Mokuaweoweo Lights Up Heavens For Many Miles Around

Passengers arriving in the Mauna Loa this morning tell stories about both Mauna Loa and Kilauea which should have the effect of inducing hundreds of people to make the trip to the Big Island.

Manager Julian Monsarrat, of Kapapala ranch, said this morning that on Friday night last the display from Mokuaweoweo was perfectly beautiful, lighting up the skies and casting a glow for miles and miles. Continuing, he said:

"I have never seen Mokuaweoweo so active. Heretofore when there has been activity in this lofty crater, the duration has been a matter of days. It is different this time. The activity has already continued for weeks and is all the while increasing.

"On Friday night last the display was particularly grand. At Kapapala ranch, the glow was something beautiful to see and I do not hesitate to say that the fires could easily be seen two or three hundred miles out to sea.

"Dr. Grace, Mr. Castendyk and one other man went to the summit on Saturday last and returned on Sunday. All we could get of their trip before leaving for Honolulu in the Mauna Loa was that the activity had increased in Mokuaweoweo to such an extent that there was a flow of lava in the crater."

Both Kilauea and Mokuaweoweo are active. Roger Taylor went from Kapapala ranch to the Volcano house and returned in the Mauna Loa today with the report that Kilauea is in a very active state indeed and that the display at night is beautiful.

It is said that the lake of molten lava in Halemauman is 150 by 300 feet in dimension with lava fountains spouting continually.

The officers of the Mauna Loa report that the volcanic display from Mokuaweoweo afforded a beautiful spectacle to those on board the steamer, especially last Friday night when the glowing reflection from the crater was exceptionally fine. While the volcanic activity at Kilauea was not visible from the steamer on account of the fact that the fires are still far down in the pit of the crater, there is still no doubt but that Pele's old reliable fireplace is warming up considerably.

Just before the Mauna Loa left Kailua yesterday morning St. Clair Bidgood, manager of the Volcano House, telephoned to the purser of the Mauna Loa stating that the lake of molten lava in the crater of Kilauea was then estimated to be 350 by 150 feet in extent and that it was continuously growing larger.

A wonderful ball of fire was reported by some Hawaiians in Kau to have passed from the crater of Mokuaweoweo across the sky and into Kilauea. One of the Chinese stewards on board the Mauna Loa says he saw it plainly. According to this man the ball of fire

Chairmanship of Board Has Yet To Be Decided

It has been learned on good authority that the morning paper was either somewhat misinformed or in some way got mixed up in the matter of the news of the proceedings at the caucus yesterday afternoon of Republican supervisors of the county of Oahu, as published this morning. The statement objected to is as follows:

"J. A. Gilman will be the chairman of the Board of Supervisors for Oahu County. He was the choice of the Republican majority at the preliminary meeting of the four supervisors held yesterday afternoon."

There are four Republican and three Home Rule supervisors on the Board and if yesterday's action had been unanimous, the story of this morning would have been perfectly correct.

The details of the action taken at the caucus yesterday are these. The meeting came to order with all four Republican supervisors in attendance. Mark P. Robinson was named as chairman of the Board but respectfully declined to serve.

It was at this stage that J. A. Gilman asked to be made chairman of the Board of Supervisors and he was voted on favorably by Messrs. Robinson and Lucas.

Mr. Hocking said he would not take part in the vote for chairman as he had already said he would wait until the general meeting before taking any action with reference thereto.

This, of course, left Gilman with only two votes.

The general meeting of the Board will be held on Monday evening next. It was the first intention to hold it during the day but all the supervisors have been summoned to appear before the Supreme Court in the election contest so this plan had to be abandoned.

At yesterday's caucus of Republican supervisors the county building question was one that came up for discussion and it was finally referred to Messrs. Gilman and Hocking with instructions to report at the next meeting. Bonds of county officers also came in for a goodly share of the discussion.

At yesterday's caucus a proposition was prescribed by means of which the Republicans on the Board of Supervisors would be bound by a majority vote of their own number. No action was taken, it being thought best to wait until the next meeting.

SYSTEM OF BUOYS BEING PLACED IN PEARL HARBOR

The Public Works Department is at present placing buoys and bearers in Pearl Harbor as an aid and assistance to navigation. A fairway buoy, marked black and white with vertical stripes has been placed outside the entrance to the channel. At the entrance itself have been placed a red buoy on the Waikiki side and a black one on the Ewa side of the channel mouth. Farther in a beacon of piles has been placed on the Waikiki side of the channel and still father in, on the same side, has been placed a pile.

It would be of great assistance to navigation if a range were placed on the reef inside the harbor which would enable mariners to find their way through the channel easily. Such a range made, for instance, of pyramidal piles of rock with a six-inch pipe placed through the center bearing shapes on the top, would be very easily constructed.

Captain Rodman intends to run down to Pearl Harbor in the Iroquois during the next few weeks to inspect the system of buoys which is now being managed.

BEFORE JUDGE DOLE.

In Federal Court this morning Clerk of the House of Representatives Solomon Meheula, indicted for destroying public documents, James H. Hakuole, for embezzling Internal Revenue funds, and a dozen or so Japanese for conspiracy to violate a Federal statute, appeared and asked time to plead.

Meheula himself addressed Judge Dole, saying he at present had no counsel. J. W. Cathcart appeared for Hakuole. On Monday Meheula and Hakuole will probably plead.

William Wond celebrated the 63rd anniversary of his birth last Sunday by giving a spread to a few of his friends at his home. Mr. Wond is station agent at Puuiki.

JAPANESE MEETING

The Japanese Association, spoken of exclusively in the Bulletin yesterday, met in the afternoon and organized permanently. Consul Miki Saito presided at the opening of the meeting. The following officers were elected: O. Shida, president; Dr. Nagai, of Hilo, vice-president; Negoro, a recent graduate of Berkeley, secretary.

The constitution and by-laws were read and the latter considered in first reading. At a meeting this morning the by-laws were given their second reading and at a meeting this afternoon they will be finally considered.

There are fifty-seven members in attendance at the meetings which are to last a whole week. This afternoon Consul Saito is explaining the terms of the recently passed back bill in response to questions asked by some of the members.

OFFICIALS PROSPECTING.

This afternoon Governor Carter, Superintendent of Public Works Holloway and President Cooper of the Board of Health will visit Palolo for the purpose of looking into the matter of a road for which the Legislature made an appropriation and examining the proposed site of the new insane asylum.

MAUI COUNTY ASKS GOVERNOR FOR A CONFERENCE

"This letter puts me in mind of a certain county officer, who, upon receiving his election certificate, said: 'Goodness, I will have to get a good man to work under me!'"

So said the Governor today, referring to a communication from William White, Sheriff-elect and D. H. Kahaulelio, Clerk-elect of Maui County and S. K. Pua, Clerk-elect of West Hawaii County, received recently.

The letter stated that the signers desired to inquire whether or not Governor Carter deemed it wise for him to invite the elected officers of the different counties to a conference with him in Honolulu for the purpose of his advising the new officers on matters of organization. There were many things the officers needed. They wanted rates wherein to place the counties' incomes.

Communicants stated that the new officers had had no training in county or municipal matters and needed advice.

Governor Carter remarked that he would be only to happy to advise but was of the opinion that county government stood for independence and that the Territorial government should not be appealed to for assistance.

