AT LAST!

Yesterday morning the Government Soap-bubble succeeded in extricating itself from the political tar patch in which it has been floundering, ever since the "old man" put in his little political pen, and succeeded in reaching solid Opposition ground long enough to make a show of fight and set up a desperate little Administration argument. Let us see how long it will stand. Look once more upon the Soap-bubble ere it meets another argument, based on facts, and—bursts!

The P. C. Soap-bubble of yesterday says:

And when the Gazette was declaiming against the enormity of Mr. Baker's doctrine that money might with propriety be diverted from one appropriation to another, how did it come to overlook the precedent set by its friends in office, who said they expended $30,000 appropriate for the Pali road in building the Palace or something? How it was expended the records do not show. That it was not expended, as directed by the Legislature, in making a passable road over the Pali, everybody knows. And the wretched and dangerous condition of that road is therefore directly traceable to the—shall we say malfeasance in office of Ministers identified with the Opposition? The Opposition would call it "downright stealing."

Now let the seeming argument, but in fact false assertion, of the Soap-bubble be squared with the law and the fact, and what is the result?

In the Session laws of 1880, on page 66 occurs an item of appropriation for $30,000, for "cutting down and making road over Nuuanu Pali." Under the same act on page 70 will be found the following section which covers and refutes the assertion of the Soap-bubble, and which was starting the writer in the face when the lie was penned:

Section 5. It shall be lawful for Heads of Departments, in cases where special appropriations may be made, to apply to the same the surplus of other special appropriations in the same Department not required to be expended, so as to make up the deficiency; each Head of Department duly accounting to the Legislature for such transfer.

It would be needless for us to show that the Legislature stood nobly by the King in the building of the Palace and raked and scraped the surpluses of all special appropriations, not absolutely necessary, to pay the Palace debt and save the King's honor from the tender mercy of public creditors.

But let us turn for an instant to a parallel case under the Gibson Administration of 1882. In the Session laws of 1882 occurs an item under the appropriation act, on page 114, of $45,000 for the "Nuuanu Pali Road." Section 5 quoted above, however, was stricken out of this act and in place thereof will be found on page 120, the following section:

Section 4. The Minister of Finance shall not cause or allow to be paid from the Treasury any money for objects not provided by this law.

Now this appropriation of $45,000 was not spent on the Pali by the Gibson Administration; but further than this it was applied for other things, in open violation of Section 4, as above quoted. Backed by the law and the facts we here enter a counter charge that "the wretched and dangerous condition of that road is therefore directly traceable to the—shall we say malfeasance in office of," the present Administration—no! we charge the greater crime which includes the lesser, and "call it downright stealing." Government Soap-bubble, we thank thee for that term, it fits the actions of your political sponsors.

But let us see how this Gibson Administration conducted finance as reported in the Session laws of 1884. The Legislature of 1884 discovered that the Gibson Administration had not only been transferring special appropriations to other uses in direct violation of law, but found that the Administration had actually expended in "building the Palace or something," the amount of $54,682.63, for which this Gibson Administration could produce no vouchers, and the Legislature therefore very wisely ordered, to put a stop to the "downright stealing" of this Gibson Administration, that "for the item $54,682.63, the Minister of Finance shall render a detailed account of expenditure to the Assembly at its next Session." But further than this, the last Legislature, in order to guard against this thieving Gibson Administration amended Section 4, above quoted, so that it now reads in the Act of 1884 as follows:

Section 4. The Minister of Finance shall not cause or allow to be paid from the Treasury any money for objects not authorized by this law, nor for any object herein authorized over and above the amount appropriated therefor.

Speaking of the Administration which preceded this present corrupt and thieving Gibson Administration, the gentle organ blows up another bubble which bursts as soon as it comes in contact with the public record. Read the following:

Opposition finance is peculiar. When its model Administration was in office, by resolution of Cabinet $250,000 was issued from the Treasury to a private banking firm, the head of which had been a Cabinet officer, to be loaned by it at high rates of interest upon security which the firm in question, under its own hand, pronounced to be so speculative that it would not advance any of its own money upon it.

