

Money Lenders of London. One of the mysteries of London life is an announcement regularly published in the leading journals that, on application to a certain office, advances of money from 100 to 50,000 pounds sterling will be made without security and merely on the borrower's note of hand.

In a case that recently came before the law courts the mystery was partly solved. An officer in the guards had lost a large sum of money at cards, and as is the invariable rule in the London clubs, the debt of honor had to be paid within twenty-four hours.

The type-writing business. The type-writing business has grown and grown out of all proportion with the expectations of its early promoters. In intelligent circles the business is now being worked as a type-writer at double the wages they formerly earned as shopgirls.

Spelling the Cataract. The zeal for physical and material progress in Italy is so strong that the falls of Tivoli, which have been for their great beauty, are about to be destroyed, a scheme being on foot to plant manioc gardens on the site where the river Arnolfo gains such tremendous water-power by its descent of 300 feet.

Safe Periods of Quarantine. A Canadian medical authority has given the following as being safe periods of quarantine when general epidemics of pupils, who have suffered attacks of the disease mentioned, before their return to school: Scarlet fever, eleven days; measles, sixteen; epidemic roseola, sixteen; chicken pox, eighteen; small pox, sixteen; mumps, twenty-one; whooping cough, twenty-one; diphtheria, ten.

The San Francisco custom officers have seized a chest of medicines belonging to a Chinese quack. Among the medicines frequently recommended in accompanying the back is a wamp's nest for pain in the back; for vertigo scraping of deer's horns was recommended; for rheumatism a quart of boiled water made palatable by a ton's skin and the teeth of a snake.

The silly habit of speaking of men and women always as gentlemen and ladies frequently leads to absurd expressions, as, for example, the other day a really cultivated man spoke of "the ladies prison at Sherborn."

Carlyle: We are firm believers in the maxim that, for all right judgment of any man or thing, it is useful, nay essential, to see his good qualities before pronouncing on his head.

The ragman's business is picking up. A farmer in Los Angeles county, California, who has been troubled with mice has evolved a cheap and sure means of dealing with these nuisances. Tubs or cans partly filled with water are put around the barn where the mice are most plenty, and they go to them for drink and are drowned. An average of 2,000 a month has thus been caught.

The observations of Professor C. P. Langley have convinced him that there has been a mistaken conception of the color of the sunlight. It has been supposed to be white, while in reality it is blue.

The Indians of New Mexico are said to be doing a thriving business in manufacturing "ancient" pottery, which they sell to credulous tourists as relics from the prehistoric mounds.

M. Pasteur and the Hydrophobia. M. Pasteur, who is now at Arbois, in the Jura, intends as soon as he returns to Paris to organize a service by means of which it will be possible to prevent mad dogs from attacking man.

M. Pasteur is said to have discovered a sure preventive against this terrible malady. Before going to the Jura he treated a little Abalain boy, 10 years old, whose mother brought him to Paris from Abalain, where he had been bitten in both thighs, both legs, and in the hand. M. Pasteur's treatment was perfectly successful. This, it is said, is the first time that the distillated virus has applied his method to a human being.

Charles G. Leland writes that the masses in France believe that our civil war was between the Spaniards of South America and the negroes of North America. He affirms that as fast as a Frenchman learns that we are very much like Englishmen their feeling changes to hatred.

FOOD ADULTERATION.

We do not know whether there are adulterated foods brought to Honolulu or not—it has been so asserted by individuals—but we do know that the adulteration of food has reached a point in the great commercial centers where it has become necessary to take measures for its prevention.

It has been claimed that a Government has no right to interfere with the manufacture of an article which is sold to the public, as each and every person has the privilege of refusal.

Adulteration is nothing more than a slow mode of murder. It is a lawful assassination, as long as it is allowed to continue. He who sells injurious substances as genuine, is guilty of performing whatever injury results as the consequence of his action.

Origin of the "Irish Bull." Rev. Sydney Smith, once in conversation with Daniel O'Connell, said: "Can you tell me, Mr. O'Connell, what is the true origin and meaning of the word 'Irish Bull'?"

The Teacher's Individuality.

There is nothing so taking as something new, and the educational and other periodicals of the last few months have rung many changes on the new, as compared with the old.

Two terms a year, of twelve weeks each, and usually a new teacher every term, was the common arrangement; yet even under such discouraging circumstances, there was work done that told for good on the future lives of pupils.

