GREECE AND ALLIES BARGAIN FOR NEW WAR LINE-UP

RUMANIA WISHES TO STAY NEUTRAL RUSSIA INFORMED

Unless Government Shifts Attitude, Slav Vessels Can't Use Danube

SERBIA IS CONQUERED BUT ARMY NOT CRUSHED

Remnants Retire in Good Order; Capital Moved to Scutari; German Plot to Wreck Italian Factories

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Greece and the Allies continue to carry on negotiations looking to possible aid by Greece in the war. The final solution of the negotiations has been delayed, pending a reply to the request made by Greece that the Allies define the military requirements with regard to Macedonia.

LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Rumania has notified the Russian diplomats who have been consulting her that she wishes to remain neutral, according to news here today. Consequently Russian ships will not be permitted to enter the Danube, as the Slav commanders had planned.

SERBIA IS LOST BUT ARMY WILL FIGHT TO LAST

LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Though driven almost entirely out of their own country, the Serbian soldiers remain uncrushed. They are endeavoring to mobilize on the frontiers of Albania and Montenegro. They are retiring in good order, even in the face of the vigorous attacks of the successful invaders.

The seat of Serbian government has been set up in Scutari, Albania, the government archives being kept there now.

GERMANS TAKE LAST OF TOWNS

LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Not one important town in all Serbia now remains in possession of the people of that country. The tide of war has swept away every garrison in any town of considerable size and wherever the invaders have gone, they have occupied the country-side.

The Germans have taken Prisen, according to today's despatches. This is the last important Serbian town in their path to Bulgaria and Turkey. Monastir, the principal town of southern Serbia, which for some time has been menaced by the Bulgarians, has been evacuated by the scanty Serb garrison which held it. Its occupation by Bulgarian troops is now only a matter of hours.

The Teutons claim that the Serbian campaign is completed, as they hold practically all Serbia with their allies, the Bulgarians.

KITCHENER AND FRENCH BOTH NOW IN LONDON

LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Gen. Sir John French, the British commander on the west front, has arrived here for a conference with Premier Asquith, which was held today. Lord Kitchener has returned from his visit to Greece, Rome and other points and is making reports on his observations. It was reported today that the Allies may make Gen. Joffre, the French commander, supreme commander of all the Allies' troops in the west, but this rumor is officially denied.

JUDGE WON'T END CONSPIRACY CASE

Hamburg-American Director Must Put on Defense in Plot Case

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Judge Hoover of the federal court today ruled against a motion by the defense in the Hamburg-American conspiracy case, the result being that the trial continues. Attorneys for Karl Buenz, resident director of the Hamburg-American line, charged with being one of the officials in a conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws, moved that the indictments be dismissed as no connection had been shown by the government prosecutors between Buenz and the provisioning of German war vessels. Judge Hoover ruled against the motion.

The defense opened its case this afternoon.

ITALIANS SAY GERMAN PLOT IS UNEARTHED

PARIS, France, Nov. 30.—The police of Turin, Italy, claim that they have discovered evidences of a widespread German plot to destroy Italian munitions factories and wreck supply stations. The police of Lugano, Switzerland, arrested a boatman who was preparing boxes labelled "Chocolate" for Turin. When examined the boxes were found to contain dynamite.

THINK JAPAN AGAINST PACT

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 30.—Newspapers here express the belief that Japan will decline to endorse the invitations of Great Britain, France and Russia that China join the Entente group.

The local stock exchange has suspended sessions on account of the tremendous speculation that has set in. Tempestuous scenes were being enacted, as the sales of munitions to the Allies has caused a wave of prosperity.

BRITISH SUFFER ON BAGDAD FRONT

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—British hopes of capturing Bagdad are dashed by news from that war-zone that the British forces fighting with the Turks have been forced to retire on Tigris, suffering a severe set-back in the Bagdad campaign, having been outnumbered by the enemy.

BRITISH AEROPLANES AND VESSELS BOMBARD

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—British aeroplanes attacked the Belgian coast today, raided a German munitions factory behind the lines and dropped bombs while warships off the coast supported the raid with heavy shell-fires.

M'CALLISTER IS BITTER AGAINST FRONTAGE PLAN

Will File Stiff Protest With Supervisors Tonight Against Beretania Improvements

"HIGHWAY ROBBERY" IS HIS NAME FOR SCHEME

Says He Believes Other Property Owners Will Protest; Strong Fight Rumored

The public hearing on the proposed improvement to Beretania street, which will be held as the only order of business at a meeting called tonight in the city hall, bids fair to be a lively one, judging from talk heard in municipal offices today.

L. L. McCandless, owner of a large amount of property along Beretania, between Nuuanu avenue and the junction with King street, has filed a protest with the supervisors against the work. It is understood that other protests from property owners will be filed.

"I am not making a fight on the question any more than other owners of property along Beretania in this section," said McCandless today. "I do not know whether or not I shall be at the meeting, but my protest will be there. I am allowed that much by law."

"I do not favor the frontage tax law in any form whatever," says McCandless. "I do not favor it with the city paying one-third of the cost of improvement, and I should not favor it if they decided to pay more. I consider it 'highway robbery' that citizens are compelled to submit to it."

"I do not know," continues McCandless, "just what we are paying taxes for. It seems that we ought to get something out of them. If the government will waive my taxes and let me put the money into street improvement I shall be satisfied, but I do object to paying taxes and building the streets for the city at the same time."

McCandless will send in the protest by himself, it is understood. He says that he believes several other protests will also be filed, however. People are paying enough taxes already, he says, without having the burden of this frontage tax law thrust upon them.

EVANGELIST TO LOSE NO TIME IN BEGINNING WORK

John Elward Brown Will Land at 5 This Evening, Preach First Sermon at 7:30

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM.

Initial evangelistic meeting in Central Union church, Beretania and Richards streets, at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Address by John Elward Brown, evangelist, on subject "Killing Lions." Special singing by augmented choir of 75 voices, led by C. P. Curry, soloist. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. The meeting will close at about 9 o'clock.

Declared by many to be equal to the famous Billy Sunday in his aptness for driving facts home, and putting things "straight from the shoulder," a man with a message for Honolulu will conduct the first of a series of evangelistic meetings in Central Union church at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

This man is John Elward Brown—evangelist, editor, speaker and a thorough "men's man." His coming to Honolulu has been heralded here during the last month, and a strong committee of prominent local businessmen and ministers, as well as many women, has been hard at work on arrangements for the big event which

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS ON "PREPAREDNESS"

The text of the speech is well worth careful reading and preservation.

WATTS FOR END WITH DYNAMITE CAP IN MOUTH

Sokichi Seto Calmly Watches Fuse Burn Up to His Lips; Top of Head Blown Off

GRUESOME REMAINS OF BODY FOUND NEAR TREE

Japanese Driven Desperate By Pursuit After Attempting to Dynamite Former Friends

Returning from the place in the hills where he had hidden all day while Deputy Sheriff Jesse Gray pursued him, Sokichi Seto, the Japanese who tried Saturday night to kill Mr. and Mrs. Katsuhige Yamosaka and their child by exploding dynamite under them, sat down under a tree and placed a concussion cap with a fuse attached in his mouth, waited until the fuse burned up to the powder, exploding the cap and blowing off the top of his head.

Deputy Sheriff Gray, after discovering that Seto had planted two sticks of dynamite under the bed of Mr. and Mrs. Yamosaka and lighted a fuse which he trailed from the dynamite to the cellar, hoping to revenge himself on them for putting him out of their home, found in Seto's room 12 sticks of dynamite and a quantity of caps. Believing that Seto had dynamite with him and would use it if hard pressed, Gray began to cautiously search the hills for the Japanese, but during Sunday and Monday found no trace of him. Today it was intended to resume the hunt.

Early this morning word came to Gray that the Japanese had killed himself within a hundred yards of the place he tried to wreck. Going to the house he found Seto's body lying beneath a tree, with his head almost blown off, and the shell of a dynamite cap lying nearby. Pieces of fuse strewn about indicated that Seto first inserted a fuse in a cap, then lit it and waited until the end came to him.

Seto was 50 years old and had been working on pineapple plantations about Wahiawa. As far as is known he has no relatives here.

CLAIMS JAPAN HAS STRANGLE HOLD ON KOREA

"Korea is for the Japanese and for the Japanese only," said M. C. Fenwick of Los Angeles who has spent 26 years in Korea as a free lance missionary. Mr. Fenwick left on the Chiyu Maru this morning for his home in California. He expects to return to Korea some time early next year.

When asked today about the political situation in Korea, Mr. Fenwick said: "Japan wants Korea as she wants China, and to succeed in that country you must feather the Japanese nest or retire from business. Japan rules the country with an officialdom that exceeds anything in the nations of the world in absolute control. The foreigner may do business there, but he must add to the Japanese treasury or he is lost."

"The Koreans have nothing in that country. They have a few minor positions, but they do as the Japanese say. The great jokes of the government are the Korean governors. In order to make the belief that Koreans are popular they have appointed Koreans to the positions of governor of

HOLD-UP MEN SECURE ONLY TWENTY CENTS

Two Filipino bandits held up Kinola, a Japanese servant employed at the residence of George Casper of 1704 Anapuni street, Sunday night at the corner of Wilder and Makiki avenues.

HAPPY THOUGHT COFFEE HOUSE GIVEN APPROVAL

Members of the committee on charities and social welfare which met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce rooms voted to endorse the plans of Mrs. Melville Moncrief, Mrs. O. B. Guest and Miss Sarah Newcomb, for a men's rest house, known as the Happy Thought Coffee House, to be situated on Nuuanu and Pauahi streets. Details of the plans were printed in the Star-Bulletin last Saturday.

"PREPAREDNESS" WILL BE THEME

President Wilson's Message to Congress Will Deal Mostly With Defense

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—President Wilson's forthcoming message to Congress was put in the hands of the printer today. It was prepared for the printer largely by the president himself, who typewrote much of it.

Mr. Wilson will read the message next Tuesday, with the two houses of Congress assembled in joint session. It is learned that the message will deal mainly with preparedness and with the means for raising the revenue to care for largely increased army and navy expenditures.

The president will leave for a later message other questions with which this session of Congress is expected to deal. The second message will probably be delivered after the Christmas holidays.

TRADE REPORTS SHOW COUNTRY IS OPTIMISTIC

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles]
NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Trade reports from cities all over the country, from large manufacturing and agricultural centers, show an improvement in business.

A record volume of early Christmas holiday sales is reported from many sections, the merchants saying that the purchasing is breaking all records. The secretary of the New York Merchants' Association says that the merchants in his organization never knew better times.

Only those businesses which are dependent on exports from Europe make an unsatisfactory showing, being unable to get their accustomed supplies.

SPLENDID WORK RESCUES MANY

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 30.—A remarkable piece of rescue work, made possible partly by good fortune, today saved the lives of nearly 300 men at work in a mine of the Boomer Coal & Coke Company, at Boomer, near this town.

When the explosion which caused the collapse of walls and galleries occurred, nearly 300 men were inside the mine. All but 25 have now been extricated safely and it is believed those still missing are alive and will be saved.

CONGRESS MAY RESTORE OLD DUTY ON SUGAR; SENTIMENT IS DEVELOPING IN CAPITAL

Opinion Expressed Plan Can Be Carried Easily, Says Washington Despatch

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—A strong sentiment is developing among Congressmen arriving here for the session which begins next Monday to restore the duties on sugar which were in force under the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

The opinion is freely expressed that sufficient votes will easily be obtained for that purpose.

Many Congressmen favor making the retention of sugar on the dutiable list permanent, and giving the producers opportunity to arrange for the future.

G. S. ALBERT.

News From Washington Foretells Developments Meaning Millions

This cablegram from the Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent brings news of what is considered a vital development in the tariff situation and one which may mean many millions of dollars to the territory.

The Payne-Aldrich tariff law, in effect for years before repealed by the Democratic administration, provided for a duty of 1.685 cents per pound on foreign raw sugars, 96 test, and 1.348 on Cuban sugar.

The present law, commonly known as the Wilson-Underwood tariff law, reduced the sugar duties approximately 25 per cent on March 1, 1914, and would have placed sugar on the free list, removing all duties, on May 1, 1915. Secretary McAdoo's recommendation a few weeks ago and the president's simultaneous approval put the administration on record as favoring a restoration of the present duties "until normal conditions are restored," which, it appeared, would be a period of several years.

Today's news means that there is a strong sentiment growing in Congress to give sugar even more protection than it now has—to restore the old rate of 1.685 cents.

Furthermore, it is apparent that the undercurrent is working in two directions, or rather developing two coincident phases—first, to repeal the present sugar clause of the tariff bill and restore the old Payne-Aldrich rate; secondly, to put sugar on the permanent "free" list. Instead of the movement being toward removal of all sugar duties, it is now apparently turning toward a distinct policy of protection on sugar for the future.

It would appear from the cablegram that the sentiment for restoring the old rate is not held by Republicans alone, but is apparent generally among the congressmen authorized for the new session.

Unusual importance is attached to the news by sugar men who heard it today.

"I had an inkling of this in letters received by the last mail," said J. M. Dowsett, president of the planters' association. "I understand there is a movement developing to repeal the entire sugar clause of the present tariff bill and restore the old rate. It certainly would be good news for Hawaii if this were done."

President's Message Expected To Contain Recommendations On Sugar

A cable from Pollitt & Company, San Francisco, to the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company, Ltd., received this morning, contains a forecast that President Wilson's message to Congress on the opening next Monday will contain a strong recommendation that the sugar duty be retained.

Honolulu sugar men attribute the sudden rise in the price of sugar in New York Saturday, followed by an additional rise yesterday, to the fact that New York sugar men have already heard the forecast of the president's message, and are also cognizant of the fact that a majority of the congressmen will not only favor the plan of retention, but stand ready to "go him one better" and restore the full Payne-Aldrich tariff, in the interests of helping to raise the funds which will be necessary for the carrying out of administration "preparedness" plans.

Saturday sugar jumped from 4.77 to 5.02, and yesterday to 5.097 average, with 5.14 for a high sale price, a total jump of from $95.40 to $102.80 per ton.

Had the Kentukian not arrived in New York until today, with sugar quotations at 5.097, the cargo would have brought $174,400 more than had she docked when sugar was selling at 4 cents and less.

Island sugar men whose sugar reached New York Sunday on the American-Hawaiian steamer Kentukian, from Hilo September 16, with 8000 tons of the sweet product on board, will receive approximately $160,000 more money for their consignments than they would have been paid had the steamer reached New York on schedule time via Panama. The canal tie-up forced the Kentukian to sail via the Straits of Magellan.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL FOR TAKING AN AUTO OUT FOR JOY RIDE

On a plea for leniency by W. T. Rawlins, attorney for the Schuman Carriage Company, Ed. Sheldon, who took an automobile from the garage of the Schuman company and kept it two days, was given a sentence of only six months in jail today by Judge Monstarrat.

Sheldon was first charged with larceny, but the complaint was amended to malicious mischief.

Sheldon went joy riding in the machine, which he took Saturday night and brought it back with a damaged fender. He was an employe of the Schuman company.

BRECKONS WITHDRAWS FROM STEVENSON CASE

Another continuance until Saturday, December 4, was granted in F. Stevenson today, when his attorney, Robert W. Breckons, presented to Judge Monstarrat a letter from Stevenson's physician stating it would be necessary for him to send Stevenson to the hospital for a few days at least. Stevenson is up on an embezzlement charge.

