Warm Debilitating Weather.

Many people, after a long spell of oppressive heat, suffer from lassitude, loss of spirits, and a general "run down" feeling. They need a course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which has revived and restored to active life and health thousands of such sufferers. A lady recently returned to England from South Africa writes concerning this

"Wonderful Medicine"

"While in Cape Town the past summer I suffered greatly from the long-continued heat. I was completely worn out; my blood seemed to become as thin as water, and I lost all energy and interest in life. My friends recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and a course of this wonderful medicine restored my health and spirits. My husband suffered in the same way as I did, though not to such an extent, and he also was greatly benefited from the use of

SOMEONE HAD BLUNDERED

BRITISH WARSHIP CLEARS HER DECKS FOR ACTION.

The Result of Careless Target Practise by a Chinese Shore Battery at Shanghai.

In the editorial columns of the Japan Daily Herald of July 7 there is an account of an exciting faux pas that occurred at Shanghai on June 28. There was a review of the troops by a Censor returning from Peking, and the distinguished visitor was attended by a group of native and foreign dignitaries. For some few days the foreign-drilled troops — much to the chagrin of the German officers — had been exercised every day for long periods at a stretch, in connection with the Diamond Jubilee festivities. After the Censor had inspected the forts, expressing himself "satisfied with the men who owe to Mr. Murphy their instruction," it is related that —

"The distinguished visitor then asked that a little target practise should be gone through. The artillerymen promptly loaded their guns and fired! No one seemed to trouble about H. M. S. Immortalite, which was anchored within the line of fire; but the screech of the shell as it crossed close to her bows was uncomfortably audible to all on board. The officers looked at one another, the men's countenances were a sight to see, — for it is long since a British man-of-war has had an opportunity to distinguish herself in these waters. Presently 'boom' went another, and then it was time to act, for the Chinese seemed to mean business, and the commander of the Immortalite thought it just as well to get in first cut, if possible.

"Orders were given to clear for action and in a few seconds the rigging was swarming with blue jackets. Down came all topham per, the guns were run out, and the thousand and one things necessary to be done were accomplished much inside ordinary time, and the ship swung broadside on to the fort. All being ready, eyes were cast towards the fort and eventualities were awaited with keen interest. It was an exciting interval, and all but absolutely silence fell on the ship; no sounds but those from the engine room breaking the stillness. They were waiting for the third shot! What a subject for an artist! Where was Caton Woodville? Where the Wyllies? Who shall depict the scene?

"At this moment glasses on the Immortalite revealed untoward consternation at the forts, the rapid ascension of a white flag and a boat being rowed as the galley Ulysses was never rowed, from the Woosung fort, and in the stern sheets a Chinese officer. It then became very clear that a mistake had been made—'Someone had blundered.'

"It was explained that the presence of the Immortalite was overlooked, and further, that when she was seen she was believed to be further out of the range of the shells than she really was. This was considered satisfactory, and orders were given for the man-of-war to assume her wonted appearance in time of peace.

WORDS OF CHRIST.

Inscribed on Ancient Papyri Found in Africa.

New York, July 3.—A cable to the Sun from London says: Several weeks ago was cabled the news of wonderful discoveries made in January last by Grendell and Hunt on the borders of the Libyan desert of the oldest papyri known bearing the words of Christ. The value of this find in the interest it will arouse in the whole Christian world proves inestimable.

It comprises a dozen leaves, each 5¼ by 3¼ inches in size, remarkably well preserved and clearly written in the uncial characters of the ancient Greek. It dates sixty years after the crucifixion.

It has easily been translated, and is found to consist of detached sayings of Christ without context, each beginning with the words "Jesus saith." The translation will soon be published by the Egyptian exploration fund, and an immense edition at a few pence per copy will be provided so as to reach everybody.

Professor Petrie's winter explorations in Egypt have also been wonderfully fruitful. The bulk of his collection is in two groups, separated by a gap of more than thirty centuries, the later document being an enormous mass of papyri from the Roman city of Behnesa, west of the Nile, 100 miles south of Cairo, and the earlier a great variety of objects which throw a flood of light upon the habits of the people, evidently in a high state of civilization, who occupied lower Egypt centuries before Abraham, and almost as far back as the date assigned by Archbishop Usher to the creation of the world.

