COUNTY GOVERNMENT STARTS TODAY

Planters Endorse Administration Of Governor Carter

WILL ASK HIM TO REMAIN IN OFFICE

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association held a special meeting in its rooms in the Judd building this forenoon for the sole purpose of discussing the resignation of Governor Carter. A special committee, consisting of five members, was appointed to wait on the Governor and urge him to reconsider his resigning and to assure him of the unanimous approval, endorsement and support of the Association.

Following immediately on the news of the Governor's resignation came the report that all the business associations would hold special meetings for the purpose of adopting resolutions of some kind in regard to the action of Governor Carter. It was supposed that the Planters' Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association would all meet this morning, but the gathering of the Planters was the only meeting held today.

Sentiment seems to be divided as to the advisability or the necessity of any formally expressed opinion in the premises, the feeling of many being that if the Governor really means to stick to his resignation there is no sense in asking him to reconsider; while if he has a string to his withdrawal it can only be a string designed to pull for just such opinions as are being talked of as possible in the form of resolutions adopted by the business bodies.

The Planters this morning adopted no resolutions. They merely, — and their action was unanimous, — appointed a special committee to see Mr. Carter and assure him that there was no demand for his withdrawal and that he had the unqualified support of the Sugar Planters.

W. O. Smith was seen after the meeting. He declined to give out the names of the committee to wait on the Governor, saying that it was the wish of the meeting that the matter be conducted with as little noise as possible.

Mr. Smith did not know when the committee would call on the Governor or when the committee was expected to report to the Association.

He stated that the only object of the meeting was to consider the resignation of Governor Carter and that it was the unanimous opinion of those present that the Administration of Governor Carter be endorsed; that a committee of the Association call on Mr. Carter and assure him of this endorsement, asking that he reconsider his action in tendering his resignation.

The Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting on Monday morning in the Stangenwald building. A call was this morning issued to the above effect. It is stated in the notice of meeting that the purpose of getting together is to consider the resignation of the Governor.

At noon today there had been no such meeting called by the Merchants' Association.

On Thursday next will be held a regular meeting of the Planters' Association. It is expected that then the special committee will report the result of its interview with the Governor.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Federation is booked for Monday and it is not improbable that that organization will, through its executive, have something to say on the subject most talked of just now.

Said a man close to the Governor this morning: "The Governor is sincere in his desire to withdraw. He is tired of office. He is rich and does not have to be burdened with the cares and responsibilities of public life. He wants to take a trip around the world, to shake the dust of public life off his feet. He's not playing to the gallery in this resignation matter and all the urgings of friends, all the resolutions of representative bodies cannot change his mind. He wants to be quit of it all. It is up to the people to begin thinking about a successor. Carter is out of it for good."

Territorial Secretary Jack Atkinson grip in hand, was on view on the principal streets of the city this morning. He is looking fine since his return from Washington.

Folks are telling him that it is a pity that he is not a year older, that he might aspire to the Governorship. He tells them all that there is no pity about it and they can save their sympathy for his very glad he's no older than he is; he don't want to be Governor. If Jack were a year older he might talk differently.

Men most seriously discussed for the Governorship are H. P. Baldwin and H. E. Cooper.

Baldwin is a man of very wide friendship and great popularity. He has been mentioned whenever the Governorship question was up for consideration. If Baldwin would consent to accept the office if appointed, neither H. E. Cooper or his friends would stand in the way. Those who urge Baldwin, however, express the fear that he could not be prevailed upon to accept.

Friends of Governor Carter said this morning that there was nothing to do in the Governorship question except to look around for a successor. They believe that Carter is determined to quit.

Baldwin Won't Take It

"I cannot consider Governorship." This is the message H. P. Baldwin sent down today in response to a telegraphic query whether he could be considered as a possible appointee to the office.

Noah Kepoi Kai Is Wailuku Choice For Governorship

WAILUKU, Maui, June 24.—An enthusiastic meeting of citizens was held in Wailuku last evening, all political parties being represented. The result of the gathering was an endorsement of Governor Carter's old friend, Judge Noah Kepoi Kai for the Governorship.

The speakers were Kalua, Vivas, Crockett, Case and Keola. A committee of three, consisting of M. P. Baldwin, Keilinoi and Lyons, was named to take the resolutions to Honolulu today.

KEOLA.

Following are the resolutions received by the Kinau mall:

Resolved, we, the citizens of the Third Republican District, in mass meeting assembled, irrespective of our political affiliations, do hereby unanimously endorse the Honorable A. N. Kepoi Kai, Circuit Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, for the office of Governor of the Territory of Hawaii.

Resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States of America.

ADAMS WANTED FOR CHAIRMAN BY FIFTH'S MEN

The County Board of Supervisors for Oahu meets this afternoon at 8 o'clock.

This will be the first gathering of the Supervisors and the meeting will be preliminary in its features, the recently elected members desiring to talk over offices for the accommodation of Clerk, Attorney, Auditor and the Board, and to discuss and possibly settle on a chairman.

While G. W. Smith has been much talked of for chairman of the Board of Supervisors, it is understood that the Supervisors from the Fifth District are out strong for E. R. Adams, the Supervisor-at-Large, holding that his election would better represent their District.

ASHFORD PASSES

S. H. Ashford, son of C. W. Ashford, is in receipt of the following from Washington:

Washington, D. C., Department of the Navy, Bureau of Navigation, June 7, 1905.

Mr. S. H. Ashford, 1st Alt. from Hawaii at large.

Sir: The Bureau informs you that you passed the examination recently held for the appointment of a midshipman from your Territory at large. The principal passed also. He has been ordered to appear for physical examination and if qualified will be appointed.

Respectfully, W. T. POTTER, Capt., U. S. Navy.

Miss Rhoda Green was awarded the first prize at the Kiloahana Art League contest. Miss Vancouver won the second prize. The dedication of the new wing at the Queen's Hospital occurred yesterday. It is called the New Punahou Bishop after the late Honorable Mrs. Punahou Bishop. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Suhr, former residents of Honolulu, but now of Wiesbaden, are in the city for a few weeks en route around the world. Mrs. Henry Lyon has cards out for a bridge party on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Hepburn is to be the guest of honor at a luncheon next Wednesday given by Mrs. E. W. Jordan.

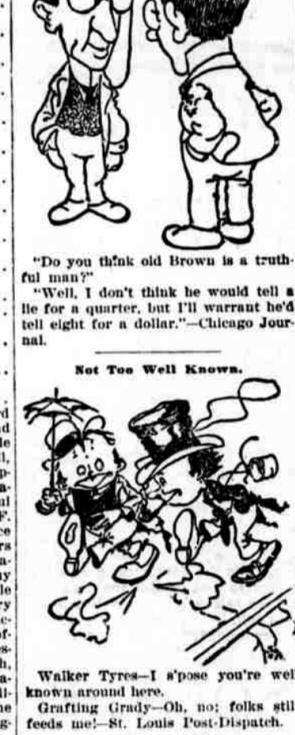

PUNAHOU PREPARATORY GRADUATING EXERCISES The graduating exercises of the Punahou Preparatory School were held yesterday forenoon and attracted a very large audience of parents and friends of the school. The essays given by the graduating class were very commendable, reflecting good judgment on the part of the teachers and careful study by the students. One of the features of the exercises was the recitation of "Little Orphan Annie" by Ruth Farrington, a little six-year-old of the first grade. The diminitiveness of the child, her clear enunciation and self-possession on the stage stirred the audience to marked enthusiasm. Of the class parts, that by Charles S. Davis was considered the best. After the exercises Congressman Hepburn gave a short address. The program and the members of the graduating class follow: Rev. E. B. Turner. Psalm XCI. Hymn of Praise. "A Trip to Havana". William Hepburn Chamberlain. "Early Days in California". Helen Gertrude North. "The Grand Tree". Second Grade. "Herve Riel". Watson Ballentyne, Harry Steiner, Howell Bond. "The Bear Family". Third Grade. "Kohala Ditch". Walter Wilson McDougall. "The Henry George Jr. Republic". Alice Lewers Hopper. "Little Orphan Annie". Ruth Farrington. "Apples of the Hesperides". FRIENDSHIP FOR CARTER

The position that Governor Carter should be requested to withdraw and the President refuse to accept his resignation has its very delicate and doubtful situations.

Under the circumstances it would amount to a request that the Governor stultify himself and acknowledge what has been frequently said, that he has not given the matter mature thought or acted under the spur of an impulse. This is not complimentary to the Governor and his acceptance of such a conclusion must be a suggestion of weakness rather than strength.

The citizens of Hawaii have no anxiety to take the Governor at his word. That is clear. They have not asked him to get out. Should they on the other hand turn around and tell him that he didn't know what he was doing when he tendered his resignation, it can hardly be said that the situation would be improved.

What has impelled the Governor to resign, he alone knows and no one else will attempt to explain it for him. It seems to be one of those personal matters on which a man takes communion with his innermost soul and makes up his mind.

The issue having been met and decided it is difficult to understand how the Governor can retract without weakening his position. Thus a request that he reconsider and remain, while courteous and the natural result of the surprise of the situation, is hardly an act of friendship beyond reminding the Governor, if he needs it, that he has a lot of friends.

FISHER, ABLES CO., Ltd. AUCTIONEERS.

One man said in his heart, "It doesn't do me any good to advertise."

That man was a wonder, to put it mildly.

The Irishman who sat on the limb he was sawing couldn't see that it hurt him any till he hit the toboggan side and bit the dust. The man who doesn't need to advertise has reached the point where he is standing stock still. He may keep comfortable for a while but it is a matter of a short time when a wide-awake, progressive competitor will get in, and, with the judicious and intelligent use of advertising, get the business.

COUNTY AND MOSQUITOES

The County Supervisors have their work in connection with the maintenance of the band and the public parks already mapped out for them. There is no doubt that the citizens of the County expect them to shape the scheme of government so that the band shall be kept up and the public park system developed, or at least not allowed to go backward.

Among other things the Supervisors should not forget is the great Hawaiian mosquito. This pest may appear insignificant now, but with the closer connection soon to come with Panama, the mosquito has to be taken into consideration as a real factor.

