Old Fishing Rights Konohiki Cases Now To Be Fought

It is the intention of the Attorney General's department at the approaching term of Circuit Court to rush the numerous fishing rights cases which encumber the civil calendar, so as to determine as soon as possible the exact position of the Territory in these matters.

Forty cases are noted on the calendar just issued for this Circuit and there are some sixty other cases of a similar nature scattered throughout other circuits. The Government is very anxious to bring these long-contested matters to a determination, since, if the host of claimants to ocean fishing rights can prove their contentions, nothing will remain but for the Territory to institute condemnation proceedings to regain exclusive jurisdiction of the waters immediately adjoining and surrounding the various islands of the group.

Under the old Hawaiian law, it will be remembered, men were granted fishing rights out into the ocean from holdings along the shore which were only incidental to the water privileges, since the holders pursued fishing almost exclusively and used their beach holdings for little else than as landing places for the catch. These grants were made under the Hawaiian feudal system and the ancient custom, becoming law, was never repealed. The rights were practically given for ever.

When the Organic Act came into force all private fishing rights were abolished but the new law did not interfere with any vested rights and the outside fishing privileges were still held.

When E. P. Dole was attorney general some eighty suits were instituted by holders to establish their vested rights. Robertson & Wilder were engaged for the Territory to represent Government interests. Two cases, one in which S. M. Damon was interested, were decided in favor of the Territory by the local Supreme Court. Damon appealed his case to the United States Supreme Court, which reversed the Territorial Supreme Court. Attorney General Andrews appearing at Washington for the Territory.

It was held by the United States Supreme Court that the Territory would have to proceed by condemnation against the holders of the ocean fishing rights.

Now the Attorney General's department desires to rush these cases, to make the claimants of vested rights prove their rights. If they fail in proving such rights, then condemnation proceedings will ensue. Each case will have to be tried separately. None of the holders have royal patents. It was under general proclamation some sixty years ago that the fishing rights were awarded the konohiki or lords of the land; present claimants whose suits are pending will be required to prove their rights by inheritance from these old konohiki.

In the forty-three fishing rights cases the following are plaintiffs: Victoria Ward, the Kapiolani estate; J. O. Carter, et al., trustees, three cases; Heela Agricultural Co.; H. H. Parker; D. Palko, et al.; Grace Kahoalii; J. M. Monsarrat; S. M. Damon; J. O. Carter, et al., trustees, three more cases; Mary E. Foster; Henry Smith, trustee; Gustav F. Ropert, trustee; M. P. Robinson; Catherine Stewart, et al.; L. L. McCandless; Kapiolani Estate; Sol. Kaul; J. O. Carter, et al., trustees, two more cases; Nannie R. Rice; Onahu Railway & Land Co.; Anna Perry, et al.; Bruce Cartwright, trustee; Liliuokalani; Mary Lucas; John H. Estate; Wm. G. Irwin; J. O. Carter, et al., trustees, another three cases; Kaneohe Ranch Co.; Bruce Cartwright, trustee, two more cases; John de Fries; L. L. McCandless, another case; Abigail K. Campbell, et al., trustees; S. M. Damon, another case; J. O. Carter, et al., trustee, another case.

Governor Carter held conferences this forenoon with Delegate to Washington Kuhio, Attorney General Andrews, Tax Assessor Holt and High Sheriff Brown. The Governor was also visited by several tourists anxious to meet Hawaii's chief officer.

Broncho Buster Fatal Accident

Epa, one of the best-known horse-breakers in the Islands, died yesterday at Paul Isenberg's ranch as the result of injuries received while riding a wild mule. The bucking animal in a terrible lunge and buck, threw Epa from his seat. He struck the saddle pommel, causing a compound rupture. The accident occurred Tuesday. Peritonitis set in with fatal results. The funeral will be held this afternoon at Kawaiahae Church.

Epa was well known on the different ranches in the Islands. He came to Oahu from Parker's ranch on Hawaii and was distantly related to Col. Parker, the owner. He had done noteworthy work in his strenuous calling for the Widemanns and the Dowsetts. The mule that caused his death was the twelfth he had tamed for Senator Isenberg.

Puna Plantation It Stands Today

The situation in connection with the Puna plantation was this morning tersely described by one of the men interested as follows:

Olaa plantation, as owner of nine-tenths of the Puna capital stock, finds itself unable to secure funds to carry on the plantation. Bishop & Co., agents of Olaa, refuse to advance a dollar for Puna plantation, believing that the money is best used in promoting the interests of Olaa. Hence the bondholders are forced to step in and save what they can of the plantation and keep it going if found practical. Of course one bondholder cannot do this. They all have to agree and it may be they will combine to furnish the necessary funds estimated at $6500 a month. If allowed to run to weeds Puna will be a total loss.

PRISONER ATTACKS AT WAIKIKI LUNA WITH PICK

A Porto Rican prisoner who was working with the Oahu jail gang at the Makiki quarry, this afternoon disturbed the even tenor of prison life by attacking one of the gang guards with a pick. The man was working on the quarry with a pick when he suddenly turned on the guard. Luckily he failed to accomplish his object, which was evidently to kill the guard. He was soon overpowered and held until word could be sent to the police station.

The patrol wagon was sent to get the prisoner. He was so violent that he had to be handcuffed. On his arrival at the receiving station he acted like an insane man. Holding his handcuffed hands far above his head he jumped up and down. He also tried to butt his head against the wall and against the counter. Turnkey Jack Melanphy grasped the prisoner in a tight grip and prevented him from injuring himself. He was taken down and placed in a cell by himself. The prisoner's violence prevented the clerk from getting his name, which for this reason could not be ascertained.

LEFMYNG TO HANDLE TAX CASES. SEPTEMBER TERM CALENDAR FULL OF BUSINESS-EMBEZZLEMENTS.

Circuit Court September term's calendar is now ready and the list of cases, both criminal and civil, is somewhat larger than that presented at the opening of the April term.

Forty-seven criminal matters are down for trial, including the following: Murder in the first degree, 4; manslaughter, 1; gross cheat, 2; larceny, 2; libel, 1; embezzlement, 20; malicious injury, 1; assault, 1; selling liquor without a license, on Sunday, 3; burglary and robbery, 7; receiving stolen goods, 2; gambling or lottery, 3.

There are 297 civil cases; last term there were 190; this term's calendar has 25 jury-waived cases, last term's had 43. Last term there were originally but 32 criminal cases, as compared with 47 of this term.

