NAONE VERDICT RESULT OF COMPROMISE

The Naone verdict of manslaughter in the first degree was, as usual, with such verdicts, the result of a compromise between the jurors. Logically there could be only two possible verdicts in the case, namely, murder in the first degree and acquittal. Either Naone was sane and in that case no other verdict could be conceived, or he was insane, as held by the defense, and thus irresponsible, and not accountable for his actions.

CIVIC FEDERATION CALLS MEETING OF ALL MEMBERS

"A meeting of all members of the Civic Federation for consideration of public matters will be held in Y. M. C. A. auditorium on June 7, Wednesday next, at 4 o'clock p. m. Please be present." This is the text of a postal card notice that has been sent out to members of the Civic Federation, the body that headed the fight against the County law.

Victory For County Law People Triumph In Test Case Supreme Court Upholds Act

ENTHUSIASTIC DEMONSTRATION IN HALLS OF JUSTICE

A quiet crowd gathered in the halls of the Supreme Court in the Judiciary building yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A representative gathering as eager to learn the fate of the County Act as it was quiet.

The decision the Bulletin had the news in print and the whole town was informed of the assured life of the County Act.

Within Jurisdiction. While equity has no jurisdiction to determine political rights but is confined to questions affecting rights of property, it appears to us that the case presented by the plaintiff in his capacity as a taxpayer comes within equitable jurisdiction for protection of property rights against acts of executive officers under unconstitutional statutes.

SKETCH OF LONG CONTEST TO SECURE COUNTY LAW

The fight for local self-government will go down in history as the hardest fought political contest ever waged in these islands. From the beginning of Hawaii's political history as a Territory in 1900, the people demanded local self-government and a plank was inserted in the platform of the Republican party in favor of County government, although the pledge was limited with the qualification "as soon as practicable."

Carter decided to call a special session of the Legislature. Of those called into a general conference by the Governor in his office there were only four men who advised this course upon the Governor, namely: Samuel Parker, A. U. M. Robertson, W. R. Farrington, W. H. Coney and T. McCants Stewart.

END OF WAR WILL BENEFIT HAWAIIAN SUGAR

Peace between Russia and Japan will benefit Hawaii's sugar industry. Manager Geo. H. Robertson of C. Brewer & Co., discussing the sugar situation this morning, stated that, judging from the latest circular of Willett & Gray, an acknowledged authority on sugar matters, sugar prices would not be as strong this season as had been expected.

KAPEA ARRAIGNMENT SET FOR MONDAY

Deputy Attorney General Peters, in whose hands the rest of the criminal case for the term now are, intended to arraign Henry Kapea before Judge De Bolt this morning, but owing to the absence of the clerk this could not be done.

LAND BORDERING KAWAIIHAHO CEMETERY WORTH $16,000 IS INVOLVED—SEEK TO SET DEED ASIDE.

Papers are out for service in what promises to be a highly interesting case in the local courts. Instituting suit in equity, Koolau Maile, formerly Koolau Kaukainahaole, proceeds against J. O. Carter, Allen & Robinson, Paul Muhlendorff, M. P. Robinson and J. O. Carter, and Basheba M. Allen, trustees of the estate of the late Sam'l C. Allen, for the setting aside of a deed made by S. C. Allen & J. O. Carter, as trustee for Allen & Robinson, August 9, 1902, involving something over an acre of valuable city land bordering on Kawaiahaoho cemetery.

THEY HAVE A BIG LOT OF CHAIRS

J. HOPP & CO., the large Young Building furniture establishment, will make a specialty of chairs this week. They have lots of chairs in stock and many coming and will have to make room for those on the way by clearing out a lot of those in stock. They have splendid things in weathered oak and mahogany and a large line of oak rockers and chairs. If you are in need of chairs of any description you should pay J. Hopp & Co. a call.

JACK WRITES GOVERNOR

The Governor by yesterday's mail received a letter from Secretary Jack Atkinson. The letter was sent from Washington where the Secretary had just arrived at the time of writing. Jack had seen the bankers in New York in reference to the refunding proposition. He asked if he should get an opinion in regard to the validity of the bonds before selling them.

ROAD BOARD DRAFTS PAID BY TREASURER

Treasurer Campbell today received an opinion from the Attorney General's Department in regard to the payment of some road board drafts, on which the Treasury had withheld payment for fear that in paying the drafts Act 93, the County Act enabling act, would be violated.

BUTLER RECITAL

There is increasing interest in the Fred Butler Recital on Tuesday next. In the first place, the town thinks it owes Mr. Butler considerable for his ministry of song, but apart from that people want to hear him in secular selections. His is the biggest, richest bass with the most intelligent and sympathetic control Honolulu has listened to for many a day.

The steamer Nihau, arriving from Kauai ports this morning, brought 6550 bags of L. P. sugar. Purser Wilburton reports that the bark Edward May will finish discharging coal at Makaweli today and expects to leave for San Francisco with a full load of sugar near the end of next week.

ALASKAN IN COAST PORT.
Eighty-six days from New York, the big American-Hawaiian steamer Alaskan, Captain Nichols, arrived yesterday with 11,000 tons of cargo to be discharged here. The steamer will then go to Hawaii to load with sugar for New York. Very little rough weather was experienced on the voyage. However, during one strong blow a sea washed over the deck and threw F. Lockwood, one of the boatswains, against the rail, fracturing his left arm.
The chief engineer will return to New York overland, as soon as the chief engineer of the Arizonan arrives to take his place.—San Francisco Chronicle, May 27.

VICTORY FOR COUNTY LAW.

unrestricted suffrage, by the exercise of which the needs and wishes of the citizen are intended to be expressed and carried into effect by laws enacted by the legislature. The grant of legislative power contained in the Organic Act includes "all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States locally applicable," and expressly includes the power to "create counties and town and city municipalities and provide for the government thereof." There is no limitation upon this power except as found in the provisions of the Organic Act and in the Constitution. The desire of the voters to obtain and by officers elected by themselves to exercise all the control over their local affairs which can be obtained within this limitation ought not to be interfered with by the judiciary upon doubtful or uncertain grounds.

Welfare of Hawaii.
It is essential for the welfare of Hawaii, for the security of life and property that the measure devised for establishing this principle, imperfect in many details and to a certain extent tentative as it well may be and yet be a valid measure, shall be free from such radical defects as would defeat its object. With political or financial objections to the Act, if any there be, this court has nothing to do. We have only to decide whether any of its vital features are so inconsistent with the inference that it is not authorized thereby. It is to be observed that the organization of counties with their proper officers for attending to their own affairs necessarily is inconsistent with all those laws of Hawaii relating to such portions of the duties of Territorial officers as properly are included in the duties and functions of county officers. No County Act can be regarded as unauthorized by the Organic Act by reason of such inconsistency.

The disposition of public funds is no moot or abstract question but vitally concerns every taxpayer. We trust that the time will never come in Hawaii when taxpayers shall not care to seek by appropriate proceedings in court to avert unlawful use of public money in connection with an unconstitutional statute.

Justice in the Courts.
But there is something far more important than such exhibitions of public spirit on the part of taxpayers, and that is a feeling of confidence that courts will interpret the laws and declare the law with judicial impartiality unbiased by personal feeling or motive.

ALASKAN IN COAST PORT.
Eighty-six days from New York, the big American-Hawaiian steamer Alaskan, Captain Nichols, arrived yesterday with 11,000 tons of cargo to be discharged here. The steamer will then go to Hawaii to load with sugar for New York. Very little rough weather was experienced on the voyage. However, during one strong blow a sea washed over the deck and threw F. Lockwood, one of the boatswains, against the rail, fracturing his left arm.
The chief engineer will return to New York overland, as soon as the chief engineer of the Arizonan arrives to take his place.—San Francisco Chronicle, May 27.

