THE SUGAR BOUNTY!

How the Measure is Regarded in the United States.

Opinions For and Against From Different Sections.

A Washington despatch of February 17th to the New York Post relates the troubles of the sugar producers in getting payment of the bounties. "They must not only run the gauntlet of a lot of formalities, but the lump sum which they supposed the Commission would keep constantly on hand does not exist."

The correspondent describes the disappointment of the producer, after laying out money to raise and harvest his crops, with notes falling due right and left, when he finds he has to wait long for his bounty. "All this causes embarrassment," the writer says, "and contributes to render the bounty system unpopular."

"Another thing which operates to make the bounty system far from an unalloyed happiness to the sugar producers is the fact that the Government is taking advantage of it to wipe out some old scores. Back taxes which had been forgotten by the persons taxed, judgments never satisfied because there was nothing to satisfy them with, penalties on bonds never liquidated and supposed to have been wiped off the public ledger, are coming to the surface now. A statute enacted in 1875 forbids the payment of money to persons in debt to the Government without deducting the sum due."

Some producers on coming up for their bounties are confronted with old debts. The correspondent says: "On account of these and kindred delays the payments thus far made have not reached an aggregate equal to the expectations either of the sugar-producers or of the authors of the bounty scheme. Up to February 15 the total was only $2,734,592.31."

This amount is divided: Cane sugar, $2,498,320.89; beet sugar, $215,404.58; sorghum, $20,866.84. "In view of the advance of the season," the correspondent says, "this looks like a small showing. It is; but if there had been more of a showing to make of payments on account of the sugar bounty, there would have been a less one to make of available cash in the Treasury to day."

The Louisville Commercial says the planters of the South can avoid an over-production of cotton by raising their own corn and bacon, "but the farmers of the grain States, who have gone West beyond the limits where local manufacturing establishments furnish a market for their surplus, have yet found no way to avoid the troubles that come from an over-production of the only crops they have heretofore raised."

The Commercial goes on to say that "there is every reason to believe that the beet sugar industry will afford them relief." It lauds the German policy of nurturing a large beet sugar industry by bounties, and concludes: "Diversified industries are just as good for the farmer and planter as for the other people of the country, and German experience justifies us in expecting good results from our bounty system."

Delaware Herald: There ought to be no question on the part of the Democratic majority of Congress to repeal the abominable law a law that is class in its character and therefore contrary to the spirit of our institutions.

Bangor (Me.) Commercial, Feb. 20: Owing to official obstructions and delays of one kind or another, the treasury payments of sugar bounties on last year's crops had amounted to only $2,734,592 up to the 15th of this month. In view of the burdens to consumers and the vexations to producers the sugar bounties should be repealed.

Rutland (Vt.) Herald: Only a few licenses have been taken out by Maine [maple] sugar makers, because it pays Maine men better to make the sirup than it would to make sugar, even with the government bounty.

Brooklyn Standard-Union: "Of course if the bounty is destroyed the sugar duties must be restored or the sugar industry is annihilated, and, as the New Orleans Picayune considerably points out, 'restoration of the sugar duties would vitiate the reciprocity treaties,' for free sugar is the basis of them all.

It would be, as the Picayune adds, 'niggardly and narrow-minded' to take from the sugar producers the $500 REWARD!

SOME irresponsible rascals have circulated what purports to be clippings from the New York Herald of January 25, 1892. The article slanders the New York Life Insurance Company and is probably the cowardly work of competitors. The issue of the New York Herald contains nothing like it and no other notice than that President Beers is likely to be retained. This tends to refute all slanders against the Company.

I now offer a reward of Five Hundred Dollars for the discovery of the authorship of the lying statement and forgery distributed in these Islands concerning the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO.

"Royalist," whose letter is well worth publishing, has like "X. Y. Z." neglected to enclose his real name. The rule cannot be broken, even for "Junius" himself.

The remarks of Mr. A. S. Hartwell at the General Armstrong meeting last week were inadvertently omitted from our report. This was an unfortunate mistake that is much regretted, as Mr. Hartwell is a life-long friend of the General, his companion in both peace and war, and was one of the chief promoters of the meeting.

