To become a graduate nurse from the Queen’s Hospital School of Nursing requires four years. One year is spent at the University of Hawaii, three years at Queen’s Hospital. Both institutions are in Honolulu.

Students who wish to enter the Queen’s Hospital School of Nursing for the three-year course in nursing are required to complete successfully certain courses at the University of Hawaii (or in any recognized college or university on the mainland) before admission to the Queen’s Hospital School of Nursing.

The Queen’s Hospital School of Nursing offers a three-year course in nursing in preparation for registration in the Territory of Hawaii as a graduate nurse. The Queen’s Hospital is accredited by the American Medical Association and provides a standard course which is acceptable in any state for local registration.
THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII
PRENURSING COURSE

THE REQUIRED COURSES

1. Bacteriology—one year
2. English—one year
3. Household Science—one year
4. Inorganic Chemistry—one year
5. Physical Education—one year
6. Psychology—one semester
7. Sociology—one semester

This requires at least one year and one summer session of work or 12 months at the University and is called the Prenursing Course.

Students who are too young but meet other requirements will profit by taking two years of work at the University before entering the Nursing School. Both the University and the Nursing School credits may be applied later toward a university degree.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Entrance requirements are the same as for admission to the University in general and include:

- Completion of 12 units from a three-year senior high school or 15 units from a four-year high school, including 3 units of English and one of Algebra (9th year General Mathematics is acceptable).
- An average of at least B, unless the College Aptitude Test score is above average.
- The recommendation of the high school principal.

PROCEDURE FOR ADMISSION TO THE UNIVERSITY

1. Secure application blanks for admission to the University of Hawaii and complete application according to directions.
2. Arrange to take the University tests in college aptitude, English placement, and nursing aptitude, as directed by the University.

TUITION AND FEES AT THE UNIVERSITY

The approximate cost for twelve months at the University, for tuition and fees, is $200.00

- Tuition, each semester (for more than 10 credit hours) $50.00
- Registration fee, each semester 10.00
- Laboratory fee, each semester 17.00

Books, paper, and incidentals are not included in the above.
THE QUEEN'S HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

Entrance to the School of Nursing depends on the quality of work done in the University and upon meeting the requirements set by nursing schools covering physical qualifications and aptitude for nursing.

The student in the School of Nursing lives in the Hospital dormitory during the three years she is in training. Vacations of four weeks are granted at the end of the first and second years, during which time the student may return home. All students are provided with full maintenance, including medical care. Dental care, the fitting of eyeglasses, etc., are arranged for at the student's own expense.

The program of the School has been carefully planned to provide a well-rounded education in all phases of the profession of nursing. This program includes an extensive course of theoretical subjects and practical experience in all the wards and special services in the Hospital. In addition to a wide variety of experience in the Queen's Hospital, all students spend several months in affiliation with the Children's Hospital, the Shriners' Hospital, and the Board of Health.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION

1. Good physical condition and freedom from handicaps of any kind. Average weight and height (at least five feet).

2. Good moral character as ascertained through references.

3. Age between 18 and 35 years, at time of admission to the School of Nursing.

4. Graduation from an accredited high school, which includes completion of at least three years of English and one year of algebra. Sciences, such as chemistry, are desirable. Those entering the University of Hawaii Pre-nursing Course must meet requirements for admission to the University.

5. Completion of the required University work with an average of C or better.

6. Genuine and sincere interest in nursing as a career.
PROCEDURE FOR ADMISSION

Applications will be considered in the light of the above qualifications, and applicants will be notified of acceptance a few weeks in advance of the date of admission.

1. Ask your high school principal to send a complete transcript of your high school grades to the Director of Nurses at the Queen’s Hospital.

2. Obtain the Queen’s Hospital application blanks by writing to the Director of Nurses or by calling in person. Fill them out and return as soon as possible.

3. Send a photograph or a snapshot of yourself and a letter telling why you wish to become a nurse to the Director of Nurses.

4. Arrange for an interview with the Director of Nurses (telephone her secretary for an appointment) and with the Educational Director of the School of Nursing. For those students who live on islands other than Oahu, these interviews may be arranged after starting the university course of study.

It is best to consult the Director of Nurses regarding your qualifications for admission to the School of Nursing before joining the Prenursing class at the University.

TUITION

Total tuition for the three years .................................$50.00
(to be paid on admission to the School)

This sum partially covers the cost of uniforms, books, breakage, etc. This tuition is not refundable.
