ROOSEVELT SAYS ARMY FIGHTS FOR PEACE AND FREEDOM

Just at this moment the army of the United States, led by men who served among you in the great war, is carrying to completion a small but peculiarly trying and difficult war in which is involved not only the honor of the flag but the triumph of civilization over forces which stand for savagery and barbarism.

Secretary Cooper is sustained for the most part by the Supreme Court in his appeal from Auditor Austin relative to the payment of fees to election officers who held regular positions under the government.

The Territorial Auditor refused to issue warrants for the payment of W. A. Ray, E. W. Estep and J. W. Moanauhi as inspectors of election, and Wm. Ragsdale Kamama as clerk of precinct, all in the First Representative District at a special election held December 2, 1901.

Ray and Estep being principals of public schools, Moanauhi a deputy sheriff and Kamama a sub-agent of public lands, the auditor held this section applicable to them.

Chief Justice Frear is author of the unanimously signed opinion of the court, which concludes thus: "Our opinion is that the Auditor properly declined to issue a warrant for the inspectors and the clerk."

One of the central principles embodied in the decision has reference to what constitutes an "officer" within the meaning of the act construed, and the court answers the question thus: "In our opinion one is not an officer where, as in this instance, the law does not recognize by providing for his appointment or his pay or his duties in any way, but he is engaged by other officers to temporarily assist them and is paid according to his contract with them out of an appropriation for general expenses."

Secretary H. E. Cooper argued the case in person, while Attorney General E. P. Doie represented the Auditor.

Actual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms. The victories of the American army have been the really effective means of putting a stop to cruelty in the Philippines. Wherever these victories have been complete—and such is now the case throughout the greater part of the islands—all cruelties have ceased, and the native as secure in his life, his liberty and his pursuit of happiness. Where the insurrection still smolders there is always a chance for cruelty to show itself.

BIG ANTHRACITE COAL STRIKE

New York, May 30.—The late developments in the big anthracite coal strike are being eagerly watched by the whole country. The strikers number nearly 150,000. President Mitchell, who figured so prominently in the former coal strike, is confident that his union can this time hold their ground against the coal operators.

Child's Life Saved By Coolness of Motorman

Motorman C. A. Christiansen, who runs a Rapid Transit car on the Liliha street line, by his coolness and effective mastery of his car, saved the life of a Japanese child yesterday forenoon under circumstances which would have made most men in a similar position fall.

Christiansen's car was coming down Liliha street close to the Chinese theater at a great rate of speed. The Liliha street cars have to make good time in order to connect with those on the King street line and as there is quite a grade at this place, the speed of the car was rather faster than on the main line.

When the car was near the entrance to the theater, a Japanese child, about four years of age, which had been playing on the sidewalk, suddenly jumped right between the tracks and immediately in front of the flying car. No human power could stop the tremendous momentum of the car and, for a moment, it looked as if the death of the child was inevitable.

Motorman Christiansen who, by the way, is a Dane and possesses the coolness of his race, was equal to the occasion. Quick as a flash, he dropped the fender and put on the reverse. He succeeded not only in saving the child, which was scooped up in the fender and escaped without a scratch, but he also stopped his car in a space of fifteen feet, a feat which his colleagues consider almost miraculous.

Christiansen has on several occasions prior to this demonstrated unusual ability in handling his car and he is considered to be one of the very best men employed on the system.

Attorney General Very Seriously Ill

Washington, May 29.—It was learned today that the condition of Attorney General Knox was much more serious yesterday than his friends at that time were willing to admit. For a time it was feared his illness would take a turn which would result fatally or at least permanently impair his constitution.

When the violent change in the weather came Tuesday, Attorney General Knox, who was taking a drive in night clothing, got thoroughly chilled, and the result was the congestion of almost his entire system. A serious illness came on that night, but by the application of hot baths and other remedies the trouble was kept in check until a doctor was summoned yesterday morning. Surgeon General Hixey of the United States Navy attended Knox, and found that he was not only threatened with pneumonia, but also with acute Bright's disease.

This latter was of so serious a phase as to cause the greatest anxiety. The home treatment to which Knox was subjected was the very best thing that could be done. The doctor found the patient in a much improved condition today. He thinks all danger is passed. Knox, however, will be compelled to keep to his bed during the rest of the week.

S. I. CAMPBELL DEAD

SON GETS BAD NEWS ON REACHING THE COAST

W. M. Campbell's Father an Old Pioneer Who Came West from Massachusetts.—Big Estate.

W. M. Campbell, on his arrival in San Francisco, received news of the death of his father, Samuel L. Campbell, in Seattle. The son made the trip to the coast for the express purpose of visiting his father, who was well along in years. The father was one of the Pacific coast pioneers, and the call gives the following review of his life:

Mr. Campbell was born February 3, 1824, in Chester, Hampden County, Mass. He was the seventh son of Hector and Olive Campbell, who were natives of Scotland. The family consisted of eleven children. His father served as Probate Judge for many years and had much to do with the making of the laws of Oregon. At the age of 20, Samuel Campbell graduated from the State University of Massachusetts and began teaching in district schools.

He and his brother William left home for the far Northwest in April, 1846. On October 19 they arrived at the mission of Dr. Whitman in the Walla Walla Valley. He was very intimate with Whitman and was present at the well known massacre of the Whitman family. He left Oregon City in April, 1847, for Massac-Bissett, where he arrived September 16 of the same year. In 1848 he piloted his father's family in Oregon, and had most thrilling experiences and hair-breadth escapes.

Mr. Campbell was married January 6, 1854, to Miss Jane Matlock. They had four children, Hector L., William M. (twins), Frank W. and Herbert H. Mrs. Campbell died in 1866. Mr. Campbell was married again in 1869 and his wife survives him. The children of this marriage are Callie E., Thomas M., George C. and Annie J. Mr. Campbell for years was connected as civil engineer with the State Surveyor's office of Oregon and surveyed a large portion of that State. He was later elected County Surveyor for several consecutive terms. He was also chief engineer of the first railroad built through Oregon from Portland to Roseburg. Mr. Campbell spent the last two years of his life in the preparation of his autobiography, that when published is bound to prove most interesting, as during the forges he crossed the plains three times and had many thrilling experiences with the Indians and buffaloes. On one of his trips he was the companion of Joe Meek, the well known historian.

Mr. Campbell left an estate valued at $200,000.

Telephone, 259 Postoffice Box, 715 SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1902. General Miles has not yet been so hard hit as to be forced to the rear.

It seems that snakes are to be excluded from Hawaii. Does this include the bottled kind? Hon. Andrew Carnegie rides about London in a tuppenny bus. This will leave more money for libraries.

The sanitary washing of clothes seems to be an impossibility at the Government's insanitary laundry. Miss Robinson was recently married in London to Mr. Cruso. This was the occasion when Robinson crew so.

Vegetarians, who have been compelled to forego the luxury of meat, are classified as Nebuchadnezzarites. Maine is becoming known as the Toothpick State. One factory alone, down East, turns out six billion toothpicks annually.

Kilauea is doing its best to encourage the tourist trade. It now remains for the steamship companies to quote some reasonable rates. England is agitating a proposal to increase the length of university terms, there being at present only twenty-four weeks of college instruction each year. The students are agitated.

The vanguard of the 17-year locust has made its appearance in the Smithsonian grounds at Washington, D. C. It appeared as a plain stew, a milk stew or a broil the cicada is said to be very toshsome. The Waldorf-Astoria is responsible for a dude product clad in a swallow-tail coat with velvet collar, and an out-of-date, left-breast pocket from which a tiny lace handkerchief protrudes. It was too utterly too-too.

While the small farmers of Hawaii are suffering from the cutworm, it may cheer them up to know that the codlin moth costs mainland farmers $25,000,000 a year through its destruction to the apple and pear crops. Twenty inches of space have been allotted to each British press in the coronation ceremonies at Westminster Abbey. As the average British matron measures more than twenty inches across the beam, some pressmen are likely to stand during the show.

Those who complained of heat and humidity in Honolulu last week should visit Washington, D. C., New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, or some of the other Eastern cities where men and animals drop dead in the streets under a temperature exceeding 100 degrees, of which 90 per cent is humidity. In a London safe deposit vault recently the renter of a safe, anxious for the spiritual welfare of one of the janitors, said while they were in the vault together, "Are you prepared to die?" For answer the janitor instantly pinned the questioner to the wall by the throat, constraining the question as a preliminary to a murderous attack.

American shoes, roll-top desks, furniture clocks and watches are finding their way into Run-bay; Dutch India is taking our canned goods and machinery; while Teheran absorbs American hardware, wall paper, pickles, electric fans, cutlery and phonographs. This is an indication of the commerce that will soon be passing through Honolulu to Oriental ports in the steamers that will make this city a port of call.

Eastern meteorologists were expecting to see a red haze about Decoration Day. They figured that the millions of tons of fine volcanic dust from Martinique and St. Vincent would travel around the world in ten days at the rate of 100 miles an hour, and would reach the Eastern States by the San Francisco route about the end of last month. It would be interesting to know if the red haze arrived on time and according to schedule.

GOVERNOR VS. COURTS.

Governor Dole's first official act on assuming the duties of office, following his endorsement by President Roosevelt, has been to issue a pardon for the editor of the Advertiser, convicted of contempt of court by the three judges of the First Circuit Court and sentenced to imprisonment for thirty days. Two days of this thirty days' sentence had been served and the Governor had been in Honolulu not quite twenty-four hours when the Executive prerogative was exercised. The Supreme Court of Hawaii required weeks to review the case, and it upheld the action of the Circuit Court. Governor Dole took less than twenty-four hours to decide to overthrow the courts.