If it were true that the fire alarm was postponed yesterday morning to give an advantage to the company that camps in the Bell Tower, then a wrong would have been done to the public as well as to rival companies. Suppose the engine that got the start in such a case should break down, the result might be that the delay of other engines from the withholding of the alarm would cause the loss of much valuable property. Enquiry into the matter, however, elicits a satisfactory explanation of the occurrence. The alarm was brought to the Bell Tower by a lad on horse-back, who did not wait to give full particulars to the watchman but rode rapidly off. On another lad's coming up with a repetition of the alarm, the watchers of Engine Co. No. 2 got the horses hitched and the machine away before the alarm was struck. In the meantime the watchman received telephonic information of the location of the fire and rang the bell.

one with a strong belief that the beet sugar industry could have been healthily developed without the aid of bounties, while the strong opposition persistently made to the bounty system since its inauguration would indicate that any considerable change in the political situation may cause sudden abolition of the bounties. To have them abolished while the industry is in the fostering stage from their stimulus would be much worse for the beet sugar producers than if they had never been offered. There would be the collapse of an inflated condition similar to what has happened in Hawaii on the neutralization of the advantages of reciprocity caused by the abolition of the duty on raw sugar in the United States. This latter consideration, however, may be regarded as one of the strongest bulwarks of the bounty system, because many public men who are opposed to it on principle would hesitate to strike it down summarily while immense investments still looked to it as necessary protection. On the other hand, the system stands in constant danger from the logical claims which other industries than the sugar are liable to base on its existence. Such claims are even now cropping up in the arguments of opponents of the sugar bounties, and those in whose name they are raised may not be slow in adopting them as formal demands on the nation. It should be remembered that the sugar bounties were not part of the original McKinley Bill, but were skillfully engineered into it while it was being put through Congress. Therefore, the bounties are not necessarily a part of the revised protective policy of the nation, which is likely not very soon to be abandoned in block. Free trade with all the world the United States seems destined to reach by a process of evolution, one of the earliest stages of which may be recognized in the policy now being carried out of reciprocity treaties in every quarter.

That the United States will not admit a State or Territory with 25,000 Chinese; will not tolerate a contract labor system; will not incur the expense of fortifying one of the most difficult coasts to defend in all the earth; will not annex the group without the general request of the native Hawaiians. That the Crown Lands would be of better value to the country at large by remaining in the present hands than becoming the prey of greedy speculators, who would not be long in getting hold of them once they were alienated to the state. That the BULLETIN never assumes that a morning paper has not a place of its own to fill - even if containing 75 percent of gas it may be tolerated as a necessary evil. That Ka Leo is an odd mixture of political quackery, pious cant, vindictive personalities and social filth, while it leads the Advertiser in the yield of socialistic ruminations. That woman suffrage would mean the degradation, not the emancipation of the gentler sex. That cane cultivation by the leasehold system will be gradually introduced, to the ultimate supplanting of the coolie contract labor system. That a republic requires a homogeneous and enlightened body politic to enable it to achieve any semblance of success.

GUILTY OF AFFRAY.

An Instance of Hoodlumism at Emma Square.

E. Holt and Kahololo were brought before the Police Justice this morning charged with affray. In connection with this case was a charge of assault and battery entered by the latter against Chris, Holt and E. Quinn. This latter charge, however, was not pros'd. The evidence went to show that on Monday night at the band concert at Emma Square, the parties concerned engaged in a "war of words" wherein several ungentlemanlike epithets were used. The result was that a challenge was issued, by which party is uncertain, the evidence being conflicting. The gang, however, after some time disappeared. It appears that E. Holt and his two mates went away and awaited the opposing party near Kawaiahaio Lane. Presently along came Kahololo and two others, when another gage of battle was flung down and accepted. In the darkness of the lane a set-to was commenced. E. Holt being the more scientific of the two countered a heavy right hand lunge and blackened his opponent's eye. The blow was too much for Kahololo and he ran. His Honor, after hearing the testimony, said that if the police had been on hand at Emma Square the trouble would have been nipped in the bud. However, he considered both guilty and fined them $10 and $3.30 costs each. A. Rosa appeared for Holt.

THE COURT DECIDES

Membership in the Legislature is Not an Office of Emolument.

A decision was filed in the Supreme Court in banco yesterday in the case of Lui Self, charged with maintaining a lottery. The point in question was that it was unconstitutional for a member of the Legislature to sit as a jurymen, such being the case when Self was on trial before a Hawaiian jury. The Court held that as a member of the Legislative body the man did not hold an office of emolument, therefore the exceptions were overruled. J. L. Kaulukou appeared for Self.

NOT A FAIR RACE.

EDITOR BULLETIN:— Please allow me to make a small amendment to your very authentic account of yesterday morning's blaze at Palama. First, that the Bell Tower combination held back the alarm until No. 2 apparatus was well over towards Maunakea street. Secondly, that Engine Co. No. 1, arrived four minutes later, had to run five hundred yards farther than No. 2, and still had the honor of first water, and prevented the fire from reaching the adjoining building makai. Honor to whom honor is due, Mr. Editor. SPECTATOR.

BANKRUPTCIES.