Deputy Attorney General M. P. Prosser will prosecute criminal matters during the new term; the Attorney General will himself work with the grand jury; Deputy W. S. Fleming is detailed on tax cases and Deputy Emil C. Peters will have charge of the office, grinding out opinions, for

A GOOD INSTITUTION PROTECTS MERCHANTS AND COLLECTS DEBTS

Francis G. Luke Branches Out In Hawaii With Merchants' Protective Association--Financial Standing.

Francis G. Luke, general manager of the Merchants' Protective Association, with headquarters at Salt Lake City, through competent and trained representatives, has established an office in Honolulu. The Honolulu branch is already organized. The label under the name is "Scientific collectors of debts." Its purpose is to afford merchants protection in giving credit. This is done by the faithful carrying out of a system equivalent in retail circles to Bradstreet's or Dun in the wholesale. The system works also beneficially to the honest buyer with limited cash, in giving him a rating with Merchant subscribers.

The Honolulu branch has already issued a book containing the names and ratings of thousands of buyers throughout the Islands. The system is different from ordinary commercial agencies in that it collects accounts for subscribers as well as keeping them informed as to whom credit should be given. They make a specialty of collecting bad debts and the record the association has made in the western States.

A membership in the Merchants' Protective Association furnishes complete insurance. In a word it enables a merchant to save money, and turn it into some "channel of usefulness."

The system has been in full working order in Honolulu less than a week but already many business men have testified to its value.

MRS. MACKINTOSH TO BE BURIED IN DRESDEN

Cable advices received by members of the family here state that the funeral of the late Mrs. Mackintosh will take place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Dresden, Germany. Rev. Eneas Mackintosh, who had been travelling with his father and mother, will return to Dresden and attend the funeral services.

GEAR WOULD MAKE HIS SHAKY COURT ROOM SAFE

Judge George D. Gear, who presides at the coming term of Circuit Court and who will handle criminal cases in the large court room in the Ewa-makal portion of the Judiciary building, called on Governor Carter and Superintendent of Public Works Holloway this afternoon in the matter of securing immediate action, if possible, to temporarily strengthen the flooring of the court room, particularly in view of the large crowds which will necessarily fill the chamber on the opening days of term next month. The floor beams are rotten and the room, in fact the flooring of the entire building has been officially declared unsafe. The matter is serious and Judge Gear realizes the risk of conducting another term in the dangerous structure, dangerous unless something is at once done to fortify the floor supports.

TOMORROW'S POLO TO BE HARD FOUGHT

Maui Strengthened By Adding Fred Baldwin.

EVERY PONY FRESH AND FIT TO PLAY

WILBUR WITH BROKEN LEG IS COMPELLED TO STAY IN HONOLULU FOR SIX WEEKS.

There is no reason why the polo game tomorrow at Moanalua should not be as good a match or better than the one on Wednesday. The ponies came out of Wednesday's fray without a scratch and are all in good form and fit. The Maui team will be strengthened by the addition of Fred Baldwin, in place of Wilbur, who was put out of the game Wednesday with a broken leg. Fred Baldwin has never appeared in a match game in the Islands, but has a good polo record as captain of the Yale team. He arrived in the Ventura and has been practicing at the grounds and training for tomorrow's tussle.

The Maui players are confident they can regain the laurels that went glimmering Wednesday and the spectators can rely on a great contest.

The Kaula men average in weight 152 pounds and the Maui's 148.

The officials at tomorrow's match will be the same that served Wednesday.

Geo. W. Wilbur, who was injured Wednesday, is getting along nicely, but will not be able to leave Honolulu for six weeks.

GOVERNMENT IS READY

Lieutenant Slattery states that he is making excellent progress in his negotiations for sites for United States military forts on this island. He has reason to hope that the matter of titles may be settled by December 1. In nearly all cases the land owners are showing a disposition to meet him half way in the matter of price. He says, however, that the negotiations are being delayed by one or two obstinate cases which may eventually lead to condemnation proceedings.

Ask For Receiver For Puna Plantation

Suit is entered in Circuit Court for foreclosure of mortgage on the $1,000,000 bond issue of the Puna Sugar Co., of which $500,000 are now outstanding with bona fide holders and $500,000 held in trust. The appointment of a receiver is asked as the primary object. At a meeting of the sugar company it was decided that the suit should not be contested as it is impossible to arrange for further advances.

Plaintiffs are: First National Bank, H. Hackfeld & Co., M. P. Robinson, H. M. von Holt, trustee for W. S. Chamber and A. Ahrens. Defendants are: Puna Sugar Co., Bishop & Co., Oahu Sugar Co. and B. F. Dillingham Co. Hill relates that on July 1st, 1900, the Puna Company executed a deed of trust to Bishop & Co., conveying the property to secure the Puna bonds. It is said that the sugar company has failed to pay the interest on these bonds, which became due in July of this year and has not paid taxes assessed on the mortgaged property for 1903.

It is asked that the receiver be authorized to issue certificates for the purposes of his office, to constitute a first and paramount lien upon the estate.

Baseball Tomorrow As Per Schedule

Scheduled baseball games will be played tomorrow notwithstanding polo at Moanalua.

At a meeting of the League yesterday afternoon the question of playing or not was discussed. President Isenberg left the matter to the representatives of the ball teams present, declining to express his views, saying that he thought it proper for him to remain silent since he had large interests in both the baseball and polo games.

J. O. Carter, Jr., wanted to know what disposition would be made of the games set for Saturday if they were not played according to schedule; according to the rules, in the event of postponement the games should be played off on the next holiday; Regatta Day would be the next holiday and Carter was strenuously opposed to interfering with the aquatic sports on that occasion. Polo had already had one day to itself; besides, said Carter, it was not believed that the baseball crowd would draw materially from the polo games; it was only fair that the ball players serve the crowd that backed them, and these would probably be a big lot of people disappointed if baseball slipped a day.

Isenberg ruled then and there that, if the games were postponed they could not be played on Regatta Day, as an agreement had already been arrived at to that effect. Carter held that the rules should be followed; if the games were postponed they would have to be played on Regatta Day, according to rule; he appealed from Isenberg's ruling and then moved that tomorrow's games be played as per schedule; this was put to vote and carried. Pat Gleason of the H. A. C. and Vanatta of the Kams voted against it.

Days for practice were drawn as follows: Monday, Ellis; Tuesday, Malles; Wednesday, Punahou; Thursday, Kams; Friday, H. A. C.

BESIEGING THE LEAF-HOPPER.

Following is an extract from letter of Messrs. Perkins and Koehle to Planters' Association, dated 20th July, 1904:

"We shall be in the neighborhood of Queensland for a month or more as results are so far satisfactory and the weather South is too cold as yet, though that is a much more favorable point for the shipment of insects. We shall be anxious to hear from the station entomologists as to the condition in which the consignments arrive from this point, the journey being so long and slow. If we can establish the conditions that obtain here in Queensland in the matter of leaf hopper, in the islands, there will be no more trouble with this pest."