SOCIAL NOTES

They say that Mr. Augustus Knudsen's lecture at Mrs. Dillingham's on Friday afternoon was most interesting.

Col. George Macfarlane entertained Mr. C. A. Griscom at lunch yesterday at the Hawaiian Hotel and by invitation of Mr. Dillingham a special train took them to Ewa. A drive to the Pail and a visit to the Aquarium made a strenuous day's entertainment.

A gorgeous banquet was given in the grill-room of the Alexander Young Hotel in honor of Mr. K. Sakurai, vice president of the Yokohama Specie Bank, by the leading Japanese merchants of Honolulu. The grill-room and the long table were decorated with Japanese emblems and flags. There were many hearty banquets and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

VICTORY FOR COUNTY LAW.

Nothing can be more deplorable, more abhorrent to true Americanism, than a belief, thus far it is to be hoped felt by few persons, that our courts in interpreting statutes can reach conclusions to satisfy their own wishes, likes or dislikes. It ought to be unnecessary to say that what we may think of the wisdom or advantages of county government under existing conditions in Hawaii has nothing to do with the questions of law at issue. Our opinion concerning the practical working of this or of any other system of county legislation, whether it appears to us that larger opportunity for effectuating popular wishes in the expenditure of public money or in other matters is thus afforded or not, is immaterial and irrelevant to the examination of those questions. With these convictions of judicial duty we have examined and decided the law involved in this case.

Conflicts But Is Good.
We have already observed that the Act would not be unconstitutional because in provisions for government of counties and control of county affairs by elected county officers, it conflicts, as to a considerable extent it must do, with provisions in the Organic Act for Territorial government by appointive Territorial officers, nor even if in some matters it unnecessarily substitutes county officers for Territorial officers. Considerable discretion must be allowed for the exercise of the expressed power to create counties and provide for their government. A narrow, rigid construction of the meaning of that power is not required for the accomplishment of any express or implied purpose of the Organic Act, and therefore is inappropriate.

No Undue Encroachment.

Creating counties and providing for their government does not require and therefore does not imply the abrogation of the functions in respect of Territorial affairs of the Territorial officers such as the attorney general and superintendent of public works. As far as officers other than the attorney general are concerned, we do not consider that the Act unduly encroaches upon their prescribed functions. The Organic Act places with the attorney general the duty of prosecuting violations of Territorial penal laws and claims, together with many other duties imposed upon him by the laws of Hawaii, subject to such "modification" as the legislature may by law enact. The provision that these duties "are subject to modification by the legislature" was not necessarily made solely with reference to the authority "to create counties," etc., but may appropriately relate as well to details making those duties more specific, or enlarging them but not substantially revoking them nor substituting for their performance another officer in place of the attorney general.

The Territory as well as counties is concerned in the enforcement of Territorial penal laws. It is the Territory and not the counties to which accrues fines and costs for violation of Territorial laws and the proceeds of Territorial claims. To place with county attorneys to the exclusion of the attorney general the duty of prosecuting them would not be a "modification" of the attorney general's duties but practically a repeal of that portion of the Organic Act which relates to them. Violation of county ordinances and prosecution of county claims would properly be entrusted to county attorneys only, but that is the extent to which their exclusive authority can go without subverting the Territorial system provided for by Congress.

Nothing Invalidating.
Even if it were true that the Act in respect of the attorney general's functions or in some other respects goes further than is contemplated by the provisions of the Organic Act for county government, there is nothing therein which appears to us to invalidate the Act. The result would simply be that the attorney general would still be authorized to perform all of his functions as prescribed by the Organic Act as far as they concern Territorial matters. This is perhaps the intent of the provision in the County Act which makes the county attorneys the deputies of the attorney general.

Further considering the objections presented to the County Act it is to be observed that a county is the agent or instrumentality of the state or territory and has such powers only as are granted by the statute creating it. Whether counties have the scant powers given them in the New England states or the larger powers given in newer states is something which does not affect the validity of the Act.

May Share in Taxes.
Counties may properly share in Territorial tax money assessed and collected by assessors and collectors of the territory.

We find nothing in the Act which is not expressed in its title in the sense of being properly incident germane or cognate thereto.

The large discretion given by each of the acts in question to county supervisors, as well as to the auditor of the Territory, concerning expenditures of public money and the extent and objects of such expenditures, may or may not be wise or desirable and may or may not give better opportunity for expression of popular wishes in those matters than is afforded by the present Territorial system. Such considerations, however, do not invalidate either of the acts.

The control of roads and bridges transferred to counties is a modification of the powers and duties of the superintendent of public works and essential to the control by counties of their own affairs.

There is nothing in the Organic Act which precludes placing upon circuit judges the function of approving bonds of supervisors or empowering this court to deal with contested elections, County of Kalawao.

The provisions of the County Act making the leper settlement a separate county under the control of the Board of Health conflicts with no provision of the Organic Act.

The section repealing inconsistent laws is sufficient for its purpose, leaving cases of doubt for judicial construction. Even without this section such repeal "is implied when the new law contains provisions contrary to or irreconcilable with those of the former law." Sec. 21, R. L.

All of the matters presented have been ably argued and have received our careful attention, but we do not find that either the County Act, being Act 29, as amended by Act 54, or that Act 93 of the session laws of 1905, upon any of the grounds presented, is unauthorized or prohibited by the Organic Act, or that for any of those grounds or reasons Act 39, as amended or Act 93 is invalid.

In conformity with this opinion the injunction sought by the plaintiff ought to be denied, and it is decreed accordingly.

H. E. Highton for plaintiff.
Deputy Attorney General M. F. Prosser and H. E. Cooper for defendant.

BY AUTHORITY

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION TO COUNTY OFFICES.

Notice is hereby given that, whereas it is required by law that candidates for election to county offices, on the Island of Oahu, shall deposit their nominations with the Secretary of the Territory not less than ten days before the day of a special election, it shall be necessary that such nominations be filed in this office not later than five o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, June 10th, 1905.

In order to be eligible to fill any elective office created by the provisions of Act 20 of the Session Laws of 1905, a candidate shall be a citizen of the United States of America, and of the Territory of Hawaii; he shall have been a duly qualified elector of said Territory and of the county in which he shall be elected for at least one year next prior to his election; in addition thereto all members of the Board of Supervisors shall continue to reside within the District from which they may be elected during the period of their incumbency; and in addition to the foregoing qualifications, any person who shall be elected County Attorney must be a duly licensed attorney admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii and he must further have practiced law in the county, in which he shall be a candidate, for at least one year.

Within the County of Oahu seven members of the Board of Supervisors are to be elected, as follows:

Three from the District of Honolulu;
One from the District of Ewa;
One from the Districts of Waianae and Waiialua;
One from the Districts of Koolauloa and Koolauapoko; and One at large.

Other officers to be elected for the County of Oahu, by the duly qualified electors of said county, are:

A Sheriff who shall be ex-officio Coroner, a County Clerk who shall be ex-officio clerk of the Board of Supervisors, an Auditor, a County Attorney, and a Treasurer.