Two bankrupt cases were heard before Chief Justice Judd today. In the estate of Tai Lung nine creditors proved claims amounting to $3,213.46, and J. Rubenstein was appointed assignee under $500 bond. In the matter of W. D. McWayne. Seven creditors proved claims amounting in all to $555.59.

WHAT THEY SAY.

That the watering cart has too good a delivery on Fort street sidewalks. That the morning Roaster's receiver of stolen goods is still impudent, and official letters must not be left lying loose while he is around. That the anti-monarchical agitators never saw any flaws in the royal establishment while they fattened and flourished under its regis.

That the treaty was made for the benefit of native Hawaiians, but failed largely in that object; and, as under it many of them have lost their lands, it is outrageous to ask them also to surrender their institutions and independence. That it is rather mean for the beneficiaries of reciprocity—a boon that could not have been got but for the influence of native royalty—to accuse the royal state of being one of the causes of hard times.

That the advocates of a republic apart from connection with the United States are worse than fools—they are knaves playing the part of piratical wreckers for what they can get out of the ship of state when on the rocks. That it is rather mean for the beneficiaries of reciprocity—a boon that could not have been got but for the influence of native royalty—to accuse the royal state of being one of the causes of hard times.

That the advocates of annexation are no worse than fools, disturbing public equanimity for an end at present impossible—the conditions of the case absolutely precluding any change in that direction beyond a protectorate, which virtually exists already with two other nations co-operating.

That the United States will not admit a State or Territory with 25,000 Chinese; will not tolerate a contract labor system; will not incur the expense of fortifying one of the most difficult coasts to defend in all the earth; will not annex the group without the general request of the native Hawaiians.

That the Crown Lands would be of better value to the country at large by remaining in the present hands than becoming the prey of greedy speculators, who would not be long in getting hold of them once they were alienated to the state.

That the BULLETIN never assumes that a morning paper has not a place of its own to fill - even if containing 75 percent of gas it may be tolerated as a necessary evil.

That Ka Leo is an odd mixture of political quackery, pious cant, vindictive personalities and social filth, while it leads the Advertiser in the yield of socialistic ruminations.

That woman suffrage would mean the degradation, not the emancipation of the gentler sex.

That cane cultivation by the leasehold system will be gradually introduced, to the ultimate supplanting of the coolie contract labor system.

That a republic requires a homogeneous and enlightened body politic to enable it to achieve any semblance of success.

"German Syrup"

Asthma. "I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief, and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

bounty, "when, by the sacrifice of the ample protection formerly afforded them by the tariff, such immense benefits as above described were secured to the country. In removing the tariff on sugar Congress pledged itself to the payment of the bounty for fourteen years, hence the country is bound in equity to continue the payment or restore the duty."

The first move the tariff reformers make is free wool, which strikes at the farmers, and the second is at the sugar bounties, which proposes to abandon the reciprocity treaties that are the finest strokes of business ever done by the State Department. That is, the Democratic tariff reform doctrine so loudly preached means, when it touches business, to restore the tax on sugar and kill reciprocity. Is the country ready for the question?

New Orleans Picayune: By the removal of the sugar duty the people of the country saved the many millions of dollars which they had hitherto paid in duties, and, moreover, they are likely to profit to the extent of very many millions by the reciprocity treaties which have opened the ports of Cuba and Central and South America to our products and manufactures.

The amount which is paid to the domestic producer as an equitable compensation for the removal of the sugar duty is infinitesimal compared both with the total amount saved by the people in duties as well as with the vast profits which are likely to flow from reciprocity. Although the reciprocity treaty with Spain opening Cuban ports to our products has been in force but a couple of months large amounts of goods have already been distributed in Cuba.

Bridgeport (Ct.) Farmer: "The Western Democratic demand for repeal of the sugar bounty is quite natural. Its enactment was wholly wrong. The bounty principle is inconsistent with protection, and its adoption by the Republican party in this case was a mere temporary expedient."

Tallatin (Mo.) Missourian: It is said that the representatives of France and Germany are making a determined effort at Washington to have the bounty on sugar abolished. They fear expansion in the beet-sugar production in this country and the loss of a valuable market for their sugar as a consequence. They are, of course, counting on the assistance of the freetrade press in their undertaking.

Toledo (O.) Bee: Opposition to the un-American sugar bounty is every where outspoken. As Mr. McKinley, in a speech to an Ohio audience once said in extenuation of the protective tax system—the people would never stand a direct tax; they do not feel it (he meant they do not see and understand it) under the protective system. Just why one class of producers should be paid millions of dollars bonus money out of the people's treasury while other classes are left to shirk for themselves, is not clear and no amount of sophistry can make it so.