No steps have thus far been taken toward the establishment of a Territorial training school for county officers.

KAMEHAMEHA WINS

The Kamehameha team defeated the High School eleven at football on the Punahou campus yesterday afternoon, the score being 10 to 0. This game was not necessary to the Kams since they had enough to assure them the championship previous to yesterday's contest. The teams lined up as follows:

Kamehameha.	High School.
	Center.
Kealoha	Green
	Right Guard.
Kahilikolo	S. Kawaihae
	Right Tackle.
Hamauku	Uyemura
	Right End.
Pa. Hanchett	Vitaro
	Left Guard.
Hamauku	Lightfoot
	Left Tackle.
Morton	W. Chillingworth
	Left End.
Kamali	R. Clark
	Quarterback.
C. Lyman	En Gee
	Right Half.
Desha	H. Clark, Chillingworth
	Left Half.
Lyman, Patten	H. Williams
	Fullback.
R. Oliver	D. Sherwood, Holt

High School kicked off and Kamehameha carried the ball to within three yards of a touchdown when it was lost on a fumble. High School kicked, the ball flew up and the Kams secured it where they had lost it. There was a good chance for a touchdown by the Kams but they fumbled again. High School fumbled twice and had just kicked to the Kams when time was called.

In the second half Oliver, for the Kams kicked off. En Gee made a twelve yard gain for the High School. No further gains could be made and High School kicked. Kams bucked to within twelve yards of goal and then lost the ball on downs. High School kicked again and then Desha made the first touchdown for the Kams. There was a failure to kick goal.

On the kick-off En Gee made 15 yards and High School forced the ball to the center of the field, where they lost it on downs. Kams kicked to High School, who lost on a fumble in front of goal. Just at about a minute and a half before the finish of the game Patten made the second and last touchdown for the Kams. Oliver again failed to kick goal.

Neither team played a good game. The Kams were very poor, probably on account of the lack of interest in the game, they having already secured the championship.

SECOND PUZZLE MEETS DEFEAT

The second B. A. P. prize puzzle has fallen in battle royal beneath the clever assaults of Edw. H. Boyen. His answer is the correct one and is as follows:

"My first says 'turn 2'", which is interpreted by "advert." "My second is what you ought to see through" and is "I." "My third is what many try to do but don't" and this is "sing." "My whole is a necessity," and this is found by joining the three, make the whole "Advertising." The circle with its letters means "Tells about it." Hence the sense of the puzzle is that Advertising tells about it—about anything you need in your business—especially Bulletin Advertising.

Any suggestions as to a method of entertainment for the People's Amusement Corner on page six will be gladly noted by The Bulletin.

If Mr. Boyen will call at The Bulletin office his prize will be awarded him.

BAR COMMITTEE ON AMENDMENTS

Committee recommendations in the matter of protesting the Mitchell amendments to the Organic Act, by the local Bar Association, are as follows:

Honolulu, H. I., Nov. 30, 1903.

W. O. Smith, Esq., President of Bar Association:

Sir:—The committee, to whom was referred the matter of preparing a protest against the proposed amendment of the Organic Act of the Territory of Hawaii, for authorizing appeals from the Territorial Supreme Court to the Supreme Court of the United States, and of co-operating with the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu Board of Trade and Honolulu Merchants' Association in protesting against the proposed amendments of the Organic Act for repealing the qualification of Territorial citizenship of the Governor and Secretary of the Territory, and the judges of the Supreme Court and Circuit Courts, beg leave to report as follows: They herewith submit the accompanying form of a resolution on each of these subjects for the action of the Association, having transmitted to the several public bodies above mentioned a copy of the same for their action:

The Organic Act of the Territory of Hawaii now provides in Section 86, that "the United States laws concerning appeals, writs of error and removal of causes between the United States Courts and the Courts of the several states, shall govern in such matters and proceedings as between the courts of the United States and the Territory of Hawaii." This provision of the Organic Act was made by Congress after full consideration, giving to the Territorial Courts the status in respect of appeals and writs of error of the State Courts.

The reports of the Hawaiian commissioners, composed of Senators Morgan and Cullom, Representative Hitt, Sanford B. Dole and W. F. Frear, then respectively President and Justice of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Hawaii, strongly urged that the establishment of a Federal Court in Hawaii was the only change required in the Hawaiian judiciary system. The following extracts are taken from that report:

"Hawaii, having been hitherto a single independent state, its courts have exercised much of the jurisdiction exercised by both the Federal and State Courts in this country. In this respect the Hawaiian courts have resembled somewhat the courts of the Territories of the United States, which, as a rule, have had much Federal jurisdiction, as well as jurisdiction of cases arising under the Territorial laws. It seems very desirable in the case of Hawaii to separate these jurisdictions, leaving all cases arising under the laws of the Territory to the Territorial Courts and transfering all jurisdiction of a Federal nature to a District Court of the United States to be established for the Territory of Hawaii. This District Court should have also the jurisdiction of a Circuit Court of the United States."

"By making the relations between the Territorial Courts of Hawaii and the Federal Courts, as to appeals, removal of causes, etc., the same as the corresponding relations between the State and Federal Courts, all cases of a local nature can be tried and determined finally in the Islands, and thus the expense and delay of bringing such cases to the mainland, and possibly to Washington, a distance of 5,000 miles, will be avoided."

"The organization and procedure of the Hawaiian Courts is already very similar to what is found in the United States. This has been the result of a growth of sixty years of Constitutional government in Hawaii under American influences."

"The people of Hawaii, of all classes, as shown by the memorials presented to the commission, desire the judiciary, as at present organized, to be retained with as little change as possible, with the exception that they generally deem it best that there should be a United States District Court to take jurisdiction of Federal cases."

The House Committee on Territories having in charge the bill to provide a government for the Territory of Hawaii, adopted the commissioners' report in its recommendation concerning the Hawaiian judiciary, using the following language, namely:

"In view of the foregoing report, it must be considered wise and safe to provide for the organization of the Territorial Courts of the Territory of Hawaii by substantially continuing them as now existing under the Republic of Hawaii, and this has been done in the present bill."

This recommendation of the House Committee on Territories was accepted by the House of Representatives, and a similar recommendation by the Senate Committee was accepted by the United States Senate.

There is no doubt of the importance to the people of Hawaii of retaining this provision of the Organic Act. The proposed change would work great hardship to the business interests of the Territory, and especially to litigants whose means would not enable them to incur the heavy burdens of expeanse and delays incident to appeals to the Supreme Court decisions. Such appeals would amount to a denial of justice in a large number of cases.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Dr. Shoop's RHEUMATIC ·:· CURE
COST NOTHING IF IT FAILS.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For 16 years I made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 5,000 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you, anyway. If it fails it is free.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 331, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

As to the proposed amendments removing the requirement of citizenship in cases of the Governor, Secretary and Judges, your committee is aware of no reason which has been suggested for going outside of this Territory to obtain suitable men for such Territorial offices; and is of the opinion that no worthy reason therefor can be named. There is no community in any State of the Union which has more highly specialized and experienced business men that are found in Hawaii. It is estimated that there are already not less than 150 university men resident in the Territory, most of whom received their training in the Eastern States.

It is for the interests of Hawaii, not only to hold out inducements for such men to come here for permanent residence, but that Hawaiian youths, after completing their education and taking their professional courses in the States, shall return to the land of their birth.