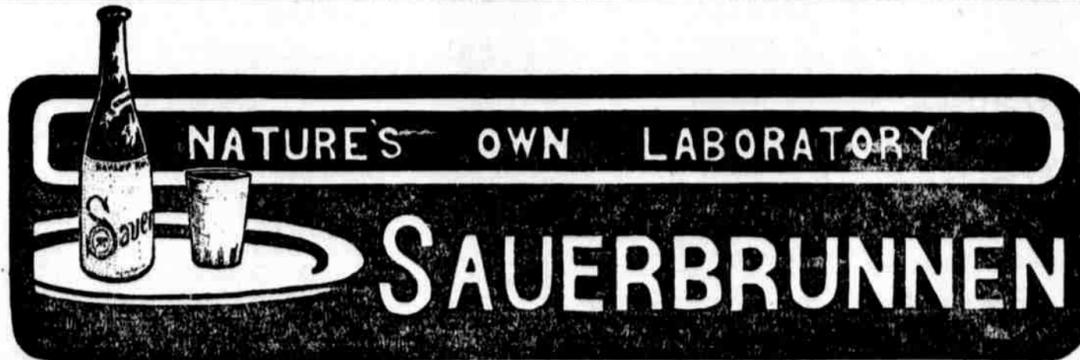

Within each and every one of the districts of Honolulu, Ewa, Waianae, Waiialua, Koolauloa and Koolauapoko, in the County of Oahu, there shall also be elected by the qualified electors thereof one Deputy Sheriff.

Each nomination must be accompanied by a deposit of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars and be signed by not less than twenty-five duly qualified electors of the Representative District in which the election is ordered, and in which the nominee is requested to be a candidate.

Should any candidate desire that his name be printed on the ballot in the Hawaiian as well as in the English language, he must make a special request to that effect at the time of filing his nomination paper.

SATURDAY JUNE 3, 1905.

This is an undrawn cartoon of one life sized Bulletin rooster crowing lustily.

And this is another undrawn cartoon of the "Tiser" pup sneaking out with its tail between its legs, yelping disconsolately.

Those ready to fight long campaigns can win great battles.

What wonder that the Advertiser's mind should run preferably to snakes?

Now the thing to do is to get the forces together and elect the Republican ticket in every county.

It would seem that the morning paper no longer writes editorials to be embodied in Supreme Court decisions.

It begins to look something like this: If you prefer living in prison to living with a wife, why just kill her.

Get ready to cast your Republican ticket. The inauguration of the system is safest in the hands of those who created it.

Enemies of the County law were so completely forced that not one was able to limp into port in condition for another attack.

For the first time in the history of the Territory of Hawaii the Evening Bulletin extends its unalloyed congratulations to the undivided Supreme Court of the Territory.

This may also be the season when Foolish Federationists will attempt to destroy so far as possible the benefits of county government by proposing a program that will elect the Democratic Fusion candidates.

When history is written it will be recorded that Henry E. Cooper headed two very important revolutions in Hawaii. Of the two, the peaceful revolution of 1905, securing for the people the right of American local self-government, was the more important.

Governor Carter fought it, to be sure, but he is big enough to do his utmost that success shall attend Hawaii's first step in local self-government. Only little men hang back and refuse to play because the game doesn't exactly suit. The Governor has not shown himself of this caliber.

Mail should elect H. P. Baldwin as Supervisor by a unanimous vote. No man in the Territory has stood more honestly and consistently with the people. No influence has been more potent in working for the county law. Part-ship should never stand in the way of H. P. Baldwin.

One of the longest and hardest fought contests for government by the people ever known in the Hawaiian Islands came to victorious ending Friday afternoon when the Supreme Court of the Territory decided unanimously in favor of the validity of the County law passed by the Republican Legislature just adjourned.

It was a victory for the people and a victory of the Bulletin which has single-handedly represented their interests in this long struggle to establish some semblance of government of, by and for the people in the Territory of Hawaii.

Outsiders always wonder why it is that the people of Hawaii become so excited over county government, until they realize that up to the present time there has never been such a thing in these islands as a town, county or municipal government or anything allied to it.

Six years of continuous struggle have been required to clinch the first step toward local self-government, but the eventual outcome has never been in doubt. American history, even in Hawaii, does not move backward. Government by the people is a foundation American principle which no combination of men can defeat though they may delay it. American citizens of this Territory have never doubted that the campaign for local self-government could end in any other manner than an overwhelming success.

The story of the means that have been used to defeat the application of American principle to the government of this Territory is a long one.

It is a story of popular determination on one side, and all the arts of political intrigue, threats, cajolery, misrepresentation, with the opposition of men who were born and brought up under monarchical conditions and though they were educated in the States knew nothing of the practical working of town, county and municipal government, on the other. Strong business interests opposed the change because it was revolutionary and business is always conservative. Yet when these same business men appreciated the temper of the people they were quick to change from opposition to support of the law embodying the principle sought.

The people of the various islands have for years sought the right control the affairs of their own districts, to spend their own taxes as they deemed fit, and not to be controlled in every act by the "government" at Honolulu.

The work done by the Republican party, the Republican County Commission, and the Republican Legislature places this long sought-for and hard fought-for privilege in the hands of the people of every island county. The fight for the right has been incontestably won.

Every mile stone of success brings it new duties to a people of action and a people of honesty. The principle has been established. The people who have fought for it so steadfastly must now see to it that it is properly carried out and the greatest advantages secured through the election to office of men capable, honest, fearless and appreciative of what civic pride means.

The Republican party has given the people what they have sought. It has fulfilled its promise to the letter. The people can do no better than place the inauguration of the system of government in the hands of those who have dealt honestly and fairly in the past.

The refusal of High Sheriff Henry to issue a license to the Japanese to produce a play is exciting a great deal of comment and the general opinion is that the High Sheriff exceeded his powers. There was nothing about the intended production, a satire on Consul General Saito, that was immoral, and the only reason that can be advanced is that the refusal was given to choke off freedom of speech on the part of the Japanese, probably at the solicitation of the Consul. This is deemed un-American and without justification or extenuation of law.

The steamer Iwalani, coming into the Inter-island wharf slip at 6 o'clock this morning, smashed into the dock. The little bow of the steamer luckily struck a joint in the timbers, and a few broken boards was the only result. The vessel was undamaged.

VOLCANO STILL

DELIGHTS TOURISTS

The volcano is still awake to its duty to tourists, according to returning passengers on the Kinau this morning. The lava in the crater is still very high, and the fireworks constantly going. The sightseers now have found out a new way to amuse themselves, by getting up parties to visit the big crater at night. One enthusiastic volcanoist even stayed at the crater all night and even then could not get enough of the brilliant display.

The Kinau brought 35 cabin passengers, and a cargo including 215 sheep, 73 bales of hides, 32 empty kegs, 15 pigs, and 186 packages of sundries.

Everything at Lahaina is reported quiet, with the Japanese laborers contentedly at work.

AN ELLEFORD TRIUMPH

"Streets of New York" was produced by the Ellefords last night to a very good house considering the opposition. The play was done in the careful manner that characterizes all of the Ellefords performances. The cast is a long one and all gave good account of themselves. Miss Selwyn's specialty was highly appreciated.

Commencing next Monday will begin the farewell performances of the Ellefords in Honolulu this season.

Monday will see the comedy "In Mizouri"; Tuesday, "Other People's Money"; Wednesday, "Wanted - The Earth"; Thursday, "Through the Breakers"; and on Friday and Saturday a comedy new to Honolulu, "Whose Baby Are You?"

There will be a Pink Tea Matinee next Saturday afternoon.

