

JAPANESE STRIKE ON PLANTATIONS.

Manager Campbell of Puna Meets Serious Trouble.

THREATS TO KILL LUNAS

THE PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION OF HILO DISTRICT TAKES ACTION.

Items of Interest from the Rainy City—Organization of Militia.

Latest Racing News.

Japanese contract laborers on many of the plantations are taking advantage of the organic act which makes them free men. A number of the laborers for the Olan Sugar Company and the Waialea Mill Company struck work on Friday last, and on Saturday the Hakalau men took a fling at freedom. On Monday the laborers at Amanu decided to "Hilo go," and they are here.

So far there has been no violence, except on the Puna plantation. There the Japanese are acting like a lot of Indians, and the end is not yet. On Thursday last the men called at the office of the manager in a body and demanded the return of their contracts and tax receipts. Manager Campbell informed them that this was impossible, as the contracts were the only guarantee the plantation had that the men would not run away, and if they did that these contracts provided that the immigration company would refund any money that the plantation might lose through the laborers leaving.

Baid Adjoining Lands.

There was a long parley and finally the men left, but did not return to work. On Friday morning they started to run loose over the lands of the plantation and those adjoining. Henry Lyman complained to Manager Campbell that his laborers were raiding the potato patch of an old native and had stolen a lot of the vegetables and that they had also gone on the Lyman lands and stolen old apples and raided the fishing rights. The manager informed Mr. Lyman that he would have to seek assistance of the Police Department, and, if necessary, make arrests. Lyman secured aid and went back to his lands and found five Japanese carrying fish and apples to the shore. He followed the Japanese and cut on the ear. The men then went to the plantation office, and Mr. Campbell said they had better see the deputy sheriff. On his arrival there was talk of arrests. The manager said the man who cut the ear should be arrested and the laborers should also be taken in charge. This was not satisfactory to the Japanese, for they wanted to take the native and treat him in their own way. A wrangle over this matter lasted for a time, and then the men disappeared, returning to the plantation and demanding their contracts. Manager Campbell again declined, but informed the men that from that day their pay would be $16 per month.

Demand Tax Receipts.

This did not satisfy them, as they had been informed by the representative of the immigration company that they would be paid $17 per month. They said that either the manager of the plantation or the representative of the immigration company had lied to them, and they would not work until they had seen a delegation to Honolulu to confer with the company. Manager Campbell said this was satisfactory and for them to select their men. They demanded tax receipts for their delegates, and the manager declined to surrender them unless they deposited $5 for each man. Another wrangle followed, and the men agreed to the plan, but when the names were presented it was found that the men had gone to work after January 1 and the plantation had no tax receipts for them. This was not accepted by the Japanese, and the he was passed again, and the men left for the camp, returning again in an hour armed with clubs and hoses.

Reinforcements Arrive.

In the meantime reinforcements had arrived and the Deputy Sheriff Elders were in several natives as deputies. Manager Campbell judged by the actions of the Japanese that they intended raiding the office and securing their contracts, and to prevent this the plantation lunas and four deputations named at the office and prepared to resist any attack that might be made. The lunas had pistols but very little ammunition, and Deputy Elders carried an unloaded revolver. A rush was made, and Jack Neill and the second lunas pulled their guns and fired in the air. Then the crowd dispersed, and later on Manager Campbell sent to the camp and requested a delegation to meet him at the office. On their arrival he informed them that under their contract with the plantation they were to be furnished with house, water and medicine, but these accommodations were to be theirs only on condition of their going to work. If they were not going to work they must get off the plantation. The men then returned to their quarters.

Lights Ordered Out.

Late in the afternoon Manager Campbell received half a dozen notices as reinforcements, and each brought a musical instrument. The men took seats in front of the luna's house and began singing, much to the bewilderment of the laborers. At 9 o'clock that night the bell was rung for "lights out," and the quarters were at once shrouded in darkness. At the lunas' quarters the men were in hiding, and their watchfulness was later rewarded by the appearance of five Japanese and two lunas, around the house and then returned to the camp, and a few minutes afterward the lamps were going in full blast. Again they were notified to put lights out, and again they were put out, and afterwards a squad came down to the lunas' quarters and quite a delegation of watchers. On their return they were followed, and it was found that the lunas were merely turned out. Manager Campbell and his men remained on watch all night. Saturday the 350 men returned to work, but those belonging to another camp struck. Sunday and Monday were uneventful days, and the men promised to return to work as usual on Tuesday.

Japs Make Threats.

Manager Campbell says the Japanese have threatened to kill Neill and Moran, the two lunas, and while he has no fears for Neill's safety, he thinks Moran's position is hazardous. Early Tuesday morning the laborers on Waialea plantation struck work in a body and marched towards the camps. When near the mill they were overtaken by Mr. Chalmers, the head luna, and Henry Lyman and an effort was made to turn them back. This was resisted and some of the Japanese seized the bridge on Chalmers' horse and kept him back. The men afterwards proceeded to the mill to demand their contracts. It is believed there will be a general strike throughout the island.

Prepared for Trouble.

For several months past the manager of Waialea plantation has been preparing for trouble by engaging a number of men, and when the contract men struck there were enough day men at work to keep the mill going for a short time but not sufficient to prepare to run it regularly.

At Papakou (Onomea plantation)

there has been no indications of trouble. The men started to work as usual Monday morning. All the contract men of the Hilo Portuguese Mill Company stopped work on Monday morning and demanded the return of their tax receipts and contracts. As the latter were held in duplicate by the company, one copy, containing an endorsement that the taxes had been paid, was returned to each laborer, and the men all returned to work after a rest of two hours. No further trouble is expected there.

An Editor's View.

The Japanese on the plantations in this district are beginning to show their teeth, and to the average citizen who has given the matter any consideration, the problem is serious. Now that these laborers are free men, should they for any reason invade the town and ransack houses the people would have to throw up their hands for the want of proper means of resistance. The events at Puna and Waialea during the past few days have been sufficient to indicate what may be expected at any time. It is to be hoped that the strike, and in the night which followed the Japanese was cut on the ear. The men then went to the plantation office, and Mr. Campbell said they had better see the deputy sheriff. On his arrival there was talk of arrests. The manager said the man who cut the ear should be arrested and the laborers should also be taken in charge. This was not satisfactory to the Japanese, for they wanted to take the native and treat him in their own way. A wrangle over this matter lasted for a time, and then the men disappeared, returning to the plantation and demanding their contracts. Manager Campbell again declined, but informed the men that from that day their pay would be $16 per month.

THE LABOR DISTURBANCE.

Seem Likely to Be Settled With Little Difficulty.

There seems to have been some slight "emutes" at various times and places on this island during the past week, as well as on the other islands of the group; a state of affairs which is expected to be expected at the period of transition from the old to the new political and industrial regime. On the whole, however, these troubles will, for the most part, settle themselves when the misunderstanding which occasioned them is corrected.

The real leaders and directors of the Japanese everywhere are acting with discretion and good faith, and will probably be able to guide their countrymen through this critical period to the satisfaction of all save the deliberate and malicious malcontents.—Tribune.

MILITIA FOR HILO.

Lieutenant Horne Succeeds in Getting Quote of Names.

A sufficient number of names for a company of the National Guard in Hilo has been secured, and the petition with the names appended, is now in the hands of Governor Dole, for disposal. It is to be hoped that it will meet with a better fate than its predecessors, which have all suffered burial without resurrection in official pigeon-holes. It seems likely that there will be more or less occasion for such an organization to show itself from time to time in the future upon this island; and while no serious disturbance is really apprehended, the presence of a body of men and willing to uphold the laws and protect property may prove the ounce of prevention which is better than the pound of cure.—Tribune.

SEWALL STANDS TO WIN.

THOUGH SAM PARKER MAY BE CHOSEN UPON A COMPROMISE.

Thurston Acted Like Politician Bored Him but the Correspondent Says Thurston is Canny.

Staff Correspondence of The Republican. SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The members of the delegation from the Territory of Hawaii to the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia may not be graduates of the curriculum of politics "as she is taught" in these United States, but they have all the potentialities of the past masters in the art of politics. They are equipped with faces and a knowledge of English that enables them to successfully conceal their thoughts.