The papyri comprise 4000 documents. They were not found in the secret chamber of a cave, but were mixed up with the soil. Evidently they represented the clearing out of a library, perhaps by the hands of some reformer or barbarian who hated knowledge. The rolls represent a wide range of literature, history, law and ethics.

HIDEOUS RUSSIAN PRACTISE.

Children Mutilated to Serve as Beggars on the Streets.

The St. Petersburg newspaper Nedelja describes the discovery of hideous practises among the beggars of South Russia, who mutilate children with the object of rendering their appearance such as will excite pity and thus draw money from the charitable.

The paper tells of a girl 8 years old who was stolen from her parents by beggars. The child was gagged and taken to a cellar, where her captors discussed the method to be employed in mutilating her. Finally her face was smeared with pitch, which was then set on fire, the flames searing her face and blinding her.

Then the beggars disjointed her fingers and afterward cut her feet to make her limp. The girl, who has been rescued from her captors, says she saw corpses of two boys in the cellar who had presumably succumbed to the tortures inflicted upon them. Inquiries show that such practises are extensively followed by professional mendicants.

Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was given to Mrs. Joseph Sharpe at her residence on Thurston avenue last evening by her two youngest daughters, the occasion being her departure next Thursday for England on a six months' visit to relatives whom she has not seen for twelve years. The evening was spent in dancing, singing, recitations, etc., and those present had a very enjoyable time. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock, after which dancing was resumed and kept up to a late hour. A large number of relatives and friends of the family were present.

Notable Character Gone.

Hon. Amor De Cosmos, a famous retired British Columbia politician, died at Victoria on July 4, aged 72 years. He went to British Columbia first from California in 1852, having been born and educated at Windsor, N. S. It was by special Act of the California Legislature that he changed his name from Smith to De Cosmos. He had much to do with the agitation for the admission of the Pacific province into the Union, and he served the people well in both the provincial and federal parliaments. A very noted event in his career was the talking down of an obnoxious bill in the provincial assembly, when he spoke for twenty hours on a stretch and fell back in his seat exhausted, with bleeding lips, when the prodigious feat had been accomplished. For the past few years of his life Mr. De Cosmos had been mentally deranged.

FROM THE COFFEE REGION.

Representative Ryeroft Talks on Olaa and Dilatory Officials.

Robert Ryeroft, the popular representative of the coffee districts of Hawaii in the lower house of the Legislature, was seen by a BULLETIN reporter this morning. Mr. Ryeroft has just come from a trip through Olaa district where he says everything is flourishing. Coffee trees are now in bloom at Olaa and many hundred of acres are covered with the pretty white blossoms which will eventually mature into coffee berries. Mr. Ryeroft is of opinion that much more coffee has been raised in Olaa district this year than is generally supposed. The prospects for next year's crop are most excellent and it will be a very large one.

Asked if many new people were going into the coffee business, Mr. Ryeroft answered: "There are plenty of people on the ground ready and anxious to get to work but for some reason they can't get possession of their lands. I know of instances where people have been kept waiting over six months after taking up land before they could get possession because of the dilatory methods and useless system of red tape practised by the Land Department. There is no reason for keeping people waiting for months and months under expense that many of them are not prepared to meet. The Land office people need stirring up with a sharp stick. All the land that has been declared open to settlement is taken up. We need more land opened up and more roads built to get to it. There are plenty of people ready and willing to take it up and develop it. The government is losing money right along by its dilatory system of carrying on affairs in the Land Department."

GAY BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Visitors From California Present and a Good Time Had.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. F. Alves gave her 26th birthday party at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Silva. There was a fine table set for her many friends. The table was nicely decorated with many bouquets and well supplied with all sorts of good things and refreshments. After dinner the guests enjoyed themselves with nice instrumental music and good singing.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Silva, Hon. F. J. Dutra and Mr. and Mrs. E. Horuef of California, Mr. and Mrs. H. Day, Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. J. Silva, Misses C. Silva, M. Alves, E. Alves and Flora Silva, A. F. Tavares, J. Farias, M. S. Deponte, F. Fernandez, Mr. J. P. P. Collaco, Mr. M. Silva, Mr. J. Andre, and Master Eddie Alves.

