ON THE KLONDYKE

F. P. Hemen Returns From Seattle With Much Information.

SPRINGTIME THE TIME TO GO

Speaks With a Friend Just Returned.

Says There Is Plenty of Room for All—Money Lies Around Only to Be Picked Up.

Among the arrivals from Vancouver on the C.-A. S. S. Miowera Monday was F. P. Hemen, a former resident of Seattle, but now of this city. He has been on a short visit to relatives and friends in his old home, and returns brimful of information on the recent boom in that place and the exciting scenes of people flocking to the Klondyke from all parts of the world on the hunt after the gold that glitters. His information is of particular value, since it has been obtained from friends of his who have been right to the Klondyke and who have, with their own hands, dug out the soil that contained the coveted gold dust.

"You begin by asking me what the prospects are for people who are thinking of going to the Klondyke," said Mr. Hemen. "and I tell you that the stories of the wealth of the country are not exaggerated. The prospects are of the best for men who do not become easily discouraged. To show you that I have confidence in what the Klondyke soil will yield, I have urged my two sons to go up and try their luck. They will leave in the spring."
"Why in the spring? Simply because it is the height of folly for people unacquainted with the country, and yet without a claim, to attempt to go up during the winter. The place is all frozen up, and, in order to keep from freezing to death, one must build a cabin as a shelter. There is nothing for him to do but await the spring. When this comes on and a claim is located, it will probably be found a great distance away from the cabin. Then there is an additional plikika. I would advise people to wait for the spring. No prospecting is done until then. There is plenty of room and plenty of time. When the springtime comes, things will be brighter. Just now, people hurry to the Klondyke to find a frozen country. They become discouraged, throw down their tools and return to where they came from totally disheartened and with all the money they had saved up gone for nothing.

"Perhaps what I heard from a friend of mine, who has been to the Klondyke himself, will have more weight than if I were to give you information gleaned from various sources. A couple of years ago, a Mr. Kelly, a Seattle man, became very much tied up in business matters. He went to the Klondyke and, about a fortnight before I returned home, came back with enough money to pay off all his mortgages and to insure him a comfortable living for the rest of his life. His sons are now on the claim in the Klondyke, and will work during the winter. Mr. Kelly will return in the spring.
"He says that the ground in winter is frozen for about 100 feet down. At this depth is the bed-rock, in which it is to be found the most gold, although the soil above is very rich in itself.
"When a claim is granted, the prospectors build their cabins in convenient places and set to work immediately. Great fires are built out of the timber that is so abundant, and the ground is thawed out. The soil is then soft for some distance down, and this is dug up and set aside. When the limit of

BROWN-ATKINSON

CHURCH BEAUTIFULLY DRESSED

Thronged With Relatives and Friends.

Interesting Scenes on the Wharf. Showers of Rice and Flowers.

The chancel of St. Andrew's Cathedral was most beautifully decorated yesterday morning, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Arthur M. Brown, Marshal of the Republic of Hawaii, to Miss Maisie Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alatau T. Atkinson. The prevailing colors were green and white, and seldom have more artistic decora-while in the seat on the opposite side were the mother of the groom and relatives.

At five minutes before 10 o'clock, Mr. Wray Taylor, who presided at the organ, commenced to play a wedding march by Hime. Before the last strains of the march had died away the bridal party was announced, and the choir of the Second Congregation sang the hymn, "How Welcome Was the Call," while the bridal party marched slowly up the aisle to the chancel, where they were met by the Rev. Alex. Mackintosh, who performed the ceremony. Miss Zoe Atkinson was maid of honor, and Maj. George C. Potter the best man. The bride was given away by her father, Alatau T. Atkinson, and the responses by both bride and groom were quite audible. As the first part of the ceremony proceeded, the music of De Koven's song, "Oh, Promise Me," could be heard, being played very softly on the organ. As the party marched to the altar, the psalm, "Blessed Are All They That Fear the Lord," was sung to a chant. The organ was subdued. Mr. Mackintosh finished the marriage service, and the whole party filed out to the vestry to sign the register. While this was being done, the choir and organ rendered a wedding march by Warneford, which is only used on the occasion of the marriage of a member of the Cathedral's Second Congregation choir. When the newly-married couple left the Cathedral, it was to the strains of Wagner's "Bridal March," from "Lohengrin."
The bride was attired in a white silk dress, covered with embroidered white chiffon, with pearl trimmings and Honiton lace. The hat which she wore was trimmed with white feathers, and a bunch of maiden-hair ferns, tied with a white satin ribbon, was carried.
Miss Atkinson, the maid of honor, wore lavender silk, covered with white muslin, figured with violets. Her hat was of white chiffon, decorated with violets and gauze ribbon. A bunch of shaded purple asters was carried.
Mrs. Atkinson, mother of the bride, wore lavender, with a white organdie overdress figured with chrysanthemums. Trimmings were of black French lace. Her bonnet was of shaded lilacs.
The groom and George C. Potter, his best man, as well as the four ushers—Robert W. Atkinson, A. St. M. Mackintosh, J. Q. Wood and J. O. Carter, Jr.—were dressed in spotless white from head to foot.

