

NO LICENSE FOR DEMENT.

He Cannot Run a Saloon at No. 16 Queen Street.

SO HE'S MAD ABOUT IT. AND TALKS STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER OF THE REASONS.

Call Attention to the Fact That Treasurer Lansing is Interested in Five Saloons.

The matter of granting a license to Charles Dement for a saloon, at No. 16 Queen street, came up in the council meeting yesterday, and upon motion of Secretary Cooper, the objections stated to the granting of the license by Treasurer Lansing were concurred in and a refusal of the license was ordered.

As there was considerable comment yesterday on the streets about the refusal to grant this particular license, a Republican reporter called on some of the interested persons. The first seen was Mr. Charles Dement, who said: "About a week ago, having been strongly urged by a number of my friends to apply for a liquor license at No. 16 Queen street, I employed Messrs. Hatch and Andrews to represent me in a petition to the Treasurer. Under the law the Treasurer has absolute power to grant or reject applications for licenses."

"I am an American citizen and I carried arms to establish the Republic of Hawaii. I was always an annexationist. I have never had a stain upon my character, which is well known, as I have resided here for nearly ten years past. My application for the license was endorsed by leading business men of Honolulu and by others."

"The location selected on Queen street, being away from the main streets and in a place not frequented by ladies and children, seemed especially well adapted for a saloon. My application was further endorsed by fifteen ship captains in port; and it was my intention, if a license was granted, to cater to the respectable portion of the seafaring trade."

"I have just learned that Mr. Lansing has refused to grant me a license, although he stated to my attorneys no later than Thursday that no protests had been made against granting the license; but at the same time, he refused to give him any grounds for his objections to giving me one."

"The fact that Peacock & Co., an English corporation which controls five saloons, and of which Mr. Lansing is a director, objected, is, perhaps, the chief reason for the Treasurer's refusal to grant my application. The saloons and bars controlled by Peacock & Co. are: The Royal, at the corner of Merchant and Nuuanu streets; Royal Annex, next door to the Royal; Cosmopolitan, at Hotel and Nuuanu streets; Pacific, at King and Nuuanu streets; and the Mooring Hotel at Waikiki. My place would have been a competitor with the Royal."

"It remains to be seen," concluded Mr. Dement, "how long the people here will stand being dictated to by interested officeholders. I read in the New York papers recently about Mayor Van Wyck and the Tammany law suit, but in Honolulu we have Lansing, the officeholder, checking competition against Lansing, of the whisky trust."

Lorin Andrews of counsel for Mr. Dement said: "Yes, I represented Charles Dement in his application for a saloon license at No. 16 Queen street, but we were not in the cabinet, or whatever the organization is that now stands as the government for Hawaii, there were no specific objections to our being granted a license. When the liquor dealers were called to meet with the Governor and his council of state to consider the proposition of the Governor to refuse license for saloons on Fort street, it was pointed out to the other dealers that the granting of a license to Mr. Dement would add to their opposition. Despite this no objection was raised by the other dealers."

"As late as Thursday no objections to our being granted a license had been filed with the Treasurer. But when the council met yesterday the Treasurer presented objections signed by five property owners on Queen street against granting us a license and without giving me a chance to be heard on behalf of my client his application for a license was refused. As the objectors on Queen street are business men who would not be injured in any way by a saloon at No. 16, it looks very much like they had been induced to sign an objection, so as to afford the Treasurer ground on which to refuse our application."

"Another objection stated was that passers-by would be disturbed, as though it would not be just as easy for Mr. Dement to keep an orderly place as for anyone else to do so."

Yesterday evening Mr. J. G. Rothwell of the firm of W. C. Peacock & Co. was seen and asked if he or his firm had made any objection to the application of Mr. Charles Dement for a liquor license. Mr. Rothwell said: "I can state absolutely that no objection has been raised by myself individually, or by any member of the firm to Mr. Dement's application or to any other."

other. I am very much surprised to hear that any suggestion to that effect has been made. Yes, Mr. T. F. Lansing is a director in the firm of W. C. Peacock & Co. That is a matter of record and there is no secret about it."

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE.

Hawaiian Art Publishing Company to be Established.

The Hawaiian Art Publishing Company is the name of a new corporation which will shortly be doing business in this city. J. J. Williams and Frederick J. Behre are largely interested in the corporation.

Mr. Behre came here on the Australia. He has recently returned from Australia, where he made a careful study of his profession, that of photographing.

The corporation, when its costly plant arrives, which is en route, will do map, colored label, water color designs, pencil drawings, engraving, embossing, photo-engraving, steel plate and copper plate engraving work.

REPRIEVE OF FIVE YEARS.

GOVERNOR DOLE ACTS IN THE IHARA CASE.

No Authority Vested in the Governor for Commuting His Sentence.

Ihara, the Japanese murderer of Kahuku, who was sentenced to death, was reprieved for the term of five years by Governor Dole on the third day of July. There was some hesitancy as to what action could be taken in the case. Lately a request was received by Governor Dole from Mr. Stevens, attorney for the Japanese minister at Washington, asking for a delay in the execution of Ihara.

In speaking of the matter yesterday afternoon Governor Dole said to the Republican: "I have reprieved Ihara for five years, there being no authority vested in the Governor for commuting his sentence."

JAPANESE CONSUL TO INVESTIGATE.

It is Claimed that Officer Hanrahan Used too Much Force in Arresting a Servant.

Japanese Consul Miki Saito is making an investigation of an arrest of one of his countrymen, a servant in the household of Mrs. Peterson, on Hotel street, on July 3rd, by Officer Hanrahan.

The consul has been informed that the Japanese was arrested on suspicion of having stolen the sum of $28 from the vest pocket of Bush, one of the lodgers in the house.

Sam Johnson of the Board of Health states that Hanrahan in arresting the man used unnecessary violence and that he struck him, although the Japanese made no resistance.

Officer Hanrahan stated last evening that he had arrested the Jap at the request of the man who lost the money; that he took hold of him by the collar and walked him out to the back waiting outside. The officer claims he has a good case against the man who is still locked up on suspicion.

