Prince Bert Peterson Goes Into Spectacular Bankruptcy

LIABILITIES $41,000 AND ASSETS NIT

One of the most sensational and unique petitions in voluntary bankruptcy ever seen in the Territory was this morning filed by R. C. A. Peterson, broker, who is known to every man, woman and child in Honolulu as "Prince Bert." The bankruptcy papers disclose the brilliancy which is Peterson's striking characteristic, the liabilities amounting to over $41,000, which is offset by no assets, with the exception of $300 worth of raiment which is claimed to be exempt.

Practically all the Prince's creditors hold no security whatever. Their name is legio and they came from all quarters of the globe to fill his coffers. Of one thing Peterson can not be accused, partiality. He patronized all alike, friends, relatives, merchants, and rival concerns. Thus six livery stables vied to serve him and in the alphabetical order of the creditors there is quite a little column of Petersons.

The liabilities are enumerated as follows:

Taxes due Territory of Hawaii, $156.93.
Creditors holding security, B. F. Dillingham, 100 shares Kihel Plantation stock $700, the value of the securities being $775.
Creditors whose claims are unsecured:

J. F. Colburn, Honolulu, judgment, $200.

Macfarlane & Co., Honolulu, note, $325.
P. G. Higgins, Chicago, note, $150.
Seely I. Shaw, Honolulu, note, $500.
Making a total of $5,295.

To this is appended a typewritten sheet, there being no room on the printed form, on which the additional creditors with unsecured claims, are neatly arranged in alphabetical order as follows:

SAYS WILLIAM KAPU TOOK WATCH AND DID NOT KAPU

William Kapu, a printer, was arrested this morning on a charge of grand larceny preferred against him by Mrs. Laura K. Kahalo. The warrant accuses Kapu of stealing a watch valued at $125 from the complainant. Kapu's bail was put at $250.
Mrs. Kahalo runs a stand at the Fishmarket and also sleeps there. While she was asleep on the night of October 25th she claims Kapu entered her apartment, in spite of a "Kapu" sign, and departed quietly without disturbing anyone, with a gold watch and chain. Suspicion fell upon Kapu because the next morning he appeared at the Fishmarket and asked Mrs. Kahalo very earnestly if she had lost anything.
When arrested by Officer Joe Leal today Kapu did not have the watch or chain in his possession, and as yet it has not been found.

BIG SUGAR CROPS ARE IN SIGHT

Though Weather Is Not Favorable to Beets Of Europe

WILLET & GRAY DOES ITS FORECASTING FOR 1905-6

INDICATIONS OF RECORD CROP IF PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES ARE FULFILLED—EUROPEAN CONDITION.

Willet & Gray's Sugar Journal for Oct. 19 reports on the sugar market as follows:

RAWS.—The trend of the market throughout the week, at home and abroad, continues downward, the greatest decline, however, having been made in the European markets which stood considerably above the parity of our market. Here, a little distinction is being made between the Cubans which are now testing low and the new Demerara sugars testing high. Cubas have been largely bought towards the close of the week at 2 5/32c. c. and f. for 95 deg. test, equivalent to 3.58c. duty paid for 96 deg. test, against 3.62 1/2c. the preceding week. Demeraras on last sales show 3 1/2c. for 96 deg. test basis and it is quite possible that this price may continue to be paid by some refiners desirous of the better sugars for mixing with the poorer sugars from Cuba. Also, the Demerara market has openings in other directions than the United States, which tends to keep their quotations fall up so that while the trend of Cuba sugars is to a lower level, in sympathy with the foreign beet sugar market, that of the Demerara market is to continued steadiness, for awhile at least.
European beets opened the week at 8s. 8 1/4d. and declined at the close to 8s. 3 1/4d., the former low level in September having been 8s. 5 1/4d.; 8s. 3 1/4d. is the equivalent of 5.73c. per pound for 96 deg. test Centrifugals.
Our this week's paper is especially valuable for the estimates we give of the crops and supplies for the new campaign year, both of cane and beet sugars, our estimates having come out so closely for the preceding year of cane sugar crops, we trust we may be equally successful in the estimates now made. A study of the figures shows very little hope of improved prices during the first half of the campaign, while quotations for the latter half must depend very largely upon the estimates made from time to time of the

RUNAWAY ROLLER ON VICTORIA STREET

A runaway steam-roller supplied excitement enough on Victoria street, where the road is steep, this morning, to thoroughly awake the neighborhood. Shortly after 7 o'clock the heavy machine was churning its way up the hill, when it slipped a cog and the cog wheel applying the motive force refused to connect. Without power to advance the big roller began a backward slide and was soon cutting the dust downward, gathering speed as it went. To add to the excitement the steering gear went amuck and the steam-roller proceeded to describe curves in the thoroughfare. It rolled toward the corner of F. J. Lowry's lot and took a piece out of the curbing, then screeched and dashed across the Rapid Transit track on Lunaliio street, winding up in the yard of H. F. Wichman, smashing a fence and grinding the curbs. The engineer jumped before the finish.

Bullets For Two Japs In Iwilei Row And Both May Die

INFURIATED ORIENTAL'S BUNGLING CRIME

Morita Asana, a Japanese woman, an inmate of a house back of the Oahu Jail on the Ewa side of Iwilei road, was shot and perhaps fatally injured shortly before noon today by Shirashi, her lover, who afterward turned the pistol on himself, the bullet entering at his throat and lodging near the base of the brain. He will probably die.

Four shots in all were fired, three of them taking effect in the body of the woman. A sister of the injured girl witnessed the crime. Her name is Harakachi.

Asana and Shirashi had quarreled during the morning. Suddenly almost without any warning whatever the man drew a revolver and facing the woman fired two shots. One entered the right side of her breast and the other on the opposite side. Partly running from the small bedroom and while the woman was staggering to the door with her back toward him Shirashi again fired another shot. The bullet struck his mark, piercing the back of the victim near the left shoulder blade. Morita fell writhing to the floor.

Feeling satisfied that he had accomplished his purpose Shirashi stepped through a door out into the yard and while his victim's sister was screaming for help placed the weapon to his throat pointing upward and pulled the trigger.

Morita, who the man is said to have been insanely jealous of, and who had

If Carter Was Lone Candidate

An evening paper the other day in screaming headlines declared that D. Kalanokalan, the grand old man of the Home Rule party, had said he would support Governor Carter for the position of Hawaii's Delegate to Washington.

The said Grand Old Man read and chuckled and later said, to one close to him, that the story was very much off.

D. Kalanokalan's statement was really to the following effect:

First "if"—If Governor Carter should consent to run, and Second "if"—If the Republican party should nominate Governor Carter to run for Delegate to Washington, and

Third "if"—If the Home Rule party and the Democratic party should both fail to put up a candidate, to run against Carter, and

Fourth "if"—If all parties agreed to support the only man nominated;

Therefore it would be his, Kalanokalan's duty to support Governor Carter for Delegate.

Many and beautiful floral tributes were sent to Maui from this city by friends of the late Fred Baldwin. The funeral takes place today from the home of the Baldwins at Puunene. Mrs. Taylor, the florist, filled many special orders, among them being a large cross of carnations and asters for the employees of the plantation. The Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company also sent a large scroll of pink and white carnations and J. A. Kennedy an anchor of pink roses.

KUKAIAU MILL REPORTED AFIRE

The Kinau reported this morning that the Kukaiau Mill, Hawaii, was afire yesterday.

Theo. H. Davies & Co., agents, received a wireless to the effect that fire broke out in the mill yesterday morning. The Kinau knew nothing of particulars and Davies received no detailed information. The Kukaiau mill stands on a high bluff 600 feet above the ocean. There is generally a breeze blowing and the supposition is that owing to this fact the progress of fighting the blaze was considerably hampered, the wind constantly fanning the fire. From what can be learned the fire started near the engine room where a pile of ashes from the boilers had been smoldering.

DR. MOORE'S FAMILY THROWN FROM AUTO

The right front wheel of Dr. Moore's auto flew off shortly before 6 o'clock last evening while the machine, carrying the doctor, his wife and their two children, was bound in the direction of Waikiki, opposite Kawaiaho church, on King street.

The wheel flew many yards, toward the stone wall of the church and the axle-end ground into the macadam of the road for some thirty feet. The doctor, having hold of the lever, held his seat, but the other occupants of the auto were thrown out.

No serious injuries were sustained though all were badly frightened.

KINAU SIGHTS SHIPS

Two unknown vessels were sighted by the steamer Kinau, which arrived from Hilo and way ports at 9:15 this morning. One of them was ten miles out from the bay and was a full-rigged sailing boat with three masts. She was in a calm at the time sighted. The other, a large steamer, was seen last night in the Hawaiian channel. The Kinau was not near enough to either of the ships to distinguish their identity.

OCEANIC NO. 371

HISTORICAL MASONIC WORK COMPLETED LAST NIGHT

GRAND LODGE OF CALIFORNIA ADDS ANOTHER BLUE LODGE TO ITS JURISDICTION IN HAWAII—BANQUET.

A large number of representative Masons assembled at the Masonic Temple last evening to assist in instituting the new lodge, Oceanic No. 371, under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of California and install the officers. The gathering was historical in that Oceanic Lodge is made up of members of Lodge Le Progrés de l'Océanie No. 124, A. & A. S. R., which for more than half a century has held a unique position in Masonry of Hawaii and the United States. Le Progrés is the oldest lodge west of the Rocky mountains and numbered among its members and officers monarchs of the Hawaiian kingdom. In the course of the next few months the charter of the lodge will be surrendered and all its members will be included in the membership of Oceanic. The transfer to an American jurisdiction is entirely friendly and is one of the natural results of annexation. The ceremonies last night were in the hands of Past Master E. I. Spalding appointed representative of the Grand Lodge of California by its Grand Master, Motley H. Flint, who is well known here. Mr. Spalding was assisted by Worshipful Master John G. Rothwell and other officers of Hawaiian Lodge No. 21. The bearers of the emblem were Past Master of Lodge Le Progrés David Day, one of the oldest Masons of Hawaii, Past Masters C. M. White, L. de L. Ward and Ed. Towse. The ceremony of instituting the lodge was very interesting and impressive. After this was completed the officers of the new lodge were installed as follows: Worshipful Master, C. G. Bockus; Senior Warden, Charles B. Junior Warden, Merle M. Johnson; Chaplain, H. T. Moore; Senior Deacon, C. G. Bartlett; Junior Deacon, Edgar M. Brown; Marshal, J. R. Collins; Stewards, R. H. Bemrose and Charles W. Lee; Tyler, Charles H. Thurston. After the ceremonies in the lodge room those present adjourned to the banquet hall, where a collation was served. Worshipful Master C. G. TRUE CHRISTIANITY