Commencing Monday the great Japanese moving picture, "The Hero of Liao Yang" will be given between the acts.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

An interesting game of baseball will be played on the Makiki grounds tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock between the Elleford and Hawaiian Electric baseball teams. The following is the line up of the two teams, subject to change:

Hawaiian Electric Co. - Anderson, p; Macfarlane 2b; G. McCormiston, ss; G. Richards, lf; F. Becht, cf; O. Kahiga, 1b; J. Simonson, 3b; J. Rodriguez, rf; D. Voeller, cf.

Ellefords - Eider, 1b; Due, ss; Hermander, cf; Marion, p; Laumant, 3b; Selwyn, 2b; Fent, rf; Dani, lf; Howe, cf; subs, Bass, Sossio, Uyman and Dodge.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."-PROF. L. J. MILLER.

For special directions everyone should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by all chemists and druggists at one dollar per bottle or six bottles for five dollars.

Those wishing direct correspondence with Dr. Hartman and can wait the necessary delay in receiving a reply should address Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, U. S. A.

DENIED HOSPITAL.

DIES IN THE STREET

Denied entrance to a hospital because he had no money to pay for medical attendance, Lau Wa, a Chinese laborer of middle age, died from a hemorrhage last night. His body was found on River street near Kukui street at 8:30 o'clock, while a few hundred feet away the Japanese celebration was in progress.

Lau Wa, the dead man, came to Honolulu from Ewa only two or three weeks ago. He was then suffering from consumption, but when he applied for treatment at the Chinese hospital, he was turned away because he had no money. He was evidently attacked by the hemorrhage as he was crossing River street last night. His body was found about 8:30 o'clock by A. L. Smith and High Sheriff Henry was notified. Although there are no suspicious circumstances connected with the death, a coroner's jury will be called for next Monday evening, merely as a matter of record.

Brown For Contempt

S. Roth, Hawaiian Soda Works and Hotel Stables, creditors of the estate of T. G. Camarinos, deceased, have moved that C. H. Brown, the administrator of the estate, be summoned to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt in disobeying the order to pay into the court $129.65, the property of the estate, as ordered by the court on July 18, 1904. The motion was accompanied by an affidavit by W. R. Sims, the clerk of the court, showing that although Brown was present when the order was made it has not yet been obeyed and the money is still unpaid. The order to cite Brown was made by Judge Lindsay, but service has now been returned unsatisfied, the police stating that Brown is not on Oahu.

There's many a fat horse to the quarter, But few who can stay a mile. How true does this philosophy apply to Shoes! There's many a shoe which not only looks well but wears well, for a while; but it is only a short time when weak points develop. Below a certain price, a shoe must be slighted, must be filled, and the lower the price, the more weak points must appear. How unlike the "HANAN" SHOE, where every ingenuity known to shoeology, is assembled in concrete. Shoes are like people: some are pleasant for a short time; others improve upon acquaintance. Social Side of Life

A very pleasant outing was enjoyed by all the guests of Doctor and Mrs. F. H. Humphris at their picnic given last Sunday at the Boyd bungalow in the Manoa Valley. The situation of the house is unusual being literally surrounded by mountains. The pool, encircled by ferns, palms and tropical verdure was a delightful bathing place and last but not least, the delicate lunch was most thankfully appreciated. The fish chowder, a masterpiece of Prince David, and Doctor Humphris' famous curry disappeared like magic. A jolly good time was spent in wandering about the extensive grounds, and, if a few devoted couples got lost in the winding paths, who cared not the lofty men. I am sure. About 5 o'clock the guests began to think of home and a procession of autos, brakes, buggies and riders well gayly down the Manoa Valley road after one of the pleasantest picnics of the season. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. C. Deering, Mrs. J. F. Seibe, Mr. and Mrs. Tom May, Mr. and Mrs. Baird, the Misses May, Miss Leontine Hartnagle, Miss Helena Robson, Miss Marion Scott, Miss Soper, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Miss Jessie Kaufman, Miss Alice Campbell, Miss Irene Dickson, Miss Kathleen Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Scott, Prince David Kawananakoa, Mr. F. H. Humphris, Sr., Miss Ella Wight, Miss Rosalie Cunha, Mr. McKinnon, Mr. David Anderson, Mr. Colburn, Dr. Yost, Mr. Morris of the Bennington, Mr. Jamieson, Mr. Harold Dillingham, Dr. Knudsen, Captain Henderson, Mr. Watson, Mr. Monsarrat, Doctor Sheldon, Mr. C. Rowell and Mr. Finlayson of the cable ship Restorer, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mr. George Potter, Mr. Walter Macfarlane, Mr. Robert Shingle, Doctor Murray, Mr. Richard Wright, Mr. Waldron and Mr. Mason.

Among those who departed on the China was Mrs. J. F. Seibe, who has been a guest at the 3-man Hotel for the past three weeks. Mrs. Seibe looked very smart in a red tulle, tan linen traveling frock and red shoes. She was covered with leis and carried a bouquet of violets and forget-me-nots. Her visit has been a round of gayeties, and, as she said, so fittingly - "What, send a person to Honolulu for the rest of? Well, I rather think not." And yet that was the original intention of the fair visitor from the Coast. She expects to return next year.

Mr. Robert Shingle, "Sonny" Cunha's quintette, Albert Lyman, Dr. Grossman, and Miss Edith Crossett were among those who sailed on the China. Mr. Ellis sang most beautifully at the steamer and was greatly applauded. Among the through passengers were August Belmont, Jr., a friend of Mr. Harold Dillingham, and a party of young men from the Orient.

The patronesses for the Arts and Crafts exhibition which will be held at the Hawaiian Hotel the middle of June are Mrs. George Carter, Princess Kawananakoa, Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, Mrs. James Castle, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. Fred Lowrey, Mrs. Charles Cooke, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Fred Macfarlane, Mrs. F. M. Hatch, Mrs. F. M. Bishop, Mrs. Carl Du Roi, Mrs. F. M. Swany, Mrs. J. S. McGrew, Mrs. Harry von Holt and Miss Annie Parke.

Mrs. Taft, wife of the Secretary of War, it is said, is going to London. She is to sail early in June, and after installing her three children and their governess, who will accompany her, in a cottage near Windsor, she will proceed to London to take some part in the social season. There is an impression both in Great Britain and on the Continent that Mr. Taft will succeed Mr. Hay as Secretary of State of the United States, and consequently there would be no lack of attention for Mrs. Taft. Washington politicians, however, say that there is little likelihood that her husband would accept a Cabinet position, even the highest. His ambitions, it is said, turn toward the Chief Justiceship.

According to the Washington Mirror, Miss Alice Roosevelt enjoys nothing at a ball so much as where the piece de resistance, so to speak, is a good old cake-walk. She is said to be willing to lead the swaying, exaggerated procession that mimics the steps and gestures of old-time plantation darkeys, and the Mirror relates the experience of a St. Louis lady of high degree who entertained in honor of the President's daughter during her visit to the Exposition last year. If there is any place where the conventions are carefully observed, it is in aristocratic old St. Louis, and this particular hostess was of the inner circle of the elite. Her ball was a just what she thought should be arranged for the distinguished visitor, and it was an affair as a china aster. Miss Alice, it is said, was bored by the tameness of the affair, and it was not long before one of the guests approached the hostess with a whispered hint that a cake-walk would please the girl from the White House. The grande dame, it is alleged, put her foot down decisively and flatly, and refused to follow the suggestion. Miss Roosevelt was not a late guest. She pleaded fatigue, and, with her companions, went home. I give the story for what it is worth. It is well known, however, that Miss Roosevelt is not oppressed by a sense of her terrible importance as the daughter of a Pres-

Their father, who did good service to the country in the European Commission for the Organization of Eastern Roumelia, died about four years ago. HOME MADE CHUTNEY BEST TO BE HAD

Why should not our Hawaiian chutney drive all foreign chutneys out of the mainland markets? This is a problem Mrs. Annie Kearns has set herself to solve.