The wedding ceremony over, the newly-married couple left the church, and followed by the maid of honor and best man, got into an open carriage and were driven to the McGrew residence, on Hotel street, remaining only long enough for the bride to don her traveling dress.
In the meantime, a large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Brown had gathered at the Inter-Island wharf to say good-bye before their departure on the honeymoon trip to Molokai on the steamer Mauna Loa. Deputy Marshal Hitchcock, Chester Doyle, J. A. Gilman and the ushers had bought a bag of rice and were safely stowed away on the upper deck of the Mauna Loa.
Captain Parker arrived soon after the service with a number of the best-looking and largest men on the police force. A pathway was cleared through the crowd to the gangway, and the officers stationed in two rows to keep people from pushing in again.
It was about 10:45 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Brown arrived at the wharf, the latter in a natty white duck traveling dress, with a white sailor hat. They alighted and stood for fully 10 minutes bidding adieu to their friends. Then when they finally started toward the gangway a shower of marguerites, white roses and pale asters followed them.
At the foot of the gangway Marshal Brown cast one look upwards and there saw several hands raised. In a moment a shower of rice came down on the two people struggling to reach the gangway.
More congratulations and wishes for a bon voyage on the deck of the Mauna Loa, more white leis and rice, and then the steamer set out for Pukoo. There the Deputy Marshal's whaleboat thawed ground is reached another fire is built and more thawed out. So the work goes on from day to day.

"Kelly showed me samples of the dirt, and I must say it certainly is rich. To illustrate this point I would say that, during last spring, Kelly and his sons dug out a lot of soil to work on during the winter. It was estimated that there was about $2,000 in the pile. It was not considered worth the while to wash this, and it was given to a friend, who succeeded in getting $4,800 out of the pile.
"There is plenty to do for those who want to go up. Kelly says that as far as prospecting is concerned, the whole Pacific States couldn't prospect it in 20 years. When he left the Klondyke only 100 miles had been staked off on tions been seen in the Cathedral. Potted ferns and palms and pampas grass were distributed in such a manner as to make a perfect background of green, over which was scattered white asters, calla lilies, marguerites and stephanotis.

Just here it might be interesting to know that all the ferns and palms in the Cathedral, were grown and carefully cared for by the bride during her spare moments at home. In this work she took a great deal of pleasure.
The ceremony was announced for 10 o'clock, but some time before that hour the church was filled with invited guests. The mother of the bride occupied the front seat on the right side, met Mr. and Mrs. Brown and took them ashore. A short ride overland and they were at the home of J. K. Brown, a brother of the groom, where a three-weeks' honeymoon will be spent. Many beautiful presents were received by the happy couple. The choir of the Second Congregation, of which the bride has been a valued member for several years, sent a gold St. Andrew's cross pin and an illuminated address. The police force did not forget Marshal Brown, and they turned out in a body at the Cathedral, forming on either side of the driveway as the bride and groom left the church for the steamer.

TOTAL REGISTRATION.

Considerable Decrease in Number of Voters.

The effect of that clause in the Constitution relating to the payment of taxes prior to January 31, 1897, is noticeable in the registration books for the group. In monarchical times the vote polled for Representatives was approximately 14,000. At the first election under the Republic it was 4,436, the difference being, presumably, those Hawaiians, whose faith in the restoration of the monarchy was yet strong.

The reason given by the natives for not signing the oath to the Republic is that they still hope for restoration, and many of these people will continue to hope until the time comes to elect territorial delegates to Congress, when the Islands are a part of the United States. Then, perhaps, they will realize that restoration is a lost cause, take the oath and exercise their right of franchise.