IS HIGHEST BID AND WINS CHILDREN An "Auction of Children" was held at Salvation Army headquarters Thursday night and sinners and saved turned out to see what it all meant. Among the former were a couple of newspapermen. They were shown to front seats, whether as awful examples or as an inspiration, still remains in doubt. The scribes were first impressed by the stiffness of the hall and next by the earnestness of the Salvationists and the look of consecration that they wore. Such devotion to doing good for others should be provided with a larger and better ventilated hall. Perhaps the Salvation Army's friends will remember it in this respect some day. Adjustam Bamberg conducted the "auction sale." Children whose skins were wireless messages from all the ends of the earth were put up and bid for—not with gold or silver, but with less definite material, to wit: fame, pleasure, fashion, wealth, education, etc., etc. Bandmaster Cannon represented fame; J. M. Martin stood for pleasure; Knisign Haynes for fashion; A. F. Cooke for wealth; Mrs. Adj. Bamberg for education; Knisign Anderson for nominal Christianity; and Mrs. E. E. Damon for real Christianity. Of course the whole scheme was an object lesson and a very effective and pretty one, too. The packed audience thought so and the children were delighted. Auctioneer Adjutant Bamberg declared that real Christianity had bid the highest and this suited everybody. An interesting part of the evening's entertainment not on the program was the crowd itself; nearly 300 people had crowded into the hall. Every nationality on the island was represented as well as every trade, some without occupations, others who were poor, all mixed with a number of well-to-do persons who had gone, not alone for the novelty of the auction sale of children, but to help the organization along in its worthy cause. Those who had no money were as welcome as the wealthy ones and just as much attention was paid to their comfort by the Army workers. There were many sailors and soldiers in the audience. In spite of the heat and closeness of the hall, everyone enjoyed themselves and few if any left the place before the program, which covered two hours' time, was finished. A particularly interesting part of the bang drill was the singing of the children in Hawaiian. Two of the youngsters were Chinese girls and it was a noticeable fact that they sang the pieces in the foreign language equally as well as the native children themselves. One of the Chinese girls was pretty and as coy and cute as could be. The entertainment was profitable for the Army. By the collection $10.50 was taken in. Admitted He Kissed His Neighbor's Wife New York, October 19.—In palliation of accusations against Mrs. Hortense Powers, defendant in divorce proceedings, Colonel Alexander S. Bacon told a jury in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, he himself had been lucky enough to have and accept the opportunity of kissing another man's wife. He added that in all probability the married men on the jury had been similarly fortunate. William F. Powers, the plaintiff, offered letters written by his wife to William Campbell, a wealthy Bay Ridge resident. Mrs. Powers pleaded that her friendship with Mr. Campbell was purely platonic. The jury was out but ten minutes before bringing in a verdict for Mr. Powers. In explaining how innocent the relations between Mrs. Powers and Mr. Campbell were, Colonel Bacon showed that what was represented as an embrace between the two was simply Mrs. Powers' arm thrown carelessly along the back of a sofa. Referring to the alleged kissing episode, the Colonel remarked: "Gentlemen, every one of you who is married probably has kissed his neighbor's wife. I might say that I have been myself fortunate in that regard." There was tittering among the spectators and jurymen. Fine Job Printing at the Bulletin.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

REGRETTING DAVIS' RESIGNATION

The Board of Education held its first regular meeting with W. H. Babbitt, the new Superintendent of Public Instruction, in the chair, yesterday afternoon. Present were Commissioners Mrs. Wilcox, Farrington and Al.

The committee on the Kailiwaena site reported further progress, and asked for further time. A list of the land which Mrs. Nakuna wanted in exchange for the proposed site had been submitted to Land Commissioner Pratt, who was making up a list of Government lands at Kaili.

The recommendations reported by the Committee on Teachers, which appeared in the Bulletin yesterday, was read and adopted with a few minor amendments.

Superintendent Babbitt said that two rooms were being added to the Mollili school. The Kaahumanu and the Walkiki school were overcrowded principally by pupils from Kaimuki, Palolo and Mollili. Here was a chance to build up a large school, which could be offered to J. A. Davis, who might wish to take that school.

This plan was favored by all the Commissioners, it being understood that this would be a suitable appointment temporarily until a better position should be available. It was well known that Davis wished to remain in Honolulu, and it was thought that he would like the place.

Mr. Coke had asked for a life certificate and had been asked to send his Oregon diploma.

It was decided to offer the principalship of the Mollili school to Mr. Davis at $50 a month.

Babbitt suggested that the day for the Board meetings be changed to some other day than Friday on account of the island mails. It was decided to have the meetings Thursday afternoons.

Farrington suggested that the new Superintendent appoint new committees. Babbitt said he was in favor of having all business referred to the standing committees and never to appoint special committees.

Mrs. Austin and Mr. Kellinoh had applied for the principalship of Waihee school. A petition had also been received asking that Moses Kaimuki be appointed. It was signed by 64 citizens.

The following set of resolutions were read and adopted:

Whereas, Mr. James C. Davis has tendered his resignation as Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the same has been accepted, the Commissioners of Public Instruction take this occasion to express their regret at the severance of the official relations heretofore existing, and to testify to the sentiments of respect and esteem with which they regard the late head of the Department.

During his brief incumbency as Superintendent Mr. Davis has shown himself to be diligent, conscientious and devoted to the interests of the public schools of the Territory.

His uniform kindness and courtesy toward his colleagues, and his readiness to facilitate by all means in his power the business of the Department will be ever remembered by us with pleasure and satisfaction.

The Commissioners venture to express the hope that the connection of Mr. Davis with the schools of the Territory will not be terminated by the recent change, but that he may continue to serve the cause of popular education in some other capacity.

In reply to a question by Babbitt the plans of the Hilo High School, which had been sent down by Principal Richmond, were taken up. Farrington thought that the plans ought not to be changed, as Richmond was on the ground and would best know what was needed. Mrs. Wilcox and Mr. Al agreed. The plans will be sent to the Public Works Department.

W. W. Goodale wrote regarding the sale of the old Waiwala school buildings. Nearly all had been sold at the upset price. This action was approved.

Land Commissioner Pratt asked that a certain remainder of school land at Kona, which was not being used, be transferred to the Land Department, as it was wanted for a right of way. Farrington moved that the transfer be made. This was carried.

Superintendent of Public Works Holloway wrote as to whether he should go ahead with the plans for a teachers' cottage at Wailuku, which had been referred to him by Mr. Davis. The action of the Superintendent was confirmed.

Language Working Conquest of Mexico

Denver, Colo., Oct. 15.—"Mexico will be assimilated piecemeal by the United States and the assimilation will be a peaceful operation," says John L. Hermen of the City of Mexico, a capitalist who is purchasing mining machinery in Denver. "The first steps along this line are being taken in the State of Sonora. There most of the natives speak the English language and are shaping their actions after the people of the United States."

"The fact that there is about $100,000,000 of the money of United States capitalists invested in Mexico will assist in the assimilation. In a measure, as the capitalists have American men down there to manage their affairs. They also are forced to employ hundreds of Americans in positions the Mexicans cannot fill, and these men are patriotic enough to work for the assimilation."

"Capitalists will work against the union of the two nations up to a certain point. As the laws now are in Mexico it is the rich man's paradise as they are all in favor of the employer and work to keep the laboring man almost in a state of slavery. If Mexico were a part of the United States, these would have to be changed."

LINDSAY DISMISSES

ACTION OF LOW AGAINST CARTER

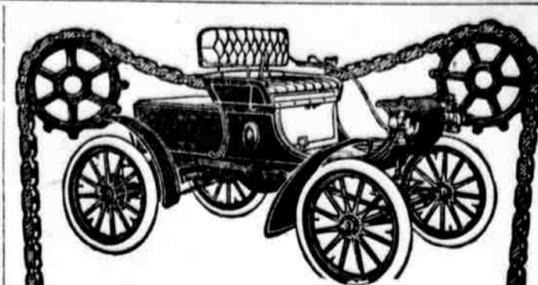

The Parker ranch case swiftly and suddenly reached a conclusion yesterday afternoon when Judge Lindsay not only decided the motion of Mrs. Knight to remove J. S. Low as next friend but also on the petition to remove A. W. Carter and the question of costs and fees. On all points the decision was in favor of Carter's side.

It was brief, but very much to the point, reading in full as follows:

I do not in giving my decision intend to say very much. In fact, I think the less said the better.

From the evidence in this case it seems that several corporations existed upon the Island of Hawaii that had for their purpose the exploiting of the water in the Kohala mountain shed. The personnel of the stockholders and officers in these corporations were practically the same, and, as far as the court is aware from the evidence, consisted principally of Mr. Samuel Parker, whose interest has not perhaps been exactly stated to the court; but there is no hiding the fact that he was one of the chief men in the corporations. That J. T. McCrosson was the active spirit in this; that John Hind, of Kohala, had also some interest in some of these corporations. Mr. J. S. Low was the manager of the firm of Hind, Rolph & Co., and also was an officer, secretary I believe, in one of these corporations, the corporations being desirous of obtaining a right of way across a piece of land belonging to the minor, Annie T. K. Parker; and it appears that McCrosson had had some little talks with the guardian over this, and, according to his way of thinking, had been refused the right of way. But it is in evidence that he acquainted Mr. Low with these facts and urged that Mr. Low do something towards compelling the guardian to either give this right of way, or to sell a piece of land that she owned there, for the sum of $124,000. Mr. Low armed with this one thought, the thought of getting a right of way across the land of the minor, proceeds to an attorney, Mr. Magoon, and states his case to him. It develops in time that he is informed, or he comes to believe, that the proper method of proceeding should be in the nature of a petition to remove the guardian of the minor. His whole avowed intent in going to see the lawyer at first was to forward the interests of the Hamakua Ditch Company; his own language on the stand was that he was urged by the active manager, McCrosson, to do so. In this case, there can be no doubt that the interests of the minor, which the next friend alleges to have had, was only a secondary thought; it was only conveyed to him after a consultation with his counsel, and in fact he himself says he knew nothing whatever about the charges of mismanagement of the guardian. This all dropped up after the suit was brought. Then Low was engaged actively in collecting data at these times.

A motion was brought by respondent and filed in court, seeking to enquire into the status of J. S. Low, and to enquire into his motives, and to see if he was a fit person to act as next friend. That motion, as I understand it, by my predecessor was not passed upon, but in order to escape the laborious task of having to go through the evidence, which he considered would be necessary, in order to arrive at a proper conclusion as to the motives of the next friend, this motion was delayed or postponed, to be decided when this case was tried upon its merits. A later motion was made by the next friend and his attorneys for counsel fees, attorneys' fees, for costs and attorneys' fees, which this court also postponed.

The motion now before the court is the motion to rescind the authority of J. S. Low, next friend, to act, and to dismiss this suit. After having heard all the evidence in this case, which has taken some sixty days, this court is very much of the opinion, has not the slightest bit of doubt, that the suit as a whole against the guardian should be dismissed, and upon its own motion so orders, that the main suit against the guardian herein be dismissed. And that the motion that we are now dealing with to rescind the order appointing J. S. Low, as next friend, be granted, and that the suit be dismissed, with costs to the next friend. It is so ordered.