The Bulletin trusts that Governor Dole will be able to convince the people of this Territory, the voters, the officials of the United States, as well as any honest man who may happen to take an interest in the affairs of this Territory, that in issuing this pardon he has been prompted by a desire to uphold the integrity of American courts of justice. The Bulletin hopes Mr. Dole is free from any thought of debasing his high office to serve the ends and aims of a political faction with which he is associated. The Bulletin hopes the Governor has considered well the responsibility he assumes and can satisfy his conscience of the wisdom of his course in its bearing on the purity of motive which he claims for his public acts.

It is fair to state that Governor Dole has done just what was expected he would do. It has become pretty well established that Governor Dole will use all the arbitrary power placed in his hands to defeat any act for which the First Circuit Court of this Territory is responsible. This is the kind of administrative harmony for which Governor Dole stands.

AMERICAN EARTHQUAKES.

Besides the Charleston earthquake of 1886, in which forty-one lives were lost and $5,000,000 worth of property destroyed, there have been two other notable earthquakes in the United States within historic times—one near the head of the Mississippi delta in 1811-1812, and the one in Inyo Valley, California, in 1872. During this latter earthquake a tremendous fissure was formed along the base of the Sierra Nevada mountains for a distance of about forty miles, the land west of it fissure rising and the land east of it falling several feet. Owens river was temporarily swallowed up and in the village of Inyo all of the houses were thrown down and one-tenth of the inhabitants were killed.

The one in the Mississippi delta, known as the New Madrid earthquake, consisted of a series of shocks which lasted for nearly two years. No scientific records of the disturbance were made, but it related that the alluvial land of the river bottoms was traversed by visible waves which rocked the trees to and fro and uprooted many. Huge fissures were opened and lakes were drained by the escape of their waters into them. The largest sunken area was sixty or eighty miles long and nearly half as broad.

THE COAL STRIKE.

All negotiations tending toward a settlement of existing difficulties between the miners and the mine operators in the United States have so far failed, and the influence of the National Civic Federation, of which Senator Hanna is chairman, has been without avail. The Ohio Senator, however, says that "the coal strike is up to the mine operators," and he knows whereof he speaks.

It was during the Presidential campaign of 1900 that there was a similar strike by the miners in the anthracite fields which seriously threatened the re-election of President McKinley. Senator Hanna was in Chicago at the time and he hurried back to New York, using his influence as a mediator to stay the troubles. In this he was successful, and at the same time he learned something, namely, that five or six railroads, financed by J. Pierpont Morgan and the Vanderbilts, controlled 90 per cent of the anthracite coal fields and practically the whole business. He believed then, as he believes now, that the miners have just grievances and that the operators are wrong. Hanna has talked plainly to Wall Street millionaires before now. He told them two years ago that the country had never been so prosperous and that prosperity would continue, but he reminded them also that the wage earners were not getting their share of this prosperity, and that they would not long tolerate their condition without some disturbance.

Senator Hanna holds the same views now that he held in 1900, and he is using his personal influence to bring about a settlement of the difficulties that exist at the present time. He was successful in 1900, and believes that he still has some influence with the big mine owners. At any rate, he knows their secrets, and if a Congressional investigation were ordered he might be compelled to reveal certain facts

TERSE STATEMENTS AND EPIGRAMS FROM "THE EMPIRE OF BUSINESS."

BY ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Aim for the highest. Do not touch liquor, or, if at all, only at meals. Never speculate. Never indorse beyond your surplus cash funds. Make the firm's interest yours. Concentrate expenditure always within revenue.

The trouble is men are not paid at any time the compensation proper to that time. Every employer of labor is anxiously studying the men around him. The millionaires are the bees of the hive, not the drones.

Capital, business ability and labor must be united in any enterprise. The fashion of trusts has but a short season longer to run. It is infinitely easier for a young practical man of ability to obtain an interest in existing firms today than ever before.

Subdivision, specialization is the order of the day. The habit of thrift constitutes one of the greatest differences between the savage and the civilized man. I have never yet met a man who fully understood two different kinds—of business.

The millionaire who toils on is the cheapest article which the community secures at the price it pays for him, namely, his shelter, clothing and food. No young man ever lived who had not a chance, and a splendid chance, too, if he was ever employed at all. The young man who never had a chance is the same young man who has been canvassed over and over again by his superiors, and found destitute of the necessary qualifications.

A basketful of bonds is the heaviest burden a young man ever had to carry. I would almost as soon leave a young man a curse as burden him with the almighty dollar.

Attribute most of my success in life to the fact that trouble runs off my back like water from a duck. Men who in old age strive only to increase their already great horde usually are the slaves of the habit of hoarding formed in their youth.

At first they own the money; later in life the money owns them. College graduates will usually be found under salaried, trusting subordinates.

Don't put all your eggs in one basket. It is all wrong. I tell you, "Put all your eggs in one basket and then watch that basket." It is easy to see the sights and render some help to the refugees. Gould's yacht travels at the rate of 177 miles an hour, so they should have a pleasant trip, at least.

Men have wasted their precious years trying to extract education from an ignorant past, whose chief province is to teach us not what to adopt, but what to avoid. Men have sent their sons to colleges to waste their energies upon obtaining a knowledge of such languages as Greek and Latin, which are of no more practical use to them than Choctaw.

PLAIN WOMEN.

The very newest theory for the emancipation of women is that to have the right to be homely would complete the enfranchisement of woman. Not only that, but it is claimed this would put an end to the female state, "placing woman upon an equality with man—not a fictitious equality, such as acquired by diploma or rules, but a real equality more important than the right to vote or to hold office." This may all be very true, but it is a right that will never be universally claimed by women. When the Lord converted that fifth rib of Adam into a woman he implanted in her heart a desire to please man; and since time began she has followed the God-given impulse and will continue to until the end of time, for upon it her happiness depends. Now and then one flies off at a tangent and cries out "The men! the men! Why should women be constantly occupied in trying to please them?" and the answer is simply because she craves the admiration and love of man, and to gain it or to keep it she must be beautiful.

Men will not admit a woman's right to be homely. According to them, woman's first duty is to be beautiful. She must please and attract, if not by natural loveliness of face and form at least by the grace with which she presents herself in a careful setting of dress; by the graciousness of her manners, or by that tact which says the right thing at the right time, or keeps still and looks pleasant. Indeed, the time will never come when woman will be able to honestly say to man, "You do not admire me, but I don't care."

No woman is so plain that, if she will only put her mind to it, she may not become a rival of her more beautiful sister of the brilliant complexion and classic profile. There is Sarah Bernhardt, a woman who has neither eyes, nor hair, nor figure, nor feature, whose whole stock in trade is a voice and a matchless grace, and yet for the last score of years or more she has made a doorman of the masculine gender. Therefore to please, to charm and to captivate may be the gift of the plain woman even more than that of the beauty. But it is a duty she owes to herself, to her husband and to her children, or to the man who is to become her husband, to make herself as attractive and beautiful, without recourse to artificial means, as it is possible.

Having figured up the dividends to be paid on listed stocks for the month of May, Wall street announces that they will be eight million dollars larger than for the same month last year. How does this compare with Honolulu dividends?

It is not from the sons of the millionaire or the noble that the world receives its teachers, its martyrs, its inventors, its statesmen, its poets, or even its men of affairs. It is from the cottage of the poor that all these spring.

It will be a great mistake for the community to shoot the millionaires, for they are the bees that make the most honey, and contribute most to the hive after they have gorged themselves full.

Money is left by millionaires to public institutions when they must relax their grasp upon it. There is no grace, and can be no blessing, in giving what cannot be withheld.

Wealth is being more and more distributed among the many. The amount of the combined profits of labor and capital which goes to labor was never so great as today, the amount going to capital never so small.

One false axiom you will often hear which I wish to guard you against, "Obey orders if you break owners." Don't you do it. This is no rule for you to follow. Always break orders to save owners. There never was a great character who did not sometimes smash the routine regulations and make new ones for himself.

Boss your boss just as soon as you can; try it on early. There is nothing he will like so well if he is the right kind of boss; if he is not, he is not the man for you to remain with—leave him whenever you can, even at a present sacrifice, and find one capable of discerning genius. Our young partners in Carnegie Brothers won their spurs by showing that we did not know half as well what was wanted as they did.

In my own experience I can say that I have known few young men intended for business who were not injured by a college education.

Men have wasted their precious years trying to extract education from an ignorant past, whose chief province is to teach us not what to adopt, but what to avoid. Men have sent their sons to colleges to waste their energies upon obtaining a knowledge of such languages as Greek and Latin, which are of no more practical use to them than Choctaw.

watch and carry the one basket. Is it trying to carry too many baskets that breaks most eggs in this country. He who carries three baskets must put one on his head, which is apt to tumble and trip him up.

It took me some time to learn, but I did learn, that the supremely great managers, such as you have these days, never do any work themselves worth speaking about. Their point is to make others work while they think I applied this lesson in after life, so that business with me has never been a care. My young partners did the work and I did the laughing, and I commend to all the thought that there is very little success where there is little laughter.

Nothing is truer than this, that as a rule the "almighty dollar" bequeathed to sons or daughters by millions proves an almighty curse. It is not affection for the child, it is self-glorification for the parent which is at the root of this injurious disposition of wealth. There is only one thing to be said for this mode, it furnishes one of the most efficacious means of rapid distribution of wealth ever known.