Discovery of a Brother.

The late John H. Paty was administrator of the estate of E. S. Coffin, who died here intestate, and as such wound up the estate under an order of administration in probate. Ernest A. Mott-Smith, administrator of the estate of John H. Paty, learning that there was a brother of Coffin living in Massachusetts, applied for an order to take testimony. Judge Carter has granted an order, and a commission has issued to Thaddeus C. Defriez, a probate judge at Nantucket, Mass., to take testimony regarding the relationship of the alleged brother or any other heir-at-law of E. S. Coffin.

Novel Dancing Party at Volcano House—Where the Vine Grows—Personal.

Charlie Hyde has found the duties of clerk in the Sheriff's office too tame and has gone to Puna to survey the lava flows with Mr. Thrum.

J. P. Sisson has quite a vineyard at his Olaa plantation, which is loaded with fruit this year and is a very encouraging example of what may be done in that district in fruit raising.

It is reported that Geo. Benson of Olaa has sold his place for between $4000 and $5000, although there is but little coffee planted upon it. This shows the value put upon land available by road in the Olaa district.

The Bishop of Panopolis, on his trip through the district, confirmed sixty-seven persons at Laupahoehoe; eight at Honohina; forty-two at Honomu; forty-seven at Papaikou, and one hundred and forty-three in Hilo.

The Volcano has lost its bottom again and the small bonfire has dropped back into the bowels of the earth for another indefinite period. The Volcano House Company had better locate the Thurston cyclorama in the crater and have an attraction that they can depend upon with more confidence than Madame Pele has proved worthy of.

There are four men in town who came down on Commissioner Fitzgerald's recommendation and who want to go into coffee on a small scale, and follow their trade or engage in vegetable farming "while they wait." They went to Kaumana Tuesday looking for land, but were unable to find any available there. As a matter of fact, good coffee land, approachable by roads, is becoming a rare article in the market.

A delightful riding party and ball took place at the Volcano House on Tuesday evening, in which the guests of the house and a large number of Olaa people participated. The affair originated in a proposed moonlight riding party which was undertaken by the Olaaites and, at the suggestion of Mrs. C. A. Brown, ended in the more elaborate affair. The occasion is described as one of the pleasantest which has taken place in Olaa for many a day. Dancing was indulged in until the morning, and a very dainty supper given by Mrs. Beckley. The ladies went in masquerade costume and were decked out with ferns. Among the more noticeable of the costumes were those of Mrs. Beckley representing "Fire," Mrs. Krouse "Calla Lily," Mrs. Higgins and the Misses Peck "Flower Girls," and Mrs. Brown "Ferns." The following were those of the party: Mesdames Beardslee, Brown, Beckley, Higgins, Krouse and Peck, Misses Bacheller, Perry, Lawrence, Townsend, Brockie (2), Renwick, Peck, Goldsmith; Admiral Beardslee and Messrs. Peck, Ryeroft, Abercrombie, Janes, Campbell, Lewis, Easton, Cartwright, S. Peck, Kaiser and Austin.—Hawaii Herald.

FASHIONS FOR GIRLS.

Variety and Extravagance Characterize the Gowns Designed For Them.

Variety in styles and extravagance characterize gowns designed for girls from the age of 4 to 16. Mothers with a dozen children, all of them girls, find no reason to complain of lack of novelty, says a fashion writer in the New York Sun, who describes some of the styles as follows:

While loose dresses are always picturesque on little maidens and are always worn by a great many the waist dress predominates in thin and thick materials just now. Cotton crepons in delicate shades, ginghams, canvas cloths and dimities are the favorite materials for morning wear. A charming costume for a 4-year-old is made of pale blue crepon. The waist is gathered in blouse effect, and a bolero jacket of white pique, edged with a frill of fine embroidery, gives it a jaunty air. The neck is slightly low and finished with a full fall of the embroidery. The sleeves are very short and the gown is worn with or without a guimpe. Even 8-year-olds wear morning dresses made in this style.