Suitable appointees can always be selected from Hawaiian citizens, whose acquaintance with Hawaii, its people and its conditions, and whose capacity for administering its offices cannot be questioned.

To make Hawaii a pocket borough for Congressional patronage, as the proposed change in the Organic Act would be likely to do, would be an undeserved hardship upon the people of this Territory. It is believed by your committee that such change will not accord with the views of the majority of thoughtful and broad-minded men, whether in Congress or out of it.

Your committee is aware of no considerable number of persons in this Territory who have expressed a desire for any of the proposed amendments of the Organic Act, and it is of the opinion that such amendments would meet the decided disapproval of the intelligent members of this community.

It is recommended that the resolution, if adopted by the Association, be transmitted to the delegate of Hawaii in Congress, and also to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on the Pacific Islands and Porto Rico, with the request that the same be laid before their respective committees at the time the proposed amendments shall come before them for consideration.

POLITICS AND CONVENTION.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—There is a great deal of kicking about the way the election turned out. Now on Oahu, the nominations were made by the people, while on Hawaii and Maui, the nominations were made by the ring, and against the wishes of the people. It is one thing to cram a man down your throat before election, whether you want him or not, just because he is a tool, and another thing to elect him.

I believe in straight politics, but I don't believe in voting for a man that no one has got any use for, just because the party managers want him.

Let the Republican party nominate the men that the delegates are told to nominate, and they will have a chance to win out, and if not, the Home Rule party will beat them every time. They have learned a lesson this time, that one-man power is played out.

Yours for Fair Play,

TUESDAY.....DEC. 1, 1903.

Americans can follow anarchists from pillar to post but the pest still seems to thrive like a lantana jungle in Hawaii.

Hawaii is probably among the first to propose that the right of appeal to the Federal Supreme Court is an interference with the administration of justice.

Anyway the chairman of Oahu's Supervisors will be a Republican, consequently the public can contemplate preliminary differences with interested composure.

Secretary Atkinson goes into office with a backing of unanimous consent that ought to make his official life difficult only on account of the office work he shoulders.

Governor Carter has laid the Executive Council on the shelf and so far as known no voice has been raised against the ancient and honorable institution remaining there.

Northern States of South America are experiencing a series of international spankings that should convince them eventually that the Monroe Doctrine refuses to cover a multitude of sins.

General Brooke's statement that General Wood was insubordinate while serving in Cuba may bring to the President's mind the days when he signed "Round Robins" and kicked over a few military traces.

Governor Carter's readiness to contribute in helping the depleted treasury pay the expense of the usual inaugural ball shows that the new Governor is not slow to put the cash emoluments of his position into general circulation.

Not the least of the queer combinations emanating from Hawaii is the request to make the County Act into Federal law followed by a long story from members of the Bar Association urging home rule in the courts. It will not be surprising if Congressmen become a little mixed on what Hawaii really wants if they take the trouble to sift the situation to a clear-cut conclusion.

IMPROVING THE HARBOR.

Among the Territorial items coming under the appropriations from the loan funds there is none more vital to this community and the Territory at large than improvement of the Honolulu harbor. Hawaii hopes and has good reason to expect that it will live up to its reputation as the great crossroads of the Pacific and fulfill its destiny as the great mid-Pacific center of steadily increasing ocean traffic.

There is but one means open to Hawaii for meeting the demands of trans-Pacific commerce. It must make its principal port as nearly a perfect haven for sail and steam craft as the properly developed possibilities of its harbor will allow. Honolulu harbor should be deep enough and sufficiently protected to allow the largest steamship, sailing vessel or battleship that navigates in the Pacific ocean to enter and dock with perfect safety. It will be difficult to estimate the injury done the Territory and this port in particular if this obligation owed to commerce is not met.

Opening of Pearl Harbor will establish a competitive port to Honolulu if business men, the Territory, the people let the natural demands made on this port pass by default. Commerce like mercantile trade follows the channels that furnish the best accommodation. Having grown to importance by virtue of its natural advantages, it will be suicidal for the port of Honolulu to fall to a secondary position for no other reason than failure to carry out improvements, enabling the port to keep pace with commercial surroundings in its sphere of usefulness.

CELEBRATING ELECTION RESULTS.

The New York Sun offers some highly edifying editorial comment on the manner in which the result of the recent bitterly fought New York City election was celebrated. It carries an interesting lesson to Hawaii and older American communities where election night finds the successful party as bitterly joyous as the defeated are bitterly glum.

For many years it has been the custom for the "ins" to celebrate and the "outs" retire to their gloomy tents. New York has changed it all. Everybody celebrates. The vote of the people having been recorded all sides join in paying their tribute to the people.

Of this the Sun says: "An election had passed in which the contending parties were so nearly even that the victory had been won by only about 11 per cent in a total of toward six hundred thousand votes, yet when night came with its announcement of the result all hands turned out to celebrate it as if it had been their common victory. The defeated cheered the victors and the victors the defeated. Everybody was blowing a horn, swinging a rattle or using his voice only to contribute to the din, and of the loudest and gayest celebrants a great part were women. A stranger would have concluded from the demonstration that everybody was elated over a victory won. He would not have suspected that the carnival was an exhibition of exuberant spirits after a canvass in which the bitterest reproaches had been cast, the keenest partisan rivalry aroused and just after a popular election in which much more than two-fifths of the electorate had been sorely disappointed.

"Such a scene under such circumstances could have been witnessed in no other country than America and nowhere else in America than New York. Never was there a more impressive vindication of American popular government. The popular will had been expressed and there was unanimous acceptance of it as final—cheerful, even joyous acceptance of it. The people rejoiced simply in their privilege of self rule. However the election had gone, they would have had their celebration all the same, for whichever side had won it would have been a triumph of popular suffrage.

"This wonderful carnival, in spite of all its freedom and intercourse, its exhilaration of animal spirits, its bustle and its uproar, was marked by no dangerous disorder. The gentlest and purest woman might have gone unaccompanied into the throng in Broadway in the Tenderloin without encountering other annoyance than was due to the jostling crowd of merrymakers. The high spirits of the people moving in ceaseless procession along the street for hours together were natural and not artificially stimulated. Intoxication was rare, far rarer than in London on the quietest day of the year. Even rough behavior was almost unknown, though of course carnival freedom prevailed and squeamish taste might object to many of its manifestations, as it might in any European carnival. Dignity of reserve received no consideration, for equality reigned supreme. Everybody was simply a human being and all were on the same level in that wild frolic.

"When the people of New York, after a period of intense political excitement, can be left free to govern their own behavior practically without let or hindrance, it is a demonstration of their civilized advancement which ought to give hope and courage even to the philosopher of sociology who was gloomiest because of his defeat at the election of Tuesday."

SECOND GRAND JURY PROBING

The matter of the House vouchers, yesterday reported on by the Federal Grand Jury and recommended to the attention of the Territorial officials, may come up before the members of the Territorial Grand Jury this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

As the Territorial Grand Jury stands at present there are fourteen on the panel. Two of these, Chas. Wilcox and T. R. Mossman, will be disqualified as inquisitors in the alleged Legislative frauds, both having performed services for the House and received remuneration therefor.

The disqualification of the two leaves but twelve men.

Judge Gear this morning ordered that a special venire issue so that the breaks in the ranks of grand jurors could be filled in.