Chutney is no new thing which we have to teach people to appreciate. Chutney, especially mango chutney, is a world-wide condiment and India is the home of the finest makes.

The India chutney is packed in barrels, sent to England, is there bottled and labeled and sent out to the markets of the world. And what is it? Simply mango chutney. And here we are surrounded by beautiful mango trees laden with fine mangoes, yet we must needs buy a foreign chutney.

Now this is not American. We should make our own good chutney and it only requires to be made right for our American people buy it all right.

If it is made by a first class Indian formula of the very best ingredients, why it must be better than anything that has been casked and bottled and sent several long sea journeys. And our mango chutney has to grow into a very big thing. Our experience teaches us that all things have small beginnings. But if the thing is all right it will grow like a papaya tree.

Our chutney mango is starting as a small thing right here in Honolulu. Here a lady of India, brim full with a fine Indian recipe is making really splendid chutney and is rapidly making a wide connection among the appreciative stores and hotels and households of Honolulu. Her orders are keeping her quite busy but she has larger ambitions than this and the problem which opens this article is the one that absorbs her thoughts. Confidence in success is half way there and she means to get there. All the ingredients used by Mrs. Annie Kearns in her chutney are grown in American Territory. It is essentially a home product and she has first class testimonials from all who patronize her chutney.

She deserves success for her pluck and steadfastness of purpose. She can be found at 184 Hotel Street.

Other island to visit her parents. She married a Roman and lives in Italy. Mr. Bodrero expects to join his wife and family in a few months and they will return to Italy in the Fall.

Mrs. George Castle and Mrs. M. E. Tenney were arrivals on the Siberia. They are at Waikiki.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hitchcock and family, Clarence Cunha, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Col. George Macfarlane, Mrs. E. C. Macfarlane and Mrs. H. R. Macfarlane were among the arrivals on the Siberia.

The dinner that Lieut. Colville gave on the "Bear" on Wednesday evening was a very enjoyable affair. The officers of the little revenue cutter are good hosts.

Miss Jennie Giffard of Honolulu, who is the guest of Mrs. Percy Benson, will leave with Mrs. Benson very soon for an extended trip through Europe. Miss Giffard is the daughter of W. M. Giffard and well known in the smart set of the island capital. - Chronicle.

John D. Spreckels will sail today for Honolulu. He returned early in the week from a delightful automobile jaunt through Southern California, on which his companions were his daughter, Miss Grace Spreckels, and Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield Baker. - Call.

Mrs. John Siebe will shortly be returning from Honolulu, where she has been spending a few delightful weeks. It is not her first visit to the island city, and she has many friends there, several of whom have been entertaining her extensively during her present stay. - Chronicle.

Mrs. William Matson sailed Friday last for Honolulu, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lurline Matson. They expect to be absent about two months, during which time they will be with friends in the different islands. - Call.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Rosenblatt will sail on the Siberia, May 27, for the Hawaiian Islands for a visit of several weeks. - Chronicle.

Mrs. Henry Dutton and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane welcomed a few friends informally yesterday afternoon at tea. They came to bid the latter a reluctant adieu, since the time has arrived when she must sail for her home in Honolulu. Her visit, although of several weeks' duration, has been all too short to fulfil all the plans made for the entertainment of this favorite young matron. She will take steamer today for her home, to which Mr. Macfarlane returned a fortnight ago. - Examiner.

Letters have been received here from Mrs. Arthur MacArthur Jr. and her sister, Miss Lily McCalla, from Honolulu, telling of the pleasant voyage which sailed from here May 2d for the Philippines. They will go directly to Cavite, where Lieutenant MacArthur, United States Navy, will be stationed for a time. They will probably go later to Japan for a visit to Mrs. MacArthur Sr., who is living there while General MacArthur is in Manchuria. - Chronicle.

A delightful dinner was given last evening by Governor and Mrs. Carter at their Judd street residence. The table was most attractively done in pink. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Scott, Mr. Albert Niblack and Mr. Galt.

On July 1st the choir of the Catholic Cathedral will give a concert and dance at Progress Hall for the organ fund.

Mr. Butler's revival will take place on Tuesday, June 6th, at the Opera House.

OF THE
HARRISON MUTUAL BURIAL ASS'N.

The HONOLULU MUTUAL BURIAL ASSOCIATION was started on July 15th, 1902, and will soon be three years old. During that time it has received into membership 3,391 members. The Board of Control has just ordered their 2nd assessment of $1.00. There are 7,000 associations of this kind in the United States, with a total membership of 14,000,000.

TO THE READER.

This is not a money making scheme, but a protection to every man and his family at a very small expense. It is so easy that anybody can be a member of this Association without burdening himself or family. Do not hesitate or wait too long, but join this Association—the sooner the better. You do not know what may happen to you. Be protected and be prepared for the emergency.

Mr. Clinton J. Hutchins, General Agent Hawaiian Islands for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, City.

Dear Sir:—I desire to express to you my appreciation of the prompt and businesslike manner in which you have attended to the payment of the claim against the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California for $5,000 on the life of William Kamana, deceased.

I presented this claim to you on the first day of this month, and have today, sixteen days after the presentation of the claim, received from you a check for the sum of $5,455, being the amount in full of the Policy, $5,000., and $455, increased insurance. This is remarkably quick time for the settlement of the Policy and I desire to thank you and your Company for the way in which you have expedited the payment of this claim.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM O. SMITH,
Administrator Est. Wm. Kamana.

How Insurance Weaves Into Big Financial Families

An analysis of the directorates of the three great life insurance companies and Wall street's largest corporations shows a remarkable relationship says the New York World. In the list are found a certain few names constantly recurring. They meet today in one board room, tomorrow in another, and next week in a third, always side by side, playing the game with other people's millions.

Here are the names met with most often in insurance finance: Mutual trustees, R. A. McCurdy, G. F. Baker, H. H. Rogers, William Rockefeller, G. G. Haven, A. D. Juillard; Equitable directors, J. W. Alexander, J. H. Hyde, J. H. Schieff, E. H. Harriman, J. J. Hill, G. J. Gould; New York trustees, J. A. McCall, G. W. Perkins, James Stillman, C. S. Fairchild, A. J. Orr and J. S. Kennedy.

This small group of eighteen, six for each company, are the principal connecting links in an enormous capitalistic combination. Many of them see or communicate with each other almost daily. They are not only the leading spirits in insurance finance committees, but they dominate many banking, railroad and industrial corporations. Their business is the handling of other people's money. And in this very pleasant occupation they work in perfect harmony.

Beats the Old Trust Game. The crude method of forming a trust is for competing companies to openly combine and sink their independence in a single corporation, which becomes the target for legal attack and hostile public criticism. The new way in Wall street is to permit the actual workers and builders-up of companies to continue their activity and competition in the field, while the small group of men who receive in trust the product of all this labor divide it harmoniously among themselves and their interests.

Each of the three insurance companies, Mutual, Equitable and New York, has its separate massive building. Each has its branches and energetic agents throughout the world. Each has its Board of Trustees. Scan the entire lists, from president down to most distant employee, and not a name will be found duplicated. No where in the world can a combination agency be found, even in the smallest town. To the world at large here are three rivals, active in competition, assertive in their independence.

But the instant the policy-holder's dollar arrives in New York the contest over it ceases. The interlocking boards of directors, with their combinations of capital, their pooling of financial interests, their agreements on monetary policy, amicably attend to the disposition of that dollar which had been fought over so fiercely in the field.