Nearly all the gowns for very small girls are made slightly low at the neck, with short sleeves. These are usually worn without guimpes out of doors as well as in, when the weather permits. Few children look well in plain things, and their sleeves, which are decidedly smaller, are relieved by capes and epaulets or frills and embroidery and lace. Dancing dresses are made of fine batiste and organdies over colored silk. Foulards have made their way into the wardrobe of the little girl, as well as that of her big sister. The polka dot design is considered the most correct for the young folks.

GOWNS FOR LITTLE MAIDENS.

Few of the skirts for girls are trimmed. Plain plaid and striped batistes, embroidered dotted batistes and organdies are made up over colored silks, and some of these skirts are made with a Spanish flounce. The yokes and shoulder caps are usually made of butter colored lace, though some very pretty organdies have no trimming other than bands and rosettes of baby ribbon in contrasting colors.

Outing suits for the girl who is half woman, half child, are made of serge or plain cloth. Military gray, cadet blue and various shades of green are most used. The skirts are gored, and either an eton jacket or loose fitting coat is worn with cotton or silk shirt waists. Suits of duck, pique and crash are made after the same models. Very little girls wear dark blue or bright red serge suits, with extra full skirts and waists, trimmed in rows of narrow braid.

In jackets there are stunning little reefer jackets. Most of them are made in empire style, but some for the older girls half reveal, half conceal, the figure. Brilliant plaid and changeable silk linings are used. Long coats for little girls are made of sheer linen batistes and lined with pink, blue or yellow silk in delicate shades. These are elaborately trimmed with lace and handsome shaded ribbon. They are not so practical as the long coats of white pique, which can be easily laundered. The latter are also made very fine with big collars and yokes and funny little old fashioned capes of embroidery. Pique reefers in white and colors hold their own and are invariably becoming.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

MISS PARLOA'S ADVICE.

How to Clean Carpets and Rugs and Polish Furniture.

Bits of soft, wet paper or damp bran strewn over a carpet are the best dust collectors when sweeping, and one of the first things to remember is always to sweep a carpet with the pile, not against it, and have a small pointed broom to ferret out the dust hidden in the cracks and corners. After sweeping a room a long handled broom covered with a cotton flannel bag should be used upon the ceiling and walls, using a downward stroke upon the latter. After the sweeping freshen the carpet by wiping with a cloth wrung from ammonia and water in proportion of two tablespoonfuls of household ammonia to four quarts of water. Rugs must be shaken first and then spread face down and beaten with a rattan, then turned and brushed, or, if one has no place to spread them, then hang over a line wrong side out and beat.

There is an art in the manner of window washing. Dust the windows thoroughly before washing them with a woolen cloth and tepid water, and the best polisher for window glass is soft or crumpled newspapers, and use a wooden skewer to get into the corners.

Pure white castile soap should be used for the washing of paints, marks and stains being erased by the aid of very fine pumice stone.

A compound for cleaning floors, tiles, furniture and many things is composed of 4 ounces of soap and a pound of beeswax. Cut fine and put in 5 quarts of water, put over the fire and frequently stir until it is all dissolved. Then add 2 ounces of sal soda and take from the fire at once. Stir constantly until the mixture is cool. This may be kept in a covered jar and used when needed.

How to Make a Rice Dessert.

The iced rice pudding is most delicious made as a simple rice custard, frozen and served with preserved fruits. Boil a scant teacupful of nice Carolina rice in a double boiler with a quart of milk, half a cup of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. When the rice is soft, take it up and stir in the yolks of 4 eggs. Return the pudding to the fire and beat it hard for two or three minutes. Add a pint of rich cream, and when the pudding is cold a teaspoonful of orange extract. Freeze the pudding and serve it on a base of golden orange jelly or with sweet preserved oranges or quinces heaped over it. It is also nice served on a low crystal platter with a wreath of whipped cream, tinted pink with preserved strawberry or raspberry juice.