Fortunately the Supervisors of all Counties will have an example to follow. Although they may not be able to pass upon the mosquito before finding a home for themselves, the following ordinance from the recent meeting of the San Mateo Board of Supervisors will furnish an example on which to base a line of action:

"Section 1. All pools of water or other places in which mosquitoes are being bred are hereby declared to be public nuisances. All health officers of the county and the Boards of Health of all cities and towns in the county are hereby given authority, and it is made their duty, upon the complaint in writing of any resident of the county, or city or town, to condemn as nuisances all such pools of water or other places in which mosquitoes are being bred, and order the summary abatement thereof.

"Section 2. Upon being notified by such health officers or Boards of Health of the existence of such pools of water or other places in which mosquitoes are bred and that the same has been declared a public nuisance by said health officers or said Boards of Health, it shall be the duty of the person or persons responsible for the maintenance thereof to forthwith abate such nuisance, and all persons refusing or neglecting to forthwith abate such nuisance, as directed by said health officers or Boards of Health, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than fifty ($50) dollars or be imprisoned in the County Jail not more than twenty-five (25) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

The new law originated in the San Mateo Board of Trade and Promotion Committee, a body which has done much for the advancement of the community. During the present season something like $3000 has been expended in mosquito work in the territory from San Mateo to San Bruno. It has been done under the direction of Professor Quayle, entomologist at the State University, and C. M. Morse of the San Mateo Board of Trade, who is a member of the National Mosquito Extirpation Society.

So effective has been the work that all the mosquitoes have been practically exterminated by the destruction of the breeding places by filling, oiling or draining. It was to make the results of this labor and expense permanent that the ordinance was framed.

NOVELTY COMPANY IS FULL OF ENTERTAINMENT

Curtis' Novelty Company amused, charmed and sent the crowd away happy at the Orpheum last night. Curtis has certainly succeeded in getting together an aggregation of novelty wonders and excellent fun-makers.

Newell's cowboy juggler act is an excellent one. Whether Newell is a cowboy or not, he is a first-class juggler, and did some shooting that proves that he can be very handy with a gun when occasion requires.

Harbour's monologue funny stunt took the crowd from the outset. Harbour has a funny face and a funny manner and keeps everybody interested.

The Princess Chingilla gives a very fetching number. The stage setting and costumes are ideal and the songs and dances like a sketch from the old world. Pictured melodies took with the crowd as they always do, and the songs were well sung.

Renó the Great deserves his name for greatness as a magician. He has a fairly easy stage manner and his palming tricks are equal to the best that can be produced by any artist of his line. The Lurline bath trick so overawed the galleries that they were quiet as a prayer meeting and then couldn't seem to make out how it was done.

The last biographical sketch kept the audience in an uproar. The Curtis company will be here several days and will undoubtedly draw other large audiences.

Admiral Beekley reports the following sugar ready for shipment on Hawaii: Olan, 7800; Waikaka, 23,000; Hawaii Mill, 2700; Wainaku, 5000; Onomea, 45,096; Pepeekeo, 10,000; Honomu, 20,100; Hakalau, 11,400; Laupahoehoe, 7000; Ookala, 7300; Kukalau, 1100; Hamakua, 5824; Paauhau, 4498 (last of crop; Maui takes all); Honokaa, none; Kukuhae, none; Puna-lu, 1200; Honapu, 1500.

J. Pratley, a soldier from Camp McKinley, committed assault and battery on a fellow-soldier, Brown, last night to the extent of one badly-damaged eye. Brown exhibited the eye in Police Court this morning, and Judge Whitney fined the pugnacious Pratley $10 and costs.

The new rules of land regulation of the Department of Public Instruction, which were prepared by a committee of the Board of Education, are now in the hands of the Governor awaiting his signature.

Clerk M. T. Simonton has received a letter from Judge Robinson from San Francisco in which the Judge states that his health is improving, although he has as yet not fully recovered.

There will be hot tomatoes and German beer at the Criterion this afternoon and evening. Criterion tomatoes are the best in town and their German beer can't be beat anywhere.

GRAND JURY FILES ITS FINAL REPORT.

Lucas, John K. Prendergast, Stanley Stephenson, C. Schoelkopf, Thomas H. Kennedy, M. Brash, I. Rubinstein, R. Ludloff, Jno. M. Davis, E. M. Vettesen, F. Goudie and B. J. Wright.

Fifteen indictments were presented, which, at the request of Prosser, were placed on the secret file and bench warrants issued for the arrest of the defendants.

Judge De Bolt then dismissed the Grand Jurors after thanking them for their labors. Among those indicted were Proprietor Shizawa of the Hawaii Shinpo, the leading Japanese newspaper of this city, and three other prominent Japanese. They are charged with conspiracy in connection with the demonstrations which were recently made against Consul Miki Saito and others.

Ab On and Ah Fat, both former police officers, were indicted on charges of perjury. They are alleged to have given false testimony at the coroner's inquest held over the Chinese at Aiea, who was killed by the police during a raid.

W. H. Knox, the former janitor of the Senate, who was a prominent worker for the Civic Federation in the recent campaign, was indicted on a charge of assault with a weapon on a Hawaiian boy.

A VENERABLE PASTOR CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na is a Catarrhal Tonic Especially Adapted to the Declining Powers of Old Age.

In old age the mucous membranes become thickened and partly lose their function.

This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances.

Peruna corrects all this by its specific operation on all the mucous membranes of the body.

One bottle will convince anyone. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long stand-by with old and young.

Rev. J. N. Parker.

Strong and Vigorous at the Age of Eighty-eight.

Rev. J. N. Parker, Utica, N. Y., writes: "In June, 1901, I lost my sense of hearing entirely. My hearing had been somewhat impaired for several years, but not so much effected but that I could hold converse with my friends; but in June, 1901, my sense of hearing left me so that I could hear no sound whatever. I was also troubled with rheumatic pains in my limbs. I commenced taking Peruna and now my hearing is restored as good as it was prior to June, 1901. My rheumatic pains are all gone. I cannot speak too highly of Peruna, and now I do."

For special directions everyone should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by all chemists and druggists at one dollar per bottle, or six bottles for five dollars.

John Walker, $42,800, time limit 240 days.

H. E. Hendricks, $37,981, time limit 260 days.

Great interest was taken in the opening of the bids a great number of bidders and others being present besides Archive Commissioners W. D. Alexander and A. F. Judd.

DE BOLT HEARS MOTION FOR BAIL

The motion of Enoch Johnson and Jonas Kumale to be admitted to bail pending decision on their motion to the Supreme Court for a rehearing of their case, was this morning argued before Judge De Bolt. Attorney General Andrews represented the Territory, while Judge A. S. Humphreys appeared for the defendants.

After considerable argument pro and contra had been heard, Judge De Bolt stated that he wanted to know, first, whether the Court had the power to withdraw the mittimus committing the defendants to jail, and also, if this was the case, where that power did lie. Judge Humphreys held that the Court must have full control over its own process.

Judge De Bolt stated that while it was probably the first time the issue had been brought up before the local courts, it was a very important one. He wanted to be very sure of his ground before he made a decision, which might be used as a precedent in future cases. Further argument in the matter was therefore continued until next Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Needed Improvement. The Country Cousin—How do you like the country, Willie? The City Boy—Well, if it only had more houses and cops and street cars and keep off the grass signs and things it would be first rate.—New York World.

The Country Cousin—How do you like the country, Willie? The City Boy—Well, if it only had more houses and cops and street cars and keep off the grass signs and things it would be first rate.—New York World.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

San Francisco, June 4.—From the far South Seas comes word that Captain T. A. Stockwell, captain of the little trading schooner Laurel, has picked up a bottle containing a message that was thrown overboard from the Oceanic liner Sonoma more than two years ago. As a reward for the mere act of picking up the bottle and communicating with the writer, W. Sherer, Jr., of New Haven, Conn., Captain Stockwell has been presented with a fine rifle and many cartridges.

Sherer was a passenger on the Sonoma sailing from here in March, 1903, and a few days after leaving port wrote a message, and, after placing it in a bottle tightly corked, threw it overboard. The message stated that the finder, upon communicating with Sherer, would be given a fine modern rifle. For two years or more the bottle was tossed about on the ocean and carried hither and thither before it was picked up by Captain Stockwell off the Australian coast while he was on the way to Walla Island. The skipper, in his letter to Sherer reporting the finding of the bottle, stated that the Laurel was about to engage in "black-birding," or the slave trade, and that he was leaving the schooner on that account to engage in fishing sharks, which are fetching a good price. At Priscilla he found the native king dying of asthma and responded to his appeals for medicine. Captain Stockwell was about to describe some thrilling experiences he had with the natives when he wound up the letter hastily because it was eight bells and he was compelled to bid his unknown correspondent good-night.

The bottle found by Captain Stockwell had been carried several thousand miles to the southwest in its journey of two years.

DE BOLT HEARS MOTION FOR BAIL

The motion of Enoch Johnson and Jonas Kumale to be admitted to bail pending decision on their motion to the Supreme Court for a rehearing of their case, was this morning argued before Judge De Bolt. Attorney General Andrews represented the Territory, while Judge A. S. Humphreys appeared for the defendants.

After considerable argument pro and contra had been heard, Judge De Bolt stated that he wanted to know, first, whether the Court had the power to withdraw the mittimus committing the defendants to jail, and also, if this was the case, where that power did lie.

Judge Humphreys held that the Court must have full control over its own process.

Judge De Bolt stated that while it was probably the first time the issue had been brought up before the local courts, it was a very important one. He wanted to be very sure of his ground before he made a decision, which might be used as a precedent in future cases. Further argument in the matter was therefore continued until next Wednesday at 2 p. m.

BOTTLE MESSAGE IS FOUND BY TRADER

San Francisco, June 4.—From the far South Seas comes word that Captain T. A. Stockwell, captain of the little trading schooner Laurel, has picked up a bottle containing a message that was thrown overboard from the Oceanic liner Sonoma more than two years ago. As a reward for the mere act of picking up the bottle and communicating with the writer, W. Sherer, Jr., of New Haven, Conn., Captain Stockwell has been presented with a fine rifle and many cartridges.