NATURALIZATION PETITIONS.

CLERK THOMPSON WEARY FROM MANY APPLICANTS.

List of Petitioners—A Chalk Plate Artist Thought American Citizenship too High.

Petitions for naturalization are rolling in rapidly. James A. Thompson, clerk of the Supreme Court, is kept busy making out applications and issuing certificates. The genial Thompson says that if the rush continues he will be compelled to have several deputies or take a vacation, as there is too much work for one man to do. Those not American citizens are desirous, anxiously desirous, of getting under the folds of the American flag.

The following petitioned for naturalization yesterday: Henry Davis, a native of Canada; Alexander Drysdale Thompson, of Canada; James D. Tregloan, of Ireland; Alexander Raymond, of Canada; John T. Wind, of Norway; John R. Macaulay, of Scotland; A. B. Scrimgeour, of Scotland; John I. Schack, of Germany; William J. White, of New Zealand; William Smith of Scotland; Frederick L. Leslie, of England; James Macdonald, of Canada; Edmund C. Shorey, of Canada; Henry Roberts twenty-one years ago fled his declaration on the mainland to become a citizen of the United States, paying 50 cents.

Yesterday Mr. Roberts approached Clerk Thompson's desk, remarking that he would like to file his petition for naturalization.

Clerk Thompson got the blank and commenced filling it in.

"How much will it cost?" asked Roberts.

"Seven dollars and a half," answered Thompson.

"Well, I don't want it at that price." And Roberts indignantly walked away. Roberts was formerly a chalk-plate artist on a morning paper.

CHINA BIDS DEFIANCE TO ALL THE WORLD POWERS.

Ministers of Foreign Nations Ordered to Leave Peking on June 19th.

They Refused to Comply and Grave Fears for Their Safety are Entertained—Admiral Seymour and the Allied Forces After Getting Within Ten Miles of Peking are Compelled to Return to Tien-Tsin—Battleship Oregon Strikes Pinnacle Rock.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff:

"CHEFOO, June 30.—To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington.—The Ministers at Peking were given twenty-four hours to leave on the 19th. They refused and are still there. The Peking relief force only got half way when they were compelled to return. They were attacked by Imperial troops on the 18th. McCalla was in command. Four were killed and twenty-five wounded. McCalla and Ensign Taussig were wounded but not seriously."

"There are now over 14,000 troops ashore. Commander Wise commands at Tong Ku, in charge of transportation by rail and river. The combined nationalities find it necessary to make use of some civilians to operate the railway."

"KEMPF."

LONDON, June 30, 3 A. M.—The adventures of the hard-fighting allies under Admiral Seymour—their reaching Anting, twelve miles from Peking; the decision to retreat, the capture of rice and immense stores of modern arms and ammunition, affording material for a strenuous defense until relieved—all this was told in a dispatch from Admiral Seymour received by the Admiralty at midnight, which runs as follows: "TIEN-TSIN, June 27, via Chefoo, June 29, 10:05 P. M.—Have returned to Tien-Tsin with the forces, having been unable to reach Peking by rail. On June 12 two attacks on the advance guard were made by the Boxers, who were repulsed with considerable loss to them and none of our side. On June 14 the Boxers attacked the train at Lang Yang in large numbers and with great determination. We repulsed them with a loss of about 100 killed. Our loss was seven Italians."

"The same afternoon the Boxers attacked the British guard left to protect Lofa station. Reinforcements were sent back and the enemy was driven off with 100 killed. Two of our seamen were wounded. "We pushed forward to Anting and engaged the enemy on June 18 and June 14, inflicting a loss of 175. There were no casualties on our side. Extensive destruction of the railway in our front having made further advance by rail impossible I decided on June 16 to return to Yang-tsun, where it was proposed to organize an advance by the river to Peking. After my departure from Lang Yang two trains left to follow on were attacked on June 18 by Boxers and Imperial troops from Peking, who lost from 400 to 500 killed. Our casualties were six killed and forty-eight wounded. These trains joined me at Yang-tsun the same evening."

"The railway at Yang-tsun was found entirely demolished and the trains could not be moved. The force being short of provisions and hampered with wounded compelled us to withdraw on Tien-Tsin, with which we had not been in communication for six days, and our supplies had been cut off."

"On June 19 the wounded, with necessities, started by boat, the forces marching alongside the river. Opposition was experienced during the whole course of the river from nearly every village. The Boxers, when defeated in one village, retiring to the next and skillfully retarding our advance by occupying well-selected positions, from which they had to be forced often at the point of the bayonet and in face of a galling fire, difficult to locate."

"On June 23 we made a night march, arriving at daybreak opposite the Imperial armory, above Tien-Tsin, where, after friendly advances, a tremendous heavy fire was opened, while our men were exposed on the opposite river bank. The enemy were kept in check by rifle fire in front, while their position was turned by a party of marines and seamen under Major Johnson, who rushed and occupied one of the salient points, seizing the guns. The Germans, lower down, silenced two guns and then crossed the river and captured them. The army was next occupied by the combined forces. Determined attempts to retake the armory were made on the following day, but unsuccessfully."

"Found immense stores of guns, arms and ammunition of the latest pattern. Several guns were mounted in our defense and shelled the Chinese forts lower down."

"Having found ammunition and rice, we could have held out for some days, but the 25th inst. The Chinese Minister here, Mr. Wu, has private advice to the same effect, which he has brought to the attention of the State Department."

HAY HOLDS A CONFERENCE. WASHINGTON, June 30.—Although Secretary Hay came over to his office at noon, being the senior Cabinet officer in town, in the President's absence, he sent immediately for the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy. The officials responded at once and a Cabinet council was held in Secretary Hay's office. Of course the Chinese situation was the subject of discussion. All of the official dispatches received this morning were carefully considered. The conclusion reached was that nothing had developed warranting a change of policy at this stage. So it was decided that no further instructions should be dispatched to our naval commander in China nor have more troops been ordered there."

