

ST. PETER AND THE BASKETS.

(Bald Trimmer in Good Words.)
St. Peter, from the door of Heaven, one day
To two young angels on their happy way,
For the first time they saw the world in May—
Both bearing baskets.

They were to bring back flowers more fragrant
Than budding rose and blooming Hawthorn are;
They were to bring the praise of all the stars
Back in their baskets.

The Angel of Thanksgivings, full of gloe, Dropt a huge hamper half as big as he;
But the Collector of Petitions soe,
With a small basket.

When they returned St. Peter, as before,
But with his golden keys beside the door;
But each appeared to have the world in store
About his basket.

The Angel of Petitions bore a sack
Cram full, and bound uncouthly on his back;
Yet even when it seemed that he had lack
Of bag and basket.

The Angel of Thanksgivings blushed to feel
The empty lightness of his mighty cressel;
"But 'tho'!" he muttered, turning on his heel,
To hide his basket.

Then spoke St. Peter: "When again you go
On a prayer gathering, you will better know
That men's petitions in the world below
Fill a big basket."

"But when you go to gather up their thanks
For prayers well answered and forgiven pranks,
For health restored and disentangled banks,
Your smallest basket?"

A SPORTSMAN BROUGHT DOWN.

Wading in with his Rubber Boots on—
A Slight Misadventuring.
(Peele's Sun.)

A few weeks ago the business manager of The Sun was up the country shooting ducks with a party of friends. Two boats were pushed into the sea, nearly out of sight, and the hunters were waiting for ducks to fly.
When a duck showed up in the air the first man who saw it would sing out, "Mark!" or "Get down!" and the others would get out of sight and keep watch. Mr. Lord was as anxious as a sportsman as a sportsman can be who does not often get a chance to daily with the festive duck, and when the other man yelled at warning he would get down too quick. He had killed a duck, and was wading around in the water, with his rubber boots on, trying to find it.
The water was nearly up to the top of his boots, and he was clearly scanning every place where a dead or wounded duck could hide, when the other man, a little way off, shouted at the top of his voice:
"Get down!"

Lord did not wait to go ashore or get into the boat, but he was clearly scanning every place where a duck could hide, when the other man, a little way off, shouted at the top of his voice:
"Get down!"

Lord did not wait to go ashore or get into the boat, but he was clearly scanning every
place where a duck could hide, when the other man, a little way off, shouted at the
top of his voice:
"Get down!"

THE COLONIZATION SCHEME.

Governments are the natural guardians of the people; therefore to protect the rights of an individual is to leave the duty of the rulers to their duty to foster schemes for the development of the country's natural resources.

It follows that all reasonable projects for developing the resources of these Islands should be furthered and protected by this Government. It is the duty of every citizen to aid in bringing about such a state of reciprocal interests.

It is proposed by this company to buy up some of the great landed estates of these Islands, the present scheme embracing the Honouliuli ranch containing about 45,000 acres of land, the Kahuku ranch containing about 25,000 acres and the Kawailoa and Waimea ranches containing about 45,000 acres of surveyed and unsurveyed land.

Some of the main points connected with the situation and resources of these ranches may be briefly summed up as follows: The different properties are easy of access either by land or water; they are all fertile valley lands or fine uplands for grazing; all the properties are well watered by springs, artesian wells and natural water sheds with easy constructed reservoirs; they are all well stocked, well grassed, well wooded and well fruited; they contain excellent fishing possibilities which may be practically developed into an immense source of revenue; these different ranches are capable, according to locality, of producing sugar and rice, vineyards and fruit orchards, and are also suitable for small farms or larger grazing tracts.

One of the main things to be taken into consideration, in the present offer of the company, is, that each and every one of the properties embraced in the scheme is at the present time a paying property. Another feature to be looked at is, that no matter how poor a man may be he can enter upon the land offered and by his own labor and enterprise can not only make a living, but can lay by enough money to purchase in a few years, on the installment plan, the homestead upon which he lives, thereby rendering himself and his family independent.

The scheme is a gigantic one but it is backed by men of sterling moral and financial worth, who will use every endeavor to carry it through to a successful consummation. Embracing as it does an estate containing 63,250 acres of land in fee simple and 52,500 acres of leasehold land, it is a scheme that necessarily calls for foreign immigration and home support. What one man may do for the development of these Islands has already been seen and appreciated by many; what an organized company of our best citizens can do, with the proper support from the Government, will by far eclipse any instance of private enterprise and will open up and develop the resources of Hawaii until public debts will not only be a thing of the past, but "Money to Lend" will be posted in every doorway from the Government building to the confines of Chinatown.

Honolulu Restaurants.

EDITOR DAILY HONOLULU PRESS.—Sir: A little observation clearly demonstrates that a large proportion of Honolulu citizens live in restaurants, and this number is inevitably found to increase with the growth of the city and the steadily increasing influx of the foreign element. In view of this fact would it not be a laudable scheme for some of our restaurant men to show a little enterprise in this matter by carrying on the business on a slightly improved plan, instead of following in the old rut of the numerous Chinese dens and coffee saloons at the present time existing in our city?