How to Avoid Biliousness.

Some people go so far as to believe that the absence from our menus of plenty of green vegetables and salads accounts for the biliousness of the American people. The best known of such plants are lettuce, beet tops, dandelion, kale and spinach, but there are many other palatable and healthful plants that, though rarely used, might add a pleasant variety to our list of available vegetables. One of these, "winter cress," or Barbarea præcox, which is sold in large quantities in the Washington markets, is planted in late summer or early fall and needs very little cultivation. Another plant that belongs to the spinach and beet family, though it is a common weed in fields and gardens in nearly every part of the United States, is "lamb's quarters," or Chenopodium album. It is in many places commonly known either as pigweed or goosefoot, but it is not the true pigweed. The plant has a pale bluish green color, and if used when six or eight inches high is tender, juicy and pleasant to the taste. The teasing weed, the common garden "pusley," or "purslane," when boiled is also recommended as a most palatable green vegetable and can easily be had. In India, where it originated, the plant has been used for hundreds of years. In Europe it is used both as a pot herb and for salads.

BY POLICE AT CALLAO.

Inquiry here confirms the story coming from Lima to the effect that the State Department has lodged a demand with the United States charge of legation at Lima for the release of the mate of the American bark "Uncle John." He was arbore on December 19 last at Callao, and was arrested because of his constant demand for "Rainier Beer." On tap or in bottles at the Criterion Saloon.

Phaetons and Buggies.

If you are in need of a vehicle of any description, inspect the stock of G. Schuman at the Club Stables. He keeps on hand a full line of phaetons, surreys, buggies, road wagons, and Frazier road carts.

Don't be persuaded to accept what is not really good in enlarged portraits, just because you have given an order for one. King Bros. will give you something infinitely better and cheaper than you can get anywhere else in town.

The buildings and grounds are thoroughly lighted with Electric Light.

Plans of the Buildings and grounds can be seen at the office of the Minister of the Interior.

"Section 2. Every such lease shall contain a covenant on the part of the lessee that he shall, during the first four years of the term of the lease, cause to be erected upon the leased premises a fire proof building of Brick, Stone or Metal, in a workmanlike manner, satisfactory to the Minister of the Interior at not less than a stated cost; and keep the same suitably insured at not less than two-thirds of its value for the benefit of the lessor; and shall keep the building in good repair during the remainder of the term of lease, reasonable use and wear thereof only excepted; and in case of damage or destruction of such building by fire, shall make good such loss or damage by the necessary repairs or reconstruction or else surrender the insurance to the lessor.

"Section 4. Every such lease shall also contain a covenant on the part of the lessor, that upon the request in writing by the lessee or his representatives, before the expiration thereof, the premises with the improvements, shall, if all of the conditions to be performed by the lessee have been satisfactorily performed, be put up at auction for a lease for a term of not over twenty years; unless said premises shall be required for public uses, of which the lessee shall receive at least one year's notice. Such auction sale shall be held not more than six months nor less than one month before the expiration of said term."

The cost of building to be erected in accordance with Section 2 as above quoted, is placed at $50,000.

THE SAKE DUTY.

Hawaiian affairs continue to cause great distress to the Japan Herald, an English paper of Yokohama, its latest issue received frothing over the duties on imports of Japanese sake. It argues against the view of its local contemporary the Mail, which is that "racial antipathy" is the cause of "the illiberal attitude of the Hawaiian authorities." The Herald states, as the reasons for the apparent change of feeling here toward the Japanese, that the planters have found the Japanese not so cheap labor as was expected—owing to their proneness to holidays and inferior physique to the Chinese—and that the Government is alarmed over the persistent demand for voting rights on their behalf and their overpowering number on the islands. These reasons are correctly enough given, but they have no relation whatever to the duties on Japanese liquors. It has been found that the native Hawaiians were taking considerably to the cheap sake, which to them was less "comparatively harmless" than the Herald states it is with the Japanese—because they were not used to it—and this, too, when the natives had made a fair start in exchanging their old favorite of "sandpaper gin" for the grape wines of California. The changing again to the Japanese liquors — some varieties of which taken boiled after the Japanese mode proved to have extremely deleterious effects on the natives — was deemed to be much for the worse. Besides these local reasons, which perhaps might not have induced a change in the tariff, an angry cry arose from the California wine growers. They urged that it was a poor return for the free admission of Hawaiian sugar into the American market, to have Hawaii allow the vineyard products of the Pacific Coast to be driven out by cheap rice wine from Japan. As the existing commercial relations with the United States are the chief basis of this country's prosperity, it was of the highest public policy to remove this well-taken ground of hostility, on the part of the Pacific Coast, to those relations. Hence the change in the liquor tariff, which is not a case of loving Japan less but one of loving the United States more.