Gas Range Cooking

All Kinds of Baking Require Less Time

proportionately in a gas range than in a coal range. Furthermore, the baking should be done in TIN PANS, not sheet iron nor agate. The iron absorbs the heat, and is more liable to burn at the bottom and sides before the baking is done. You may not have noticed this in using the coal range, but the heat of the gas range oven is much more intense and direct.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1905

Oh, Prince Bert!

Anyway the Parker case has been on the boards long enough to be missed.

Think of it! An acknowledged knocker claiming Kinaid has done the Territory harm.

It is rather remarkable that County Sheriff Brown has not been held responsible for failure to apprehend a Federal prisoner on Maui. The gaud doesn't stop at any Idology.

Notice how joyously the Knocker quotes from Supervisor Adams' letter edited by Thurston. The letter fits the changing fancy as it should when built to suit a Knocker's purpose.

According to the latest information the conquest of Mexico is being accomplished through the medium of the English language. That is vastly preferable to the conquest first with the language afterwards.

One hundred and fifty thousand released political prisoners might be expected to make a little more than an ordinary noise, but there's no good reason why the incident should start their fellow-countrymen killing one another.

The morning Knocker is having a terrible time with itself trying to make a row over Rev. W. M. Kinaid. The impossibility of it is apparent to all when they stop to think that Mr. Kinaid is an honest man and a gentle man.

Willett & Gray's forecast of the sugar situation is not altogether reassuring. The principal consolation is that the expert predictions of last year failed, so there is no special occasion to put too much confidence in their work this.

Russians are not unlike other people of the globe who have celebrated release from years of oppression with a saturnalia of crime. The danger to the Russian government will by no means be at an end until the force of the explosion has spent itself.

THE JUDICIAL PROBLEM

The appointment of a Circuit Judge for the First Circuit when Judge Robinson's term expires will be watched with a great deal of interest for several reasons.

Hitherto the main complaint in selecting men for judicial positions has been that there is a lack of the legal timber which people generally like to see on the bench,—that is, men of mature years and experience. It has been said that the desirable men,—the men to whom the community would naturally turn,—are making too much money at their profession and cannot afford to take a judicial salary. Hence it has been, so it is claimed, that the young men have grabbed the positions which in other sections of the country are occupied to a large degree by the elders. It should be added in passing, however, that the young men have been a credit.

Now comes the case of Robinson. He has served his term with credit to himself. He is acceptable to the people, or, at least, there is no great outcry against him,—and that is much in Hawaii. He is a candidate to succeed himself.

Judge Robinson might properly be classed among the young men of the community, but he has evidenced no shortcomings sometimes associated with youth. In fact, he seems to have made the most of the good qualities youth gives. No one has attacked his capacity or integrity. He is a good judge. In other words, he is of the judicial timber Hawaii has frequently claimed is not available. His term on the bench has given him an asset of experience which those learned in the law say is indeed an asset.

Such being the case, special interest will attach to the coming out of the proof, whether the time honored complaint was from the heart or a mere subterfuge of political innuendo. Should the opponents of Robinson for appointment be less experienced it will not be difficult to draw the conclusion. Or, if the natural conclusion be erroneous, the explanation of why it is so will not be easy.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

Governor Carter's reminder to the children of the public schools that the children of the public schools that they should be doing in these islands will be accomplished, in line with the remarks of an American leader that he could be President of the United States if he obtained the good-will of the boys in the schools and lived long enough. It is not known that any President has yet approached his high position by this route, but there is tremendous truth in the sentiment expressed.

The future of this Territory is to be determined by the children of today. They are the factors for good or evil. And the responsibility for the children is on the elders.

When contemplating this situation, which is absolute in the unerring certainty of a result that will make for good or evil, it should occur to the men and women of today that the best cannot be obtained nor can it be expected from a policy that does not provide sufficient funds to employ first class educators for all children, or properly reward those who give their best effort for aught.

MURDER

Shiraishi was recovering from his celebration of yesterday. For weeks he and the woman of his choice had quarrelled. A week ago today they indulged in a particularly vicious quarrel. At times, since then, however, they seemed to have forgotten their trouble.

When Shiraishi, who it seems did not do anything particular for a living, arose this morning he was in an angry mood. As a result he picked a fuss with the woman and the shooting was the result.

High Sheriff Henry, accompanied by W. R. Sims, was within a hundred yards of the shanty when the shots were fired and he rushed to the scene of the tragedy. The suicide was laying on the ground with blood pouring from a hole in his neck. On the inside was the woman under the care of several companions who had rushed to her assistance. High Sheriff Henry immediately summoned a Japanese doctor and then the patrol wagon.

The two were where they fell when Assistant Sheriff Vida arrived with the patrol wagon. The man was conscious, as was the woman, but his eyes had a death-like stare. As soon as possible both were hurried to the hospital.

After shooting himself Shiraishi must have stepped into the house and threw the gun onto a shelf. The weapon was found there by High Sheriff Henry together with a bunch of letters written in Japanese. They were tied together in a bunch.

The High Sheriff immediately took charge of the revolver and letters. For evidence Assistant Sheriff Vida began looking for the pistol. He soon found that Mr. Henry had the gun. Vida requested that it be turned over to him but the High Sheriff refused to do so.

Vida maintains that High Sheriff Henry has jurisdiction in matters of this kind and that all things connected with the attempted murder and suicide should be left in his charge. Mr. Henry disagreed with him and retained the weapon and letters.

"I was the one to find the revolver and letters, being one of the first to enter the house after the shooting, and consequently am going to keep them until I have a receipt for the articles from the proper authorities," High Sheriff Henry said to Bulletin reporter shortly after the affair happened.

Furthermore he stated that when he was given a receipt by Sheriff A. M. Brown he would let loose of the gun as well as the letters. "But I refuse to turn them over to any of Brown's subordinates," he emphasized.

The local police were very indignant at the action the High Sheriff had taken in the matter and were talking about it a good deal around the station this afternoon. They do not understand why he should take hold of this part of evidence and hold it to when Assistant Sheriff Vida was on the scene shortly after the shooting and had full charge of the affairs.

Officers of Company Deny Design to Pledge Shares

SAY PEACOCK INTENDS STARTING RIVAL FIRM

BOTTOMLEY FILES AFFIDAVIT THAT COMPLAINANT SAID TO HIM "NOT ON YOUR LIFE."

Returns have been filed by the defendants in the case of W. C. Peacock, T. F. Lansing, Andrew Brown and R. L. Auerbach vs. W. C. Peacock & Co., Ltd., et al., including the new officers of the company, of whom several are connected with Bishop & Co. It is shown that Peacock ceased to be president and director of the company September 15, 1905; that he is about to engage in business as a wholesale liquor dealer in competition with W. C. Peacock & Co., Ltd., and that he desires access to and control of the company's books, stock, papers and effects for the purpose of acquiring information which would be useful to him in the conduct of a rival business and to enable him to act hostilely and detrimentally to the firm. T. F. Lansing, Andrew Brown and R. L. Auerbach, it is shown, are not directors of the company.

It is further shown that the capital stock of the company consists of 2,000 shares of $100 each, that all the shares are paid up, and that 550 shares are now owned by the company. On July 10, 1904, Bishop & Co. asked that the 550 shares standing in the company's name be pledged with them as collateral security for money advances. This was declined but the bank still advanced money, doing so without security, and the defendants do not intend to pledge these shares to the bank, and there is no intention on the part of the company to imperil any of its assets or to prefer one creditor to another.

The return is based on affidavits by J. G. Rothwell, J. L. Cockburn, C. S. Weight, A. Garvie, A. W. T. Bottomley, E. A. Mott-Smith and Henry Holmes.

Bottomley shows in his affidavit that in August, 1905, Peacock tried to convince him that Rothwell was conducting the business of Peacock & Co. in a ruinous manner, and said that if he was not removed, he, Peacock, had $100,000 San Francisco capital to back him and would go into business with his brother Pete to compete with the firm. Bottomley told Peacock that if he had such capital behind him it might be well for him to put it in Peacock & Co. and thus regain the management. Whereunto Peacock responded: "Not on your life."

Bottomley further shows that on July 10, 1905, Bishop & Co. allowed the firm an excess of its overdraft demanding that the firm's 550 shares be pledged to the bank as security therefor. This was denied and owing to changed circumstances the demand was never made again. He states further that at the meeting of Sept 15 he was elected auditor and director of the company and as such he has no intention to pledge the shares.

Rothwell in his affidavit shows that on July 10, 1905, Bishop & Co. made a request for a certain security for a temporary increase of the firm's overdraft. The affiant asked Peacock to advise him and he refused to comply with the bank's request, and thus Rothwell notified Bottomley. Rothwell shows that the 550 shares are now in his possession as treasurer and he does not intend to pledge them to Bishop & Co.

Rothwell further alleges that previous to Sept. 15 Peacock had access to the firm's books and worked constantly on them, copying invoices and examining personal accounts to such an extent that he interfered with the orderly conduct of the company. A number of instances of this interference are related, and it is alleged that Peacock ousted himself entirely in the collection of data which would be useful to him in starting a rival business. After the meeting Sept. 15 Peacock was by a resolution denied access to the books except on special permission by the directors.

Garvie shows that at the Sept. 15

meeting he was elected president and director of the company and that he does not intend to pledge the 550 shares, nor has Bishop & Co., of which affiant is a partner, any desire to hold them. Colburn shows that he was elected vice president and makes the same statement regarding the pledge.

Mott-Smith shows that Peacock told him he wanted the position of manager himself in the place of Rothwell and that he would rather lose his entire investment in the company than see Rothwell in charge. If Rothwell was kept in charge he would run a business in competition and wreck the company.

Holmes relates a conversation with Peacock in which the latter informed him that he intended to go into the liquor business and wanted to make arrangements for the lease of certain premises.

Weight relates the transactions of the meeting of Sept. 15 at which the new officers of the company were elected and attaches to his affidavit a copy of the minutes.

Furthermore exceptions were filed to the bill, asking that certain parts thereof, which the defendants insist are irrelevant, impertinent and scandalous, be expunged.

The matter was brought up before Judge De Bolt this morning but was continued until Monday at 9 a. m.

HENDRY HAS GRAFTER IN HIS CLUTCHES

United States Marshal Hendry this morning sent a wireless message from Maui to District Attorney Breckon stating that he had G. L. Brokaw, the Montana land-grabber who after fleeing from justice wanted to give himself up, in his custody. He will bring him to Honolulu tomorrow.

Breckon feels reasonably sure that the Maui man is really the Brokaw who is badly wanted by the Washington authorities. The descriptions given from Washington of Brokaw and those which Hendry sent this morning of the man he has in his custody are practically the same on the points which both describe, but a number of points are described by one and not by the other.

The Washington cablegram says that Brokaw has large feet. Hendry was evidently not struck with this characteristic, but says that his man has had teeth. The Washington people have not noticed the teeth but volunteer that Brokaw has a prominent chin. Hendry ignores this feature entirely. However, the two descriptions tally with regard to weight and height. The Washington people say that Brokaw weighs 180 pounds, while Hendry states that his man weighs about 190. The statements regarding his height tally exactly.

The cablegram shows that Brokaw's partners were sentenced to one year's imprisonment and fined $2900 each.