The first consignment of parasitized leaf hopper eggs arrived by the Sierra on the 22nd inst.—The condition of consignments cannot be ascertained until after same has been bred up by the entomologists.

By the Alameda the Seluman Carriage Co., Ltd., received a large stock of carriage paints and varnishes of all kinds which can be had at their repository in the Young building at best prices.

FRIDAY, AUG. 26, 1904.

Delegate Kubio is right. The only way to secure results is to start in early and keep up the bombardment of facts.

What the business men would like is a Presidential campaign settled as promptly as the contests for pugilistic championship honors.

Russia's desire that its ships shall not disturb British vessels has become much more pronounced since the Port Arthur fleet was scattered to neutral ports and put out of action.

Japan's present anxiety is that the war will last longer than funds in the treasury, and according to the work of its armies, the relative financial strength is Russia's only hope.

A good deal of trade was lost on the polo half-holiday. People from the steamers wanted to buy but there was no one to sell—Advertiser.

the knocking of the knocker.

Since Governor Carter wiped out the official organ business, the morning paper has been decidedly frequent with its disagreements with the chief executive, and success has attended the Executive policy.

The Chinese Admiral on guard at Chefoo when the Japanese violated the neutrality of the port by capturing the Russian torpedo boat, has been forced to resign. The Admiral will get his reward when the war is over, of reinstatement and promotion.

Coincident with the arrival of the leaf-hopper parasite one plantation reports that the pest is losing ground. This will furnish food for later discussion among the scientists whether the parasite, variety of cane, or improved cultivation did the business.

The correspondence between Delegate Kubio and the Governor shows that the local representatives of the Federal executive and legislative departments are wide awake to Territorial necessities and will not allow Washington authorities rest until Hawaii's claims are given proper attention.

The Advertiser objects to the opinion of Dr. C. B. Wood that the "red worms" in water from the Kaimuki reservoir are harmless. Like all children, a worm in its stomach causes peevish fretfulness. In preference to artesian water pumped into reservoirs the morning paper demands water washed from the hills, that will require a fat contract for the creation of additional reservoirs.

KNIGHT'S SENATORIAL PLATFORM.

George A. Knight, the California lawyer, has entered the contest for election as United States Senator from his State with a statement that ought to win him more votes than all the money of his millionaire opponents can secure. The American people are becoming tired of tricky manipulation of men fortunate enough to have made a barrel of money and thereby obtain a crowd of hirelings who eventually work them into high office. They would like to be assured that their votes will result in men being placed in the Senate because of their capacity to fill the position. Knight goes at it on this basis and this is what he says:

"I am a candidate for United States Senator. For twenty-five years I have been politically identified with the Republican party and have supported every one of its nominees in National, State and county politics since my majority. In every gubernatorial and Presidential campaign since 1879 I have stumped California for the Republican ticket and paid my own expenses, and have never received a cent from the organization for my services. The Republicans of California know me intimately, and from a presence in National conventions I have been introduced to and know every great leader.

"I have no advance agent, no dark lantern and no sack. California is the grandest State in the Union and her people the most prosperous and intelligent. The honor of being her Senator is something anyone should desire, and the means of obtaining the honor should be in keeping with the dignity of the office. The Republican party of California know today whether they want me or not, and if the representatives of that party carry out that wish, I will be satisfied. To me the Senatorship is not a doughnut on a pie counter on sale to the public, and I do not propose to do anything that will reflect upon the position of trust and honor. I believe that Senator Perkins is the choice of the Republicans of California by a vote of the entire party. I want to feel that if a direct vote were taken I would be chosen. If such is not the present fact, I don't want the office.

"I did not go into your (Shasta county) convention today. I wanted to avoid any possible chances of criticism not in harmony with my last statement."

Mr. Knight's old-fashioned method of appealing to the sober, unmanipulated sentiment of the people is refreshing. It shows that he has some appreciation of the dignity of the office he seeks, if his wealthy opponents have not. He ought to win on a platform of this character. The result as evidencing the good sense of California's citizens will be awaited with much interest.

BISHOP POTTER AND THE SALOON.

Bishop Potter stirred up a hornet's nest of prohibitionists and ecclesiastical forces when he took part in the dedication of a New York liquor saloon. Churchmen and even those not posing as total abstainers have been on the trail of the reverend gentleman.

Unquestionably Bishop Potter is deserving of all he got. Some may upbraid him for having the courage of his conviction, but the best that can be said in his behalf is that his convictions are in mighty bad taste for one of his standing in the church.

Despite the diversity of opinion regarding the use of intoxicating liquors, public opinion in our country is pretty well settled that the influence of the liquor saloon is not elevating. Men in the business admit it. The sale of liquor is recognized as a legitimate business.

The better class of saloon keepers cleanse themselves by carrying out strict rules against the sale of liquors to intoxicated persons. Decent saloon men, however, — some claim that any man who keeps a saloon cannot be decent, but that's a matter of opinion,—do not regard their business as one that deserves the endorsement of the church or church leaders. A minister of the Gospel need not be a radical prohibitionist, but he is very much out of place as a liquor-saloon sponsor.

Potter has been forced to explain and this is what he says:

"I have publicly stated that I never dreamed of regarding the present saloon as either a blessing or a necessity, and no word of mine, whether uttered recently or at any other time, warrants any such inference. I have simply regarded it as an inevitable and necessary evil until it is displaced by something better.

"To close it, whether on Sundays or any particular days, is not to displace it by something worthy of public respect and legal protection; and my controversy is simply with those who have no other aim in dealing with a mischievous institution than to suppress it, whereas the only hope for reform is in displacement by substitution.

"To have urged the importance of temperance reform in England twenty years ago would have been in many quarters to provoke a smile, and, oftener than a smile, a sneer. But English ecclesiastics, Englishmen of rank, English statesmen and men of learned professions have been aroused at length to a more intelligent appreciation of the situation.

"By means of coffee houses and cabmen's shelters and reading-rooms and clubrooms, they have made bid for patronage of those men and women of the laboring classes who first built the gin palaces of England by their wages, and then supported them by their vice.

"And it is no exaggeration to say that nothing which has occurred during this century has done more to win for the Church of England the sympathy of the common people and the friendship and respect of the multitude than the organization and the work of the Church of England Temperance Society."