FIRST MOVE IN QUEEN'S TRUST SUIT IS MADE

Papers in the equity suit being brought by Prince Kuhio, delegate to Congress, to set aside the trust deed of Queen Liliuokalani which created the Liliuokalani trust, were filed this afternoon in circuit court by Attorney Lightfoot for the prince. The legal fight was foretold by the Star-Bulletin a few days ago. The suit is filed by the queen, by Kuhio as "next best friend."

Immediately after the continuance was granted, Breckons told the court that he wished to withdraw as Stevenson's attorney, without assigning any reasons.

FINDS MOANALUA GARDENS TRACT WELL BUILT UP

Judge Monsarrat Accordingly Fines Prince Kuhio $5 For Speeding His Auto

Despite the arguments of Attorney J. B. Lightfoot, Prince Kuhio was fined $5 and costs this morning in the police court for speeding, and with the decision was settled, so far as the lower court is concerned, the fact that 20 miles per hour is the speed limit in Moanalua Gardens, S. M. Damon's estate, west of the stone bridge, where the arrest was made. Lightfoot announced that an appeal would be taken to the circuit court.

On all of the other seven automobiles arrested Saturday night by Officers Farrey and Chilton a like penalty was imposed. Those who paid fines were: John Grace, Charles Land, L. Achu, Paul Bompek, Ed Pomeroy, H. C. Mof, Lieut. May and the Prince.

Grace's case was taken up first, and the issue was partly decided during the trial of this, the final settlement coming in the case of the Prince. In the latter case Charles F. Chillingworth, who was in the auto with Prince Kuhio, found himself in the position of both prosecuting attorney and also a witness.

City Attorney Brown told the court while trying the Grace case that he believed the Moanalua Park district was developed and settled, and could not be called a "sparsely settled district" and hence under the law, which provides that 20 miles is the limit except in "sparsely settled districts," the driver, who admitted he was going 25 miles an hour, was guilty. Judge Monsarrat agreed with him.

Subordinates Disagree.

Assistant City Attorney Chillingworth and Curden differ with their superior, and think the road referred to is in a sparsely settled district and that 25 miles is the proper limit. Brown admitted that the law is not definite but said this could not be helped, and that it would be the duty of officers and the court to decide what districts were sparsely settled.

In arguing Prince Kuhio's case, Attorney Lightfoot said substantially that as long as the law is so indefinite, it is not properly a law at all.

"Who is to decide what is a sparsely settled district," he asked. "A driver passing along a road may, using his best judgment, decide that it is sparsely settled, and drive 25 miles an hour; an officer on the road may think it is a settled district and arrest him; the prosecuting attorney may think one way and the judge another. As long as the places where a driver may go 20 miles or 25 miles an hour are not better defined than this, I submit it is not justice to punish the drivers."

Lightfoot said the officers had picked out a place on a down grade for the purpose of taking an unfair advantage of drivers, and added: "It is a put up game on the part of the officers and as long as they will take an unfair advantage such as this, I think they also will take the time to get convictions."

Chillingworth defended the officers, who, he said, he thought were doing their duty and doing it fairly.

Bound by Ordinance.

Judge Monsarrat, in his decision, said he was bound by the ordinance and that he did not think it was the duty of his court to render a decision which would set aside the city ordinance entirely. He stated he would be glad to have one of the cases go to the supreme court, so there would be a final settlement of the issues involved.

Undoubtedly, the trouble has just begun. In order to get positive decisions as to what the speed limit is at various points, so they may know when and when not to make arrests, the police are setting their traps at all points, picking a different point every night, and a bag of autoists can be expected each morning. Last night

UNCLE SAM WILL PROBE RING OF 'DOPE' DEALERS

Federal Investigation to Follow Issuing of Warrants for Three Ex-Soldiers

As the first step in an extensive federal investigation of the drug ring, warrants were issued this afternoon by the clerk of the United States court for Edward R. Jones, A. Clifford, A. Williams and F. Page, all ex-soldiers connected with the theft of 42 bottles of morphine, heroin and cocaine from the hospital warehouse at Schofield Barracks on the night of November 16.

The men are already in the city jail, where they were placed last week after their arrest by Detectives McDuffie on complaint of Capt. Samuel S. Creighton, Medical Corps, Schofield Barracks.

Jones has confessed that he broke into the hospital warehouse and stole the drugs, and Clifford has confessed that he received the goods. Jones is charged in the federal warrants with burglary and Clifford with receiving stolen goods and acting as an accomplice. Williams and Page are charged with dispensing the drugs.

THURSTON IS NOT ALLOWED TO QUIT PROMOTION BODY

At the weekly meeting of the Promotion Committee held today at the Chamber of Commerce the committee confirmed the appointment of F. J. Halton as San Francisco representative of the Promotion Committee.

The committee also voted favorably on the question of an educational exhibit at San Diego. It is expected that Hawaii will be represented by a number of school exhibits, the bungalow type of construction being featured.

Lorrin A. Thurston offered his resignation to the committee, feeling that he would hamper the work as he would be out of the city for three or four months. The committee decided not to accept the resignation at this time, owing to the interest that Mr. Thurston has shown in promotion work. The committee voted in favor of representation at the welcoming of the Great Northern, and a resolution was passed calling for Promotion Committee badges for the committee of welcome.

Oregon's Sunday closing law, which has never been enforced, was declared void by the Oregon district court at Portland.

They chose a point on Kalakaua avenue, and the result was 14 new cases on the docket this morning. Those arrested were A. Sorenson, M. P. Morgan, D. Kahalewai, Frank Lewis, Paul Jorgensen, Lieut. Van Deusen, C. W. Armitage, John Mackay, R. A. Burnstein, A. M. Erskine, J. Hopkins, Capt. Charles G. Mettler, C. E. Yasunga, Jack Young and Lono McCullum.

Having decided that Moanalua Park was not within the meaning of "sparsely settled" as used in the ordinance, it was a foregone conclusion that Judge Monsarrat would make the same decision in the cases on Kalakaua avenue, which is more thickly built up. M. P. Morgan, the first man up, pleaded guilty to riding a motor cycle in excess of the speed limit and was fined $5 and costs.

All of those arrested on Kalakaua avenue paid fines of $5 each with the exception of A. Sorenson, Frank Lewis and R. A. Burnstein, whose cases were continued, and Lono McCullum, whose case was dismissed.

ENGLAND WILL RECOGNIZE YUAN IF CHINA WILL AID IN BIG WAR

New Treaty Under Discussion at Peking; Five Articles; Approved; Japan Uneasy

(Special Cable to Liberty News.) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 30.—A Peking cable received here at 9:30 this morning states that China may be brought into the European war if the Chinese-British treaty proposed last evening is signed by both nations.

At a meeting in Peking between Lu Chin Chang, acting secretary of state and minister of foreign affairs for China, and the British minister, six articles were planned for a Chinese-British treaty. The text of the articles subscribed to by the representatives of Yuan Shih-Kai and England state that England will recognize Yuan Shih-Kai and China will declare war on Germany and deport all German and Austrian subjects from the Chinese Empire.

There were six articles in all proposed, and the first five were well received by the monarchial party of China, but the sixth article was thought to be too radical at the present time. The text of the last article states that the Chinese Empire will send an army and navy to Europe if needed.

The articles proposed and agreed to by the representatives of the two nations in text are as follows:

1. The Chinese-British treaty will be for a period of 10 years.
2. England wishes China to declare war on Germany, and further asks the Chinese Empire to deport all Germans and Austrians from China. China is not to trade with Germany or with any of the warring powers opposed to England.

3. From the entrance of China into a war with Germany, China will be released from paying the present loan to Germany. England will recognize Yuan Shih-Kai before the treaty is signed.

4. Neither China nor England will agree to sign a treaty of peace with Germany without the other nation's consent.

5. The British government agrees to send a fleet to the coast of China to protect that country from naval raids by the warring powers. England will assure China that no warring fleet will appear in the seas of China.

6. The Chinese government is to supply the requirements of the army and navy. China will agree to send troops to the front after the signing of the treaty.

When the articles were announced today the wires were kept hot between Peking and Shanghai, and leaders of the monarchial party agreed to subscribe to the first five articles. The National party members stated that they did not favor a treaty in any form, and were much opposed to the plan. One of the leaders of the National party, on hearing the announcement, stated that Yuan Shih-Kai was selling China for a kingly crown.

Foreigners in China have opposed the signing of the treaty as it would endanger business interests there. Prominent Japanese in Peking were opposed to the signing of the six articles, stating that it would give England the upper hand in Chinese affairs. Many Chinese believe that with the present trouble in China, the nation cannot afford to enter into any agreement with a foreign power. A hot fight is expected before the treaty is signed.

JAPANESE PLAN MASS MEETING AND PROTESTS

Association Officers Decide Alleged Lack of Police Protection is Unbearable

Driven to desperation by the alleged indifference and neglect of the Honolulu police and detective forces, Honolulu's large Japanese population will hold a mass meeting before Saturday of this week and determine upon some drastic course of action which will protect them from continual assaults, holdups and robberies.

This course was definitely decided upon last evening at an executive session of nine of the directors of the Japanese Association of Hawaii, held at the Central Japanese Institute on Nuuanu street. At the meeting last night nearly two score definite complaints against the police were taken up and discussed, and as a result two courses of action will be suggested at the mass meeting, either of which may be adopted.

The plan most generally favored is for the Japanese of the city to raise a large fund by voluntary contributions from people of their own race—a fund which will be kept alive by stipulated monthly contributions—and use it for the employment and equipment of an armed Japanese police force to guard the Japanese sections of the city.

A second plan is to form a volunteer Japanese police force, and if possible to effect some working arrangement whereby the volunteers can work under the direction and partial control of Sheriff Rose and his deputies, and in addition to offer a series of large rewards for the capture of any of the desperadoes who have been terrorizing the Japanese of Honolulu.

Night after night, say the complainants, masked robbers hold up Japanese, or enter their homes and rob them. The police give no protection, and even when frantic calls for aid are telephoned in to the station, the officers tell them to "Come around and report in the morning," they claim.

The lumber laden schooner Anne M. Parker was driven ashore on Cape Band during a gale. Her captain and territory against the Honolulu Rapid crew were rescued.

POSTPONE DATE FOR RECEIPT OF SEWER PUMP BIDS

Postponement of the opening of bids from December 7 to December 22 on the new pump and equipment at the Kakaako sewer station was decided upon at a meeting of the Oahu loan fund commission held at 1 o'clock today in the office of Mayor Lane at the city hall.

This additional length of time was granted at the request of several bidders here who have stated that the time named does not give them sufficient opportunity to secure data from their manufacturers.

Action was deferred on a letter from G. K. Larrison, federal hydrographer, who asked that an instrument for reading water flows be installed by the commission in the vicinity of the Luakaha weir, Nuuanu valley.

Immediately following the meeting the members left in automobiles for an inspection of the proposed locations for new sewer improvements and extensions.

MEN OF 10TH TO LEAVE FOR HILO NEXT SATURDAY

The 10th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, at Fort De Russy, will leave Saturday for Hilo, to be gone probably two weeks. With the 10th will go a number of men from other organizations.

After arrival at Hilo the company will march to the volcano and will go into camp for several days. The return march will be made by another route to Hilo, where several days will be spent.

The trip is for the purpose of giving the men a chance to see the volcano and also to give them some practice in marching and a few days in camp. Capt. Norris Stayton will go with his command.

Transit & Land Company today began a cross-examination of Giles H. Gere, superintendent of the Bishop Estate, who testified yesterday as a witness for the territory. The examination was largely an inquiry about the methods and authorities used by Mr. Gere in arriving at the figures which, in his estimation, show the rate at which the various units of the Rapid Transit plant have depreciated since their installation. Further examination of Mr. Gere was to be had this afternoon.

VESSEL LAY IN TROUGH OF SEA FOR FIVE DAYS

Bankoku Maru Has Rudder Broken, Rails Smashed, One of Crew and Deck Load Lost

With her rudder broken, part of her deck load washed away, rigging damaged, rails smashed, and a sailor, S. Okunishi, lost overboard, all as a result of the same typhoon which battered the Rio Paig and the Seiko Maru, the Japanese tramp steamer Bankoku Maru limped into port this morning in distress, short of coal. She will be here a week or 10 days for repairs.

This is the third freight steamer to call at Honolulu in distress in the last seven days, out of coal or damaged as a result of the terrific typhoon which swept over a part of the Great Circle route from November 7 to 13.

Capt. K. Konaka of the Bankoku reported to Boarding Officer L. B. Reeves and Capt. William R. Foster, harbormaster of this port, that he left Portland, October 27, for Shanghai, carrying a cargo of 4,300,000 feet of northwest lumber and tonnage of steel, glue and drums of gasoline. The steamer spent one day coaling at Union Bay, Canada, and then sailed for Shanghai by the Great Circle route.

Hit Storm on November 9. When the Bankoku was in latitude 167 west and latitude 51 north, she ran into the typhoon. Okunishi, a sailor, was lost overboard on November 9, a great wave sweeping the unfortunate Japanese into the sea.

Next to go was 10,000 feet of lumber, part of the ship's deck load. The steering gear, carried away a short time later at the height of the gale and the steamer was helpless until the wind subsided. Four or five days went by with the ship rolling in the trough of the sea, while a jury rudder and temporary steering gear were rigged up.

Capt. Konaka, on November 13, when he had temporary repairs completed, changed the ship's course to Honolulu, and arrived off port early this morning. She will be here a week or 10 days and will take bunker coal from the inter-liners while her steering gear is being repaired.

Built in February, 1897, at Glasgow, the Bankoku Maru, owned by the Gohei Kaisha, Fukuoka, Japan, is a ship of 6086 gross and 3918 net tonnage. She is 430 feet long, 41.3 wide and 30.8 deep. She is of steel, with six bulkheads, and her home port is Dalren.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a vesper service in the lobby of the association building this evening at 7 o'clock. R. H. Trent has been selected as the speaker of the evening. The program will consist of short talks and songs.

All Greek citizens who have not done military service will be put into training.

YUAN SENT SECRET SERVICE MAN HERE TO GAUGE ENEMIES

That Honolulu will play an important part in the Chinese situation was confirmed recently when Yuan Shih-Kai sent a secret service man to this city to ascertain the strength of the National party here. The China Times publishes the report of the secret service man, which was handed to Yuan Shih-Kai on October 11 of this year.

The report, as given to the Chinese president, states that there are three or four thousand members of the party here against sixteen thousand followers of Yuan Shih-Kai. The representative of the Chinese government stated that the Chinese of this city are more progressive than in other cities, and remarked that the Chinese here are more peace loving than the citizens in California.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE IS HOLDING ANNUAL MEET TODAY

What the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Hawaii has accomplished during the last fiscal year, and the work it proposes to do during the coming 12 months, was to be outlined this afternoon at the annual meeting of the organization in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Kaula-keolani building.

The executive committee of the league was to meet first and elect officers for the ensuing year, after which the general membership was to hold its annual session. Among the various matters of business, A. N. Sinclair, director of the anti-tuberculosis bureau of the board of health, was to present his annual report to the members.

The work of the Anti-Tuberculosis League is divided into five subdivisions—publicity, educational, supervision, statistical information and general control. Owing to the lack of funds with which to send the tuberculosis exhibits from place to place, the educational work has not been carried on as extensively during the last year as in the past.

FINISH ARGUMENTS ON DEMURRERS FILED IN LAND FIGHT CASE

Argument on the demurrers filed by Governor Pinkham and Land Commissioner Joshua D. Tucker to the petition in mandamus brought against them by Circuit Judge Thomas B. Sturart was completed in Circuit Judge C. W. Ashford's court late yesterday afternoon.

