURPLUS, $14,708,675.83.
Gain in Assets during six months of nearly $5,000,000.
Extracts from the "New York Times" of January 23d, 1892.
INSURANCE DEPARTMENT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, ALBANY, N. Y., January 19th, 1892.
Pursuant to statute, and by request of the Company's Board of Trustees, the undersigned, Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York, has caused an examination of the conditions and affairs of the New York Life Insurance Company to be made by the Deputy Superintendent of this department.
THE COMPANY IS SOLVENT.
The most satisfactory result appearing in this report is the conclusion reached that this great and useful institution of our State, whose business interests and relations extend and are being advanced in nearly every State of our Union and in so many of the civilized countries of the world, and whose policy-holders therein may be named as legion, is beyond all question solvent, and is the actual owner and possessor of a surplus of available assets and property exceeding its present liability by the sum of $6,038,136 33 accrued upon its general account, and $8,670,539 50 upon its Tontine accumulation.
Such a result was one most earnestly desired by this department. Those interested may be assured that this conclusion is accurate and trustworthy.
This examination was made as of June 30th, 1891, and on that date we find that its assets and liabilities were as follows:—

ASSETS.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes Appraised value of real estate, Loans on bond and mortgage, Loans secured by pledge of bonds, stocks, or other marketable collateral, Premium notes, bonds, or liens on policies in force, Market value of bonds, stocks, and securities owned absolutely, Cash in Company's office, Cash in bank, except fixed deposits in foreign countries, Interest due and accrued on bonds and mortgages in force, Gross deferred premiums on policies in force, Annuity premiums uncollected, Total, Deduct 20 per cent loading on above gross amount, Net amount of uncollected and deferred premiums.

LIABILITIES.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes Net present value of all the outstanding policies in force on the 30th day of June, 1891, computed according to the combined experience table of mortality, with 4 per cent interest, Deduct net value of risks of this Company reinsured in other solvent companies, Net reinsurance reserve, Claims for matured endowments due and unpaid, Claims for death losses awaiting proofs, Amounts due and unpaid on annuity claims, Liability on account of lapsed policies, Premiums paid in advance, Total liabilities on policy-holders' account, Gross surplus on policy-holders' account, Total liabilities, Estimated surplus, accrued on Tontine or other policies, the profits upon which are especially reserved for that class of policies, Estimated surplus accrued on all other policies.

It is with great satisfaction that we are able to report, as shown in the above statement, that the Company is perfectly solvent.

Signed, JAMES F. PIERCE, Superintendent.
MICHAEL SHANNON, Deputy Superintendent.

The New York Insurance Commissioner's Report proves that the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO. has a larger Surplus than is claimed by any other purely mutual life insurance company in the world.

MATERNITY HOME BENEFIT.

Successful Loan Under the Patronage of Queen Dowager Kapulani.

The Boretania street armory was gaily decorated on Saturday afternoon with evergreens and bunting, the latter consisting of flags of all nations. The occasion was the Queen Dowager's charity loan for the benefit of the Kapulani Maternity Home. The loan was advertised for 2:30 o'clock, but long before that hour crowds of people were seen waiting their way to that vicinity.

Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the Royal Hawaiian string orchestra, under Prof. H. Berger, stationed on the mauka side of the armory, commenced musical selections, and a bevy of girls with leis guarded the door. As soon as one entered the door he was besieged by bewitching smiles and endearments, and compelled to take a wreath whether he affected the wearing of such decorations or not.

Among the pretty maidens were the Misses Vida, the Misses Mary and Hattie McGuire, Helen and Carrie Afong, Annie and Maggie Davison.

On the Ewa side of the hall were stationed tables of coffee, ice cream, toothsome edibles, and lei stand. The ice cream stand was manipulated under the supervision of Mrs. Ward, Mrs. S. C. Allen, Mrs. Jaeger, Mrs. McWayne and Mrs. Lemon, assisted by the Misses Ward and Gussie Lemon.

The coffee stand was superintended by Mrs. C. N. Spencer, Mrs. E. S. Cunha and Mrs. Haalelea, with assistants the Misses Carter and Miss Paley.