Sherer was a passenger on the Sonoma sailing from here in March, 1903, and a few days after leaving port wrote a message, and, after placing it in a bottle tightly corked, threw it overboard. Social Side of Life

Of course the Campbell-Macfarlane wedding at the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Wednesday evening was the event of the week. And what a wedding! From King street to Beretania, double lines of carriages extended on either side, and the pavements and shop doors were crowded with perspiring humanity waiting to catch the first glimpse of the bride, and meanwhile watching the guests as they entered the church. And what an assemblage of fair women and brave men! Easter lilies, anemones, white and purple gerberas were used in lavish profusion in the decorations, and the central aisle of the church was made to resemble an avenue of palms, the top branches of which were caught together with white tulle in a true lover's knot. The chancel rails, the pulpit, and the gate to the chancel were exquisitely decorated with malle, lilies, white marguerites, white carnation leis, and at the back of the chancel was an artistic banking of white and blue flowers and ferns. White satin ribbons guarded the fairly pews, and the ushers, Messrs. Will Roth, Samuel Walker, Arthur Mackintosh and Frank Armstrong, most courteously escorted the guests to their places.

When the first strains of the Wedding March were heard every head was turned toward the door many expressions of admiration and whispering as the pretty bride, leaning on the arm of her stepfather, Mr. Samuel Parker, appeared with her attendant bridesmaids, and the charming maid of honor, Miss Muriel Campbell. At the chancel steps they were met by the groom, and Mr. Will Dickson, the best man—and within the chancel were intoned the solemn words of the holy ceremony by Father Ulrich, and then the bride was escorted to the vestry to write her maiden name for the last time. During the interlude Mr. Hugo Wagner sang most beautifully a solo, and at the conclusion the whole party walked down the aisle to the organ strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the newly made bride bowing right and left as she recognized her friends.

As one approached the Emma street residence of the Campbell-Parkers the display of electricity was such as to almost dazzle the guests, for the trees in the lawn were strung with electric lights and under the enormous tree in the center of the yard were tens of white light making a brilliancy which has never been rivaled in Honolulu. The musicians stationed on the lawn played throughout the reception, which was held in the music room. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Macfarlane and Prince David Kawanakoa greeted the guests as they first entered the room and then came the bride and groom who were stationed at the opposite side with the bridesmaids, best man and maid of honor. And what a chance to really see the beautiful frocks worn by the bride and her maids! Mrs. Macfarlane's frock was essentially French and it was copied from one of the recent coronation robes. It was composed of chiffon velvet and trimmed with applique roses, and the applique was applied to the waist with a lovely effect. The bride looked a veritable dream of loveliness in her bridal attire. The tulle veil being a most becoming background for her dark hair and beautiful brown eyes. It was held in place by a diamond forget-me-not brooch, the central diamond being of great size. This was one of the gifts of her mother and sister. She wore a court train which was also appliqued with the roses. This descended from the shoulder in truly regal fashion. The only other jewelry worn were three magnificent bracelets of diamonds, rubies and sapphires, the gift of Mr. Samuel Parker.

Mr. Walter Macfarlane looked the picture of happiness and made a very distinguished appearance. And how sweet and fetching the little maid of honor looked all in pale blue accented with chignon over blue taffeta, and a blue picture hat of chiffon on her dainty head. She is very blonde and the etherial quality of her costume suited her down to the ground. Miss Irene Dickson was charming in her bridesmaid's costume of cream chiffon over pea de sole and pretty Miss Clara Cummings, a cousin of the bride, was much attractive. Handsome Alice Macfarlane in her lovely frock of white made a perfect picture and dainty Ada Rhodes was looking lovely. Jeweled arched brooches with pearl settings were worn as a gift from the bride.

Mrs. Campbell-Parker made a stunning appearance in a costume of peacock blue which glittered most brilliantly whenever she moved. Her magnificent shoulders and arms were shown to the best advantage. Her ornaments were pearls and diamonds—a feather of diamonds being worn in her hair. Mrs. Fred Macfarlane looked very handsome in a ravishing tulle of white satin embellished with black poppies, applique lace meet with old blue finished a unique toilette. Her ornaments were diamonds. After greeting the bride party the guests repaired to the lanai which was an fête for the occasion. The whole house was beautifully decorated with white marguerites, white carnations, white lilies and white asters. The hanging baskets of white marguerites suspended from the ceiling on the lanai were much admired. Asparagus plumosa was much used with exquisite effect and many of the larger pieces of fern tree were banked with flowers. The house resembled a huge garden for flowers were banked along the walls and ferns and flowers were on every side. The electric lights, softly shaded, made the scene fairy-like beyond description. The decorations surpassed anything ever done before in Honolulu, and the church was the handiwork of Mr. James Maguire. The music-room was decorated by Mrs. James Robertson and Mrs. Elizabeth Freeth and the lanai was in the hands of Mrs. Carl Widemann and Mr. Ernest Parker, who came from the other islands purposely for the event. A pavilion had been built at the rear of the house and here the refreshments were served from little tables. This most popular place was the unusual feature in the Collins message of May ninth, was recognized in Honolulu as that of Mrs. Herman Focke, a society matron of that city. She is the daughter of the late Paul Neumann, politician, raconteur and bon vivant, as well known in this city as in the islands. She is a very handsome and cultured woman and it was a great shock to her many friends to see her picture connected with such an unsavory mess as the Collins scandal. No doubt the error was regretted as much in the Chronicle office as in Honolulu.

A charming dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop on Tuesday evening at their beautiful residence in the Nuuanu valley. Those present were Lieut. and Mrs. Victor Blue, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Swamy, Miss Margaret Walker, Mr. Antonio Vizzavona, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Focke and Mr. Morris of the Bennington.

Lunching parties have been all the rage these beautiful moonlight nights, and Mr. Yates, of the Bennington, took advantage of such perfect conditions on Monday night to give a delightful affair. The launch went far beyond Diamond Head returning to the Bennington for a little supper which had been prepared for the jolly company. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Church, Mrs. Clifford Kimball, Miss Helen Kimball, Miss Marion Scott, Miss Tilly Neuman and the officers of the Bennington.

The Southern romance, Alabama, for the benefit of the Kunalu Rowing Club on next Thursday and Saturday evenings at the Opera House will probably call out a very large house. The club is a most interesting one, being entirely supported by the young women and the object of the drama will be a new boat house, for which the energetic members have planned for a long time. The Myrtle and Healan boat clubs have each taken a box for the opening night and they are to be decorated with the colors of each club. Mrs. Camp has charge of the decorations and she promises something both original and elaborate. The chorus singing of the old plantation melodies will be a feature of the evening. Several theater parties have already been planned for both nights and the seats are selling rapidly. The club members, patronesses and the cast are among the best known women in town and they are all working hard for the success of the entertainment, which promises to be unusual in every way. The cast is as follows, under the stage management of W. D. Adams: Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Irmgard Schaefer, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. J. Dougherty, Paymaster Brown, U. S. N., and Messrs. Dougherty, Raymond Brown, Gus Murphy, Blackman, Jordan, Webb and Jeffrey. Committee of general arrangements: Elsie Waterhouse (chairman), Charlotte Hall, Margaret Catton. Ushers: Members of the club—Sophia Judd, Elsie Waterhouse, Margaret Waterhouse, Marion Waterhouse, Margaret Catton (chairman), Ella Wight, Florence Hall, May Kluge, Elsie Wirthmuller, Jeannette Williamson, Elizabeth Joseph, Julia Damon. Tickets: Sophia Judd (chairman). Posters: Florence Hall (chairman). Decorations: Mrs. Camp and Julie Damon. Patronesses: Mrs. G. R. Carter, Mrs. Capt. Lyon, Mrs. T. A. Hays, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. Hawes, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Faxon Bishop, Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. Francis Judd, Mrs. Robt. Catton, Mrs. E. Waterhouse, Mrs. Dr. Camp, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Mrs. W. W. Hall, Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. Dr. Hoffmann, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Hocking, Mrs. Laura Wight.

My correspondent writes that society has been in a flutter over two June weddings, that of Miss Rose Cunha and Dr. H. V. Murray, already pulled off, and that of Miss Alice Campbell and Walter Macfarlane, scheduled for the twenty-fifth. Miss Alice Campbell is a sister of the Princess Kawanakoa, and a daughter of the late James Campbell, the multi-millionaire, who had such large property interests in San Jose, and who was the victim of one of the most sensational kidnappings in the history of California. Walter Macfarlane is a cousin of Harry Macfarlane, who married Polly Dunn. Both Miss Campbell and Miss Cunha belong to the younger element of the 45 HIGHEST WARDS IN EUROPE AND AMERICA.

The von Holts gave a dinner on Monday evening for Miss Ella Wight and Doctor Knudsen, and among those present were Mrs. Laura Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder and Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilder. The Doctor was also a passenger on the Manchuria. He will probably return in the fall.

Mrs. Basil Duke and Miss Duke sailed also and expect to spend some time in the East before returning to Kentucky. The Dukes were well liked in Honolulu and their friends were loth to see them depart. Miss Ella Stansbury, who is taking a well earned vacation; the David Rivers sailed also for their Boston home, and many others were aboard the popular liner.

Among the through passengers on the Manchuria were Mrs. E. Scofield and her four daughters. The Scofields spent some time at the Moana Hotel a few months ago and since then have been in Japan, where they took a house and lived in regular Japanese fashion. They were the first foreigners to make tea in the regular Japanese style and to dress like Japanese. So famous did they become on this account that a royal Princess of Japanese blood bade them call upon her and the high born Japanese vied in attending to the Scofields. They thoroughly enjoyed themselves and have nothing but praise for the courteous Japanese. They were accompanied by two maids and a valet in all their travels.

Mr. C. A. Davenport aboard the Manchuria was an old college friend of Ex-Governor Dole. Mr. and Mrs. Dole gave him a lunch at the Alexander, Young and spent some pleasant moments in reminiscence.

Mrs. Gerrit Wilder will be at home formally on Monday next for the last time this season. Many hostesses are receiving only informally during the warm months.

The ushers at "Alabama" will wear picture hats of different colors, and the Opera House will be elaborately decorated. Everybody is taking a great interest in the coming performance.

Governor and Mrs. George Carter gave a dinner last evening for Col. and Mrs. Heppburn. The table, oval in shape and beautifully decorated in pink carnations and maidenhair, was charming to look upon. The Government band played throughout the evening for the guests of the dinner. The table was as follows: Ex-President and Mrs. Sanford, Dole, Col. and Mrs. McClellan, Captain and Mrs. Lyon, Lieut. and Mrs. Victor Blue, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, Judge and Mrs. F. M. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Holloway and Col. A. G. Hawes.