Social Side of Life

Hallowe'en parties have been quite the order of the week, and the one given by the Misses Claire and Edith Williams at Waikiki on Tuesday evening was a particularly enjoyable affair. Fully fifty young people responded to the invitations so hospitably given and a very merry evening was passed in playing the games so dear to the hearts of all young people on that particular night. Apples were suspended from a blase was considered very fortunate. Corn was popped and also taken from the cob around an Indian fire on campment. Mirrors were freely used, and many a fate decided, as the clock struck twelve, the fateful hour. A cauldron of fire with a real gypsy fortune teller to give you slips of paper on which were written many weird and awful prophecies was one of the many delights of the evening. Comic lanterns from the homey pumpkin and Japanese lanterns made the extensive grounds bright with color. The lamp over the sea with its furnishings of wicker and palms was well patronized, for the refreshments were served under its artistic roof. Many of the young guests came in grotesque costumes and added to the picturesque effect. Mrs. Claire Williams and Miss E. Castle, assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Marx, received the guests. Among those present were Misses Van Vleet, Alice Roth, Alice Cooper, Alice Brown, Gertrude Brown, Fanny Hart, Laura Lucas, Alice Hedemann, Alice Spalding, Helen Girvin, Irene Fisher, Kathrine Hopper, Marion and Margaret Waterhouse, Edith and Agnes Smith, Eunice Pratt, Eva McCarriston, Ethel Spalding, Ethel Bishop, Hattie Lucas, Alice Muller and Justine McClanahan, Messrs. Kenneth Brown, Erling Hedemann, Ed. Desha, George Renton, Stanley Ashford, Lathrop Whittington, Stephen Desha, Harry Lucas, Wallace Cooper, Ted Cooper, A. McCarriston, O. McCarriston, Dan McCarriston, Richard Ahrens, George Desha, Walter Rycroft, Harold Giffard, Henry Hoffmann, Jack Young, Allen Lowrey, Lewis Renton, Charles Lyman.

The bride, who is a beautiful girl of a dainty fair type, was charming in her bridal robes and distinguished by a gracefulness such as is rarely seen. Her gown was of heavy white satin, made with a long train and trimmed with quantities of exquisite rose point lace. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and her shower bouquet was of lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Harriette de Witte Allen, was very handsome in a gown of palest green chiffon, embroidered in green and the faintest pink, and worn over pale green silk. Her large white hat was trimmed with white plumes and rose. Her bouquet was of Asaia daisies.

The bridesmaids, Miss Emma Grimwood, Miss Natalie Coffin, Miss Mattie Livermore and Miss Jessie Wright, were gowned alike in white embroidered chiffon, over white satin. Their large hats were of white, with pink under the brim and trimmed with pink roses and plumes. Their bouquets were showers of pale pink carnations. Frank Findley was the best man, and Leonard Chenery, Lucius Allen, Charles Grimwood and Stopford Colby were the ushers. The bride was given away by her brother, Wyatt Allen, her father not being well enough to be present. After the ceremony, at which there were several hundred guests, a reception was given to a smaller number of friends at the Allen home on Pacific avenue. The drawing-room where Mr. and Mrs. Grimwood received the congratulations of their friends was attractively decorated in pink carnations and garlands of pink and white gilly flowers. Greens and madrona berries were used effectively in the hall and dining-room.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimwood left on their wedding journey of several weeks, the bride wearing a going-away gown of gray and a hat to match, and on their return they will live on Sacramento street, where they have taken an apartment. Among those present at the reception were: Mrs. Wyatt, the bride's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Grimwood, Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Irving Scott, Mrs. Jonathan Kittle, Mr. and Mrs. James Coffin, Bishop and Mrs. Nichols, Captain and Mrs. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dibble, Benjamin Dibble, Mrs. Walter Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Findley, Lieutenant and Mrs. Clarence Carrigan, Miss Grace Baldwin, Lloyd Baldwin, Lieutenant and Mrs. John Franklin Babcock, Miss Edith Berry, Miss Helen Cheselbrough, Miss Marie Christine de Guigne, Mrs. Carter Pomeroy, Mr. and Mrs. Pelham Ames, Miss Bessie Ames, Miss Coppee, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sherman, Mrs. Norman McLaren, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chenery, Miss Elena Robinson, Mrs. Wakefield Baker, Mrs. James W. Sperry, Mrs. Clay Miller, Norman Livermore, William Nichols, Mrs. John Burke Murphy, Mrs. Nokes, Philip Lansdale, Wilberforce Williams, Karl Howard, Wharton Thurston, Mrs. A. B. Spalding, Mrs. William Hinckley Taylor, Clay Miller, Mrs. C. H. Harrison, Miss Rodgers, Miss Minnie Rodgers, Miss Genevieve Harvey, William Goldsborough, Miss Worn, Miss Bella Worn, Miss Sara Coffin, John Kittle, Miss Frances Howard and William Fisher.

The following extract will be of interest for the Grimwoods are very well known in Honolulu: Seldom is a more beautiful wedding seen than that of Miss Frances Allen and J. Bryant Grimwood, celebrated yesterday afternoon in Trinity church, Bishop Nichols officiating, assisted by Rev. F. W. Clappert, rector of Trinity. The stately interior of the church was undecorated save in the chancel, which was made beautiful with quantities of greens and white chrysanthemums. On either side of the chancel were clustered tall bouquets of the date palm with which the pulpit was also adorned. An effective background was formed by the feathery bamboo placed against the circular rear wall with tall ferns beneath. Ferns covered the chancel rail, at the ends of which were huge clusters of white chrysanthemums. These beautiful blossoms were also on the altar and banked in front of the choir stalls.

Overhead were suspended three large baskets of smilax, from which depended garlands and festoons of the same.

The Naniola Club gave a dance at Progress Hall on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Robt. Wilcox was a prime factor in the getting up of the evening's entertainment. Delicious refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening spent. Mrs. Wilcox expects soon to publish the first number of her paper. At the dance Ernest Kaai furnished excellent music, and over $900 were taken.

Miss Helen Alexander's Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening was a most agreeable affair. Many games were played, and the decorations were most unique. The invitations were as follows: Oh Hallowe'en at seven o'clock. Thrive, please upon our portal knock—The door will open—and you shall see The awful shakes of things to be.

An Elk Sues For Skin He Grafted

Spokane, Oct. 15.—George A. Lovejoy, the Elk who was skinned to furnish grafts for a fellow Elk's wife suffering from severe burns, has brought suit against Dr. C. P. Thomas for $10,000 as the value of 150 inches of skin which he says the doctor peeled off his legs while under chloroform.

Lovejoy asserts that it was represented to him that the surgeon would only take from his thighs two or three strips, three or four inches long and three-fourths of an inch wide. When he got off the table he found that the front of his legs between knee and hip was stripped and it was ten days before he could get out of the hospital.

Mrs. Fred B. Searles, the original victim, was burned in an accident with a lamp at Lewiston, Idaho, and was brought here to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment. A number of Elks volunteered to furnish particles of skin, but Lovejoy proved such a promising subject that while under chloroform he was peeled for all the grafts necessary except some supplied by Mrs. Searles' husband and brother. The grafting operation was successful, but the woman was so weakened from long illness that she died.

ed the ceremony, and only the intimate friends of the family were present. Mr. Creedon is the private secretary of Governor Carter. Miss Medeiros is a very pretty girl and has a large circle of friends in Honolulu.

Mr. J. W. Waldron of Schaefer & Co., is at the Volcano House for his health.

Mr. A. Humburg has been greatly entertained in Hilo prior to his departure for Honolulu.

A farewell banquet was given at Hotel Demosthenes in honor of August Humburg, says the Hilo Tribune. Covers were laid for twenty-seven, the long table was tastefully decorated with ferns and flowers, palms and plants throughout the hall adding to the charm of the scene. William McKay presided as toastmaster, and was never at a loss in providing merriment for the assembled guests, drawing from one of those present the best and wisest in him. At the close of the feast, C. C. Kennedy, by request, led in the singing of Auld Lang Syne. Music was furnished by a quintette club, which interspersed Hawaiian melodies throughout the evening's entertainment. Those present were: August Humburg, William McKay, C. C. Kennedy, John T. Molr, E. N. Holmes, L. Turner, J. Watt, A. Garvie, Judge C. F. Parsons, C. Castendyk, R. T. Guay, R. A. Lucas, John Fitzgerald, Dr. A. Irwin, Dr. C. L. Stow, C. E. Wright, C. A. Stoble, A. James, A. Lindsay, H. Vicars, A. W. Richardson, Dr. H. B. Elliott, W. H. C. Campbell, Peter Leo, W. George Kaihenui, J. E. Metcalfe and Admiral George C. Beckley.

Mr. Humburg was serenaded by the County band on Friday morning at the Kinau wharf, when he departed for Honolulu to take up the duties of his new office in H. Hackfeld & Co. Ltd. He takes the position vacated by J. F. Humburg, who has been selected as eastern buyer of the house. C. Castendyk, assistant manager of the local store, will be promoted to the head of the establishment, and have for assistants A. W. Richardson and Frank Hime, lately of Kailua.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Castendyk at their beautiful remodeled home, "Elahoe," at Riverside Park, entertained a score of friends in honor of A. Humburg, whose departure on Friday for Honolulu has been the occasion of many social affairs during the past ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chalmers, who have been traveling in Scotland, returned last week and brought with them their daughter Jean, who has been at school in Aberdeenshire for the past four years. She is reported to be a very pretty Scotch lassie.

The engagement of Miss Eliza Low to Mr. John Maguire has been announced at Kona.

The appointment of Mr. Winfred Howard Babbitt as Superintendent of Public Instruction has given general satisfaction.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cooper are occupying their town bungalow on Alakea street, adjoining the doctor's office.

Mr. Harry Lewis is at the Alexander Young Hotel for the season.

The celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Nott occurred on Wednesday at their residence on Lunaliio street. Flags adorned the grounds and the government band played in the afternoon, a special comment from Governor Carter. The rooms where the reception was held were sweet with the malle, Chrysanthemums and flags further decorated the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Nott were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Rasmann and Mrs. Fred Harrison, their daughters. Many valuable gifts were bestowed upon the esteemed couple. The dates, "1855-1905," in gold, were over the entrance door.

On Friday evening, November 17th, Captain Josselyn will entertain the young ladies of the Kunaui Rowing Club by a sea yarn at the Charles R. Bishop Hall.

The Junior dancing class will meet with Miss Alice Hedemann on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Davies' dinner on Thursday evening was a very charming affair. The table was in pink and pale green and covers were laid for twelve.

Miss Ella Wight has been quite ill and was, so I am told, operated upon for appendicitis.

Mr. Tarn McGrew expects to depart for Paris next week. He will continue his studies in architecture.