If it is possible, the examining body will, it is understood, be swelled to the number of twenty-three.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the grand jury as it is at present, will appear before Judge Gear, together with those from whom the additional jurors will be drawn.

Upon the filling of the jury it is probable that Judge Gear will deliver a brief charge, drawing to the attention of the increased body the matter of the House vouchers and the report of the Federal Grand Jury concerning them, instructing the jurors to take up the business where it was dropped by the Federal searchers.

The going into the matter all over again will mean the summoning of the same host of witnesses. Representatives and others from this and the other islands and several days hard work.

The proposition advanced now by many observers, in connection with the pushing of possible frauds to indictment and conviction, is an interesting one.

Under what charge can any of the alleged wrong-doers of the House of Representatives be indicted? This is the question puzzling learned heads in the prosecution's camp, and worrying or amusing others as the case may be.

There is one section of the law invariably fallen back upon when conviction is sought and prosecution can be instituted under no other. This is the law covering malicious mischief or malicious injury and in the minds of many is the only section under which any of the alleged overspenders can be indicted.

It is held, by those having this opinion, that the Legislature is Supreme in itself. It votes to appropriate certain money for its own expenses, the Governor approves the bill and the Legislature proceeds to spend it as it pleases. From this point of view it has a perfect right to hire a hundred pages and pay each $50 per day. There is none to whom the Legislature must account. The Legislature is the people. The people rule; the public under a Republican form of government is king, the king can do no wrong; ergo: the Legislature being elected by the people, is the public and must account to none.

It is said that Attorney General Andrews has a section or two up his legal sleeve, however, under which prosecutions may result successfully.

Attorney General Andrews and County Attorney-elect W. T. Rawlins consulted this morning as to their respective duties in the matter of prosecuting the voucher cases before the Territorial grand jury.

Rawlins in January becomes county clerk and will then have to take up the voucher matter if it happens to be still under consideration.

That Rawlins might start in with the beginning of the investigation, Andrews suggested that Rawlins be sworn in as a deputy attorney genral for the present month, so that he would be familiar with the case from the beginning. Rawlins is now considering the suggestion. At present then, it is uncertain who will wait on the grand jury in th evoucher matter; whether both Andrews and Rawlins will prosecute or whether one or the other alone will conduct the affair. Andrews is willing that with Rawlins a temporary deputy, they combine their efforts for the present month and proceed together.

It is possible this afternoon that Judge Gear will discharge the present grand jury altogether and call a new panel from the special venire.

Until it is certain what action Judge Gear takes, Andrews and Rawlins are undecided as to their positions in the matter, awaiting to see what will transpire.

Governor Carter said at noon that he had not yet received a certified copy of the Federal grand jury's report.

HAND PAINTED BARNS

HHave been known in this neighborhood as long as we can remember. They're an old story. The new and improved method of barn painting is to blow the paint on by machinery. It lasts as long on rough work, looks as well, and costs less. If you've a barn or fence to paint or a cellar to whitewash, let us give you an estimate on the machine-painted way.

CREEDON CARTER'S PRIVATE SECRETARY

Governor Carter, while he has not yet appointed his private secretary, stated this morning that he would in all probability name F. D. Creedon for the position.

Creedon was recommended by the Republican Central Committee.

He is a stenographer and the Governor stands in need of a rapid shorthand writer. The taking of dictation will constitute the private secretary's chief duty. The mass of correspondence daily received by the Governor is greater than would be realized ordinarily.

Creedon has served as secretary to Carter ever since the latter was appointed Territorial secretary and was with him as stenographer when the present Governor managed the Hawaiian Trust Co., having served altogether about three and a half years.

"Creedon is quiet, unassuming, faithful and a great worker," said the Governor this morning, "and suits me all right."

The Governor stated that he could use two private secretaries with the work that was continually piling up, but such an expense could not be considered. He answered in the negative to a question as to whether he might ask Congress for more assistance in this line.

SUGAI MAY DIE OF HIS WOUND

A Japanese stabbing affair took place at Waialua last Sunday afternoon. Two Japanese, Sugai and Kimura, had just returned to Waialua from Hilo and were making merry with their friends at the house of another Japanese, named Higuchi, a vegetable planter. At about 4:30 p. m. Sugai and Kimura began quarrelling. Finally Kimura drew an I. X. L. knife and stabbed Sugai in the left breast just below the nipple. He then left the place.

Deputy Sheriff Andrew Cox was notified of the affair at about 9 p. m. He immediately started to search for Kimura and found him at about 11:30 p. m. in a house in the Waialua plantation camp. He was sleeping then with a Japanese couple. The officer placed the man under arrest and brought him to the city this morning.

Sugai, the man who was stabbed, is at present at Waialua under a physician's care. His wound is a very dangerous one and it is quite possible that he may die.

Kimura is known to the police as a bad egg. He got into trouble about seven or eight months ago when he cut a Chinese in the arm with a knife.

A most interesting phase of the affair was brought to light this morning when Kimura was being questioned in the cell by a Japanese detective. The fellow admitted that he had stabbed Sugai. The detective had suspicions that Kimura had had something to do with the hiding away of Yanagi, the Japanese who murdered a Japanese man and woman at Ewa several months ago.

"Did you buy bread for Yanagi on the night of June 28 when Yanagi was hiding at Waipahu?" asked the detective.

"I did not buy bread, but——" said Kimura. Then he suddenly checked himself and the detective was not able to learn anything further in the matter.

Kimura was working at Waipahu plantation from January until September or October of this present year. The police have information that Yanagi went to camp No. 5 of that plantation on June 28 and stayed there during the night, leaving early in the morning of June 29. Kimura was living at Camp No. 5 at the time and is supposed to have aided the escaped murderer.

In the Police Court this morning the cases of Domingo Ferreira and of A. Jungelaus, both charged with assault and battery, were continued until tomorrow. The case of D. Rodrigues, charged with assault and battery wit ha weapon, was continued until Friday. Frances Gomes Martinez and Lorenzo Saiwa, both Porto Ricans, were fined $3 and costs each for disturbing the quiet of the night.

LAHUI WAS ROBBED.

A Hawaiian, named Lahui, living in Wyllie street, was the victim of a burglar last night. He left the house for several hours yesterday evening, leaving the key hidden outside the house. On returning Lahui found that two pairs of trousers and two coats had been stolen. As the doors and windows were still locked and intact it seems that the burglar must have found the key and gained an entrance by means of it. Lahui is of the opinion that a gang of Porto Ricans, who live in the neighborhood, are responsible for the theft. This is the third time he has been robbed.

DATA FOR WASHINGTON.

Surveyor General Wall is at present busy preparing the metes and bounds of the lighthouses on these islands. It is his intention to prepare a complete description of each lighthouse, setting aside a certain reservation for each to be be assigned to the use of the lighthouse keeper for residence, store house, garden, etc. This work when it is completed, will be turned over to the authorities in Washington to give them a full and complete idea of the existing conditions, should the island lighthouse system be turned over to the Federal Government.

FACE TO FACE WITH FACTS

It is a fact that shoes must not only be of honest material and well made but they must be natty, snappy, catchy and out of the ordinary.
This is embodied in a HANAN SHOE, this is what makes people talk about the Hanan Shoe and this is what is increasing our sale on this celebrated make.
Hanan studies every detail of shoe building, so that each season their goods approach nearer perfection.
They are progressive people and place their goods with progressive dealers.