Judge F. M. Hatch will be a passenger in the Alameda on Wednesday next for the Coast. He expects to go to Banff. Miss Jessie Kaufman will also sail for her home in San Francisco on Wednesday next. Miss Kaufman, brilliant and popular in society, will be much regretted. She has been a guest of the Hatches for the greater part of the year, and has done much to make the San Souci one of the pleasantest houses to visit, especially for the men, with whom she is a great favorite.

Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Gates arrived on the Manchuria from the Orient and are stopping at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis are at the Hawaiian Hotel.

The concert given at the Hawaiian Hotel on Tuesday evening was listened to with great interest and pleasure. Mrs. Ida Grey Scott sang delightfully and received much applause. Mrs. Barton's playing was a distinct success. Her style and technique are unusual and she received many encores. Mrs. Inga's power over the violin is acknowledged to be very wonderful and on Tuesday night she played brilliantly. Mr. Harry Jeffrey has been heard before, at the St. Clement's concert, and his sweet baritone gave great pleasure to the enthusiastic audience. Mr. Desky's composition was sung most sweetly by Mrs. Scott and Mr. Desky accompanied on the flute. It was a surprise to know we had such a good composer in our midst. Mrs. Barton accompanied the performers in her usual finished manner. After the concert dancing was indulged in by a large number of guests from the Manchuria as well as the townspeople and the Navy and Army contingent.

Among the arrivals on the China were popular Jack Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. William Hayward, who are at the Alexander Young Hotel. Mrs. Hayward is as charming as ever and seems delighted to be in Honolulu. Mrs. Klamp also returned after a visit with her father. The Alameda brought Dr. and Mrs. Geoffrey MacConnell, grandchildren of Mr. J. H. Bliss, and they are at the Moana Hotel. Mrs. MacConnell is a bride and was Miss Genevieve Knapp, a niece of Commander Knapp. They will remain here some weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Claus Spreckels were arrivals in the Alameda and the Spreckels mansion at Punahou has been put in order for their coming.

Lieut. Victor Blue has cards out for a reception on board the Bennington for Friday from 5 until 7.

Mr. Tarn McGrew will spend some time on Kaula with Mr. Eric Knudsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice of Kaula are stopping at the Royal Hotel until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Suhr are guests of the Herman Fockes during their visit here.

Captain and Mrs. Henry Lyon dined Captain Lucien Young on Tuesday evening.

Commander Lucien Young entertained at lunch yesterday on the Bennington for Captain Combe, Mr. Frelayson, Mr. Rowell and Dr. Sheldon.

Topoka (Kas.), June 7.—Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer of the United States, addressed the meeting of the Kansas Bankers' Association tonight on the lull in the currency discussion. Roberts said, in part:

"There is a deficit in revenue; but the Treasury has nearly $70,000,000 in the depository banks and over $55,000,000 in cash in its own vaults which it can use for current obligations. With $125,000,000 in actual money the Government can go on for two or three years without stringency, paying every obligation promptly and in full. Should the outlay continue to exceed the income the Secretary of the Treasury, under the act of June 13, 1898, can make temporary loans on certificates of indebtedness at 3 per cent, to meet public expenditures, to the amount of $100,000,000. For any Panama bonds Congress must grant the same advantage of lower tax on circulation secured by them as on other 2 per cents. They are not likely to be issued until the change shall be enacted. But with over $100,000,000 in hand, can there be excuse for borrowing now at all?"
"The question when to borrow, if at all, and how to bring receipts equal to outgo than expenditures, must soon be met. That problem always arises in weak as in strong nations. A growing power, as a growing family or a man emerging from boyhood, accepts the conditions cheerfully, and the American people will find a wise way to make both ends meet."
Young Professor (who has taken her down to dinner): By the way, Miss Gaswell, have you ever seen the nebula of Andromeda? Miss Gaswell: No, I was abroad with papa and mamma when that was played, but I've heard that it drew crowded houses. — CHI CAGO Tribune.
Colonel Bill Sapp, the chairman of the Kansas State Democratic Committee, is the direct descendant of a French dual house. One of his grandfathers was a teacher of Napoleon at one of the military schools.

WE LOOKED UP TO FIND A QUEER LITTLE OLD MAN IN THE DOORWAY.

THE OPEN DOOR.

ELSA PETERSON.
(Class Poem, H. H. S., 1905)

Framed in ocean, blue and sparkling; lit by tints of burnished gold,
Lies this land of verdant valleys,—lovely scene;
With its mountains tall and stately, dropping into headlands, bold.
O! there never was so fair a gem, I ween.
Balmy breezes, softly blowing, lure to rest;
Lulling duty's call, most urgent, though it be,
While the palm trees in their pride, stand guarding side by side,
And the restless waves roll lightly from the sea.

2.
In this sun-bathed, sea-girt isle, we've been reared and trained and taught.
Here was action, toil, and trial,—e'en with fun,
For we knew the work would win at the goal that all have sought,
As we journeyed through the courses here begun;
Through the mazes, through the worries, ever onward,
In the self-same ways of all who've gone before,
Till a timely duty done, and a present victory won,
We are standing now before the open door.

As the dreamy thoughts steal o'er us, and the mind recalls the day,
When we first joined hands as comrades in the fight,
We can view with curious wonder how the work turned into play;
For, as Freshmen, care and study were but light,
Then as Juniors, then as Seniors, came the labor,
As the meaning shone out to us more and more,
Till a timely duty done and the present victory won,
We may stand thus, now, before the open door.

As we halt here at the portals, open now to let us out,
We can reckon up the profits that we've gained.
There are larger hopes abounding; there is confidence, no doubt,
And the truest friendships e'er to be attained.
Cleared the vision, cleared the vista, for ambition,
As a master sternly drives us to the fore,
Where are duties to be done, where are victories to be won,
Which we see beyond the threshold of the door.

Swift as by a rushing river, we are swept on to our fate;
Boldly greet we signs and promise of the fray.
Surely, "though our hordes be little" yet we feel "our hearts are great,"
And we'll haste to meet the conflict in the way.
Laugh we in the face of fortune, e'en though we fail,
For we will be brave and seem so e'er and e'er,
And in every duty done, and in every victory won
We shall ever see another open door.

KAISER IS NOW PARAMOUNT RULER OF EUROPEAN NATIONS

NEW PICTURE OF GERMAN KAISER IN NAVAL UNIFORM.

New York, June 19.—A special to the Sun from London says: The new situation in London received fully as much attention as the opening of pourparlers by Russia and Japan. It is general recognized that the Kaiser has acquired paramountcy on the Continent, which makes him also the dictator of Europe. All estimates of the fall of Delcasse, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, agree that the consequences will be of vast importance not only to France, but to the entire world. France alone seems to fall to realize the significance of her virtual subordination to Germany. The damage to her prestige is far greater than in the Fashoda affair. There is little doubt that her rulers are convinced that the choice lay between war with Germany and the sacrifice of her greatest statesman. Rouvier will display toward the Kaiser a consideration, the absence of which for the past two years has been most galling to William's pride. He will probably accept Germany's demand for an international conference in regard to Morocco, and in that case Great Britain will also consent rather than risk a conflict. The Kaiser's complete supremacy will then be patent to all the world. There will probably be an attempt to placate him with the offer of a predominant interest in Southern Morocco with an Atlantic port. His chief object, of course, is to destroy the Anglo-French entente. He cannot succeed immediately, but he has plenty of patience when necessary.

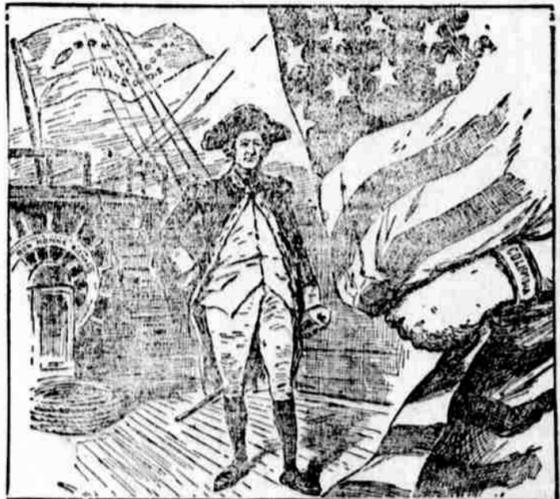

The Kaiser will probably have the deciding voice in the selection of the King of Norway. He desires to create a sort of rebund of Sweden, Norway and Denmark under his unofficial tutelage, which shall secure Scandinavia and the Baltic against any future Russian aggression. It is impossible to foresee where the Kaiser's hand will next be shown; but it is not to be supposed that he has yet taken full advantage of the opportunities created by the paralysis of Russia. He has reduced France to a satellite without striking a blow. There are some indications that he would have preferred resistance, for he was confident of an easy victory, and the reward would have been Madagascar, Indo-China and all other French colonies. American interests at the moment do not appear threatened by the vast ambitions of the German colossus.

Kansas City (Mo.), May 14.—Mystery surrounding the sudden death of young Herbert Croker widened into a dozen channels to-day on the arrival of Richard Croker, Jr., at the brier of his brother in Newton, Kan. It developed that the dead man had $300 on the morning of his fatal carousal, $100 of which the brother Richard had sent him, and with which $100 more was won at the racetrack. "Where did he lose the difference between the $300 and the $19 found in his pockets?" Mr. Croker asked Detective Edward Boyle when they met at the Union depot. With all of the Kansas City newspapers publishing the announcement by Chief Hayes that the investigation was ended satisfactorily to the police and the Croker family, a new secret search was begun. The first move was a secret and carefully guarded raid on a resort which it was known young Croker and the negro porter, Charles Wilson, visited on the same night. Wilson was discharged to-day from custody, the two chinamen, Lee Fook, alias Ah Lee, and George Kee, being held on the charge of selling opium. The discharge of Wilson is part of this secret campaign, as are the announcements to local newspapers that the question is ended. All persons will be under close surveillance.

It was discovered to-day that another white man was smoking opium in the den of Lee Fook during the hour which Herbert Croker was there Thursday night.