This year the Portuguese are taking no interest in the election and few of them have registered. Some of them were willing, but neglected to pay their taxes within the limit of time, and for this reason the registered voters for the year is only 2,687, against 4,436 at the last election.

Of the different Islands, Kauai shows the largest percentage of voters to the population. Following is the official list of registered electors:

- HAWAII.
First District, 536; Second District, 530. Total, 1,066.
- MAUI, MOLOKAI AND LANAI.
Third District, 384.
- OAHU.
Fourth District, 459; Fifth District, 357. Total, 816.
- KAUAI AND NIHAU.
Sixth District, 421.
- SUMMARY.
Hawaii, 1,066; Maui, 384; Oahu, 816; Kauai, 421. Total, 2,687.

STABBING AFFRAY.

Native Under Influence of Drink Stabs Himself.

At 6:15 p. m. yesterday a telephone message was received at the Police Station to the effect that a native in Kakaako had stabbed himself and was in a very bad state. Lieutenant Holl, with two officers, were sent to the scene in the police wagon.

The tragedy occurred in the house at the turn of Punchbowl street, near the water front, and upon the arrival of the police Dr. Wayson was found there working over Pua, the native who had stabbed himself. Dr. Wayson considered the man's condition such that he was placed in the police wagon and taken to the Queen's Hospital, where he lies in a very much weakened condition, the effect of loss of blood.

The stabbing was the result of a drunken row, in which Pua was censured by his wife. He took offense and left the room, telling his sister that he intended stabbing himself. Little was thought until some time afterwards the man was missing, and a search disclosed him lying on the floor of a side room. The wound had the appearance of having been made with a pocket knife, but a careful search failed to reveal it. That the man stabbed himself is merely his statement; the fact that the weapon could not be found would indicate that the wound was inflicted by some one else during a drunken row. The people had been drinking swipes all day and a disagreement occurred just before the stabbing. The wound was about two inches deep and is on the left breast, on a line with the heart, showing that a good job was intended.

Old Resident Endorses.

MR. EDITOR:—Permit a few more words in your columns on the subject so admirably introduced by "Tourist" yesterday.

Most hearty endorsement of every word can be given by one, who has, for many years, been obliged to witness this cruelty in transporting beef cattle to Honolulu markets; and never without a shudder! All remonstrances made have been met with mocking laughter. The suggestion made by "Tourist" of "cold storage" has been utterly impossible until quite lately. But now it may be realized, and if the fine, healthy cattle of the mountain-sides could be transported to our markets uninjured, health would be in our beef, rather than a feeling of loathing.

AN OLD RESIDENT.

Honolulu, August 17, 1897.

It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr. R. E. Robey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale by all druggists and dealers: Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for Hawaiian Islands.

NEGRO HOUSE SERVANTS.

Mr. Gardner Will Take Orders Before His Departure.

As there seems to be a delay on the part of the plantation managers to employ negro field labor, Mr. Gardner, who came to the Islands for the purpose of supplying that class of labor, has yielded to the requests made by a number of householders and will supply them with colored house servants direct from the South.

Only bona-fide orders will be filled, and the number depends entirely upon the orders handed into him before his departure by the Australia. The servants will include cooks, coachmen, yard-men and nurses. Any one who has traveled in the South remembers with pleasure the delicious fried chicken and corn bread prepared by the darkies at the hotels, or in the private houses. The recollection is enough to cause them to dispense with the Asiatics and secure the darkies. It may be possible in the near future, for mothers to leave their children with a faithful old "mammie," instead of a Japanese amah, and the sight of the red bandana will be a familiar one in Honolulu. White female servants have been brought to the Islands time and again, but they have generally struck up a love match and married. The house servants Mr. Gardner will send here will be married couples of good character.

A REMARKABLE CURE OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt, write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by all druggists and dealers; Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for Hawaiian Islands.

TAX APPEAL CASES
Hilo Court Has Been Crowded With Them.
 New Workmen's Club Holds its Second Meeting—Candidates for Representatives.