There was no delay on the arrival of the China, for Chauncey St. John, the deputy surveyor of this port, extended them all the courtesies possible, and the first was to take them off the steamer to the customs service tug, the Golden Gate. Once on shore, the party separated—Sam Parker, Harold Sewall and the rest of the delegation proper going to the Palace Hotel, and Lorin Thurston, Robert Rycroft and a few others going to the Occidental. It was a great disappointment when they learned that the California delegation had departed yesterday, for they had counted much on the effective aid of the Californians in securing the recognition of the convention. However, they need not worry about that, for it is a pretty safe proposition that this State will stand by Hawaii in its efforts to have its delegation seated. But it is extremely doubtful if the Territory will be allowed four delegates, when other Territories, like Arizona and New Mexico, are limited to six. Still, the population, wealth and general importance of Hawaii will exert a powerful influence in favor of four. If two is the limit Parker and Kapoiki will be the ones seated.

"McKinley!" "McKinley!" is the slogan of the Hawaiians, and they say "There is no second choice." For second place they are willing to accept any strong man satisfactory to the convention, but it is local, good-natured and does not show on the surface or create any noise, but it is there. It is the fight for national committee man from Hawaii. Four names are mentioned for the place—Dole, Castle, Sewall and Sam Parker—but Dole is only mentioned in a casual way. The way things look this morning, Sewall has the pole and is making the running. The delegates say they have not even considered the matter, but they have no choice; but, then, that you know, is the way politicians talk.

Now Lies With McCANDLESS.

Inspector Flint Will Act as Soon as the Superintendent Numbers Houses.

Postoffice Inspector Flint was asked last night if the "roast," as he called it, in an afternoon paper yesterday was correct in its statement that he was compelled to install a system of free mail delivery, numbers or no numbers. "Postal regulations require that the first thing to do is to see whether a city having 10,000 population or whose post-office receipts amount to $10,000 per year had (1) a proper system of house-numbering, (2) names at the intersection of streets, (3) proper sidewalks and (4) proper street lighting. If these conditions are present, the system is installed at once. Honolulu complies in all points but the house-numbering. Mr. McCandless will take steps to have the city divided and the houses numbered. The Postoffice Department can proceed without further delay."

HACKFELD'S NEW BUILDING.

The Massive Structure Which will Add Beauty to Honolulu's Architecture.

The handsome new Hackfeld building, corner of Fort and Queen streets, is progressing very satisfactorily to its contractor, Fred Harrison. The building is to be very massive and substantial, and will be three stories in height. The outside walls will be of native stone, taken from Mr. Harrison's quarries in the Kaimuki tract. This will be the largest structure of native stone ever erected in these islands. The stonework will be richly and handsomely ornamented. Five sculptors are at work making the designs, and five carvers are engaged in chiseling them out of the native stone. A Republican reporter, in a cursory way, inspected some of the work of the sculptors yesterday, who, by the way, are from San Francisco. An immense cap for a column was particularly imposing; also a panel and a pediment. The work, in achievement and magnificence, compares favorably with similar work on the Claus Spreckels building, known as the Call building, in San Francisco.

A little idea may be derived of the substantial character of the new Hackfeld building from the window sills. They weigh two tons each, are 10 feet in length and are composed of a solid stone.

The architectural beauty of new Honolulu will be greatly augmented when the Hackfeld building is completed.

The Honolulu Republican will be delivered to any part of the city for 75c per month or $2 per quarter.

DISMEMBERMENT IS NOT LIKELY.

Powers Likely To Act In Concert In China.

AMERICA CHINA'S HOPE.

RUSSIA RECOGNIZED RULER OF CHINESE EMPRESS DOWAGER.

American Business Methods Very Popular In Both China and Japan.

Mr. P. F. Evans, who arrived on the Nippon Maru from Japan and China, where he has been since last April, throws some new light on the situation in China. His trip has been purely for pleasure, and he has kept his eyes and ears wide open.

Seen at the Hawaiian Hotel day before yesterday, he talked very freely and interestingly of the East. He said:

"I came over with Commander George Bicknell, U. S. N., who was en route to Mare Island. He was in command of the old side-wheeler Monocacy in the Mississippi river fleet during the Civil War, which was ordered to China two years ago, on account of her adaptability to river service. The American merchants at Tien-Tsin wrote down for protection, and she was sent up and landed 60 marines, the first foreign troops landed in China."

He confirmed the statement of Captain Hentze, published exclusively in The Republican the day before yesterday, that all the Chinese consider that Russia has the Empress Dowager strictly under control. He stated, further, that there was no doubt in China that the Boxers were acting at the instigation and secret support of Russia. He also confirmed Captain Hentze's statement that Russia offered to send down 10,000 troops from the frontier at a moment's notice, and could send 45,000 more, if necessary. It is an eight-days' journey, however, from the frontier to Peking, and troops would take a longer time.

"Who are the Boxers?" he asked. "Well, they are vagabonds, beggars, agitators or, in other words, the Dennis Kearneys of China. They are armed with old blunderbusses or knives. The trouble began about three months ago in street brawls. Later, they attacked and burned first a railway station, and then 10 or 30 miles of the only railway in China, connecting Peking with its port, Tien-Tsin."

Before he left the telegraph lines had also been cut, and seven or eight out of a party of 40 Americans fleeing from Peking to Tien-Tsin were killed. The 2500 Americans in Peking were without communication with the world when he left, three days prior to the date of the last dispatches from China received here.

Mr. Evans was asked if the Americans felt they would be protected and whether the dismemberment of China was "imminent."

"All the Americans," he said, "feel safe. We have a big fleet in the Philippines and plenty of troops within arms of the coast. As to the dismemberment of China, I do not think it will come yet. Russia has the upper hand in diplomacy, but she is not yet ready to fight. Her railroad is not yet ready for extensive military operations. England is busy in Africa yet. Japan is almost bankrupt, the United States has her hands full in the Philippines, and Russia is strong enough to prevent any other power coming in. The powers will doubtless all land troops and work in concert; that will end the trouble speedily."

"The Boxers are a sort of secret society, and there may be millions of them, but they have no organization whatever, and a thousand troops would clean out the biggest force they could get together. Even the Chinese soldiers are armed in the way of a mob, and they have not the first idea of tactics or regulations. On the walls of Peking, which are still being constantly repaired by thousands of workmen, are old English cannon of no earthly use, being rusty and unmounted, but the cloth canopies over them are periodically renewed."

Speaking of American commercial prospects, he said: "The Americans control the provision trade in both China and Japan. China's fruits are grown everywhere, and Sperry and Seattle and Portland flour are sold by the million barrels."

"The Chinese will trust an American when they will not trust one else. They are the only nation that pays cash, and as there are no fixed prices for anything in China, cash buys things much cheaper. The English and Germans pay when they get returns, and the French only when they cannot get out of it. I do not know anything about the Russian traders. Most of the cloth and jewelry business is in the hands of the Germans and French. The only people going into the interior to trade are the Germans and French. The English

HONOLULU'S COMING CHARTER.

Republican's Suggestion Meets with General Approval.

MANY FAVOR A MEETING.

OPINIONS OF VARIOUS PEOPLE REGARDING THE IMPORTANT MATTER.

Some Favor Delay in the City Assuming the Responsibility of a Municipal Government.

The editorial in last Friday morning's Republican, suggesting that a meeting of the citizens of Honolulu be held, and that such meeting appoint a committee of 20 to draft a charter for the governing of the municipality of Honolulu, such draft to be submitted to the coming Legislature of the Territory, created much interest throughout the city. The consensus of opinion was that such a meeting could not be called too quickly.

The following interviews are of interest as bearing on the subject:

Hugh McIntyre—It is a good idea. W. W. Hall—if we have got to have a municipal government, and I think we have, I don't see any harm in a meeting of citizens being called.

F. J. Lowrey—I think it would be a good idea. A municipal government has got to come. I understand that there are some individuals looking into the charter matter now. It would be much better, in my judgment, to have the charter come from a citizen's committee than from individuals.

F. J. Testa—I haven't given the matter much thought. Speaking offhand, however, I think it would be a good thing.

E. C. Macfarlane—I have been looking for the Chamber of Commerce to take hold of this matter. It is absolutely essential and important that we should have a charter. I doubt the advisability of a mass meeting taking hold of this subject. It would be better accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce. I am a little surprised that they haven't done something before.

W. G. Ashley—I think the meeting should be held as soon as possible and work on the charter at once commenced.

J. O. Carter—My idea is that we had better get the Territorial government to run smoothly before essaying municipal government.

Dr. McGrew—Do we need a city government here yet? I do not think we do. It will crowd us into all the political squabbles which will certainly follow the organization of a municipality. We have had a little experience here lately in political excitement, which has happily died down temporarily. Municipal government will increase our taxation and make it as high as in the mainland cities. There is no need for a charter here the better it will be for the city. At the same time, I believe the meeting should be non-partisan in character and non-partisan in the selection of its members. The coming Legislature will have much to do, and will not have the time to give that careful attention to the drafting of a charter which I think we should have. By drafting a charter before the Legislature meets the legislators will have something to study, and if there are any incongruities in it they may be expounded.