His explanation does not explain. If a substitute is the solution of the saloon evil, why doesn't he confine his endorsement to and preside at the dedication of the substitute? The practical influence of Bishop Potter's saloon dedication incident is very well expressed in the following New York news item:

"New York, Aug. 7.—Clarence Horan admitted in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning that he was not in the habit of drinking fancy drinks, and promised to stick to straight whisky hereafter and avoid the temptations of the new Subway Tavern. It was a simple story that he told to Magistrate O'Brien, but it cost him a $5 fine.

"He said that out of curiosity he visited the place that Bishop Potter had stamped with his approval, and the prices of fancy drinks were so cheap that he could not let them alone. He drank three pousse cafes, two brandy cocktails, four absinthe trappes and two liqueurs, and then the police got him."

The man of high religious standing who goes wrong, by his example drags down a thousand weak men to the saloon man's one.

nia, formerly clerk of the House of Representatives, charged with gross cheat and with the Territory against Enoch Johnson, same allegation. F. J. Testa is down as defendant in a libel suit and Stephen Mahaula and Edward S. Boyd have to answer to the charge of embezzling between $20,000 and $30,000 from the Land Office while Boyd was Land Commissioner and Mahaula was chief clerk of that department.

Then Vivian Richardson is charged with embezzling from the Water Works. Three counts are recorded against Mahaula, five against Richardson and five against Boyd. There are five charges against B. H. Wright, alleging embezzlement; the Supreme Court has a decision pending in the latter matter. Then there are two other cases of alleged embezzlement, one of which is against the former Territorial Treasurer, William H. Wright, whose case has for many terms graced the calendar while the defendant is supposed to be, say, in Mexico. All embezzlement cases are continued from last term. While there are twenty charges of embezzlement on the list, there are only six defendants; one of these is safely beyond jurisdiction.

During the September term, upon the calling of the civil calendar, all jury or jury-waived cases in which neither party answers ready will be peremptorily continued for the term or dismissed, as in the discretion of the court may appear proper. Cases in which neither party answers ready will be for trial in their order unless a continuance for the term is granted for good cause shown. Applications for continuances must be made in writing and copies of the moving papers must be served on the other party at least twenty-four hours before the hearing.

When a case comes up in its order and neither party is ready, the case will go to the foot of the calendar or be dismissed, in the discretion of the court.

All civil jury of jury-waived cases appearing upon the calendar are assigned and transferred to the First and Third Judges, as follows: The odd-numbered cases to Judge De Bolt and the even-numbered cases to Judge Robinson.

All criminal cases will be heard, tried or disposed of by Judge Gear, presiding.

The calendar will be called from time to time as occasion requires, of which calling, counsel will be notified through the press and otherwise.

CHOY FAR SAYS SHE IS A SLAVE

JAPANESE VESSELS OPPOSED TO THEM — INJURY TO CZAREVITCH DELAYED THE SQUADRON.

The case of Choy Far, charged with disobedience to her parents, created somewhat of a sensation in the Police Court this morning. Miss Choy Far is a Chinese girl about fifteen years of age. Y. Anin was the complaining witness whom Choy Far is charged with disobeying. For a Chinese girl Choy Far seemed to be exceedingly well versed in Western ideas. It was her statement to the Court which caused those present in court to open their eyes in wonder.

Anin was not present in court but it was stated by the prosecution that the young lady had been a member of his household but had been so obstreperous that Anin had to seek refuge with the police.

It was when Choy Far was invited to have her say that she made her sensational statement: "I am not Anin's daughter," she said. "I am simply his slave. He bought me from Wong Chee."

The girl then explained that Wong Chee had brought her from China. She had stayed in his household for a while and had been treated well there. Some time ago she was taken away to Anin's household, where she had been maltreated. The girl remarked that America was a free country and that Anin had no right to hold her as a slave, but she had a right to go where she pleased.

Judge Lindsay asked Choy Far if she would not like to go to the Girls Reform School, but the young lady utterly refused to entertain the idea. She said she wanted to go back to Wong Chee.

Judge Lindsay had the case continued until tomorrow in order to gain time in which to investigate and consider the matter.

After the trial Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth had a conversation with Anin. Anin utterly refuted the charges made by the girl. He said that Choy Far, since she came from China, had stayed with about ten different respectable Chinese families. With them all her behavior had been so bad that they were glad to get rid of her. Anin had taken her from Wong Chee's household, but had not purchased her. He had not paid a cent for her.

Anin further stated that Choy Far when she first arrived from China had been kept by an old Chinese woman of bad reputation. From her the young girl had probably learned her bad traits. She now refused to stay at any house and preferred to roam about in the streets. Anin would gladly let anyone have the girl who wanted to take care of her. As a matter of fact, he would pay for the schooling if she was sent to some school, as he took an interest in her.

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth also had a conversation with Choy Far with the result that she became convinced that Anin spoke the truth. The girl seemed to be bent on straying from the primrose path into the broad road which leads to perdition. She is evidently quite incorrigible.

Wizard Pitcher LEAVES ELKS For The Stage

At tomorrow's ball games Zamloch will pitch his last game with the Elks. He will join his father, Zamloch the magician, and travel with him. They expect to remain in the Islands three months, visiting all parts of the archipelago.

Mr. Zamloch's parting from the Elks team is amicable in every sense. He wished to go with his father and asked Manager Richardson's consent to quit before the termination of the contract under which he is playing. Mr. Richardson, after due consideration, granted the request, to take effect after tomorrow's game. Henry Kasi will pitch for the Elks the remainder of the season.

The fans will miss Zamloch from the diamond. He has borne himself in the games as a true sport and as much by his gentlemanly demeanor as by his good, clean playing, overcame the prejudice that was at first manifested against him as an "outsider" by the grand stand. He has been something of a wizard in the box and under the tutelage of his sire should become a master magician.

SPOHLER HOUSE ROBBED

The residence of C. Spohler, an employe of H. Hackfeld & Co., on Young street near Keeaunoku, was yesterday afternoon entered and robbed by a thief. A pair of diamond cuff links and three gold shirt studs were taken. The thief gained an entrance through a window. This is the third time Spohler's house has been robbed. The matter has been reported to the police.

The Manoa Golf Club will give a dance at the roof garden of the Young hotel tonight. Elaborate arrangements have been made. The dancing will be in the makai pavilion to Hawaiian music. While invitations were sent out, the ball is intended for all golfers and their friends.

The bark George Curtis is expected to sail for San Francisco this afternoon with a load of sugar.