How They Divide the Plums. There are many large financial undertakings in which some one insurance company is heavily interested, but there are more in which all three partake, and it is in the directors' rooms of these corporations that the interests of the "Big Three" meet on a common footing.

The banks of New York furnish striking examples of this. The National Bank of Commerce, for example, has in its directorate the President of the Mutual and nine of his associates, the President of the Equitable and thirteen of his associates, and four of the leading trustees of the New York Life. In the First National Bank board room President McCall of the New York meets Mr. Baker, chairman of the Mutual's finance committee, and also Mr. Hill, who is a strong factor in Equitable finance. A little further down Wall street is the powerful National City Bank, and there, on directors' day, Mr. McCall and his chief advisers meet Mr. Harriman, Mr. Schiff and Mr. Hill, of the Equitable, while next to them sits William Rockefeller, who represents Standard Oil in the Mutual.

Sometimes when the financial crowd goes up town to the Second National, Mr. Rockefeller will find himself between Mr. Stillman, of the New York, and Mr. Sioane, of the Equitable. In trust companies there is repeated interlocking, not only in New York, but recently in other cities. Should the Industrial Trust Company, of Providence, have a meeting of all its directors, the same friendly group, McCall, Schiff and Stillman, would be there. Even in Chicago there are chairs in the First National Bank board room for Mr. Baker, of the Mutual; Mr. Hill, of the Equitable; and Mr. Ream, of the New York Life.

The railway combinations show not only the close personal relations of the directors, but the actual division of insurance funds on a harmonious plan. The most striking example is the Northern Securities Company, which the United States Supreme Court declared to be an illegal concern. It has only fifteen directors, but among them are three New York, three Equitable and one Mutual trustee. The chief means of raising funds for this concern was the issue of Northern Pacific-Great Northern Collateral Trust bonds. The insurance trustees, being also principals in the railway scheme, had their respective companies buy these bonds, as follows: New York, $12,500,000; Equitable $1,225,000; Mutual $6,000,000; total, $19,255,000. Also in Union Pacific.

Then comes the Union Pacific combination, where Mr. Harriman, Mr. Hyde, Mr. Gould and others of the Equitable associate with Mr. Stillman of the New York, and Mr. Rogers and Mr. Speyer of the Mutual. Millions of insurance money is invested in Union and Southern Pacific Railroad securities.

Almost the same group of men meet in the board room of the Western Union Telegraph Company. As for the New York Central system, there is one Vanderbilt a trustee of the Mutual and another in the Equitable, with half a dozen more Vanderbilt lieutenants in each, while the ever-present Mr. Stillman, of the New York, is in the railroad's directorate. As for Vanderbilt securities, the insurance companies have millions of them nicely divided.

Thus it becomes apparent how harmonious are the interests and how close are the relations when the dollar is in hand. From the Mutual Building in Nassau street, from the Equitable at No. 120 Broadway, and from the New York Life, further up Broadway, stretch out branches of the three insurance trees that intertwine in dozens of board rooms and furnish a few men with millions of dollars for the great game of Wall street finance.

It may be all right to keep in the middle of the road, but a by-path is better if you see a 60-horsepower auto coming.

It is not wise to attempt to build a fortune on a faro bank.

Miss Sutton of Pasadena Seeks World Champion Tennis Honor

Los Angeles, May 13.—Miss May Sutton, who lost the championship to Miss Sutton last year, left for England today to compete for the world's championship.

On the Wimbledon Courts in London she will meet Miss K. Douglass, reputed to be the greatest woman tennis player in the world. As a preliminary to the championship tournaments, scheduled to begin June 26th, Miss Sutton will compete in the Northern tournament at Manchester June 12th, playing as a representative of the Southern California Tennis Association.

She expects to sail May 20th, but her plans for returning are indefinite. It is possible that she will enter the big European tournaments.

Not only will America's woman champion attempt to wrest the honors from the English players, but the four best men players, Holcomb Ward, Beals Wright, W. A. Larned and W. J. Clothier will also compete. Ward is now the American champion and in all probability Miss Sutton will be asked to play with Ward for the mixed doubles championship of the world.

The United States has never made such a bid for foreign tennis honors, and the results of the matches in England will arouse the interest always occasioned by international contests of this class.

Miss Sutton won the American championship with comparative ease, but she will have a fight abroad worthy of her racquet. Miss Elizabeth Moore, who lost the championship to Miss Sutton last year, and Mrs. Robert Farquhar, formerly Miss Marion Jones, both visited England while they were champions and were beaten before the finals were reached. The class of tennis played there by the women is far above that in the United States, and Miss May is not over-confident of winning world honors. The trip to England will prevent Miss May competing in the United States championship tournaments.

Throughout the Continent and Great Britain the tournament at Wimbledon is looked upon as the supreme test for tennis champions. Honors won there are world honors.

It comes at the conclusion of many tournaments of minor importance throughout Great Britain and the winners of all other meets will gather in London. It is expected that as many as fifty women, all players of ability, will compete.

Former American champions who have visited England have been beaten unmercifully. But Miss Moore suffered no worse defeats than those administered by Miss Sutton in the matches at Philadelphia and New York last year. In the first tournament Miss Moore was beaten 6-2, 6-1. On the Crescent Club courts in New York Miss Sutton won 6-0, 6-0. No English player could have done better and from every indication the matches next month will stand forth as the greatest ever played between women. Miss Sutton's California admirers are confident she will win.

America's champion, who goes to win honors from the English, was born in England, the daughter of Captain A. de G. Sutton, a retired officer of the British navy. Miss May came to California with her parents twelve years ago, Captain Sutton having purchased a home in Pasadena.

Her first appearance of note on the tennis courts was when she was twelve years of age. Entering the championship tournament of Southern California she displayed remarkable skill and endurance. Although defeated at that time by an older and more experienced player, all who saw her play recognized a coming champion, and it was no surprise to the close students of the game when two years later the British navy officer's daughter began her string of unbroken triumphs. In company with her sister, Violet, the Southern California doubles championship was captured, and she has since defended the Pacific Coast championship in singles. In each championship tournament the players that had to be beaten by Miss May were her three sisters. Any one of them would be a strong candidate for national honors were the other sisters not playing.

Her success on the coast induced her to enter the tournament at Wissahickon, near Philadelphia, last year, where she easily won the American title from Miss Moore.

Not only California, but all the United States will watch her success abroad.

Notes by L. Hoffer. (a) Napier, who knows this variation of the Gambit perfectly well, made this transposition involuntarily. 11 B-Kt 5 is the usual move. (b) It is fortunate that no more serious consequences than the loss of the Gambit pawns result from the mistake in the opening. (c) 15... R-B sq; 16 P x P, B-Kt 3; 17 B-K 2, Kt-B 4 could have been played. (d) The remainder of the game is highly interesting and an instructive end-game study. White wins, but we can hardly admit that this should be so. In the present position even a draw should be an unexpected issue for White. 16... K x Kt would seem indicated; it brings the King into play and liberates the Rook. (e) Kt-Kt 3 would have been better. If 18 B x K 6, that 18... K Kt 3, and he gets some freedom for his pieces. If 18 B-Kt 3, then again 18... Kt-B 3, with a good game. (f) We suggest 19... B-Kt 3, defending the two weak Pawns, to begin with. If 20 Kt-R 3, then 20... P-B 3; 21 R-K sq, K-Q sq; 22 B-Kt 4, Kt-B 4, or B-B 4, with a good game again. (g) Now he has the inferior game, and all he might hope is a draw. The next move is required because of the threat Kt-Kt 3, and to bring the Kt-Q 3 as a defense against the Rook. (h) One Pawn must be lost, and the text move is perhaps the best to draw. (i) Very effective. It leaves Black an isolated Pawn, and is the quickest means of getting the King into play. (j) The last of the series of inferior moves made by Mises. The game is lost now. He might still have drawn with ordinary care with Kt-Q 4. (k) The second half of the game was played by Napier with consummate skill.