ROUTE OF CHINA FORCES UNDECIDED. Transport Superintendent Telegraphs for Instructions—Leelanaw Clears for Nagasaki.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Colonel Long, superintendent of the Army Transport Service, has telegraphed to Washington for instructions in regard to the transport Grant and the horse-ships Lenox, Conemaugh and Leelanaw. The transport is scheduled to sail to-morrow with the Sixth Cavalry for Nagasaki, and the Conemaugh to-night for the same place. The Lenox is at Portland and will sail from there on July 3. Though Colonel Long suggested in his dispatch that the horse carriers be sent to Kobe instead of Nagasaki, the Leelanaw cleared yesterday for Nagasaki via Honolulu. At Kobe there are accommodations for horses, while there are none at the other port.

General Shafter telegraphed yesterday to Washington to learn whether twenty-two nurses who had been ordered to Manila on the Grant should not be detained until a later transport. The Secretary of War replied that the women should go as had been planned. General Chaffee, who is in sail on the Grant, is expected to-morrow morning. In case he does not arrive a transport will be held for him.

"The complement of 120 men will be taken for each of the eight troops, which in addition to a hospital corps, made up at the Presidio, 300 recruits and 200 marines, will constitute the force going to China. The Ninth Infantry and a signal corps from Manila and the marines already in China will complete General Chaffee's force, making 990 to 999 in all."

SHARP FIGHTS WITH BOERS. ASSAULTS ON CONVOYS COSTLY TO THE ENGLISH.

Lord Methuen Captures Thousands of Sheep and Cattle from the Enemy's Lager.

LONDON, June 30.—4:20 A. M.—Active Boer guerrilla operations are reported from half a dozen points in Orange river colony.

The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts: "PRETORIA, June 29.—Paget reports from Lindley that he was engaged on June 26th with a body of the enemy, who were strongly re-enforced during the day. A convoy of stores for the Lindley garrison was also attacked on June 26th, but after a heavy re-guard action the convoy reached Lindley in safety. Our casualties were ten killed and four officers and about fifty men wounded."

"The fight reported yesterday was under Lieutenant-Colonel Grenfell, not Dreiper. Brabant came up during the engagement. Total casualties of the two columns, three killed and twenty-three wounded."

"On the previous day, near Ficksburg, Boyes' brigade was in action with a body of the enemy. Our casualties were two officers killed, four men wounded and one man missing."

"Metinen found yesterday that the Boer laager near Vachkop and Spitzkop was being hastily removed in the direction of Lindley. He followed the enemy twelve miles and captured 800 sheep and 300 head of cattle, which the enemy had seized in that neighborhood. Our casualties were four men wounded."

"Hunter continued his march yesterday toward the Vaal river unopposed. Many farmers along the route have surrendered."

"Springs, the terminus of the railway from Johannesburg, due east, was attacked yesterday morning. The Canadian regiment which garrisoned the place beat off the enemy. No casualties are reported."

"Lieutenant North, reported missing after the attack on the construction train, is a prisoner of the Boers."

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times says: "Sixth the Boers and the foreigners who are arriving here profess a strong belief that it will take from three to six months to subdue the Boers."

CHINESE PLAYING DOUBLE. LONDON, June 30, 2:42 P. M.—Uncertainty remains the keynote to the situation in China. Well informed quarters continue to believe the legations are still at Peking, but authentic information is lacking. The dispatches tend to create an impression that the Chinese authorities are playing a double game, simultaneously prosecuting new edicts against the Boxers and sending secret orders to the Viceroy to disband the "command" to suppress the outbreak.

TIEN-TSIN ARSENAL CAPTURED. LONDON, June 30, 2:50 P. M.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from Colonel Darby: "CHEFOO, June 30.—The arsenal northeast of Tien-Tsin was captured during the morning of June 27 by the combined force. The British troops engaged were the naval brigade and the Chinese regiment. The naval brigade had four men killed and fifteen wounded, including two officers. The Chinese regiment had no casualties. The latter checked an attack by the Boxers on our left flank with heavy loss to the enemy."

RAGSDALE HEARD FROM. WASHINGTON, June 30.—The following cablegram has been received from United States Consul Ragsdale at Tien-Tsin, dated the 27th inst., being the first communication received from that officer in nearly two weeks: "The siege of Tien-Tsin has been raised. Troops sent for the relief of the legations have returned, in a vain effort to reach Peking, fighting seven separate battles. The American loss is six killed and thirty-eight wounded."

"On the 19th the Ministers at Peking were given twenty-four hours to leave the city. They refused and are still there."

"RAGSDALE." A cablegram received at the State Department to-day from Ambassador Choate at London states that the foreign Ministers were safe at Peking on the 25th inst. The Chinese Minister here, Mr. Wu, has private advice to the same effect, which he has brought to the attention of the State Department."

"If I were called upon as a Federal officer to suppress a riot I would do my best to restore peace and order. No matter how turbulent and tempestuous the multitude might be I should have no fear. I would do my duty." And the speaker's black eyes flashed as she uttered quietly, but resolutely, the words.

"I was Deputy United States Marshal Lydia J. Ray, who uttered these words. She was sitting on the lanai of the Hawaiian Hotel. Miss Ray was plainly, but becomingly, dressed. She wore a light blue skirt and white embroidered waist, with high collar. About the collar was a blue ribbon clasped at the front with a gold pin, in which three jewels sparkled. On her head was a small Panama hat with broad, dark blue band. The prevalence of so much blue led one to infer that it was Miss Ray's favorite color. The hat did not conceal entirely a wealth of black hair brushed back in wavy lines.

The hat did not conceal entirely a wealth of black hair brushed back in wavy lines.

"The Deputy United States Marshal is rather small in stature, of good figure, bright and vivacious. Her manner of expression is entertaining and her conversation instructive. She has seen much of the world, and possessing observation and the gift of imparting her impressions, she makes companionship pleasant."

Miss Ray does not belong to the type of the new woman. She is of the womanly woman order that has done so much to make America the first nation in the world.

"The Deputy United States Marshal of Hawaii occupies a unique position in official circles. There are only two Deputy United States Marshals who are women in America."

"I think," said Miss Ray, "that the growth of Hawaii is marvelous. I am particularly impressed with the great business activity of Honolulu. I did not expect to find such a beautiful place as you have here, although I have read much about it."