The present tells a different story; school buildings are erected that are justly the pride of the people; books of reference, maps, globes and numberless other aids help to broaden and make easier the paths of learning.

In the earlier days some committee or superintendent visited the school once a term, and after alternately dosing and listening through the recitations for half a day, made a set speech, congratulating the pupils on the "commendable progress" they had made.

When one school visitor insists that every word read or spelled shall be made clear to the dullest pupil; another, that none shall be permitted to be ignorant of the principles of mental and written arithmetic; another demands that every pupil shall sing like a nightingale; another is sure that no school is a success where the pupils are not drilled in mechanical and artistic drawing.

We once knew a superintendent who insisted that none of the teachers under his charge should teach anything at variance with the text books used in the schools, even if the books contained errors, because such teaching showed lack of deference to the committee who placed the books in school.

The Original Santa Claus.

Santa Claus is an interesting archaism—carrying the mind agreeably backward to those old times which always have such a charm for the critical investigations or poetic reveries of men.

Santa Claus was one of the oldest ideas of the Celtic west in pagan times, as he was of the pagan east before.

It is not very difficult to see how the change of men's religious beliefs three or four hundred years ago changed the character of the legend.

This statement, supported as it is by the old Christian traditions clinging round the present season of the year, will commend itself, perhaps, to the critics of old customs and old language.

THE DAILY Honolulu Press Will be for sale Daily at the Following Places:

LOCAL NEWS.

The Y. M. C. A. book-keeping class meets this evening at half-past seven o'clock.

The Strangers' Friend Society will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors at eleven o'clock this morning.

Mr. G. L. Bates, formerly a teacher at Punahou College, sailed from Hilo for Port Townsend on December 26th, by the bark C. O. Whitmore.

The Hawaiian Hotel Carriage Company wish to notify the public that there will be no extra charge for carriages ordered by telephone.

Last New Year's evening about six o'clock two young men found a man on Puuloa road, about six miles from Honolulu, laying dead, supposed to be caused by the effects of liquor.

The one-mile skating race at the Yosemite skating rink last Saturday evening, between Willie Lucas and Spencer (the Press' champion), was won by the former, by a lap and a half.

A fine lot of Mr. Strong's pictures will be on exhibition at the Hotel parlors this evening at half-past seven o'clock. The Royal Hawaiian Band will be in attendance. A general invitation is extended to all.

A little Japanese boy about seven years old was run over by a hack on the Palama road, near the Reformatory School, last Friday afternoon. A doctor was immediately called, and after examining the boy, reported no bones broken, but the patient had received some bad bruises.

Last Saturday evening about half-past five o'clock, a collision took place between a hack and a buggy, driven by Mr. Charles Lishman, on Nuuanu street, near Love's Bakery. The vehicles came together with great force, through the carelessness of both drivers, and the buggy had one of the front wheels badly dished and otherwise broken.

Last Thursday night, about eight o'clock, a house on Beretania street, occupied by Mrs. F. Diaz, was broken into while the occupants were absent. The house was completely ransacked and about $30 taken. A boy who was passing heard a noise in the house, and seeing no light, supposed something was wrong and alarmed the neighbors, but before they arrived on the spot the robber had decamped.

A native named Niau was killed at Hookena, South Kona, Hawaii, a week ago yesterday. The man had started from Hookena for the steamer landing on a mule, and not turning up, a search was made, when his body was found on the road about half-way to the landing in a mangled and mutilated condition. At the time of the sailing of the W. G. Hall no new facts had come to light.

Union services will be held every day this week at 11 A. M. in the Bethel Union Church, and at 7:30 P. M. in the Fort-street Church. To-day (Monday) the morning meeting will be led by Rev. E. C. Oggel, and will have for its theme, "Praise and Thanksgiving." Pastor Cruzan will have charge of the evening meeting, Subject, "What Shall We Do with Christ?" All are invited.

Last Saturday night, at about eight o'clock, a native hackman and a "haole" had a little dispute at the corner of Fort and King streets, in which the native man came out with a black eye. He then called loudly for a policeman, who came along, but not in time to catch the "haole." The policeman then called for assistance, and when three more policemen arrived they arrested two of the curious crowd who had gathered.