BIGELOW SAYS WE ARE RUSHING TO WAR

Boston, May 8.—Poulney Bigelow, the correspondent, has created a sensation here by his startling charges regarding the United States consular service in China, South Africa and South America, and his statement that the United States is on the verge of war with another great nation.

These statements were made before the Boston University students and faculty in an address which was one of a series delivered by Bigelow on "National Expansion." His caustic comments on men and affairs have amazed and stirred the faculty as no other speaker has done for years. Regarding the approaching war, Bigelow said:

At the present time the United States is rushing into war with another nation, and the people know nothing about it, though the Government is straining every nerve to bring the country into a complete state of preparation.

What nation? I have promised to keep it secret, although the war is sure to come and we will live to see. A great awakening will some day dawn upon this land, and the people will realize their unsuspected weakness, despite their present opinion of their strength.

The statesmen of the Old World have named us "the American peril." All Europe is armed and arming and keep their sharpest eyes turned toward the United States in the midst of the preparations they are making.

He went on to arraign the consular service of the United States, inveighing bitterly against some of the things he had seen in China, the Philippines and other countries. Said he:

When I was in China not one of our Consuls at Shanghai was fit to associate with decent Americans. Consul Goodnow at Shanghai introduced the methods of Ames of Minneapolis, where he had been a garbage collector, into the consular administration. When I was in South Africa in 1896 there was not an American Consul there who was ever known to be sober.

While the people in the Philippines clamor vainly for a comparatively inexpensive drainage system the Government spends millions of dollars to make a little dime museum exhibit for the St. Louis Fair. We strive to have financiers invest their money in the Philippines, but they are not going to be bamboozled by pictures of a lot of dancing Moro savages. It is about time that the hidden canker of politics should be exposed to the public and the truth of the national policy should be told them.

All that the people of this country seem to desire is to have somebody continually praising them and telling them what a great nation they are, but that is a false outlook on life, and is sure to work harm unless it is stopped.

These are some of the many Bigelowisms that have set staid old Boston to talking and brought crowds to hear him every time he speaks.

A sunny smile will melt a bigger hole in a hard heart than you can chon with an axe.

THE BALLAD OF GRIZZLY GULCH

The rocks are rough, the trail is tough, The forest lies before, As madly, madly to the hunt Rides good King Theodore With woodsmen, plainsmen, journalists And kodaks thirty-four.

The hob-cats howl, the panthers growl, "He sure is after us!" As by his side lopes Bill, the Guide, A wicked-looking fuss—"Chee-chee!" the little birds exclaim, "Ain't Teddy stren-oo-us!"

Though dour the climb with slip and slime, King Ted he doesn't care, Till, cracking peanuts on a rock, Behold, a Grizzly Bear! King Theodore he shows his teeth, But he never turns a hair.

"Come hither, Court Photographer," The genial monarch saith, "Be quick to snap your picture-trap—As I do you Bear to death." "Dee-lighted!" cries the smiling patient, As he waits and holds his breath.

Then speaks the Court Biographer, And a handy guy is he, "First let me wind my biograph, 'That the deed recorded be.' 'A square deal!' saith the patient, With ready repartee.

And now doth mighty Theodore For slaughter raise his gun; A flash, a bang, an ursine roar—The deadly deed is done! And now the kodaks thirty-four In chorus click as one.

The big brown brin stricken falls And in his juices lies; His blood is spent, yet deep content Beams from his limpid eyes. "Congratulations, dear old pal!" He murmurs as he dies.

From Cripple Creek and Soda Springs, Gun Gulch and Gunnison, A-foot, a-swock, the people flock—o see that deed of gun; And parents bring huge families To show what they have done.

On the damp course stands Theodore And takes a hand of each, As loud and long the happy throng Cries "Speech!" again and "Speech!" Which pleaseth well King Theodore, Whose practice is to preach.

"Good friends," he says, "lead outdoor lives And Fame you yet may see—Just look at Lincoln, Washington, And great Napoleon B.; And after that take off your hats And you may look at me!"

But as he speaks a Messenger Cries, "Sire, a telegraph!" The king uptakes the wireless screed, Which he opens fore and aft, And reads, "The Venezuelan stew Is boiling over."

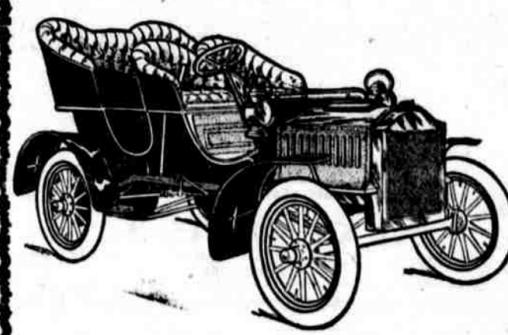

"TAFT!" Then straight the good King Theodore In anger drops his gun And turns his flashing spectacles Toward high-domed Washington, "O tush!" he saith beneath his breath, "A man can't have no fun!"

Then comes a disappointed wall From every rock and tree, "Good-by, good-by!" the grizzlies cry And wring their handkerchiefs, And a sad bob-cat exclaims, "O drat! He never shot at me!"

So backward, backward from the hunt The monarch rides once more, The Constitution lies behind And the Big Sticks rides before (Which was a rule of precedent In the reign of Theodore).

Help for Mothers. Any woman who is suffering disordered menstruation, bearing down pains, nervousness, or whose life is made desolate by barrenness, can have the same relief Mrs. Vincent secured, by taking Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home. No physician's treatment necessary. This pure Wine commends itself to every suffering woman. Will you go to your druggist today and secure the same relief Mrs. Vincent writes about? When the stomach, bowels or liver are affected, Theford's Black-Draught should be used. WINE OF CARDUI. No. 933 Mission St., SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Dec. 9, 1903. I am happy and pleased to attest to the value of Wine of Cardui for prospective mothers. I took it for three months before my darling baby came and I suffered so little pain I felt I was an exception. The child is happy and healthy and the sunshine of my life. I had hardly any trouble after she was born, and after eleven days was up doing my entire housework and feeling better than I had felt for years. I am the envy of my neighbors because of the unusually healthy child I have and because I never had a sick day myself. I give the entire credit to Wine of Cardui, for I was sickly, pale and thin before I took it, but since I have used it I have been in perfect health, have gained fourteen pounds and enjoy life as never before. The Captain of the Janizaries

By JAMES M. LUDLOW

Copyright, 1896, by Dodd, Mead & Co. Copyright, 1899, by James M. Ludlow

"I must not hear such words, my good friend. My Uncle George is the hero of the hour. The people need a hero in whom they believe, and the very mystery of his life for the thirty years among the Turks and the romance of his return make him a comrade of heroes."

"But, sire, my noble—my Prince Amesa—do you not daily hear such words as I speak? The thought is as common as the Pater Noster and echoes from Scutari to Oehrida. It was but a week since a young Albanian passed through this border country whispering everywhere that the land was ready to cry Amesa's name rather than the reformed renegade, George Castriot; that Scanderbeg, the Lord Alexander, the strutting title the Turks gave him, was an offense to the free hearts of the people."