STORY OF THE BATTLE

JAPANESE VESSELS OPPOSED TO THEM — INJURY TO CZAREVITCH DELAYED THE SQUADRON.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—Viceroy Alexieff, in a dispatch to the Emperor, gives the following report from Captain Matousevitch, the late Rear-Admiral Witthoef's chief of staff, under date of August 12th:

"At dawn of August 10th our Port Arthur squadron began to make for the open sea, and emerged from the port at 9 o'clock. The squadron consisted of six battleships, the cruisers Askold, Diana, Pallada and Novik, and eight torpedo boats, the Japanese opposing us with the following force:

"A first detachment consisting of the battleships Asahi, Mikasa, Fuji, Yamashiro and Shikishima, and the cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga; a second detachment consisting of the cruisers Yakumo, Kasagi, Chitose and Takasago, and a third detachment consisting of the cruisers Akitsushima, Idzumi, Matsushima, Itsukushima and Hashidate and the battleship Chinyen, with about thirty torpedo boats.

"Our squadron maneuvered to gain a passage through the line of the enemy's ships. Meantime the Japanese torpedo boats were laying floating mines in the way of our squadron thus rendering evolutions very difficult.

"At 1 p. m. our squadron, after forty minutes' fighting, succeeded in effecting a passage and shaped its course toward Shantung. The enemy, following at full speed, caught up with us slowly, and at 5 o'clock fighting again began and continued for some hours without either side obtaining any advantage.

"In the fighting the commander of our squadron was killed and the Captain of the battleship Carevitch was wounded and lost consciousness. Almost at the same time the engines and steering gear of the Carevitch were damaged and she was obliged to stop forty minutes. This forced the other ships to maneuver around her. The command of the squadron devolved upon Rear-Admiral Prince Ouktomsky and the command of the Carevitch on the second in command.

"After nightfall the Carevitch, being unable to follow the squadron, and losing sight of it, took a southerly direction in order to attempt to reach Vladivostok under her own steam. She was attacked by torpedo-boats during the night and at dawn was in the vicinity of the Shantung. The officers commanding the squadron having examined and determined the extent of the damage to the ship, concluded that she could not make Vladivostok and allowed her captain to proceed to Kiao Chou for repairs.

"Those killed included Rear-Admiral Witthoef, Navigating Flag Lieutenant Azarief and Navigating Lieutenant Dragulshvitch. The slightly wounded included myself and eight others. A number of sailors were killed or wounded, but just how many has not yet been ascertained.

"I arrived at Kiao Chou at 9 o'clock in the evening and found there the cruiser Novik and the torpedo boat Bezzhumi.

"I am happy to bear witness to Your Majesty to the unexampled bravery of the officers and men during the desperate encounter."

Japan Is Anxious To Secure Peace

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10.—Discounting the fall of Port Arthur and the disastrous defeat of General Kuropatkin at the hands of the combined Japanese armies, some diplomats are already speculating upon the situation in which the combatants would be left and the question as to whether it is possible that a way would be opened for peace. The almost unanimous opinion is that, with her present record of victories combined with the financial difficulties of continuing the war indefinitely, Japan would welcome peace, and the almost equal unanimous verdict is that Russia would adopt a contrary course. Even should every Russian soldier be driven out of Manchuria the diplomats believe Russia could not afford to yield, but would be compelled to doggedly continue the war, collect another army in Siberia and take the offensive next year.

Several keen diplomats, however, are of the opinion that Japan, by a clever coup in the event of Kuropatkin being routed, might perhaps force the powers to intervene in a way that Russian could not resist. One diplomat, representing a European power at the court of Emperor Nicholas, said:

EHLERS, FORT STREET

"Secretary Hay's note opening a way for the guarantee for the administrative entity of China, to which all of the powers subscribed in principle, may after all become the means of bringing about peace. If Japan, pushing the Russian military forces out of Manchuria and obtaining undisputed possession, should then formally relinquish the province to China, its real owner, and call upon the powers under their guarantee to protect the entity of the Celestial empire, I do not think the powers could escape responsibility."

SAYS 'TIS MORGAN'S MAN.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13.—E. A. Stotesbury, who is the president of the Union League and head of the banking firm of Drexel & Co., controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan, was today appointed chairman of the Advisory Committee of Pennsylvania by National Chairman Cortelyou. Mr. Stotesbury is unequivocally Morgan's man in Philadelphia and is connected with every big banking and trust interest in the city. The office to which he has been appointed is frankly for the purpose of directing funds into the Republican treasury. While Mr. Cortelyou has said that he must discontinue campaign contributions, the appointment of Morgan's man is significant that he does not mean what he says, and Mr. Stotesbury is a star at going out into the highways and byways and corrugating financial peanuts for the elephant. The advisory office of chairman of the committee in Pennsylvania was created by the late Senator Quay. The power in the incumbent's hands is unlimited. It is directly solely to the gathering of campaign cash. Judge Gear was occupied this morning in hearing motion for new trial by defendants in Territory vs. Cottou Bros. In this case the Territory, represented by E. C. Peters, was awarded $25,000 damages, by a jury, for the loss of the government dredger.

BASEBALL BITS Only seven more games of the series remain to be played. Captain Cogswell of the Marines has great faith in the ability of his boys to come out winners in tomorrow's game. He and Hampton are already counting scalps at first and second.

Lishman may not be able to play in the game tomorrow and Steere may play short. Last game Steere did excellent work, showing up his old-time form.

The press boys are anticipating the pleasure of the small talk of the interesting fans whose omniscience of the game is most instructive.

Davis of the Marines is in the hospital and the ball field will probably not be visited by him again this season.

Bob White is getting a swing on for a four-base hit for next game. Nobody is satisfied with a single from Bob nowadays.

Castle is said to have improved very much in practice during the week and the Punahous are hopeful of adding the scalp of the Kams to their belt tomorrow.

From the actions of their representatives, both the Kams and the H. A. C's seem willing to give Castle, of the Punahous, an opportunity to leave for the Coast before meeting him again.

Manager Carter, speaking for the Punahous and the Elks, came out flat footed against disruption in the schedule and also against any attempt to play ball on Regatta day.

And that wire netting that was to be "vat less?"

The League has held two meetings in succession without the minutes of previous meetings being read.

The humid weather caused the expiration of considerable not air at the last League meeting.

The Marines are going to make a strong effort to take the Elks into camp tomorrow afternoon.

Vanatta and Gleason voted against the playing of tomorrow's game, because, as they said, they were "stuck on polo"; Williams the ball-player captain of the H. A. C's, voted straight for the playing of the game.

The Marines meet the Elks in the first game tomorrow and the P. A. C's the Kams in the second.

Diversified recreations will be indulged in tomorrow in baseball at the League grounds, polo at Moanalua, and golf at Manoa.

There is talk of Zamloch, the pitcher of the Elks, being released.

Hampton will play second in tomorrow's game, and Ryan short; Wren will pitch.