Judge Ashford instructed the opposing attorneys to file briefs and, after this is done, the judge will take the matter under advisement preparatory to rendering a decision as to whether the demurrers should be sustained or overruled.

The first round in the predicted fight on the homestead land question was lost by the governor and the land commissioner when Judge Ashford sustained a motion filed by the respondent to strike out a motion by the defendants to have certain allegations expunged from the writ.

WEATHERWAX WILL BE SOLD TO PAY WAGES

A decree ordering the schooner J. M. Weatherwax to be sold at public auction has been signed by Judge C. F. Clemons in the admiralty case instituted by Carl Karlson, the ship's first mate, and the Weatherwax's crew for unpaid wages.

Judgment was entered against the vessel for $1277.43 in favor of the crew, $350 as a fee for George A. Davis, and costs which it is believed will make the total close to $3000.

Following are the amounts the plaintiffs will receive under the judgment: Carl Karlson, $293.13; John Carmichael, $198.86; H. B. Davis, $427.29; Ned Morrison, $135.94; Frank Calve, $164.78; Henry Williams, $131.06; and William Morris, $131.06.

The regular meeting of the Beachwalk Improvement Club will be held this evening at 7:45 p. m. at J. Alex Lyle's home on Beachwalk road.

A plea in abatement has been filed in circuit court by the defendants in the case of Nettie L. Scott against Esther N. Philpo and Elizabeth K. Philpo, an action of covenant.

Circuit Judge Whitney today appointed Henry Smith as administrator of the estate of Moses Pail under bond in the sum of $300.

Hearing on an order relating to the approval of the accounts of the estate of Isaac Ihiki has been continued in Circuit Judge Ashford's court until 9 o'clock on the morning of January 13, 1916.

The final accounts of the administrator of the estate of Frank S. Dodge have been referred by Circuit Judge Whitney to Leslie P. Scott, master, for examination and report.

Federal court trial jurors have been excused until 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, at which time the case of Mallico Pacaro, charged with a statutory offense, will go to trial.

Consideration of the plan advanced by E. A. Berndt, chairman of the Promotion Committee, to have Honolulu stores close a half hour during the holiday season will probably be taken up at the meeting of the Rotary Club this week, and also by the board of retail trades from the Chamber of Commerce.

Twenty-four children from the Kaula-luani school underwent a test at the anti-tuberculosis bureau this morning to ascertain whether they have tuberculosis. The test was conducted by Dr. A. N. Sinclair. Beginning next week the bureau will examine the children in the Kaula-waena school.

Two cases of marital trouble were cured, at least temporarily, in circuit court today when there was filed with Clerk Dominis notices of the discontinuance of two divorce actions. The first case discontinued was that of Robert F. Faulkner against Elizabeth Faulkner, and the second was that of Louis H. Rogers against Amos Rogers.

A declaration of intention to become an American citizen has been filed in federal court by Miss Winifred Maude Scott, a nurse in the Queen's Hospital, who is a native of Christchurch, New Zealand. Unless Miss Scott happens to marry an American citizen, she will have to wait five years before she can take out her final papers.

Two hundred guests last night attended a reception in honor of Mrs. Rata A. Mills, most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, who is in the islands from her home in Bradford, Pennsylvania, visiting local chapters of the organization. The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Williams on Nuuanu avenue, and was most enjoyable.

The second trial of the case of Eugene Buchanan, a corporal in the 25th Infantry, who is charged with second degree murder, probably will begin in Circuit Judge Ashford's court at 9 o'clock next Thursday morning. Buchanan is alleged to have shot and killed his wife, Laura Buchanan. The first trial resulted in a disagreement by the jury.

Six territorial prisoners, accompanied by a guard, arrived this morning from Hawaii on the Mauna Kea, and were not after escorted out to the penitentiary in the police automobile. Sheriff W. J. Farrell says that five or six more are to come in a few days from the Kaula district of Hawaii. Among them will be Jose Belneuva, the Filipino, who was convicted recently of the murder of the young Hawaiian girl in the Kohala district, and who is now awaiting the setting of the execution date by Governor Pinkham.

MERELY STEP IN PERFECTION OF DEFENSES HERE

According to the engineer's office, U. S. army, there is no news to give out concerning the acquisition of 20.03 acres of land north and of the Waipio peninsula, Waipio, and Waikole, for which condemnation suit was filed in the federal court Saturday.

That is merely a step in the perfection of the defenses of Pearl Harbor was stated today at engineer's headquarters, and the inference was left that other tracts of land would be taken by the government, not only at this point but generally around the island of Oahu.

"This is just a step in the strengthening of the defense of the island and there is nothing to give the newspapers," said Colonel Charles S. Bromwell of the engineer's department today.

When asked if he knew whether a fort would be built at the place, and if so how many men it would have, Colonel Bromwell said: "If I knew I could not tell you."

MARK TWAIN DAY.

Many eminent critics at home and abroad have called Mark Twain the greatest American writer. His claims to the title are abundant. His prose is not as faultless English as that of Nathaniel Hawthorne; he built no novels of sweeping conception and imagination; his short stories lacked the well-knit form of Poe's. But Mark Twain surpassed all of his predecessors, contemporaries and successors in portraying with fidelity phases of American life. He wrote with such remarkable faithfulness that he appears to the reader not as an observer of events but as one of the participants. In his treatment of themes he is more of an individualist than either Poe or Hawthorne, both of whom respected and imitated the art of others to such an extent that their work remains to us as the polished improvement of what others attempted, instead of pioneer ventures into new paths.

Mark Twain is probably the best-loved of all American writers. His humor, tenderness, lightning-play of wit, his flashing eloquence, his breadth of observation, his scorn of pretense and hatred of hypocrisy; his genuine humbleness—a whole galaxy of admirable and lovable traits are evident in his writings, and the writings were typical of the man. He wrote as he talked, as he spoke, as he felt, as he lived. His own character is revealed in the characters he created in that great brain, and so many-sided was his imagination that these characters never lost their consistency. He made "Huckleberry Finn" preach a wholesome temperance sermon in two sentences; "Pudd'nhead Wilson" is full of wisdom; "The Prince and the Pauper" carries a moral as eternal as that in Gray's Elegy.

No American writer ever deserved better at the hands of his country and future generations than does Mark Twain. His pen won the admiration of the world; he was a splendid American gentleman, rugged, fearless, honest, sincere, upright, a man who broke his health discharging huge financial obligations and with a smile and a laugh faced a penniless future. Only genius could have rehabilitated his fortunes; only a rare temperament could have come through the ordeal sweeter, cleaner, gentler, as his temperament came through.

Hawaii owes a special debt of love and respect to this great American, not only because he has painted in a few phrases an imperishable picture of these islands, but because in many other references he showed an appreciation of island life and a longing to return. And as a consequence Hawaii has always had a special regard for this loyal, brave-hearted American citizen.

Mark Twain Day is a happy medium for voicing Hawaii's love of Samuel L. Clemens.

PLANS OF NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

Ever since the defeat of the Hobson resolution last session, the officers of the Anti-Saloon League of America have been busy in an effort to line up sufficient votes to put that measure through the house at this session.

They are now confident that they have the votes. From sources close to the League it was recently learned that it will concentrate its efforts at the coming session wholly upon two projects. One is the Hobson amendment and the other is the measure to make the District of Columbia dry. The League believes that it will be able to put both measures through. Its officers feel that the real fight lies in the house, where the margin is close. In the senate they claim to have more than a two-thirds majority.

Just what form the two measures will take has not been determined as yet. The draft of the resolution proposing a constitutional amendment probably will be made at a conference between the Democratic leaders of the house and the officials of the Anti-Saloon League.

The fight, it is now declared, will be aided greatly by political conditions and the approach of another presidential campaign. Administration leaders, who might otherwise be against the proposed resolution, are now declared to be in favor of it as a means of eliminating the liquor question from national politics next year.

It is also asserted that the whisky interests will not oppose the resolution as stubbornly as heretofore, because they believe if it passes they can prevent the ratification of the proposed amendment by a sufficient number of states for many years at least.

Federal and police authorities are working effectively together in breaking up the drug-ring operating in and around Honolulu. It has already been established that the ring found the Iwilei district a fertile field of profit. That is one of the things to be expected from tolerating a vice-district—it is the center for all sorts of crime and misdemeanor. Honolulu cannot expect to allow commercial vice to build up a town of its own without the inevitable accompaniments of violence and debauchery—and this violence and debauchery will not be confined to the habitues of the district but will find as victims men and women and children in every walk of life.

Judge Monsarrat is doubtful what the supervisors had in their minds when they passed the traffic ordinance. Many Honolulu citizens are doubtful what the supervisors have in their minds on other occasions.

Advance reports indicate that about 57 different kinds of bombshells are waiting to be exploded under the administration, when Congress opens. And still it doesn't seem to worry the president very much.

The poor man should be thankful he has no auto. It's a lot of trouble to get, a lot of trouble to maintain and the most trouble of all to keep from getting arrested.

Canadian wheat and Hawaiian sugar might be matched in a jumping contest—both deriving much of their vigor from the war situation.

Bulgarian successes in Serbia are explained. They had a general named Teodorov, which seems to be a Burglarized form of T. R.

Honolulu has "listened in" on a German wireless station. Will that also be unneutral?

Should the smashing of a wireless record be classified as an atmospheric disturbance?

Governor Pinkham is the latest to launch a torpedo at Henry Ford's peace ship.

It is safe to assume that Poland has had enough of the glory of war.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

JOHNNY MARTIN: Let us not forget duxon Brown and Curry meeting that any sort of moral victory is at best an insecure one until the Golden Rule comes.

SUPERVISOR HORNER: The plan approved yesterday by the city planning commission for the remodeling of the public baths is a good one and worthy of consideration at the end of the year when the budget is made out.

"PROBATION" ANDERSON: Since I made my last raid, very few boys and girls have been violating the curfew law. There are a lot of boys, however, who seem to think that they can stay away from school whenever they feel like it.

DAVID L. MACKAYE: Slowly but surely are the Honolulu restaurants cooperating with the Anti-Tuberculosis League in the fight to wipe the disease out of Honolulu. Every day new restaurants are coming in for their "clean bills of health."

SUPERVISOR LARSEN: Ahia's proposed ordinance for regulating the sale of fish is a move in the right direction but it does not go far enough. Stringent measures must be taken before success is met in this line.

think that a man who endangers the public by selling stale fish should be dealt with severely.

JOSHUA D. TUCKER: That concrete road leading from Hilo to the Kulo wharf is surely a dandy, and the new sheds on the wharf itself which are now nearing completion give things a very up-to-date appearance in the vicinity.

A. L. C. ATKINSON: I am proud to be a private in the National Guard of Hawaii—prouder even than being commander-in-chief. A private gets all the fun there is in the game, exercise, drill and discipline. He feels he is equipping himself to defend his country in the only proper way and is proud of his position. No American should be too proud to prepare himself to fight. Let all good men join the National Guard. Preparedness produces peace.

PRINCE KALANIANAO'OLE will leave tomorrow morning for Washington, to attend the session of Congress which opens December 6.

DEPUTY ATTORNEY W. H. HEEN, who was called to Hilo on Saturday by the death of his wife's father, Lal Ahip, will not return to his desk here until the end of the week.

LORRIN ANDREWS, the local attorney, and Charles H. Brown will leave for San Francisco on their way to Washington, D. C.

I. J. HOPU, stenographer in the county clerk's office, will leave on a two weeks' vacation tomorrow, the board of supervisors having granted him the absence at their last meeting.

MRS. RATA A. MILLS, most worthy grand mistress of the general grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, will leave for Hilo this week to make inspection of the work of the order in that city.

MARK TWAIN'S PROSE POEM ON HAWAII MEMORIZED IN SCHOOLS

Hundreds of Honolulu Pupils Listen to Readings From His Works, and Hear of Life

"Huck" Finn. And Tom Sawyer. And Mark Twain. They visited Honolulu this morning. Right out of story books and poems they jumped, into the presence of several thousand public school children. And where is the American child who has not heard of or read about this famous trio? Perhaps there were some little American-Hawaiians, or American-Japanese or American-Portuguese kiddies who did not know them yesterday, and wondered who they were. But today they were enlightened, and pleased at the simple entertainments provided by the famous three who drifted out of Hannibal, Missouri, and into the hearts of millions.

Perhaps, if Mark Twain were alive today, it would please him to know that the beautiful prose poem which he wrote about Hawaii—the one that begins "No alien land in all the world has any deep, strong charm for me"—would be given so much attention today, his birthday anniversary. And perhaps Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn would be jealous if they knew that they had been somewhat slighted in the matter of favoritism. As a matter of fact, several hundred school children have learned the prose poem "by heart," and they proved their prowess by reciting it today.

A large number of beautifully engraved copies of the prose poem about Hawaii were sent to the various public schools by the Promotion Committee, and these will be framed and hung in the school rooms.

Out at the Kaula school, which houses 1390 children of various nationalities, the children had read to them a history of the life of Mark Twain, taken from a sketch appearing in the last number of Educational Review, which is published by the department of public instruction and distributed with the Star-Bulletin. Gerrit P. Wilder, who designates Kaula as "his school," told the children a number of anecdotes regarding Mark Twain. In the grammar grades, the memory lesson for today was the prose poem written about Hawaii, and many of the children mastered it thoroughly.

Excerpts from Mark Twain's several books were read to the pupils at the Royal school.

The little programs were had in each room at Central Grammar school in observance of the day. Excerpts from his works were read, as well as the prose poem about the islands.

When Prof. Marion M. Scott, principal of the McKinley high school, chooses to make people laugh, he is a past master in the art, and this morning he kept the teachers and students holding their sides while he related anecdotes and personal recollections of the great American humorist. Then extracts from Mark Twain's life were read, and finally his famous tribute to Hawaii.

At Oahu college, brief but pretty exercises were held. Nora Gardner of the junior class read a sketch of the life of Mark Twain which she had written. Her sketch was chosen from sketches written in competition by the members of the class. A selection from Tom Sawyer was recited by Elizabeth Hobdy. Exercises were also held at the preparatory school.

the provinces. They have the power to stamp the documents that the Japanese tell them to stamp, and it has become such a standing joke in that country that the governors of the provinces are now called "Stamper" by the Japanese. This power amounts to as much as the third assistant dog catcher in a country village.

The second Japanese official in Korea said recently that the Japanese had the foreigners where he wanted them and stated that everything was "fixed" for those who did not favor the Japanese policies. The Korean is downtrodden to a greater extent than ever before and when the Japanese improve something they improve it for the Japanese alone. "One of the noticeable features of the present regime," continued Mr. Fenwick, "is that wherever there is a railroad station you will find 10 Japanese as officials, where one would be plenty. You not only find this in the railroad system, but also in all branches of the government. The Korean is sometimes given a position as stamper or second stamper of public documents, but that is for effect."

"Japan has organized a loan system that is also an interesting thing. The Japanese who loans money to the Korean has a document like a promissory note, and in the center of this document, which is filed in the records, is a phrase saying: 'If the borrower does not pay on this date, then the man who loans the money may

M. A. SILVA, formerly of Honolulu who has been engaged in business in Los Angeles, Cal., during the last two years, is expected to return here within a short time. He formerly was a member of the territorial immigration staff.

DR. GROVER A. BATTEN, who has been acting staff surgeon of the Johns Hopkins University Hospital at Baltimore, Maryland, is scheduled to arrive here in the Matsonia next Tuesday to join Doctors Herbert and Walters in their practice.