ANOTHER VENIRE

The case of the Territory vs. E. M. Jones, charged with murder in the first degree, was called before Judge Gear at a little after 10 o'clock this forenoon and another venire of forty-eight names was drawn. Judge Gear ordered the clerk to prepare three originals in order that the work of serving the jurors might be expedited, some trouble having been experienced with the last venire which was exhausted yesterday.

After having instructing the eleven jurors to refrain from in any way discussing the case in hand, Judge Gear excused them until 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning and set the case over until that time to permit of a satisfactory return of the venire.

The case of the Territory vs. Camara was continued until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

PORTUGUESE CELEBRATE.

This is the anniversary of the restoration of the independence of Portugal which took place December 1, 1640. The event is being celebrated today by the Portuguese throughout the city. The festivities were begun this morning by the firing of bombs on the grounds of Lusitana hall at daybreak this morning.

At 7:30 o'clock a procession of from four to five hundred Portuguese will form at Concordia hall on Punchbowl and march through the streets to Lusitana hall, headed by the band. At the hall there will be stereopticon views of Portugal's prominent palaces, buildings, cities and of the royal family.

A dance will conclude the festivities. Major J. M. Camara will preside at the meeting. Among the speakers will be Consul A. de Souza Canavarro and Dr. J. de Faria.

Honolulu Photo Supply Co. are now busy day and night making picture frames from the handsome new mouldings they have just received. Call and see samples.

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

WHEN KINDLINESS WAS STRONG TO SAVE

It grew to be quite the usual thing in D street whenever there was any quarreling or crying; and interrupted play, in short, to exclaim: "There he goes! That's Eddie Blum again!"

Eddie Blum, in the days when people took time to affect French, would have been termed an "enfant terrible." In this degenerate decade he was merely called "a terror," which expression, it may be said, amply sufficed for his description. He was a fine, handsome boy of five with beautiful glossy curls, a well shaped head, a rosy, sunbrowned complexion and bright, intelligent brown eyes; lithe, perfectly formed and characterized by a wonderful activity. That was just it. His activity was his bane. As well say to the sea to the boy, "be still."

"Eddie, come here," Mrs. Blum would command. She was, by the way, a fine, matronly woman, from whom the boy inherited his handsome looks. "Eddie, Eddiee, do you hear?"

To a first command Eddie never responded. Perhaps at the moment he would be excavating the gutter, standing on his head on a cobblestone or dodging a trolley car; under any of these circumstances too much occupied to heed his mother's voice.

Mrs. Blum, who had something statuesque about her, with her well developed figure and proud face, would watch the child with, perhaps, a dawning anxiety in her dark eyes, and would reiterate:

"Eddie, Eddie, come here and sit down!" To which, if Eddie responded anything, it would be in a shrill tone, "No, I wo-o-o-n't!"

Then Mr. Blum would try. Mr. Blum was a rough, sunburned man, whose unattractive exterior was amply atoned for by his gentleness with his child and the respectful tenderness he showed his wife. "Eddie," Mr. Blum would call, "Eddie, come right here your mamma wants you."

No reply from the active little figure gyrating at all sorts of angles.

Mrs. Blum—"Eddie!"

Mr. Blum—"Eddie!"

"If you don't come here this minute," Mrs. Blum would exclaim, half starting up, but still retaining something of the statuesque, "I'll send you right in the house! Eddie, now come this moment!"

But instead of coming, the little figure would be seen retreating in a series of fanciful curvetings to an accompaniment of Indian yells. Then would Mrs. Blum, her dark eyes flashing wrathfully, turn to her husband and ejaculate, "Go and bring him back! He'll be getting in all sorts of mischief!"

Mr. Blum always obeyed his wife. Behold, then, the unwilling Eddie coaxed, dragged and carried to the shadow of the maternal wing, filling the air with cries and lamentations for the space of three minutes over the shaking in which Mrs. Blum's indignation found vent.

"Now, sit down there and be still," she would say, bumping her unruly son down on the step beside her. "Don't you dare to stir—now, Eddie!" For Eddie, with a wriggle which an eel might spend his lifetime in acquiring, would elude her grasp and be off and away, upon which would ensue a repetition of imploring adjurations and corporeal suasion, ad infinitum.

Sotto voce it was whispered that Mrs. Blum was anything but choice in her language, and that Eddie had picked up scraps of profanity from her; so that she was avoided by all. Mr. Blum was more commonplace and seemingly more respectable; but as Mrs. Jones said to Mrs. Smith, it was very plain that none of them had been used to a neighborhood so nice as the one they now lived in. The residents of D street were for the most part mechanics in steady work, though a uniformed employe of the water bureau occupied a middle house, and a milkman one at the corner. Anyhow, they were all very respectable people, who felt themselves affronted by the contiguity of the Blums, especially when it was found that Mr. Blum earned a precarious livelihood by huckstering, and that Mrs. Blum plied the trade of cigar making. "Not that there is any harm in that, I suppose," Mrs. Jones said dubiously, "but I must say the look of that there huckster wagon stuck out in front of Blum's is lowerin' to the whole street."

"That's what my husband says," quoth Mrs. Smith. "I'd like to know where's the use of putting up lace curtains or scrubbing off your front and shaving yourself to death to keep the place looking nice, if we're to be taken for a lot of hucksters?"

"It's a regular sight," said Mrs. Jones, with a wrathful glance at the offending cart. She was standing on her own doorstep, while Mrs. Smith, having just run out to shake a duster, had popped over for a moment's chat. "I don't think the agent ought to let the house to such people. It's shame!"

"Whose that you're talking about, them Blums?" The speaker was Mrs. Flanigan, who had just appeared upon her threshold next door. "I never take no notice of 'em."

"No, but did you ever see anything so deceitful as that Eddie?" exclaimed Mrs. Jones. "I'declare, when I first saw him I thought I'd never seen a sweeter, loveliter child!"

"Oh, and me, too!" echoed Mrs. Smith. "So frank he looked, and the pretty way he'd say, 'yes, ma'am,' and to think of his being such a wicked little—but what can you expect with such a mother?"

"Ah, that's what I say," said Mrs. Flanigan, her arms akimbo. "After all, children are what there're made; not but what there's some worse than other, there's no doubt. I couldn't imagine my Jim getting into such scrapes as that there Eddie does. Did you hear him yesterday afternoon bumping Mrs. Simpson's little Willie's head on the sidewalk?"

"Was that what he was doing?" inquired Mrs. Smith innocently. "I heard a great noise and thought it might be Eddie. But I was busy in the top back room and couldn't stop to look out. Thumping little Willie's head! Oh, that bad boy."

"On the sidewalk, mind you," said Mrs. Flanigan, with tight shut lips.

"And what did Mrs. Simpson do?" asked Mrs. Smith.

"Why, she came flying out, poor thing, when Willie hollered, and I believe she'd have gone for that Eddie—I'm sure I should; but Mrs. Blum came out and pounced on the boy—you know her way—and dragged him into the house. She's always very rough with him."

"Not half rough enough!" declared Mrs. Jones, indignantly. "I'd fix that boy if I had to deal with him! I'd break his spirit or else I'd see!"