HILO, Hawaii, August 16.—The all-absorbing topic of conversation and argument this week has been the tax appeal cases, which have been tried before Judges Hitchcock and Barnard and Philip Peck. There were 13 cases brought before the board, none of which were submitted for argument before all had been heard. The arguments presented by Attorney Kinney for the plantations, and Attorney Wilder for the Government, occupied the evening hours from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. It will require several days' type-writing before the cases can be reviewed. Monday morning the appeal case of Frank Winter, who objects to taxing coffee lands, comes up before the board. Judge Barnard sentenced nine of the Chinese arrested at Papaaloa to four months' imprisonment at hard labor and acquitted one. The remaining cases will be heard on September 7th.

At a public meeting of citizens, held last evening, the names of G. K. Wilder, Luther Jaynes, E. E. Richards, A. B. Loebenstein and Mr. Blaco were proposed as candidates for the coming election for Representatives. On Wednesday last an auction sale of the old Hilo Hotel building took place. The main building went to G. F. Little for $250 and the dining room and cook house for $115. Mr. Van Inget was the successful bidder for the bath house at $20 and Mr. Severance bought the remnants for $5. The new hotel will soon be in running order. Most of the cottages have already been spoken for. The old buildings are to be removed within three weeks' time. The Workmen's Club, recently established in Hilo, held its second meeting last Saturday evening. It is the purpose of the club to endeavor to own its own home, which it proposes making as attractive and comfortable as possible, with reading rooms and social hall. A number of new members were received. The young organization seems full of enthusiasm on the subject.

The Olaa and Hilo Baseball Teams crossed bats Saturday afternoon. Only seven innings were played, the Hilos gaining a victory by one run. A public reception was given by the Hilo Mercantile Company last evening in their spacious new store building. Excellent music was furnished for dancing, and cooling lemonades and punches were accessible all evening. Mr. Mason proved himself a genial host and was untiring in his efforts to give every one a good time. The new store is handsomely fitted up, and the large stock is attractively arranged. A large number of the friends of Manager and Mrs. Ross at Hakalau responded to their invitations to be present at a social dance at their beautiful new home. The place was splendidly illuminated with lanterns swung in the trees and all around the broad verandas. An orchestra of Hawaiian musicians furnished excellent music, and the dancing, feasting and jollity continued into the morning hours. Nearly every dining table on this side of the island was represented by the numerous guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Scott entertained the Monday Evening Whist Club at their last bi-weekly meeting. A wagonette conveyed 10 of the party to the Scott home, where a pleasant evening was passed in the usual way. Word has been received by the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hobson that, owing to continued ill-health of Mr. Hobson, he is advised by his physicians not to return to Hilo for some time. In consequence their household goods will be sold.

Mr. Ernest Wodehouse is seen about our Hilo streets almost daily. Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Le Blond, parents of F. C. Le Blond, arrived on the last Kinau. Miss Margaret Harrison, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Hardy, for some weeks returns to Honolulu today. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Richards and their two children leave per Kinau today, and hope to reach Kona by Wednesday, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. August.

Miss Isabel Kelley spent last week at Pepeekeo, and is the guest of Mrs. J. R. Wilson at present. A tourist party, composed of Professor and Mrs. Smith and several Stanford University students, spent last week sightseeing in and about Hilo. They returned to Honolulu by way of the Volcano. Mrs. B. F. Dillingham and daughter are guests of Mrs. L. Severance. Miss Eleanor Sisson has returned from Olaa, after a month's vacation at the Sisson coffee plantation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kennedy and their two sons arrived in New York on the 3d of August. Mrs. Kennedy had been quite ill in San Francisco. Manager Hewitt and family, from Naalehu, are in town this week. Mrs. Paty and daughter of Pahala, are guests of Mrs. Barnard at Laupahoehoe. Misses Severance and Guild and Miss Nellie Porter returned from the metropolis this week. The bark Annie Johnson leaves port tomorrow morning with 27,500 bags of sugar. C. S. Bradford and John Kelsaw are the only passengers. The past week there has been regular old-fashioned Hilo weather. Rain has fallen copiously in Kona, and in Hamakua there has also been heavy rain. Honokaa had a share also, and the cane is brightening up in consequence. A daughter was born last Sunday morning to Dr. and Mrs. Williams. On the same day Mrs. Wm. Ebeling gave birth to a daughter, also.