J. B. Atherton—I am not hankering after a municipal form of government. In my judgment, it will double taxation, and I believe in postponing the evil day as long as possible.

C. M. Cooke—I am in favor of a municipal government after we have been running as a Territory for, say, two or three years. It would be a mistake to put Honolulu under a municipal government now.

Another gentleman, who has long stood high in the councils of the local government, although he objected to having his name published, said: "This is a matter about which I think we should make haste slowly. No body of men or committee of citizens could in a month or two begin at the bottom and formulate a municipal charter that would not tie us up in a tangle in the world, in my opinion, only cause us untold trouble and result in political bickering that would do the island no good. In my opinion, the proper way to do is for the matter to be brought before the next Legislature, and, if necessary, to have that body appoint a commission to consider and report upon the future form of municipal government suited to the conditions of the Hawaiian Islands. This must not be done hastily, and it should be done by the best talent of the islands. When the commission and the Legislature have done their work and given a basis of procedure, the matter can be turned over to the electors to carry out."

RARE TREAT FOR HONOLULU.

Military High Mass For French Cruiser Protet This Morning at Catholic Cathedral.

This morning Honolulu Churchgoers and sigh seers will have an opportunity to see hundreds of uniformed troops marching to church, a picket of armed men within the chapel presenting arms with bugles sounding during the elevation, the middle of the mass, and an array of brilliantly uniformed officers and diplomatic official seated in a special pew decorated in the tricolors of France.

The occasion of all this is the visit of the French Cruiser Protet to Honolulu and the regulations of the French navy.

On every man-of-war of Catholic nations high mass is celebrated every Sunday morning as a military ceremony. Minor de L'Espinau, being in port, every available man will be landed and the service will take place in the Catholic Cathedral at 10:30 a. m. instead of on the deck of the Cruiser. Front seats have been reserved for the troops and "prieux," a sort of temporary kneeling platform, has been erected in front of the front pews and decorated with French bunting for the occasion. Within the sanctuary the space between the altar and the rail—will be stationed 24 men fully armed, commanded by two officers and accompanied by the ship's buglers. At the "elevation" or middle part of the mass, the bugles will sound and the "picket" will present arms.

In the gallery on the mauka side of the Cathedral a pew has been reserved for the Commodore M. Germain, commanding a division of the French Pacific Squadron, Captain L'Espinau, in command of the Protet, French Consul M. Moot and their respective staffs. That part of the balcony has been draped with French bunting and a group of five flags, alternate red, white and blue, radiate from each of the adjoining pillars of the Cathedral.

Father Valentine who kindly lit up the Cathedral for the special benefit of the Republic in order to show the decorations says as long as he has been in Honolulu he has never seen the ceremony, so it is a rare treat that is promised the Honolulu public to-day.

After the service, the Frenchmen will hold open house aboard their pugnacious looking Cruiser and great preparations have been made to make the ship look gay with flags and polished brass. The general public are invited.

The Cruiser is expected to leave port early this week.

THE KIHAI PLANTATION.

James Quinn Commends the Property After Seeing It.

James Quinn has returned from the Kihai plantation, where, accompanied by John Kadin, he went to inspect that property.

Mr. Quinn speaks in the highest terms of the plantation, and descants eloquently about the improvements now going on there.

"There is no better cane growing on Maui than can be found at Kihai," said Mr. Quinn last night. "One thousand acres have been planted, and 800 acres will be ground the coming season. They will commence grinding in December-forever. There is nothing in the report that the water is salt. I drank from the well, which is close by the sea, and the water was slightly brackish. Railroads and wagon roads radiate in every direction. The Kihai plantation is a fine piece of property."

The W. W. Dimond & Co., Ltd. have elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: Directors: W. W. Dimond, president; Henry Dimond, vice-president; J. A. Heineberg, treasurer; Belle Heineberg, secretary; and F. W. Dohrmann.

HONOLULU, H. T., JUNE 24, 1900.

EXPOSES ITS IGNORANCE.

The little Star thinks Mr. Flint, the special postoffice inspector in the islands, is "real naughty, don't you know," because he does not go on and establish a free mail delivery in Honolulu without any basis upon which to establish such a delivery. It says: "The rules of the postoffice department prescribe a delivery system for a city the size of Honolulu. Nothing is said of street or house numbering. In the opinion of substantial business men, the inspector is taking a great deal on himself."

In printing such rubbish as this the Star simply exposes its ignorance concerning American postal regulations. Free delivery for cities does not depend upon the size of the city at all, but upon the postal receipts. Any postoffice having receipts of $10,000 per year or upward is entitled to free delivery, though the town in which the postoffice is located may not have 1000 inhabitants.

In refusing to establish the free delivery in Honolulu until the houses are numbered Mr. Flint is but following out the rules of the department. If he were to attempt to establish free delivery under the existing conditions he would be "called down" by the department in a round turn and his action revoked. In establishing free delivery Congress delegated to the Postoffice Department the power to establish rules for the conduct of such delivery. Foremost among the rules thus promulgated by the department is one requiring that all houses must be numbered under some uniform system before free delivery will be established, regardless of what the receipts of the office may be.

The whole matter is that the folly of putting off, and going upon the principle that "anything is good enough in Honolulu, if it is only following out old ways," has been suddenly brought home to the people by Mr. Flint's vigorous action. The idea of allowing a city like Honolulu to grow to metropolitan proportions without a uniform system of house-numbering is ridiculous, and it is high time to get out of the clouds of "mahope" and down to the solid ground of common sense.

AS TO A CHARTER.

The reference by the Republican to the importance of preparing a city charter for the government of the city of Honolulu for presentation to the first Legislature has aroused a good deal of interest. For years business men of Hawaii have been so accustomed to taking no part in public affairs that they paid but little attention to the needs of the city or how it was governed. The Government was very much of a close corporation, both under the monarchy and under the republic, while the franchise was so limited that but a handful of the residents had any voice in governing.

Now that we are a Territory of the United States, with no restriction upon the franchise excepting an educational qualification, all this has been changed. Every man now is, to a very great extent, his brother's keeper and the matter of framing a charter for the city which shall be equitable for all and the same time preserve vested interests and insure good government is of the utmost importance. While it is true that an educational qualification is required for the franchise, it is also true that a majority of the voters have almost no knowledge of municipal government as exercised in either America or Europe. This in itself makes it important to carefully consider the subject of a charter.

The suggestion of a very prominent man in public affairs that the best way to do would be to make haste slowly by having a commission of reputable and high-class men selected by the Legislature to frame a charter for the city, which should afterwards be submitted to the people for their rejection or adoption, is a good one, and, under ordinary circumstances, one which the Republican would most heartily endorse. It will not do to rush at the framing of a charter, and that is just why The Republican took up the subject. It is a well-known fact that certain parties, who for some years were behind the throne in Hawaii, and who still believe themselves the real rulers, have been for some time quietly preparing a charter, which it is their intention to present to the Legislature, and, under the cry of immediate need for municipal legislation, try to rush it through. The plan of these people is to make the charter conduce to their personal benefit and tie the city up to one-man power.

It is right that a charter should be so framed as to give the Mayor very full power over every department of the city government and at the same time make him personally responsible for good government in every department, but it will not do to place this power so as to make the city council or legislative body a mere figurehead.

The days have gone by for secret sessions and close corporate or family compacts to rule affairs as they please in Hawaii. The interests nowadays are too varied, and the people will demand a right to be heard and to participate as they have a right to do. No charter framed by a little body of unknowns at the bidding of some deft manipulator behind the scenes, even though it bear the stamp of civic federation, can be crammed down the people's throats willy nilly.

The work of framing a charter must be open and above board. It must be participated in by representatives of every element, business and political, in the city. There are but two ways to accomplish this. One is to select a charter commission by a mass meeting of the business men or the election of such a commission by the Legislature and the giving of the committee ample time to perform its work well. In either case the charter must be submitted to the people after it is framed for their adoption or rejection.

DON'T CALL IT.

To the Republican the most important reason why a special session of the Legislature should not be called now is that it would place the new Territory in the throes of a political campaign, immediately to be followed by a second campaign, beginning with the close of the first, and we would have nothing but politics, politics, from now until the final adjournment of the Legislature in April next. This would seriously affect all business interests not only of Honolulu, but of the whole Territory. Much as an extra session is desired for the purpose of enacting needed laws for Honolulu, it is certainly better to bear the ills we have than to those of an extra campaign.