"Hush-h!" whispered Mrs. Smith, with a guilty and expressive gesture, for Blum's door had opened abruptly, as it always did, and the statuesque Mrs. Blum was standing there gazing down the street and apparently unconscious of the nearness of her neighbors. She had her hat on, and her forehead was just a little wrinkled as she gazed.

"Looks like rain, don't it?" Mrs. Smith observed to her companion, very audibly, just to make it seem as if they had only been discussing the weather. All the neighbors had an instinctive perception that it would be well to "keep in" with Mrs. Blum.

"It certainly does," the warlike Mrs. Flanigan assented meekly.

"Well, I must say," chimed in Mrs. Jones in staccato, "I wish it would do one thing or the other. These draggy kind o' days, when the clouds hang round, and it don't either rain or let it alone, makes me sick!"

Here Mrs. Jones began to wield the broom in her hand with great energy. Mrs. Smith gave the duster the long-deferred shake, and retiring when she became aware that Mrs. Blum, wearing an air of pre-occupation, was proceeding down the street with her usual proud gait.

"There she goes," whispered Mrs. Flanigan to Mrs. Jones. "Look here! I'll bet you that that there Eddie's lost again!"

"Like enough," rejoined Mrs. Smith, as she turned back to look. "I've not seen him for a while this morning."

"Why, let me see," said Mrs. Flanigan, considering. "I've not set eyes on the child since—now when was it? —why, of course!—since I came to take in the—no, it wasn't! It was when I was washing the dishes, and I thought I heard a child screaming, and I ran out to the door and—yes, that was it!—little Eddie Blum was a-sitting on their step; that was before 8 o'clock, and I ain't seen the child since."

"It was before that I seen him," observed Mrs. Smith. "Seven, more like. Well, bad pennies are sure to turn up."

"Yes, not much fear of that child getting lost; if it was my Jim, though, I'd be worried. I'll tell you what, I'm going to watch for Mrs. Blum's coming back, just to see if she's got Eddie."

"So will I!"

When the sun threw its glowing beams as the morning advanced and brightened, directly into D street, no housewife brigade was visible, and every pair of shutters was uniformly closed as a protection from the heat. Yet it may be that behind the slats of said shutters were concealed divers keen feminine eyes, and that Mrs. Blum was not unobserved when she came back near the hour of noon; came back as never before! She walked heavily, as if her black dress, fashioned clingingly as usual, weighed her down. A wet and crumpled handkerchief was crushed in her firm, white hand. Her features were quivering, discolored with tears; every trace of comliness obliterated, as the beauty of a blooming garden is crushed and beaten out by a pitiless storm of rain. She paused a moment in front of her own threshold, looking before her with blank eyes and lips drawn as in agony. Then she heavily mounted the steps, passed in, and closed the door more quietly than was her wont.

Immediately upon his disappearance two or three other doors opened with the automatic rapidity of cuckoo clocks; and Mrs. Flanigan, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith convened upon the latter's doorstep.

"My, how she looked!"

"Did you see her face?"

"Whatever can it be?"

The three sentences burst simultaneously from each pair of lips.

"It's Eddie's in some mischief, you can bet," said Mrs. Jones, screwing up her lips and shaking her head.

"He can't be dead?"

"Maimed, more likely."

There was a pause of conjecture.

"Well," broke in Mrs. Jones in emphatic accents, "if people will let their children run wild, they must take the consequences, that's all!"

"Why, of course," returned Mrs. Flanigan, "do you think I'd ever let my Jim go roamin' off just whenever he'd a mind to? Not if I had to chain him up!"

"Why, why—" gasped Mrs. Smith, "look there! It's Blum's sure enough! Come inside, both of you, quick."

For there was a vehicle coming up the street; a sombre vehicle associated with the saddest moments of human life. From their station in Mrs. Smith's parlor, the three women saw the black-clothed undertaker's assistants open the back of the wagon, take out a little ice-box, and carry it into Blum's as though it contained a sacred burden; and the watchers knew that by some accident, perhaps not to be deemed unkindly, little Eddie's life had been cut off.

They looked at each other and compassion stole upon them. Thank God, that while the weeds of censoriousness flourish thickly in the human heart, they cannot choke the fresh-springing growth of pity and charity towards those in sorrow. They followed, in thought, the soft tread of the undertaker's into that wretched house; mothers themselves, they knew how every football bruised anew the bereaved mother's broken heart. Antagonism existed no longer; only a sympathy deep beyond expression, for the awfulness of such affliction.

"Ah, poor thing, what will she do, and him the only child she's got?" Mrs. Smith exclaimed under her breath.

"If it was my Charley?" Mrs. Jones burst forth; and tears overflowed her eyes.

"I'd go to her," said Mrs. Flanigan, "if I only knew how."

They looked at one another.

"She's quite alone, poor thing," said Mrs. Jones, the tears rapidly falling. "Somebody ought to be with her this minute. Mrs. Smith, you'd go it gentlest, maybe; never mind anything, just go!"

And that was how it happened that Mrs. Blum, sitting alone in her little parlor, the floor of which was littered with playthings Eddie had thrown there that morning—only that morning, such a few short hours ago!—looked up and saw a little woman in the doorway regarding her silently with trembling lips.

She had been sitting looking at the playthings, and, through them at a desolation of sorrow, until the feeling was taking hold in her heart, as it does with us all when we labor under a terrifying oppression of misery for which there is no remedy, that she could not bear it; she could not endure it! The silence of the house was terrible, and what of the long years of silence to come? What of the ceaseless heartache, the void of the future? All that made life worth living gone, why not life too?

The black eyes fixed in a curious concentration of hardness, determination, despair. Yes, she would go up stairs to Eddie; she would kiss him and take him in her arms; and when her husband returned from his wearying toil in the streets, he should find them both. And then she looked up and saw a human countenance, overflowing with divine sympathy.

Nothing was said, only a ray of pity fell like a sunbeam from heaven on the wintry hardness within the mourner's bosom. Mrs. Blum put out her hand with a wild gesture, and then broke out in passionate weeping, with her head pillowed on a friendly breast. It was something to cling to and a dim realization stole over her that she had not yet reached such depths of woe, but that human tenderness could penetrate the gloom.

The intervening days sped away; the funeral passed, and the Blums' household effects were being removed from the place invested with the memory of such grief. Mrs. Blum, listless and haggard, stood on the soiled step, swinging the door key in her hand; then she walked over to where Mrs. Smith stood, watching the departure.

"I'd like to tell you," she said with an effort, "you've been real good and kind to me. I'm not one for depending on other folks, and I'm not over friendly with some; but just want to say that if you hadn't come that day Eddie —died—(a half sob). I was so crazy with finding him in the hospital and all, and the way he looked, after being run over, I'd have killed myself. I would, I'd have taken my husband's revolver that's always loaded, and put a bullet through my head. But though I can't see much use a-living, you made things different, somehow, that's all."

"I'm sure Mrs. Blum, anything I did —" Mrs. Smith was beginning with ready tears, but Mrs. Blum was gone. And she turned indoors with the memory of a strange flash of intense feeling with a pair of dark eyes whose hardness was quenched in tears.—Beatrice Clayton, in Philadelphia Ledger.

REVIEW OF CAMPAIGN

Wailuku, Maui, Nov. 28.—It is perhaps time now to write a calm discussion of the reasons why the Republican Party of Maui County lost the elections on November 3d.