"As we entered the harbor right after sunrise the scenery was so picture-queously beautiful that I thought it was a vision of paradise. We came on the China, and the service on her is equal to the big steamships on the Atlantic. This was my first trip on the Pacific, although I have crossed the Atlantic a good many times."

"A great many cultured people have emigrated from the States to Honolulu, and society here is equal to the society of Boston and New York. I had expected to find here a society similar to that of Mexico or Cuba, but I have been most agreeably surprised."

"There is much more activity and development here than in Mexico or Cuba or in some of our Southern States. The natives are far more of an intellectual type than the Cubans."

"Your parks, or, as they are called, squares, are charming, and the Hawaiian land is excellent by none, unless it be Sousa's. The scenery of Waikiki is lovely. Every day I feel like exclaiming with Richard: 'A horse, a horse! my kingdom for a horse!' that I may enjoy the beautiful scenery."

"I feel that I should like to get to work. I can't bear being idle. I cannot do much, however, until the United States District Court is organized here. We met Judge Estee in San Francisco, and it is his intention of leaving for the Islands on August 5. Father and I cannot qualify until the court is established."

"The only thing that I have seen to cause here, and I don't wish to criticize, is the street-car service. Why, would you believe it," and the Deputy Marshal roughly smiled, "I believe some of the mules are less than a generation removed from those that came out of Noah's ark! It took us two hours to come in from Waikiki."

Again expressing much admiration for Honolulu, the Deputy Marshal bade the Republican reporter good evening.

HONOLULU, H. T., JULY 7, 1900.

HE SHOULD RESIGN.

According to the statements made in the news columns of The Republican this morning, Mr. T. F. Lansing, Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii and the man who passes upon all applications for saloon license, is a stockholder and director in the firm of W. C. Peacock & Co., which, besides operating a wholesale liquor house on Merchant street, owns and controls five saloons in various parts of the city.

The Penal Code of Hawaii, Sec. 434, says: "The Minister of the Interior shall have the power to grant licenses to retail spirituous liquors, upon application in writing, stating the name of the vendor and where the applicant intends to establish his place of business in each district."

Section 72 of the Organic Act of Hawaii, in defining the duties of the Territorial Treasurer, says: "He shall have the powers and duties of the Minister of Finance and those of the powers and duties of the Minister of the Interior, which relate to licenses, corporations, partnerships, etc."

The Supreme Court of Hawaii has held that the power to grant or refuse a license to retail spirituous liquors rests entirely in the hands of the Minister of the Interior, now the Treasurer, and that the courts have no right to review his actions. In other words, the Supreme Court of the old Republic of Hawaii clothed the Treasurer with automatic power in regard to the granting or refusal of licenses, and the applicant has no redress from the Treasurer's decision.

Under all the circumstances, the right or wrong of the refusal to grant a license to Mr. Dement has no bearing upon the case. It is whether or not Mr. Lansing is a proper man to be clothed with the absolute power to refuse or grant saloon licenses. The Republican holds that he is not. It believes that the duty of Mr. Lansing is to resign, and resign at once, and if he has not the sense of propriety to do this, then the Governor should remove him.

THE KITCHEN CABINET.

Isn't it about time that Governor Dole abolished his kitchen cabinet? When Hawaii was an independent republic it was right and proper for the President and his cabinet to meet for conference, but why are conferences on the same basis necessary now. What has Secretary Coper, for instance, to do with the duties of Treasurer Lansing, or vice versa? Or what has the Superintendent of Education to do with the duties of the Superintendent of Public Works?

Each and every man at the head of a department is directly responsible to the chief executive, who in this case is the Governor, and to no one else. These so-called executive meetings, or meetings of the so-called executive council, which are nothing more than kitchen cabinet meetings, are simply making the administration a farce. If the Superintendent of Public Education, for example, is competent to perform the work for which he is appointed, why is it necessary for him to meet with the kitchen cabinet to discuss his plans and his work and to have others, who know nothing about it, attempt to pass judgment upon it.

They know nothing whatever of the subject because they have other duties to perform which require all their attention, and, of course, they acquiesce in what the Superintendent of Education says. So with every other head of a department. As a mutual admiration society, the kitchen cabinet is a success, but as a practical working body, it is a sham and a farce. It consumes a lot of time of each member that had better be employed in attending to the work each one has in hand.

It is easy enough for the Governor to hold each member of his administration to a strict accountability of the conduct of his office without these secret meetings of a kitchen cabinet. They are simply making your administration ridiculous, Governor; abolish them. Take the helm yourself as Governor and hold each man responsible for his department, and hold yourself responsible for the whole. It don't pay to try to shift responsibility; that method results in ruin every time.

Conservatism in government is all right under certain conditions, but Hawaii is in the condition to-day where she needs an energetic, progressive and vigorous administration; one not afraid to be progressive and get out of the old rut so long pursued in Hawaii.

The people of Honolulu must not lose sight of the importance of municipal government. It is high time something was being done towards framing a city charter for presentation to the Legislature next December. Members of the Chamber of Commerce, what is the matter with your waking up and calling a meeting for such a purpose?

"What do we need of municipal government?" shouts the croaker and the opponent of progress. Of course, what do we need with increased steamer service between Hawaii and the Coast, or with better mail service or any other improvements? Aren't the old ways good enough?

A man who thinks so little of American citizenship as to refuse to pay the court fees for naturalization is mighty poor material to be a citizen of any country. No wonder his native country spewed him out and was glad to be rid of him.

Saved by McCalla.

NEW YORK, June 29.—A cable to the World from Taku says: That Admiral Seymour's expedition, with all the sick and wounded, is safe at Tien-Tsin, though terribly exhausted, is due to Captain Bowman H. McCalla, commander of the detachment of the United States marines with the force. On landing Captain McCalla took two weeks' supplies for his men, whereas the allies had only five days' stores. When the rations of the others were exhausted Captain McCalla shared his supplies with the rest of the allied force, and thus actually saved the whole body from starvation.