HOW TO FIND OUT.
 You are wondering what to get for Summer. Take a half-hour to see what has imported for this particular Summer—1897.
M. McINERNY
 You are under no obligation to buy. If you've made up your mind beforehand not to buy, come in all the same. If you've made up your mind to buy elsewhere, still come in. We'll show you everything; we want you to see it. The fact that you've made up your mind beforehand shows that you've done some thinking about your clothes. You shall do more, if you come; and you shall be better able to suit yourself at Jones', or Brown's or Robinson's.
 We shall be glad to have every man, that has made up his mind against us, make this use of our store—call it school if you like—no school was ever freer. Your money back if you want it.
 We don't intend to let any man in this town be a stranger.

THE CONSERVATIVES.

There is much foolish, unfair and impatient criticism of those who have not seen, and do not see, the close connection between "reciprocity" and annexation.

Others look to annexation as the means of securing perpetual peace and stability, in a community so largely dominated physically with the mixed races.

But it is now safe to state most emphatically that, from the point of view taken by those who perhaps control affairs in the United States, annexation and reciprocity are locked together.

For many years the Hawaiian affair has made no issue in the States. General Garfield and others said, in 1875, that reciprocity with Hawaii was a very small affair.

These new conditions force the political leaders to take a new attitude. The Republican Senators seem disposed to concede to the enemies of reciprocity that it is not a fair trade arrangement and should be modified.

The dominant political leaders, however, insist on the vast political importance of the Islands to the States. They concede, also, that if the States do not care to annex the Islands, there is no further use for reciprocity as now arranged, and it should be modified or terminated.

Beyond question our case is a most complicated one, for reasons which need not now be stated. It is not strange that Europeans and even Americans with large property interests should be conservative, and hardly be touched by the arguments of annexationists here, who are naturally governed by patriotic sentiments.

Before this considerable conservative interest there is a simple question of fact. Are, or are not, the commercial advantages now enjoyed by Hawaii dependent on annexation? We have given some reasons, which convince us that they are so dependent.

It's the world's history, so far, that conservatism generally cuts its own throat. Unless men in all the relations of life adapt themselves to the constantly new conditions which Progress creates, they end in "dry rot."

MARRIED: BROWN-ATKINSON.

Do you recall that touching incident in the "Autocrat"? The lovers are walking on the common, and suddenly they stand at the parting of two-paths, one of them longer than the other.

We, who count many milestones behind us on the great highway, have passed many stormy lakes of marriage, many muddy horse ponds of celibacy, and have looked over the fences into many rare and beautiful gardens of happy marriages.

"Oh tre and tried, so well and long Demand not thou a marriage lay, In that it is thy marriage day, Is music more than any song."

Here is a curious question in morals. The Faculty of the Stanford University, in California, strictly forbid the use or sale of alcoholic drinks on the university grounds.

If President Hosmer raised alligator pears on the college grounds and forbade the students to eat them, on the ground that they "made men into beasts," could he send them into town and sell them to innocent boys and girls?

It is said that when ex-President Harrison delivered lectures to the Stanford students several years ago, he brought wine with him, as he was in the habit of using it. But the students stole and broke up the cases of wine while the ex-President was absent.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when you are sick; if it cures your neighbors and your friends when they are ailing; if it makes wonderful cures of many diseases everywhere, then beyond any question that medicine possesses merit.

Made

Cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently cures, when all others fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to possess merit or the power to cure disease; it is known to be the best building-up medicine on earth; it is known to be honestly advertised, and for these reasons the people buy and take Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of other preparations.

MANOA NATIVE.

Enters a House and Takes Possession as Owner.

At an early hour this morning a mounted patrolman, armed with a warrant, will go into Manoa Valley for the purpose of arresting Koa, a native, who has proven by his actions, to have more than the ordinary amount of "calm assurance."

It seems that he had for some time past been living at the home of Manuel Rosa, in Manoa. There was a difference, and, on Sunday last, Koa was told he could seek shelter elsewhere. He turned on Manuel Rosa, who delivered the message, and a fight was the result. Later Koa left and went to the house of a native woman, nearby. The owner was living in town and had locked the doors and fastened the windows.

This did not trouble Koa in the least, so he procured a key, opened the front door, walked in and took possession. His first act was to smash everything in sight. Then he opened various trunks and drawers and helped himself to watches, revolvers and other things. Part of his plunder he removed to another place for safe-keeping. Then Koa settled down as master of the house, remaining there until Friday.

On that day the owner of the house returned and, finding Koa in the house and everything about the place smashed, made inquiries in no particularly good humor. She threatened the man with arrest. This seemed to have good effect, for he went away and returned with most of his plunder. However, this did not satisfy her, and a warrant for his arrest was sworn to.