It was the worst political defeat in the annals of Maui. The Home Rulers carried the elections on Maui in 1900 but Senator Baldwin and Representative Dickey were the Republicans returned from Maui. In 1902 the Republicans made almost a clean sweep with the exception of Hon. F. W. Beckley who came out third in the list, but Beckley is as much a Republican as he is a Home Ruler, for he is an educated man of quite liberal and broad views, and he is reported to have said that within the Legislative Halls he was non partisan.

But as to the reasons why the Republicans lost on Maui. There were various reasons leading to it, but the birth of the defeat took place in the convention held last September.

The convention contained various factions who were aiming for self aggrandisement. The leaders so-called were at logger-heads. The Pogue-Kelinoi combination were too much for the Kalua adherents. The former, relying on their strength in the convention, carried everything their own way, and never for a moment considered that the public has always the last say in the matter.

Judge Kalua finding himself in an unpleasant minority politely declined an invitation to join the caucus. Therein he showed a lack of political sagacity and foresight. The caucus threw down E. M. Hanuna who was strongly recommended from Hana as supervisor and nominated J. K. Iosepa, who is an excellent man but not over-ambitious for office. The caucus again threw down Rev. Kaai of Molokai who was nominated by about six members of the Pukoo precinct club. The convention selected T. T. Meyer who never even dreamed of a nomination. D. H. Kahaulelio was candidate for sheriff but the majority of the convention were against him and not without just cause.

At nine o'clock that night, the result of the caucus was told by the votes cast at the convention for the successful candidate. Over thirty per cent. of the successful candidates were from Hana alone, a result not justified by the combined number of votes of all East Maui. But the convention was jubilant over its work little dreaming of its ultimate result at the polls.

Hanuna Kaai and Kahaulelio immediately affiliated themselves with the Home Rulers, and two weeks later were seeking nominations at the Home Rule convention held in Wailuku. Hanuna was turned down by the convention for he was thought to be too fresh a Republican to be a good Home Ruler, while Kahaulelio received nomination for County Clerk on account of lack of proper material. While Hanuna cannot be estimated as a colossal political factor in East Maui, yet his vengeance was gratified at the result of elections of Nov. 3. That he was a great loss to the Republicans no one with finding him in the hospital and all, and the way he looked, after being run over. I'd have killed myself. I would, I'd have taken my husband's revolver that's always loaded, and put a bullet through my head. But though I can't see much use a-living, you made things different, somehow, that's all."

"I'm sure Mrs. Blum, anything I did —" Mrs. Smith was beginning with ready tears, but Mrs. Blum was gone. And she turned indoors with the memory of a strange flash of intense feeling with a pair of dark eyes whose hardness was quenched in tears.—Beatrice Clayton, in Philadelphia Ledger.

can deny, but a few of his Republican opponents will not admit this. Every Republican loss is a Home Rule gain.

So much for a few of the main causes of Republican defeat.

In East Hawaii the defeat of Andrews was sown in the convention, but Hilo Republicans were too magnanimous to work for the defeat of the entire ticket. There are a few more causes leading to the downfall of the party but I do not wish to touch on them at present.

I will now give a brief estimate of the successful Home Rule candidates whose elections are mainly due to the thorough and efficient work of their leader, Senator S. E. Kaiue, for none of them can claim that their success was due to personal popularity.

T. B. Lyons heads the Maui ticket for Board of Supervisors. He is a saloon man, and as such has come into close touch with the masses. His only education was received at the hands of Rev. Alex. Mackintosh at the Royal School, and that included only the rudiments of a simple English education. He is however far ahead of his colleagues in mental attainments. He owed his election partly to Republican votes with whom he is a favorite and no one begrudges him his election. County affairs will be safe in his hands for he is endowed with liberal views.

W. H. Cornwell, like Mr. Lyons, is a democrat with Republican sympathies. He is manager of his late father's ranch at Waiohuli. His father not satisfied with the educational facilities the best colleges the islands afforded, sent young Cornwell to the best colleges in England for several years, and as a result of his long stay in the English capital, returned home a few years ago, well covered with medals for his wonderful exploits, not in the field of science or letters, but of sports, and he is to-day one of Maui's leading athletes.

J. K. Hihio, C. L. Kookoo and G. K. Kaulmakaole are the other members of the Board of Supervisors. They have no English education but that is no bar to success. Business methods they are unaccustomed. The distrust of the mass of Hawaiians to educated Hawaiians led to the selection of these three, for in the minds of the masses the only advantage his educated brother has over him is that the latter has acquired the nefarious habits of the white man. The treacherous conduct of some of the Hawaiians has confirmed them into this belief, and no logic can convince them otherwise.

Of the county officers, the county attorney, Jno. Richardson, is the ablest. Auditor Crook, Sheriff White, Assessor D. K. Kahaulelio, County Clerk D. H. Kahaulelio and Treasurer P. Cockett, are like fishes out of the water, for they are all entering into duties unknown to them, but contrary to expectations they may prove efficient officials, which is the hope of every true citizen of Maui. J. K. Kahookele, the county surveyor, is a Lahainaluna graduate. If the unexpected happens and the County Act stands, the conduct of the internal affairs of the ship of state of the Maui County will be under the guidance of the five supervisors enumerated above, providing they all get their bonds approved. For better or for worse, they will be in supreme command for one year.

Some of the gubernatorial appointees of the past week may be an added potent factor for Home Rule success a year hence, at least on Maui. If the Republican party cares to win Maui next year, tactics must be changed and the man of the hour to take the field in person, who can be the pilot is Hon. Sam E. Kalama, a man who has few enemies and not dictatorial in his methods; a man who has a clean legislative record.

Maile and others, setting forth the causes why the decision of the Boards of Inspectors of Election for the First, Third, Fifth and Eighth Precincts of the Fourth Election District, and the First, Second, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Precincts of the Fifth Election District, should be reversed, and praying judgment reversing the same, etc. Summons. (Stamp.)

The Territory of Hawaii: To the High Sheriff of the Territory, or his Deputy; the Sheriff of the Island of Oahu, or his Deputy: You are commanded to summon the Boards of Inspectors of Election for the First, Third, Fifth and Eighth Precincts of the Fourth Election District, and the First, Second, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Precincts of the Fifth Election District, and Mark P. Robinson, John Lucas, Frank H. Harvey, A. Hocking, J. A. Gilman, J. M. Kealoha, S. K. Mahoe, Arthur M. Brown, Harry E. Murray, C. P. Iaukea, Isaac H. Sherwood, William T. Rawlins, S. E. Damon and Chris J. Willis to appear at 10 o'clock a. m. on the 7th day of December, 1903, before the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii to answer the annexed petition of C. B. Maile and others, praying that the decision of said Board of Inspectors of Election in the matter of the election of county officers, held on November 3d, A. D., 1903, be set aside, etc. And have you then there this Writ with full return of your doings thereon.

Witness the Honorable Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii, at Honolulu, Island of Oahu, this 19th day of November, 1903.

(Seal) HENRY SMITH,
2617-12t Clerk.