The reception given the public by United States Minister Resident Merrill and Mrs. Merrill on New Year's Day, was one that will not soon be forgotten in Honolulu. The Legation, on Alakea street, was decorated on the outside by the American flag, and on the inside by flowers and ferns. A large crowd thronged the house from one o'clock in the afternoon till ten o'clock in the evening. Refreshments were served to the visitors by the hostess, assisted by several ladies and gentlemen.

The Royal Hawaiian Band will play this evening at the Hawaiian Hotel, for the benefit of Strong's exhibition at that place, at half-past seven o'clock. The following programme will be given:

- Overture—"Raymond".....Thomas Cavatina—"Bellario".....Donizetti Walt—"Vienna Blood".....Strauss "Reminiscences of Bellini".....Godfrey Selection—"The Fleveerman's".....Stranus Walt—"Our Last".....Molloy Quadrille—"London Life".....Coote March—"King Kalkaua".....Michiels "Hawaii Poi".....

The Friend for January is at hand, and is full of interesting religious matter, as usual. Besides editorial matter on various subjects, the Friend contains short articles on "The Week of Prayer," "The Stanford Gift," and the January church notices. The educational department contains a condensed report of the Teachers' Convention; the Y. M. C. A. department contains, besides the regular notices, several interesting short articles; the mission department contains "Mission Statistics," an article on "Micronesia," "News from Ponape," etc.

The boat race on New Year's Day, between two picked crews from the Myrtle Boat Club, was won by the "Stranger," the crew consisting of H. S. Davidson, coxswain; J. Torbert, A. Robertson, W. Monsarrat, C. Purdy, W. C. Wilder and C. J. McCarthy. The crew of the "Alice M.," were G. Wilder, C. T. Wilder, A. Brown, W. C. King, S. Monsarrat and A. Branch. Each of the boys of the winning crew were presented with a leather medal, after which the boys adjourned to the residence of Mr. W. Monsarrat, where a bounteous repast was awaiting them. The "Stranger" made the distance from the boat-house around the spar-bow and back in 16 minutes 50 seconds.

Rev. George Wallace, of the second congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral, has issued a New Year's circular of congratulation, etc., which contains a programme of the officers of the congregation, announcements, etc. The new congregation will hold services every Lord's Day, with sermon at eleven o'clock, and evening prayer service at half-past seven o'clock. Evening prayer, with brief address, will be held on Wednesday evenings at half-seven o'clock. Holy Communion will be held on the first Sunday of each month at the eleven o'clock service. The Sunday School holds its sessions, for the present, in Punahou Preparatory School, on Beretania street, at a quarter before ten o'clock on Sunday mornings.

They say: that the "bone with the marrow" still has good juice in it; that Kamakale's Honolulu friends supplied him with several cases of "Jersey lightning" for his New Year's feast; that the Ministry are cooking over and patching up their accounts so that they will show the road money actually expended in the district, where, etc.; that it would take more than twice the taxes now raised to pay the interest on a ten-million loan; that the natives would sell out the Islands for fourteen million dollars—provided it was divided amongst them; that they have been having some booming kuokoa feasts in the Makawao district, Maui; that the manner in which the Opposition "gobbled" the Government meeting held recently in Honolulu, caused lots of laughter on the other islands; that the Post Office was well guarded yesterday after the "dumps" were stolen; that the Post Office was robbed either by experts, thieves, or by somebody else who knew the ropes, as it were; that no blame can be attached to the back door of the Post Office for not being equal to the emergency; that there are as many theories to the robbery as there are voters in Honolulu—after the police force is subtracted; that the police were all dozing quietly in chairs and on curbs when the robbery was committed; that the money was not taken out of the Post Office building until after one o'clock on Sunday morning; that the present affair is a repetition of the old Custom-house robbery of many moons ago; that the Government ought to hire some efficient outside men to ferret out the matter; and that the steamer Likelike was in luck in not getting into port on time.