It is reported from Perth, capital of Western Australia, that in the legislative assembly the premier said the state trading concerns made a profit last year of $100,000. The state steamers showed a loss of $35,000, the sawmills a profit of $135,000; though their actual expenditure was $2,050,000, the receipts being $1,510,000, there was $600,000 worth of stock on hand.

Fifteen persons injured and two dead, is the record of automobile, railroad and motorcycle accidents in the vicinity of Binghamton, N. Y., on Sunday.

It is stated that L. L. McCandless, ex-senator and many times candidate for the highest elective office in the territory, has busied himself in canvassing the improvement district in question for signatures to a protest against the scheme. While it is hoped that he will have failed in defeating the improvement, all good men and true, just the same, should make a note of his conduct. Not likely is he yet immune from the "unhappy" man any more than his erstwhile peerless leader of Nebraska.

TEST OF SINCERITY.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Sir: This evening there will be a test for some property owners in the business section of sincerity in the demand ratified in two municipal elections for the only feasible method of placing the construction of streets upon a sound and progressive basis. This will be at the public hearing on the first of two improvement districts on Beretania street, the completion of both of which will make that main artery a well-paved street from end to end.

I have said "the only feasible method," because the sole alternative is a bond issue to sustain a street construction program covering a longer term of years. The latter method would require a plebiscite, which, besides involving many chances of failure, could not carry enough money to effectuate a comprehensive program. Not only is there a limit to the municipal borrowing capacity, but it is gravely to be doubted if the city and county should go into debt for anything excepting reproductive public improvements, such as water works that will pay for themselves in good time. Therefore the bonding method must be dismissed from consideration.

The Miano doctrine is right—that the frontage tax means getting your roads when you want them and paying for them when you get them. There are nearly 200 miles of roads and streets in the city and county, barely one-half of which mileage, if indeed that much, does not demand immediate reconstruction—not to mention at least 100 miles of "blue print" streets in residence tracts which are not yet even graded. The frontage or area tax is the only cure.

It is stated that L. L. McCandless,

DIFFERENT TOM AND JERRY THAN BACCHUS DRANK

Teal Company Serves Up New Feature, But Not in a Bowl; It Comes in a Splash

(By the Sporting Editor.)
The Governor and the Mayor and a lot of other personages of importance in political life was among these present at the Armory last eve, and some one had to look it over. Then the nightingale warbles at the Opera House and they had to have some one what could tell a staccato from the Area from Faust, so I gets me choice and takes a squint at the "Tom and Jerry."

Don't get the idea circulating around you think works that this "Tom and Jerry" comes in a bowl cup it doesn't. It comes in a splash, and its different than the stuff that old man Bacchus used to wade in. List to the zepher like voice saying its the name of a show. They did it at the Bijou, and it wasn't my fault. They could call it by any other cognomen, and it would still have the Cologne flavor.

The Tom end of it is Tom Jones and he's got a wife, but outside of that he's all right. One night when the shades of eve were fell he goes out to a beach and gets in one of them Ferris wheels with a dame that is also sad, been married. The mechanical contrivance gets on the blink, as Wessinghouse would chirp, and then they get stuck up in mid-air and wifey springs the first prose poem ever edited, sayin', "Where were you last night?"

"Well, Tom says he was out in a little half-portion hamlet where the water tank is the principal building, sticking around with a friend. She don't fall—not this autumn.

Then Jerry Flint oozes in on the air, and he is the guy what has the wife, and he tells a lot of stuff about squaring Tom, and he nearly falls through the Chippendale. Then the dame break in and honestly, its like a nut factory the way they get twisted. It is the worst bunch of complications since the Johnston flood. You had to laugh at the blooming story, if it was crazy.

There was a young lady reporter there who was the society editor of the Evening Blaze. She interviews the Tom guy and does it in the regular society editor way. Maybe. Her name was Pansy, one of the flowers of the flock. Her last name was De Lacour. Every time you hear this name you think of the Bois Blanc. She was good, and why they didn't sneak her in for a longer bunch of utterings is yet to be noted.

Tom and Jerry were like the sputterings of a reestablished fire works factory.

Fritz Fields as Jerry, and Homer Long as Tom, got a lot of laffs, and one dame in the front end of the house gutturated like a real laff works. Raymond Teal got back again with the burnt cork, and as Sam made good. His specialties went over like a house afire. Madeline Rowe and Hazel Lake was the lovin' wifey, and they acted it. Hand 'em a little of the wreath for their laurels. Claude Kelly, Roy Kinslow and Corinne Carkeek didn't have much to shoot off about, but it was the quality, not the area that counted with this trio.

Any time that some one with a voice can get up on the rostrum and chirp "Lotus Land," they can get a bunch of flopping phalanges. Madeline Rowe did it, and it went big. That's some song, even though the barber has to be called in every quarter to take off the hirsute appendages. One big girl in the center nearly queered the song when she sprained a black note trying to get her voice out to Waikiki. Outside of this falsetto the thing went good. The second choice song was "That's When I'll Marry You," sung by Pansy De— oh, what's the use? Pansy got the house when she hiked out on the running board and uttered this Marry stuff. "I'll Get You," was the song Hazel Lake sprinkled, and she put it over big. "Reuben Tango," by Roy Kinslow, got as many hand bustins as any. Homer Long from Tonopah sang "Goldfield Is In Nevada." It had Reno beat a city block.

IDEAL CLOTHING COMPANY HAS DISPLAY EVERY DAY OF MUCH ATTRACTIVENESS

It isn't necessary to have a window trimming contest each week in order to stimulate the window trimmers of the Ideal Clothing Company, as can easily be seen by the very attractive and unique display that this wide-awake clothing establishment has just put in. The Ideal Clothing Company has an up-to-date store front which lends itself nicely to a neat display of holiday suggestions for all the male members of the family. One of the windows this week shows a bachelor's den with a large mantel at one end of the room with a very realistic fire burning in the grate, a man with a longing robe on is reclining in a Morris chair, reading; scattered about the room are a number of holiday suggestions for father, brother, sweetheart or husband. The Ideal Clothing Company will have something in their windows each week that will be of interest to the public.

M'CARTHY WILL INSIST ON ALL CO-PARTNERSHIPS OBEYING LAW

Because he believes that many copartnership firms are existing in Hawaii which have failed to heed the law regarding statements which they must make to the territorial treasurer, C. J. McCarthy is making out a list of circular letters which are to be sent soon to all the copartnerships in the territory.

Just how many of these firms have failed to comply with the law Treasurer McCarthy does not know, but it seems that there must be many, and it is probably true that only a few exist which have read the law and obeyed it.

Sections 3410 to 3417 inclusive of the revised laws of 1915 state definitely the duties of a copartnership in making itself known to the territorial government. For example Section 3411 says:

"Whenever any change shall take place in the constitution of any such firm by death or withdrawal of any member thereof, or by the addition of any member thereto, a statement of such change or dissolution shall also be filed in the office of the treasurer within one month from such change."

That the penalty is not slight for delinquents is evident from Section 3415 which reads as follows: Penalty $5 Per Day.

"Penalty for non-compliance. The members of every copartnership who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this chapter shall severally and individually be liable for all the debts and liabilities of such copartnership, and may be severally sued therefor without the necessity of joining the other members of the copartnership in any action or suit, and shall also be severally liable upon conviction to a penalty not exceeding five dollars for each and every day while such default shall continue."

Treasurer McCarthy's letters have been sent out to every copartnership in the territory asking its members to comply with the law, of which a copy is sent also. The latter state case of continued delay will turn the firm over to the attorney-general for prosecution.

"Since the law exists I believe it should be heeded," says Mr. McCarthy. "If it is not going to be heeded it had better be abolished, but I am of the opinion that it is intended for the commercial public, and should be of much value to them."

This law, as the treasurer points out, is not binding upon other styles of firms. It is for copartnerships only, and not for corporations.

FIVE AUTOS STALLED ON SLICK ROAD NEAR WAIKAKALAU GULCH

Chauffeurs arriving in the city from Waialua district this morning say that a portion of the road in the vicinity of Waikakalau gulch is making much trouble for motorists. Slipperiness caused by the coating of red dirt on the roads seems to cause the trouble, it being difficult for automobile wheels to gain any grip on the surface unless fitted with chains.

Five automobiles were stalled in the gulch near the bridge this morning, according to one driver whose mud-smeared clothes bore evidence to the truth of his statements. Eight were held up yesterday.

EMERGENCY TAX WILL EXPIRE DECEMBER 31

Uncle Sam's emergency tax which went into effect in October, 1914, will expire by time limit on December 31 of this year. So profitable has the tax been that many people are of the opinion it will be continued by the next Congress which goes into session in a few days.

Lovers of the "black bottle," who have been holding off until the end of the year before buying their wine, will not be likely to save much money through an abandonment of the tax it is thought, as it has been one of the chief sources of revenue during the past 14 months. The tax places a charge of eight cents a gallon on cheaper wine and 20 cents a quart on champagne.

MISS WARD WANTS LAW TO GOVERN FARRIERS

Miss Lucy K. Owing to some technicality Hamada was not punished for what he had done, but Miss Ward will ask the city attorney to revoke his license at least.

MANOA HELD BACK AT GOLDEN GATE BY HIGH WINDS

Not before 5 o'clock this afternoon is the Matson steamer Manoa expected to dock at Pier 15 from San Francisco. A radio message received this morning by the passenger department of Castle & Cooke, Ltd., Matson agents here, from Capt. Troels Smith, the Manoa's commander, stated the reason for the boat's delay, but did not announce any change in the hour of arrival off port, which in a message yesterday he gave as 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Rough weather at the bar of Golden Gate, San Francisco, made the boat 12 hours late leaving San Francisco, according to the radio from Capt. Smith received by the local agents today. The channel at this point is narrow, and the tides swift, so that with the rough sea and high winds the attempt to cross the bar then would have endangered the ship. Waiting for the weather to calm down caused a 12-hour delay.

Capt. Smith has been putting on all possible speed since leaving the coast, in order to cut down the handicap as much as possible. If he arrives off port at 4 this afternoon he will have reduced it by three hours. The Manoa has 89 cabin passengers and 526 bags of mail.

CHIYO GETS FIRST FORETASTE OF XMAS RUSH

Taking 250 sacks of mail from Honolulu, including some Christmas parcels, the liner Chiyo Maru is expected hereabout December 11 or 12 from Yokohama. She left there Saturday, according to Castle & Cooke's shipping department.

Thirty-five cabin passengers are booked to leave here for the mainland at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the Matson steamer Wilhelmina sails for San Francisco, taking mail and freight for the mainland. The boat will sail from Pier 15.

American-Hawaiian steamers due here next month are the Arizonan, to arrive in Honolulu from San Francisco about December 15, and the Minnesotan, due to arrive at this port December 22, from the Sound. The Panamanian will sail from Puget Sound December 25, arriving here around January 3.

The Japanese tramp steamer Bankoku Maru, which arrived off port in distress this morning, was here September 21, with a coal cargo for the Inter-Island, from Muroan. From this port she went to San Francisco, loading part of her present cargo there and the remainder at Portland for Shanghai. She cleared from Portland October 27.

Capt. William R. Foster, the harbor-master, is wondering where he will find room for all boats due the latter part of this week, not to mention the Bankoku Maru, which came today in distress and will have to stay a week or 10 days for repairs. Four ships are due Friday. They are the Great Northern, Ventura, U. S. army transport Dix, from Seattle, and the transport Sheridan, from Manila.

To make the steamers comply with the Seamen's Act, one fireman each has been dropped, by order of the inspectors of hulls and boilers, from employment on the Inter-Island ships Claudine, Kinau, Mauna Kea, Mauna Loa, Kilauea, Helene and Maui. One electrician each has been discharged from the Claudine, Mauna Loa and Kinau. The Mikahala and W. G. Hall have added an older each to their crews, at the inspectors' order.

That the Hill liner Great Northern is bringing 216 passengers for Honolulu, was stated in a radio received last night by the office of Fred L. Waldron, Ltd., from the steamer, due here at 10 o'clock Friday morning, from San Francisco, San Pedro and Hilo. The radio did not state whether the ship is bringing mail, nor how much cargo she has for this port. Hilo passengers were given as six. It is assumed that the 216 passengers for Honolulu are those who stay here, and that the rest return to the coast by the ship's trip. The ship was reported as starting with more than 400 aboard.

Exorbitant freight rates have caused a cessation of coal shipments from Newcastle to San Francisco, according to the Coast Seamen's Journal, which says there are no coal cargoes now on the way to the coast from the Australian port. Says the Journal:

"For the first time in 10 years there are no coal cargoes now on the way from Newcastle, Australia, to San Francisco. This is a condition which has never been known in local shipping for more than a decade and is accounted for by the fact that charters are so high that several ships are coming from the Antipodes in ballast to take heavy charters on the Pacific coast."

Bringing 39 cabin and 61 deck passengers from Hawaii ports, the Inter-Island steamer Mauna Kea arrived this morning from the Big Island. Pursuer E. W. Thompson reported her cargo for this port to include 21 cords of firewood, 139 bundles of ohia, 35 bales of awa, 30 bags of empty bottles, 25 boxes of oranges, 13 barrels of wine, 10 bags of pumpkins, 25 sacks of rice, and 276 packages of general merchandise.

KRONPRINZ WILHELM WILL BE MADE OVER INTO PEACEFUL SHIP

The Coast Seamen's Journal is authority for the statement that the state department has granted permission for the German auxiliary cruiser "Kronprinz Wilhelm," now interned at Norfolk, to be restored to her normal condition as a passenger liner, but that the vessel will remain interned until the end of the war.

The crew of the Kronprinz Wilhelm will be transferred to the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, also at the Norfolk navy yard, and the vessel then will be drydocked at New- York port News for a thorough overhauling.

HARBOR NOTES

Expected tomorrow from Gaviota is the oil ship Maron Chilcott.

Another mail for San Francisco will go at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Wilhelmina. Mails close at 8:30 at the postoffice.

The steamer Navarino, from San Francisco, is due here for bunkers December 15. The firm of David L. Peterson are local agents.

Examinations for their able seamen's certificates are being taken by the crew of the schooner Repeat, before it sails for Grays Harbor.

The Osaka Shoshen Kaisha steamer Dairen Maru is expected hereabout December 11 or 12 from Yokohama. She left there Saturday, according to Castle & Cooke's shipping department.

Tomorrow morning Capt. and Mrs. W. Scoresby Routledge will sail in the Mauna Kea for Hilo. They did not go in their yacht the Mana, when it sailed for San Francisco Sunday, but will leave for the coast in a week or two.

Thirty-five cabin passengers are booked to leave here for the mainland at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the Matson steamer Wilhelmina sails for San Francisco, taking mail and freight for the mainland. The boat will sail from Pier 15.

American-Hawaiian steamers due here next month are the Arizonan, to arrive in Honolulu from San Francisco about December 15, and the Minnesotan, due to arrive at this port December 22, from the Sound. The Panamanian will sail from Puget Sound December 25, arriving here around January 3.