Here is a remarkable fact, that the masses of the people in any country are prosperous and comfortable just in proportion as there are millionaires.

In the old home of our race, in Britain, which is the richest country in all Europe—the richest country in the world save one, our own—there are more millionaires than in the whole of the rest of Europe, and its people are better off than in any other. You come to our own land; we have more millionaires than in all the rest of the world put together, although we have not one to every ten that is reputed so.

The trouble between capital and labor is just in proportion to the ignorance of the employer and the ignorance of the employed. The more intelligent the employer the better and the more intelligent the employed, the better. It is never education, it is never knowledge that produces collision. It is always ignorance on the part of one or the other of the two forces. Speaking from an experience not inconsiderable, I make this statement. Capital is ignorant of the necessities and the Just dues of labor, and labor is ignorant of the necessities and dangers of capital. That is the true origin of friction between them.

Men have sent their sons to colleges to waste their energies upon obtaining a knowledge of such languages as Greek and Latin, which are of no more practical use to them than Choctaw.

KAMEHAMEHA CONCERT

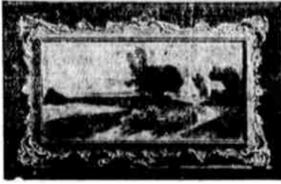

LARGE CROWD PRESENT ENJOYS PERFORMANCE

Song and Instrumental Music for Benefit of Baseball Team and David Kanewani Fund.

The concert given in the gymnasium of the Kamehameha School last night was attended by a large number of people. At the end of the hall was a stage decorated with banana leaves and Hawaiian and American banners. The large hall was well filled with people, the Kamehameha boys in their uniforms and the girls dressed in white composed a large part of the audience.

The program, which comprised both vocal and instrumental selections, was received with enthusiasm. Every number caused a perfect storm of applause, so that encores, in cases even double encores, had to be given.

It brought me great trouble, and one of three things must occur: 1. You must stop making them; or 2. I must get them at less expense; or

3. I am a ruined man. Since my first venture I've had many "jars." My family from early morn cry "Pickles"; neighbors ring the door bell and shout "Pickles"; relatives visit me in expectation of "Pickles".

Kamehamehas Beat Artillery AT BASEBALL Honolulu Win From Mailes

The first game of the afternoon was called a little after 1:30 o'clock, the Mailes going first to the bat. The teams batted in the following order: Maile-Hima—Kalawana, rf; Davis, lb; Jones, ss; Kiley, c; Luahiwa, lf; Akau, 3b; Clark, p; Mana, 2b; and Taylor, 1b.

H. A. C.—Pryce, ss; Aylett, cf; Williams, p; Louis, rf; Joy, 3b; Cunha, c; Hansman, lf; Thompson, 2b; and Gleason, 1b.

First—Mailes Missed Chance. Kalawana went to the bat first for the Mailes and sent a ball to Joy at third for an error, making his first base. Davis made a hit past second for a base. Jones hit to pitcher, who threw to third, catching Kalawana. Davis and Jones were advanced to first and second, respectively, on a passed ball. Kiley flew out to right. Davis had all the time in the world to get home, but he froze to his third with neither rhyme nor reason. Luahiwa struck out. The Mailes had every chance to score but something happened.

Pryce for the Honolulu went out, short to first. Aylett flew out to second. Williams flew out to third on a foul.

Second—Mailes Hit Ball. In the second inning Akau went to bat first for the Mailes and sent a fly over second for one base. Clark got first on a slow hit to pitcher. Mana made a two-base hit into right and brought in Akau. Louis fumbled the ball and fell down, and then Clark came in. Mana going to third. Taylor hit past first, Thompson on second made a good stop and the runner was put out, but Mana came home. Kalawana went out, short to first. Davis (Taylor running) hit to short and beat the ball out to first. Jones went out, second to first.

Louis for the Honolulu went out, second to first. Joy got first on an error by short. Cunha got base on balls. Hansman hit to third and the ball was thrown to second, catching Cunha. Thompson got base on balls. Gleason made a base hit over third and Joy came in. The ball was thrown wild from left to catcher and Hansman came in. Pryce went out, short to first.

Third—Mailes a Run Ahead. In the third inning Kiley made a two-bagger into left for the Mailes. Luahiwa flew out to right, Louis making a fine run three-quarters of the way to second to field the ball. Akau went out, third to first, on a sacrifice. Clark fanned out. Kiley was left on third. Aylett for the Honolulu flew out to right. Williams flew out to center. Louis made a base hit close to second. Joy went out, third to first.

Fourth—Pair of Circlets. Mana was first man for the Mailes in the fourth. He went out, pitcher to first. Taylor went out, second to first. Kalawana fanned out.

Cunha for the Honolulu made a two-base hit into right. Hansman went out, third to first; Davis catching the ball in one hand. Thompson struck out. Gleason did the same.

Fifth—Score Tied. Fifth inning, with Davis at the bat for the Mailes. Flew out to right. Jones hit in the direction of first. Gleason went out to get the ball and Williams ran from his box to first and got there in time to catch his man. Kiley flew out to Thompson at second.

Pryce for the Honolulu flew out to left. Aylett made a two-bagger into right. Had the ball not hit one of the palm trees, it would have been a three-bagger. Aylett got third on a passed ball. Williams made a three-bagger into right, bringing Aylett in and making the score a tie. Louis flew out to right and then Williams, making a beautiful run, came home. Joy got his base on balls. Cunha struck out.

Sixth—Joy Into Box. Luahiwa for the Mailes in the sixth. Joy in the box for the Honolulu. Luahiwa struck out. Akau made a base hit over second. Clark was at the bat. Suddenly Cunha sent the ball to first and Akau was caught off the base. Clark struck out. It looked very much like a different story with Joy in the box again.

Hansman for the Honolulu went out, short to first. Thompson made a clean base hit over third. Gleason sent another single between third and short. Pryce hit to short, who threw to third, catching Thompson. Aylett flew out to first.

Seventh—Joy Sheds Sweater. In the seventh inning Joy took off his sweater and it was all off with the Mailes. Mana for the Mailes flew out to short. Williams, the previous pitcher, fielding the ball. Just here, Joy threw such a tremendous drop that it dug a great piece out of the ground and went past Cunha. Fortunately, there were no men on bases. Taylor and Kalawana both struck out.

Williams for the Honolulu flew out to center. Louis got first on an error by short. Joy hit into center for a base and got second on a bad error by second. Louis was advanced to third. Cunha made a base hit into center, bringing in Louis and Joy. The runner would not have got second had it not been that Taylor fumbled the ball. Thompson went out, third to first.

Eighth—Score Tied Again. In the eighth, Davis (Taylor running) for the Mailes made a hit past first. Jones struck out. Kiley made a single between first and second. Luahiwa made a base hit into left and Davis came home. Akau struck out. Clark made a single past short and Kiley and Luahiwa came home. Mana flew out to Hansman in left. The excitement at this stage of the game was tremendous. The Maile aggregation simply went wild at the outlook.

Gleason for the Honolulu got first on another error by Jones at short. Gleason was caught stealing second. Pryce went out to first. Aylett hit an easy high fly into right, which was by every right the property of the fielder there. However, Mana of second wanted to make a grandstand play and went after the ball, miffing it as was to be expected. As a consequence, Aylett got two bases. Williams went out on a slow grounder to first.

Ninth—Great Excitement. Taylor started off the ninth inning for the Mailes and plunked a ball right into Thompson's fingers for an out. Kalawana made first on an error by short. The great Davis fanned out and waddled back to his bench, while Jones went out, third to first. Louis for the Honolulu went out, second to first. Same story for Joy. Cunha flew out to center and another inning was necessary.

Tenth—Band Began to Play. In the tenth the band started up and Kiley for the Mailes flew out to Gleason at first. Luahiwa went out, third to first. Akau got first on an error by short. Clark flew out to Thompson at second.

Hansman got first on an error by Mana at second. This was not a very bad error, the ball bouncing awkwardly. Thompson hit safe into left for one base. Gleason hit to short and the ball was thrown to third, catching Hansman. Pryce struck out. Aylett got on a pop-up right into Davis's hands. The Honolulu seemed to have lost the chance of their lives.

Eleventh—Williams Wins Game. In the eleventh, Mana for the Mailes struck out. Taylor flew out to Thompson at second. Kalawana struck out. Williams for the Honolulu hit far out into right through the palm trees. The fielder there was confused by the trees and Williams went around to the third bag. Louis hit in the direction of first, Davis fell in trying to get the ball and the runner got first safe, while Williams came in with the winning run.

After this most exciting game there was an intermission of about ten minutes, during which the two teams that were to play the second game got a little practice. The batting order in this contest was as follows, the Kamehamehas winning by the very narrow margin of 2 to 0.

Artillery—Smith, 2b; High, rf; Pliney, cf; Stone, 1b; Bennett, 3b; Manis, lf; DeLisle, ss; Davis, c; and Brown, p.

Kamehameha—J. Kekuewa, 1b; Jones, s; Kahaulelio, rf; Richards, 3b; Koki, 2b; Lemon, p; D. Kekuewa, c; Reuter, cf; and Cockett, lf.

First—No Runs. J. Kekuewa for the Kams went out, pitcher to first. Jones went out, second to first. Kahaulelio struck out.

Smith for the Soldiers got base on balls, but was caught at second on a beautiful throw by Catcher Kekuewa. High fanned out. Pliney did the same. Lemon for the Kams was pitching a beautiful game.