Baseball will be the Saturday afternoon feature, as usual, at the League grounds.

Score cards are no longer being distributed, as they should be, to patrons. Whose oversight is it.

The Rapid Transit will have the usual adequate accommodations for transportation to and from the ball grounds tomorrow.

His great charm lies perhaps in his own personality and the humor with which he invests the items of his program. Billy, his assistant, is an able helper in producing laughs and those who attend Zamloch's entertainments will be literally amused, edified, bewildered and, possibly, instructed. Vigorous demands made on the reserved seat sale at the Bergstrom Music Co.'s new store show that Zamloch has not been forgotten and that his visit during these dull theatrical times is a welcome one. The first performance is tomorrow evening. Kappelmeister Berger will furnish the orchestra.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS UNIFORM RANK DISCUSSED BY SUPREME CHANCELLOR

BIG GATHERING OF KNIGHTS AT LOUISVILLE—REPORT OF KEEPER OF RECORDS. PROGRESS.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16.—Under fair skies twenty-six brigades of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, over 10,000 strong, paraded the streets here today. Over 100,000 people lined the route of the parade, which was three miles in length. The pageant was a great success. General Carnahan, commander-in-chief, was grand marshal of the day.

The Supreme Lodge, which is the business department of the Knights of Pythias, opened its sessions today at the Masonic Theater. The attendance was large. After welcoming addresses and responses, the general meeting of the lodge adjourned until night, and the accredited delegates went into executive session to hear the reports of officers.

The report of Supreme Chancellor Tracy R. Bangs says: The military branch of the order has been the cause of much concern. We have for years taken it up on faith, and it strikes me that it is about time to stop long enough to take stock and endeavor to ascertain whether the Uniform Rank, as now managed and controlled, is a benefit or a hindrance to the order of Knights of Pythias. The statistics show that we are going steadily backward in this rank. It appears to me, therefore, that there is something radically wrong with this branch of the order. I am of the opinion that one of the causes, in fact the great cause, for lack of interest, loss of membership and general deterioration is lack in home rule, and the fact that the rank is overinflated, overcontrolled and has run to form rather than to substance. I believe that it is due the Uniform Rank that it should be absolutely and without reservation released from any and all control by the Supreme Lodge, limiting its supervision to that which it may rightfully exercise over any man who is a member of the order of Knights of Pythias—to insist upon such conduct as will not bring discredit to the order.

The report of R. L. C. White, supreme keeper of records and seals, shows that the total number of subordinate lodges December 31, 1903, was 7228 and the total membership 549,882. A net gain during the year of 162 lodges and 32,556 members. This is the largest gain in membership made during any year since 1892. The net gain during 1902 and 1903 combined was 225 subordinate lodges and 51,745 members. The total receipts of Grand Lodges were $1,873,569, of which $1,523,455 was expended for relief.

The total suspensions for non-payment of dues in 1903 were 32,781; the total for this cause since 1889 is 669,424.

The bills for Public Buildings at Honolulu and Hilo have been introduced and referred to the Committee on Public Buildings.

Chairman Gillet will require absolute proof of the necessity of these buildings, and much data has been furnished. The chances for a building of moderate cost at Hilo are better at the coming session than a very expensive one at Honolulu.

"Yes, Miss Wilton," said Desborough, who had at that moment approached them, looking very handsome, having heard the last words of the colonel, "we have arranged a safe place for you and your maid in the cable tiers, way below the water line and out of the way of shot, though I hardly expect much of it from that fellow. Will you allow me to conduct you there? Ferhaps you, too, colonel, would be safer if you would."

"Oh, father, let me stay just a little longer! There is no danger yet. Take Chloee down, if you will, Mr. Desborough, and have a place ready for me, I'll go down when the battle begins—indeed I will, father!" she continued entrancingly.

"Well," said the colonel uncertainly, "let her stay a little longer, my lord."

"Very well, sir," replied Desborough, bowing and turning forward.

"Here, you Jack, take this girl below and stow her away in the cable tiers by the main hatch," he said, pointing to Chloee, her teeth chattering with undefined but none the less overwhelming terror.

The colonel stepped forward beside Captain Vincent, and Desborough descended to the main deck to superintend the fighting of the batteries, while Katharine, grateful for the respite and determined not to go below at all, stepped aft in the shelter of the rail, her heart already beating madly as the two ships approached each other in silence.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The men on the Randolph were in excellent spirits and as they drew nearer and nearer became more and more anxious for the fray.

"She's a big one, ain't she?" said one young seaman, glancing over a gun through a porthole forward; "but we ain't afraid of her, mates. We'll just dance up and slap her in the face with this, and then turn around and slap her with 'other side," laying his hand at the time on one of the long eighteenes which constituted the main battery of the frigate.

"Yes, and then what will she do to us? Blow us into splinters with a broadside, youngsters! Not as I particularly care, so we have a chance to get a few good licks at her with these old barkers," said an older man, pointing like the first, to a gun.

"That's the talk, men," said Seymour, who was making a tour of inspection through the ship in person and who had stopped before the gun and heard the conversation. "Before she sinks us we will give it to her hard. I can depend upon you, I know."

Old Bentley was standing on the fore-castle forward, looking earnestly at the approaching ship, when Seymour came upon him. The rest of the men, mindful of the peculiar relationship between the two, instinctively drew back a little, leaving them alone.

"Well, Bentley, our work is cut out for us there."

"Aye, Captain Seymour, I'm thinking that this cruise will end right here for this ship—unless you strike, sir."

"Strike! Do you advise me to do so, then?"

"God forbid, except it be with shot and these," said the old man, lifting an enormous cutlass, ground to a razor edge, which he had specially made for his own personal use in battle. "No, no; we've got to fight him till he's so damaged that he can't get at the rest. Do you see, sir, how the brig lags behind them?" he went on, pointing out toward the slowly escaping squadron.

"The boy's got her luffed up so she makes no headway at all."

"I know it. I have signaled to him twice to close with the rest—he can sail two feet to their one—but it is no use; he pays no attention. He should not have been given so responsible a command until he learned to obey orders," said Seymour, frowning.

"Let the boy alone, Master John."

"He'll do all right," said Bentley. "He's the makings of a good sailorman and a fine officer in him. I've watched him."

"Ha, there goes a shot from the liner!" cried Seymour as a puff of smoke broke out from the lee side, followed by the dull boom of a cannon over the water, and then the flags rippled bravely out from the mastsheads. "Well, we did not need that sort of an introduction. Aff there!" cried the captain with his powerful voice.