INGA ORNER APPEARS IN CONCERT AS A SOPRANO OF MUCH PROMISE

A young singer of much promise but who has yet years of training ahead to reach the highest goal was revealed to a Honolulu audience last night when Miss Inga Orner, the Norwegian soprano, gave a concert at the Hawaiian Opera House.
Miss Orner has a varied linguistic ability, youth, a splendid physique for the exactions of concert or operatic work, a stage presence whose attraction is its artlessness; a voice which has many notes of great beauty.
Against this must be set a seeming nervousness which last night appeared greatly to restrict the freedom of her execution in the earlier part of the evening; and a slight unevenness in the voice, which showed particularly in the transitions from lower to upper register. At times, too, the tones appeared husky and in taking high notes she fails to sustain the resonant, thrilling quality which has such tremendous effect on audiences as climaxes to melodic phrases.
It would appear—judging now solely by last night's performance—that her voice is rather more of the mezzo than of the lyric soprano, but this impression may have been given by a nervousness which prevented the singer from displaying the instrument at its best, and kept her from indulging in the runs and trills in which the true coloratura vocalist delights and excels.
In one respect Miss Orner is superbly equipped—that of familiarity with the music of many tongues. Her French songs were delightful, and in English and German she was at ease. Of course the songs of Scandinavia found her perfectly at home. These came last and Miss Orner's voice plainly was responding more freely to the demands of the compositions than in the earlier numbers.

With the Norwegian songbird's physical equipment—she is tall, lithe, strong and glowing with health—and her apparent easy acquisition of musical themes, for she sings true and intelligently—there should be great success for her either on the operatic or the concert stage.
Mr. Frank Moss, at the piano, gave a very excellent performance. His accompanying is a delight to those who know the trials and tribulations of vocalists with accompanists who emphasize their own part. Mr. Moss does not err in this respect.
A fairly large audience was present, and it was an audience which thoroughly appreciated Miss Orner's efforts.

TWO BARRYMORE BROTHERS SHOWN

John Barrymore is a "laugh dispenser" in whatever vehicle is chosen for him and whether in the spoken or silent drama. In nothing in which this popular comedian, of a family of stage stars, has ever appeared has he been better than in "The Dictator," the Paramount feature offering at the Liberty theater for the first half of the present week. In either his sober or "soused"—the latter merely for the purpose of the drama, of course—moments Barrymore is producing mirth. Incidentally, there are a pair of the Barrymore family appearing on the Liberty bill for the first half of the week; John's brother Lionel having assumed the role of the villain in the latest series of Elaine pictures. As Del Mar, the foreign representative bent upon the destruction of the United States, and apparently with a particular grudge against the fair Elaine, Lionel is seen in a part that is the exact opposite of "The Dictator." It appears to be the consensus of opinion that Lionel wins on looks, while John "brings home the bacon" for comedy.
Further details of the latest death-dealing landslide along the New York subway are shown in the current "Pathe Weekly."
The flower-bulb industry and other branches of horticulture in the Netherlands have been severely injured by the war. As a consequence a credit bank for horticulture is being considered by the Netherlands government, and preliminary arrangements are under way.
William J. Walsh of Bayonne, N. J., a special policeman employed in the Sunnyside yards in Long Island City, was struck and killed by a train.

FIRST FILMS OF CORONATION ARE NOW AT POPULAR

Japanese moving pictures of the recent coronation of Emperor Yoshihito arrived here by the steamer Chiyu Maru yesterday afternoon direct from Japan, and were secured by Manager W. R. Hughes of the Popular theater. They were shown last night and may be seen again tonight and at the mid-week matinee and night show tomorrow.
The films reveal vividly the ancient pomp and splendor which made the coronation of Yoshihito such an absorbing event.
The first reel shows the emperor and his cortege leaving Tokio for the ancient capital of Kioto. The person of the emperor is not seen, but the royal carriage and incidentally a state view of Tokio, are prominent. Then there are the bazill towers and arches and a wealth of quaint oriental coloring. The arrival of the emperor at Kioto is seen, also the gate of Chishinda, where an important ceremony takes place. The immense arch of welcome at Kioto is given much prominence.
The second film carries the audience back to Tokio, where there is a fascinating parade of school children and excellent glimpses of a monastic procession in which electric floats depicting the four seasons of the year are shown. The flag parade of the various universities also is shown, and there are glimpses of the minister of education and his staff en route to the coronation, together with foreign ministers and the imperial band.
Part three illustrates the coronation party, a feature of which is the parade of the Shimbasha Geisha girls, among whom are some of the most famous beauties of all Japan.
Large numbers of citizen soldiers, immense crowds of loyal and enthusiastic Japanese and the crowds giving three bazillas at 10:30 o'clock of the night of the coronation announcement by the emperor also are excellent features.
Aside from this big feature the Popular is showing other first-run films. Owing to the unexpected arrival of the coronation pictures, Manager Hughes will not present the Keystone classic, "The Property Man," starring Charlie Chaplin, "the funniest man in the movies," until a later date.

stars. The skit hinges on a plot sufficient to maintain constant interest.
The fun is of the fast and furious sort with enough knock-about in it to add spice and carry it "across." The famous comedian, is ably assisted by a clever company. The Chaplin comedy packed the Empire theater to the doors last evening. It will be shown for the last time today. A number of other new Chaplin farces are scheduled for early presentation at the Empire.
"The Spirit of the Violin" is a powerfully told story, which, dramatized and produced under the direction of Robert Ince, is rated as one of the notable spectacular playlets of the season. James Oliver Curwood has a leading part in the two-act play.
"The Family Bible" is a drama with a plot filled with heart-interest, Heles Holmes, perhaps one of the most daring actors before patrons of the silent drama today, is featured in the great railroad play, "A Leap from the Water Tower."
HAWAIIAN BAND WILL BE AT THOMAS SQUARE

PINEAPPLES FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

102 Third St., San Antonio, Tex.

Wells Fargo & Co., Honolulu, T. H.

Gentlemen: While in Honolulu last August I had four crates of pineapples shipped to different places for presents to my friends. I have learned since that they reached them in splendid shape and were delicious and very satisfactory.

I now want to order a crate of 12 for myself. I would like them by December 15th. I enclose draft for same.

(Signed) MRS. H. L. WAGNER.

Honolulu, Hawaii October 16, 1915.

Gentlemen: Having ordered and shipped through your company a goodly number of boxes of fresh pineapples during the past few years, I can say with great satisfaction that the most of them have reached their destination in absolutely perfect condition, whether sent to California, Missouri, Ohio, Massachusetts or Maryland. The testimony from one and all is that they have never seen or tasted such delicious fruit, also that the packing of same showed a great deal of care and attention.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. H. ATHERTON.

TO HEAR KICKS ON BERETANIA PAVING PLAN

Supervisor William Larsen's proposed ordinance for a standardized system of paving will probably be brought up Thursday night at the meeting of the supervisors. Tonight's meeting is to be given over entirely to a public hearing of the Beretania improvement project, and no other business will be taken up.

Larsen's resolution will provide for a concrete base of a thickness sufficient to withstand any and all traffic put upon it. It is possible that concrete will be named as the pavement for all roads, its thickness varying according to the amount of wear to which different roads will be subjected.

"I am firmly of the belief that concrete is the cheapest and best material that can be used in this city," says Larsen, "and in view of this I shall strongly advocate its use. I am also in favor of establishing a cantonment system of road work at the beginning of the new year."

MEASLES AT KAMEHAMEHA KEPT BOYS FROM SMOKER

Measles, prevalent at the Kamehameha school, kept from the program of the National Guard smoker last night two good numbers, the Kamehameha Glee Club and the saber drill by a part of the Kamehameha company.

Casey and Stoddard, black and white comedians, did a good turn on the program, although their work was greatly interfered with by noise. Indiscreetly their names were not mentioned in the first account of the smoker.

Decorations are being removed from the armory today and the stage is being torn down.

Irving Watkins, aged 33, colored, of Torrington, was sentenced to state's prison for from 11 to 15 years for an assault committed on an 11 year old colored girl of Torrington on Oct. 30.

BUGS CAN "GO BUGS" LIKE A HUMAN BEING

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Bugs have actual mental illusions and psychological delusions, like insane persons. They can go crazy with fear.

There are "high brows," "low brows" and "no brows," among bugs, just as there are among human beings.

Insects and plants have souls. These are never situated in the stomachs.

These are some of the deductions made by Professor Henry G. Walters of Langhorne, president of the Plant Research Institute, after exhaustive experiments in the psychology of plant and insect life. They are startling to persons who have always looked upon the bug as a lowly creature, which now, Professor Walters announces, is making greater progress in evolution than we are.

The seventh contingent of 250 men recruited in St. John's, N. F., for the British army has arrived in England. British imports during October increased $82,065,000. Exports increased $16,835,000.

EVANGELIST TO LOSE NO TIME IN BEGINNING WORK

is predicted will result in more enthusiasm in religion and religious work in this city.

Will Last For Night

Mr. Brown will be assisted by C. P. Curry, a soloist of note, who will not only conduct the musical end of the meetings, but will render solos which are certain to be features of the campaign. The Brown-Curry campaign in Honolulu will last two weeks, and will be conducted along the lines of the recent Smith-Robbins campaign which gained so much favor here.

Arrangements for the campaign were completed at a meeting of all committees held at the Y. M. C. A. this noon. The complete program, however, probably will not be outlined until tomorrow, as Messrs. Brown and Curry will want an opportunity to look over the local field and determine in what places their meetings are the most needed.

The evangelist and soloist are to arrive at 5 o'clock this afternoon from San Francisco, and were to be met at the wharf by the members of the executive committee. A visit to Central Union church was to be made in order to ascertain if everything was in readiness for tonight's meeting from the viewpoint of the visitors.

Messrs. Brown and Curry will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen during their stay in Honolulu. They will make their headquarters at the Bowen home. A brand new typewriter of a popular make was sent out to the Bowen home today for use by Mr. Brown who, during these campaigns, spends all his spare time turning out "copy" for the "World-Wide Revival," a publication of large circulation of which he is the editor. Expect 100 in Choir.

Every inch of available seating space in Central Union has been utilized for tonight's meeting. The choir loft has been enlarged to accommodate the choir of 75 singers. It is expected that this choir will be increased to 100 voices before the close of the campaign.

No set program has been prepared for the meeting tonight. The evangelist and soloist will be introduced by Mr. Bowen, who is general chairman of the executive committee. There will be little if any formality. The meeting will be opened by Mr. Curry with a song service and, as one minister said today, the "fireworks will begin right there."

Because Mr. Brown has been heralded as an equal to Billy Sunday, Honolulu should not get the impression that, at the meeting tonight, Mr. Brown will let loose a flow of unintelligible slang, as is the custom with Mr. Sunday on some occasions. Mr. Brown uses none of these tactics. As a local minister said today, "Mr. Brown's addresses are similar to that of the ordinary speaker, but he has a wonderful faculty for making himself clear, driving his points and holding his audience to attention from start to finish."

Begin Morning Series.

SAYS ZEPPELIN RAID BEAT FOURTH OF JULY

ALAMEDA, Cal.—A graphic pen picture of the recent Zeppelin raid over England is given by Miss Charlotte d'Evelyn, former Alameda high school student, who is now at Oxford. Miss d'Evelyn, in a letter to her father, Dr. F. W. d'Evelyn, says in describing the raid:

"The shells bursting in air, the fires, the red-lit sky, with the big airship itself winding to and fro like a great snake of flame, and the awful jolt and crash as the missiles struck, certainly produced a reality which overtopped the most glorious Fourth I have ever participated in."

LARGE CROWD HEARS GOVERNOR TELL OF GUARD'S FUTURE HERE

Commander-in-Chief of National Guard Stirs Enthusiasm By Speech at Smoker Given at Armory—Every Adult Male in Hawaii Must Be Able to Shoot or Dig Trenches, He Says—Fine Musical and Vaudeville Program Given

One of the most successful large scale entertainments ever given in Honolulu was the smoker of the National Guard at the armory last night. Officers in white uniforms and soldiers in khaki gave a decidedly martial air to the crowd, through which was a sprinkling of civilians. Attendance exceeded 2000.

Governor Pinkham's address was the chief event of the evening, and in it utterance was given to opinions concerning the Guard and the defense of the territory which are of high importance to the islands. Brigadier General Samuel I. Johnson made a brief speech before Governor Pinkham appeared, in which he complimented the National Guard of the territory on its personnel and on the faithfulness of the men, and said that the 1st Infantry band, the Filipino company and the Kamehameha company deserved particular praise for rapidity of organization, and efficiency.

Things started at 7:30 when the Hawaiian Band under Leader Kalani played the opening number, and from that time on there were no lulls. At 8 o'clock the governor, accompanied by General Johnson and the officers of the staff entered the hall and took seats directly in front of the stage, which was erected on the Ewa side of the armory. The band played the Governor's March as the chief executive entered the hall, and at the conclusion the crowd cheered loudly.

The program of amusements began with a performance on the rings and trapeze by Juan Santos, C. C. Samora and Domingo Samora, Filipinos from Company M, and their exhibition equalled the best professional work of the kind. "Johnny Meah," a well known local man, and Dick Benny gave a good exhibition of sparring, and although Meah was 16 pounds under the other man he managed to give him a good fight.

Professor Sigis Aselomox Hair, a hypnotist, had the wrong crowd to work with and failed to "get control" of any of his subjects, with the possible exception of one. A number of soldiers and sailors went on the stage to be hypnotized, but instead they enjoyed themselves turning flip-flops and amusing the audience, after the professor had failed to put them to sleep.

House Mark Twain Feared Might Some Day Shrink To Size Of Mere Bird Cage

Author of "Tom Sawyer" in front of his boyhood home on the occasion of his last visit to Hannibal.

A little town in Missouri, named Hannibal, is a really notable place, but only a few residents of this town, perhaps, realize the fact. For Hannibal was the home of Mark Twain, and it was in Hannibal that Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn and Becky Thatcher lived and had their adventures—adventures which every red-blooded American has either read of or knows something about. And the little town has for the lovers of Mark Twain three spots that are fast growing into shrines where they love to linger.

The first of these is the Mark Twain monument, which was erected by the state, and which crowns the high point overlooking the river that Clemens loved. A great circle of hills forms the background. The majestic river sweeps from the north to the south as far as the eye can reach. The varying panorama of fertile fields and rocky houses that stretch on to meet the horizon makes a scene of rare beauty.

Down in the town, which is south of the monument but still near the river, stands Mark Twain's boyhood home, which is owned by the city. The home was a gift to the city from Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mahan, and was presented in 1912. Since that time, it has been open to visitors.

While possessing little in the way of relics of Clemens' life, the home itself and its surroundings are such that every lover of "Tom Sawyer" lingers there and seems to conjure up a vision of Tom re-enacting all his pranks set forth in the book. But when one peers into the little closet where Tom stole Aunt Polly's jam; sits in that "pleasant rearward apartment that was breakfast room, dining room, library and bedroom," that room in which Peter, the cat, took his dose of pain-killer; when one climbs the old outside stairway and enters Sid's and Tom's bedroom, from the window of which Jim Wolff ventured out to drive away the cats, and when, just across the corner of the lumber yard, one sees Huck's old home—it is easy to fancy that one goes away with a glow that starts in the region of the heart and reaches out through the senses and eyes and lips to many a tousled youngster who types Tom and Huck today.

Since the opening of Mark Twain's house to the public, about 10,000 names have been placed on the register. There have been visitors from Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and from every state in the United States. Names of scholars and statesmen and names of simple folk, who came out of real love for the man who once lived there, are on the register. When Clemens was in Hannibal in 1902—his last visit—he stood across the street and gazed at the little house in silence, then remarked:

"When I was a boy and lived there, that was a great, big house, but the thing dwarts so fast that I guess if I should come back here in 10 years from now, it would be a bird cage."

