MORE MONEY FOR CAVALRY BARRACKS

(Special Cablegram to The Star)
WASHINGTON, February 21.—The Secretary of the Treasury has submitted an estimate and recommended an immediate appropriation of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000) additional for the purpose of completing Schofield cavalry barracks at Lelehu, Department of Hawaii.
J. A. BRECKONS.

SUSPECTED THAT TWO CHILDREN DIED OF ALCOHOLIC POISONING

Food Commissioner Blanchard has slain of the district, sent the stomachs to Honolulu for examination and testing for poison.
It is said that the children may have been killed by overindulgence in wine. The parents are said to have been used to having wine in the house, and the children may have partaken of a large quantity of the liquid.
As soon as the tests are completed by Mr. Blanchard, some steps may be taken in the matter.
According to reports it seems very likely that the children died from alcoholic poisoning.

CAMPBELL KNOWS NOTHING OF HILO ELECTRIC RATES

When seen this morning in regard to the Hilo story, to the effect that the superintendent of public works may be the person to fix the rates for the county electric lighting, Marston Campbell said that he thought that a mistake had been made in printing the word superintendent. He says that "supervisors" is the word that should have been used.
"I have not read that portion of the franchise that alludes to the electric light. I think a mistake in the word exists. The supervisors are the people who should control the price of the county lighting. In fact I think that all public utilities should be owned by the county."
"At Hilo the county has water power right at its doors, and the county should own its own electric light plant. In Honolulu our system is excellent. Why should water rights be handed over for nothing?"
Mr. Campbell wound up by repeating that he thought a mistake had been made regarding the wording of the story that came from Hilo. Supervisors, not superintendent of public works, should have been used, says Marston Campbell.
The surveyor who has been making soundings at Reed's Bay, Hawaii, has sent in a report to the superintendent. The work is going on well and a great amount of data is being gathered.

GOES TO INSPECT LANDS IN KONA

Governor Frear is sending Joshua Tucker of the land office to Kona on Friday to look into some land matters there. The last legislature appropriated money to purchase certain lands at Kona for the purpose of homesteads.
A large number of Hawaiians have expressed the desire to settle on the lands, and the visit of the land agent may arrange things satisfactorily.
The Kona land is said to be good for small farming and some of it is already under cultivation.

JUDGE BROKE CHINK'S BANK

Ab Kwal, an old-time gambler, charged with running a Russian war game, was soaked $15 and costs by Judge Monsarrat this morning.
Defendant has been operating a Russian game in and about Honolulu for years past and is credited with possessing a comfortable fortune.
He was an active worker in the cause of the fa in the palmy days of that alluring game.
Only a few weeks ago he was beaten up severely at Molili by a fellow Oriental who had lost money at his lay-out.
He refrained from prosecuting his assailant, fearing a counter charge of gambling.

Harbor Board Public Meeting

At the public meeting of the Harbor Commissioners that began at two o'clock this afternoon, the matter of the new regulations that affect the waterfront was brought up.
The rules regarding the prevention of automobiles going upon wharves, the new charges as to electric lights, and other matters are being discussed.
The meeting is presided over by Marston Campbell and there is a full board present.

FELICITA IN JAIL AGAIN

Nicholsen, drunk, paid a fine of $3 and costs in the police court this morning.
Felicitia, known in the "subweb" of Iwilei as "Monkey," was also charged with having hit the bottle too heartily.
"I wasn't drunk when I fell down, Mr. Judge," exclaimed the diminutive Porto Rican. "It was fits what done it."
"I have had the pleasure of prosecuting Felicitia on numerous occasions," remarked Prosecuting Officer Brown, "and though I have listened to and been entertained by a wealth of ingenious excuses from her, I can't (Continued on page Four)

Auspicious Start of Festivities of Carnival Week

"Pinafore" was prettily staged and performed, with real marine setting emphasized by the active co-operation of three United States cruisers in the way of accessory effects, last night on board the old bark Mohican. For auditorium the outer end of the Alakea wharf was used, an immense grandstand with convenient aisles sloping up to the second floor of the shed. Between the ship and wharf was a clear water passage fifteen or twenty yards wide, through which the resplendent procession of decorated boats in the water carnival passed between acts of the opera. It was an agreeable surprise, to all who might have had misgivings on that score, that the acoustics of such an arrangement proved first rate. While probably the distance and open air compelled some extra exertion of the performers, there was no difficulty on the part of the audience to catch both sung and spoken lines. The effect of an offshore breeze was apparently quite neutralized by the shelter of the huge building. Some considerable credit, however, must be given to the leading performers for a quality of enunciation not always found with amateurs.
For some time before the performance started at 8:30, prompt, the three cruisers moored in the naval docks swept the sky with their searchlights, holding them steady at intervals so as to lay great shafts of light slanting athwart the celestial view, which ending in large discs at unknown heights produced the effect of moons veiled in thin vapor. One of the cruisers directed a beam of light upon the stage throughout, making a magnificent spotlight for the players to bask, strut and dance in. By the way this searchlight prevented danger of casualty from a live wire in the intermission, when two or three Japanese sampans, one after another, caught the feed wires from shore to ship and only lively work on board of the Mohican prevented the severing of the conductors. Many in the au-