Mrs. Harry Macfarlane entertained at luncheon last Thursday in honor of Mrs. H. W. Lyon. Yellow was the predominant shade of the table decorations, a pretty effect being produced by scattering dainty maidenhair ferns over a cloth of pale yellow silk. Mrs. Macfarlane's guests included: Mrs. H. W. Lyon, Mrs. R. de B. Lazard, Miss Higford, Mrs. Jas. B. Castle, Miss Nellie White, Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Mrs. Geo. F. Davies, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Miss Cordelia Walker, Mrs. Hermann Focke, Mrs. Wm. Lutz and Mrs. S. G. Wilder.

A unique and delightful Mother Goose dinner was given on Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Focke. Each guest represented some character from "Mother Goose" and the variety and perfection of the costumes created much laughter and fun. The place-cards were hand-painted and represented geese in every form and shape. Each guest had a little horn for a favor before him; and dolls, cats, dogs and toys of all descriptions were scattered over the table. The different characters were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, "Mistress Mary, so contrary"; "The Huntsman"; Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, "Little Miss Pink Who Sat in the Ink"; and "Old King Cole"; Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Wilder, "Queen of Hearts"; and "There Was an Old Woman as I've Heard Tell"; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, "Bo Peep" and

JURY FEED BILL.

Sacramento, October 19.—C. W. Haub of the Delmonico restaurant has rendered a bill for $1303.75 for feeding the jury in the Emmons trial for thirty days, and the magnitude of the sum has aroused much comment. The bill is now in the hands of the District Attorney, but Haub maintains that it is not excessive and that he will defend it. He had to remove two partitions to accommodate the jury, and he lost other customers through overcrowding.

The jurors had whatever they ordered, and they ordered a good deal. He charged an all round rate of $1 a meal, and a great many of the meals were worth $1.25 and $1.50 at the ordinary traffic trade. For excursions about $2 a meal was charged, as food had to be packed and extra service supplied. Haub says the jurors were good livered and hearty eaters, but he would not say they were gluttons or lived better than they did at home. He means to stand by his bill.

TAKES HIS LIFE AFTER WIFE DIES

Brooding over the death of his wife, who died four days ago, and the thoughts of the thousands of other Japanese who were celebrating the Emperor's birthday while he was alone in the world, being the only member of his family in this country, Kojima, a Japanese laborer, hung himself to a tree some time last night in the yard of the old Japanese residence near the junction of Nuanuan street and Pauoa road.

The dwelling is now occupied as a Japanese boarding house. The body was discovered shortly after day break this morning by the cook. The body was stiff and cold and life had evidently been extinct four or five hours.

The boarding house is conducted by Okumura. It is on the Ewa side of the road. When Kojima's wife died, Okumura paid the funeral expenses, figuring that the man would be repaid when the man returned to work.

MATSON'S LINER IS PLANNED FOR THE LOCAL RUN It is reported that while East Captain William Matson purchased a big steamer, which is now on the Atlantic side of the United States. The steamer is said to be 400 feet in length, or eighteen feet longer than the Enterprise. She carries 290 tons more freight, and has a speed of 12 knots per hour, while the Enterprise is a 9 knot vessel. The new steamer, which saw service in Cuban waters under the Spanish flag, was sold at a Marshall's sale for $45,650 to Capt. Matson, who estimates that he will have to expend three times her purchase price in fitting her as an oil burner and for active service. Her machinery is in excellent condition, and the necessary improvements will be completed and the vessel ready for service by January 1, 1906. It is the intention to place the new vessel on the San Francisco-Honolulu run, returning to the Coast by way of Hilo. The S. S. Enterprise will be kept on her usual route between San Francisco and Honolulu, touching at Hilo each way. This will give the islands a regular two weeks' service between here and the Coast, and be able to furnish quick and regular transportation for the local fruit trade. Capt. Matson also contracted for the purchase of another steamer for the Pacific Coast Oil and Transportation Co. in which he is heavily interested. He is now general traffic manager for the Pacific Coast for the Standard Oil Co., into which the former company has been merged. Office and pocket diaries for 1906 just received at Wall, Nichols Co. DESTINY

(From the Omaha World-Herald)

LIKE AS THE MISTS in purple distance move,
So destiny slowly waits its end;
Each individual atom for some human life
Is momentarily born in pleasure or in pain.

Whether to transfuse some rapture-given youth,
Or plunge sweet beauty deep in sorrow's awful woe,
Or give some high, bright mountain peak
To Archer Genius with his bow.

None know; oh, blessed be the thought
That in our daily, weary toil of life,—
In work or fear, in hate or love,
In battle, pain, in peace or strife,—
It is enough to know our way,—
The broad, clear horizon of each day.

NEW YORK ELECTION GOING'S NATURALIZATION

New York, Oct. 26.—Changes in the municipal ticket had a highly important effect on the election betting in Wall street today. McClellan's odds dropped from 4 to 1 to 3 to 1, with every indication as the close that the odds would shorten tomorrow. In fact, there was a dearth of McClellan money at the close at the odds of 3 to 1.

Equally important, but more drastic, was the change in the odds laid on Jerome. The resignation of Flammer caused a slump in the odds offered against Jerome. On Wednesday Jerome was a 2 to 1 shot, with $30,000 pressing against him at those figures and no takers. This morning, however, the betting opened at 10 to 1 against Jerome, closed up to 10 to 3 and in the afternoon 10 to 9 was offered in small amounts. At the close, however, all the anti-Jerome money was absorbed and he became an even chance.

The feature of the McClellan betting was the absorption, in apparently unlimited quantities, of McClellan money by Green Pickens, a curb broker of A. A. Bousman & Co. He had $40,000, he said, to lay on the field against McClellan.

The biggest bet of the day was made at 6 o'clock, when Pickens bet $10,000 to $30,000 on the field against McClellan with Wolf Brothers.

Hearst's chances apparently rested and Ivins', according to betting, improved. Even money was wagered that Hearst would not poll 150,000 and even were also laid that Hearst would poll 125,000.

John Farson, the Chicago banker, is to build a garden adjoining his beautiful Oak Park residence that will rival even the famous Grove of Daphne of the days of the Caesars. There will be a hanging garden, a sunken garden, a Roman out-door bath and a rivulet that will wind in and out among the flowers and the statues of the garden.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Philip Hastings Going, master of the America Maru, has fallen into the net spread by United States Secret Service Agent John H. Helms and at the request of that official has surrendered his naturalization papers and his license as master of American vessels. In his application for the seagoing license he swore that he was born in Malta. He filed his declaration of intention in the Superior Court of San Francisco in 1899 and in February, 1900, became naturalized as a minor. When he applied to be naturalized, he swore that he was born in Ireland. He never resided in the United States for any great length of time, but served continuously in the Japanese merchant marine for eight years. In giving his reason to the Federal authorities for applying for naturalization, he said that he did so because he wanted to take over some property from his brother in Tehama County. The loss of Going's license will not prevent him from continuing to serve as master of the America Maru, she being a Japanese vessel.

Miss Oldham awoke in the middle of the night and found a burglar ransacking her trunk. She did not scream but, looking him square in the eye, she pointed to the door and said: "Leave me at once, sir!"

"Oh, that's all right, madam," said the burglar, as he backed toward the door. "I had no intention of taking you."—Chicago Daily News.

Lin Tells Why American Goods Are Boycotted By The Chinese

The following is a translation of an article, commenting on the Chinese Exclusion Treaty, and the Boycott of American goods, which was specially written for "The Bund," of Shanghai, in Chinese, by Mr. S. C. Lin, private secretary to Lord Li, and treasurer of the World's Chinese Students Federation. Mr. Lin is well known in Honolulu, he having been connected with the Customs Service.

to Lord Li, and treasurer of the World's Chinese Students Federation, and published in last Sunday's issue:

The public indignation of the whole Chinese nation in opposing the Chinese Exclusion Treaty is not to find a way for enforcing entry into America for the Chinese workmen. China is composed of 21 provinces. Besides the natives of the six or seven districts of Kwangchow Prefecture, in Kwang-tung Province, there is not a single person from any district in any other Province, who has entered the United States. Should there be any, they are only those students, several in number, who were sent in recent years by the Viceroy and Governors of the Provinces. This shows that it is not all the people of China, who wish to go to America. Formerly when railroads were being built, and gold mines opened in the U. S., workmen from Kwang-tung Province were specially asked to go there. Consequently there are Chinese there now. But if the Americans, in former years, had not required Chinese laborers, like the English, Russians, Germans and French, there would be very few Chinese residing in the U. S. today.

Slow to Emigrate.

Before Chinese laborers were required in South Africa, the Chinese paid very little attention to that place, and even after a proposed agreement was drawn up for engaging Chinese workmen to go to Africa, the Chinese Government gave its consent after considerable delay. Then the laborers were not anxious to go, a fact which again demonstrated that we Chinese are not all willing to emigrate. Moreover, we are at present, cultivating waste land in China, opening mines, and building railways, so that workmen are required everywhere, and they have liberty to go as they like. Why then should they leave home, to work in a far distant land, and to be under the control of others. The Chinese who are now living in America are well aware that their services are needed in China, but the reason why they cannot return to their native land, is because half of them are too poor, and half of them have important business which they cannot bear to leave. But the U. S. in making the Chinese Exclusion Treaty, ill-treat the Chinese, with the hope that not a single one will enter the country.

Dialike Injustice.

The first treaty was to be in force for three years, and then it was to be renewed for another ten and now they wish to prohibit the Chinese from entering the U. S. forever. The Chinese hate ill-treatment and injustice, so they called an indignation meeting. Because the Americans, using the Chinese Exclusion Treaty which is really meant to exclude laborers, to ill-treat well known merchants, students, and officials traveling for pleasure, etc., are not even treating them as human beings, I would like to ask why they are acting in this shameful and outrageous manner towards the Chinese.

Chinese or Anarchists.

They say that the Chinese laborers going to America disturb the peace of the country. Why, then, should the American Government only prohibit the Chinese from entering the "land of the free," when they do not prohibit the anarchists? As a consequence, there are many anarchical criminals in America, and they went so far as to murder the able and good President McKinley. Will it benefit the U. S. to keep out the anarchists, or to keep out the Chinese? In California, the Chinese have to reside in a place specially set aside for them, which shows that they are treated as uncivilized, and as if they are not entitled to the protection of the government, and the law. There are good and bad amongst them, and when criminals are numerous, they fear nothing. Then they will disturb the peace, and Americans will have an opportunity to cry out against them. But are there criminals only among Chinese? Have you not heard of Americans getting drunk, and committing crimes in the interior of China?

Last year, while an American man-of-war was anchored at Canton, one of the sailors threw the comrade of a British merchantman, named Ho Choy Yuen, into the Sha-meen Canal and he was drowned. I would ask the Americans, What do they say about disturbing the peace of our country? They also say that the Chinese workmen, who go to the U. S. are uneducated, inexperienced, and uncivilized. It is on account of the Chinese children being prevented from attending the public schools in California, that they are brought up uneducated, inexperienced, and uncivilized. At present, China is gradually establishing schools of Western learning, so that her young men are being educated, experienced and civilized. Some of them went to the U. S. to complete their studies, but the Americans, applying the Exclusion Treaty against Chinese laborers as an excuse, ill-treated the students. You can imagine how the children of the Chinese residents in that country are treated. Having received such barbarous treatment from the Americans, for a long time, they have naturally become uneducated, inexperienced and uncivilized.