WHY ROOSEVELT WAS NOMINATED.

Inside History of the National Republican Convention.

ANYTHING TO BEAT HANNA

POPULARITY OF NEW YORKER PLAYED UPON BY POLITICIANS.

Senator Walcott's Reference to the Territory of Hawaii in his Address as Temporary Chairman.

(Staff Correspondence of The Republican.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—The National Republican Convention has come to an end after an exciting struggle lasting three days, and the ticket placed in nomination is McKinley and Roosevelt. National conventions do not usually have a fuss over the second place upon the ticket, but this one did, and here is the story about it:

Away back several months ago there was a great deal of talk about Governor Roosevelt of New York, the man who led the Rough Riders in the war with Spain, as McKinley's running mate. Roosevelt declined as soon as the subject was mentioned. That happened in Albany last winter. For a time the talk subsided, and then it sprang up again. Roosevelt then came to Washington and had a talk with President McKinley about it. After that talk he again announced that he would not be a candidate for Vice-President, and that appeared to settle the whole matter. After that the administration set about picking out a candidate. John D. Long of Massachusetts, the present Secretary of the Navy, was decided upon by McKinley, Hanna and the other big Republicans. Representative Dolliver of Iowa—a gentleman with an astounding command of language and jokes—had a boom of his own, which General Grosvenor of Ohio helped along. Irving M. Scott of San Francisco, "the man who built the Oregon," had a little boom, and some big Republicans hoped that along somewhat. But the real administration candidate, who was to be sprung upon the convention at the proper time, was John Davis Long of Massachusetts, and Mr. Long said in three interviews that he would accept the nomination if the Republicans saw fit to give it to him.

That was the way things stood when the convention began to get into Philadelphia. Roosevelt came down from Albany. He wore an old suit of clothes, a Rough Rider hat, and the delegations from all the States began to get enthusiastic over him. They yelled whenever he appeared in public. Tim Woodruff, the Lieutenant-Governor of New York, came along, also, and he was a candidate for Vice-President, but everybody regarded that as a big joke. Senator Hanna of Ohio came here for the first time. He was getting more and more enthusiastic for Roosevelt. They were bound that he would be nominated. When he appeared in the convention all business was stopped by the cheering.

This enthusiasm—to make a long story short—finally got such headway that yesterday afternoon this thing became apparent to Senator Hanna: That is the convention leaders would not permit the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt of New York for Vice-President, the convention itself, headed by the Californians, would place him in nomination for President of the United States.

That was a business threat anybody could understand, and the wiser of it was that the thing could be done with ease. Senator Hanna backed down, announced that Roosevelt was the choice of the convention for Vice-President—consequently the choice of the administration—and so the ticket nominated to-day was McKinley and Roosevelt.

That is the plain story of what happened, told about in a plain way and with no regard for party feeling. Aside from this fight, which did the Republican party good, since it was settled on the spot, the convention was enthusiastic.

There were fine speeches all around, and the platform was satisfactory. Senator Walcott of Colorado, the temporary chairman of the convention, made a ringing speech, and in it he made this reference to Hawaii: "For half a century the Hawaiian Islands, a menace to the long line of coast which skirts our Pacific slope, have been knocking for admission as part of our territory, and during that period the publicly expressed opinion of both political parties favored their annexation. Four times have they been occupied by European powers, and as often have we compelled their abandonment because it was essential that they should never be occupied by any foreign power. Finally, after years of misgovernment by native rulers, the gallant descendants of American merchants and missionaries made prof-der our flag and dominion. A Democratic President repudiated the offer and sought to assist in restoring the former corrupt and oppressive ruler. It was left for this administration to make them a part of American territory. They are on the way to our Islands in the Southern seas; every instinct of self-protection should have prompted our quick acceptance of their overtures, and yet they were acquired in spite of the bitter opposition of almost every Democrat in Congress."

There were other references to Hawaii, and all of them were greeted with cheers. The Hawaiian delegation here was interesting to the convention. It was treated with rather scant consideration, maybe, by the convention managers, but that was through oversight. When the convention men the two delegates admitted as such—Colonel Samuel Parker and Judge Kepoika—had good seats, but there was no honor to tell where they came from. This was righted later, and his banner was stretched in the hall, bearing the word, Hawaii. E. S. L.

SYNDICATE MAY BUY LILUOKALANI'S CLAIM

Visit of a London Banker to This City Gives Rise to Rumors.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—A Hoffmann, a banker and capitalist of London, who has been at the Palace Hotel for several days, was former Hawaiian Minister to the Court of St. James during the reign of the late King Kalakaua. He came here from the East, it is said, with a proposition from an English syndicate to buy up the crown land claims of ex-Queen Liliuokalani, which are still pending at Washington. This proposed syndicate deal is the result of a close study of the deposed Queen's claims and a belief that her demands are just and will meet with the approval of the Government.

Mr. Hoffmann has never visited the Islands, but was appointed to the position of Minister by Kalakaua on the occasion of his late Majesty's first visit to London more than twenty years ago. He assisted materially in floating the first Hawaiian loan in London, a part of which has been assumed by this Government since annexation. Yesterday Mr. Hoffmann left for New York and will soon sail for London.

UTILITY OF BAGASSE FUEL.

INTERESTING COMMENTS BY LOUISIANA PLANTER.

Some of the Details of Recent Discussion by the Sugar Association.

The Louisiana Planter has published some interesting supplemental comments upon the utilization of bagasse as fuel which subject was very fully discussed in the Louisiana Sugar Planters' Association. The following are the Planter's comments:

"We desire, however, to bring out some of the more salient points of the discussion. Three of these were quite conspicuous. Mr. R. G. Comeaux adverted to the fact that he had used bagasse directly under the boilers in place of coal and had done this without any drying process other than the degree of dryness obtained by reasonably good extraction and at times a delay of a few hours between the time that the bagasse was produced and the time that it was burned under the boilers. It is a well-known fact that for 200 years sugars have been made in the tropics with no other fuel than the bagasse of the cane used in sugar-making. It has hitherto been necessary, however, to dry this bagasse in the sun, in order to make it a desirable fuel, and the amount of labor requisite to carry the bagasse out to the drying places and to return it to the furnaces has always been so great as to lead to earnest efforts to invent apparatuses that should burn the bagasse as it came directly from the mills.