The stand for the disposal of leis was presided over by Mrs. Ailau, Mrs. K. Kahea, and assistants the Misses Davison, the Misses McGuire (3), Miss Lottie Beckley, Miss C. Afong, and Miss Mary Leleo. The latter stand sent the assistants out with dainty leis which, owing to the ingenuity of the fair peddlers, were quickly disposed of. Clearing expenses this stand made $72.

Shortly before 3 o'clock the combined Hawaiian and U. S. S. San Francisco bands played the National anthem, when the royal party entered and took seats at a table set apart for them at the head of the hall. The party were escorted to their seats when the luncheon began. Those who sat at the royal table were the Queen Dowager Kapulani, Her Majesty the Queen and ladies-in-waiting Mesdames Wilson and Clark, Princess Kawananakoa and Kalaianakoa, His Excellency S. Parker, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Major J. W. Robertson, Chamberlain, Hon. Jno. Richardson of Her Majesty's Staff, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, H. W. Seyverance, U.S. Consul-General, Admiral Brown and Staff, of the U. S. S. San Francisco and a few others.

Mrs. H. C. Ulukou, Mrs. Reis and Mrs. J. Kaee attended on the royal table, while Miss Louisa Brickwood, Miss H. Davis, Mrs. Kaeapa and Miss Duclachsky supplied the wants of the public with despatch.

Above and around the hall was a heavy drapery of flags of all nations, while marines from the U. S. F. S. San Francisco patrolled the arena and looked to the peaceful order of the proceedings.

The San Francisco band, under bandmaster Carlos Contrado and numbering about twenty pieces, played delightful music at intervals with the Hawaiian band.

The edibles which consisted of delicacies cooked in Hawaiian style were of different varieties and bounteous quantities. Nevertheless the table was cleared during the afternoon. In the evening the admission was reduced to 25 cents. The floor was cleared and at 8 o'clock tableaux were given, after which dancing to the strains of the band was enjoyed. The affair closed at 10 o'clock, all voting it a success in every way, and a credit to the management.

BANANA FLOUR.

Samples of banana flour have been manufactured from Queensland grown fruit and pronounced by Mr. H. M. Stanley, the African explorer, as "good samples which it would not be easy to improve upon." Banana flour is being sold in London at the rate of £40 per ton, and its nutritive and medicinal properties are being investigated and discussed in the medical journals by Professor Douglall and other eminent medical authorities. This flour can be produced in Northern Queensland in any quantity, and when better known it is confidently believed that banana flour and dried bananas will constitute an important industry in the Northern district.—[Samoa Times.

A Yale Man Without a Railway Ticket.

An amusing story is told about "Phil" Allen, who was captain of the Yale Varsity crew last year. Mr. Allen is working as assistant civil engineer on the Lake shore docks building at Ash-tabula harbor, on Lake Erie. He is new to that part of the country, and his first visit to Cleveland recently was under circumstances which are calculated to make him remember the Forest City for some time to come.

"Phil" was measuring stone in the hold of a barge tied to a dock at Ash-tabula. It was nearly dark, and as the orders were given to get the boat under way the young engineer was entirely forgotten. When he came on deck he found himself two miles out in the lake, with the boat headed westward. He had no money and no money in his pockets, but he made the best of the situation and at about midnight he was put ashore at Cleveland. He knew that the "limited" over the Lake Shore railroad would leave Cleveland in the night, and would stop at Ash-tabula for water.

Being anxious to report for work at the proper hour the following morning, Allen hastened to the Union station at Cleveland, climbed over the high iron fence built to keep passengers from leaving trains without showing their tickets, and as the train pulled out of the station he jumped up on the forward platform of the mail car, next to the tender, where he remained undisturbed until the train stopped at Ash-tabula at about 3 a. m.

Those who saw Allen jump overboard after he broke his oar in the Yale-Atlanta boat race last year, and again saw him set the winning stroke against Harvard will not be surprised to learn of his latest exploit. He is a modest young man, who has the happy faculty of "rising to the occasion" at the right time.—New York Times.

A Baby Born with a Tail.