Second—Kams Score. In the second, Richards for the Kams got his base on balls. Koki hit one right up into the air. Catcher muffed it and pitcher, picking it up, threw to second, putting Richards out. Lemon went out, second to first. Kekuewa made a single past second, but was caught at second. Heff however, brought Koki in.

Stone, the "Philadelphia Rooter," who makes more noise than any player in the islands, hit to third, who threw wild to first. The ball went by and the rooster got two bases. Bennett went out, pitcher to first, sacrificing and advancing Stone to third. Manis flew to third. DeLisle struck out to left. Rooter Stone marched in from third with a tired look on his face.

Third—Neither Side Scores. In the third, Reuter, a new player for the Kams, went out, second to first, and Cockett flew out to right (High). J. Kekuewa flew out to second.

Davis for the Soldiers made a hit last second. Brown went out on a slow grounder, sacrificing and advancing Davis to third. Smith flew out to left. Davis made no attempt to get home after the ball had been fielded. High flew out to pitcher.

Fourth—More Goose Eggs. Jones for the Kams in the fourth, went out, short to first. Kahaulelio and Richards both struck out.

Pliney for the Soldiers got base on balls. Stone struck out and went back to tell his friends what the matter was. Bennett struck out and Pliney really stole second. Manis struck out.

Fifth—Lemon Gets to Work. In the fifth, Koki for the Kams hit a slow ball toward first. The pitcher got the ball, threw it easily to the rooster at first, but the latter let it go through his legs. Lemon flew out to left. D. Kekuewa knocked a ball right through short and out into left for three bags, bringing Koki home. Reuter hit to second, the ball was thrown to catcher and D. Kekuewa was caught between that player and third. Reuter was advanced to second. Cockett flew out to center.

DeLisle for the Soldiers struck out. Davis did the same. Brown was the third victim. The applause was so great as Lemon walked in off the field that he had to raise his hat and smile pleasantly to the people at the reporters' taunt.

Sixth—An Island Record. In the sixth J. Kekuewa went out, second to first. Jones flew out to second. Kahaulelio did the same as Jones.

Smith for Soldiers struck out. This was the seventh successive strike-out by Lemon, which is the island record. High made a single into left. Pliney hit to third and the ball was thrown to second, catching High. Pliney was caught stealing second.

Seventh—Very Short Work. In the seventh Richards for the Kams went out, short to first. Koki went out, pitcher to first. Lemon flew out to second.

Stone for the Soldiers struck out again. Bennett flew out to right. Manis struck out.

Eighth—Splendid Chance Gone. D. Kekuewa for the Kams struck out. Reuter flew out to first. Cockett went out, pitcher to first.

DeLisle flew out to second. Davis made first on an error by Richards at third, but was caught off first on a swift throw by pitcher. Brown hit a slow one toward first and beat the ball out. Smith got base on balls. High struck out and the Artillerymen lost the chance of their lives.

Ninth—Kams Win. J. Kekuewa for the Kams got first on an error by first and second on still another hit but was caught stealing toward third. Jones went out, pitcher to first. Kahaulelio got base on balls and stole second. Richards made a base hit in the direction of second. While Koki was at the bat, Brown hurried suddenly and threw the ball to second, catching Richards. This retired the side.

By way of cheering up the Soldiers, the band played "Three Cheers for the Red, White and Blue," and Pliney went to bat, making a strike-out. Stone made a base hit past second. Bennett got base on balls. Manis struck out. Tobin, a new man, was put into the latter's box in place of DeLisle, known to be a poor batter. It was thought that this new player would bring in at least one man. However, such was not the case. Bennett got caught at second and the game was over.

MET HIS WIFE TO BE

When the steamship Mlowera arrived from Vancouver and Victoria last night and docked at the Pacific Mail wharf about 9 o'clock, a very impatient young man did his best to look patient and at ease on the wharf at the end of the gangway, while customs officers, immigration officers and doctors were discharging their various duties aboard.

William N. Patten, well known and popular in Honolulu, was the young man on the wharf. Miss Eleanor Phillips, who has lived in this city for about four years and who was formerly stenographer at the Custom House, was the young lady on the deck of the steamship. Miss Phillips was returning from a visit to friends up north.

When people from ashore were finally allowed to board the steamer, Mr. Patten lost no time in going aboard. They met.

Soon a carriage was bearing the happy couple to the Catholic Cathedral and soon they were man and wife.

Patten had prepared a home for his bride, having taken special pains to have everything in readiness. He had secured a cozy little cottage, furnished it and yesterday evening he decorated the interior with many beautiful flowers.

The wedding was a quiet affair, only a few intimate friends of the bride and groom being present. Mr. and Mrs. William N. Patten are now "at home."

PIPER MURRAY DEPARTS.

On Friday night the members of the Scottish Thistle Club presented "Piper" R. McDonald Murray with a badge in the shape of a Scotch thistle surrounded by a garter bearing the usual inscription. Piper Murray, who will leave these islands in the Alameda has been of great service to the club and will be greatly missed at all its functions at which his music and dancing have always been a most prominent feature.

J. H. McGregor, another member of the club will leave in the same steamer.

ENTIRE CREW SAVED

(Continued from page 1.) went to Nihaou and took that portion of the Kerr's crew to Waimea. Now all hands are at Waimea, awaiting the sailing of the Mikahala for Honolulu. Captain Gibbons told Mr. Batchelor, that after the burning vessel had been left the men in his boat did not suffer for want of food or water. The weather for the first two days after leaving the vessel, said Captain Gibbons, was very nasty. Strong northeast winds and heavy seas were experienced. On the third and fourth days southwest winds, squalls and heavy rains were met with. After that north to north-easterly winds were had for a change and a few calms, with a smooth sea, were enjoyed. The sail from the ship to Mikahala, a distance of 800 miles, was made in eight days. A sail and the oars were used.

Lord Brassey Bids Britishers to Hope

London, May 28.—The annual meeting of the London Chamber of Commerce, which was to have been held this afternoon, was unexpectedly adjourned, owing to lack of space and accommodations. Printed copies of the presidential address were distributed. In it Lord Brassey urged the improvement of the London docks, on the lines of those at New York and at Hamburg, and said he believed the British, on even terms, were well able to hold their own in industrial struggles.

Dealing with the shipping combine, Lord Brassey said it was idle to expect or claim a monopoly of the North Atlantic. It was certain sooner or later that some movement similar to that initiated by J. P. Morgan would be brought about by the United States. Lord Brassey admitted, however, that the British shipbuilders must look to their laurels in the construction of ocean "greyhounds" of the Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland type, and urged more liberal subsidies for mail carrying. He concluded with referring to the desirability of an imperial customs union, and touched upon the increasing friendship between Great Britain and the United States.

KING EDWARD VII CELEBRATES OFFICIAL BIRTHDAY

London, May 30.—The birthday of King Edward, who was born November 9, 1841, was officially celebrated today.

The chief event was the ceremony of "trooping the colors" at the Horse Guards and the presentation of colors to the new Irish Guards. Stands covered with crimson cloth were erected on three sides of the parade grounds and were occupied by thousands of privileged spectators, including the United States Ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, and Mrs. Choate, and the secretary of the United States embassy, Henry White.

Tremendous cheering greeted the appearance of the King and his brilliant escort, which included many notabilities. His Majesty, who rode between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught, wore the uniform of a colonel of the Irish Guards. Lord Roberts, the commander in chief of the forces, who led the procession, also wore the uniform of colonel of the Irish Guards. Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family viewed the scene from the windows of the Horse Guards. The King during the afternoon presented colors to the King's Company of the Grenadier Guards. The weather was wet and raw.

King Edward invested the Duke of Marlborough and the Duke of Bedford with the insignia of the Order of the Garter at Buckingham Palace this afternoon.

Passengers Push to Dawson's Fields

Dawson, May 28.—Two more steamers left last night for upriver points, crowded with passengers who are in a hurry to reach the outside. Other boats from now until the end of the week will be crowded and the spring exodus is well started.

The clean-up is further advanced today than ever before at this time of year and results were never more satisfactory. Some of the largest nuggets ever found in the Klondike have been taken out of the lower bedrock on El Dorado. Officials of the Gold Commissioner's office estimate the season's output at from $25,000,000 to $26,000,000.

Baseball on Maui.

Hilo, June 6.—Captain Embert M. Brown and a husky team of baseball players leave Hilo by the Kinohiki this morning to cross hats with the Maui team at Wailuku, June 11. The Hilo team goes without four of their best infielders, but the substitutes are of such caliber as will make the Maui boys work for all the laurels they gain.—Tribune.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NEWS FOR THE BULLETIN ABOUT CURRENT EVENTS

Special to the Bulletin.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Occasionally some nice plums are to be plucked through the medium of Civil Service Examinations. During the coming week an examination will be held here to fill the position of civil engineer in the United States Navy. There are two vacancies to be filled by competitive examination. The successful candidates will be commissioned officers in the United States Navy, with the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade. The salary for the first five years is $2700 per annum. Legislation is pending to provide for the appointment of six additional civil engineers, and it is possible candidates who pass the coming examination will be eligible for these six additional appointments. These are good positions, and the requirements are correspondingly exacting. Candidates must be between 27 and 35 years of age, must pass a satisfactory physical examination, must be American citizens, must have received a degree in the civil engineering course of a reputable engineering school, must have had at least five years' practical experience in civil engineering, and at least three years in responsible charge of work. The Civil Service Commission will be pleased to hear from those who can comply with these requirements.