South of Hannibal, about two miles, is the cave that figures so prominently in "Tom Sawyer." Hundreds of visitors go there annually. Little care is given the place, but it is hoped that within a short time proper steps will be taken to make it accessible and attractive.

The life of Tom Sawyer was drawn largely from the boyhood experiences of the writer. All through the books one can see that Tom Sawyer was Clemens himself. The same Clemens lived in as a boy in the home described in the book as Tom's home, and Tom's aunt was really Mr. Clemens' mother. Brother Sid was probably Orion Clemens, an older brother. Huckleberry Finn's real name was Tom Blankenship, a Hannibal boy of that day, and Becky Thatcher was a Laura Hawkins, who still lives in Hannibal—Mrs. Laura Hawkins Frasier.

The list of manufacturers and producers will include every important branch of American industrial enterprise, and will represent every shade of opinion in regard to the present problems of the country's foreign trade. Concerns typical of big and of little business; companies and firms, old and new, in the exporting line; interests in favor of, and those opposed to combinations for export trade; manufacturers of specialties and producers of staples; establishments whose foreign trade is limited to South America or Europe, and those whose products are sold throughout the world, will all find a place in the list. Return postcards accompanying the letters are designed to give an opportunity for a prompt, broad yes or no referendum on the advisability of export combinations, and to put the commission in touch with those who are willing to furnish further facts and suggestions.

Information has been gathered by the Federal Trade Commission, through public hearings and other means, to serve as a basis for a report to Congress regarding conditions affecting the country's foreign trade. The commission now announces its intention, as a part of its investigation, to send out 30,000 letters of inquiry, with the view of obtaining information from a large number of men who were unable to appear at the hearings. Of these letters, about 20,000, or two-thirds, will be sent to American manufacturers and producers, and the remainder will go to other persons familiar with some phase of foreign trade conditions, such as export commission merchants, manufacturers' export agents, importers, domestic merchants, publicists, lawyers, economists, bankers, engineers, etc.

IN WAR ARENA

BRITISH AIR FIGHTER SINKS TEUTON SUBMARINE.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—For the second time in the war a German submarine has been attacked and sunk by an unalloyed aeroplane, and for the second time the admiralty has deviated from its rule not to announce the destruction or capture of German submarines nor indicate the waters in which the submarines are located.

The battle between the German underwater fighter and the British aircraft took place off Middlekerke, in the channel on Sunday, the aeroplane using bombs and the submarine replying with her deck gun. Finally, swooping down close to the craft, the aviator dropped a bomb squarely on the submarine, which crumpled, broke in two and sank.

British air fighters were busy on Sunday, Sir John French reporting that 15 battles in the air between British and German aviators took place, the German machines being destroyed in several instances. In addition, two systematic air raids upon German positions were made by the British aero men. At Gyps, a Zeppelin aerodrome was bombed, 14 aeroplanes taking part in the raid. At La Chapelle the German ammunition factory was attacked, there being 19 aviators in the bombarding squadron.

Each of the 33 aeroplanes returned safely to its base.

TEUTON ALLIES FACE FOOD FAMINE, IS REPORT.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—According to the Tribune of Rome, Austria is ready to conclude a separate peace and withdraw from the war, the food scarcity, amounting almost to semi-famine and the heavy losses which Austria has sustained from the very beginning of the war, having created a public sentiment which is forcing the hand of the government.

No confirmation of the Rome despatch is available, but it is known that the Kaiser is now in Vienna, visiting and consulting with Emperor Franz Josef.

BRITISH TRANSPORT HAS ESCAPED SEA RAIDER.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—A casualty list posted last night gives those lost through the recent attack upon the British transport Woodfield as "seven troopers killed and eight wounded and 15 interned."

Recent despatches from Paris announced that this transport had been attacked and sunk off the Moroccan coast by a German submarine, and the first doubt upon this news comes in the implied denial of the official casualty list, is being evident that the Woodfield escaped with the greater number of her men.

LORD DERBY WANTS RED CROSS WORKERS IN TRENCHES.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 30.—In his efforts to augment the army without having to resort to compulsion, Lord Derby, in charge of the recruiting work, yesterday announced that he plans recruiting for the ranks from amongst the Red Cross workers, replacing them with elderly men. SEND BENZINE TO GERMANY IN NEW TOMBSTONES

THE HAGUE.—New devices for smuggling contraband into Germany are being continually brought to light by the Dutch frontier officials. The latest discovery is that a trainload of concrete building blocks bound for Belgium contained several thousand gallons of gasoline. The blocks were hollow, each one providing a receptacle for eight gallons of oil.

A week ago a shipment of tombstones required for marking the graves of German soldiers was examined and it was discovered that the tombstones were hollow and filled with benzine. Several wagonloads had crossed the frontier before the trick was uncovered.

IMPORTANCE OF GUARD IN PREPAREDNESS SCHEME

IMMENSE CROWD HEARS GOVERNOR TELL OF FUTURE OF GUARD HERE

Applause greeted the announcement of Gen. Johnson that 18 new showers are to be installed in the Armory, the rooms to be arranged so there will be room for all, and a completely equipped gymnasium to be put in, as soon as the rooms now being built are completed.

Gen. Johnson said he did not believe anything could stop the progress of the National Guard of Hawaii, and that it was going ahead, building up, and was going to be the most efficient organization of its kind in the United States.

Governor Pinkham's speech last evening follows in full:
Officers and Soldiers of the National Guard of Hawaii and Citizens of the Territory of Hawaii.

The proper time has arrived for your Governor to make a public statement as to the military policy of the Territorial Administration.

An the seventeenth day of February last the following cablegram was received:

Governor of Hawaii, Honolulu.
Department anxious Hawaii maintain increased militia strength and efficiency. Territory owes it to itself and national government to do this. Suggest you present matter to legislature.

GARRISON, Secretary of War.
Having studiously considered the situation, plans of action were formulated, which were found sound and practicable from the viewpoint of the Commanding General of the Hawaiian Department and his Staff, and, on consultation, having received also the approval of influential Territorial Senators, the National Guard has been increased to quite formidable numbers and in excess of expectations.

Prompt requisitions for equipment were cabled the War Department and were insistently repeated.

The first allotment was thereby doubled and we still need a large increase.

In October I wrote the Honorable Secretary of War:
"Hawaii cannot be compared with the mainland. In case of war we can neither depart therefrom, retreat nor hide and everyone who can shoot must shoot and the rest dig."

It is impossible to more briefly or comprehensively disclose the situation than in my recent communication to the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, controlling these Islands, from which I here quote.

"I present concisely the subject of Preparedness for Defense of the Hawaiian Islands, relative to the National Guard of Hawaii, a situation unparalleled on the mainland.

"In case of war and attack, the inhabitants of the Territory of Hawaii (particularly the island of Oahu, area 598 square miles, and quite mountainous in character) can neither depart therefrom, retreat, nor hide, nor can any mature male avoid participation.

PROVISIONS AND SUPPLIES.
"Island resources are wholly inadequate to tide over even a brief blockade, hence the U. S. Navy must keep communication open. (See Exhibit 'A').

"We are the apex, the exposed point far out in the Pacific, looking toward trouble should it ever come.

"If attacked, it is liable to be without warning. Not only preparedness, but vigilant immediate readiness is necessary.

"To the extent desirable, our National Guard can always be in readiness, not by taking all the time of the enlisted man, but, from week to week, a part of their normal unoccupied time in which they naturally seek diversion.

"In my opinion privates should be paid Fifty Dollars per year and be otherwise, found, per a schedule of duty, with deductions for failure.

"Officers should be paid relatively, unless their full time is required, when regular Army pay and allowances should be paid.

OBJECT OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.
"To police the islands of Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, and prevent raids, burnings, riots and disorder.

"To perform similar services on the island of Oahu.

"In case of war the Guard to immediately come under the command of the General commanding the Hawaiian Department.

TRAINING AND EFFICIENCY.
"As our climate permits agreeable outdoor life the year round, and as there is need of some inspiring influence for discipline, interest and patriotism, service in the National Guard will be found acceptable for long terms of enlistment and no other influence can equally create loyal, enthusiastic American citizens.

"On November 10th, 1915, the Governor set aside by proclamation, for the uses of the National Guard, Punchbowl Hill and Crater, containing 139.45 acres, with the U. S. Reservation included, for a camp site, drill ground and rifle range, Exhibit 'B'.

"This superb site is situated in the center of the city of Honolulu and readily accessible.

"In order to keep the guard in constant training and practically in as fit condition as troops of the Regular Army, it is planned to hold compulsory company or battalion armory drills not less than once each week, and to require by battalions (or by full regiment, when ordered) every company to once each month go into camp from six o'clock Saturday afternoon to half-past five Monday morning, and, if holidays connect, add another day.

"The Territory has four excellent armories, and citizens are providing additional ones where needed. Drill grounds and rifle ranges are being promptly provided where lacking on all the islands.

ACTING, NOT TALKING.
"Having the authority, the Governor determined to act, after carefully advising with the Commander of the Hawaiian Department and several Territorial Senators. Hence about September first he appointed Colonel Samuel I. Johnson Adjutant General, and directed him to organize the companies that had sent in their enrollment and to further recruit.

total enrollment of the National Guard to comprise, officers and men, as follows:

"Hawaiians	2215
"Filipinos	544
"Americans	405
"Portuguese	395
"Chinese-Americans	131
"German-Americans	40
"British-Americans	45
"Japanese-Americans	15

"Total 3,790
an increase of 97 over the number on November 10th.

CREATING A BRIGADE.
"Executive Order.
"The organization of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd regiments of Infantry having been completed, the said regiments of Infantry shall constitute a brigade, to be known as the 1st Brigade, National Guard of Hawaii.

"Brigadier General Samuel I. Johnson, Adjutant General, Territory of Hawaii, is assigned to the command of the Brigade.

LUCIUS E. PINKHAM,
Governor of Hawaii.
"Honolulu, Nov. 12, 1915."

EQUIPMENT.
"The War Department has equipped 24 companies and are applicants for the unprovided equipment for the three regiments and accessories where lacking.

PAID NATIONAL GUARD.
"No country can depend, in the dull time of peace, on sentiment and patriotism but only on paid enlisted men. The fact is too obvious for discussion.

"Hawaii cannot be compared with other divisions of the United States.

PROVIDING FOR PAY ROLLS.
"It would seem equitable and economical for the War Department of the United States to assume one-half the pay roll and the Territory of Hawaii the other half.

"The Territory from prospective increases of revenue, which will be taken up in another communication, can comfortably bear this burden.

SPECIAL LEGISLATION.
"It is doubtful if any legislation liable to be adopted for mainland conditions and situation will be found applicable and soundly economic in the Territory of Hawaii."

"I had hoped special legislation might be had to make more securely available and effective the 4,000 men now in hand.

"I shall urge the War Department to furnish the National Guard complete equipment, ammunition, commissary stores, for the days in active camp, and one-half the pay roll.

"I propose the Territory of Hawaii shall act, if my influence avails, a manly, patriotic part and not a commercialized part in local and national defense.

"The National Government considers this outpost as of sufficient vital importance to here, as you have been notified, establish promptly a garrison of 17,372 men, the largest in the United States of America, or its possessions, and Major General Carter recently told you the garrison would reach probably 22,000 men.

"It will be impossible, even suicidal, to leave this garrison, to say nothing of the population, without the presence and protection of a powerful navy, having its base at the Naval Station at Pearl Harbor. I believe that not less than ten thousand men will be required to man this Naval defense. Communication must be kept open from Hawaii's naval base, not from the mainland.

"The action and plans of the United States indicate a policy of Thorough Preparedness, and on the urgency of the cablegram of February seventeenth and Thorough Preparedness—NOW—not in the future, is based the policy of the Territorial Administration.

"I have refused and shall refuse to discuss in public print or speech possible events within or on the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

"Solicited numerous for membership articles for publication and cash contributions to every conceivable sort of society for peace by non-resistance, by faith, by ethics, by intangible safety and defense, I have confined myself to the following reply to the Journal of American History.

"As Governor of the mid-Pacific outpost of the United States and in contact with Oriental populations and problems, of which the people of the mainland have no practical conception, it would be improper for me, from any point of view, to discuss the situation.

"Peace has its tragedies as well as war, and commercial greed is more destructive of society and the spirit of manhood."

"This Territory has its own problems, and needs every factor of means, spirit, patriotism and power to maintain these Hawaiian Islands in fact American, as well as in name.

"Shortly after my arrival as Governor, I realized a large body of troops, for their own sake and that of the community could not be restricted to the area of their posts. That the necessary marches and maneuvers required convenient army controlled camp sites on the route.

"After adjusting various interests and boundaries a site at Kaneohe, on the windward side of Oahu, containing two hundred and sixty-seven acres, was on May 14th tendered to the Hawaiian Department. In the month of August, 1914, said site was set aside by proclamation of the President of the United States.

"Still another site was needed, hence three hundred and eight acres have been set aside at Aiea subject to the Hawaiian Department and proclamation of the President.

"The increase in number of the army and military exigencies will require the maximum range our island will permit. Not less than three additional camp sites must be provided.

GREAT MILITARY ROADS
must be provided of a quality and character, not within present local means to build.

TRANS-PACIFIC MERCANTILE SHIPPING
will require accommodations if Hawaii is to fulfill its mission. This commerce in its brief stops will not yield any notable revenues to the Territory or the public, but the cost of improvements for its benefit will be great.

"In December, 1913, the Honorable Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, and Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada considered the propriety of the Federal Government assuming some of our incidental burdens by endeavoring to induce Congress to assign a portion of our customs receipts to the Territory as is done in the case of Porto Rico and the Philippines. I have felt obliged to refrain from public mention of this contemplated change in financial attitude.

"We have many eager directors of public measures and policies apt to upset, rather than forward meritorious plans, by previousness.

"The enormous sums of money that must be here expended in behalf of the Army and Navy will not produce taxable property.

"We are in the center of the Western World aggressions, political and commercial, and are too weak to alone provide or maintain the magnitude of responsibility our location thrusts upon us. We can now consistently request and accept assistance without reflection on our motives or spirit.

SUGGESTIONS TENTATIVE.
"On what basis Congress will determine the military relations of the General Government with States and Territories, and to what extent it will assume financial responsibility in preparedness and defense, no one can predict, hence the suggestions I make should be considered as strictly tentative and aimed more to secure keen recognition of our peculiar situation and needs rather than an assumed solution of the problem.

"We should be willing to bear our share whatever the ultimate plans.

MOTIVES FOR WAR.
For nearly three thousand years naval command of the sea has been aggressively contested, that the victors might exploit to the utmost the commerce of the adjacent world and gain the wealth avarice desires.

"The ancient world sea was the Mediterranean, and, as history now repeats itself, the great contest, this very day and hour, is for the command of that sea, for it is still the key to Africa, India and the Far East.

"Carthage, the first great ancient commercial and religious sea power, controlled that entire sea and restricted Rome for centuries, until she learned the methods of Carthage, bettered them, and then utterly destroyed her.

"The contest for the Mediterranean has continued among various nations for centuries.

"A great huge bulk of an Empire, comprising one-sixth of the land surface of the world, for several centuries has sought a naval protected outlet for its sea commerce.

"Within my memory, and previously, two of Russia's present allies by war and manipulation have forced her and held her back from her ambition.

"Foiled in securing the Bosphorus and Dardanelles, modern transportation enabled her to establish a magnificent seaport at Dalny, on an arm of the Pacific Ocean.

"Her present friends forced her back by war and manipulation, but before ultimate conclusions could be tried, an American President, to save American bankers, called a cessation of hostilities.