"Show a British flag at the maff. That will puzzle him for a while longer. Well, old friend, I must go aft. It's likely we won't both of us come out of this little affair alive, so goodbye, and God bless you. You've been a good friend to me, Bentley, ever since I was a child, and I doubt I've requited you ill enough," he said, reaching forth his hand. The old sailor shifted his cutlass into his left hand, took off his hat and grasped Seymour's hand with his own mighty palm.

"Aye, ever since you were a boy, and a proper sailor and a better officer don't walk the deck, if I do say it myself, as I've had a hand in the making of you. But what you say is true, sir—I'll probably most all of us go to Davy Jones' locker this trip, but we couldn't go in a better way, and we won't go alone. God Almighty bless you, sir! I—" breaking off suddenly and looking wistfully at the young man he loved, who, understanding it all, returned his gaze wrung his hand and then turned and sprang aft without another word.

The ships were rapidly closing when Seymour's keen eye detected a dash of color and a bit of fluttering drapery on the poop of the line of battle ship. Wondering, he examined it through his glass.

"Why, 'tis a woman!" he exclaimed. Something familiar in the appearance made his heart give a sudden throb, but he put away the idea which came to him as preposterous, and then, stepping forward to the break of the poop, he called out:

"My lads, there is a woman on your ship, on the poop, way aft. We don't fight with women. Have a care, therefore, that none of you takes deliberate aim at her, and spare that part of the deck where she stands in the fight if you can. Pass the word along."

"Well, I'm blessed!" said one old gun captain sotto voce. "Be they come out against us with wimmen?"

The Randolph had the weather gauge of the Yarmouth by this time, and Seymour shifted his helm slightly, rounded in his braces a little and ran down with the wind a little free and on a line parallel to the course of his enemy, but going in a different direction. He lifted the glass again to his eye and looked long and earnestly at the woman's figure half hidden by the rail on the ship. Was it, could it be, indeed she? Was fate bringing them into opposition again? It was not possible. Trembling violently, he lifted the glass for a further investigation, when an officer, trumpet in hand, sprang upon the rail of the Yarmouth forward and hailed:

CRUEL TOWARDS WIFE

MRS. BAILEY DESIRES AN ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

SAYS HUSBAND BEAT AND KICKED HER—REFUSES TO PROVIDE HER WITH NECESSARIES.

Caroline Bailey yesterday afternoon filed a libel for divorce against Harrison S. Bailey. The libellant shows that the marriage took place May 21, 1896. She alleges "that shortly after her said marriage to respondent as aforesaid, and until on or about the 20th day of February, 1904, said respondent treated libellant with great cruelty, and on very many occasions, the particular dates of which libellant does not now remember, respondent struck libellant with his clenched fist, thereby inflicting severe pain and suffering upon libellant."

"That on or about February 20, 1904, respondent made a cruel and unprovoked attack upon libellant, struck her in the face and back with his clenched fist, knocked her to the floor, pulled her hair, kicked her with his feet, and inflicted severe pain and suffering upon libellant and threatened to kill her, in consequence of which cruel treatment, and being in fear of her life, libellant was compelled to leave the home of the respondent and has since resided with her relatives and friends."

"And libellant further shows unto your honor that since the last mentioned date said respondent has utterly failed, neglected and refused to supply libellant with food, clothing, lodging or the necessities of life, and has not given libellant money wherewith to purchase food, clothing, lodging, or the necessities of life, although said respondent is abundantly able so to do as he so desired."

"That libellant is without property or money and has frequently requested said respondent to supply her with food, clothing, lodging and the necessities of life, or with money wherewith libellant might provide the same for herself, but respondent has at all times refused and neglected so to do, and since last mentioned day libellant has been entirely dependent for food, clothing, lodging and the necessities of life upon the charity of her relatives and friends."

Wherefore the libellant prays that respondent be cited to appear before court to show cause, if any he has, why the prayer of libellant should not be granted, and that libellant be granted an absolute divorce and that respondent be ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding.

Over fifty polo enthusiasts will assemble at the festive board. The polo ball will follow at 9 o'clock in the larger dining hall.

The public is cordially invited to the ball. No invitations will be issued, all are welcome, and it is expected a large number will be in attendance.

Newstand Girl Is Coming To Hawaii

Denver, Col., Aug. 16.—After declining the offer of Mrs. Mabel La Conte of Honolulu, a childless widow with vast estates in the Hawaiian Islands, to adopt her and make her her heiress, Miss Gertrude Forbes, in charge of the news stand at the Metropole Hotel in this city, has changed her mind and will within the next two weeks leave for Honolulu. Miss Forbes refused the offer when it was made several weeks ago because she was not willing to leave the aunt and uncle who had reared her from a child and to whom she was much attached. the uncle, George C. Brandlin, last week caused her to change her mind. Today she notified Mrs. La Conte that she was ready to leave for her new home in the Pacific. Mrs. La Conte came to the continent to visit the World's Fair. On the way East she stopped in Denver. At the Metropole the Hawaiian woman was attracted to a dark-haired girl with lustrous black eyes, who sold newspapers and cigars at the hotel stand. The girl reminded her of a relative long dead. They spent much time together. Finally Mrs. La Conte broached to Miss Forbes a subject dear to her heart. Would Miss Forbes give up her life of toil and go to Honolulu as daughter and heiress? The bright future pictured appealed strongly to Miss Forbes. She expressed a desire to go, but could not because of her uncle and aunt. After several days of importuning Mrs. La Conte went to the fair, but continued to urge Miss Forbes by letter to alter her decision. Last week, when Mrs. La Conte heard of Brandlin's death, she telegraphed to Miss Forbes that now she should be free, and after consulting with her aunt Miss Forbes decided she would accept Mrs. La Conte's offer. It has not been settled whether Mrs. Brandlin will accompany her. Mrs. La Conte is expected in Denver this week. Plans for the journey to Honolulu then will be made. THE RUSSIAN STORY. USED FLOATING MINES JAPAN STANDS PAT

JAPANESE SCHEME THAT CHECKED RUSSIAN SHIPS

TOGO'S MEN CONCENTRATED THEIR FIRE ON BIG BATTLE-SHIPS—JAPAN'S SUPREMACY RIOR FORCE.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15. (1:52 P. M.)—The Novoe Vremya's naval expert, reviewing the incidents of the sea fight of August 10th, says:

"Admiral Togo's first division sailed out from the Elliott Islands or Tallenwan and arrested Admiral Witthoef's progress, utilizing the enormous superiority of the Japanese in torpedo boats to attack the Russian vanguard and sowing floating mines in its course, a stratagem hitherto unknown, which paralyzed Witthoef's movements, as it was almost impossible to detect the floating mines without stationing a lookout in the bows, which necessitates exposing the men to almost certain death. This presumably caused Witthoef and his staff to leave the counting towers and stand on the bridge, whence they could better detect the treacherous obstacles. Thanks to the courage and self-sacrifice of the Admiral and the other officers, the squadron successfully avoided a danger, such as never before encountered, but the remainder of Admiral Togo's fleet came up, compelling a general engagement, in which the Japanese again were favored by the superiority of their torpedo boats—thirty to eight."