Rain in the Mountains.

Chief Justice Judd returned from the other side of the Island a few days since. The journey to Honolulu was made with some difficulty on account of the great amount of water in the streams that were forded. The heavy rains, to which this was due, appear to have been confined to the mountains in the northern end of the Island. The plains on either side received very little of the water, and the Honolulu end of the Island went dry also.

All along the route the uplands were fresh and green and vegetation appeared to have received a fresh start. There was very little indication of the rains on the lowlands except in the streams. In fording one of these, in particular, it was necessary for one of the horsemen of the party to cross 16 times to transport the baggage. The water came to the sides of the high horse. In fording with the brake the water reached nearly to the seat. These heavy showers fell at about the time the thunder storm passed over Maui.

KATIE PUTNA FAREWELLS.

Large Audience at Opera House Last Night.

Katie Putnam's farewell to Honolulu at the Opera House last night was a success in every way. The play, "Erma the Elf," partakes of the sensational in some respects, but there is, without enough straight business to please everyone. Miss Putnam's songs, as usual, won the audience, and while she sang four songs last night, the audience would have sat through the night to have heard as many more.

The little artist was the recipient of many floral tributes and tremendous applause during the evening. The members of the company acquitted themselves well in their respective parts. Mr. Emery as the benevolent and kind-hearted uncle, being unusually good.

Accidental Drowning.

The Coroner's jury in the case of Hung Lan, the 14-year-old Chinese girl found dead in the reservoir on Ah In's rice plantation, Kalih, at about 12 noon Monday, sat in the Deputy Marshal's office yesterday and rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. Evidence was to the effect that Hung Lan went into the reservoir with another girl for the purpose of catching shrimps. After the fishing had gone on for some time, she told her friend to return to the house to take care of the children. When the latter got back to the reservoir she found Hung Lan floating in the water face down. Help arrived and the body was taken out.

Hung Lan has been here but a year. Her mother and father are both in China, she having come out to Hawaii under the guardianship of a relative.

the north side. The other side had hardly been touched, although rich diggings had been found there, too.

"A great deal has been said about the danger from thieves and cut-throats in the Klondyke. It was given to me as a fact that people were in the habit of leaving containers of gold dust outside their cabins when off to work, and not a bit had ever been known to be touched. Of course, there is no telling what things may happen in two or three years from now, but at the present time there is absolutely no danger. Then, too, the laws are very rigid, and it is hardly probable that any one is going to run any risks.

"There is plenty of money up there to be had for the digging. Libbey, of whom your readers have all heard, says that nothing in California was ever known to equal the Klondyke. One party returned recently with $165,000, which had been gathered in six months. The sluice boxes had to be cleaned out four or five times.

"Now, then, something as to transportation. Two days before I left Seattle the steamer Walla Walla, from San Francisco, arrived with 500 people bound for the Klondyke. Some of these were provided with horses. At that time it was claimed a steamer would leave Seattle every day in the spring. There are a great many steamers in Seattle now, and in the summer the place will be flooded. The passage from Seattle to Dawson City is $150 for first-class and $125 for second-class. This allows each one only 150 pounds of baggage, but in the spring the passage will be much less and people will be allowed to take their supplies, etc. But then by that time there will be no need for any one to take supplies, as there will be plenty at the Klondyke.

"A great many people go overland from Dyea to the lakes, a distance of 27½ miles, and haul their stuff across the divide. Once there, they can easily procure boats. After having gone down the rapids by the aid of long ropes, it is a matter of only 500 miles (100 miles a day) to Dawson City.

"Two surveying parties left Seattle recently to survey two railroads, these to strike into the headwaters of the Yukon. Next spring these will be built from Dyea to the rapids and from there little steamers will take the people to Dawson City. The company claims that the roads will be ready by next August. The material will be shipped into Dyea this winter.

"Two crews of ships' carpenters are now in St. Michael putting up steamers for the Yukon. The frames are made in Seattle and shipped to that place. The Alaska Trading Company has a number of steamers running up the river now with stores and building material. I might say here that flour is $12 per 100 pounds and lumber $1 a foot. The competition in the spring will lower this materially.

"While I am on this point, I may as well say something about what can be made by laborers and others at the Klondyke to show that the prices charged for material and provisions is nicely offset. A laborer gets $15 a day and the cost of living is about $4 for the same time. Ten or eleven dollars a day saved is no bad. A meal is $1 and a drink the same.