A prominent physician of Milwaukee, Wis., reports the birth of a child having an extension of the vertebrae, forming a distinct tail. This extension measures nearly three inches in length and about half an inch in circumference, covered with a thin membrane. The infant is a fine healthy male, in no way remarkable except for its singular appendage.

Its parents are respectable Irish people, well to do and intelligent, and are much mortified at the deformity, which they at first insisted upon having cut away. This, however, the physician refused to do as the operation would in all probability cost the child its life, while its presence is productive of no ill results beyond, perhaps, a slight inconvenience as it advances in age.

As the parents were so sensitive in regard to it the matter has not been talked of, but several of the local medical practitioners have been allowed to examine the child in the interest of science, and have all of them pronounced the case to be unique, but declare it to be no proof of the child's inferiority of all men having ones been provided with tails, which were gradually worn away by constant sitting, but that the deformity was probably due to some pre-natal influence.

The child is over three weeks old and thriving. The tail seemed at first to be very sensitive to any handling, owing to the thinness of the membrane covering it, but this has thickened to nearly the consistency of the skin, and the appendage is now touched in consequence.—Philadelphia Times.

A Nap That She Enjoyed.

An amusing story is told of a Boston girl which shows that tired human nature will assert itself sometimes despite the demands of fashion or culture. This particular young lady was a great traveler. She had been over the greater portion of Europe and the east, and had always occupied her time to the best advantage. After her return from one of these extensive jaunts she was talking of the trip to her friends, when one of them asked her what she enjoyed most among her experiences in the realms of art, science and architecture. To the questioner's astonishment she replied that she had derived the most real comfort from a short nap taken while in the chapel of Holy Trinity. In explanation the girl said that when she was wandering through Westminster Abbey she was so broken down and exhausted that she felt as if she could never get rested again, and on reaching the chapel she seated herself in one of the stalls and went to sleep.—New York Recorder.

Good Returns from Raising Cod.

Within the last half dozen years the fish commission has remade the great cod fishery off the New England coast. During the month of January last it took for hatching 250,000,000 cod eggs. Out of this number about one-half will be safely hatched and will grow to three inches in length, when they will be carried in tanks upon steam launches to the fishing grounds and dumped overboard to shift for themselves. It is estimated that of these 125,000,000 not less than 50,000,000 will escape the maws of bigger fishes and other perils of infancy and grow to be adults. Suppose that these 50,000,000 average ten pounds apiece, though they ought to average twenty pounds, and cod oil then reach eighty pounds, and that they are worth only three cents a pound. That makes $15,000,000 worth of cod created by one season's hatching, with small expenditure and comparatively little labor.—Washington Star.

Eggs in England.

In 1890, it is reported, English importation of eggs represented a sum of over £3,000,000. While France and Germany between them sent over 714,000,000 of eggs, England received more than 200,000,000 from Belgium, and nearly 75,000,000 from Russia. From Portugal came 2,000,000, and smaller quantities from Norway and Sweden, Monaco, Italy, Turkey and Egypt. Malta and the Channel islands also contributed, as even Australia has begun to do, notwithstanding the eggs from thence must be at least six weeks old before they are put on the English markets.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.

"In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I found it to be safe and reliable." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Are You Ever Thirsty

These warm days and want something besides water to quench your thirst? If so, we can offer you a package that will make five gallons of the most delicious Root Beer. This preparation is made directly from fresh bark and roots. It comes in liquid form, requires no boiling or straining. It keeps freely in the system in a healthy condition. It is a most interesting.

Have you ever heard of the Seven Sultana Brothers who are celebrated for their long tresses of beautiful hair? They say this unusual growth was induced by using a hair tonic which they discovered and are now selling to those less fortunate. They also found trouble with dandruff, as well as all sorts of skin diseases. Their Scalp Cleaner removes all such deleterious matter. Write these and Hall's, Mrs. Allen, Barry's, Triphosphorus, Carbolic, Kuntz & Quinacrine and others.

Sometimes people are not satisfied with the color of their hair, and desire a change. Hair Dyes will bring this about. We keep Hill's, Buckingham's and others.