"Four years ago this month I returned from a journey through Russia and Siberia, undertaken solely to weigh the possibility of that Empire again seeking an outlet on the Pacific.

"Enemies have now become friends and Russia has been persuaded to again try for an outlet through the Bosphorus and Dardanelles. Success on her part would so militate against her present friends and their future commercial safety and interests, I apprehend history will repeat itself and allies become again enemies.

WORLD SUPREMACY.
The contest for naval and commercial supremacy now covers the seas of the entire world.

"Nowhere is this contest more obvious than here right on this island of Oahu, for you have seen the second greatest merchant marine wiped out in a few months, and the remainder lie at moorings in the harbor of Honolulu and off its shores.

"Here and here only is that remnant of the high seas under American control held only by three lines of steamers backed by a feeble Continental American spirit.

"Hawaii is the strategic point of the western world. That control once lost, the future will be problematical and the line of defense will be intolerably lengthened to the great sweep of shore from Bering Strait to the Panama Canal.

SEEKING PEACE.
Neither men or nations commend the human sacrifice and destruction of war.

"History, the only guide we have, teaches that until the very fountains of human effort are changed peace cannot be guaranteed. Adequate defense is the only known assurance, hence when we look toward the west and southwest, we are not looking for enemies and war, but for friends and peace and progress.

PATRIOTISM.
In times of stress, danger and war, men spring to their country's support with one accord.

"Peace prevails now and the acute incentive is not pressing, yet you, members of the National Guard of Hawaii, now present to the people of the United States the most notable example of patriotic enlistment, rarely, if ever, equaled in our national history.

"While others agitate for organization, you are organized, are in practice and are ready for rigid peace duty and training, that you may instantly enter, fully prepared and experienced, into war should it be imposed on your country.

HAWAIIANS.
Over twenty-two hundred and fifty of you are enrolled. You have always been the numerical backbone of the National Guard.

"Hawaii was your own country! Hawaii is now your own country!
You honor yourselves in accepting the inevitable alignment world forces marked for Hawaii.

"This Governor, familiar for twenty-five years with the incidents and forces moulding you, has always looked deeper than the surface. In your remarkable and unanimous solidarity for the National Guard, his faith has found justification.

FILIPINOS.
You come next in numbers.

"You are familiar at least by sight with military duty. Some of you have performed service in the Scouts and Constabulary of the Philippines which brought you into close contact with the Army service of the United States.

"You have been brave and fearless in that service, even to the most dashing and exposed action and loss of life.
Years ago some of your race said to me, "You like us fight for America, we fight."
Now you show you mean what your compatriot said.

Home Course in Advertising

Table Conducted in this Paper by Alex. F. Osborn, Instructor in Advertising, Buffalo Y.M.C.A. High School
IN 90 CHAPTERS. A CHAPTER A DAY

FOR THE MERCANTILE MAN FOR THE MANUFACTURER FOR THE AMBITIOUS YOUTH

PURPOSES OF THE COURSE— (1) To increase returns for the retailer who now advertises. (2) To show the non-advertising retailer how he can lower his prices, yet increase his profits. (3) To suggest to the jobber and manufacturer a cautious method to create demand and increase good-will. (4) To prepare the person with latent advertising ability for a place in this new "profession."

This course, when delivered personally to a class of students, costs $15. It is equivalent to a correspondence course which costs $95. The entire 90 lessons will be given exclusively with this newspaper free of charge.

CHAPTER XIV.

HOW DOES MIND-DISPLAY DO ITS WORK?

In addition to the merely physical display, there is another kind, which should be differentiated from Eye-Display. This is Mind-Display—the kind that attracts the mind. It is subtle and far less mechanical. Nevertheless, the same mechanical means as make for Eye-Display may also be used to bring about Mind-Display. But instead of this working through the few physical laws of the optical nerves, Mind-Display must deal with the multitudinous and less definite laws of the mental processes. In other words, Mind-Display is more a matter of psychology, for it must fit in with the mechanics of the brain itself, if it is to succeed.

Take for instance the kind of display which prompts us to sympathize. That wins our interest, and attention, through the fact that it strikes a common chord in our make-up. It would attract a blind man quite as well. Suppose, for instance, without any artificial stretch of the imagination, we are able to associate the thing which we have to sell with some cause in which our prospective purchasers have a keen interest. Imagine, for example, that we are advertising a certain product while our country is at war with Mexico. If we can carry in our display a suggestion of love for the flag, a hatred for the foe, and if at the same time we can logically weave into that suggestion a persuasive argument in favor of our product, then we will win a keener interest than we could possibly win without this association of ideas.

"Fusion" is what this system of getting attention is sometimes called. It is merely a system of linking up that which you are advertising with something which of itself will appeal. The idea is that if you join your product onto some other element which excites the reader's sympathy, then your product will unconsciously be given some of the kindly feeling which goes out toward the associated idea.

Thus it is that in advertising writing, it is always desirable to make our illustrations show people whom we admire. For instance, if you are advertising a soda fountain drink, it is better to picture a lot of beautiful debutantes sipping the beverage at some palatial drug store, than it is to portray a bunch of dirty barefooted brats guzzling the stuff at some dilapidated fruit stand on the street corner. As far as argument is concerned, the enjoyment of the urchin may theoretically be as strong, by way of persuasion, as the pleasure that those young ladies experience. But, practically, we do not think much of the street arab's taste, whereas the finely dressed girl is supposed to be an epicure. Thus, through Fusion, we find that of these two kinds of Mind-Display the one with the better persuasion is the kind which suggests an associated idea which calls forth our admiration, or at least approval.

Of course there are exceptions to this, particularly where so-called negative "copy" is necessary. In this case, where you have to use fear in order to bring about a sale, it may be desirable for you to get your Mind-Display from a Fusion with that which is most despicable. For instance, in advertising liniment for rheumatism, the best kind of display from a Fusion standpoint might be the repulsive figure of a used-up man, whose limbs were all gnarled up almost beyond the point of human semblance.

On the other hand, suggestion can often be used to good effect in connection with Mind-Display to take the place of many words. There is the case of the beautiful girl wearing Niagara-Maid gloves. Although she is pictured in the black-and-white of the newspaper page, she is dainty enough to suggest the quality and refinement of the kind of gloves she wears. And remember the be-whiskered face of the kindly old doctor who looks up at you out of your newspaper. His eye just flashes with the sparkle of health. That keen look, plus the words "He don't use coffee," suggests volumes of persuasion—and, furthermore, accomplishes its first task of winning the reader's eye. Such is the combination of Eye-Display with Mind-Display, with some persuasion-through-suggestion also included.

Repetition is likewise accomplished through Mind-Display. In fact, for that purpose Mind-Display is supremely important. Some of the nationally advertised articles, on which a million or more is spent each year, were once financial failures. With most of them, the first year showed a balance on the wrong side of the ledger. But the men who lost weight wondering how they were going to meet their advertising bills, are mostly retired millionaires today. The little element of accumulative result—through repetition—that has been the key-note to these successes.

This "snow-ball" process, by which the effects of an advertising campaign keep piling up, depends on repetition. For instance, suppose H-O, which you see in the newspapers week in and week out, had changed its name to "Sweet Oats" after the first year and then after that to "Oatlets" and after that

WOMEN OF FRANCE AID NATION BY GATHERING IN FALL CROPS

Most of Heavy Field Harvest Work Done By Them, While Menfolk Fight in Trenches

[Associated Press] CLERMONT-FERRAND, Centra France.—The women of France have gathered the crops this year, while their sons and brothers are fighting at the front, and they are big crops. The harvest is closed, the barns in this vast farming region are fairly bursting with wheat, oats, hay and a multitude of farm products, and the fields are stacked with the straw-covered yield of potatoes, carrots, beets and vegetables of all kinds—all these crops a tribute to these Spartan peasant women of France who in a way are fighting the country's battle just as much as the men in the trenches.

For three days a correspondent of the Associated Press has passed through 300 miles of this farming region, under escort of army officers assigned for the purpose of seeing the thousands of German prisoners gathered in from Champagne and elsewhere, but incidentally giving the opportunity of seeing these French peasant women cultivating the fields, driving the oxen for the fall ploughing, picking, sorting and shipping fruit, and gathering in the stores of vegetables and tobacco.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAS PLAN FOR CONTROL OF NEWSPAPERS

[Associated Press] AMSTERDAM, Holland.—The Berlin Vorwaerts publishes prominently an alleged secret communication recently sent out by the Prussian minister of interior to local administrative officials throughout Prussia, containing full details of a scheme for the better control of the press in the interests of the German government. The documents inform officials that they must increase their efforts to control the newspapers, especially the small local papers, "the attitude of which has a great influence upon the feeling of the country and upon the results of future elections." The method hitherto employed, it is stated, has not been adequate to insure the exercise of "permanent political influence."

It is announced that the government will henceforward control, through a central bureau, a number of news agencies, and will be able to provide an adequate and proper news service at a rate ranging from $2.50 per month upward. For the use of small newspapers which are in financial straits, the government is prepared to furnish ready-made newspapers, to which they have only to add the title and such local news as they wish to print on the front page, thereby saving 70 per cent on the cost of production. The text of these productions "will be carefully watched and emphatically influenced" by government officials.

Take the case of a department store. The reason it does a business this year of far and above last year (which in turn showed bigger volume than the year before) is this cumulative result. Most department store ads could be identified by a newspaper's readers, even if they were not signed. Their atmosphere would tell the tale. The Mind-Display would suggest so many previous ads that the reader would almost feel that this was So-and-So's announcement.

That continuity of Mind-Display is what makes cumulative benefit out of repetition of advertising. It not only works for the local institution—it also makes big successes of national enterprises. In the case of Castoria, the simple repetition of the name, with one or two homely arguments, has won. Few know what Castoria's reason-why says, but the mere name—in connection with that Mind-Display of peculiar appearance—talks through the newspaper almost every day—today in the whisper of very small space—tomorrow in the thunder of quarter-page size—to the result that Castoria becomes imbedded in the public mind as an institution—though largely built of the ink and pulp which makes a newspaper.

Tomorrow's chapter will be: "Can Ads Be Made Effective Through Fusion With News?" to something else—changing its name year after year. Suppose the first year they used a Dutch girl as the keystone of their advertising, and suppose that the second year they used a soaring eagle as their trade-mark. Such suppositions are foolish, but the point is this: If H-O had not stuck to a certain trade-mark, and had not adhered to that style of advertising with which every newspaper reader is familiar, would H-O be the factor that it is in the cereal market of today?

No. Any sensible man knows that H-O (and all the rest of the big successes that advertising has to its credit) has been built on repetition. It may be repetition of argument. It may be repetition of trade-mark. Probably it is repetition of all the different elements. Particularly, the repetition is probably of Mind-Display, by which at a glance the ads have continually caused the readers to say: "I have heard about that before." Thus, if the atmosphere of your advertising is kept continuous and fairly uniform—and if the Mind-Display of this week's ad enjoys a favorable fusion or harmony with the Mind-Display of the ads that have been, then there is apt to be a repetitive value which makes for a cumulative result—which will give a total of advertising benefit which will far exceed the sum of the separate benefits of the individual ads.

"Hurryup" Yost Asked To Coach Yale Squad

Great Michigan Mentor May Handle Reins at New Haven Next Year—Fielding H. Yost Has Been One of the Foremost Students of Football on Mainland—Michigan and Yale Alumni in Honolulu Take Sides on Matter—Yale Team Should Come to Front With Capable Tutor

Fielding H. Yost declares that his Yale team will be ready for the Crimson when the two squads meet in the bowl on next Saturday. This sentence may appear to be a dream, but nevertheless this may be heard along in November of 1919. Yost has been asked to handle the Yale squad for next year. When the great coach recently returned from West Point, where he helped prepare the Army team for the Navy game, the announcement was made that "Hurryup" Yost might handle the reins at New Haven next year.

That Yale intends to make a determined bid for a stronger representation on the football field is apparent in the simultaneous announcement from New Haven and Ann Arbor that Yale is negotiating with Yost to handle the football at New Haven. One statement more and there are no Yale men around who seem to come up to the mark. Michigan would be at a loss, but they have in Schulz a man who would be able to handle the reins, and Yost says the big center is one of the best students in the game.

For years prior to 1910, Yale reigned supreme on the gridiron. Blue victories were scored with monotonous regularity. It was seldom that the string of triumphs was interrupted. Since 1910 Yale has been slipping backward. Victories have been the exception rather than the rule. Yale longs to regain the prestige of other years and Yost may be the man to do it. They wanted Sharpe, who coached the Cornell team, which has no rival in the East this year except the great Pittsburgh machine, but Sharpe could not come and Yost was the man who was asked to take hold.

Yost a Winner.
If Yale is successful in its negotiations with Yost and the Michigan coach elects to come East and look after the bulldog on the gridiron, Yale will have procured a coach worthy of the name and one who could take hold and mould the Yale machine into a point scoring aggregation. If anyone can reestablish Yale—and it can be done—Yost will do it.

Yost has made a great record at Ann Arbor. This year it is true the Maroon and Blue did not win, but Yost lacked the material. In other years the Michigan mentor has developed some of the greatest players in the country, and for three years Michigan reigned supreme on the football field. Yost developed the greatest back field men that has ever appeared upon the field. This was Willie Houston, who Camp says, was the greatest player of all time. He also developed the greatest center that ever donned the mole-skins in "Germany" Schulz.

Loss to Ann Arbor.
Michigan will regret to lose the great coach and it may come to pass that the smiling coach may be seen on Ferry Field again next year, but should he decide to go to Yale, the Ellis will be the gainer, while Michigan will have a man in Schulz, one who would be a great coach at any institution. Last year Yost showed Haughton some western football when the Michigan team played Harvard off her feet, and one 155 pound halfback gained more ground than the entire Harvard team could gain. Haughton may prefer to see Hinky remain on the job.

Haughton has been supreme at Harvard. His word has been law. Sharpe has brought about the same condition at thence. Stagg has the real say at Chicago, but at Yale the coach has been a small figure in athletics. Capt. Wilson was consulted this year and ran things with the same doubtful ideas that has been noticed at Yale for some time. A Yale man, who recently returned from the mainland says that the Yale coaching system is all wrong. If Yost does decide to go to New Haven, he will be the absolute boss, and in this way the Ellis may come to the front.

Heavy damage was caused by fire which swept the sheds on the Liverpool docks. The entire fire department of the city was called out to fight the flames.

TRIO OF GAMES HOLD INTEREST AT POST ON SUNDAY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Nov. 30.—Three football games were played Sunday afternoon at Schofield, and all gridirons were centers of considerable interest and enthusiasm. Cheering was going on all over the post.

On the Castner gridiron B Battery, 1st Field Artillery, played three 10-minute quarters against the second team of the 1st Infantry, neither team scoring. For the fourth quarter the first team was sent in fresh to tackle the artillerymen, and found a much tougher proposition than 10 days ago when they defeated B Battery 39 to 0. No score was made. The wakened soldiers put up a stiff fight, and the quarter ended in a try for a goal from the field by the 1st Infantry, after they had found it impossible to make any consistent gain against the artillery's strongly developed defense.

Battery B has been developing rapidly under the coaching of Lieut. K. G. Palmer, and put up a great game against the much heavier infantrymen. Daniles played his first game at quarterback, taking the place of Gable, who is in the hospital. Ashmore, tackled after a run of 30 yards, wrenched his knee so that he will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. He is one of the fastest and most aggressive ends at Schofield.