Marmaduke: Before we were married she used to say "Bye-bye" so sweetly when I went down the steps. Montmorency: And what does she say now? Marmaduke: Oh, just the same thing. "Bye, bye." Montmorency: Ah, I see; she exercises a different spell over you. — Washington Life.

How The Battle Was Fought

St. Petersburg, June 1.—Official reports bearing on the naval battle are beginning to be received by the Emperor and Grand Duke Alexis, the High Admiral, the most important of these reports revealing the fate of the cruiser Izumrud, being a telegram from her captain, Baron Ferzen, dated June 1st, saying that he had blown up the cruiser at the entrance of Vladimir bay, and briefly describing the battle.

The Baron says that before dark on May 27th the Oslaba, Alexander III and Borodino had been sunk, and that the Kniiaz Souvaroff, the Kamchatka and the Ural had been seriously damaged and were lost to sight. The command then developed on Rear-Admiral Nebogatoff. In the evening, the Nikolai I, the Orel, the General Admiral Apraxin, the Admiral Senyavin, the Admiral Oushakoff, the Sissol Veliky, the Navarin, the Admiral Nakhimoff and the Izumrud sailed northeastward, the latter being charged to transmit orders to the battleships. Two other cruisers were cut off from the fleet and were not again seen.

The battleships, steaming at four or five knots, were repeatedly attacked by the Japanese torpedo boats, especially at the extremities of the line. At sunrise May 28th smoke from the Japanese ships reappeared on the horizon, whereupon the Admiral gave orders for increased speed. The Admiral Sangavin and General Admiral Apraxin dropped behind. Toward 10 o'clock the Japanese fleet appeared, first to port and then to starboard, while the cruiser division maneuvered behind the Russians to starboard. Baron Ferzen's account continues:

"I was cut off from the squadron, and finding it impossible to rejoin it, resolved to make for Vladivostok. I put on full speed, and the enemy's cruisers came in pursuit. Owing to the insufficiency of my supply of coal and the certainty of meeting the enemy's cruisers, I subsequently altered for Vladimir Bay, where I arrived on the night of May 29th. At 1:30 o'clock the next morning, in pitch darkness, the Izumrud ran full on a reef at the entrance to the bay. Having only ten tons of coal and seeing that it would be impossible to refuel my vessel, I ordered the crew ashore and blew up the Izumrud to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy. Ten of my sailors were wounded in the battle, but the officers and the rest of the crew are all safe."

According to the dispatches from Baron Ferzen, the commander of the cruiser Izumrud, the battleships remaining in the fight were still in squadron formation when he was cut off, and this increases the deep resentment felt here at the surrender of the ships, the Novoe Vremya even declaring that the officers ought to be court-martialed and shot for hauling down their flags and turning their ships over to the Japanese.

The report from Lieutenant Dornovo of the torpedo boat destroyer Bravi, telling how that boat was disabled on the first day of the fight and escaping to Vladivostok through the midst of a hostile flotilla of destroyers, being obliged even to burn her woodwork to reach the harbor, awakens a gleam of satisfaction, and, though the Izumrud failed to reach Vladivostok, her destruction at the hands of her own crew is regarded with almost equal pleasure.

The saddest note for St. Petersburg is struck by the destruction of the battleship Alexander III, which was manned by sailors of the guard and officered exclusively by men prominent in society and at court. Her crew served during the winter time as a regiment of the guard, of which the Dowager Empress was honorary commander.

RETINA OF THE EYE DISPLACED BY GLASS

New York, June 8.—A remarkable surgical operation at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary has demonstrated that the lens of the human eye can be removed and glasses fitted in its place that will focus the light on the retina as correctly as the lens provided by nature.

The patient was Clarence Coshburn, 27 years old, of this city. The operation was performed Monday. Today the bandages were removed and Coshburn for the first time in his life was able to distinguish objects.

Coshburn was born practically blind. He had expected to remain blind until the grave closed over him, but Dr. William Holzappel became interested in his case and agreed to perform an operation.

The first stages of the disease are usually found in children's eyes, where sight is hindered by an opaqueness of the lens of the eyeball. This is usually treated by making an incision in the iris and cleansing the lens with a liquid. In the advanced stage the opaqueness has had the effect of making the lens perfectly hard and it can be removed from the eyeball and a glass of Father—My boy, you must know that there is a great waste of time in playing cards.

Son—Oh, yes, you're right, dad. Less a fearful lot of time dealing between the games, don't you?

equal strength placed before the eye. Coshburn's case was neither of these. The lenses had become opaque, but neither of them had solidified sufficiently to permit of their being removed with ease.

Dr. Holzappel, in the presence of many of the most prominent eye specialists in New York, made a slit about one-sixteenth of an inch in the iris of the eye. Then, with a delicately pointed knife, he cut all around the tissue which holds the lens in position and removed it.

After the operation the eyes were bandaged and allowed to heal. Today a glass lens of proper focus was fitted to the right eye, with the result that ultimate success is assured.

Kid McCoy Strikes A Wealthy Angel

New York, June 10.—Kid McCoy and a part of the $5,000,000 inherited by Mrs. Estelle Ellis, who is to be his wife, are expected to cut a wide swath in the racing world. McCoy is very busy buying in his wife's name a string of horses which he expects to race this season.

Mrs. Ellis and her husband-to-be went to the Gravesend track in a big Mercedes car, and while at the Whitney stable auction purchased Pamela for $1,200. This was the first intimation any one had of what they were doing and McCoy at first denied that he was going into the racing business. Finally he admitted it, however, and gave an outline of what he was doing.

Today he made application to the stewards of the Jockey Club for colors "for life." He has decided to use primrose with white dots. John Thornby has been asked to take charge of the stable for this season and he is trying to induce Johnson to ride for him.

It is less than two weeks ago that it became known that Mrs. Ellis, whose husband was a grandson of the noted Schenectady locomotive builder, was to wed the prize-fighter, whose real name is Norman Selby.

McCoy first met Mrs. Ellis before she became the wife of "Ned" Ellis, who earned a great reputation under the white lights on Broadway. She was a friend of one of McCoy's wives and as a girl was Estelle Earle.

Wildcats are on the increase in Scotland. One measuring four feet long was captured in a trap in Poolwee a few weeks ago.

HOME OF COUNT OKUMA IN TOKYO.

Count Okuma, who recently stated in an interview that in the future Japan must be the arbiter of affairs in the far east, is a former premier of Japan and one of the mikado's shrewdest financiers and statesmen. Despite his great wealth he lives very simply, and his home in Tokyo is less pretentious than many summer bungalows owned by well to do Americans.

The Captain of the Janizaries

By JAMES M. LUDLOW

Copyright, 1886, by Dodd, Mead & Co. Copyright, 1890, by James M. Ludlow

The consideration of Ballaban led him to select the house of Phranza as the place to which Morisina was taken. The noble site and substantial structure of the mansion of the late chamberlain commended it to the sultan for the temporary haremlik, and the familiar rooms alleviated, like the faces of mute friends, the wideness of the grief of their only familiar captive.

Constantine after his escape from the sultan's tent, where he had been taken for the demented Ballaban, was unable to enter Constantinople before it fell. His heart was torn with agonizing solicitude for the fate of Morisina. He knew too well the determination of the dauntless girl in the event of her falling into the hands of the Turks. Filling his dreams at night and rising before him as a terrible apparition by day was that loved form a suicide empurged with his own grave. Yet love and duty led him to seek her, or at least to seek the certainty of her fate. He therefore disguised himself as a Moslem and mingled with the throng of soldiers and adventurers who entered the city under its new possessors. He wandered for hours about the familiar streets that perchance he might come upon some memorial of her. The secrets of the royal harem he could not explore, even if suspicion led his thoughts thither. The proximity of the residence of Phranza was guarded by the immediate servants of the sultan, so that he was deprived of even the fond misery of visiting the scenes so associated with his former joy.

In passing through one of the narrowest and foulest streets, the only ones that had been left undisturbed by the vandalism of the conquerors, he came upon an old woman, hideous in face and decrepit, whom he remembered as a beggar at the gate of Phranza. From her he learned many stories of the last hours of the siege.

According to her story, she had gone among the first to St. Sophia. When the Moslems entered they tied her by a silken girdle to the person of the grand chamberlain and, amid the jeers of the soldiers, marched them together to the hippodrome. She remembered the sultan as he rode on his horse—how he struck with his battle hammer one of the silver heads of the bronze serpents and cried, "So I smite the heads of the kingdom!" Just as he did so he turned and saw her in her rags tied to the courtly robed lord and in an angry voice commanded that the princely man be loosed from contact with the filthy hag. Phranza was taken away, but nobody cared to take her away. She was trampled by the crowd, but lived. And nobody thought of turning her out of her hovel home. She was as safe as a rat when the robbers have killed the nobler inmates of a house.

The woman said that she had heard that the daughter of Phranza was sent away somewhere to an island home. But the Albanian princess—yes, she knew her well, for no hand used to drop so bountifully the alms she asked or said so kindly, "Jesu pity you, my good woman!" as did that beautiful lady. The beggar declared that she stood near her by the altar in St. Sophia. "She looked so saintly there! There was a real aureole about her head as she prayed, so she was a saint indeed. Then she raised her dagger! But the wretched watcher could watch no longer, though she heard her cry so wild that she would never cease to hear it.

The beggar ceased her story. All her words had cut through her listener's heart as if they had been daggers. "It is well," he said. "I will go to Albania. Among those who loved her I will worship her memory, and, under Castriot, I will seek my revenge."

CHAPTER XXX.

MORISINA'S fears and her horror at the anticipated life in the harem were not confirmed by its actual scenes. Except for the constant surveillance of the Nubian eunuchs and female attendants there was no restriction upon her liberty. She passed through the familiar corridors and rested upon the divan in what had been her own chamber in better days. Other female captives became her companions, but among them were none of those belonging to Constantinople. Suburban villages were represented, but most of the odalisks were Circassian beauties whose conduct did not indicate that they felt any shame in their condition.

To Morisina's diversion one was introduced into the harem who spoke her own Albanian tongue. This newcomer was of undoubted beauty, so far as that quality could be the product of merely physical elements. It was of the kind that might bind a god on earth, but could never help a soul to heaven.