"In the tropics the dry bagasse was for many years, and in most cases is still, fed into the furnaces just as we do, or as coal would be fed into the same furnaces. It is consumed on grate bars and directly under open trains, where the cane juice is thus boiled, or directly under the steam boilers where steam is used for evaporation, and also under the steam boilers that drive the mill engines.

"Mr. Comeaux has found that he could burn bagasse in this way with what seemed to be a complete success, but his work of this kind was generally done when his sugar house was not in full operation. His conclusions, based upon his own experience, were that bagasse could be successfully burned in the furnaces found ordinarily under boilers by feeding it in evenly over the grate bars as other fuel would be fed.

"The next point brought out as we think with striking clearness, by Mr. E. L. Stream, was the value of external furnaces for burning bagasse rather than to have them directly under the boilers. These external furnaces, known generally as Dutch ovens, have been used for more than half a century everywhere in burning refractory fuels. A half a century ago the reverberatory or air furnaces were almost exclusively used for melting iron. Cast iron melts at about 2500 F. It is well known that the interior of our bagasse furnaces becomes coated with glass, or melted silica, the sand of the sugar cane making this glassy coating, which requires a temperature of about 2200 F. Mr. Stream, in building the bagasse furnaces at the Grumery central sugar house, built them with lower crowns than usual, the arch, we think, standing about 4 1/2 feet above the level of the grate bars. As proven by the air furnace melting iron, and by the bagasse furnace melting iron, and producing glass, these high temperatures can be reached in such furnaces, but they must be external to the boilers and made with arches of refractory material, ordinarily fire brick.

"In the burning of bagasse, sawdust, and tan bark, to which these furnaces have been adapted, there is rarely less than 50 per cent of water in the fuel thus burned. When this fuel is consumed at a low initial temperature, or at 1000 F., or 1500 F., or bright fuel is evaporated, and, passing off to the chimney, the fuel in its turn, is consumed, but the large amount of the vapor of water passing off carries away with it a large amount of the heat evolved, and the useful effect of the bagasse is thereby very largely diminished.

"The problem, therefore, is to dispose of the water in these refractory furnaces without industrial loss, and it was found in practice, long before the theory was deduced, that with an external furnace and high initial heat, such fuels could be successfully utilized when success was impossible in ordinary furnaces. Water is composed of hydrogen and oxygen in combination. These two inflammable gases, which combined, form water, may be dissociated at a temperature of about 2200 F. Water begins to decompose at about 1800 F., but only to a very limited extent, beginning at 2192 F. If, therefore, the initial temperature of the furnace can be kept above 2200 F., or up to a white heat, the water contained in the bagasse is decomposed, and in its new combinations with the carbon of the bagasse it will evolve as much as was consumed in the dissociation and in this way the water in the fuel can be disposed of without industrial loss, a fact that led Professor Silliman of Yale College, many years ago, to say that under proper furnace conditions, wet fuel was better than dry. This may have seemed a little extravagant, but at the same time our inventors were endeavoring to plan mechanisms for the burning of water, believing that they had arrived at conclusions that would work industrial revolutions in that direction. Our experience is to-day that it is somewhat difficult to maintain the necessarily very high initial temperature in our bagasse furnaces, and that with us dry bagasse always burns better than wet. Mr. Stream, in the lowering of the arch of his bagasse furnace, seems to have made a move in the right direction. Fifteen or twenty years ago there was quite a disposition in this State to place the bagasse furnaces directly under the boilers, the immediate impact of the flames against the bottom of the boilers being then thought to produce the best results. More recently the external furnace, or Dutch oven furnace, is coming into higher esteem, and we believe that it to-day is generally preferred.

"The third point brought out in the discussion before the Planter's Association last week that we have heretofore referred to, was that of the distribution of the bagasse over the grate surface of the furnaces. Mr. Comeaux seems to have thought that he could effect this satisfactorily by hand feeding, and that when he fed by hand he had no trouble in maintaining an ample supply of steam for the work that he had in hand. The bagasse furnaces in use in Louisiana generally are fed automatically, and while grate bars are now in general use, there is ordinarily but one hopper over each furnace, and the bagasse falling on the grate is apt to accumulate in piles, unless the furnaces are intensely consumed out of the way all the time. As Mr. Fisher said in his paper, if the best fuel that we have, bituminous coal, were fed automatically into our boiler furnaces, regardless of the quantity already on the grate bars, and in high piles not covering the grate surface, we should lose a very large part of the value of such fuel. This conclusion is certainly a true one. To remedy that difficulty Mr. Fisher has a special mechanical device for the distribution of the bagasse over the entire grate surface of the furnace. Even with his device he might still labor under the difficulty of having an excess of fuel in the furnace, but he believes and seems to have substantiated, that he can spread the bagasse evenly over the entire furnace, thus facilitating an even combustion, preventing the access of unnecessarily cold air and producing such conditions as are everywhere recognized as essential to good combustion. Some years ago a Pittsburg inventor came to New Orleans for the purpose of exploiting a furnace in which he would distribute the bagasse more thoroughly by having our ordinary brick furnaces with a number of hopper holes on the top, say six or eight, through which the bagasse should be fed to the various parts of the furnace as it might seem to be needed. These hoppers, or openings, were covered with tight iron lids, and as the draft would ordinarily be inward, there was not much danger of fire, and the top house being built of iron, this plan of feeding, it was thought, could be accomplished with safety. Interest in bagasse burning at that time was not so great as at present, and the inventor of that plan, which he said had been successfully tested in Cuba, did not secure any patrons in Louisiana, so far as we learned.

"Reverting, then, to the three points brought out in the recent meeting, viz., Mr. Comeaux's insistence on the careful distribution of the bagasse over the grate surface, Mr. Stream's insistence on the development of high initial heat by low crown fire arches external to the boilers, and Mr. Fisher's claim that his device will successfully distribute the incoming bagasse over the whole grate surface without any injurious or unpleasant conditions, we may conclude that considerable light has again been thrown upon this somewhat difficult subject and that all our readers who are interested in bagasse burning would do well probably to again read the interesting papers read at the meeting of the Planter's Association, which were published in our last issue."