The artillerymen played Lieut. H. E. Smith's first team to a standstill and kept the second team continually on the defensive. Palmer's playing was the main feature of the game.

25th Troop Play Quelling Contest.
In a game that was fast and furious from start to finish F Company defeated I Company 18 to 0. The game took place on the 25th Infantry football field, and most of the regiment turned out to see it. F Company's superior offensive tactics and several clever forward passes from Weatherly to the two ends, Fry and Turner, that netted long gains, were responsible for the victory. Ware was a star at bucking through the line.

I Company put up a fierce fight in the third quarter and had F Company on the defensive. A long end-run by Harris carried the ball to within 20 yards of F Company's goal. From there it was advanced to the one yard line, where I Company was held for downs, and Turner booted the oval out of all danger.

F Battery Wins from G Troop.
Another close game was played between F Battery and the husky G Troop team. The teams were so evenly matched that neither could gain any great advantage. In the third quarter a forward pass resulted in a long gain for F Battery and the ball was carried to the Cavalry's 11-yard line. On the next play McMillan, on a delayed pass, carried the ball around right end for a touchdown, the only score of the game.

On the Artillery team, Bodner was the star, and seemed to get into every play. Fleishman was the mainstay of the Cavalry aggregation.

Wichman New President Of Healani Club

Fred Wichman was elected president of the Healani Yacht and Boat Club at a meeting held last evening. Wichman has been one of the most active members of the club and in the races this year was one of the hardest workers for success. The club this year has proved to be one that has taken an active interest in the promotion of clean sport, and the program will be followed out with the inauguration of the new officers.

There are at the present time 183 active members of the club and new members will be secured the first of the year to reinforce the organization. With the advent of the Honolulu club, which proved to be strong in the first year, the Healani are working hard to make clear sweep for next year. Their success on the water during the past few years has been a big factor in local athletics, and the members are confident that with a boost by every member, the record will be kept up.

Other officers elected last evening are Herman Lempke, vice-president; A. C. Reinecke, secretary; Harry Decker, treasurer; George E. Gall, auditor; Charles Brown, captain; Charles Franz, vice-captain, Frank Dillon, commodore; George Dyson, athletic manager. The committees for the next year will be selected at the first regular meeting in December.

HONOLULU WINS MATCH.

A deferred cablegram from San Francisco this morning brings the news that the Honolulu team won the opening match of the California State Y. M. C. A. bowling league against the San Francisco Naval Association.

The total pinfall was as follows:
Honolulu, 2481; San Francisco Naval, 2278.

Since the message contains only total pinfall, it is presumed that the league management has decided to make total pins count rather than two out of three games won. A letter which is due from league headquarters to Oakland by the Great Northern will doubtless clear up all details.

Captain Stayton when interviewed over the phone this morning expressed great surprise that Honolulu had won the match with both teams so far below form. The last match played by Honolulu against Oakland showed the coaters rolling close to 2700 and the Honolulu men lost out by over 200 pins.

GIRL MANAGES BROTHER WHO HAS RECORD AS PUG

ST. PAUL.—Elizabeth Tucker is 20 years old, decidedly pretty, wealthy, and she is manager of a prize fighter. The boxer is her twin brother, Lonnie, and Elizabeth came to Minneapolis to see about getting Lonnie a match before the Minneapolis Boxing Club at a forthcoming show in the National Guard armory.

"My brother Lonnie has only been beaten once," she says, "and he's trimmed most of the good boys down our way in Oklahoma and Missouri. I know he'll be lightweight champion yet, and if I didn't know it I wouldn't tie myself up with him as manager."

"I wouldn't want to be handling a dead one. He's clever and fast, with good left and a K. O. in his right mitt."

YALE WANTS CHANCE.

Coach Guy Nickalls of Yale University crews taking part in the annual intercollegiate fixture on the Hudson in which Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Syracuse as well as perhaps Leland Stanford will compete again next summer.

NEWARK HUNTS CHAMPS.

Healani President CAPTAIN TAYLOR PICKS ALL-CITY FOOTBALL TEAM

By Capt. G. A. Taylor, G. A. C., U. S. A.
Now that the football season is over there is little left to do but to speculate on All-American, All-Southern, and why not All-Honolulu football teams? At any rate it goes no harm, unless someone is inadvertently left out and his feelings hurt. I once made up and published an All-Brown team, players of 25 years, and I will admit I left out one and possibly two that I wished afterwards that I had not—but that's another story in the building, to pervert R. K.

HONOLULU TAKE TRIO OF GAMES FROM ARMY MEN

Bowling League Standing
	P.	W.	L.
Honolulu	12	6	67
Colts	15	5	587
Service	11	7	311
Cosmos	15	6	400
P. B. C.	15	6	400
Nationals	15	3	200

The Honolulu team turned the tables on the Service team last night and won three straight games in the Y. M. C. A. bowling league. Last Monday the Army bowlers rolled over 2900 and took the Honolulu into camp easily. It was a case of the Honolulu men losing last night and their opponents in coast league form. The first game went to the Hons by a margin of 45 pins after being close all the way. George Reed turned in a 216 score, the best of the evening, but was poorly supported by some of his teammates.

The second game showed Franz in the limelight with a mark of 211 and Mills rolled 193. This gave the Honolulu the game by 70 pins. The entire Honolulu team with the exception of Mills bowled high in the last game and in spite of big scores by Mosley and Treptow, took the victory by a score of 912 to 867.

Reed did the feature work for Stayton's men while Franz proved the Honolulu star. Haring a bad start by Gear, the entire team bowled a consistent match with good scores throughout.

The results of last night's match bring the Honolulu to a tie with the Colts for first place with the Service one game behind the leaders. Tomorrow evening the Colts tackle the Nationals and this match will determine their standing in the percentage column. The P. B. C. and Cosmos meet Thursday night while the picked Honolulu team bowls against the Oakland Y. M. C. A. on Friday at 7:30, results to be exchanged by wireless.

159TH COMPANY WINS SCORE OF BASEBALL GAMES

Sergt. White's last aggregation of ball tossers from the 159th Co. G. A. C., journeyed to Fort Kamehameha Sunday afternoon and defeated the host team of that place by a score of 4 to 2. The game was well played throughout, each team having one double play to their credit. Both Smith and Critchfield pitched fine ball, but Critchfield was rather wild at the critical moments, making two wild pitches in letting in a run each time. The main feature of the game was the fielding of Stewart and Perry, both men making fine catches.

The 159th Company boys are making an excellent showing under the capable management of Sergt. White, and claim to be the best company team on the island of Oahu, having won 39 of their last 42 games. Any team wishing to attack this last aggregation will please call Sergt. White or Corpl. South of the 159th Company, Fort Ruger, H. T., telephone No. 3461.

As ends I would choose Hips and Kamehameha of Punahou. Hips is a hard-working player, while Kamehameha in addition to his abilities as a ground gainer, was the most successful passer of the season.

They are closely followed by Husey of Kamehameha. His dropkicks were as pretty as I ever saw, and he should not be left behind to economize on traveling expenses, and it is hard to pass over Carter of McKisler, who was always in the play.

At tackle I would place Gifford of Punahou and Braish of the College of Hawaii. Gifford played a fine consistent game all the season, Braish 1 place at tackle instead of in the backfield, because this year he seemed to have lost much of his 1914 speed.

Beep's Bellwin of Punahou, and Simons of Kamehameha were valuable to their teams.

As guards I would choose C. and H. Bertelmann. Their weight and strength on either side of A. Melim would make a center hard to get through. I might add that H. Bertelmann after overcoming a tendency toward roughing it a bit, showed form which with his weight and strength leads me to think that he would be a member of most any football squad in the state.

As left halfback my choice would be Captain Napthias of Punahou, to whose leadership and Mr. Midkiff's efficient coaching Punahou's light team owes its championship. C. Melim is without question the fastest thing in football shoes in these islands. On drier fields he would have just as much of the stellar stuff. Let me add that the reason for my not picking his shoulder, he dug the mid from his cleats, and ran away with Kamehameha.

The playing of Correa of Punahou appealed to me particularly during the season. He outplayed all his opponents, and played as hard a game with as little to say as he could avoid. Some of the other players might wonder in this respect after the excellent act by Punahou's plucky fullback.

Last of all comes the keystone of the whole structure, and for a captain and quarterback I naturally turn to the best and most finished player on the island, Staff Austin.

Now if, like Captain Booth, one should incline toward the strong backs, I would pick in Harry Melim, McKisler's driving little quarterback, Hawkitts of McKisler and G. Bertelmann of Kamehameha as halfbacks, and Brown of Hawaii at fullback.

Everyone may not agree with my selections, but I have endeavored to pick them without regard to race or creed, and the majority are of Hawaiian blood. If anyone questions my knowledge of Hawaiian football, suffice it to say that I saw "Sonny" Cunningham in action on the Yale team when he was a mere strapping.

COFFEY LANDS ON GUNBOAT'S POINT WINNING BATTLE

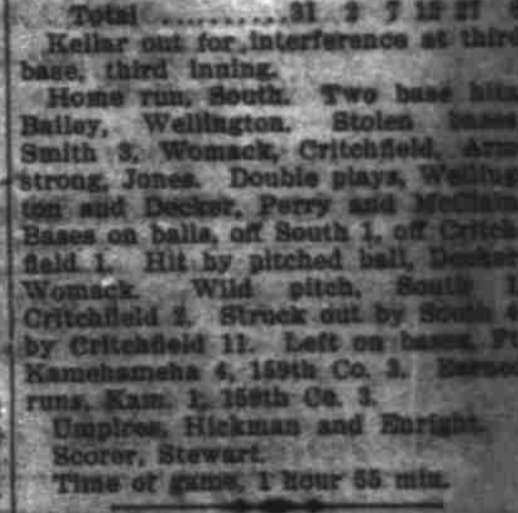

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant, who recently lost to Frank Moran, defeated Gunboat Smith here last evening in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Coffey had all the better of the match and in the fourth round sent a right hook to the point, and Smith failed to come up to the mark in the next round.

By winning over Smith Coffey may have a chance to fight Willard for the championship. Smith has been defeated by a number of second raters, but he still holds a decision over Willard which may cause the promoters to look kindly upon the Dublin lad.

ANN ARBOR REFUSES TO PLAY CALIFORNIA

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—The student council of the University of Michigan has declined an invitation from the Los Angeles alumni for the varsity to play a game of football with the University of California on New Year's day.

The reasons given today were that such a game would not be official or under college supervision.

WIFE OF BALL FAN SHOULD LEARN GAME, SAYS JUDGE
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Superior Judge Graham advised Mrs. Adella Erling, who is suing her husband, Alfred E. Erling, a merchant of Fresno, that it was her duty as the wife of a baseball fan to learn the rudiments of the national pastime and assist her spouse to root the home team to victory.

The charge of cruelty in a divorce complaint made by Mrs. Erling consisted principally of attendance at all the games played by the Fresno ball team.

Judge Graham declared such conduct was highly commendatory in a patriotic San Franciscan and that Mrs. Erling's mistake was in not going to the games, too. The hearing was postponed a week.

Kaiser William decorated Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the American ambassador, with Red Cross gold medals of the first and second class.

Your reputation will grow in the esteem of the American people when they know of the patriotic stand you have here taken.

AMERICANS. You stand third in numbers. Your interests here are great. Property I do not wish to speak of, but principles and civilization that build the character and permanency of a nation must be your incentive.

PORTUGUESE. Long have you maintained a faithful interest in the National Guard, and your enrollment discloses your determination to bear your share in protecting the homes you so industriously build and make attractive and worthy of a domestic people.

CHINESE-AMERICANS. Hawaii has been a kindly place for your race, and, as the years have passed, you have gradually absorbed, not only the material advantages, but the spirit of American institutions.

BRITISH-AMERICANS. Your presence in the National Guard of Hawaii we could not fail to expect for the breadth of view of a common tongue commands your allegiance.

GERMAN-AMERICANS. No nation so appreciates the imperative need of preparedness as your fatherland and we well anticipated our local necessity would appeal to you, and you have responded.

JAPANESE-AMERICANS. A nation so suddenly loosened from restricted bounds and ideas must have a strong hold on its own people as they scatter over the world.

MEN IN THE RANKS. There must always be a substitute on which to build society, national greatness and national strength. It is the test of manhood when intelligent and independent men are willing to be organized into a mass and subordinate individuality into an irresistible force for the establishment and perpetuation for their country's worthy spirit, civilization and progress.

OFFICERS OF THE GUARD. On you depends the constant spirit, efficiency and maximum numbers in training of the National Guard during the dullness that tries men's souls.

THE REGULAR ARMY. The Commanding Generals and Officers of the Hawaiian Department have been our sincere and deeply interested friends. Their advice has been sound.

BRIGADIER GENERAL COMMANDING. To you may the people of Hawaii, the War Department and the Federal Administration acknowledge the rapid organization and relative great numbers of the National Guard.

CITIZENS AND THE GUARD. To those who are seduced from the records of history into a sentimental intangible security repeat with me the words and fact.

"We of the Hawaiian Islands can neither depart therefrom, retreat, nor hide, nor can any mature male avoid participation."

JAPAN WILL ASK FOR SHARE IN SETTLING PROBLEMS IN EUROPE

Will Not Be Satisfied With Participation Only in Asiatic Side of Conference

(By Associated Press) TOKYO, Japan.—That Japan expects to be fully represented at the peace conference following the international war to discuss questions relating to Europe as well as to the Orient was set forth by Premier Count Okuma in speeches made this week to members of Parliament and members of political parties.

The statesman remarked that there was only one obstacle in the way of Japanese participation and that was the race prejudice of some European nations against the Japanese.

He urged greater efforts and enlightened investigation with the object of removing these prejudices.

EAGLES THRIVING IN NORTHERN SCOTLAND LONDON, England.—Owing to strict preservation, eagles are increasing rapidly in numbers among the Scottish Highlands and nearby islands.

Frank Robinson, 66, mayor of Bangor, Me., died at his home there after an illness of several months.

FUR MUFFS WILL BE WELCOME ON EASTERN FRONT

(Associated Press) BERLIN, Germany.—Fur muffs for soldiers are the latest recommendation of the versatile General von Buelow.

The recommendation is made in reply to an inquiry which the Tagblatt addressed to all the German army commanders, asking for suggestions as to the most appropriate gifts for soldiers at the front.

Other commanders mention slippers, warm socks, handkerchiefs, candles, old carpets, tooth brushes, writing materials, and suspenders.

PEK VALLEY IN SERBIA MAY BE NEW KLONDYKE

BALONIKI.—The valley of the Pek, in northern Serbia, which the Germans occupied early in their Serbian campaign, may one day rank with the Klondike, for many Serbians believe that it is rich in gold.

The total output of gold from the smaller placer workings has averaged about $1,000 a year for several seasons. Occasional nuggets of considerable size have been found, and there is evidence that the Romans drew gold supplies from this region.

GERMANY WILL SEND MANY PROFESSORS TO TURKISH UNIVERSITY

BERLIN, Germany.—The negotiations which have been on foot for some time with the object of supplying the University of Constantinople with a considerable staff of German professors have been concluded, and 17 chairs in the university are to be filled from Berlin.

The subjects to be covered by the German faculty include the following branches: Philosophy, pedagogy, psychology, history of ancient Oriental nations, methodology of history, geography, geology, botany, zoology, chemistry, public jurisprudence, civil law, philology and comparative Semitic philology.

Five years' time and an expenditure of approximately $2,000,000 is required for the thorough reorganization of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company.