"Their artillery also was stronger by half as many guns and their secondary batteries by a third more than their main batteries. The Russians had the advantage, however, of the disposition of the big guns on the Carevitch, Potava and Sevastopol, the strong force of their fire enabling them to punish the enemy behind. The battle at this stage was limited to a long-range firing, in which the twelve-inch guns had a monopoly. It was at this time that the Carevitch was crippled and the others gathered around to protect her. It was the crucial period. The Japanese, according to their custom, concentrated their fire on the flagships, the Retzkyan and Carevitch, which were both crippled."

At the Japanese legation here it was expected that the Tokio Government had no intention of remaining quiescent if Russia attempted to compel China to give asylum to her men of war, and authorized repairs at her ports which would enable them to resume belligerent operations. Should China fail to comply immediately with Japan's demand the division of Japanese war ships now in the vicinity of Shanghai will, the legation declares, be instructed to enter the port and capture the Askold and Grozovoi, as was done in the case of the Ryshitelni. Japan has made no secret of her intention, but has not consulted the powers, believing that the matter is one which concerns herself alone, as Japan is prepared, the legation further asserts, to recognize Chinese neutrality only so long as it is respected by Russia.

With regard to the Ryshitelni, Japan, it is asserted, is determined not to comply with the Chinese demand, submitted in compliance with the Russian note, that the vessel be returned to Chefoo. Japan insists that, to all intents and purposes, Chefoo has been a Russian base during the war, Chinese junks having been fitted out there and sent through the Japanese blockading vessels to Port Arthur.

No answer has yet been given Japan to the Russian protest in the case of the Ryshitelni, but when it is made it will be communicated to all the powers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—Russia has agreed to the disarmament of the Russian cruiser Askold, now at Shanghai. Information received at St. Petersburg forebodes that Japan will decline to restore the Ryshitelni or make any reparations, and that, on the contrary, she will contend that Russia, in sending the destroyer to Chefoo on an important military mission, herself became responsible for the violation of China's neutrality, which Japan, at the opening of the war, promised to respect to the extent which Russia did. Nevertheless it is understood that Great Britain, as the ally of Japan, has advised her to apologize. It is believed that Japan realizes that this course will please the Western power, but that she will not follow it because it would mean a loss of prestige in China, where concession has always been translated to mean weakness.

China has replied to Russia's representations regarding the Ryshitelni, but her reply is couched in general terms, professing friendship and the desire to preserve the strictest neutrality. It expresses disapproval of Admiral Sah's inability to protect the Ryshitelni, and represents that he took all the precautions possible, but could not prevent the night attack. The reply also says that one of the Japanese destroyers was overhauled as she was leaving the harbor and that a protest was lodged against her action, in view of which the Japanese Captain promised to return the Russian boat, but did not do so. The reply does not say the Ryshitelni's restitution was demanded.

China's reply is considered unsatisfactory by Russia, the main question—what has China done to secure the restoration of the Ryshitelni?—remaining unanswered. Russia also demanded the punishment of Admiral Sah.

TAKES STRONG POSITION ON NEUTRALITY OF CHEFOO

SAYS RUSSIA HAS CONTINUALLY VIOLATED NEUTRALITY BY USING PORT AS A BASE FOR SUPPLIES.

London, Aug. 17.—The Associated Press learned this afternoon that Japan has made a demand on China, practically in the nature of an ultimatum, that she immediately enforce her neutrality in the case of the protected cruiser Askold and the torpedo-boat destroyer Grozovoi, now at Shanghai. Japan pointed out that the time limit, twenty-four hours, permitted by international law, had expired and that Japan therefore was at liberty to take such action as may seem to her expedient.

At the Japanese legation here it was expected that the Tokio Government had no intention of remaining quiescent if Russia attempted to compel China to give asylum to her men of war, and authorized repairs at her ports which would enable them to resume belligerent operations. Should China fail to comply immediately with Japan's demand the division of Japanese war ships now in the vicinity of Shanghai will, the legation declares, be instructed to enter the port and capture the Askold and Grozovoi, as was done in the case of the Ryshitelni. CRUISER BUFFALO EXPECTED SOON

At the Naval Station the U. S. cruiser Buffalo is expected to arrive about a week or so from today. Although nothing definite is known on the subject it is expected that she left San Francisco about today. The Army and Navy Journal some time ago stated that the Buffalo would leave San Francisco about August 20, but it has been ascertained that she had her sailing date postponed.

The Buffalo is being used as a training ship for the navy. She takes landmen on a regular personal conduct tour around the world, whereupon the men are transferred to other vessels. She will take a number of landmen to the Philippines and thence by way of the Suez canal around to New York.

The Buffalo will call at this port for coal and will remain here several days. She will then go to Midway Island, where she will leave supplies for the detachment of marines which is stationed there. She will then continue on her way to the Philippines via Guam.

The Buffalo called at Honolulu a few months ago and remained in port about two weeks. From here she went to Panama and thence to San Francisco.

IOLANI BAZAAR LUAU

Arrangements are complete for the bazaar and luau to be given tomorrow afternoon at the Hawaiian Hotel for the benefit of the Iolani Guild. There will be many tables and booths tomorrow afternoon at which the visiting public can secure excellent returns for their money. One table will be devoted entirely to Hawaiian curios, toys, holokus, calabashes, etc. Lemonade and ice cream will be served from a refreshment booth.

Special attention is called to the luau table, at which the ladies have endeavored to provide a fine display of Hawaiian edibles ever seen.

The band will be in attendance during the afternoon.

In the evening from 7:30 to 11 o'clock there will be a masquerade ball. The Ellis quintet will furnish music for the dancers.

LONG SUBMARINE DIVE.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 10.—The United States gunboat Hist was beaten this afternoon by the submarine boat Shark in a sham attack off Brentons Reef lighthouse, under conditions that favored the gunboat.

The Shark, upon which a new periscope was being tried, dived near the torpedo station, and after running two miles submerged, came to the surface within ninety yards of her target, which, it is considered, could have been sunk without those on board ever knowing what struck them.

Lieutenant England and his crew were observing on the Hist, but they failed to locate the enemy until she came up well within striking distance.