Clark's Stand Together. Captain Clark of the Oregon, who has just declined the appointment to represent the United States Navy at the coronation ceremonies, is a favorite in Congress, and it is a source of general regret at the capital that his great services in the Spanish American war have not been fittingly recognized. A resolution extending to him the thanks of Congress for his services in bringing the Oregon from Pacific to Atlantic waters was introduced during the last session of Congress by Senator Warren, of Wyoming, but action upon it could not be secured on account of the Schley-Sampson controversy, which prevented any action by Congress looking to the reward of the naval heroes of the war. Several weeks ago Captain Clark was in Washington and called at the Capitol to see a friend. While in the Marble Room of the Senate, the fact of his presence became known within the Senate chamber. Immediately there was an exodus of the Honorable Senators, and in a few moments Captain Clark was being an impromptu, but enthusiastic, reception. Among the Senators who were about him were Clark of Montana and Clark of Wyoming. "We Clarks must stand together," said the Wyoming man. The Montana Clark and the Naval Clark agreed to this, and the compact was cemented by hearty handshakes.

Old Carlyle Home. The Daughters of the American Revolution are planning to purchase the old Carlyle House at Alexandria, Va. The Carlyle House is one of the oldest landmarks in Alexandria, that city of old landmarks. It was built in 1732, by John S. Carlyle, and was occupied, through the courtesy of its owner, by the British General Braddock, and since that time has been popularly known as Braddock's headquarters. It was in this house that General Braddock and Admiral Keppel, in 1775, held a conference with Governors and Representatives of the various colonies concerning plans for the proposed campaign against the French and Indians along the Ohio and St. Lawrence rivers. Five Colonial Gays.

Jefferson's Bible. Chairman Lacey of the House Public Lands Committee has secured the adoption of a resolution providing for printing as a public document what is known as "Jefferson's Bible." The book is a collection, made by Thomas Jefferson, of the teachings of Christ, the original copy of which is in the possession of the National Museum, where it is kept under lock and key. The work is a volume of eighty-two double pages, made in scrap book form in which Jefferson pasted clippings from four Testaments in as many languages. On the left-hand page he pasted the clippings in two columns, first in Greek and Latin, on the right errors were present, and to meet them and give them the benefit of his knowledge of Indian warfare, George Washington, then a major in the State militia, was summoned from Mt. Vernon. Braddock declined to act upon Washington's advice as to the best method of dealing with the Indians, and the disastrous expedition against Fort Duquesne was one of the results. The house is picturesque, being built entirely of freestone in colonial style. It was about being torn down to be replaced by a modern structure when Mt. Vernon Chapter, D. A. R., inaugurated the plan of purchase.

Rock Hurled at Roosevelt.

A new interpretation has been placed upon the episode at Cripple Creek in which President Roosevelt figured during the campaign of 1897. This is given by Phillip Schuch Jr. of Cripple Creek, who called on the President a few days ago and gave him as a souvenir the rock which was thrown at him in the melee at the time of the election trouble. According to Schuch's story, the rock was a valuable piece of quartz which a man named Fowler desired to present to Colonel Roosevelt. On account of the great crowd, he was unable to make his way to where the Colonel stood, so he gave the solid bearing rock a little toss in the direction of the Republican leader. Fowler was immediately assailed by men who thought he was trying to kill Colonel Roosevelt and the exciting scene, which resulted in columns of telegraphic description and which was one of the most dramatic of the campaign, followed. Mr. Schuch does not tell how he obtained the historic rock, but as he had it to give the President, that part of the narrative is perhaps not essential.

Gorman at the Capitol.

Ex-Senator Gorman was a visitor at the Capitol one day last week. While he was in the lobby of the Senate, he was surrounded by a group of Senate employees, doorkeepers, messengers and pages. He was shaking hands with them, and they were congratulating him upon the fact that he is to return to the Senate on March 4 next. While Senator Gorman may not please the politicians of his party, he is certainly a favorite with those who were associated with him in the Senate, either as fellow members or as employees. Gorman started his working life as a page in the Senate. In his kindly consideration for the employees he evidently has not forgotten his humble beginning. Gorman is also exceedingly well thought of by the members of the press. He is invited to every dinner given by the Grilliron Club, and is always on the list of speakers. His after-dinner speeches at these events are graceful, witty and sensible.

France is the Rage. It is the turn of the French Embassy now. France and everything French is the rage nowadays. The most popular toast is "Long live the French Republic," and it is drunk at innumerable dinner parties, where the guests of honor are the French Ambassador and Mme. Cambon. The festivities culminated, of course, in the unveiling of the statue of the Count de Rochambeau, which event was the reason of Mme. Cambon's visit to America. The reception which followed was a very brilliant affair. Washington would like to keep Mme. Cambon forever. Her entertainments have been the most popular of the season, and she herself is an ideal hostess. The Count and Countess de Rochambeau, together with the officers of the Gaisois are to visit Niagara with the Ambassador and Mrs. Cambon, and will be entertained in New York, Boston and Newport. Upon their return, they are to give a luncheon on the Gaulois at Annapolis in honor of the President and his Cabinet, at which Mrs. Roosevelt and the Cabinet ladies will be present. This is so much nicer than the stag entertainment given by Prince Henry, and the women are showing their appreciation in a hundred little ways. Just as their husbands paid exorbitant prices for Prince Henry souvenirs, Washington women are prepared to go any lengths in honor of the Rochambeau celebration. French heels have re-appeared, and one hears French on the street continually. One very pretty girl was confident to a friend that she couldn't imagine what was the trouble with a young attache of the French Embassy who has been a great favorite with the girls this winter. "My dear," she said, "I don't believe he can speak French at all. He didn't seem to know what I was talking about at all." The friend smiled reassuringly. "Oh, yes, he can speak it, dear," she said. "He couldn't understand because you talk District of Columbia French."

Visit of the Czar's Uncle.

After a live Gorman Prince, and a French-American celebration of a French hero's war record in America, the capital is taking the promised visit of Grand Duke Boris, the uncle of the Czar, with remarkable sang froid. Perhaps the fact that Countess Marguerite Casini has already sailed for Paris, without regard for the advent of the illustrious visitor, leaves society somewhat in doubt as to just what consideration is due to an uncle of the Russian Emperor. The Grand Duke is a great student of economics and sciences. He intends visiting some of the important cities of the country, and proposes making a tour of the world. He will remain a week at the Russian Embassy, where he will be entertained by Count Cassini.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS IN ENGLAND

RESULTS OF GAMES PLAYED.

Table with columns for First Innings, Second Innings, and Result. Rows include London County vs Notts, Surrey vs Essex, and London vs Surrey.

In the cricket matches with the English county teams the Australians seem to have had things pretty much their own way, winning from Notts by an innings and 4 runs, and from Surrey by an innings and 78 runs. In the match with Surrey only five Australians went to the bat. These five men totaled up 236 runs when the Australians withdrew for the innings, but Surrey could only count up 218 in her two innings, thus practically losing by 78 runs while the Australians had an innings and a half to spare.

First of the Five Test Matches.

London, May 29.—The first of five test cricket matches between Australia and England commenced today at Birmingham. The home eleven batted first and at the close of play the score was 551 runs for nine wickets down. Tyldesley, a professional player, made the top score, 138 runs.

London, May 30.—Rain delayed the resumption at Birmingham of the first of five test cricket matches between Australia and England, which was begun yesterday. The Englishmen, in their first innings, when they scored 376 runs for nine wickets down, declared the innings closed. That the Englishmen were well advised to close their innings and send in the Australians on a "wet pitch" was quickly demonstrated. The wickets of the visitors fell like ninepins. The unprecedented rapid disposal of the crack Antipodean cricketers caused a great sensation. Two wickets fell for ten runs; four were down for twenty-two runs, six for twenty-five runs and the Australians were all out in their first innings for a total of 55 runs. The Australians in their second innings had scored eight runs for no wickets down when play was stopped, owing to bad weather.

House Decides for More Small Coinage

Washington, May 29.—The House today passed the bill to increase the subsidiary silver coinage. The Democrats directed their fight chiefly against the provision to recoin the standard silver dollars into subsidiary coin as public necessities might require. Half a dozen roll calls were forced. The text of the subsidiary coinage bill is as follows: "That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to coin the silver bullion in the treasury, purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, into such denominations of subsidiary silver coin as he may deem necessary to meet public requirements, and thereafter, as public necessities may demand, to recoin silver dollars into subsidiary coin; and so much of any act as fixes a limit to the aggregate of subsidiary silver coin outstanding and so much of any act as directs the coinage of any portion of the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, into standard silver dollars, is hereby repealed."

Dry Building at Nationa Capitol

Washington, May 27.—The feature of the day in the House was a lively debate on the question of prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors at immigrant stations. It was precipitated by an amendment offered by Bowercock of Kansas to prohibit such sale, which was carried—83 to 18. Lands of Indiana followed this victory with an amendment to prohibit the sale of intoxicants in the Capitol and it prevailed by a still larger majority—108 to 19.

THOUGHT TO BE CURE

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—Dong Gong, the Chinese leper, who has for nine months past occupied an isolated house near Quarantine, has apparently recovered from his malady and will be released within two months unless the disease returns. Chaulmoogra oil, the product of an East Indian tree, has been the sole treatment administered to Dong Gong by Dr. Martin C. Woodruff, superintendent of quarantine. Discoloration has disappeared from the patient's face and limbs and feeling has returned to the spots of flesh which were insensible to the pricking of pins or the touch of hot iron. Only on one of the patient's legs and one wrist is the faintest redness visible.