Were Governor Dole to call an election for an extra session to-morrow it would be one month before the election could be held, and another month would elapse before the Legislature could be assembled for work. This would bring the beginning of the session near the 1st of September, and a sixty-day session would bring the close clear up to the time for the regular fall election in November. It will thus be seen that but little could be accomplished by an extra session in advance of the time when the Legislature elected in November might be called together.

It will be an easy matter for the Governor to call the Legislature, which will be elected in November, in extra session about the 1st of December, if the public business should demand it. By waiting until then the Territory will be spared the turmoil of an almost endless campaign and the expense of a special election, which would be a heavy drain upon the Treasury.

When your advisers meet with you Monday, Governor, make short work of it in deciding that there will be no extra session called.

The opening of the Neill season at the Hawaiian Theater last night called forth the society circles of Honolulu as nothing else of the amusement nature has done in a long time. It was a most auspicious opening for Mr. Neill's splendid company. If they but present the remaining plays of their repertoire as well as they presented "An American Citizen" they will leave the Paradise of the Pacific with the regrets of many of her citizens.

Out of all the material in the community from which to select a treasurer it seems strange that the Governor would find any difficulty in securing a good man for the place. Remember, Governor, that the republican party takes in many good men who never held office under the republic.

In his interview in this morning's Republican, Mr. Flint outlines a way in which street numbering can be accomplished and free mail delivery secured. It now rests with the local authorities whether or not free mail delivery will be secured.

The Star would have free delivery established, with carriers trying to deliver letters addressed in this fashion: "Mr. John Smith, Punchbowl street, between Vineyard and Emma, makai side, Honolulu, H. T., U. S. A."

In order to have free mail delivery it is absolutely necessary that the houses of Honolulu be numbered. Push the work of numbering the houses.

It's up to you, Superintendent McCandless, in the matter of street numbering. Flint says it's your move.

A RUMORED APPOINTMENT.

Attorney General Dole Denies the Authenticity of the Story. It was generally reported about town last evening that Attorney General E. F. Dole had appointed a popular young attorney as assistant in the Attorney General's office. Mr. Dole, when seen by a Republican reporter, said that he hadn't appointed anyone to the office and might not do so for a month. He was looking for a gentleman who would fill the office acceptably to the government.

The Wilcox Campaign.

Robert W. Wilcox and his associates are campaigning in the interests of the Independent Party on the other side of the island. Last night the campaigners addressed quite a gathering of natives at Kaneohe.

THE LOUNGER.

I have been having some experience in house hunting the past week, or rather, my better half has, for like the rest of us busy men, I like to shift the responsibility of house hunting, along with housekeeping, upon the shoulders of the one who shares in my good and ill-fortunes. What has particularly struck me in connection with this house-hunting is the absence in Honolulu of desirable houses to rent. I have been especially impressed with the opportunities offered here for good investments in houses. Rents are very high, and the man who will erect cottages of five to seven rooms, with modern conveniences, can readily secure 1 per cent a month clear on his investment. What surprises me is that more of our moneyed men have not invested in this class of securities. No investment is safer than real estate and income-paying real estate is far more valuable in the long run than even sugar stocks. As instance of this might be cited the Astor family of New York. The policy followed since the days of the first John Jacob Astor has been to buy real estate in the outskirts of New York and Brooklyn being always just a little in advance of the growth of the cities. The result is that to-day no family in the world has so large an income as the Astor family, and all of it is from real estate. As the city grows up to their property it is improved with buildings, which always rent at a high price. It is always the policy of the Astors, also, to demand a high rent, but in consideration of this they afford their tenants something a little better than anyone else has in the same neighborhood. I would like to see the new company which bought the property, and organize a building association which would erect a number of good houses on the property, then rent these to first-class tenants or sell them on long-time payments, giving clerks and others of moderate means opportunities to become home owners. It is a very good idea, and the returns are sure and safe.

One of the things that has long puzzled me in Honolulu is some of the peculiarities of Pain's horseless carriages. They always turn to the left, instead of to the right, as is the American custom. I have long wondered at this. I inquired of the policemen as to which I should turn when out driving, and they all, with one voice, informed me: "To the right. Which way did you expect to turn?" I marveled at this, but further inquiry brought the information that the law of the road has compelled drivers to turn to the right. I did not know when I watched the horseless carriages turn the switches to the left but what I had suddenly been transferred to Mexico or some one of the South American countries, where they do everything backwards, but, lo and behold! some bright fellow tells me at the club: "Why, that's the custom in England, ye know." And then I understood why the trans-union should not call them street cars—turn to the left in Honolulu. But seriously speaking, is there any reason why we should care—oh, I beg pardon, trans-union should be allowed to continue turning to the left when the law of the road is to turn to the right?

AMUSEMENTS.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN. Beresford Cruger, Mr. Neill, Peter Barbury, Frank MacViears, Egerton Brown, Beatrice Carey, Home owners, John W. Burton, Willie Bunn, George Bloomquist, Otto Strobel, Robert Morris, Stanislaus, Joseph M. Hodgeman, Walter, Edythe Chapman, Beatrice Carey, Edythe Chapman, Lally Bunn, Grace Mae Lamkin, George Chapman, Lillian Andrews, George Chapman, Julia Dean, Mercury, Cruger's office boy, Joseph Swain.

The first performance in the Hawaiian Theater since Hawaii became a full-fledged American Territory was the presentation last night by the James Neill Company of Madeline Lucette Ryley's splendid comedy, "An American Citizen." It is well that "An American Citizen" was chosen to open the engagement of Mr. Neill and his excellent company. It is no disparagement of any of the gifted actors who have visited Honolulu in the past to say that never before in the history of the stage in the islands was so good and well-balanced a performance given as that at the Hawaiian Theater last night.

"An American Citizen" was long ago made familiar to the citizens of the States by our excellent actor, William H. Crane. The American citizen of the play may be a trifle overdrawn in his generosity and self-sacrifice, but for all that it is a good clean, wholesome play; one that makes the auditor feel better for having witnessed it. While Beresford Cruger is the central character, and, of course, holds the stage much more than any other person in the cast, it is by no means a one-part play. Even if it were so well-balanced a company of players as Mr. Neill has surrounded himself with would have removed all grounds for criticism on that score. It was a grand performance; say this and you have expressed it as well as if columns were written.

Mr. Neill is a polished actor, and the same may be said of every member of the cast last night. Mr. Neill obtains his effects quietly and is an apostle of the modern school of quiet acting. There is no straining for effect in any member of the Neill company. It is simply holding the mirror up to nature, which is the true purpose of dramatic art. A most charming actress is Edythe Chapman, who was seen as Beatrice Carey. Womanly to a high degree, she moved about the stage as though she was made for the part, and immediately won the hearts of her audience by her natural methods. Julia Dean is a gem. She upholds the best traditions of her famous aunt, Julia Dean-Haynes. As she gave the true artistic instinct to the sweet and faithful girl, whose love for Cruger was hopeless, Peter Barbury, the senior partner, was played by an especially fine actor, Frank MacViears, while an equally splendid characterization was that of Edgerton Brown by Benjamin Howard. Lillian Andrews, as Carola Chamlin, John W. Burton, Grace Mae Lamkin, George Bloomquist, Robert Morris and Rose Swain were some of the others who presented players of Honolulu last evening with a rare picture of dramatic art.

The best performance will be given on next Tuesday evening, when that most charming and dainty of all modern comedies, "Captain Lettarbair," will be presented. It is from the pen of Miss Marguerite Merrington, and was one of the most brilliant comedy successes ever given at the Lyceum Theater, New York. Before the next performance, however, the management should refuse to seat anyone coming in after the curtain goes up until it is lowered or the first act for the first fifteen minutes after the rise of the curtain last night it was a perfect babel from those tardy ones, who are always late. If people cannot be on time they should pay the penalty of standing in the inner lobby till the drop of the curtain on the first act, as they are now compelled to do in all the best houses in the cities of the mainland. GESS.

AT THE ORPHEUM. There was a big house at the Orpheum last night to see "The Girl from Paris." The performance went with a snap from start to finish, and by the amount of applause received is establishing a record as a laugh-producer. The business of "The Girl from Paris" has been so good that the management has decided to continue the piece until Thursday next, when "Olivette" will follow for the balance of the week.