This woman's vanity did not long keep back the story of her life. She told of her conquest of the village swains who fought for the possession of her charms, of the devotion of an Albanian prince who took her dowryless in preference to the ladies of great family and fortune and would have bestowed upon her the heirship of his estates, of how she was stolen away from the great castle by a company of Turkish officers, who afterward fought among themselves for the privilege of presenting her to the mother of the sultan, for it was about the time of the Ramadan feast, when the sultan's mother made an annual gift to her son of the most beautiful woman she could secure. The vain captive declared that the jealousy of the odalisks at Adrianople had led the kishar aga to send her here to Constantinople. "And who was the Albanian nobleman whose bride you had become?" asked Morisina.

"Oh, one who is to be king of Albania one day, the vovode Amesa." "Ah," said Morisina, "this is news from my country! When was it determined that Amesa should be king?" "Oh, every one speaks of it at the castle as if it were well understood. And when he becomes king then he will claim me again from Mahomet, though he must ransom me with half his kingdom. Yes, I am to be a queen, and indeed I may be one already, for perhaps Lord Amesa is now on the throne. And that is the reason I wear the cord of gold in my hair, for one day my royal lover will put the crown here."

The bedizened beauty rose and paced to and fro through the great salon. The pride which gave the majestic toss to her head, however it would have marred that ethereal form which the inner eye of the moralist or the Christian always sees and which is called character, only gave an additional charm to her, as the delicate yet stately comb of the peacock adds to the fascination of that bird.

As the other women gazed at this self-assumed queen of the harem the green fire of jealousy flashed alike from black eyes and blue. The straight, thin noses of the Greeks for the moment forgot their classic models and dilated as if in rivalry, while the straight mouth of the daughter of the Nile writhed in indescribable curves, indicative of unmingled wrath, hatred, pique and scorn.

At this moment the purple hangings which separated the salon from the open court were held aside by the silver staff of the eunuch in charge, and the young sultan stood as a spectator of the scene.

"Ah, Tamlich," cried he, addressing the black eunuch, "you were right in saying that the great haremlik at Adrianople, with its thousand goddesses, could not rival this temporary one for the fairness of the birds you have caged in it."

The young sultan stood as a spectator of the scene.

The women made a salutation with the right hand just sweeping the floor and then pressed consecutively to the left, the lips and the forehead, a movement denoting reverence and at the same time giving field for the display of the utmost grace of motion.

The padishah passed among these his slaves with the license which betokened his absolute ownership, stroking their hair and toying with their persons according to his amiable or insolent caprice. Morisina, however, was spared this familiarity. The sultan himself colored slightly as he addressed her a few words in Greek, of which language, in common with several others, he knew enough to act as his own interpreter. His questions were respectful, all limited to her comfort in her new home. With Elissa, the queenly Albanian, he was at once on terms of intimacy.

As the sultan withdrew the eunuch Tamlich remarked to him: "My surmise of your excellency's judgment was verified. Said I not that the two Arnaouts were the fairest? And did I not behold your majesty gaze longest upon them?"

No Friend of His.

"I hear that you said I was the biggest fool in town." "No, sir; I did not. I do not credit you with enough ingenuity to take front rank in any profession."—Chicago Tribune.

SETTLE CHURCH LANDS

PROBLEMS THAT BESET THE CHURCH IN PHILIPPINES

SCHISM OF AGLIPAY WHO CALLS HIMSELF CHURCH HEAD IN ISLANDS—TAFT'S PLAN IS WEAK.

Rome, May 11.—Mgr. Agius, the new Apostolic Delegate to the Philippine Islands, has arrived at Manila.

Letters received at the Vatican while Mgr. Agius was still in Washington informed the Propaganda that the American Government had consented to enlarge the powers of the local courts in the islands so that all questions regarding the ownership of church property there may be finally settled by the local judges. This is considered a very important point in favor of the Church, which has always contended that the church buildings and other properties at present in the possession of Aglipay's followers are by right the property of the Catholics in the islands, although their title was not vested, as is the case in America, in the persons of the bishops of other ecclesiastical, but was the property of the congregations at large.

As there is not a single instance in the archipelago where a whole congregation has gone over to Aglipay, Mgr. Agius has been instructed to make the contention in the courts that such property must be returned to its lawful holders previous to the schism, and that the rightful representatives of such owners are in every case the bishops recently appointed in the islands.

The schism of Aglipay, who styles himself at present the National Archbishop of the Archipelago, and the validity of whose consecration is considered here very doubtful, has been a thorn in the side of the officials of the Congregation of Propaganda for several months. It is thought here that a decision awarding the church property to the legitimate authorities will be a crushing blow to Aglipay's followers, who would find themselves without any place of worship. As their financial condition does not permit them to build new churches, it is felt at the Vatican that the schism would soon come to an end.

Manila newspapers seem to be unanimous in denouncing the agreement entered into by Gov. Taft and the representatives of the religious orders regarding the sale of the lands held by the friars as being the result of representation at the hands of the friars. It is well known at the Vatican that even Catholic editors in the Philippine Islands are angry that so many millions of dollars should not remain in the islands, and Gov. Taft is much criticized for his credulity in the friars' promises. Many protests have recently been received by the Vatican from the islands. For this reason Pius X. instructs Mgr. Agius to bend all his efforts toward retaining as much of the money as possible for the support of the Church in the archipelago.

As the religious orders interested, among them the Jesuits, the Dominicans and the Franciscans, had recently insisted upon a prompt division of the $5,000,000 still remaining on deposit in a New York bank among their representatives, Pius X. informed Cardinal Vives Tuto, who represented the religious orders interested, that he would not allow the remaining funds to be given entirely to the orders concerned, but that at least a portion of the money was to remain for use among the dioceses in the islands.

The first step of Mgr. Agius on his arrival in America was to practically tie up the funds at the disposal of the religious orders, which now the Government will refuse to pay out, because of the representations made by the Apostolic Delegate, until the Church authorities shall be in perfect accord in the matter. Mgr. Agius has been instructed to make a strict investigation as to how much of the land bought by the American Government really belonged to the religious orders, and how much was the property of the several parishes, as such, for the support of the clergy in charge of them at the time. From his report the authorities of the Vatican will be able to determine how the money is to be divided.

It has been determined that the Pope will compel the religious orders concerned to accept his decision as final. Under their vow of obedience to the Holy See, the command cannot be disobeyed.

The amount which Mgr. Agius shall determine as the absolute property of the churches in the islands will be divided by the new Apostolic Delegate among the four Bishops in the archipelago and to the support of the clergy until the churches shall have become self-supporting.

It is hoped to largely increase this amount in the near future by the settlement of claims now pending before the courts in the islands for damages done to church property at the time of the American occupation. While in Washington, Mgr. Agius received assurances that all such claims would soon be settled. It is understood here that they will amount to nearly three millions of dollars.

Once the financial condition of the churches in the islands has been properly provided for, Mgr. Agius's duties will have ended and he will be recalled to Rome to be intrusted with higher honors.

Battleship Orel Peppered With Shells

Tokio, June 7.—A correspondent has been permitted to inspect the Russian battleship Orel, now lying at Maluru.

The Orel received a terrible battering. Her hull shows forty gaping holes pierced by large shells and many smaller, where she had been hit, while the superstructure, her upper works and upper decks, were riddled by shell, steel fragments and splinters. The starboard forward 12-inch gun was smashed ten feet from the muzzle, either by shell or by explosion. A fragment of the gun went over the bridge, smashing the rail, and, after carrying away the breech, a 12-pounder, buried itself in the signal locker. From the main deck upward the condition of the vessel was terrible to behold. Steel partitions were smashed, the gangway was broken and stanchions wrecked. Gear of various kinds covered the decks, and the state of the alleyways shows that the ship was on fire several times. The mark of the flames increased the scene of desolation. The main armor belt is intact.

The turret armor generally withstood the battering from shells, although two of the six-inch turrets were rendered unserviceable by shots which struck them close to their base. Several of the smaller guns were dismounted and smashed.

A gruesome sight was a bulkhead bespattered with blood, fragments of flesh and hair.

The Orel is structurally sound, although it will be necessary to practically reconstruct her from the waterline up. The condition of the ship shows that the crew underwent a terrible ordeal before they surrendered.

Learning To Handle The Deadly Submarine

Plymouth, Eng., June 9.—Submarine boat A-8, which was lost off the breakwater here yesterday morning, rests on an even keel on a sandy bottom. Thirteen bodies are still entombed in the boat, divers who worked all day long yesterday recovering only one body. It is expected that the vessel will be refloated tomorrow.

The dangers incident to the employment of submarine vessels received a fresh illustration at the court of inquiry into the loss of the A-8, which was held here today. The evidence went to support the theory that the accident was due to the deflection of the horizontal rudder while the boat was running lightly on the surface with her full buoyancy and the cover of the conning tower open. The effect of the rudder being deflected under such conditions was the cause of the rapid downward movement, which has been described as a "dip." This brought the top of the conning tower awash, admitting an inrush of water. The divers discovered that there were no holes in the vessel.

HIGH PRICED HORSES.

New York, June 10.—The entire stable of twenty-nine two-year-olds belonging to the estate of the late W. C. Whitney were sold at Gravesend today. The lot brought $137,500. With but one or two exceptions the colts and fillies were by Hamburg. Harry Payne Whitney, under whose colors some of them have started, was a liberal buyer and was forced to pay big prices. Burge master, winner of the rich Great Britain Stakes last Saturday, was the star of the sale. He was bought by Harry Payne Whitney for $20,000. Mr. Whitney paid $16,000 for Queen of Hearts, a full sister to Artful, winner of last year's Futurity; $10,000 for Pegasus, $7,000 for Israel, $5,000 for Ironsides, $7,000 for Fairy Prince and $5,000 for Battle Ax. Duenna was sold to Tom Walsh for $6,100.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News.

LAW OFFICES OF HENLEY & COSTELLO San Francisco, April 24, 1905.

To the legal profession: I was a witness to the following: Two years ago Professor Yost of Palo Alto, who was in an extreme condition due to Bright's Disease, came to my office with his physician (who had Diabetes) to meet a party who claimed cures had been discovered for these fatal diseases. The facts cited were astounding and both went on the treatment. To the amazement of us all, both recovered, and the physician is now using the treatment in his practice.