Among the Diamond Jubilee honors conferred by Queen Victoria was a peerage for Sir Donald Smith, the Agent General of Canada in London. He chose the title of Lord Glencoe, after his Scottish residence in the famous valley of that name. The honor is in recognition of Sir Donald's services to the Empire, in the Hudson Bay Company's enterprise and the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir Donald was always very well liked by newspaper men—before as well as after he was knighted some years ago — for his geniality in granting interviews on important matters. Sir Donald is one of the leading promoters of the British Pacific cable, and dictated some long letters to a Honolulu correspondent, a few years ago, with reference to making a landing here.

An organized movement is reported in Canada to end or mend the Senate. The plan is to hold a general convention of the provincial legislatures, which should petition the Imperial Parliament to legislate a reformation of the Dominion Senate. This is feasible through an amendment of the British North America Act that created the Confederation of the Provinces in 1867. The reason for the movement is the obstruction offered to Government measures by the Senate, a body packed with Conservatives from the eighteen years' uninterrupted power of that party brought to an end by the last general election. It is likely that the specific reform to be sought will be to have the Senate made elective.

Next to war an extensive coal strike is to be deplored. Coal is one of the chief "sinews of war" for peaceful industry, as well as for mortal controversy on land and sea nowadays. The present strike in the United States for even the length it has gone will materially retard the return of good times, while not the least of its sad effects will be terrible distress among the families of the thousands of operatives.

Dr. Depew is doubtless a safe prophet—in the interview cited yesterday—when he predicts that Bryanism will succeed the present administration if the latter fail in fulfilling its promises. Besides all the presently domestic difficulties to be composed, the settlement of the Hawaiian question forever may fairly be held as a responsibility of the Republican regime now in full sway.

It is to be hoped that the United States and France will be able, in their reported alliance in that matter, to convince Great Britain of the desirability of having the bimetallic problem settled by international action. Universal commerce would be vastly influenced for the better by such a consummation.

An Enthusiast.

"You can't comprehend what a genuine enthusiast is till you have known one as I have." This oracular declaration from the man of the world called for a story by way of evidence.

"When Tom Blumber and I were boys together, he was an enthusiast on the craze for gathering postage stamps. He wrote, advertised, hunted and would have walked across the continent for a rarity in his line. Suddenly he switched to dogs and had everything from a toy terrier to Great Danes. He had a canine herd that would crowd an acre of ground. They barked and howled and fought till he fell in love, and he was either courting, serenading, sending soft poetry or hanging around till the girl married him just to have peace.

"As the honeymoon waned he was seized with baseball enthusiasm. He would have faced a battery to get to a game. He yelled, jawed, bet, followed the club from spring till fall and was a noisy bleacher even in his sleep. The next turn of the crank made him a fisherman. Out of season he would sit in the back yard and make casts by the hour just to keep his hand in. There was never invented or suggested anything to lure the finny tribe that he did not have in his collection, which would fill a freight car. He could sit on a wet rock all day without winking and then go shining or trolling all night. Get him in a crowd and he'd have everybody talking fish inside of five minutes, and when he saw the Lone Fisherman he cheered till an usher got him out of the theater. Now he's a singer, and every house within a block of him is vacant. He has no more music in him than a blackbird, but he is an enthusiast."—Detroit Free Press.