Now turn to the "Biennial Report of the Minister of Finance" in the "Reports of the Legislature" for 1878-1880. On page 5 of this report is a letter from Messrs Bishop & Co. to the Minister of Finance, in which they offer as securities for the loan, "Our personal obligation with the notes, mortgages or stocks of our debtors, or Government bonds, as collateral." But further, on page 3 of the "General Report of the Committee on Finance" for 1880, will be found the following indorsement of the securities and the action of Messrs. Bishop & Co.: "It is proper to state here that the securities for this loan laid before the Committee for inspection seemed fully adequate * * * for the protection of public interests. * * * Your Committee cheerfully state that as informed by the Registrar of Treasury, Messrs Bishop & Co. had, at the date of their examination, on the 19th inst. already paid into the public coffers the sum of $75,000 in advance of the time of their first obligation, which does not fall due until the first day of June proximo." On page 4 of the report the Committee adds: "However your Committee recognize, that there was an imminence of danger to the business interests of the country which required the aid of public treasure; as neither domestic or foreign capital was available."

But it may be asked why we have quoted from the report of a committee to defend our position when this committee belonged to the very Administration the gentle organ has condemned? We answer: Because this Committee report was signed by Walter Murray Gibson, as chairman, and because we prefer to give the lie to the Government Soap-bubble out of the mouth of one of its own political babes.

There is one very strong proof that the Government party is rapidly growing weaker, and that is that the National(?) candidates have ceased appearing at political meetings to attempt an answer to the arguments of the Opposition candidates. The natives as a race are shrewd people and are commenting freely upon this evident weakness of the Administration cause. In fact the natives are very logically inferring that the reason the National(?) candidates do not come to their meetings and take part in the discussions, is because the Government men cannot answer the charges and arguments of the Opposition candidates. This state of the Government's weakness was fully illustrated night before last at a political meeting called by the natives themselves at Waikiki-kai. The natives met previously as a committee and drew up a programme which was fairly proportioned between the candidates of both political parties. Notice was then given to the speakers on both sides to be present and discuss their respective positions. The Opposition men were there and spoke: There was not a Government speaker present. Comment is unnecessary.

LAST night, a meeting of the King's Own corps was called at the armory, and it is reported on good authority that when they had gathered, Mr. Hay-selden (Kikaha) made a Government speech, after which by his direction, the boys were told to choose between a bottle of Government gin, and a bottle of beer. The boys said they did not object to drink at the Government's expense, accordingly they each took their choice.

By Authority.

To the Inspectors of Election in the several Districts of the Kingdom:

Inquiries having been made whether persons who are exempt from the payment of personal taxes by reason of being clergymen, teachers, pupils in High Schools, Bremen, etc., or by reason of being over the age of sixty years, or whose taxes have been excused by the Assessor on account of infirmity or poverty, are allowed by law to vote at the election for Representatives.

It is my opinion that all such persons are entitled to vote. The Tax Collector should issue to each such person a tax receipt with the words "Qualified to Vote" upon it, which he must sign, and in place of the amount of taxes, he must write "exempt" or "excused." On the presentation of this Tax Receipt to the Inspectors of Election at their sessions previous to the election, the name of the voter must be put on the list of voters and the receipt returned to the voter.

At the general election, to be held on the 31st February, 1886, the votes of such persons must be received, unless challenged for other reasons.

Some of the Chinese residents of Nuuanu streets have invented and are practicing another nuisance which ought to be stopped, and would be abated if Honolulu only had efficient policemen. The nuisance at present complained of by the public, consists in the Chinese, who live over the stores along Nuuanu street, sweeping dust and dirt off the verandas, every morning upon foot-passengers beneath. This nuisance "falls" as Shakespeare don't put it, "like a dirty stew from heaven upon the place beneath. It is thrice cursed," etc.

A runaway occurred on Beretania, between Richard and Punchbowl streets, at eight o'clock last evening. The choir and orchestra will lead the congregation in singing popular hymns. Mr. Cruzan's sermon will have for its theme "A Young Man among Strange Companions." Seats free and no collection. At 9:45 A. M. the Sunday School, and at 11 the morning worship, to which all are invited.