Learning that my old law partner, Judge R. R. Bigelow had Bright's Disease, and that his case was looked upon as hopeless by his physicians, I told him of it. It resulted in his complete recovery. As to the curability of Bright's Disease and Diabetes, I have no more doubt about it than that I am living.

CARDUI

Menstrual disorders, leucorrhoea, bearing down pains, sap the vitality out of womanhood. Wine of Cardui makes motherhood possible because it cures these troubles—not simply temporarily relieving the pain, but driving out these diseases completely.

Wine of Cardui fits a woman for every duty of life.

Three Happy Mothers

MRS. C. BRAMANN, of Groveland, Neb.: I was in bad health and suffered great pain at the monthly periods. After using Wine of Cardui I was greatly relieved and two months ago gave birth to a fine baby boy.

MRS. TOM MURRAY, of Rocheston, Mo.: Two years ago I spent about half the winter in bed. In February I commenced to take your Wine of Cardui. I was better at once and in a month was like a different person. My baby was born on Easter morning and my health has been good ever since. Every expectant mother should use this excellent medicine.

H. G. SHELBY, of Montrose, La.: Year before last I paid $50.00 doctor bills for my wife. After that my wife used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and nine months after she gave birth to a thirteen pound boy baby and I haven't paid any doctor bill since.

Wine of Cardui is yours to take today. You can secure a $1.00 bottle from your druggist.

OUR OCCASIONAL LETTER BOX.

A reader at Kalaheo sends us some clippings from the Memphis (Tenn.) "Commercial Appeal" in which the decadence of newspaper criticism and the absence of real literature in America is interestingly discussed.

In the Bulletin of Oct. 19, 1904, and several previous issues, we took up the subject, and copied a bit of forcible writing from Lummis who has much the same opinion as the editor of the Memphis paper. Late numbers of the "N. Y. Times and Saturday Review" and "The Bookman" have both had timely articles on the subject, and "The Dial" (Feb. 16) in a contribution by C. L. Moore entitled, "The American Literary Instinct," covers the ground in a fearless way.

The truth is, we are too much taken up with money getting and the carrying of our purely selfish careers to give literature the study and consideration it demands. With the best of us it is a side issue or a means of acquiring dollars and cents, and until the time comes when we shall follow literature for the real love and pleasure of it, critics will lament our mediocre output.

In the South there is a more thoughtful, a more sentimental, more poetical section, and some of our best books have come from there. It is questionable whether the "new industrial impetus" in the South; the invasion of its quiet and contemplation (its moss-grown and moss-backed roofs, if you will) by "northern energy" and Yankee thrift, have been anything to be glad over.

There was an atmosphere of quality in the homes of the leisurely class down there which could not last in the bustling, windy presence of practical, materialistic business men.

Notwithstanding the fact that newspaper reviews are said to be not worth considering, both publishers and authors are anxious to have them, and when a book comes to the reviewer and by some hook or crook (usually a crook of the mails) the notice does not reach either publisher or author, we soon hear from them.

We are quite flattered by the receipt of many letters from authors some of whom have not received the review they were looking for, as, for instance, the two or three we have received in the last few days:

"Chicago, Ill., April 10, 1905.
"Dear Sir: I have not received the review of my book—which I have been looking forward to with intense interest."
"Baltimore, Md., April 1, 1905.
"Dear Sir: You received my book no doubt, but I haven't got the review. I'm anxious to have it for I read one of your reviews of 'When Wilderness Was King' that pleased me very much."
"W."
"There is a little blarney here, no doubt, in anticipation of a review; for these things do often dull the edge of a reviewer's blade."
The following good-natured letter from the author of "Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky at the World's Fair," came a few days ago. The author is not over pleased, of course, but he has humor and good sense enough not to get angry, though he gives the distant editor what he considers a gentle dig: "I want to thank you for the very just criticism of my World's Fair 'pot-boiler.' Outside of one other, I appreciated it (roasts and all) more than anything I received, and I have about 1000. You are certainly as shrewd and wise as the proverbial owl. As you surmised, the author is a Hoosier of Southern descent (South Carolina and Kentucky mixed) and knows as much about Maine dialect as a stinging Yankee does about the beauties of Honolulu.
"Very sincerely,
"W. H. WILLIAMS."

Another kind of letter (of which we have received a large number from well known authors of popular novels) was written us by the author of a book which had a great "run":
"Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 10, 1905.
"The modest package containing the important Bulletin arrived and was pigeon-holed at the Bobbs-Merrill office. I thank you heartily for it. It is one of the best reviews I have seen, and quite the best in point of helpfulness to the author. Criticism that generalizes may serve the public and doubtless that is the aim of most literary editors. But the review that lays a finger on shortcomings and specifies the bad and good points, is of actual benefit to the writer. It is mine to live up to your kindly expectations. My debt of gratitude to you is very large."
"M."

The Bulletin Bookman has no strings tied to him. He has no axe to grind. Every book he has reviewed or shall review has been and will be reviewed absolutely on its merits without regard to author or publisher. We shall not be "ungenerous" to any book, be the writer or publisher never so obscure, but the author of a previous novel with a big sale whose new book comes heralded by great names, will not prepossess us into granting a poor book.

Of course we are bound by our own literary limitations; that cannot be helped. We shall do the best we can, however, with the brains we have at hand.

Such being the case, letters like the one just quoted are very gratifying, and the Bulletin Bookman offers due thanks for them.

The author of a large number of good books writes from Oakland, California under recent date:
"I have seen and appreciated some very sympathetic reviews which you

Ready With Japanese To Work On Canal

Washington, June 8.—The President now has before him a proposition made by Minister Takahira of Japan to furnish an required number of Japanese laborers for Panama Canal work at 75 cents a day, transportation to and from the isthmus to be furnished by the Japanese Government and the United States to furnish board, housing and medical attendance. This offer was made by Minister Takahira after receiving data gathered by Consul Uyeno of San Francisco, who visited Panama in company with a Japanese army surgeon. It is understood here that the Japanese laborers in question are now serving as soldiers in the Far East and will be taken to Panama in army transports.

Minister Takahira's offer is taken, of course, as indicating the confidence of the Japanese Government that the war with Russia will soon terminate. So far as can be learned the President is not inclined to accept the offer of the Japanese Minister on account of the growing opposition to the admission of Japanese laborers into the United States. If the coolies are admitted to the canal zone there will be no method under the present law of preventing them from entering the United States. Chinese coolies, on the other hand, may be employed at Panama and excluded from this country. Unless means are found for preventing wholesale immigration of Japanese laborers into this country, it is not likely they will be introduced into the canal zone.

James Doesn't Like The Yankee English

Philadelphia, June 8.—Henry James took a fling at American newspapers and public schools today while talking to Bryn Mawr College girls at their commencement. He placed newspapers and schools in the class of what he considers evil influence on English speech, helping to keep it "untidy and slovenly."

President Thomas introduced Mr. James to the girls, saying they were to "hear from his own lips what is thought of our matchless English by one of the greatest masters of written English." James surely told them what he thought of it.

"There are millions of homes in America," he said, "in which the people call themselves educated, and yet they talk about 'vanillier eyes-cream,' that 'feller,' 'Portor Ricor,' 'dorgs,' and use similar slovenly expressions."

He also reports strongly against the immigration of Chinese coolies into the Philippines. A majority of the Philippine merchants favor such emigration, but Reynolds believes that the presence of these Chinese laborers retards the assimilation of the native races.

FAVORS THE CHINESE.

Colombo, Ceylon, June 7. — James Bronson Reynolds, a well known university settlement worker and sociologist, who is here at present on his way home to the United States after a tour of investigation in China and the Philippines, will report direct to President Roosevelt recommending that facilities be given for the entrance into the United States of Chinese students and merchants.

He also reports strongly against the immigration of Chinese coolies into the Philippines. A majority of the Philippine merchants favor such emigration, but Reynolds believes that the presence of these Chinese laborers retards the assimilation of the native races.

WIFE BEATER LASHED.

Portland, Ore., June 7.—The "whipping post" law passed at the last session of the Legislature was carried into execution for the first time today when Charles McGinty, convicted of wife beating, received twenty lashes, the maximum punishment. The lash was applied by Jailer Grafton under the direction of Sheriff Thomas Word and the supervision of Assistant County Physician C. C. McCormack. The whip was a braided blacksnake made of rawhide with four lashes.

McGinty, after receiving the sentence in the State Circuit Court, was hustled to the jail, where he was stripped to the waist and his manacled hands tied to a door in the jail corridor high above his head. The beating was as severe as the powerful jailer was capable of making it. Blood was drawn at the fourth blow from the lashes. McGinty writhed and groaned and strained at the manacles binding his wrists.

When the punishment had been concluded McGinty was released and a few minutes later left the jail unassisted. McGinty was punished for having repeatedly struck his frail wife and for having blackened her eyes because she refused to hand over her earnings for him to squander.

NEARY-HERRERA FIGHT.

Grand Rapids (Mich.), June 8.—When Referee Lynch declared the Neary-Herrera bout a draw at the end of the twentieth round tonight the Mexican rushed at him and was only restrained from another fight by his seconds. The verdict was a just one. Herrera has the most steam behind his blows, but never at any time did he seem to have Neary going. The Milwaukee boxer led in the second, third and seventh rounds. Herrera became groggy and distressed in the third. The fourth and sixth rounds were in favor of the Mexican. Neary led throughout the fight, never let up on his speed at any time and won the sympathy of the crowd, which shouted for him at the close.

Blank Books of all sorts, ledgers, etc., manufactured by the Bulletin Publishing Company.

Publishers are always courteous to the literary editor and often chatty with him.

A letter coming with a volume by the last mail says: "We have never seen your city but have heard so much of its beauty that we feel we should know it well. Not long since we met an Australian who was returning from a trip around the world, via Canada. We asked: 'Of all the cities you have seen on your tour what ones pleased you most?' 'Without a moment's hesitation he answered: 'Honolulu and Toronto.'"

Our batch of peppy letters is small this time. The long "dry spell" may have had something to do with it. "K" wants to know why the B. B. doesn't review the English dictionary, word for word, as the subject changes often. In answer, I may say that I have often thought of doing that very thing but have been deterred by a knowledge of the fact that we should soon come to a word which a person like "K" could not be made to understand without recourse to a sledge hammer.