THE MURPHY CLUB

The program of the Murphy Temperance Club last night was a good one. The opening sketch by Frank H. Ward and W. Schwartz, entitled "The Stupid Coon," was very good. Master Higgins sang a song which was well received, followed by a song from Mr. Addison, which was repeatedly encored. A sketch, "The Shadow," by Messrs. Ward, Schwartz, McMaster and Seymour, kept the audience in a roar of laughter from beginning to end. A song by Mr. Addison "Every Nation Has a Flag, but a Coon," was the hit of the evening, after which he sang "Rag Time." M. Nakuina spoke on the work of the Murphy Club, which was followed by a guitar duet by the Wallace Bros. making a very nice evening's entertainment.

DALMATIAN PUPS

Four finely developed Dalmatian puppies were sold at noon yesterday in Moran's auction rooms on Queen street. A male dog brought $10, while the female animals fetched from $7 to $8. The puppies are about six weeks old and are fine specimens of the coach hound. They originally belonged to Mr. Lewis of Lewis Brothers, the contractors. Several dogs of a former litter brought as much as $25 for the males and $20 for the females. Some one named the four beautiful sold yesterday, Kilauea, Mokuawewe, Mauna Loa and Haleakala, in honor of the signs of volcanic activity in these islands. The Evening Bulletin, 75 cents per month.

Professional Defined Turfmen from Hawaii News from the Track

The much vexed question of what constitutes an amateur and a professional driver, which has of late been disturbing the minds of the local sporting fraternity, has at last been definitely settled. In answer to letter asking for information on the subject, Charlie Bellina received by the S. S. Anameda a reply to the following effect: That a driver to become a professional must have received financial remuneration for having driven a horse in a race. The fact that he drove his own horse for a purse in no way damages his amateur status.

Conditions of the Race. The question arose at the last meeting of the Hawaiian Jockey Club when the make-up of the program was discussed. In the original draft of the program for June 11, the conditions governing the gentlemen's driving race were read as follows: "One mile, horses to be driven by amateurs. First prize $50 cup and 'Tommy' cart; second prize, buggy; third prize, set of harness. On account of the number and value of the prizes offered a great deal of interest was taken in the race and a number of owners declared their intention of competing, some of whom in the opinion of the other horsemen were not eligible to compete on account of having, as they thought, forfeited their amateur standing by having at times competed for cash prizes, sweepstakes and side bets. Conditions Revised. A heated discussion followed and the result was that conditions of the race were revised as follows: One mile, free for all members of the Jockey Club who have never driven for a purse, owners to drive. This procedure of course elated a dissenting faction who deputed Mr. Bellina to write to the Breeder and Sportsman in order to find out just how the matter stood. The result of the inquiry is given above. The ruling of the Californian turf authority will not influence this year's race on account of the binding and specific conditions introduced. Next year, however, a number of local drivers who are prohibited from competing in next Wednesday's amateur event by the clause in the conditions reading "for members who have never driven for a purse," will pilot horses in the gentlemen's driving race.

Yesterday's Track Matinee. The matinee at the track yesterday was of an interesting nature and the performances of the horses were watched with interest by a number of persons who journeyed to the track in the hope of seeing something sensational develop in the speed line. They were doomed to disappointment, however, for the work done, while of an entertaining nature, verged on the ordinary. Wayboy's best mile was a fraction worse than 2:20. He put in other heats in 2:30 and 2:35. Edna G. was driven beats by John Callan in 2:23, 2:30 and 2:38. The trial for all candidate worked along nicely and has the unique advantage of being the only horse in the classic event which can boast of a sound set of legs. The Three-Legged Wonder. Cyclone, the threelegged wonder, paced in 2:31, 2:35, 2:38 and 2:42. With another leg under him Quinn's black pacer should show 2:15 without much urging. W. H. Norton's little roan pacer Di-rectress pleased her owner by working a mile in 2:23 without a skip, displaying a good deal of her old time.

Entries Close Monday. Entries for the running events close tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. On Friday morning John Ouderlik drove his black enigma Sambo alias Steamplough for the first time this season. A mile was turned very comfortably in 2:23. The black gelding will undoubtedly start in the gentlemen's driving race on Wednesday and there are few horses whose performance will be watched with greater interest by the general public. Last year he showed 2:16 in a work-out but shortly afterwards went wrong. This year he has been systematically nursed along in his preparation. Some folks say that he has yet to show that he can stand the gaff, but on the other hand he has given no evidence whatever that he is not a race horse.

Jack Sutton Brings New Vaudeville Team. The demand for first class vaudeville in Australia which has created such keen competition among Lee and Rial, and the local managers, has caused the scouring of the States and Europe for the pick of the houses as rival attractions. Harry Richards, for years premier entertainer of Australasia in vaudeville, has been forced to look to his laurels and in several trips has the best attractions booked for two and more seasons ahead. Lee and Rial have placed Honolulu on their circuit, but Richards has invariably opened his people in Australia, taking several through two steamers ago. After contracts are concluded, the performers make their way back to the States or Europe by devious routes, according to their fancy and the extent of their often scanty savings out of liberal salaries. Captain Jack Sutton hit upon the happy idea of taking several of the artists whose terms of contract expired simultaneously and extending their season by playing a tour of the Orient, returning to the States by way of Honolulu. Through this fortunate combination he shows upon his play bills many names that nightly drew crowded houses in Melbourne and Sydney and Honolulu secures the opportunity, always acceptable and promptly accepted, of witnessing some first class vaudeville. The combination has traveled through China gleaming unstinted praise and now comes to Honolulu under the management of Captain Jack Sutton, well known in theatrical circles. To those who have acquaintance with the stars of the variety stage, there are many names in Sutton's advertisement that guarantee his claim to a first class combination. The Australian papers have spoken well of them and Honolulu will give them a ready welcome. We have a discriminating taste in Honolulu but such names as Harry Cogill, Aquinaldo, Annie Tasma, Altra the Tramp and several others disarm criticism and invite closer acquaintance. Following the lead of Lee and Rial, Captain Sutton has resolved to play at the Orpheum, where in this hot weather, a vaudeville audience can enjoy the program in unconventional and convenient ease, cigar in mouth and comfortably apprached. The performance consists of bright little comedies, sketches, songs, juggling, balancing, aerial feats and a pot-pourri of enjoyment. The engagement will undoubtedly open to a packed house that will forget volcanic rumors and alarms in laughter and sensation. The company arrives in the Hongkong

Telling Flashes From the Best of New Books

The American woman is more feminine in Europe than she is at home. It may be that the atmosphere and surroundings develop her femininity, or perhaps it is that she is more venturesome. However that may be, in Paris she likes to attract attention and admiration in the street. It is a pleasure which she does not get in her own country and which she values all the more accordingly. Whenever a Frenchwoman is followed persistently it always troubles her; she is annoyed about it and reproaches herself as though she were to blame. An American woman is not disturbed by such trifles. It often happens that some idler, attracted by her beauty or deceived by her coquettish manner, mistakes her for a foreigner on the lookout for adventures and follows her for the fun of the thing. Far from being alarmed at this impertinence, she is flattered by it and most imprudently slackens her pace and stops to look at the shop windows. When the "follower," imagining that he is being encouraged, speaks to her, she gives him a withering look and repulses him with an expression of such freezing propriety that he retires more or less abashed. She returns home delighted at having humiliated an individual of the stronger sex and conscious of no other feeling than that of satisfied self-respect.—Pierre de Coulevain, "Eve Triumphant."

The other day a fond fashionable mother in Michigan asked a young man whether he had ever seen a young lady sweep in a room so grandly as her Priscilla. He said no, he never had, and the mother was gratified beyond measure, but then, said he, after a pause, "What I should like to see her do is sweep out a room." It does not hurt the newest comer to sweep out the office if necessary. I was one of those sweepers myself.—Andrew Carnegie, "The Empire of Wealth."

It was once said of a Kentucky crafter that he was like a goose paddling on the ocean, unconscious of the depths beneath.—Robertson, "The Opponents."

Ever since the days of Eden, the means of seduction and the causes of woman's weakness have never changed, which fact proves that ruse and curiosity are among the immutable factors of the human soul. Man still succeeds with woman by persuading her that the tree of life has fruits which she has not tasted, the flavor of which is quite unknown to her.—Coulevain, "Eve Triumphant."

Huxley's "episcopacy" took humorous form in the story of a country school lad, who put the mitral valve, so called from its resemblance to a mitre, on the right side of the heart instead of on the left side. On appeal Huxley let him through, observing,

"Poor little beggar, I never got them (the valves) correctly myself until I reflected that a bishop was never in the right."—Edward Clodd, "Thomas Henry Huxley."

Great Britain has spread the red spots of sovereignty all over the world; we have stretched from the shores of the Atlantic three thousand miles to the Pacific, from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico, and, not content, I fear, following Britain's perilous example, we are trying to annex foreign territory. The truth is that we have taken the Scripture much too heart, which tells us that the meek shall inherit the earth, and which, our humorist Mark Twain said, explained it all—our race is so meek; at all events we seem to have lost no time in discovering that the true and only reliable proof of the true inheritors was whether they spoke English.—Carnegie, "Empire of Labor."

The American woman prides herself on her coldness of temperament, and the Frenchwoman on her susceptibility. When the latter is in love her one ambition and delight is to give happiness, while the American woman expects to be made happy herself. This opposite way of looking at things makes them as different from each other as two creatures of the same species could possibly be.—Coulevain, "Eve Triumphant."

