Insurance.

WHY THE

Equitable Life

Assurance Society
of the United States is the Best company with which to Assure.

I.—Because of its Safety.
Its surplus is larger than that of any other assurance company.

II.—Because of its Promptness.
Of 1,045 death claims paid in 1885, nearly one-half were paid the very day proofs were received; while of the remainder, the majority were paid within the following three days. No other company can show such a record.

III.—Because of its Liberality and Reforms.

All policies are INCONTESTABLE after three years. All incontestable policies are payable immediately upon receipt of proofs of death. The Society's policy contract is clear and simple, and liberal in its conditions. Its Non-forfeiting Tontine (or Semi-Tontine) policy affords all the ultimate benefits of the full Tontine, and has during its earlier years the surrender value and other material advantages of ordinary life policies.

IV.—Profit.
No other company is paying on its policies, as large profits as are shown under the Equitable's matured Tontine policies with fifteen-year periods. Persons desiring assurance may obtain estimates of the probable results of similar policies, and of policies with twenty-year terms, which are expected to show even larger profits.

V.—Prospective Advantages.
The unexampled progress of the Equitable in the past is the best guarantee of the increasing future value of assurance with the Equitable.

A Woman's Sufferings and Gratitude.

A Voice from Austria.
Near the village of Zittingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical sufferings and relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Over-work brought on sick headache, followed by a dizzy fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought relief in some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the pain put on their green lace more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel's pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June 3, 1882, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And oh, how happy I am! I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the 'Doc's' in our district distributed hand-bills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them it would do them no good, and many were thereby influenced to try the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighborhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little girl rang which is rung in our place when somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, and goes to the fields, and works even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup." MARIA HAAS.
The people of England speak confirming the above.

After Several Years.
"Stoke Ferry, January 9th, 1884.
"Gentlemen,—I have used Siegel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for my complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly, Harriett King."

After Sixteen Years.
"Whittle-woods, near Chorley, December 26, 1883.
"Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceeding well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favor. I had a case of a young lady that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells us that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly,
E. FEEL."

The Effects have been Wonderful.
"95, Newgate Street, Worksop, Notts, December 26th, 1883.
"Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest pleasure I accord my testimony as to the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup. My wife, who has suffered from acute Dyspepsia for over sixteen years, is now perfectly better through the sole help of your Syrup. I have sent pounds in medicines from doctors—in fact, I began to think she was incurable, until your marvelous medicine was tried. I remain, yours, thankfully, ALFRED FORD."

After Many Years.
"Hford Road Dispensary, Dukinfield, May 3, 1884.
"Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine. In some instances the effects have been wonderful. Yours very respectfully,
I. W. PRO. EDWIN EASTWOOD, J.B."

EDUCATE THE WOMEN.
Nowhere in the wide world is the education of children left so completely to women as in America. Whether right or wrong, it is a fact that the fathers are but little acquainted with their children. During the day they scarcely see each other, and in the evening "pa" is either too tired to fully enter into sympathy with the children's instruction or pleasure, and at best is either mechanically petting them for a moment, or scolding them if he happens to be in bad humor. So, if there is any home training to be done, it must be done by the mothers at home. The wild boy, the giddy girl, must be tamed and held in check by the mother. Mothers alone can listen with an interest unequalled by any other member of the household to the real or imaginary troubles of their children, and thus controlling their studies and polishing their manners. It is the mothers in America who mold and shape the minds and characters of the citizen of the future. Our sons, who in time to come, will uphold our standard of liberty, of culture and refinement, imbibe these qualities and convictions—nay, their very manhood—from their mothers. This being true, how necessary it is that our daughters, the future mothers of the coming generation, should be fully equipped to discharge their duties in the development of the moral qualities of their offspring.

Woman's heart, her sentiment, her mind, rules the conduct of man. It is to her we must look for the elevation and purification of society; and a nation's worth can best be judged by the intellectual condition of its women. While the small percentage of women who devote their time to delving among moth-eaten literature are admired neither by men nor by women, yet all advanced thinkers have occasion to rejoice at the rapid intellectual progress of the women of to-day. She assures to mankind a steady mental and moral promotion, for the educated woman is as much the superior of the uneducated one in moral nature as she is in her capacity of fitness for discharging all duties of the home. Domestic drudgery is a thing of the past. Labor saving inventions have taken from woman many of her former burdens, and her days need no longer to be divided between the cook-stove, the spinning-wheel and the needle. Nor will her education in the least impair her efficiency as a housekeeper; and above all, her liberal education will afford the best means and opportunities to employ the hours left her from domestic duties, and thus escape the frivolities, shoppings, gossipings, envies and jealousies, and all other like traits, which are chiefly found in vulgar, uncultivated and illiterate women. The religious element, too, takes a better hold upon a cultivated nature, and the fruit that it bears are much more luscious and the cause of Christ so much more efficiently subserved in the family as well as in the church.— [Farmers Home.]