But, speaking of dictionaries, there is a good story of Mark Twain told this month in "The Dial" (I think). After listening to a good sermon in Dr. Van Dyke's church by the pastor, Mark went up to him thanking him for the suggestive words, then remarking: "By the way doctor, I have read every word of that sermon in a book I have at home." "Impossible," said the shocked doctor. "Yes, indeed," insisted Mark, "every word."

"Will you let me have that book," asked the incredulous pastor, and in about two hours' time Dr. Van Dyke had an unabridged dictionary in his hands delivered by Mark Twain's messenger!

"Philander" writes to say that the B. B. probably thinks he is smart, and in writing a certain passage (which is quoted) we no doubt "gloried and gleeed" over its felicitous "turn and curve."

If the B. B. ever gets up from his desk with any such ideas of his own importance or smartness, he is soon dispossessed of them by meeting with persons like "Philander."

As for "Turns and curves," the B. B. knows generally what he wants to say and he says it in the only language at his command. If his English is felicitous or the reverse it is due perhaps to his unfortunate bringing up among users of simple English. He never talked Choctaw. As for Scotch dialects, Irish brogue and pigeon English, he sees no reason why he should adopt them simply to please the understanding of "Philander."

A correspondent asks what the B. B. thinks of County Government. I'm afraid the subject's too deep for him.

Besides, he hasn't lived in a county for so long he has almost forgotten how it feels. It will develop manliness and bring a kindlier spirit to those who live in it, lessen hate, spite and sheer malevolence, diminish hurtful gossip, and make men and women more willing to see their neighbors get good salaries and eat turkey at Thanksgiving; if it will make officials honest, ministers consistent, lawyers desire peace and doctors the health of their patrons; if it will keep the newspapers truthful, and anonymous correspondents kindly—if, in fine, it will make small farming pay in Hawaii, I'll commit myself by saying that County government would be worth calling an extra session of Legislature to get.

SAVE-THE-HORSE SPAVIN CURE

The.. Proofs Of Its Power

RANCHO DEL VALLE, PLEASANTON, CALIFORNIA. LLENTHAL & CO. BEALE & MISSION ST. San Francisco, Cal.

In regard to "Save-the-Horse" I used it on the running horse Col. Roosevelt that had broken down in training for two or three years past; is now in good shape and will certainly be able to race as well as ever before. Have also used it on the horse Greyfield with satisfactory results. Will add I have seen "Save-the-Horse" remove a deep-seated ringbone from a Director trotting horse in Monroe Salisbury's stable.

I am pleased to be able to recommend "Save-the-Horse" from actual experience. Yours truly, H. W. JOHNSON. Pleasanton, Cal., Oct. 29.

Positively and Permanently Cures Rheumatism, Stiff Neck, Sore Throat, Wind Puff, Broken down, Injured and Ruptured tendons and all lamenesses. "SAVE-THE-HORSE" cures without scar, blemish or loss of hair. Horse can work as usual.

EUROPEAN WAR HAS BEEN IN PAST YEAR OFTEN THREATENED

New York, June 12.—A special to the Sun from London says: Two or three times within a dozen years Europe has been on the verge of a great war and has been unaware of the imminent danger until the crisis passed. There was such a moment when Lord Rosebery delivered the ultimatum to France during the Siamese dispute. There was another such moment during the Fashoda incident. Yesterday a similar peril menaced European peace and today the crisis is still unsolved, although diplomacy takes heart again from the news that Delcasse, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, has withdrawn his resignation. Germany has quietly encouraged Russia to pursue the war toward a point of partial exhaustion. The loss of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet would render her practically impotent so far as any new enemy is concerned. What is more obvious than the opportunity that is created for the Kaiser to fish in troubled waters? What could be plainer from his recent action than his intention to take the fullest advantage of this opportunity? His gratuitous interference in Morocco is now fully recognized by France and England as part of a deep, malevolent plan to breed international strife. It is directed as much against one country as the other. It is his spiteful reply to the Anglo-French entente, which he resents and hopes to destroy.

Delcasse and Lord Lansdowne, the French and British Ministers of Foreign Affairs, respectively, understood the maneuvers from the first. The former desired to ignore it as a bluff, thus putting upon Germany the onus of any fresh aggression. Premier Rouvier's new ministry was alarmed by Germany's threatening attitude, and wished to propitiate her by negotiation. Delcasse yielded to the extent of assuring Germany that he was willing to give the fullest explanation of French policy and intentions. Germany replied with a bitter newspaper campaign against France and England and the suggestion of the appointment of an international commission in reference to Morocco, which would ignore the French understanding in regard to that country. This would have been equivalent to canceling this agreement, and Delcasse would not consent to abandon the French position. The support of his colleagues was so lukewarm that the Foreign Minister determined to resign. It was a weak and dangerous action on the part of the greatest of European diplomats, except so far as it is justified by results. Had he retired, Germany's diplomatic success would have been a signal victory, and it would have led to far-reaching consequences in European history. It was indeed the thing most hoped for among the effects of the Berlin machinations.

Delcasse, however, retains his post with a free hand. This he demanded as the absolute condition of the retention of his portfolio, and it is a good thing for France, as for the rest of the world, that full authority has been granted him in foreign affairs. The world scarcely appreciates its indebtedness to this man for his great services for the past seven years. He has done for France almost as valuable work as John Hay has done for the United States. More than once both men have avoided complications in the present war, which would almost inevitably have caused its spread into a general conflagration. He has been a true captain of peace in Europe, just as Secretary Hay has in America, and King Edward in Great Britain. These three men, indeed, form a peace triumvirate which may yet carry the world safely through the grave crisis now pending. To have broken this triumvirate, as a few hours ago seemed probable, would have been one of the greatest calamities that could have befallen diplomacy.

The British sentiment continues even more strongly opposed to the Kaiser's aggression than the French. There is no doubt that France greatly dreads a conflict with Germany at the present moment, and she is unaware to what extent she could rely upon British assistance in such an emergency. Even so conservative a journal as the Spectator goes so far to-day as to say: "We can assure the German frontiers that we shall not fail to do all we agree to do in maintaining the Anglo-French agreement, and that France, if she were wontonly attacked by Germany, would not call on us in vain."

SIGSBEE SQUADRON WAS SUDDENLY HELD FOR SERIOUS MATTERS

New York, June 7.—Extraordinary orders from Washington tonight canceled the scheduled sailing today of Rear Admiral Sigsbee's fleet for Cherbourg to bring back the body of John Paul Jones. The reported reason is that "grave complications" with a foreign nation are imminent.

Whether these "complications" have to do with Germany's acquiring a port in the Caribbean or are over the question of the Russian warships seeking refuge in the Philippines, is not disclosed. Washington officials are extremely reticent. Rear Admiral Sigsbee has the Brooklyn, Chattanooga, Galveston and Tacoma off Tompkinsville. These comprise the second squadron of the North Atlantic fleet. Tomorrow Rear Admiral Evans will arrive in New York harbor with the battleships Missouri, Kentucky, Maine and Alabama and the combined squadrons will wait further orders.

The surprising change of orders was made known when the flagship Brooklyn floated the signal: "Departure indefinitely postponed." Admiral Sigsbee was not on board his flagship when the signal was hoisted, and at once rumors were rife as to the change of plans. He is still in Washington. One of the officers of the fleet said tonight: "Russia may be angry."

"Complications have arisen in the Far East as the result of the Russian cruisers Aurora, Zemtchug and Oleg entering Manila after the sea fight in the Korean Straits. Russia may be offended at President Roosevelt's orders that the disabled warships should get out of our port or disarm, or it is probable that the Japanese have threatened to seize the Russian ships in our port, as they once seized a destroyer sheltered in a Chinese port. Of course, if the Japanese government tries this, we will stop it. "Another equally serious matter is the discovery made today that the German Government has secured a strategic base in the Caribbean, near a coaling station at Water Island, near St. Thomas—by ostensibly getting the Hamburg-American line to secure control of the Danish Asiatic Company and its property on Water Island.

"This seemingly innocent combination may in reality be a serious violation of the international understanding and there is no telling what may happen within the next few days. Must Keep Germany Out.

"If we escape being drawn into the difficulty in the Far East, we certainly will have to keep Germany from gaining a foothold at our very threshold. It is probable that orders similar to those issued to our squadron have been sent to all other warships within call."

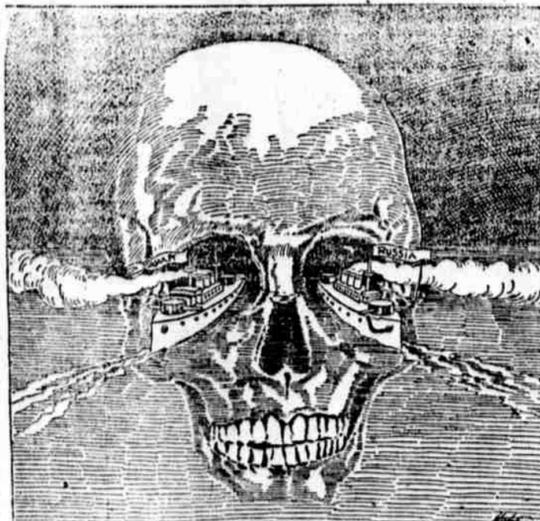

The vessels are a thoroughly prepared for any kind of trouble, and especially prepared for a sudden dash in any direction. It was expected that the trip to Cherbourg would be made in thirteen days, but the warships are coaled and provisioned for a much longer voyage and all are in spick and span condition.

The report received here today that Germany was seeking a stronghold in the Caribbean, through the expansion of the Hamburg-American line, caused much surprise especially in view of the fact that England is practically abandoning its points of vantage in those waters. Although the Danish-Asiatic Company's steamers fly the flag of Denmark, the amalgamation puts not only the fleet, but more important, the supply base, well within reach of the Kaiser.

Only ten men who have held the office of President reached or surpassed Mr. Cleveland's present age of 68, only six exceeded it by so much as ten years, and none exceeded it by quite twenty years. Only ten Presidents have survived their retirement from office longer than Mr. Cleveland, and four of these lived to a great age.