Timely Topics

July 7, 1897.

The holidays are over and the community is settling down to business again. The three hottest months of the year are at hand and many people are thinking of discarding the use of coal and wood stoves for the summer. To all such we can recommend the well-known and justly popular BLUE FLAME OIL STOVES, of which we have just received a fresh supply. We can furnish these in three sizes now, the new size being a smaller and cheaper edition of the others.

The Dietz Stove Company—the largest oil stove manufacturers in the United States—are now turning out a beautiful stove for burning kerosene. Complete with oven and pots, etc., with one, two or three burners.

In wood or coal burning stoves we have the celebrated FISHER STEEL RANGES. The PANSY, sizes 6, 7 and 8. The COLUMBUS, sizes 7 and 8. The OLIVE and BONO. For hotels or restaurants we have a specially suitable one—The EMPIRE CITY. In this the oven is very large, the heating surface exceptionally so, and the price very low indeed.

How the Expression "To Be Hauled Over the Coals" Originated.

The corruption of this saying seems to be "called over" instead of "hauled over." It means as used nowadays to take a person to task for shortcomings, to scold him. Jamieson takes the proverb to refer to the old custom of making the accused walk over burning embers, but it more probably originated in a more defensible mediæval practice. Whenever a king or baron wanted money he tortured the unhappy Jews until they either made the loan desired or revealed the locality of their treasure. A common method was to haul them over the coals of a slow fire. The expression to "give one a roasting" probably comes from the same source.

How to Clean Your Furs.

Short haired furs, such as sealskins and ermine, are best cleaned with soft flannel. The fur should be rubbed delicately against the grain until it has all been thoroughly lifted and reversed. Then dip the flannel into common flour and rub lightly any spots that look dark or dirty. Shake the fur well and rub with a clean flannel until the flour is all removed.

Sable, chinchilla, squirrel and monkey skin may be beautifully cleansed with hot bran. Heat a small quantity of bran meal in the oven. Rub it well into the fur. Allow it to remain for a few moments before shaking it out.

Warm cornmeal will freshen mink fur. The white angora and "baby lamb," worn by children, may also be cleaned by rubbing with clear flour.

How to Make Napkin Rings of Bark.

Napkin rings for use during the stay in the country may be made from birch bark. Cut the bark in a strip about the proper width for a ring. Sew the ends together with a feather stitch with Roman floss. Feather stitch each edge with the same material, and in the center of the ring work an initial or monogram. If several are to be used, work them with different colors.

The The The

Best. Rest. Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best—and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root,—the record of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards—culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best—shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.

Egg Lore From Good Housekeeping.

A hard boiled egg is more delicate in flavor and much more digestible if cooked 20 minutes or half an hour. They should be put immediately in cold water. It prevents the egg from turning dark, and it shells easier in consequence.

To make an egg to stand "a la Columbus," cut a slice from the end.

Brown the butter in which your eggs are to be cooked.

The white of an egg has a tendency to coagulate and is liable to disagree with the stomach of an invalid when the yolk may be perfectly harmless.

Raw eggs are more wholesome than boiled or poached. Fresh eggs are more digestible than those which have been longer kept.

The yolk is sometimes given in jaundice and forms an excellent diet in dyspepsia.

Eggs contain none of the sugar principles and therefore should be eaten with those foods which abound in them, as bread and vegetables.

The average weight of a dozen eggs is about 21½ ounces. One-eighth of this entire weight may be regarded as nitrogenous and nutritious matter, a greater proportion than that of meat or of the oyster.

From six eggs three people may make a very good breakfast, and at 40 cents per dozen they are quite as economical as meat.

Decorative Fire Screens.

Fire screens greatly add to the decoration of a room. A lovely one is in tender green enameled wood, matching the satin panel, all abloom with three large appliques of the majestic white lily cut out in white velvet, outlined with pale green chenille and veined with gold thread. A double line of couching in dark green silk defines the elongated leaves in deep green plush. All along the lower end is conveniently added a satin flounce, forming a pouchlike pocket, prettily crossed with velvet ribbons and bows.