Chinese or Japanese.

Why should they not say that it is a good excuse to prohibit the Chinese from entering the U. S. forever? They also say that the Chinese work for small wages, and rob the American workmen of their livelihood. Why do they not prohibit the Japanese, who work for as equally low a wage as do the Chinese? Again they say that there are about 100,000 Chinese in the U. S., who send their wages back to China. Now if each remit $50, the total amount will be $5,000,000. But why do they not consider the quantity of kerosene, which the Standard Oil Company alone sells in China? Are their profits not worth more than $5,000,000 yearly? According to this calculation, what about the other American companies? The American merchants are increasing their business year by year, so they are friendly to China, and when the Foreign Nations intended to partition China, the U. S. Government protected our country.

Friendly American Act.

As regards the last indemnity to be paid by China, only America returned the greater part of the amount so that the money can be used for establishing schools in China to benefit our people. They are the only ill-treating the Chinese by the Exclusion Treaty. However, the U. S. officials are unjust in this matter, simply to please the labor unions, in order to obtain their votes and keep their positions. Consequently there are many American merchants who disagree with their officials. We Chinese are aware of the reasons why the U. S. want the Exclusion Treaty renewed, and we can excuse them, but the Chinese have considered the matter again and again, and if they don't carry out the boycott of American goods, there is no other way to oppose the Chinese Exclusion Treaty.

Only Alternative.

But this is the only alternative, unpleasant as it is. We do implore our American friends to sympathize with the stern necessity of our cause. May they adopt a more humane attitude towards our countrymen. May they bear in mind the fact that boycotting with such universal and united national spirit is no child's play. This memorable event will shine forth with celestial glory in the annals of the Chinese nation. An examination of the native press in Shanghai anent the Chinese Treaty will convince anyone of the truth of the statement.

We are apprehensive that as a result of this boycott the Americans will suffer a great commercial loss, which will be taken advantage of by other nations. This will be the fate of the long struggle for commercial supremacy. When the storm is over, they might set out again to sow the seed for another harvest, but I am afraid it will be difficult, and unsuccessful when the elements are not in its favor. Officials and merchants of America are not unaware of the boycott. They are, however, too indifferent for action.

They are looking with folded arms and contemptuous smiles to see if the Chinese do possess any unity of action which is the mainspring of victory. It is to be lamented that they are blind to the fact that although American goods can not be entirely boycotted, yet their market in China will be greatly injured. In the meantime other people will avail themselves of this golden opportunity and will advance with leaps and bounds, whereas the commerce of the United States will be on the decline. Will the American Government protect their commerce or will it befriend labor? In this dilemma one course seems available, I mean it will make use of its diplomacy and power to induce the Chinese Government to stop the boycotting. Now let us look deep into the matter and reason out if this policy will prove effective. By no means. For the buying of goods on the part of the people of any country is no business of the government. It is the people's personal right, beyond the jurisdiction of the government. What is more, the Chinese are now awakening from their long slumber. They will now defend their freedom and rights, enlisting themselves with such warm enthusiasm into this noble cause, their goal will not be a modification but the repeal of the law. For is not, a Chinese a son of God, a brother of mankind, the very image of the Almighty? God created all men equal, irrespective of color. He placed them on His earth, the home for all His children, devoid of territorial boundaries. He also created a Heaven. He who obeys the dictates of righteousness be of whatever race, is entitled to admittance. On the other hand, he who disregards the dictates of righteousness is cast into "eternal fire." What a pity the Chinese laborer of today was born neither in Europe nor in America, but bound to be born in Asia! If he was to be born in Asia, what a pity he was not born in Japan, but must be born in China! That is not all. He was not able to gain his living in China, but had to leave his native land to make his fortune in the United States of America.

Hence the Chinese laborer looks up to the United States as Heaven and down upon China as the lower regions. And the Americans themselves regard America as Paradise; they would not suffer to help the Chinese of the lower regions a step higher in this world. Even if this America of the world shuts her gates against the Chinese, how much more the Chinese is excluded from the Paradise of Heaven! Let the American church send no more missionaries into China to spread the gospel and truth of God. How do I account for that? Because the Chinese will turn a deaf ear to them. They have arrived at the conclusion that even this visible America has refused them admittance, they could not hope to gain access to the Invisible Heaven, in spite of the earnest endeavors of some missionaries who would be only too glad to see the Chinese gain the eternal joys, but could they ever persuade them to believe that heaven is accessible? Alas!

Says Minnesota Is Faster Than Siberia

Seattle, Oct. 23.—United States Senator Piles has been asked to demand an investigation by the Senate of alleged discrimination on the part of the Lord Carew, the English nobleman, is a farmer of renown and owns a herd of Jerseys of rare strain and milk-giving qualities. It is Lady Carew's delight to go, milkmaid fashion, in short skirt and low-cut bodice, and fill a bright tin pail with the creamy yield. She is an expert milker. Postoffice Department in handling trans-Pacific mails. The alleged discrimination is against the Great Northern Steamship Company's fleet, which is now threatened with a second loss of heavy mail shipments. The allegation is made that the steamship Siberia, which sails a day earlier than the Minnesota, does not reach Yokohama until three days later than the Minnesota. The postal department has ordered the mails sent on the Siberia.

Roosevelt Aims At Secret Bureaucracy

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Roosevelt took extreme measures in his policy of no publicity for the doings of his administration today by sending to each member of the Cabinet, just before he left for his Southern trip, a letter forbidding them, in set terms, to make public any matter discussed at Cabinet meetings or to discuss with any special correspondents any policies, either of the administration or of their own departments.

The President forbids the Cabinet members to say anything about any matter in contemplation until that matter becomes the fixed policy of the Government.

The President's letter to the Cabinet members is severe in its tone. It does not say that it would be better for Cabinet ministers not to talk about policies, but says Cabinet members "must not."

This latest development in the President's policy of secrecy is fostered and encouraged by Secretary Root. In fact, Mr. Root is responsible for the letter sent out today. Mr. Root has never liked newspapers or newspaper correspondents. He has had too many embarrassing questions asked of him about matters with which he has been connected. The President has taken Mr. Root's advice and has assumed the task of keeping all information from the public, except such little bulletins as may be put out by Secretary Loeb.

It is assumed that any Cabinet member who talks to a newspaper correspondent will be disciplined and it is also likely that any correspondent who prints anything the President does not like will be disciplined also. Still the fact that Cabinet members told of the circular letter makes it seem that, perhaps, there may be some news obtained from Cabinet members after all.

HOW PLANTING TURNIP SEEDS EVADED STATE GAME LAW

Augusta, Me., Oct. 7.—The Fish and Game Commissioners and Wardens, who have charge of the enforcement of the sporting laws in Maine, are just waking up to the fact that the last Legislature left a loophole whereby hunters, campers and tourists can dine on venison the summer through without fear of arrest. That the defect was immediately discovered by the canny Yankee and that he has availed himself of it there is no longer doubt.

Commissioner L. T. Carleton's digest of the fish and game laws, sent broadcast early in the spring, contains the following excerpt from Section 1, Chapter 132:

"If a deer is found doing actual, substantial damage to any growing cultivated crops the owner of the crops may kill the same and may consume the same in his own family, but not otherwise, but he shall not pursue the same beyond the limits of his cultivated land in which the damage is being done."

Attention was called to the fact that a person killing a deer under these circumstances must notify the chairman of the committee in writing or be liable to fine.

When the farmers, keepers of sporting camps and lumbermen read the above interesting section in Mr. Carleton's booklet they snickered and there was a sudden and unaccountable demand for turnip seed. When the seed arrived the farmers, sporting camp keepers and lumbermen set about clearing and filling small spots in the forest where deer were thick, planted the seed, and awaited developments.

They didn't have to wait a great while. As soon as the tender turnip shoots appeared above the ground the deer came and dined on the shoots. The hungry farmer, gun in hand, arrived to protect his cultivated crops and as he is a good shot he was able to dine on deer without "pursuing the same beyond the limits of his cultivated land." Not only did the farmers dine on venison, but the city boarder came in for a treat as well, and happiness reigned in the rural districts.

The law particularly stipulates that whoever shoots a deer damaging his crops shall not be entitled to redress from the State, but under the circumstances no one wanted financial help. Any old law that would give the rural inhabitants a chance to procure venison out of season was good enough for them.

Chicago, October 24.—Newspapers have been ranked as a text-book at the Northwestern University, and hereafter students in the American history class of Professor J. A. James must come to the recitation rooms prepared to answer questions on the news of the day.

In the course of his lectures Professor James referred to an article which appeared in a morning paper yesterday. Upon questioning one of the members of the class he found that the student was not prepared to discuss current news, and an examination of the class showed that but two of the members had read a morning paper.

"This will never do," said the professor. "Hereafter I shall expect you to have an accurate knowledge of current events as chronicled each day in the newspapers, and I shall consider it fully as important as the daily lessons assigned from the text-books."

MCCURDY'S RECORD IN MUTUAL LIFE

SUDDEN LOSS OF MEMORY ON CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

RECORD OF MCCURDY'S PROFITS
IN BOND SYNDICATES—SAYS
HE WILL NEVER RESIGN
HIS OFFICE.

New York, Oct. 19.—Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, made the statement today that he had no intention of resigning, that he was elected to serve until June 7 next, and that nothing could or would drive him out.
It was announced from the District Attorney's office that no action would be taken regarding the George J. Plunkitt affair, which was turned over to the legislative committee yesterday by the legislative committee that is investigating the insurance companies.

Closing one of the most sensational and strenuous weeks of the insurance investigation, the committee, just before adjournment today, concluded the examination of Richard A. McCurdy, with the exception of a few details he is to supply next week. McCurdy has been on the stand the greater part of the three days of this week's session, and some of his testimony has been the most startling of any that has been adduced before the committee. His testimony today, however, was very much of a technical nature, though it was of much value to the committee in its work.

Trust Companies Prosper.
When he resumed the stand this morning it was to take up his testimony as to the Mutual Life's connection with trust companies. The information given by McCurdy disclosed that the trust companies with which the Mutual Life was connected became very prosperous soon after they were taken up by the Mutual. Two cases in point were the Morristown Trust Company at Morristown, N. J., where the McCurdy family live, and the United States Mortgage and Trust Company. The former is now controlled by the Mutual Life. McCurdy testified that, besides being a director of this trust company, he was a large stockholder and would take more stock if he could get it.

The Mutual Life keeps a balance of not less than $200,000 with this company, on which it draws from 2 to 3 per cent. The latter rate has been paid only since September. McCurdy did not know the holdings of the other members of his family in this company.

In the syndicate operation, McCurdy said, he participated not with the idea of drawing bonds, but to obtain his share of the commission allowed by bankers.

McCurdy was asked what life insurance he carried, and he was unable to say at once, but James M. Beck, his counsel, presented a statement showing when the policies were taken out, for what amounts and the plan. These aggregated $200,000, all in the Mutual. McCurdy testified that he was also insured in the Equitable, the Washington and the Connecticut Mutual.