Good Medicine for Children

If you have a baby in the house you wish to know the best way to check any unusual looseness of the bowels, or diarrhoea so common to small children. O. P. M. Holliday, of Deming, Ind., who has an 11-month-old child, says: "Through the month of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach. His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water, and he got better at once." For sale by all dealers and druggists. New Lumber Vessel Launched—California's Trial Trip—Molokai Arrives—Board of Inquiry Formed.

The O. & O. S. Doric arrived here yesterday evening, 6 days 4 hours from San Francisco. She has a very small passenger list, and but two passengers for here. The officers on the Doric miss the jolly crowds of Honolulu people with whom the steamer was so popular, and they feel sore at Uncle Sam for making the regulations prohibiting them from carrying passengers here.

The Doric will leave for the Orient this morning. Purser Nishleander reports a fine trip from the Coast. July 5 was celebrated at sea with Japanese day fireworks, deck sports and a concert in the evening.

The Alden Besse, which arrived off the harbor Thursday, came inside and docked yesterday morning, as did the bark Mohican. Captain Potter of the Alden Besse was surprised to find the Irmgard here before him, as he had expected to beat the barkentine in. They both towed out of the harbor at San Francisco on the same tug. The passengers on the two vessels made several little bets on the result of the race, and it is said that Captain Potter had a glass of sodawater bet with Captain Schmidt of the Irmgard.

Skipper Kelley of the Mohican is jubilant over beating the new schooner Rosamond to port. The Mohican got in yesterday morning, and the new vessel left San Francisco two days ahead of her. It is probable, however, that Captain Ward of the Rosamond is coming along slowly, as his rigging is new and untried, and he don't want to take any chances and meet with a mishap, as did the skipper of the bark Katulani on her maiden voyage.

The Claudine is expected to arrive here early this morning, and the Kinau about noon time. So many Honolulu people returning will make the arrival of the two local boats very much like the coming of a foreign steamer.

NEW LUMBER VESSEL.

Robert Duncan & Co., Port Glasgow, Scotland, launched on May 29 for San Francisco owners the largest steel four-masted barkentine ever built in the United Kingdom. It is for the lumber trade on the Pacific Coast. The vessel has been named the Alta. The dimensions are 255 feet over all by 44 feet by 19 feet 6 inches molded, with a carrying capacity of about 1,700,000 feet, board measurement. The masts are of steel and the yards are long. The lower yard is about 100 feet in length and is also made of steel. It is a substantial craft, being built under special survey, in accordance with British corporation rules. On June 22 she left the shipyard for Liverpool, where a general cargo will be loaded for San Francisco. The Alta will prove a valuable acquisition to the coast lumber trade. At present there is much speculation as to who are the owners of the new craft, it being generally conceded that A. P. Lorentzen is one of them.

CALIFORNIA'S TRIAL TRIP.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The new steamship California of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, recently launched at the Union Iron Works, had her trial trip yesterday, and cruised not only in the waters of the bay, but outside the heads. Very little ballast, comparatively, was in the big steamer, and she consequently loomed up prominently. It is stated that the owners desire to test the vessel thoroughly before sending her around the Horn, and arrangements have, therefore, been made to send her to Nanaimo on one or two trips for cargoes of coal. Afterward the California will take freight for Honolulu, and sugar from that port for New York.

BROKE THE LAW.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Acting Surveyor St. John complained to Collector Jackson of a violation of the navigation laws by the Nippon Maru. The offense of the vessel consisted in the fact of bringing two passengers here from Honolulu. They are Captain Roberts and wife. Since June 14 Honolulu has been an American port. Under the law foreign vessels are not allowed to engage in commerce between two American ports. The Nippon Maru is a foreign vessel, and in bringing passengers here from Honolulu violated the law. The offense is punishable by a fine.

BOARD OF INQUIRY.

Captain Campbell has been selected by the Board of Public Works to represent it in the inquiry to be made into the damaging of the new navy dock by a transport lately, and with Captain Clark of W. G. Irwin & Co. and Captain Goodwin of the American ship Drigo, will compose the court. Taking testimony to assess damages and place the blame will be begun in a day or two.

BRYAN WANTS TWO RUNNING MATES.

Towne's Name to be Kept on Populist Ticket—Democrats will Name Candidate. OMAHA, Neb., June 24.—Partisans of W. J. Bryan strongly intimate that his trip to Wisconsin was arranged that he might have a conference with Nominee Towne, and they say that the Vice-Presidential question is disturbing Mr. Bryan and his associates far more than is the platform to be adopted at Kansas City. Democrats who are nearest to Bryan contend that a mistake was made when Towne was nominated, while leading Populists, who represent Bryan, declare that whatever the action of the Kansas City convention may be, Towne's name shall remain on the national ticket. The situation is almost identical with that of 1896. Discussing the subject editorially, the Omaha Bee shows that Bryan is not averse to a double-header second place ticket. The Bee will say: "In his book reviewing the last Presidential campaign, written shortly after its close, William Jennings Bryan, referring to the unprecedented anomaly of a Presidential ticket with two candidates for the Vice-Presidency, says: 'Looking back over the campaign, I am now convinced that under the conditions then existing two Vice-Presidential candidates were better than one and that, notwithstanding the embarrassment at the time, the silver cause made a better showing than it would have done if Mr. Sewall had withdrawn in favor of Mr. Watson or Mr. Watson in favor of Mr. Sewall.'"

GROWTH OF AMERICAN COMMERCE IN CHINA.

Shows a Gratifying Gain, but Foreign Ships Do All of the Carrying. WASHINGTON, June 24.—Consul Fowler at Chefoo, in a supplement to a former report to the State Department from Consul-General Goodnow at Shanghai upon the United States' trade with China, shows that in four years from 1896 to 1899, inclusive, we have doubled our sales with China. In 1897 the value of these sales exceeded those of all Continental Europe by $220,281. In 1898 this excess had increased to $4,171,934, and last year to $6,191,936. China imported American goods last year to the value of $16,288,745 and British goods to the value of $28,936,083, five-sixths of the total importation coming from British and American territory, and more than half from Great Britain alone.