"A lady went to the Klondyke not long ago and set up a bakery. She bought 100 pounds of flour for $12, made on an average of 130 loaves from one bag and sold a loaf for 60 cents, a profit of about $60 on a bag. Of course, you must understand that all of this is paid for in gold dust, weighed out in the scales. If there is not quite enough dust in the scales, there is never a failure to call for the requisite amount, but if the scales should happen to go down with a bump, no dust is taken out to balance them.

"The Klondyke is not the only place where gold has been found recently. Some very rich mines have been struck east of the mountains in the State of Washington. Nuggets worth all the way from $100 to $800 have been taken out. When I was in Seattle a large pile was placed in one of the show windows of a leading jewelry store. Then again some rich placer diggings have been struck in the Olympic range, between Seattle and the Coast. The soil is extremely rich, and people are going there, too.

"All this has created a great boom in Seattle. The town is hung with pictures at various places, representing prospectors going to the Klondyke in all sorts of ways. For blocks along the streets, provisions, done up in waterproof canvas coverings, are piled up several feet high for the many who have sent in their orders.

"The hotels cannot hold the people, and many are forced to get lodgings wherever they can, some even being forced to the very outskirts of the city."

Was Not a Snake.

Fish inspector Kellipio was a very much surprised man one day last week when a native fisherman handed him a striped yellow and brown creature about three feet long, which he explained had been caught with a hook while fishing in the deep water off Diamond Head. The appearance was so much like a snake that Mr. Kellipio took the creature to Dr. Alvarez who, after searching through his books, handed it to some Portuguese who, at one time, had been fishermen in the Azores. They explained that it was a species of the eel, quite common in their own country. Dr. Alvarez said that he had, like Mr. Kellipio, never seen the eel in these waters before. Its body was round and the tail tapering off to a point just exactly like a snake. Its head too was flattened and the teeth were those of a reptile. "In the Azores," said Dr. Alvarez, "the natives use the flesh for food and declare that its flavor is very fine."

Foolish

To say much about our cut-glass, but then there are so many weddings this month, that it occurred to us that a suggestion might not come amiss.

Glass is such a close second to silver for wedding gifts, and you are so apt to choose the former, that we want to impress upon you again, the great merits of

Hawke's Cut- Glass

So much glass is on the market today—cut-glass to be sure, but finished in a cheap manner by dipping in acids, which gives it a temporary lustre, but which fades as soon as put in use—that extreme care must be exercised when purchasing this class of goods.

"Hawke's glass" being the finest in existence, no question need ever be raised as to its permanent finish. It is guaranteed to be hand finished throughout.

"Hawke's glass" is also the cheapest, because it has more honest cutting to the square inch than any other make at the same price; and above all it is the "whitest" glass in existence today.

Prices range from $2 to $50; a range sufficient for a purchase of any amount.

A Complaint.

The residents of the locality known as Konawai, just off Leliha street, above School, are complaining about the nightly brawls that occur there now. Swipes seems to pour into the place until it has become a rendezvous for toughs from all over the city, who drink until they are maudlin and then start up a row which lasts sometimes until daylight. The people making the complaint say that it is impossible to get a police officer there, and mounted patrolmen pass by without paying any attention to the row.

Chinese Gamblers.

At 1 a. m. yesterday Charles Chillingworth and Henry Vida went to the gambling headquarters near the wash-house in Iwilei, and entering by means of a ladder, the place where the money was being passed over the board, surprised the Chinese gamblers so that they sat spellbound. They had secured themselves in such good style against the invasions of police officers that they were themselves unable to get out. In the Police Court yesterday afternoon four plead guilty to the charge of gambling and were fined $10 and costs. One turned State's evidence and was discharged. The cases of the remaining four were nolle pross'd.

SHOES: That's All.

We are not bothered with an endless number of stocks. We do not sell dress goods, rakes, ice cream freezers, corsets, or mackerel: Shoes are the one, the sole stock in which we are interested—on which we fix our minds. By concentrating our thought and energy in the shoe business alone we are enabled to keep a close watch on the market; to know where and when good things are to be had in footwear; to secure the very best terms—in short, to serve you better and with more economy than is possible with any house trying to keep a dozen-and-one businesses balanced on one mental and financial pole.