They say: That the political campaign of the morning Soap-bubble has broken down; that the break down was caused by a fundamental defect in the Administration cause which was not discovered until after the trial commenced; that the price of strawberries is coming down; that Opposition stock is going up; that the Premier needs a political cane to help him get along at all; that the next Legislature will have a new political complexion; that the Government ought to start a bottle factory for its own little campaign tactics; that Jim Sherwood can play "Yankee Doodle" on his fish horn; that the best way to get even with the fellow who calls on your girl is to keep even with the girl; that this advice applies generally as well as to Honolulu; that the go-as-you-please skating craze is almost over in Honolulu; that the boys will have to go to the other Islands to exhibit themselves; that silver certificates are in demand; that the King was bound to have a costly Palace and the Legislature was bound to pay the bills to save the country from disgrace; that the tax-payers are again trying to save the country from the present Administration; that "Sonny" has been busy working up another little game, since the Supreme Court "sat upon" his tax-certificate business; that the people are growing more confident every day of being able to oust the Gibson Administration at the next Legislature; that to-morrow will be the last Sunday for the gin-party politicians; that there will be some funny political developments before Monday night; and that by the night of the third of February there will be a political remnant called "the last of the Administration Mobsters."

THE RACE.

(Charles G. Blandon.)

"We'll run a race," quoth Thought to Heart,
"To find a just decree
If 'tis with you Love makes his home,
Or, Kardia, dear, with me."
"The goal, my sweet, shall be the month,
The eyes the signal give;
Sir Tongue shall then proclaim the seat
Where Love does really live."
That moment passed Diana fair;
Thought leapt the journey o'er!
Too late, too late, the throbbing heart
Was at the goal before.

Not Good Judges of Shawls.

(Lewiston (Me.) Journal.)

Hanging in a dry-goods firm's window were some elegant cashmere shawls. There is nothing more misleading, perhaps, than a cashmere shawl, but the ordinary lady purchaser prides herself on what she knows about such things. Recently two ladies entered the store and asked to look at the shawls. They were produced and displayed to the ladies, who pulled at them, and picked at them, and discussed them, and finally turned aside with an air of indifference, as if they had found no merit in them. The obliging lady clerk had become interested in their examination, and, as the ladies were about to turn away, she asked what they thought of the shawls.

One of the women only spoke up. She stuck her long forefinger under one of the shawls and, pulling at it again, replied "O, nothing much. I saw the shawls in the window; that was all. I thought then that they were pretty cheap at $5, but I don't want 'em." The tag on the goods might have misled them, and perhaps the outward appearance of the rich fabric of the shawls might have aided in the deception. The tag was marked $500 instead of $5. The clerk explained the difference to her customers. Both of them, it is said, looked as though they would like to have the roof fall on them.

"Introspective" Insanity.

(Chicago Journal.)

Under this term Dr. A. M. Hamilton describes a class of cases in which there was a history of insanity, and the nervous temperament was manifested by various peculiarities—more often by a species of hypochondria, by peculiarities of temper, and by acts of eccentricity causing the subjects to be looked upon as "queer." These terms are applied to the condition of mind which is manifested by a morbid feeling of doubt and consequent indecision under the most ordinary circumstances when both the doubt and indecision are unreasonable in the extreme, but the individual, under the mandate of an imperative conception, yields more or less to his disordered emotions. Some years ago this condition of mind would have been spoken of by physicians and others as "hysteria," or, if it influenced the patient's conduct to any remarkable degree, the profession would have been at a loss for a proper explanation.

Mechanisms of the Bee.

(Scientific American.)

An investigator into the mysteries of animal life asserts that a bee's working tools comprise a variety equal to that of the average mechanic. He says that the feet of the common working bee exhibit the combination of a hammer, a brush, and a pair of pincers. The brush, the hairs of which are arranged in symmetrical rows, is only to be seen with the microscope. With this brush of fairy delicacy the bee brushes its velvet robe to remove the pollen dust with which it becomes loaded while sucking up the nectar. Another article, followed like a spoon, receives all the gleamings which the insect carries to the hive. Finally, by opening them, one upon another, by means of a hinge, these two pieces become a pair of pincers, which render important service in the construction of the comb.

A Little Girl's Courtesy.

(Cor. Philadelphia Record.)