They have a new name for Guy Livingston, the treasurer at the Orpheum. He is now known as "Encyclopedia Guy." It all came about in this way: The census enumerator went over to the Orpheum a few days ago to get the ages, and all other information of the census men, who, at the members of the Southwell Opera Company. He wanted to make an appointment to meet all the members of the company at the theater and get them all in a bunch. Guy declared with much vehemence that there was no need for an appointment of the kind; that he knew every member of the company by heart, where they were born, who their parents were, how many children and grandchildren each member of the chorus had, and could give all the needed information just as well as if each individual member of the company were present. Then for nearly two hours he rattle off "information" that was truly astonishing. Finally, even the census man dropped and laid down his pen, while Wolf and Cohen roared with laughter. When you want a ticket for the opera now ask for "Encyclopedia Guy."

Along with a good many others who have long wanted to see Honolulu become a modern city, I am much gratified at the announcement of Superintendent McCandless that he proposes an "improvement" of the sidewalks in Honolulu. I went through an experience of this kind a number of years ago in a Western boom town. The town sprang up like magic from an old, sleepy little port to a modern city, and all in less than two years. Mile after mile of new streets were cut and graded, sewers built, water-works extended and many other improvements made. But with all the improvements sidewalks were neglected, except in a very limited section of the business district. Finally, a few of us commenced hammering away at the sidewalks. We were bitterly denounced for a time by the mossbacks, but at last a start was made, and soon sidewalk-building became epidemic. Within ninety days over five miles of cement sidewalks were laid, and over fifteen miles were laid within one year. The result was an increase in frontal value of every lot in the city, and sidewalks more than paid for their cost by the general improvement of the city. I hope Honolulu will do equally as well.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG MEN IN HAWAII.

(By Frank G. Carpenter in Philadelphia, Saturday Evening Post.)

The Hawaiian Islands are of their own kind. They are not like the Philippines, Puerto Rico, or any other colonial or territorial part of the United States. Their social, financial and material conditions are peculiar to themselves, and they can be appreciated only by one upon the grounds. They are among the richest islands of the globe and have already more rich men to the number of their Anglo-Saxon population than any other part of the United States; but they are not a Klondike where gold can be picked up in the streams and the gullies. They have the most fertile soils, but the supply of land is limited. They have a business which last year showed exports amounting to more than $15,000,000—almost double the value of the imports—but the business is of its own kind, so that the investor should study its character before he attempts to venture to compete with the capitalists who now have it well in hand. With all this, there are opportunities, opportunities in which a limited number of our young men may realize the El Dorado of their hopes.

First, let us take a look at the country. It is not a large one. All told, the islands have not as much land as the State of Massachusetts, although the larger and only inhabited ones are scattered over the ocean for a distance as wide as that between Boston and Washington. The whole group, east and west, is wider than New York to the Mississippi river. The Hawaiian Islands that we know, however, consist of the eight larger islands at the eastern end of the group. These are situated just about as far from San Francisco as Chicago is east of that city, and further away from any Australian or Asiatic port than the distance from New York to London. The inhabited islands are not close to one another, some of them being a hundred miles and more away from Honolulu with tempestuous seas between. The islands range in size from Hawaii, which is almost as large as the State of Connecticut, to Kahoolawe, which is only about half as large as the District of Columbia. Oahu, the island on which Honolulu is situated, contains 690 square miles, while Kauai, the Garden Island of the group, has only 500 square miles, being 22 miles wide and 25 miles long.

The general character of all the islands is the same: they are wildly rugged, each being made up of one or more mountains, seamed with valleys and gorges, some of which are more than a thousand feet deep. Between the mountains lie rolling plains, and in many places at their feet there is a narrow plain sloping out to the sea. The plains, valleys and lower parts of the mountain sides contain the only lands suited to cultivation. They are covered with decomposed lava, often to the depth of twenty or thirty feet, furnishing a soil which produces rich crops of sugar, coffee, and all sorts of vegetables and tropical fruits.

Palm trees with quivering branches wave you a welcome, and the houses of Honolulu look out at you through a forest of palms and other tropical trees as you come to anchor. Farther down the coast with your glass you can see the pale green of rich sugar plantations, and as you land and walk through the streets you find yourself in a very botanical garden of tropical plants and trees and beautiful flowers. The Honolulu of to-day has all the aspects of a modern American city. The signs over the stores are in English and their proprietors have English names. The stores are of all kinds, with large stocks of goods and fine plate-glass show windows. Telephone wires run through all the streets, and you learn that more than a thousand telephones are in use. The streets and houses are lighted at night by electricity, and there is a system of water-works and other modern improvements. The city has excellent public schools.

At present nearly everything that goes from and comes to the islands passes through Honolulu, and it will always be the chief city of the region. The only place that can ever hope to compete with it is the town of Hilo on the Island of Hawaii. Honolulu will always be the seat of government and probably always the business and financial centre of the islands. It has, however, but a small harbor, which is taxed to its utmost with the shipping which calls here on its way to and from Australia, China and Japan, and the United States.

The young man who comes to Hawaii will first land at Honolulu. He will probably stop at Honolulu until he can look about him and get some idea of the chances. He will find that he is in a high-priced town and that his board will cost him as much, or more, than it did at home. If he has a family and attempts to keep house his rent will be high, and he will find provisions more expensive than in the United States. The average living expenses are, it is estimated, about one-third higher in Honolulu than they are in the United States.

The chief industry of the islands is sugar, but this, as I shall show further on, is one requiring large capital and expensive machinery. The best of the Americans here do not advise men to come to the islands unless they have at least five or ten thousand dollars, but others tell me there are opportunities for young men who are willing to work in almost every line.

The young man from the States will come hoping to get a job in Honolulu or on one of the plantations as overseer or bookkeeper or engineer; he can hardly hope to take the places of the Chinese or Japanese. The demand for overseers is of course limited, and the man should not expect to get a position much more readily than he would at home. He will find, however, that wages are higher, both in Honolulu and in the country, than in the United States. The following are the sums paid for the different classes of work named: overseers and foremen on the plantations receive from $100 to $250 the month; sugar boilers and engineers from $100 to $175 the month; locomotive engineers from $40 to $75 the month, and plantation carpenters and blacksmiths from $50 to $100 the month. All of the higher-priced men on the plantations, including the above, have their houses and firewood furnished. White teamsters get from $30 to $40 the month, and the Chinese and Japanese common laborers about $15 the month.

In Honolulu mechanics are now in demand. There is considerable building going on and masons and carpenters are needed. The wages of carpenters and painters are from three to five dollars for the day's work of nine hours. Bricklayers receive five dollars and machinists from three to five dollars the day. There are at present about 2000 mechanics on the islands, of whom about 500 are Chinese and Japanese. There are about 300 American mechanics and perhaps 250 Portuguese. The drivers of the carts and wagons are principally natives, and the handling of freight at the wharves is done by the same class. Outside of skilled mechanics, I should not advise any of our young men who have nothing but their muscle as capital to come to Honolulu.

As to clerks and bookkeepers the situation is much similar. There are frequent opportunities to get positions, but not more so than in the United States. There are already here about 1400 clerks and salesmen who get wages of from $50 to $125 the month and upward. Some are employed in the stores, on the plantations, and others in the smaller towns, but the most are here in Honolulu. Every large establishment must have a variety of clerks large enough to cover all the languages in general use in the island—that is, Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese, Hawaiian and English.

In the line of commercial traveling there is little done in the Hawaiian Islands, and the commercial man from the United States, who expects to visit the islands to work up trade, upon landing at Honolulu will be asked to pay $500 for the privilege of selling goods or taking orders on the island of Oahu. He will have to pay $250 for the same privilege on the larger of the other islands, and if he should make this his residence and engage in business, he will find that the city charges from $50 the year upward for a license. In all small businesses he will have the competition of the Chinese and Japanese who now have the petty retail trade of the islands, running the restaurant, the fruit stands and small grocery stores. They are good traders and are satisfied with small profits.

The professions are also fairly supplied, there being about ninety doctors and one hundred and one lawyers. Among the doctors are four American women and twenty-seven Japanese and Chinese practitioners. The Board of Health employs thirty physicians in the hospitals and dispensaries throughout the country, but their positions are filled, Doctors and dentists must take out a license, which is granted only upon the applicant showing a diploma from some reputable college or upon passing an examination.

The best chances and, in fact, almost the only chances for fortune-making in the Hawaiian Islands are from agriculture. The islands have neither mines nor manufactures, but they have a soil which will raise more sugar to the acre than any other land on earth. On some plantations as many as ten tons of sugar to the acre are annually raised, a product from five to eight times as great as the average product of the sugar plantations of Louisiana.