The fact is that too much regard is paid to quantity, and none at all to the quality, of the food and the manner in which it is served. Better expend less money in viands, have one or two dishes less in variety and invest this saving in a few extra table clothes, napkins, knives, forks and spoons and a little additional help so that time may be found to occasionally "shine up" the casters, extract flies and refill the crucets, which are sadly neglected in all our restaurants. Many of the mustard, pepper and pickle jars are becoming so completely dried up, that unless they received immediate attention, a spontaneous combustion will be the inevitable result. The silver, (if indeed that term would be applicable to the tin and iron knives, forks and spoons used), has the appearance of having done service ever since Captain Cook first set foot upon these islands in 1778. In the average Honolulu restaurant half a dozen napkins suffice, or at least are made to serve fifty or hundred guests before going to the laundry.

The table clothes, where they exist, are often so completely matted with a general mixture of coffee, hash and mutton stew as to be hardly recognizable. Now let us follow one of our business men, or respectable visiting strangers into one of these so-called restaurants; instead of being served by a tidy waiter, with a dinner that can be relished, he is approached by a Chinaman whose only apparel consists of a pair of blue trousers, and a striped cotton shirt, supplemented by a stamped and lettered flour sack as an apology for an apron. For a hand towel, in cases where the shirt sleeve is not used, a sloop rag or sugar sack is pressed into service which is unceremoniously flapped across the marble slab in front of the guest about fourteen times by actual count before time sufficient is allowed to order a dinner. Realize then if you can, the suspense of the delay. If there is any one thing on earth more exasperating than another it is for a hungry guest to sit eyeing the swinging rick doors for fifteen or twenty minutes, every moment expecting the reappearance of the missing coffee splasher, who has evidently "turned in" to give the dishwasher a "boust" so as to "rush out" dishes upon which to serve the waiting order; but finally when least expected, our soup-splatter reappears on the scene and bears down upon the impatient guest with a cup of native coffee, a heaping saucer of pudding and a plate of mutton stew overrunning with gravy sufficient to grease an ordinary spring wagon for six months. Now, contrast this condition of things with the restaurant business as carried on in American cities, San Francisco for instance. You sit down to a table upon which is spread a clean white cloth, with casters shining and every cruet filled to the brim. The waiter who steps up to spread before you a morning paper and take your order is neatly attired in a blue or white coat and a clean white apron. While your order is being prepared, you can glance over the paper for the news of the day. It is a praise-worthy characteristic of San Francisco restaurateurs to supply their patrons with plenty of daily papers. Every restaurant to the cheapest to the most fashionable is provided with from 1/2 dozen to two dozen daily papers. Whatever you order, from a cup of coffee and French roll for five cents, to a porter-house steak worth from sixty cents to $1.25 in the more fashionable places, your food is placed before you in some style, with a reasonable regard for fastidious taste and, is not "slung" or chucked down like swill to a hungry swine.

There are men enough employed in the average American restaurant to do their work in a manner pleasing to the patrons and creditable to their employer and men are not worked twelve or fifteen hours.

A Mysterious Invention.

A very ingenious contrivance is being affixed to a boat in Brooklyn and is said by naval officers stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard to be adaptable to many other things besides serving to propel a boat, for which it has been designed, and will soon be tried. The object of the experiment is to find out whether or not the feasibility of propelling a vessel for any length of time by electricity can be attained. The model on which the experiment is shaped, somewhat like a torpedo boat, and the batteries are in the centre of the vessel. Great secrecy is being observed in all the movements of those concerned in her construction, and it is claimed that if they succeed a vessel can carry fuel enough, in the shape of acids, to last her for a year without going into any port, doing away with the inconvenience of stopping at coaling stations, as steamers have to do at the present time.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The attention of our readers is invited to the very liberal offer made by us, in another column, to furnish any of the articles specified therein, together with six months' subscription to the DAILY HONOLULU PRESS, at club rates, which are much less than if the publications, or articles, were ordered separately.

We desire to introduce our paper into every English-speaking family in this Kingdom, feeling assured that it will be permanently retained after its merits, as a live, wide-awake journal, are once known.

As an advertising medium the DAILY HONOLULU PRESS possesses unequalled advantages, having retained all the subscribers to the late Saturday Press in addition to a new subscription list which is daily increasing, so that the paper is not only enjoying a large circulation in this city and vicinity, but is, also, mailed by every steamer to subscribers at almost every landing on the other Islands and also to foreign countries, thus combining the advantages of both daily and weekly editions. The coming month, especially, our paper will have a much larger circulation than all the other daily papers combined, as we intend sending specimen copies to every resident on these Islands who reads English.

We, therefore, ask your co-operation in our enterprise and trust you will avail yourself of this offer. Very respectfully yours, etc., PROP'S OF DAILY HONOLULU PRESS.