I saw an exquisite story that Richard Grant White used to tell me, managed by a newspaper the other day that I was moved to do it justice by printing my recollection of it. It was told to show the native courtesy of well-bred Americans, and here it is:
When Gen. Washington was in New England he was entertained at dinner by a country gentleman who lived comfortably but quietly in his old-fashioned house far from town. When the general rose to go the little daughter of the host, not yet in her teens, opened the door for him. As he passed out in his stately way he bowed and said to the little maid: "I wish you a better office, my dear." "Yes, sir," she quickly replied, with a bow, "to let you in, sir."

How Flies Move Upon Smooth Surfaces.

(Scientific American.)

Some time ago Dr. J. E. Rombouts established the fact that flies attach themselves to smooth surfaces by the aid of a liquid secretion from the feet. This liquid, however, is not sticky, but the attachment is brought about by capillary attraction. Dr. Rombouts has recently strengthened his conclusions by an experiment. Several flies were confined to a glass plate by strips of paper, and the liquid that accumulated was sufficient to be perceptible to the naked eye. By the aid of experiments with glass balls, it was found that the adhesive power of the liquid was less than that of water, and about equal to that of olive oil. Hence capillary attraction is obviously the only force that could bring about the required result.

Card Memorials of the Dead.

(Chicago News.)

A firm out in San Francisco does a thriving business in card memorials of the dead. The decorations and verses are printed on them by the thousand, while the name, age, date of death, etc., are set in a mortised space. The papers so far east as New York are searched for notices of deaths, and specimens of the cards, printed on paper, are sent to the mourning family, and it rarely happens that at least one 30-cent card is not ordered.

Translate the Mottoes.

(Exchange.)

It is proposed to strike out the words "sigillum reipublice Massachusettsensis" from the seal of that state and substitute "The Seal of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." A writer in an eastern paper, noticing the above, suggests that the Latin mottoes of the various states be translated into English.

Salt as a Disinfectant.

The Medical Journal states that a few handfuls of common salt thrown daily into closets, and an occasional handful into a wash-basin, goes far toward counteracting the noxious effects of the omnipresent sewer gas.

What Dio Lewis Says.

Dio Lewis is authority for the statement that no user of tobacco has ever headed his class at Harvard or at any other institution where class statistics have been preserved.

Gathering Useful Information.

(Boston Transcript.)

"No," said Fudge, when asked if he had read Brown's summer correspondence; "I can't say so; I read it; but I ran it over, so that I might ascertain what railroads and hotels dead-head you, my dear boy. I never lose an opportunity for gathering useful information. I may want to strike them myself, you know."

OFFICE OF THE

Daily Honolulu Press,

No. 29 Merchant St.,

Honolulu, January 1, 1886.

To the Public:

We respectfully solicit your subscription for one or more copies of the "DAILY HONOLULU PRESS."

Our reasons for asking your support are these:

First—The DAILY HONOLULU PRESS is an independent morning paper, established in the interests of morality and good government, and will be devoted to advancing the prosperity of this Kingdom.

Second—The paper is conducted in a fearless, just and logical manner, aiming to fairly represent public opinion, and to be entirely free from everything objectionable in a family newspaper.

Third—It is our aim to make the DAILY HONOLULU PRESS the leading paper in this Kingdom. With this object in view we have secured the best literary talent, both at home and abroad, at our command, while the subscription price has been established at the low rate of FIFTY CENTS PER MONTH, with free delivery, so as to bring the paper within the reach of all.

Fourth—We desire to introduce our paper into every English-reading family in this Kingdom, feeling assured that it will be permanently retained after its merits, as a live, wide-awake journal, are once known.

Fifth—As an ADVERTISING MEDIUM, the DAILY HONOLULU PRESS possesses unequalled advantages, having retained all the subscribers to the late Saturday Press, in addition to a new subscription list, which is daily increasing, so that the paper is not only enjoying a large circulation in this city and vicinity, but is also mailed by every steamer to subscribers at almost every landing on the other Islands, and also to foreign countries, thus combining the advantages of both daily and weekly editions. The coming month, especially, our paper will have a much larger circulation than all the other daily papers combined, as we intend sending specimen copies to every resident on these Islands who reads English.

We, therefore, ask your co-operation in our enterprise, and trust you will avail yourself of this offer.

Very respectfully yours, etc.,