Were it not, as Huxley says, that "the ignorance of the so-called educated classes is colossal, there might be need for apology in reiteration of the fact that man is not descended from the ape. The relationship between them is lateral, not linear, both being offshoots of the same stock, but each remaining, of course in very different degrees of development, isolated groups of mammals.—Edward Clodd, "Thomas Henry Huxley."

"Jim Bludso of the Prairie Belle"

By JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

Through the hot black breath of the burnin' boat
Jim Bludso's voice was heard,
And they all had trust in his cunningness,
And knowed he would keep his word.
And, sure's you're born, they all got off
Afore the smokestacks fell—
And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle.

He weren't no saint, but at judgment
I'd turn my chance with Jim
'Longside of some pious gentlemen
That wouldn't shook hands with him.
He seen his duty, a dead sure thing,
And went for it thar and then;
And Christ ain't a-going to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

Takes Six Weeks To Make Baseballs

The opening of the baseball season calls attention to the fact, not generally known, that Cincinnati supplies practically the entire Middle West with baseballs, and that something like 125 people earn a living in the baseball factories of the city.

The process of making baseballs on a wholesale plan is a rather interesting one, consuming in a single season something like 5000 skins. The scrapings from the shoe factories, of which the "raw" balls are moulded, are stored in collars of about an acre area, and from this material the balls are shaped by hand. According to quality, the ball is bound by a few or several dozen rounds of cord. The "raw" balls are placed in automatic moulds, shaping the ball, and at the same time pressing out all moisture, to the tune of 200 gross a day. One employe will shape as many as 1000 of the raw balls in a single working day.

The newly pressed balls are then sorted and allowed to dry out for a pe-

Adulteration's Limit.

By W. D. NESBIT, in "What to Eat."

We've stood for almost every kind of food adulteration, and never uttered but the mildest sort of condemnation; the coffee might be filled with beans by methods underhanded; the pepper might be bits of bark, and all the sugar sanded; but now's the time to speak out loud, and not to feebly mutter—They're putting artificial hairs in artificial butter!

It's bad enough to know that half the syrup is not maple, and that the lard is cottonseed—we'll take all that as staple—It's rather rough to be informed that water's in the whiskey, along with fuel oil and things that make it pretty risky; but—here our wrath and words collide, and make us fiercely stutter—They're putting artificial hairs in artificial butter!

We've been assured that olive oil is rendered from the castor; and some folks say the humble hen at cheating is a master; and, furthermore, the pumpkin pie we eat at quick-lunch places, is made of orchard turnips, and of pumpkin bears no traces. But it's enough to set our tongues with strongest words a-flutter—They're putting artificial hairs in artificial butter!

There was some joy in finding strands, or ringlets light and airy, and conjuring impressions of the princess of the dairy. The butter might be much too weak, or it might be stronger, but they'd no right to keep us from our dreamings any longer. So, Rouse ye Romans! Rouse ye slaves! The war-cry we must utter! They're putting artificial hairs in artificial butter!

ADAM AND EVE SET ASIDE BY PRESBYTERIAN PASTORS

Elizabeth N. J., April 28.—The Elizabeth Presbyterian met again today in the Second Presbyterian Church, after a week's adjournment, to give Harrison K. Wright and Gilbert Lovell, applicants for preachers' licenses, an opportunity to think over their opinions on the subject of Adam and Eve. At the last meeting both young men declared that they believed Adam and Eve to be mythical persons and licenses were refused.

Forty-five ministers, with Dr. Menckel presiding as moderator, put Mr. Wright through another examination today. It was announced that Mr. Lovell, the other applicant, was about to undergo a surgical operation at his home in Plainfield. The Rev. Mr. Payson conducted Mr. Wright's examination.

The candidate was asked what he meant when he said that Adam and Eve were mythical persons. He replied that he believed they were the image of God and represented fallen man, but that the writer of the book of Genesis, though inspired of God, wrote in an allegorical sense. When asked who Adam was, the applicant said he was man.

"What was his name?" was asked. "Adam, I suppose," said Mr. Wright. Suddenly Mr. Wright asked: "What did you say about apples?" "Apples were not mentioned," replied Mr. Buckel.

"Could it have been possible to think now," asked the Rev. Mr. Buckel, "that there were more than one man in the garden?" "There might have been," replied Mr. Wright.

"And more women than Eve?" "Yes."

"Do you intend to preach your ideas if you are given a license?" "Oh, no," answered Mr. Wright. "I do not intend to make text of my thoughts on the subject, but if a man comes to me looking for salvation I shall expound to him the Gospel as I believe it."

At the end of the examination he retired and remarks on the case were made by nearly all the ministers present. All were in favor of granting the license. The Rev. E. E. Kempshall, who was pastor of the Old First Presbyterian Church for nearly fifty years, said that new ideas were constantly growing in the Church and that the Church must meet them. The individuality of the man was the paramount thing. God was the objective point, and His Word preached was the theory of the new school.

The vote was unanimous to grant the license and the moderator ordained the candidate. Mr. Wright will be sent to Corea as a missionary, a field of his own choosing. Candidate Lovell will be examined on May 12.

Belgium Mourning the Champion Eater

Belgium mourns, for the champion eater of the country is dead. One day he entered into an agreement with a hotel keeper, according to which he promised to pay a fixed sum for a dinner, but stipulated that he was to have all the food he wanted.

The sum fixed was small, and great, therefore, was the disgust of the hotel keeper when he discovered at the end of the dinner that his guest had eaten two stewed rabbits and a whole calf's head.

On another occasion he ate for a wager twelve yards of sausages and black pudding. He recently accepted a challenge to eat seventy hard boiled eggs in one hour, and he almost accomplished this feat, since he devoured sixty-nine in the specified time.

The fact that he lost the wager, however, and through one egg, preyed on his mind and he became sick. Doctors were summoned and said that he was suffering from indigestion, but his friends say that it was nothing but worry over this one egg which made him sick and which finally brought him to his grave.

Tabloids Save Time and Tips

"I have solved the luncheon problem," said W. S. Webb of the Missouri Savings Bank. "I dine every noon, yet I neither have my luncheon sent in to me nor do I go out for it. Neither do I carry a full dinner bucket, as we did in the last Presidential canvass.

"This way," and he took from his pocket a little tin box, in which were a score or more of little tablets. "Each of these is composed of concentrated food. They are mixed with malted milk. Three or four of them make a square meal. I find it inconvenient to go out for luncheon in the middle of the day, because that is our busy time. I don't like to have one sent in, and I cannot go without. Therefore, these I take three or four of them every noon, and perhaps eat a banana or an orange, and I am amply satisfied.

"Yes, I know that sounds funny," he went on, "but that is the twentieth century way of doing things. Soon we will do all our eating on the tabloid plan, and the odors of the kitchen—in fact, the kitchen itself—will be obliterated. We will carry our meals about with us in our pockets, and when we are hungry we will eat. There will be no long dinners, no waits, no quick lunches. We will take tablets and save all worry over burned or underdone steaks, and will not have indigestion over heavy pies and batter cakes. Banquets will become a thing of the past instead of stuffing a guest with half a hundred different things at one sitting. We will say: 'Have a tablet!' and then light our cigars and be done with it. It's the coming way."

And Mr. Webb cocked his feet up on his desk and took another tablet.—Kansas City Journal.

Are there any Women in Heaven?

Mr. A. D. Kinsman, a Bible student of Erie, Pa., raises, not for the first time, the interesting question, "Are there any females in heaven?" He has gone a step further and has proven to his own satisfaction, at least, that there are no women "up there." Mr. Kinsman bolsters his theory with the strongest Biblical evidence.

Strange as it may seem, it will be readily admitted that there is not the slightest evidence in the Bible that females of any sort are among the inhabitants of heaven. We know that the members of the Trinity are always spoken of as men and the disciples of Jesus were all men. In both the Old and the New Testaments, when occasion offered to speak of one who had passed to the other side, it was always a man who had been so fortunate. And, likewise, when a prophet, saint or disciple had occasion to mention anyone who had reached heaven the name of a man was chosen.

So, too, we find it in the case of angels. There are Gabriel and Michael, but in all the named heavenly host there appears not one feminine name. In this connection it is interesting to note that in each case where a group is used in reference to an angelic masculine form are invariably found. Mr. Kinsman also points out the fact that all the evil spirits mentioned in holy writ have masculine names, including Mephistopheles himself. This may be most readily tested in the book of Revelation. In the New Testament a man is said after death to be gathered unto his fathers, not unto his mothers.

After thus proving conclusively to his own mind that there are no women in either heaven or hell, Mr. Kinsman asks the rather naive, not to say startling question, "What does become of woman after death?" He startles us still more by asking a second question, "Are they annihilated?"

We may choose one of three alternatives: First, that no women reach heaven, and are, therefore, annihilated or go to some place of which the Bible makes no mention; second, that women reach heaven, but in common with men, become sexless, and there is henceforth no distinction between them; third, that women reach heaven and become males.

The first proposition—that of complete annihilation—is too forbidding to be entertained. Of the second alternative it may be said that the invariable reference to all such inhabitants as masculine renders it extremely improbable that those inhabitants are sexless.

There is, apparently, nothing left which is at all tenable, save the third contention, viz., that women, upon reaching heaven, become males. To prove which Mr. Kinsman quotes Jesus' reply to the Sadducees, when they ask of the disposition on resurrection morn of the woman who had seven husbands:

"Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven."

For those who find pleasure in mental speculation of this sort, this is the most plausible theory, as well as the least repellant one. It is a theory which merges the mysteries of love and life into those of death and the resurrection. Most people, sometimes even the most practical, like to cherish that pretty sentiment that there is a certain, particular woman for a certain, particular man.