HOW WILDERS WON

The Wilder Steamship Company's baseball team Sunday defeated the Inter-Island nine by a score of 42 to 22 in a game played on the Makiki grounds. This is the third time the Wilder team has defeated the Inter-Island men. The Wilders now are undisputed owners of a handsome silver loving cup which was put up as a trophy for the winning team. The score the last game was as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Wilder	1	2	5	5	6	1	7	4	11	—42
Inter-Island	2	0	3	1	0	1	5	6	4	—22

The Wilder team's line-up was as follows: Aiwohi, p.; Kekuewa, c.; Huihui and Hopkins, 1b.; Scott, 2b.; Lauch, 3b.; Bonner, ss.; Littlejohn, r. f.; Fernbach, c. f.; Breed, l. f.

INTER-ISLAND FANCIES.

There was a young lady from Hilo,
Who posed as the Venus de Milo,
Till her pedestal broke,
And she uttered a spoke,
There was once a young man on Kauai,
That sounded much more like a squeal "O."
Who tried like a mynah to fly,
Till one day on a trip,
His wings they did slip,
And now he is soaring on high.
A Jap in a hurry one day,
Jumped off from the car the wrong way,
Now he's riding on cars,
That don't give any jars,
And where passengers don't have to pay.
A hubby was in a great wrath,
'Cause the plumbers had torn off a lath,
The next time he'll know,
For good plumbing, and that is to Bath.

HALF AND HALF

When manager Julian Monsarrat of Kapapala was at the ranch the other day he found that efforts on his part for the past four and a half years had at last been crowned with success.

Natives on the ranch called his attention to the fact that there was a peculiar looking animal up in one of the paddocks. He went up and found running at the side of a female "Kona nightingale," an offspring larger than the mother, although only about six months old. The father is one of the fine stallions kept at the ranch.

The resultant animal will not be very large but it will certainly be much stronger and satisfactory in every way than the regular jack that in the Kau district finds its food along the pahoehoe. The ears are small and the face very shapely indeed.

Mr. Monsarrat believes that this is the first animal of the kind that has ever been produced in Hawaii and he means to continue the work that has now been proven beyond a doubt to be satisfactory. Several pictures were taken of the animal. These will undoubtedly prove very interesting to the stock raisers of the country.

TO GATHER DATA

When he goes on his annual cruise around this group and the outlying islands Captain Rodman of the U. S. S. Iroquois will probably make a compilation of data, sailing directions, etc., of the islands to the westward on the same lines as his work on the islands of this group, recently published in a work issued by the United States Hydrographic Office.

This office has expressed a desire that the islands to the westward be treated in the same manner as the Hawaiian Islands and Captain Rodman will most probably comply with the request. He will gather his data on the next annual tour of the Iroquois which will be about May of next year.

MOKUAWEOWEO LIGHTS

rose lurid and glaring from the fiery mist which surrounds the bay of the Mokuaweoweo crater and shot in great curve over to Kilauea, where it disappeared.

The Hawaiians in Kau say that the ball of fire was Madame Pele making a flying trip from one crater to the other. The officers of the Mauna Loa regard the whole ball of fire story as a fairy tale.

Captain Simerson who has sailed on the Kau and Kona coast for years, stated this morning that he was assured that what was supposed to be a ball of fire was merely a meteor. He had several times previously seen meteors shoot across the heavens in the direction which the so-called ball of fire is described to have taken. It would be easy to take such a meteor for a ball of fire under the circumstances.

This ball of fire shooting down the mountain side, be it meteor of whatnot, is not uncommon. It is known to the natives as akualele (flying spirit) and has been seen before during times of volcanic activity on Hawaii. Of course, it can be explained by the scientist but to the untutored mind of the Hawaiian who has lived his life on mountain side and hill top, the phenomenon has but one significance—Pele passing from one abode to another.

MAUNA LOA REPORT

The steamer Mauna Loa arrived from Kau, Kona and Maui ports at 5:20 o'clock this morning with 641 bags coffee, 140 bags taro, 87 lch bananas, 45 bags ginger, 27 bags awa, 26 kegs butter, 13 bxs oranges, 19 pkgs fish, 98 head cattle, 68 bags, 7 cts poultry and 169 pkgs sundries.

The following sugar is reported at Hawaii ports ready for shipment: Honuapo, 85 bags; Punaluu, 400; Honokaa, —; Kukuihaele, —.

Purser Conkling reports as follows: "On the outward trip we had smooth sea all the way to Kau where during our stay the water was almost as smooth as glass. Getting to Kona on our return we found very rough weather. At Hoopuloa a landing was made with great difficulty and work done. At Hookena it was impossible to get into the landing as great waves were breaking over the wharf. At Napoopoo work was done under great difficulty as the wharf there was being continually swept by huge breakers. During the lull between the breakers the boats were loaded and gotten out. Keauhou and Kailua being differently situated work was carried on regularly as at these landings the sea was comparatively smooth."

S. S. ARGYLE HERE.

The oil steamer Argyle arrived from San Francisco this morning. She was docked at railroad wharf No. 2 at about 11 o'clock. The Argyle left the wharf in San Francisco in the evening of November 20 and lay in the bay all night. She started on her voyage the next morning. The Argyle experienced a rough trip with head winds and seas delaying her progress all the way. She brings a cargo of 27,000 barrels of oil. She began discharging this noon and will probably sail for San Francisco Thursday.

WILCOX CHALLENGES FEDERAL INQUISITORS

An open letter to Mr. Atwater and his fellow jurors.

Sirs:—As Federal Grand Jurors you have seen fit to publish in your report a garbled resume of vouchers given by myself for services rendered to the last Legislature of the Territory, and to make deductions highly pleasing and satisfactory to yourselves which somewhat reflect unfavorably on myself. I therefore challenge you to publish said vouchers in their entirety, itemized as in the original, giving description of the items as written, and I deny that the resume given out by you for publication is a fair and just description of said vouchers.

Yours truly,
CHAS. WILCOX.

GOOD HOUSES CONTINUE.

"Not Guilty" was given to an enthusiastic house last night at the Orpheum by the Walter Sanford company. It proved to be a melodrama with a heart interest, yet sufficiently exciting climaxes. The scene in the "Sailor's Rest" where Philip Meredith assumes the disguise of an old Irishman to track down the gang of thieves was wildly cheered when his identity was discovered, and the play was brought to a happy ending in the final act, when the wife is cleared of the charge of theft, and proven to be "Not Guilty."

The play will be repeated tonight while on tomorrow and Thursday East Lynne will be given to what promises to be record business.

Horace Crabbe, father of Senator Clarence L. Crabbe, who has suffered two strokes of paralysis, and has been for several days in a precarious state, is somewhat better today.

PARKER TO ROOSEVELT.

Col. Samuel Parker, Republican National Committeeman, sent to President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon a cablegram urging the appointment of A. L. C. Atkinson to the post of Secretary of the Territory, this in addition to a cablegram to the same effect sent by Governor Carter himself. Mr. Parker is convinced that Mr. Atkinson is the right man for the right place and has acted in accordance with this belief.

A Toast

Here's to you, my lady
The Queen of all the world:
I drink to you, my lady
And my banner is unfurled,
And on it's face, my lady
There's writ this great defi—
"You can't be beat, my lady,
My purest 'Herald Rye'."

This toast is said to be, by Tom McTighe, the greatest toast ever uttered as it contains both strength and truth. He says that when you are getting rye, that HERALD RYE, is the only rye. Try this rye and find why it's nigh PERFECT.