The most of the money now made in the islands is from sugar. There are sixty large plantations, comprising altogether about 80,000 acres and yielding a product which annually sells for more than $15,000,000. These plantations are managed after the most modern methods. They are chiefly owned by corporations, the capital stocks of which range from half a million to four million of dollars. The stock in the various companies is regularly bought and sold in the Honolulu stock exchange and nearly all of the companies pay big dividends. There is, all told, about $30,000,000 invested in the industry, of which about $22,500,000 belongs to Americans.

The chief opportunities for young men in connection with sugar raising are in what is called co-operative farming—that is, in buying or leasing a small tract of land from one of the large companies and raising cane to be sold at the great factories. This is comparatively a new plan and quite a number of men are doing it at a profit. There is little opportunity to buy wild land which will raise sugar, and there are practically no sugar lands left in the hands of the Government.

Outside of sugar there are many opportunities for the young man to succeed here in the different kinds of intensive farming which can be profitably undertaken on the islands. There is so little land, that the opportunities for doing things on the bonanza scale have long since gone by. In the raising of fruits and vegetables, in producing grain and meat for home consumption and in coffee plantations there would seem to be many openings.

This is a land of oranges, but the fruit sells in Honolulu at twenty-five cents the dozen; strawberries can be easily grown, but they bring twenty-five cents the pound; grapes thrive, but if you buy them at the fruit stands you pay fifteen cents the pound for them, and it is so with similar fruits. As to bananas and pineapples, it is claimed the islands could produce enough of them to supply all the markets east of the Mississippi river. The taking off the tariff and the reduction of freight rates, which follows the annexation to the United States, makes this country the tropical fruit garden of our Western States.

are all taken up, other possible crops are receiving consideration.

The process of building up coffee plantations can be graduated by the amount of capital in the hands of the farmer, the larger plantations requiring, of course, more money and labor. A hundred-acre plantation with fifty acres only in coffee should produce an income of $6,000 a year after the fifth year. This is, estimating the yield to be one pound to the tree, at a profit of ten cents the pound. Not counting the labor of the planter, the net cost of making and stocking such a plantation would be $12,000. The man with $5000 would start with less cultivated land, do his own work at least as far as management is concerned, and perhaps add to his income by raising bananas and vegetables.

The young man in this case will probably realize considerable off of the rise in the value of his land left. There is but little good Government land left. The amount, all told, is less than two million acres. Of this, much is sterile, a great part inaccessible, and other parts are covered with lava. There are perhaps 500,000 acres that are of some value, and half of this amount is excellent land. The best coffee lands are on the Island of Hawaii, and about 60,000 acres of this character will be opened to settlement by the Kohala and Hilo Railway, which is now being surveyed.

The Government is anxious that this land should be taken up by small planters, and, according to law, land can only be sold or leased in lots not to exceed one hundred acres, and only to persons who will agree to keep one-fourth of the land in cultivation for a period of years, and who will agree to live upon it. To such persons the land is sold at a low appraisement, often at one-fourth and less than the value of private lands in the same vicinity and of the same character. If all the good Government land as above estimated, 250,000 acres, were so divided it would only accommodate 2500 families, so it will be seen that the supply is limited and the value of such lands must eventually increase.

At present the lands are divided up into great baronial estates owned or leased by rich men or corporations. Oahu has no public land available to settlers; Kauai, the Garden Island, is practically controlled by six corporations, and the Bishop Estate owns 600,000 acres outright. The Parkers control 700,000 acres on the Island of Hawaii, including 250,000 acres under irrigation, and the small island of Niuhau has 25,000 sheep all owned by one family. The chances of the young investor are almost exclusively limited to the Government lands, and these are comparatively so few that they will, in a short time, be exhausted.

The Honolulu Iron Works employ from three to five hundred men, according to the season. With the exception of skilled mechanics, the bulk of the men employed are native Hawaiians.

The Honolulu Republican will be delivered to any part of the city for 75c per month or $2 per quarter.

The steamship Kinau, from Maui and Hawaii ports, did not arrive until close upon 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, although she was telephoned at 1:45, 20 miles off. As usual, she brought a large number of passengers. Among these was W. H. Bee of Lihue, Kauai, who has been around Hawaii after horses to be sent to the Garden Isle. He brought up 20 fine head with him. H. M. Whitney was another passenger who has been making a tour of the big island. When asked what he saw, Mr. Whitney said that the volcano was dead, and further that he did not believe Pele would manifest herself again for a long time.

Judge Galbraith of Hilo comes to remain permanently in Honolulu, while Matt McCann of Maui just comes to scan the political horizon. Peter Lee, formerly of the Volcano House, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lousion and Abe Lousion were also passengers in the Kinau. Purser Beckley gives the following as the cargo of the Kinau: 620 sks potatoes, 50 sks corn, 100 sks coffee, 254 sheep, 207 hives, 22 horses, 1 cow and calf and 200 pigs sundries.

The Annie Johnson was still in Hilo harbor when the Kinau left. She will leave for San Francisco next week some time.

ABOUT FISH STORIES.

An afternoon contemporary came out with a cuttlefish story yesterday. Friday morning the Advertiser came out with an eel and shark fight. Whether it is the extremely warm weather that is affecting the minds of various reporters is not yet known, but it would perhaps be kinder if these tales were labeled "Fish Stories."

That such tales are about goes without saying. The only surprise is that they are picked up. Yesterday a wild-eyed man ran up to a Republican reporter on one of the wharves and shouted:

"Say, mister! See the cuttlefish story in the Star? Well, sir, I've got one that is really so. When I was crossing the channel between Molokai and this island the other day, the people aboard the island steamer on which I was a passenger saw a huge, black mass floating on the water. At first, we thought it was an overturned boat and went up to it to see. Suddenly we found ourselves staring at a monster fish sunning itself. As soon as it saw us; its bulk was elevated several feet out of the water, and it raised a sail-like fin, and, taking to the eastward under the impulse of a strong breeze, proceeded to get away from us.

"Men rushed below for guns and from the steamer gave chase, but the fish was too much for us and soon passed out of sight."

The reporter asked the man of the sea if he saw any propeller, whereupon he became very indignant and left. However, it is a shame to foist a cuttlefish story on the public, for, undoubtedly, there will be many who will believe the tale, and the fine swimming at the Healan bathhouse will be spoiled. Then, again, Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth was not speaking seriously, anyway. The reporter should know that cuttlefish do not exist in the mud, such as is to be found near the Healan bathhouse, where, poor De Barre was drowned; also, that never have squid large enough to pull a man under the surface been seen in the harbor of Honolulu. A kamaaina would know these things. Squids live in the rocks.

So much for the hot weather pipe dreams. Next!

The Mikahala came in from Kauai ports yesterday morning. Purser Christian reports as follows: "Stmr. Kauai at Waimea loading sugar; already had 4000 bags on board. Will leave for Honolulu Saturday afternoon. Bad weather at Waimea. W. G. Hall at Makaweli loading sugar; had 4000 bags aboard; will leave for Honolulu Saturday afternoon. The Eclipse got to Waimea before the Hall, claimed the right of way, took on 3800 bags of sugar and left for Honolulu Friday afternoon. The Hall would have been back in Honolulu Saturday morning had it not been for the interference of the Eclipse."

YACHT RACES MAKING.

From the looks of things there will be two yacht races on the Fourth of July. The La Paloma and Eva will go into a race for first-class yachts. This will make an event, but if the Helene would come in there would be much more fun. Many of the second-class yachts will enter for a second race. The Fourth of July Committee on Celebration should get in its work and offer a couple of cups.

NOTES OF ISLAND FLEET.

The Malolo, from Kauai yesterday morning, reported a schooner off Kaena point with her foremast gone. She was making for Honolulu with only her mainsail up. She did not call for assistance. The captain of the Malolo made out the schooner to be the blanche and Ella.

The Strathgyle is at the Pacific Mail wharf.

The Carondelet is at the Fort-street wharf.

The Mikahala reports 71,666 bags of sugar on Kauai up to Friday afternoon. The Maui sails for Paauhau, Kukaia, Ookala and Papekou at 5 o'clock next Monday.

The Claudine will be in from Maui ports early this morning.

SUGAR ON HAWAII.

The Kinau reports as follows on sugar left at the various plantations on the big island: Waiakea, 4000; H. P. S. M., 800; Wainaku, 4000; Papekou, 21,000; Pepeekeo, 9000; Honoma, 19,000; Papekou, 15,000; Ookala, 10; Kukaia, 300; Paauhau, 10; Honokaa, 13,000; Kukuiahae, 3400; Honouapo, 3799; and Punaluu, 12,000. Total of 96,599 bags.