The Post Office Robbed. During last Saturday night, or early Sunday morning, the Honolulu Post Office was broken into and robbed of coin and bills to the amount of over three thousand dollars. An entrance into the building was effected through a door opening into the back yard. The door was fastened upon the inside by a slip bolt, which was burst off by a pressure from the outside. Both safes belonging to the Post Office Department were opened; one safe stood in the bookkeeper's office, near the wall, at a point where the partition formerly ran which cut off the Postmaster-General's office; the other safe had lately been removed from the same portion of the building, and at the time of the robbery stood in the office of Assistant Postmaster Peterson. One safe was locked by a combination lock of a late pattern; the other safe was of an older pattern and was fastened with a key-lock. Both safes were opened. The lock of the combination safe shows an indentation in the top of the register plate, on the outside of the safe, as if it had been struck a heavy blow with a hard-pointed tool. The lock does not seem to be affected in any way, otherwise than that the register is now turned with difficulty. The safe was more than likely opened before the lock was struck. The other was safe opened with a skeleton key, which was left lying on the floor in front of the safe. The key consisted of the regulation piece of bent steel wire, with three feelers. Twenty-four hundred dollars in gold coin and currency, belonging to the Post Office Department was taken from the combination safe, and six hundred and sixty dollars, belonging to Mr. N. C. Wilgong, a clerk in the Post Office, was taken from the other safe. There are many rumors afloat regarding the robbery and the amount of money taken. One rumor is that a woman residing on the lower floor of the Sailors' Home, in that portion fronting on Bethel street, saw a man get into a buggy between three and four o'clock Sunday morning, and drive away from near the Bethel street entrance of the Post Office. Another report is that an officer found one of the Post Office tills and an empty money bag in Frank Brown's store yard, on Merchant street, during Sunday morning.

It is reported that one of the Post Office clerks had five hundred dollars in one of the tills in the office which was not taken. It is evident that the burglar or burglars were either in a hurry or were working without light, from the fact that a quantity of two-and-a-half-dollar gold pieces had been thrown upon the floor from one of the safes, with a lot of ten-cent pieces; doubtless the gold was supposed to be coins of lower denomination.

Postmaster General Whitney returned to town from Hawaii by the steamer Kinau yesterday morning, after the robbery was committed, and was immediately notified that the Post Office had been burglarized. The Postmaster-General at once went to the Post Office and made an examination of the premises and the safes from which the money had been extracted, after which everything was put into the hands of Marshal Soper and Deputy Marshal Dayton for a thorough investigation.

The robbery was first discovered by Assistant Postmaster Peterson early Sunday morning, and was immediately reported to the Police Station.

Bethel Union Church. The following are the order of the morning services to be held in the Bethel Union Church at 11 A. M. on the mornings of this week:

Saturday, January 9th.—The Christian Life. Sunday, January 10th.—Sermon: "Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning; and ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their Lord."—Luke 12: 35, 36.

FRESH MINCE PIES

One of the most attractive displays of elegant holiday goods in Honolulu is made by Messrs. King Bros., No. 87 Hotel street. Their assortment of Birthday, Christmas and New Year cards, of Prang's and other makes, is exquisite in design and finish, and are offered at extremely low rates. An inspection of their picture gallery will well repay the visitor, while artists can here find a choice selection of artists' materials. In the windows of King Bros. are also a fine collection of Clarke's fern cards, Island curios, etc., and some beautiful shells, painted in native scenes by Mrs. Thomas J. King, which are valuable mementos to send abroad.

The Latest American Invention. THE VICTORY OF ELECTRICITY.

Since Electricity has been applied for lighting purposes, all efforts of inventors have been directed to construct a lamp for general domestic use. The reason why this problem has till now been solved, is that none of the inventors could till themselves of the idea of gas lighting, and that all have adhered to the system of producing the Electricity in some central place, or by large machinery, instead of first laying down the principle that a Lamp which should ever become generally useful and popular, must be portable, like an Oil Lamp, and contain the generator of Electricity in itself, i. e., in the foot of the Lamp. The Norman Electric Light Company has at last succeeded in completely realizing this ideal of Electric Lighting, and there is no doubt that this most important invention will bring about a complete revolution in all branches of lighting. Our Electric Lamp needs neither Machinery, Conductors, nor any expensive outfit, and is neither complicated nor disagreeable in manipulation; all that is necessary is to refill it every four or five days with acid. The cost of lighting will be as cheap as gas (1/4 cents per hour), and it has before the latter the immense advantage of neither producing heat, smoke nor carbonic acid, owing to which the air is not impured, and remains at the same degree of temperature. It is further absolutely inodorous, and does not need to be kindled by match, or otherwise, but simply by turning the key, thus avoiding all danger of fire, explosion or suffocation, as in the case of gas, if the key is left open; and it must be conceded that this advantage alone is invaluable. It is further preferable to any known kind of lighting for the following reasons: (1) Its manipulation is so simple that any child can keep it in order. (2) That the Lamp is portable, and can be removed like any Oil Lamp, from one place to another. (3) That it neither requires the disagreeable fixing of the wick, or the cleaning of the cylinder, as in the case of Oil Lamps. (4) That the light produced is a soft and most steady one; that it never flickers, and the flame, though being equal in power of lighting to gas, can be regulated to any degree. (5) That every danger of fire is absolutely excluded, as the light will extinguish immediately, if by any accident the glass surrounding the burner should be broken. (6) That it will burn, even in the strongest wind, completely unaffected, thus being invaluable for illuminations, lighting of gardens, corridors, etc. This Lamp is constructed for the present in three different sizes:

Drift of the Hudson. (New York Letter.) The river brings its regular supply of drift. It brings cordwood, dropped from passing vessels; piles which have rotted away, floated away, and are cruising about to find decent sepulture; camp-stools tossed from excursion steamers, old boards, new boards, shingles, split shingles, bark, old brooms, worn out scrubbing-brushes, bits of torn and tangled seine, runaway cel-pots, dead dogs, dead puppies, an occasional dead horse, illegals hitched at night to some New York pier; old boxes and barrels, old pantaloons, bottles—some smelling of medicine and others of whisky, corks without bottles, more bottles without corks, hats blown overboard, some of them with staid poles, bean-poles, hoop-poles, lurch baskets, water soaked bread, empty sardine and lobster cans, the debris of floating lunch parties, cabbage leaves, decomposed fruit and vegetables, sometimes a fish-pole, with line and hook attached; old paint brushes, everything, anything, and things cast off, flung off, worn off, torn off, rubbed off of the world's surface, including also old boots and shoes, so long as they float. Every morning I inspect the bit of strand near my door to see what the river has brought. It is an interesting lottery. Sometimes I find a late news-paper, scathed, to be sure, but when dried on the rocks it reads as well as if just issued. As we have no regular supply on this bank of the stream, news three or four days old reads as well, and seems quite interesting—until one looks at the date. Some of this drift, when it comes, comes to stay. Particularly old boots and shoes, stuck in the mud. I have become well acquainted by sight with several impaired specimens, regularly appearing before my door at low tide, especially one gigantic boot, presumably the former property of some colossal-footed Jersey shadiner. A pair of old pantaloons cling tenaciously to my beach, changing their position but little with each tide, and having a startling resemblance in the various attitudes of the legs, as flung about by the waves, to the limbed part of a drowned man.

Did Columbus Discover America? (Full Mail Gazette.) A short time ago we referred to the violent dispute going on in Central America as to the last resting-place of Columbus. San Domingo and Cuba being the claimants for this honor. A solemn conclusion of the representatives of various governments recently met in San Domingo to settle the matter; but now another discussion has been raised, the question this time being whether Columbus ever set foot on the American continent at all. It was commonly believed, and is stated in most modern histories, that the great navigator in his fourth and last voyage landed on the coast belonging to the present republic of Honduras. Three years ago Don Soto, the president of the republic, desired to commemorate this great event by creating a new administrative district at the place and calling it Colon. But he determined first to look into the original authorities himself, and having done so found reason to doubt the accuracy of the popular belief on the subject. Having communicated his doubts to Don Milla, a learned Guatemalan, who has written a history of Central America, in which he reproduces the usual statement, the latter re-examined all the documents of the time and came to the conclusion that an error had arisen through a misrepresentation of a single passage in an old chronicle, and that Columbus really never landed on the continent.

Setting 'Em Up in China. (Interview with John Russell Young.) One of the greatest drawbacks to a continued residence in China, according to some Americans, is the fact that there are no side doors to the bar-rooms, a circumstance which renders Sunday a very dull day. This is accounted for by the fact that there are no bar-rooms in the kingdom. Excise commissioners are at a discount, and white-aproned young men with diamond pins and black mustaches are unknown. On almost every corner, however, there is a "tea house," where convivial Chinamen sit on tea boxes, talk politics and help themselves to any loose groceries that may be lying about. Instead of two friends greeting each other with, "Come and have one with me, ole man," the dignified Chinamen walk sedately into the tea house and ask for "Two teas—have them hot." Then they throw dice or match pennies to see who will pay for them, but each man settles for his own tea in the regulation Philadelphia style.