GERMANY DID TEN TIMES AS WELL AS THE UNITED STATES.

Consul Fowler concludes as follows: "I can see from my desk six modern Chinese men of war, all built in Germany or England. A large German corporation keeps a representative always in Peking." Germany is with Russia. BERLIN, June 24.—An unfavorable impression is caused here by the attempts of the Russian press to create distrust over Germany in connection with the Chinese question. The inspired German organs insist that Berlin does not oppose the plan of St. Petersburg in the Chinese Empire and that the future will clearly demonstrate Germany's perfect accord with Russia in Asia.

For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory. "I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory.

The garnishee further says that the books of the company showing that the stock of the company standing in Cohen's name comprises five shares of paid-up stock, par value $20 per share; 250 shares assessable stock, $4 paid in, upon which there an assessment due the company and delinquent of $2 per share. Since February 27, 1900, according to the answer, Cohen has drawn $93 and no more from the Orpheum Company and there is now due Cohen from the company $622.30, against $500 due from him to the company upon assessments. Where the information comes from that would lead anyone to believe that the position had been filled is a mystery to me."

When she made her appearance at the police station to complain of her treatment she was in a very sorry state, her face was a mass of blood and bruises and badly swollen.

COUNCIL MEETING FRIDAY.

ORPHEUM LICENSE MAY YET BE GRANTED.

Matters in the Financial, Educational and Agricultural Departments are Acted Upon.

The council meeting met yesterday morning. There were present Governor Dole, Secretary H. E. Cooper, Attorney General E. P. Dole, Treasurer T. F. Lansing, Superintendent of Public Works J. A. McCandless, Superintendent of Public Instruction A. T. Atkinson, Commissioner of Lands J. F. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture Wray Taylor and Secretary Hawes. In addition there were present Messrs. L. A. Thurston, J. O. Carter, W. O. Smith, D. G. Ballantyne and Mr. Amweg of the Rapid Transit Company.

Mr. Thurston spoke of cutting through Queen street to the beach road and said that most of the property holders were willing to give them a right of way if the government would build the road.

Governor Dole asked if the Rapid Transit Company would waive the right to the Ala Moana road if the government did this.

Mr. Thurston said he thought they would, but, as they had never talked it over, he could not give a decisive answer.

The discussion followed to some length and it was finally decided that the Rapid Transit Company should send in a written statement of the facts discussed.

Superintendent A. T. Atkinson spoke of having the number of school inspectors increased and suggested that the inspector general of schools be changed to the normal instructor. It was ordered that the change in title be made and that the inspector general's work as a normal instructor be performed in one of the four districts making the system substantially one of normal districts, and that each normal instructor inspect and instruct each district twice and then interchange with the others.

Superintendent Atkinson spoke of Aiea park and suggested that it be fired up. The matter was referred to the Superintendent of Public Works.

Governor Dole suggested that before any of the United States Government forest lands here be cut that the matter be referred to the Washington authorities. He further suggested that the chief forester at Washington be requested to come to Hawaii and inspect the forest lands.

Articles of incorporation of Alexander & Baldwin and the American Power and Water Company were read. The Attorney General said they complied with the law and could be filed.

Upon the suggestion of Treasurer Lansing it was ordered that $100,000 be transferred from the current fund to the loan fund.

The application by Chas. Dement for a liquor license was refused, Secretary Cooper moving that the council meeting occur in the objections thereto as stated by the treasurer.

The Orpheum license was again brought up and discussed. Although the matter was held in abeyance, it stands a good chance of being granted at the next meeting.

DEMOCRACY'S CLANS ARE ASSEMBLING.

Croker Already Has His Knife Unsheathed for the Scalp of David B. Hill.

KANSAS CITY, June 30.—Kansas City looked like a convention city in good earnest to-day. The trains brought in many who will take part in the convention, and in the hotel corridors were men whose faces have become familiar by reason of being seen for years at great national Democratic gatherings. Among them were James D. Richardson of Tennessee, Augustus Van Wyck of New York, D. J. Campau of Michigan, W. J. Stone of Missouri, Amos Cummings of New York, J. L. Norris of Washington, D. C., and many others who came to be present at the preliminaries.

The sub-committee of the National Committee met to-day to make final arrangements. Although this committee does not enter into consideration of the larger affairs of the convention, the very fact that it was in session brought a great many men about the rooms of Secretary Walsh, where the meeting was held. This naturally caused more or less discussion about convention prospects, and there was talk about the temporary chairman, the permanent organization and the 16-to-1 declaration. The greatest interest, however, was shown in the Vice-Presidential nomination.

It is already apparent that the Croker wing and the Hill wing of the New York Democracy are pulling apart. The New York men already here say that Croker is much displeased with the course Hill has pursued, and the Tammany men who were speaking favorably of Hill as a Vice-Presidential candidate have received a severe "call-down" from the Tammany chief. It is said that Hill is likely to make trouble in the convention, but just how is not apparent at present.

It is believed that New York State will have to give him some recognition, possibly a place on the Committee on Resolutions. It is known that he wants this position, and if some other man is selected it would be a great disappointment for Hill. It is doubtful, it is said, if Tammany cares to go that far. If placed on the Resolutions Committee it is feared that Hill will have an opportunity to cause trouble. He has announced his purpose of trying to secure modification of the Chicago platform, having led the fight against it four years ago, and he was instrumental in having New York remain silent after the platform was adopted. There is yet much uncertainty about the intentions of the ex-Senator, however, but the impression is that he has something which will come to the surface soon after he reaches here.

Ex-Congressman Charles A. Towne registered at the Costes House this morning, and gave out the following signed statement: "I am not crowding my candidacy for the Vice-Presidency in the ordinary way and have canvassed no delegations. My friends rely upon the logic and policy of the situation and expect the Democratic convention to nominate me."