The schooner James Rolph, from Newcastle, by way of Mahukona, arrived yesterday, bringing 950 tons of coal to this port. As she arrived in Mahukona and entered there before the 14th, she will pay no duty on her cargo.

FRANCE IS STANDING FIRMLY BY RUSSIA.

Danger of War Between Russia and Japan Greatly Feared in Europe.

PARIS, June 11.—The grave situation in China which has developed this week monopolizes the attention of the political world. The greatest element of danger in the situation is generally felt to be the double duel for supremacy proceeding between Russia and England and Russia and Japan. The sympathies of Frenchmen are naturally with their ally, Russia.

It is not thought that England is likely at the present moment, when her hands are fully occupied with South Africa, to take any step to produce an Anglo-Russian collision; but she is firmly believed here to be behind Japan and her support may encourage the latter to adopt such a policy as will eventually in hostilities with Russia, for which, apparently, the Japanese are itching. The action of the United States is acknowledged to be a most important factor in the situation. Her friendly relations with both Russia and England favor the impression that she will endeavor to steer an independent course, but will, at the same time, if compelled by the force of events, reluctantly join Japan and England.

"We hope the fears expressed by the press of various countries regarding the probability of international complications will not be realized. The one thing to be feared appears to be friction between Japan and Russia, but we think the Japanese Government is too wise to pit itself against the might of the Russian Empire. Japan is certainly very strong on the sea, but on land it is quite a different matter. We are hoping that the trouble will blow over through resolute action on the part of the Chinese Government.

The situation is undoubtedly serious, and unless the Chinese Government rouses itself to a thorough appreciation of the dangers threatening its very existence it is difficult to foresee what will be the outcome. Our cable advices leave the condition of affairs still somewhat obscure, but it is evident that the Peking Government must act promptly and vigorously if it is to stamp out the rebellion. Despite the stories of defeats of the Chinese troops, we still think the army is sufficiently strong to suppress the insurrection, but it must act at once. In the meantime we intend to take such measures as are necessary to safeguard our countrymen and their properties. Our Minister and admiral have been instructed to take this course. Our interests are identical with those of the United States, and there is every reason to believe we shall act in unison during the present crisis. The aim of both is to act purely in defense of the lives and interests of our compatriots which are now in such peril.

WE WANT YOU

To read this advertisement. It will be to your interest to do so, for it will save you money. You must buy groceries. Where do you get them? If not from us you are making a mistake. Some dealers may be as cheap. Others may keep as fine goods, but no house in town can duplicate our prices and quality combined. This may sound like boasting, but it is not. It is a demonstrable fact.

SISTERS

Two of our best customers are sisters. The elder, when she got married, traded with us because her mother did. When the younger followed suit in matrimony, she did likewise in the matter of selecting a grocer.

These two ladies knew that they were certain to get only the best from us. They might have got it from others, but they were taking no chances. Can you blame them?

A STUPID FELLOW

A stupid fellow who gauges the quality of groceries by the price has no business to be married. Yet one of this class directed his wife to buy groceries from another firm because they charged more for it, and "it must therefore be better." His better half bought some from us and some from the other house, and showed her husband that they were identical, being put up by the same people, even. This proved conclusively how foolish a man can be when he really tries. The lady of the house generally knows where she can get the most and the best for the money. Our prices are hard to match.

SAMPLES

Any person who may think of favoring us with patronage is respectfully invited to get a sample of anything in our grocery store which can be sampled. That shows that we have perfect faith in what we offer for sale. Nothing that won't stand this test (or any other, for that matter) can remain on our shelves a moment. The knowledge of that fact ought to inspire confidence.

Plum Puddings, Pimolas, Chicken Loaf, Cottage Loaf, Veal Loaf, Ham Loaf, Boned Chicken and Turkey, Curried Fowl, Curried Oysters, Chicken Tamales, Frankfurts Sausage, Shrimps and Tomatoes, Mackerel in Tomato Sauce, Roast Lamb, Sausage Meat, Parsnips, Spinach, Okra, Cauliflower, Succotash, Lima Beans, String Beans, Figs, Dates, Raisins, Nuts, Jams and Jellies in Tumblers, Postum Cereal, Grapes, nuts, Beef Extract and Vegetables, Granadine, Crystallized Fruits, Table Fruits in Jars and Glass, Apple Butter, Sweet Pickles, German Salt Pickles, Crackers and Fancy Biscuits of all kind also Brooms, Dusters, Soaps, Brushes, Fly Paper, Stove Polish, Shoe Polish. WANT RAILWAYS NATIONALIZED.
Ire of English Commercial Travelers is Aroused over Excess Baggage Charges.

LONDON, June 19.—England's commercial travelers have inaugurated a campaign for the nationalization of the railways of Great Britain. The companies' recent decision to charge for excess baggage has excited the antagonism of the commercial men's fraternity, and the annual conference of travelers' organizations which has just adjourned at Norwich has resolved to agitate for relief from what are denominated the extortionate charges of the railways. The travelers advocate government ownership and declare that they propose to carry their grievance into the politics of the kingdom.

Another cause of complaint on the part of the commercial travelers is the freight charges of the railways, which, they declare, lack little of being prohibitive. The result is a heavy falling off in sales.

"This excess-baggage edict," said Stafford Northcote, head of a London wholesale dry goods establishment, "works immense hardship to commercial men. The travelers are the creators of the roads' chief source of profit and they can well afford to be generous. But the tremendous corporate wealth of the railways has made them arrogant, and traveling men, as well as the public at large, are left at their mercy."

The other side of the argument is presented by William Hopson Pepper Corne, secretary of the Great Eastern Railway, who says that British commercial travelers are "Oliver Twists" so far as concessions are concerned. "Owing to increased operating expenses," he said, "the roads are compelled to avail themselves of every possible source of revenue. The decision to charge for excess baggage is no new rule. In the case of the commercial travelers it amounts simply to enforcing a rule, violations of which hitherto have been winked at. The British railways have no fear of nationalization. The theory is altogether ethereal."

Kennic B. Murray, secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, informs your correspondent that British trade interests believe that relief from railway extortions will come through the railways pooling their issues and coming under the management of a central body, rather than through government ownership. "Taking over the system," he said, "would involve a sum larger than the national debt; but, apart from that consideration, the influence of the railways in Parliament is so powerful that they could throttle any attempt at legislation that aimed to destroy their monopoly."

Turned Her Hair White.
New York, June 9.—Mrs. J. Schrauth of Poughkeepsie, who sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for Germany three weeks ago, in a letter to a relative says the anxiety and excitement of the voyage caused her hair to turn white.

Mrs. Schrauth was accompanied on the voyage by her husband. Head winds and heavy sea were encountered and Mrs. Schrauth was among the first of the passengers to be overcome.

It is said the voyage was the roughest and the weather the most trying ever encountered by the vessel, which plowed through seas that sometimes washed the decks.

Cocaine's Hold on Negroes.
Memphis Tenn., June 9.—The results of a cocaine investigation in Memphis are remarkable, showing the hold the drug has on negroes. Careful inquiry by sanitary officers and members of the board of Health shows that 80 per cent of all the adult negroes of Memphis are more or less addicted to a use of the drug. Some negroes use it as a mild stimulant, but many for its intoxicating effect. Nine out of ten negroes arrested are cocaine users. Laborers and steamboat roustabouts are greatly given to the drug. In the negro district the drug is sold in all groceries as well as at drug stores.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory.

Good Medicine for Children.
If you have a baby in the house you will wish to know the best way to check any unusual looseness of the bowels, or diarrhoea, so common to small children. O. P. M. Holliday, of Deming, Ind., who has an eleven-months-old child, says: "Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach. His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." For sale by all dealers and druggists. NEW SAILOR'S HOME OPENS.

Shipping Men Decide to Run a Sailor Boarding House Here.

The United States Home for sailors regularly opens for business tomorrow. The location selected is on the mauka side of Queen near Richards street. Seamen will now have a regular place to go to as they do in all the large seaport cities of the world.

Messrs. Turk & Lewis who have undertaken the management of the home feel sure they can make it a success. The first business transacted by the new home was the shipping of the crew of the Henry B. Hyde which leaves for New York, Wednesday or Thursday of this week. Regarding religious services the managers of the home have decided that they will have none regularly unless some of the organizations of town see fit to send workers to the place. These will always be welcome. Sailors of all denominations will be received at the home. They will not be compelled to prove good moral character or sobriety as a prerequisite for accommodation.

Will Bore Deeper.