A LOOK AT THE GOOD OLD QUEEN.
I saw the Queen in Edinburgh. She is a fat, stout old woman, with a rosy face and dark gray hair. Her features are more German than English, and they look very inoffensive and uncharacteristic. She is probably a woman of great intellectual strength and of queenly thought; but, as to appearance, you may see better faces at any reception in America, or in any day's shopping. She was on her way to Edinburgh exposition and the streets of Edinburgh were cleared of carriages and street cars during her march. Plank fences had been erected outside of the pavements to keep back the crowd, and hundreds of policemen, soldiers and marshals were present to edge the divinity which surrounds the Queen. The sidewalks along the line of march swarmed with people, and the scene reminded me much of a great procession in America. When the Queen left Holyrood Palace, which is in the city of Edinburgh, the cannon on the castle began to boom, and the march was made to this and the music of the band. The enthusiasm of the people was not great, and the cheer as she passed along was not equal to that of an American procession in which the President takes part. Queen Victoria, with two of her daughters, sat in a double-seated carriage hauled by four horses, and a half-dozen lords and dukes rode in front of and behind her. As the carriage passed along, the three women, the one old and the others middle-aged and younger, kept continuously bobbing their heads in bowing response to the cheers of the crowd. The whole scene was a ridiculous one, and the little soul exhibited in it shows how fast the monarchical system is on the wane, and how little the Scotch and English care for it.—["Carp," Edinburg co. Cleveland Leader.]

We should Blot Out Disease in Its Early Stages.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and in fact the entire glandular system; and the afflicted drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted.—Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling, attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky mucus gather about the gums and teeth in the morning, accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pain in the sides and back? Is there a fullness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from an horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys highly colored, with a deposit after standing? Does food ferment soon after eating, accompanied by flatulence or belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the dreadful disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced stages the skin assumes a dirty brownish appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, rheumatic pains appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against the latter agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a small quantity of the correct medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipency. It is most important that the disease should be promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a strong hold the correct remedy should be persevered in until every vestige of the disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned, and the digestive organs restored to healthy condition. The most and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by all chemists and medicine vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, London, E. C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system. Ask your chemist for Seigel's Curative Syrup.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent. I had a stored for so long a time from a severe form of indigestion, and the long train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed sufficient of their stuff to coat a man-of-war, so to speak, but all to no avail. A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Seigel Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he felt confident it would benefit me. Being weary of trying so many drugs, I commenced it before trial, thinking it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup. After doing so for a short time it worked such a change in me that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for five weeks, and am in the best of health, and can partake any kind of food with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy.—Yours truly,
W. S. FORSTER.

Those who are in the "Asthma Fur-nace" should lose no time in obtaining relief by the use of "The Rosing-weed Tar Mixture;" but do not use the medicine unless you will follow all the directions "to the letter."
Poor Asthma sufferers, who are strangers to "tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," should make use of "The Rosing-weed Tar Mixture." Quiet refreshing sleep will follow its use.

"Messrs. White and Co., London.
"Gentlemen,—It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the wonderful effects of Seigel's Syrup. For years I had been suffering from bilious attacks, which began with giddiness; then a mist would come before my eyes, so that I should not be able to recognise any one or anything at the distance of a yard or two from my face. This would be followed by excessive trembling of my knees, so that I could not stand without support; after which a severe headache would occur, lasting often two or three days. I have tried various remedies for these distressing symptoms, but until I tried Seigel's Syrup I had no relief. Since then I have had excellent health in every respect, and if ever I feel a headache coming on I take one dose of the Syrup, which arrests it. Hoping that this testimonial may be the means of inducing others (who suffer as I used) to try the Syrup, as I feel sure they will receive speedy benefit and ultimately be cured, I beg to remain, yours faithfully,

"A. H. HORTON."
Seigel's Operating Pills prevent all effects from excess in eating or drinking. A good dose at bed-time renders a person fit for business in the morning. If you have Asthma use "The Rosing-weed Tar Mixture."