How about mosquitoes these nights? Remember we keep Bulnah and the Burners for the same.

The Ring Was In His Boot!

An interesting incident occurred at a wedding in Nyack, N. Y., recently, says the Albany Argus. All went merrily until the bridegroom was called upon to produce the wedding ring. In vain he felt in his trousers' pocket for the indispensable article. Nothing could be found except a hole, through which the ring had evidently fallen into his boot. What was he to do?

"Take your boot off," said the parson. The suspense and silence were painful. The organist, at the dominie's bidding, began a "voluntary."

The young man removed his boot, the ring was found, also a hole in his stocking, and the minister remarked, evidently with more than the ceremony in mind, "Young man, it is time you were married."

ANNEXATION.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—"Annexation" is a topic of common talk in the newspapers and among newspaper readers. What does the term mean as so freely used? It means the political union of these islands, the Hawaiian Islands, with the United States of America.

Now, the Hawaiian Islands are 2100 miles distant from the nearest point of the United States, and it is not in the power of man to bring them any nearer to each other. Annexation, or political union, would still leave the two countries physically separated by 2100 miles of ocean, which cannot by any possibility be lessened. Then annexation means a political union with the United States which cannot make Hawaii more than an outlying State or Territory, with the same privileges and advantages as any other State or Territory of the Union. That is just exactly it, and there is nothing more to it.

What are the advantages intimated? The writers and talkers plainly indicate one only, and somewhat vaguely hint at others. The one only plainly indicated is simply the bounty on home-made sugar—a bounty which may terminate next year, or any day thereafter; but is very unlikely, under any circumstances, to be of long continuance. An uncertain advantage this.

Who wants annexation? In Hawaii here are some foreigners, having sugar interests, who desire it because of what benefit may be acquired from the United States bounty on sugar. Most other foreigners resident here would prefer the country to remain unannexed and independent as now. Even a large proportion of these foreigners who are annexationists candidly admit that they would prefer the same, were it not for the money advantage just now referred to.

How about the native Hawaiians, the people of the soil; do they want annexation? A few of them—so few that their total number may be counted on the fingers of one hand—talk that way. But do they mean what they say? Is there not a motive for such talk which in no degree involves a desire for annexation? Gentlemen personally acquainted with them, who are themselves annexationists, assert that these natives do not mean what they say, and that their talk is simply intended to irritate and annoy the Sovereign, from whom they expected preferment and were disappointed. Outside this limited few malcontents, is there one Hawaiian in a thousand who of his own accord favors annexation? Not one. The Hawaiians are dead set against it. They are not annexationists, which anyone may soon discover by a touch of the native pulse.

Are the Government and people of the United States desirous of annexing Hawaii? Why should they be? What gain would it be to them while they have a vast unpeopled territory within their own borders? That they should be averse to any other nation's annexing can be easily understood, but does that involve a willingness to do the annexing themselves? This country may talk and write annexation as much as it pleases, but to make annexation an accomplished fact the United States must consent; and there is reason for saying that the United States will not consent—will not consent under existing circumstances—will not consent at the instigation of a few foreigners who have personal interests to serve—will not consent without the consent of the Hawaiian Sovereign and people. Representations have gone forward to Washington of late in great profusion from a section of the community, but they are well understood there to be from a section only, and not from the people as a whole, nor from any considerable proportion of the people. Mr. Blaine is no fool. He is not blind. He is just as familiar with the other side, as subsequent events will probably make more apparent.

The United States has acted the leading part in civilizing Hawaii and giving it a government of a class to command the recognition of the civilized world, and the United States is prepared to, and will, take the leading part in sustaining what it has built up—not by annexing the country, but by maintaining its independence.

$500 REWARD!

SOME irresponsible rascals have circulated what purports to be a clipping from the New York Herald of January 25, 1892. The article slanders the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY and is probably the cowardly work of competitors. The issue of the New York Herald contains nothing like it and no other notice than that President Beers is likely to be retained. This tends to refute all slanders against the Company. I now offer a reward of Five Hundred Dollars for the discovery of the authorship of the lying statement and forgery distributed in these Islands concerning the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.