"Ah! And what sort of a man for look was this Albanian?" asked Amesa in surprise.

"A sturdy youth of, say, twenty summers, with hair like a turban which had been worn by a dozen slaughtered Turks, so blood red is it."

Amesa gave a puzzled look toward Drakul, who was eating his meal at a little distance, but whose ears seemed to prick up like those of a horse at this description.

"It is likely that he may be again in the village this very night. Our neighbor next lodged him. I will ask him if he will return," said the stargessina, leaving the konak for a little.

"It is he, 'tis Constantine," said Drakul, coming nearer to Amesa. "The wily young devil is ready to betray your Uncle George. That will make the matter easier."

"The way is clear, then," replied Amesa. "I am glad that the raid was not successful. It might have led to further blood. With this fellow in league with us, it is straight work and honorable."

"Your arm could strike as good a blow as his."

The stargessina reported the man would probably be in again that very night and added:

"I would you could see him, for, though he is fair spoken, there is some mystery in his going day after day among these mountains, like a hound who is looking for a lost scent."

"Perhaps he is attracted here by some of the fair maidens of the hamlets," suggested Amesa.

"It may be, for our neighbor here has harbored a bit of stray womanhood which might tempt a monk to lodge there rather than in his cell," said the old man.

A shout from above then attracted their attention to a merry company which was coming down the mountain. It was the procession of the Dodola. Drought threatened to destroy the scanty grain growing in the narrow valleys and the vines on the terraces cut out of the steep hills. According to an ancient custom, a young maiden had been taken by her companions into the woods, stripped of her usual garments and clothed in the leaves and flowers of the endangered vegetation. Long grasses and stalks of grain were matted in many folds about her person and served as a base for artistic decoration with every variety of floral beauty.

The Dodola thus appeared as the impersonation of floral nature at the height of her vivifying rains. Her attendants, who led her in a leash of roses, chanted a hymn, the refrain of which was a prayer to Elijah, who, since he brought the rain at Carmel, is supposed by the peasants of Albania to be that saint to whom Providence has committed the shepherding of the clouds. As the procession wound down the terraced paths between the houses the Dodola was welcomed by the matrons of the hamlet, who stood each in her own doorway, with hair gathered beneath a cap of coins, teeth enameled in black, fingers tipped brownish red with henna.

The maidens sang a verse of their hymn at each cottage, and at the head of the housewife pointed upon the head of the leaf-clad Dodola a cup of water, repeating the last line of the chorus, "Good St. Elias, so send the rain!"

As the Dodola paused before the konak Amesa said, quite enthusiastically and designing to be overheard by the fair girl who took the part of thirating nature, "If Elias can refuse the prayer of so much womanly beauty, I swear, by Jezebel, that I shall hereafter be old prophet has become identified with the hours in paradise and so does not care to look into the faces of earthly damsels."

"You may still keep your Christian faith, for the Dodola has won the favor of the Thunderer," replied the stargessina. "Listen to his lovingmaking in response to the witchery of that wild dove! Do you hear it?"

The distant murmur of a coming shower confirmed the credulity of the peasants.

"Yes, soon the Holy Virgin will turn her bright glances upon us," said he, looking at the sky.

"Who is that wild dove who acts the Dodola?" inquired Amesa.

"The one I told you of, who has come into our neighbor's cot," replied the old man. "But only the sharp eyes of the Dodola saw where she came from. Did she not speak our tongue and know our ways as well as any of us? I should say she was one of the gypsies who were driven out of the morning land by Timour. Yet it may be that her own story is true. She says she had two lovers in her village, and these two were brothers in God, who had taken the vow before heaven and St. John to help and never to hinder each other in whatever adventure of love or brigandage at cost of limb or life. But as the hot blood of neither of these lovers could endure to see this nymph in the arms of the other it was determined that she should be slain by the hand of both rather than that the sacred brotherhood should be broken. By her own father's hearth the two dangers were struck together at her heart, but the strong arms of the slayers collided, and both blows came hither."

"And you believe this story?" asked Amesa, with a look of incredulity mingled with triumph, as of one who knew more than the narrator.

"I believe her story, noble Amesa, because—because no one has told me any other. But"—He shook his head.

"Does not the young stranger you spoke of know something of her, that he prowls about this neighborhood?" asked the guest.

"It may be. I had not thought it, but it may still be. Hush!"

The Dodola passed by, returning to her own cottage. As she did so her bright black eyes glanced coquettishly at the stranger from beneath her disarranged chaplet of flowers and disheveled hair. She soon returned, having assumed her garments as a peasant maid, but with evident effort to make this simple attire set off the great natural beauty of face and form, of which she was fully conscious. Her forehead was too low, but Pymalion could not have chiseled a brow and temples upon which glossy black ringlets clustered more bewitchingly. Her eyes flashed too cold a firelight to give one the impression of great amiability in their possessor. But the long lashes which drooped before them partially veiled their stare so as to give the illusion of coyness if not of maidenly modesty.

The girl's face flushed with the consciousness of being gazed at approvingly by the courtly stranger. But the pretty toss of her head showed that the blush was due as much to the conceit of her beauty as to bashfulness. As she talked with the other maidens she glanced furtively toward the door of the konak, where Amesa sat. The young voidie foresaw that it would not be difficult to entice the girl herself to be the chief agent in any plan he might have for her abduction.

He needed, however, to make more certain of her identity with the object of his search. He could discern no trace of Mara de Strosses in her face, much less in her manner. Since Drakul had suggested it, he imagined a resemblance to De Strosses himself, whose bearing was haughty and his temperament fiery.

The evening brought the young man of whom the stargessina had spoken. His resemblance to the description given him of Constantine left no doubt in Amesa's mind of his being the mysterious custodian of the heretic to his estates. The young Servian he supposed would at once recognize him as Amesa, for as a prominent officer in the army his face would be well known to all who had been in Castriot's camps, even if the gossip of the villagers did not at once inform him of his presence. It were best, then, thought Amesa, to boldly confront him, win him if possible to his service; if not, destroy him.

The young stranger was at once on frolicsome terms with the village girls and lads, and Amesa thought he observed that through it all the fellow kept a sharp if not a suspicious eye upon him. Lest he should escape, the voidie invited him to walk beyond the houses of the village. When out of sight and hearing he suddenly turned upon the young man and, laying a hand upon his shoulder, exclaimed:

"You are known, my friend, and transformed from the sauntering peasant into a gladiator, with feet firmly planted, the left hand raised as a shield and the right grasping a yataghan which had been concealed upon his person. Amesa, though the aggressor, was thrown upon the defensive and was compelled to retreat in order to win time for the escape of his weapon.

That Tired Feeling AND GENERAL DEBILITY.

The cause is poor, thin blood, resulting in deficient vitality. To overcome this, the blood needs to be enriched and vitalized, and for this there is no medicine in the world equal to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The cures it has worked, the men, women and children it has restored to health, are countless in number. One such experience is related by Mr. Robert Goodfellow, Mitcham, South Australia, as follows: "I have used in my family for years, and would not be without it. I used to suffer with boils and skin eruptions, attended with great lassitude and general debility. In fact, I was so ill that I could not attend to my business. Being advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla I did so, and I am happy to say that the medicine restored me to perfect health. I have since used Ayer's Sarsaparilla for my children, in various complaints, and it has always proved effective. I can safely recommend it to sufferers as

The Best Blood Purifier

Beware of imitations. The name - Ayer's Sarsaparilla - is prominent on the wrapper and blown in the glass of each bottle. AYER'S PILLS, IN SMALL, GLASS PHIALS.