In other words, we all recognize in a greater or less degree, the theory of human affinity, the classic myth of the wandering soul seeking its mate, its complement. I believe that a good woman goes to heaven just as a man does—that is, as a perfected whole—the complete "ego."

Huxley and other scientists have proved conclusively that the human has not always been differentiated by sex—that there were not always male and female.

May not what is true of matter be equally true of spirit and soul? As Guy de Maupassant says, it is man's awful isolation which is the tragedy of his life—the hidden cause of all his sorrow—ever and always the human walks alone. He or she vainly attempts in love to escape this awful isolation of the soul. He or she strives to it, but they fail. May they not, possibly, find in death what they have been seeking in life, the complement of each other's souls, and may such a soul not enter heaven unchallenged?

Such is apparently, in my mind, the only way by which a woman can enter the kingdom of heaven.

Fun the Furniture Furnished.

The family had gone away for a fortnight, leaving the house in charge of the Furniture. As the time became heavy on its hands it decided to give an "evening." The different apartments were pretty well represented, and thus it went forward.

There was old Mrs. Bed resting with her back against the wall, her mattress folded in her lap with comfort. "What a horrid sham!" quoth the Mirror, looking at her. "How awfully she's made up. Some one ought to give her a rap on the slats to bring her to her senses."

Later in the evening the whole assemblage was quite awestruck to see old Mrs. Bed in the maze of the waltz. "What springs!" cried they. "She's light as feathers!" At this Mrs. Bed gave an extra spring, spiral it would be termed gymnastically, and squeaked aloud, "Excelsior!"

Grandpa's Chair was also becoming hilarious in the dance. He had taken from the chest of drawers the gilded pair and donning them was wildly turning the Piano Stool. The frivolous Mandolin began to pick up airs from the Guitar, who was thoroughly in tune with the occasion.

The stately Piano, however, refused to join in the play, but sat calmly making notes.

A soubretteish Cushion in blondined top piece wound the French Clock all up by saying, "You're a thief, Miss; you stole my tick." The French Clock put her hands over her face and angrily chimed, "If you talk like that I'll strike."

Just at this moment the glaring conduct of the Electric Light shocked her and she gave vent to her alarm.

During the melee which ensued the Embroidered Dolly found herself hemmed in, so she rested on the arm of the Sofa, who said to her, "Ah, my dear, you look so tidy."

"But I suffer all the time with a stitch in my side," answered the Dolly. Hereupon the Sofa called to the Waiter, who did not respond, for he was dumb.

A Chair with wooden legs took down the Mantel and wrapped it round his back. At this point the Broom swept proudly into the room, and pausing beside the Tennis Set inquired, "Aren't you enjoying the ball? Why don't you dance the rumba?"

In the corner the Call Bell peeped an orange for the Paper Knife, who afterward cut him.

The gassy now waxed warm on the floor and several participants slipped down. An old Rooster-leather Pillow, seeing the down, slyly remarked, "I'd be a goose to miss getting that."

"What are you laying for?" asked an Egg Poacher, seeing his manoeuvre. "I don't lay, if you please; I'm Cook of the walk, and you'd better not let me catch you poaching on my premises." At this stern rebuke the Egg Poacher meekly lifted his lid. The door, who has been at the threshold, grew weary of the excitement, and turning on his hinges, bolted.

The Portiere Curtain, being shabby and soiled, hung back. The Chinese Vase, seeing her dilemma, whispered to the Palm Pot, "Wouldn't that jar you? Why don't the Feather duster?"

At this moment the Window had panned and a shade fell over her. The Filmy Drapery attracted attention to the Window by noisily shaking out her fold. "I'll shudder," said the Window, sotto voce. Then aloud, "I can see clean through you, Miss, and everybody knows you face."

"Ah, ha!" sputtered the Gas Jet, who had overheard the confab. "Miss Drapery, let me give you a tip."

"Nay, answered the lace Drapery; you are bright, I'll admit, but you've become such a fixture."

On hearing this the walls laughed, and made the Chandelier.

Quite late the Churn came in, and when the Sugar Bowl saw her escort, she cried: "Oh, isn't he a Dasher! I would like to be sweet on him. That churn always gets the cream."

"Ah, no," sighed the Sugar Tongs; "I wish I were more spoony."

A loud rapping at the outer hall door caused a silence to fall, but it hit no one.

The Speaking Tube called down, "Go away please; there's no place here for a Knocker." Then the Stove Pipe said to the Stove, "You're a warm member, but you're sooty."

This made the Stove hot, and turning red, he retorted, "Oh, that's one of your pipe stories; quit smoking." And the Pipe felt a damper thrown on him when he saw the Tooth Pick take the bark from the Fire Dogs and toss it in the grate. "Ah, ha!" quoth the Coal Hod, "to make her blaze I'll take the shovel and poker."

Then the Tea Kettle began to sing, and this caused the party to break up. The Parlor Lamp had grown sleepy, and blinking went out. The Library Books took their respective leaves, and as they passed through the kitchen they asked the Cistern if it were well. And all the Cistern would say was, "You can't pump me!"

The next morning the old man told Billy he could stop and go to sleep. (You know it is always dark on the moon in the daytime.) Billy said he was hungry, so the old man gave him a small bowl of porridge. Billy didn't care much for porridge as a rule, but he was nearly starved, and when he got through with that howl he asked for another. The old man told him to go to sleep and he would forget all about being hungry.

Billy was awfully tired and slept all day. The old man awakened him early in the evening, and after giving him another skimpy bowl of porridge, ordered Billy to get to work.

Billy polished away for a couple of hours when he noticed the old man's sack was turned. This gave Billy a chance to look around. Everything looked familiar to him. There were the twin lights of Navesink on the left, and on the right he could see the long row of lights running from the Oriental Hotel to the Iron Pier, and just beneath him, a few feet away, was the very path he came out on the night before. Billy dropped on it and ran. The old man shouted at him, but the louder he shouted the faster Billy ran.

When Billy reached the beach and mixed with the crowd he heard them talking on every hand about how bright the moon was. No one knew on earth can hardly see it. Now, you are young and strong, and I'll make you polish it every night. So get to work."

The old man gave Billy a can of water, some chalk and an old rag, and set him at his task. Whenever Billy showed any inclination to stop, the old man prodded him with a crooked handled stick, which he used as a cane.

That night a great astronomer looking through his telescope saw Billy. The next day he telegraphed all over the world that he had discovered a new volcano on the moon, and it created great excitement. It wasn't a volcano at all. It was only Billy working.

Bawling Billy Billing's Boy.

Billy Billings was a spoiled boy. His parents were wealthy and he was their only child. At an early age he found out if he would cry loud enough, he could get anything he wanted, so he cried so much that the other boys nicknamed him "Bawling Billy."

One evening last summer Billy wanted to go to Coney Island, so he cried until his father had to take him. When he got down there he cried for something he couldn't get—something other children have cried for and couldn't get. He "cried for the moon." His father told him he couldn't get it, that money couldn't buy it. At that Billy roared all the louder, and a great crowd began to gather around.

(a) A tempting attack, which, however, does not prove a success.

(b) An ingenious move, the object in view being to force away the White K B from K B 3.

(c) There was no better move, for 1-Q 8 ch was threatening. We see now the effect of Black's 17th move.

(d) Guards against plays like R x B or Q x B P.

(e) Threatening R-Q 8 ch, Q-Kt 5 ch, R-Q 7 ch with a winning attack.

(f) Black's advanced Q B P was bound to win the game. The text-move looks promising, especially since R-Q B 7 is threatening, but there is no time for that. White has a forced win.

(g) Evidently White overlooked this move when he played Q-K 7.

(h) Black at this stage announced a mate in five moves. A very neat ending to a skillfully played game.—Literary Digest.

them. Then his father did what he had never done before—he gave Billy a good shaking. Billy jerked himself loose from his father's grasp and said, if he couldn't get the moon, he was going to run away, and with that dashed into the crowd, where his father couldn't find him.

Billy wandered down to the beach, crying, as usual. When he reached the water's edge he saw a bright path leading straight to the moon. He put his foot on it expecting his foot would go into the water, but it didn't. Then he put his other foot forward. Then he advanced two or three steps, and the path was as hard and smooth as an asphalt pavement. When Billy saw this he commenced running to the moon.

When he reached the end of the path he discovered the moon was a few feet over his head, and he stood under it crying, and saying he wanted it. There was an old man up in the moon, who reached down, took Billy by the collar and hauled him up.

"So you want the moon," the old man said. "Well, I want you." He felt Billy's muscles. "Yes," he said, "you will do. I am old and stiff and the moon is getting rusty. It takes me about a month to polish it up, and I no more than get it bright when it begins to get dull again. Sometimes I suppose it is so dim that the people on earth can hardly see it. Now, you are young and strong, and I'll make you polish it every night. So get to work."

The old man gave Billy a can of water, some chalk and an old rag, and set him at his task. Whenever Billy showed any inclination to stop, the old man prodded him with a crooked handled stick, which he used as a cane.

General Smith's Court-Martial

Washington, May 25.—The details of the court-martial of J. H. Smith, whose notorious "burn and kill" order has earned him the unenviable title of "the American Weyer," are eagerly awaited by the whole country. General Smith claims to have a strong defense. Secretary Root has shouldered the responsibility for the rigorous campaign pursued in Samar, but declares absolute ignorance of the "kill all over ten" order.