Before he left the stand McCurdy said he paid $4500 for his apartment in the Grosvenor building, which is owned by the Mutual.

When McCurdy was excused, his son, Robert H. McCurdy, was called to explain some charges for traveling expenses in 1904. He said one of his duties as general manager was to visit the agencies about the country. Three such trips were made, the expenses of which aggregated about $3,000. McCurdy said that while on one trip he was accompanied by his father, mother wife and the latter's maid, but that the expense accounts were for himself individually and did not include those of any other member of his family or party. He had a private car on one of these trips. He could not tell why the expenses on these trips were so large, but said he would give the details later.

McCurdy was followed by W. W. Richards, comptroller of the Mutual, who explained the manner in which the Mutual acquired some properties by foreclosure.

McCurdy's Syndicate Deals.
During the day President McCurdy handed in the following lists of syndicates in which both he and the Mutual Life Insurance Company were interested:

Indigestion Loss of Strength And Appetite.

The testimony of Mr. R. Dennis, Adelaide, South Australia, who was cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is like unto that of many thousands of others. He writes:

"It is with very much pleasure that I testify to the great benefit I received from using your wonderful blood-purifier. I was a sufferer for years from indigestion, loss of strength and appetite, and constipation. My whole system seemed to be thoroughly out of order. A friend finally told me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I followed his advice, though feeling discouraged at the fruitless results of other treatment, and I am thankful to state that a few bottles completely cured me."

McCurdy said that he had never heard, nor did he believe, that any officer of the Mutual Life Insurance Company had any interest in the corporation liquidation company, through which the Mutual disposed of its real estate holdings in Brooklyn.
He said that the purchase of the Bank of California by the Mutual Life Insurance Company was investigated by the finance committee of the Mutual and that he did not believe any of the Mutual trustees were much interested in the bank. He said he did not believe that the shares of the bank were bought by the Mutual at a price higher than that paid by the ordinary stockholders.

GOING IS DIVORCED

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—When Philip Hastings Going, master of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner America Maru, returns to the land of the Rising Sun it will be to settle down with the pretty Japanese woman that bears his name, free from the entanglements of the alliance with the woman of his own blood who, under the law of California, is his only legal spouse. It was announced in Judge Murasky's court yesterday that Captain Going and Mrs. Bertha Jane Going, who recently sued him for divorce, have settled their property rights out of court and that the gallant mariner will make no contest to the action instituted by his wife for absolute separation, but will permit it to go by default.

HARRIMAN PAID $2000

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Baggage customs collections on the steamship Siberia, which arrived from the Orient last Monday, aggregated something more than $4300, which breaks the record for Federal revenue for personal effects on vessels arriving from the Orient. Of this sum E. H. Harriman paid $2000 and Robert Goetz Jr. $74. The belongings of Miss Alice Roosevelt and her suite were forwarded in bond to the Customs Collector at Washington, D. C., so that the amount due for duty on her personal effects is not known at the San Francisco Custom house.

"Soon after I began to take Wine of Cardui I could see that I was beginning to get back my strength."

That is the comment Mrs. Seymour makes.

If you are sick you can take Wine of Cardui and secure health and strength. If other medicines and other treatment have failed, that will make no difference. Few women have taken Wine of Cardui at first. By far the greater number of Wine of Cardui cures are women who could not secure relief elsewhere. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

No. 48 Straight St., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

I am pleased to endorse Wine of Cardui as I found it so beneficial to restore my strength after my baby was born. I could not seem to get well enough to be up and able to do my work, and as I had been in bed for six weeks this was rather serious, but soon after I began to use Wine of Cardui I could see that I was beginning to get back my strength. In another week I was able to sit up most of the day and in a month I was able to be up and do most of my work. I think it is splendid medicine for a woman and can certainly give it highest praise.

GOOD COOKING MAKES HAPPY HOMES

CREAM OF ONION SOUP.

Slice into a quart of skimmed milk a half-dozen onions. Put at the side of the stove and simmer for an hour, or until the onions are boiled to pieces. Rub through a colander, return to the fire and add a cup of scalding milk, into which has been stirred a pinch of baking soda. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour rubbed smooth, with one tablespoonful of butter, and season to taste with salt and pepper.

SWEET POTATO CAKES.

Boil sweet potatoes and, while still warm, mash and rub through a fine colander. Stir in a cup of milk, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and sugar to taste. Last of all whip in the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Form with floured hands into flat cakes and dip each one into the frothed whites, then into fine cracker dust. Lay on a platter and set in the ice chest for two hours before frying in deep, boiling fat.

CHILI SAUCE.

Peel and chop eighteen ripe tomatoes, six peeled onions and three green peppers. Measure one cup of sugar, two and a half cups of vinegar, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and allspice and one-half teaspoonful of cloves. Cook the tomatoes, onions and pepper until the vegetables are tender; add the other ingredients and cook for ten minutes longer.

GRAPE JUICE.

Stem twelve quarts of grapes and put them in the preserving kettle with a quart of water. Boil and strain. Return the juice to the fire, boil up once and seal, scalding hot.

RAISIN CAKE.

Pour boiling water over one and a half cups of raisins and set aside, while you grease the cake tins with sweet grease; sprinkle the grease with an abundance of flour, then shake this out. Drain the water from the raisins, lay them on a clean cloth or in a broad pan and set in the oven for a few minutes to dry. Next, sift three cups of flour and add to it two level teaspoonfuls of soda, then sift again. Take out a half-cup of this flour and mix it well through the dried raisins. Then proceed with the cake. Cream a half-cup of butter with a half-cup of sugar, add a cup of buttermilk, a teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon allspice and cloves, stir in the flour, and beat in two eggs, then the raisins. Last of all add one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in a moderate oven.

TOMATO CATCHUP.

One-half bushel of unpeeled tomatoes, cut up small. Add to them a teaspoonful of celery seed and cook until soft enough to run through a colander, then through a sieve to strain out the seed. Add three tablespoonfuls of spices tied up in a small cheese-cloth bag, a pint of vinegar, salt to taste, a quart of granulated sugar, and one teaspoonful of red pepper. Cook for ten minutes, or until thick.

BRANDY PUDDING SAUCE.

Rub together a cup of sugar and a tablespoonful of butter and add a gill of boiling water. Beat very hard, then add a little more water and turn into a double boiler. Bring to the scalding point, stir in a teaspoonful of corn starch wet with a tablespoonful of cold water and as soon as this thickens pour in a wineglassful of brandy and serve.

NEEDLE WORK NOTES

An empire night robe of rose batiste was most elaborate. The neck of the gown was square hardly cut low at all, and a flat square yoke reaching well over the shoulders was completely covered with French embroidery, on which was superimposed a flowing open design in guipure. Beneath this yoke a close-fitting band of smocking formed the short empire waist, completed by the band of wide beading through which ribbon was run. The skirt was very full and large. Ruffles of guipure were the sleeves of this gown.

Soft pillows of down, with hand-embroidered covers, are necessary for babies whether they are sleeping, riding in a cart or being coddled, and because they are in constant use some are most elaborate. An oblong shape, on which an infant can rest at full length, is more desirable than a square or round one. Many are covered with a light-colored silk, over which there is a dotted white swiss slip, with a lace-trimmed ruffle, filled on around the edges. In the four corners of the slip are clover-shaped medallions, and in the center the baby's monogram in big letters.

A delightful little corset cover is made straight around the top and held by ribbon shoulder straps. It is fashioned in fine French nainsook and made quite full, the softness of the material making becoming fullness possible without bulkiness. Narrow valenciennes insertion is inset vertically all around the cover at intervals of three or four inches and at the top three bands of the lace run horizontally around the cover at intervals equal to those between the vertical lines. The resulting block effect is very pretty, though the design is simple enough to be carried out by even an inexperienced seamstress.

Over a slight shade of pink silk a sheer white linen slip adorned with tiny pink roses on a delicate green vine makes a most attractive baby pillow with a double valance around the side. A simpler way is to make the white slip in panels by using insertion. Through it run narrow baby ribbon to match the color of the pillow and tie the ends in dainty bows. To the edge of the ruffles sew narrow insertion, through which the baby ribbon is to be run and tied in double bowknots at each of the four corners. The pillow need not be covered with silk if that is too expensive, for a pretty shade of asteen will look quite as well under the sheer white slip.

KILL THE MOSQUITO.

Red Bluff, Oct. 13.—The report of Dr. Foster of the State Board of Health that malaria in the Sacramento Valley is a very trivial affair is pleasing to the people of this section. Dr. Foster says the people have it in their power to suppress malaria by simply killing the mosquito. He blames the mosquito and not the climatic conditions for all the malaria that exists.

THE WISE HUSBAND.

Mrs. Swellington: "Do you think you can afford to buy me a new gown?"
Mr. Swellington: "Have you ordered it?"
Mrs. Swellington: "Yes."
Mr. Swellington (with a sigh of resignation): "Then I can afford it!"

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

FISHING

"That," observed the young man, judiciously, "is no way to fish."

The young woman seated on the accommodatingly sloping rock jerked her head and the fishpole simultaneously and deigned no answer. It was a decidedly pretty head and her blue linen suit was distractingly becoming. The basket beside her was still empty of finny prey, so the young man's remark was excusable. He lay under a willow and cigar smoke trailed upward into the drooping branches. "It is one thing to be stubborn," he went on, argumentatively, "but I should think the lack of results would make you admit the error of your ways. I hate to intrude my superior knowledge, but fish really will not fall all over themselves to swallow bait that comes down at them like a ton of bricks. They require more delicate methods."

"Like this?" inquired the girl, sweetly, giving the pole an airy swing that ended in the hook lodging among the fastenings of the willow tree. The young man arose with a patient sigh, climbed the tree and unhooked it.

"Not in the least," he said. "Why are you so cross? Won't you let me show you how?"

"No," said the girl. "I am very well satisfied with the way I am fishing. If I like it why should you object? I do dislike a fussy person."

"Suit yourself," replied the young man, shortly. "I think I'll take a stroll down the bank."

"You can't," cried the girl, in alarm. "You have to stay to bait the hook. Why, I actually believe there's no bait on it!" She dragged the line laboriously from the water.

"I knew there wasn't," he said, placidly. "But because of the way you were fishing the lack of bait made no difference. No self-respecting fish would have taken your hook anyway."

The pretty girl let the pole swing recklessly as she turned around. "I'd like to know," she began, "why I'm such a ridiculously foolish person as you take pleasure in making out you should devote so much time to me. Don't you know it's wicked to waste time? Yet I simply can't get rid of you."

"You know why," the young man said, cheerfully. "I know lots of girls just as good-looking as you are and with a great deal better temper—angel dispositions, in fact—yet you win out over all of them. I can't explain your fascination myself. It's very annoying, and here I have to wait around for you to promise to marry me."

"You might as well take the next train, because I'm not going to," she said in haste. "I'd rather fish." She proceeded to do so. The water eddied wildly around the spot where she had splashed the hook.