The reports current on the street regarding the failure of one of the wells on Oahu Plantation are without foundation. One of the pumps which has been set up below the level of the ground has not given the satisfaction anticipated, as it was not set far enough down. To offset this the well is to be bored deeper to bring the flow of water up higher.

Funeral Today.

The funeral of the late Geo. Bruns will take place this day at 3 p. m. from the Phytian Castle. Friends and acquaintances respectfully invited to attend.

Body Cremated.

The San Francisco lodge of Odd Fellows of which W. S. Brown, killed in an explosion about three weeks ago, belonged, has sent here for the body. The body has been lying in the Masonic receiving vault at Waikiki since the funeral, and was found on examination to be in no condition to ship. Yesterday it was cremated and the ashes will be sent to San Francisco by the next steamer.

Mrs. Dr. Carmichael, child and maid are guests at the Hilo Hotel.

It Saved His Baby.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea, we were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." says Mr. J. H. Doak, of Williams, Or. "I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory.

OFFICER KELLEY'S VERY BUSY DAY.

Captures a Runaway Horse, a Drunken Muleteer and a Naked Japanese—An Intelligent Horse.

Officer Kelly of the mounted patrol had a day of excitement yesterday. He had not been long on his beat in the afternoon when he discovered a runaway horse on the road near the ke-ro-sene warehouse. The horse is described as a ferocious animal, which was tearing along the road and making straight for a large crowd of children playing in the street. Fearing harm might come to the little ones, Kelly gave chase to the runaway, and was about to grab a rope hanging from its neck when it became entangled in his horse's forelegs and threw him and his rider heavily to the earth.

Kelly was hurt and so was the horse, but the animal recovered first, and getting up, walked to where the prostrate officer was lying, snuffed at him and gently rubbed him with his nose. A man who saw the trouble came to the officer's aid and assisted him to his feet. He was shaken up considerably, but in a few moments was able to mount and go after the runaway, who had jumped a fence nearby and stuck in the mud.

Kelly says that "It brought tears to me eyes the way the faithful creature came over to me to see if I was hurt. 'Tis a fine horse that 'Bille'."

As soon as Kelly was washed up he got another horse and started out on his beat. It was not long before he was seen coming up the street again, but this time it looked as if he was leading a cavalry charge. He had captured a drunken muleteer, who, with his mules, were practicing field tactics in Ka-kaako. The muleteer was locked up and his animals tied alongside of Kelly's first capture across the street from the station.

The biggest capture of the day, though, was in the evening about 8 o'clock. Kelly was patrolling on the corner of Punchbowl, Bein' a dacent mon. I poked the head out of a barrel, and, puttin' the heathen inside, I brought 'm here."

The Jap was locked up for investigation.

Schuman's New Place.

Gus Schuman has opened his carriage repository on Queen street with a full line of new stock. Large shipments of vehicles and harness, lately received, are on view and make a very pretty display. The warehouse is the largest in town and is well filled with the latest examples of the harness and carriage-makers' art. There are surreys, phaetons, buggies, runabouts, road carts and many styles of harness to choose from. The sole agency for the famous Stuefemaker Bros. goods is held by Mr. Schuman for these Islands. He is also selling agent for the Columbus Buggy Company, the Babcock Buggy Company and the Westcott Carriage Company.

On each vessel arriving from the Coast horses, mules and other livestock are being received.

Mr. Schuman takes pleasure in inviting his friends and the public to view the fine display in the new quarters. Intending purchasers of vehicles, harness or livestock should not miss calling at Schuman's before making their selections.

WEDDING GIFT OF $20,000.

Present From Father of Lieutenant Scott, Who Recently Married.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—United States Senator N. B. Scott of West Virginia, who is here attending the meetings of the sub-committee of the Republican National Committee, sent by wire to-day to his son, Lieutenant Scott, at San Francisco, a draft on New York for $20,000.

Young Scott was in the volunteer service and served in the Philippines. While in San Francisco he met a young society girl and they became engaged. The Senator and Mrs. Scott were not told of the romance till a week ago. Mrs. Scott went out to the Coast to attend the wedding, but the Senator was detained by his duties in connection with the Republican Convention. Accompanying the draft Senator Scott sent a dispatch of congratulations, in which he said that when he began life it was with no more than 20 cents.

Shoes Shined by Machine.

The newest slot machine on the market is an automatic contrivance for polishing shoes. The patron drops a nickel in the slot, first of all. Then he puts his foot in a niche, and a brush applies the blacking; in another niche he thrusts his shoe, and it is quickly, but thoroughly "shined," and in still another hole it is "polished" with a soft cloth, in the highest style of the art.—New York Letter.

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory.

STRIKE ON PLANTATIONS.

NOTES FROM THE TRACK.

Comments of Racing Men on Horses and Coming Races.

Six steeds sent up from the capital to gather cups and coin on the new Hilo race track at Hoolulu Park, arrived by the Helene a few days ago, and are "working out" each day, preparatory to the Fourth. Others are looked for later, though none arrived by the Kinau, contrary to expectation.

A local racing man, who came up by the Inter-Island liner, gives the following notes:

Directress, owned by Norton, and who won her race so cleverly on the 11th, will be here to race Loupe, arriving by next Kinau.

Silas Skinner, the winner of the big trotting race June 14, will come with Directress to go against Outcast. Another fast racer is also expected, and will probably make it interesting for Outcast and Silas Skinner.

All the horses here are now in excellent condition, with the exception of Loupe, who is on his way to the Coast, where he will be put on a stock farm. Charles Egan says he thinks Loupe will be able to race, but if not Outcast will take his place.

Wilson's new arrival, Naples, proved to be the fastest runner at the Honolulu meet.

Mr. William Cunningham is expected up on next Kinau with a couple of runners.

Mr. Wilson's Everett gives promise of being a crackerjack. Jockey Thomas, who will ride here for Wilson, is undoubtedly the best jockey in Honolulu. William McMannus, one of the best-known drivers in the country, is here with Loupe.—Tribune.

THE PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION.

Decide to Cancel Contracts and Employ Free Labor.

The trustees of the Hawaiian Planters' Association met at Firemen's Hall on Thursday afternoon to consider the labor conditions and the advisability of conforming to the action of the Honolulu Planters' Association, which had decided to cancel all labor contracts at once and proceed to arrange for free labor.

After some discussion this was thought to be the best course to pursue, and it was so enacted, and all plantations on this side of the slano will give their laborers carte blanche to go or stay, only if they stay they will have to work. The monthly remittances of $2.00 to the immigration companies in Honolulu as payment on money advanced by them for laborers' passage to this country will be discontinued, except where the laborer desires it to be continued.

Manager McStocker of Oloa has told his men who struck to take their contracts and get out, that he doesn't want them around and will replace them at his convenience with laborers of his own choosing. The Japs, several hundred in number, don't relish this, and are anxiously requesting to be allowed to hana. Their moe moe streak has left them.—Tribune.

Quite Thoroughly Inspected.

"I trust, William," said the old gentleman in a kindly tone, "that you have not entered into this engagement hastily. I have only met the young lady casually, but I hope you have seen a good deal of her."

"Oh, yes, indeed," answered the young man, enthusiastically. "Why, I've seen her in the ballroom and on the bathing beach."—Chicago Post.

The Only Good.

"I admit," said the Kentuckian, "that my native State is not without many blemishes. The only thing good in the State, perhaps, is her whisky, but she's my home State, and I'm loyal to her, sub!"

"I see," remarked the other. "With all her faults you love her 'still.'"—Philadelphia Press.

The Honolulu Republican will be found on sale in Hilo at the store of Wall, Nichols Company.

THE MAN WHO DRESSES WELL

Has that satisfactory feeling which invariably comes to a man after partaking heartily of an excellent dinner. It causes him to wonder what there is in the world to be miserable about.

THE "KASH"

Is a rendezvous for well dressed men. Very Modish are the Suits and Furnishing Goods shown by us this season. Our windows tell about them. Have a look during luncheon hour.

"It's a very good world to live in. To lead, or to spend, or to give in. But to beg, or to borrow, or to get a man's own. It is the very worst world that ever was known."

AND WORST OF ALL, the dear old world is busy trying to forget how to give a lot for a little. It's a tad of ours TO BE FRANK. And, besides, if we advertised at all times to give you more than "your money's worth," it would be an insult to your intelligence.

THIS IS WHAT WE DO—We give you one hundred cents' worth of merchandise for one dollar—EVERY TIME. Ask some of your friends—they know. We are offering this week Crash Suits for Men—Coat, Vest and Pants at $2.55 the Suit.