Reno (Nev.) Journal: Representative Scott contends that the sugar bounty is contrary to the Constitution and violates every principle of republican government. He argues that if it is American, patriotic and honest to donate money out of the Treasury to enrich private enterprises, there is no reason why corn, wheat, hay and potatoes should not be given a bounty.

Atchinson (Kan.) Patriot: Republicans see that the sugar bounty is an elephant of a larger magnitude than what they had dreamed of and say it should be repealed, but in the same breath we hear them say if the Democrats repeal the sugar bounty act it will lose them Louisiana in the approaching presidential contest. We favor doing right, let the chips fall where they may.

Milwaukee Journal: Unfortunately for the people of the country no inconsiderable portion of the manufacturing business, as now prosecuted, rests largely on a political basis. * * * The consumer of sugar in this country is now pleased with the good effect of reducing tax on sugar. The price is reduced so he gets it for about 4 1/2 cents. Yet the masses of the people fail to see that he is paying 2 cents a pound—nearly one-half as much more to the sugar maker as a direct bounty to grow and make sugar.

Deseret News (Salt Lake): We will repeat here that, on general principles we are opposed to bounties and subsidies. When they are given for the benefit only of an individual or corporation, or to maintain a monopoly, we regard them as indefensible. But when a bounty will aid in the establishment and maintenance, for a reasonable period, of an industry that is clearly for the general welfare, and that could not be started without it, we think it is wise statesmanship and sound political economy to grant it.

Cleveland (O.) Press: There ought to be a boom in polariscopes and polariscopists. The claimants for the maple sugar bounty must show, if they want the maximum bounty, that the polariscopes 90 degrees or more. They have to be careful about this polariscoping, for the law declares that one who applies for more than he is entitled to lays himself liable to a fine of $5000 and to an imprisonment of five years. This makes truthful polariscopes very important. It also calls for honest polariscopers, for a polariscope is good for nothing unless accompanied by a polariscopist. * * * That two cents a pound is a big thing, but it has its drawbacks. The polariscoper and the polariscopist are the thorns of this government-grown rose.

Helena (Mont.) Herald: Now, let the Democrats go on and abolish this bounty. They thus work little less than ruin to the State of Louisiana; they will do a great wrong to the farmers of the North who devote some part of their time and labor to the production of maple sugar; and they will utterly paralyze the beet sugar industry just as it is attaining proportions that promise profitable employment to thousands of people in this country. Such action would be quite worthy of the party whose name is alliterative with disaster and destruction.

Interview in St. Louis (Mo.) Republic: The Democratic party cannot afford to become a party of bounties and subsidies and Government donations. Illinois corn has as much right to ask for a bounty as Louisiana and California sugar or Vermont sap. * * * I favor the repeal of the sugar bounty because it is class legislation, and I may add that I will not vote for any bill that takes a dollar out of the Treasury that is not strictly for governmental purposes.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat, commenting on the Washington Post's correspondence already quoted, says: On all these grounds it is easy to account for the dissatisfaction of sugar producers with the costly way in which the money coming to them under the law is allowed, if at all, to reach them. It is one of the results due to having an extravagant and ineffectual administration in power, which is naturally reduced to all sorts of ignoble shifts to make ends meet.

Spokane (Wash.) Chronicle: The government bounty on sugar will amount to ten millions of dollars this year. This is money taken from the many, who do not find it convenient to raise sugar for the few who do.

Gilroy (Cal.) Gazette: If the Democratic party is really the friend of the farmers and laboring classes, it will wisely allow the sugar bounty clause of the McKinley act to remain untouched.

Chicago Times: It will be difficult for the organ to explain to other farmers of Ohio why they should be taxed to pay this bounty while receiving no government aid in the cultivation of farms that return less revenue than sugar maples.

St. Paul Globe: Possibly there will be light thrown upon the standing conundrum why those who produce sugar should be paid two cents a pound out of the treasury, and nothing be paid to those who grow rice, cotton, wheat, oats, cattle or other things?

Atlanta (Ga.) Journal: The Democrats who favor the abolition of the sugar bounty are opposed to all bounties on principle, holding that the constitution does not empower congress to bolster up any business by bestowing upon it money taken from the whole people by taxation. They are also unable to see why the people are not as much entitled to cheap clothing as cheap sugar—why the cost of clothing should be increased to admit of the cheapening of sugar, and the withholding from the sugar producing industry of even the amount of protection which a revenue tariff would afford.

St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch: The only way the annual sugar bounty of $10,000,000 can be defended is by voting a wheat bounty of $100,000,000 annually. The issue is between Pefferism and repeal.