"You can't call it fishing," he objected. "You are simply musing the water all up."

"Just because," she flung back over her shoulder, "I don't handle a pole after your precise and foolish fashion. An expert taught me how to throw a line and said I did it well. You are so opinionated that you see no good in anything outside of your rules of life. Now you watch!"

She got up on her feet and reeled in. The slender pole waved back and forth a few times, there was a whirr and the hook shot out. But instead of continuing out over the shadowy river it curved, darted back and struck the amazed young man.

"Look out!"

"Why, where is it?" she asked, bewilderedly, pulling in.

"Stop where you are!" he begged. "The hook is in my hand—caught!"

The girl fluttered over to him. "I'm so sorry," she said. Does it hurt? Can you get it out?"

The young man held his aching hand with the other. "Annette," he said, firmly, "you've fished the better part of the day and I'm the only living thing you've caught. You've landed me and now what are you going to do with me—keep me or throw me back into the water as not worth having?"

The pretty girl twisted the fishline she still held and gazed up into the willow. Then she looked at him. He was frowning, for the barbed hook was painful. He looked very grim. Compassion crept into her heart.

"Let me get the hook out," she begged, coming closer to him. "I—I guess I'll have to keep you."

Hartford (Conn.), October 25.—At a meeting of the State Board of Trade held here today the report of the committee of underwriters on the proposed Federal supervision of insurance was presented. The report says that it is conceded that Federal supervision of insurance can be accomplished in but one way, namely, by a constitutional law declaring insurance to be commerce; and also that, if insurance is not commerce, Congress has no power to regulate it. The report also says the United States Supreme Court has held that insurance is not commerce.

BIG INSURANCE COMPANY SPOKESMAN EXPLAINS AND ASKS FEDERAL CONTROL

"Federated anarchy" was the keynote of James M. Beck's speech to the insurance men in Music Hall today, says the Chicago Post of Oct. 12. The speaker formerly was assistant attorney general of the United States, and is now representing the Mutual Life Company of New York as special counsel in the legislation committee's investigation. He advocates Federal supervision of insurance companies.

Mr. Beck's "federated anarchy" did not apply alone to the insurance companies. The divorce laws, he said, are an instance of what the phrase implied. "A man can be a husband in one State and unmarried in another," he declared. "State supervision of insurance companies under such a system is treacherous. It was against the good of the people as well as against the binding force of the Constitution State supervision is as unwise as it is anti-Federal."

Mr. Beck declared also that the present investigation of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York was partial and inconclusive. The things he said made persons who had been reading newspaper editorials against the insurance companies sorry for these same companies. Mr. Beck placed these associations in the position of a passenger in a stagecoach at the mercy of a road agent. The recent attempts to exclude insurance companies from certain States he denounced as unconstitutional.

Before he closed he recommended three measures for the future consideration of Congress. They are: The enactment of national divorce and marriage laws. Federal supervision of all enterprises conducting an interstate business. The establishment of life in the United States Senate of all ex-Presidents.

The 700 delegates to the convention of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Northwest listened to the speech with suppressed excitement. Defiant in his attitude, the New York attorney repeatedly called forth applause as he laid down the grievances of the insurance companies. His words almost created a panic among the representatives of the small western insurance companies, who intend to organize next week to protect themselves against the movement toward federal supervision.

Mr. Beck's speech was as follows: "There is a supervision of insurance more potent than that of the state or federal laws. It is the supervision of public opinion. Of all institutions the insurance company most depends upon public sentiment for its very existence. We must not mistake, however, the often unjust expressions of the moment for the final judgment of this great court of last resort, nor confuse the excited expressions of individuals with the final voice of the people. Swayed by momentary passion public opinion often is for a time at fault, but, as Emerson once said in substance: 'In the long run it is intuitively sound.'"

"The investigation now in progress will be of great value in developing the facts upon which judgment must be finally predicated. The investigating committee, I am persuaded, has no desire except to develop the facts without fear, favor or affection. Its distinguished counsel is, I am sure, moved by the same spirit and in discharge of his important duty, which is both civic and professional, will extenuate nothing nor set down aught in malice. Criticizes the inquiry."

"It is, however, to be regretted that this important investigation must of necessity be partial and therefore inconclusive. The committee felt impelled through considerations of time to deny to the companies any reasonable opportunity to interrogate their own witnesses and offer additional evidence. The committee will base its final judgment upon such testimony as its own counsel may produce. And its high purposes are therefore neutralized by its self-imposed limitations. This may have been necessary, but to put men of unblemished reputation upon trial at the great bar of public opinion without the fullest opportunity to make defense is hardly consistent with the spirit of our free institutions."

"Time sets all things even, and notwithstanding this obvious drawback and the temporary damage done to the companies, and above all to the policy holders, the pending investigation will result in good. It has interested, as no previous event, to my recollection, the American people in the problems of insurance. As a result these companies will pass through a new constructive period, from which they will emerge better and stronger than ever before. No one pretends that the present insurance system, either in theory or practical administration, is incapable of improvement. It was not perfect, it is not perfect, and never will be perfect, as long as the human mind is progressive. The people, in their sober, second thought, will perceive that many of the conceded evils of the insurance system are due to conditions for which the insurance companies are not responsible. For example, the heavy burden of agents' commissions is due to the indisposition of the average man to recognize the obligation of insurance without importunate solicitation. Thus, too, the matter of syndicate participations is made imperative by the laws of the business world, and to ask insurance officials to disregard these and return to more primitive methods is equivalent to asking transportation officials to put aside the locomotive and the steamship and go back to the wheelbarrow.

"Above all, this investigation will be of incalculable value if it brings the American people to a full realization of the system of federated anarchy under which, so far as insurance is concerned, we are living, and to which the worst evils developed by the investigating committee are primarily attributable. Although our insurance companies, both fire and marine, long since have overleaped the boundaries of states, and although the very nature of their business requires them to seek policy holders in every part of the country, the insurance companies—thus clearly national in their practical operation—are subjected to the arbitrary power of every state in which they transact business. Their situation is precisely that of the Chinese merchant, who is passing through the nineteen provinces of China must pay such tribute as the mandarin of each province may dictate.

"The position of the Chinese merchant is tolerable, because he is simply in transit, and the evil is at worst but temporary in character. But the insurance company, by the very nature of its contracts, must remain in the state to fulfill its continuing obligations, and it cannot freely elect to depart, if dissatisfied with the local conditions imposed upon it, and yet it exists practically by sufferance, and this vast business—greater by far than all the financial operations of the United States government—is compelled to submit in the states other than that of its incorporation to such conditions as the caprice of the law-making power, and at times of executive officials, may suggest. Thus the insurance company tries to serve fifty masters, and with the usual result. Existing only by sufferance, they are an easy object of legislative blackmail. Let those who complain of the large sums expended by insurance companies to defeat oppressive legislation remember that the insurance companies rarely spend a dollar to secure favorable legislation. They ask no appropriation, they claim no right of way. Like the cynic in the tub, all it asks of its royal despot is to get out of its sunshine.

"The sums spent have been expended to save the trust fund of the policy holders from indefensible pillage. Censure, if you will, the hapless passenger in the stage-coach who puts a premium upon robbery by surrendering some part of his valuables rather than be killed, but let our stern moralists visit their great condemnation upon the legislative highwaymen who hold up these great business interests, and above all, upon an indifferent people, who clothe these highwaymen with the power to hold up their victims. Even were this dark feature absent, no business institution could stand the supervision of so many masters, with good results. The insurance system is sick, but too many doctors are crowding at the bedside to give any prospect of a full recovery. "Or shall I say that in view of the Assembly in New York City of many insurance superintendents for the purpose of investigating the New York companies that there are too many coroners prematurely attempting to hold an inquest over a supposed corpse. For this intolerable condition there is but one remedy, and that is federal supervision. It would have come long ago but for the doubt cast by the courts upon the power of the federal government to supervise interstate transactions in insurance as a species of interstate commerce. I will not discuss at length this great constitutional question. Alexander Hamilton, who, it may be presumed, knew something of the meaning of the document, in framing which he played so conspicuous a part, never doubted this power, and recent decisions of the Supreme Court unquestionably indicate a tendency of that great tribunal to modify the narrower doctrine of earlier years as to the scope of interstate commerce.

"Federal Supervision Sure. "This much is sure: that what the American people imperatively need in the matter of government they ultimately get, and either by judicial interpretation or by formal amendment, the central government will one day assume the supervision of this most important and beneficent form of interstate intercourse."

Germany Is Angry Over British Alliance Berlin, Oct. 14.—The disclosures in France of alleged British offers of alliance against Germany are so thoroughly believed here that the powerful Naval League, with its 600,000 members and all the apparatus of agitation, is already moving for a new naval program that shall further increase Germany's defensive resources against Great Britain. Popular distrust of Great Britain has naturally swollen to great proportions and the semi-official denials in London can scarcely overcome the convictions now formed that Germany has had a narrow escape from a war, which, although she would have been victorious on land, would have resulted in her being crushed at sea and damaged along the coast, with the consequent destruction of her overseas commerce. The events of the last four months have silenced the opponents of a naval increase, except the Socialists and Radicals.

While time and money beyond Germany's resources would be necessary to equal Great Britain's present navy, not to speak of her future buildings, yet the feeling is that Germany must, for defensive reasons, build as many more ships as the country finances will bear. The Government some months ago decided to introduce in the Reichstag a measure substituting large for small cruisers in the authorized naval program. Whether the Government will increase the recommendations beyond this or not is not yet known.

COTTON LEAK PROFITS New York, Oct. 13.—The profits of the alleged conspirators in the operations based on the recent leak in the Government cotton crop reports are placed at approximately $200,000, according to an indictment presented in court today on the arraignment before United States Commissioner Ridgway of Frederick A. Peckham and Moses Haas. According to charges made in this indictment, Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., assistant statistician of the Department of Agriculture, received $25,017.

The indictment, which was found by a Grand Jury in Washington on October 3, is against Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., as well as against Haas and Peckham, and charges all collectively with having conspired to defraud by procuring advance information from Holmes concerning the cotton crop report.

It sets forth in full many copies of telegrams and also of checks which passed between the accused, tending to show that a conspiracy existed.

One of the checks, dated December 12, 1904, drawn on the Second National Bank of Hoboken and signed by Lewis C. Vanriper, calls for the payment of $24,250 to M. Haas, of which sum it is alleged Haas paid Holmes $14,250 in cash. Many other minor checks for sums ranging from $100 to $500 are set forth in the indictment, in addition to another check signed by Vanriper and payable to Haas on the same bank for $38,292, dated December 31, 1904. Of this sum it is claimed Holmes got $10,767.

Counsel for the defence today moved for the discharge of the prisoners on the ground that the charges as alleged did not constitute an offense against the Government. The hearing on the motion was adjourned until October 21.

Sir John Madden, the new Chief Justice of Victoria, has hit upon a new way of making things interesting for "old offenders." He adds up all their previous terms in jail and gives them the total as their sentence. The other day he sentenced a criminal to nine years and one month, his aggregate record.