Mahuka Site Jury Drawn

The trial of the Mahuka site case did not go on this morning as scheduled but was postponed until ten o'clock Friday morning at the request of the respondents. It is understood that they desire time to prepare certain pleadings.
A jury to try the case was secured yesterday afternoon after strenuous work. It consists of the following: Ferdinand Hons, Samuel C. Hardisty, Charles A. Bidinger, Joseph Cockett, Benjamin Sammons, William Klein, John De Fries, St. C. Sayres, Theo. Wolf, Joseph V. Fernandez, Philip C. Wong and N. B. Young.
Both the attorneys for the Government and those for the two respondents were extremely careful in selecting the jury and several peremptory challenges were exercised.
It is expected that the trial of each of the cases will be long drawn out, as much of the evidence is documentary and has to be extracted from the books and records of the respondents running back for ten years.

SAILORS DRILL FOR BIG PARADE

The sailors and marines who will participate in the Floral Parade tomorrow were out this morning drilling, and a fine sight they made.
The sailors from the flagship California and the South Dakota were drawn up on the naval dock in full marching orders with the colors. They were practically no raggedness about their movements, and their appearance tomorrow should excite a lot of interest.
The miniature cruiser is practically finished now, and formidable she looks with her miniature guns (some of them of wood) frowning down on the passersby. She is painted the regulation light French gray, and looks fine. She is as nearly as possible a replica of the California, the birdcage mast, the wireless aerials, the boats, all are there. She is now resting on the big autobus, and no doubt she will be as interesting an exhibit as any in the procession.
Fleet matters are quiet. There is no news with regard to future movements, and so far where the West Virginia has gone has not been given out, officially at all events.

CONFERENCE OVER RAPID TRANSIT

Some progress was made at the conference between the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company and the government party yesterday. Governor Frear, the attorney general, the superintendent of public works and the representatives of the street railway company, were present.
There was considerable discussion regarding the paving of the streets between the railway tracks, and the question of the repairs to ties and rails was also taken up.
After some hours of talk the meeting adjourned till some future date.

NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS REGARDING MOSQUITO PEST

This morning a new set of regulations was sent to Governor Frear for his approval. The rules and regulations refer to the operation of the health laws as regards the extermination of the mosquito.
Some radical changes are suggested. The most important one is the proposal that section 1 be amended or, rather, altogether changed, so as to apply all the rules to the district contained in the area within five miles of the harbor of Honolulu.
The law read before that the regulations should only apply to the following described areas in the district of Honolulu: The entire area within one mile of the harbor of Honolulu, and all areas within 150 feet of any building, within five miles of the harbor of Honolulu.
In section 2, which makes it unlawful to have, keep, maintain or permit on any such area, any cistern, tank, well or other receptacle of similar water containing character, the words "rice or taro patch" have been inserted. That is the meat of the whole regulation, and together with the amendment that enlarges the area to five miles, makes the regulation a blanket one.
This afternoon when the Board of Health meets at 3:30 o'clock the new rules and regulations will be presented to the members. There is not much doubt that the new regulations will be approved by the board, and then will go into effect at once.
The resolution to be put at this meeting this afternoon reads as follows: (Continued on page Four)

Enter By Hotel Street Gate

All those persons who have a right to be in the Executive building tomorrow during the formation of the Floral Parade are requested to enter by the Hotel street gate. Police officers will be on guard there, but invited guests and those who have business inside will be passed through.
Marshal A. M. Brown announced this morning that, owing to some of his aides not being able to obtain mounts, there is a slight shortage in that department.
Prince Cupid, however, has stepped into the breach and will act as one of Marshal Brown's assistants.

BROKE LEG ABOVE ANKLE

Douglas Collins, returning to his room at the corner of Fort street and Smith lane last night, essayed to negotiate four flights of stairs, with disastrous results.
Halfway aloft he slipped and fell on the ground, sustaining a fracture of the right leg above the ankle.
He was removed to the hospital in the fast police wagon.

CONVERTED TO INSURGENT DOCTRINES

(Associated Press Cables to the Star.)
COLUMBUS, February 21.—Colonel Roosevelt spoke today before the Ohio State Constitutional convention. He advocated direct primaries, the election of senators by the people, a short ballot, the recall of judges in extremities, protection of good corporations and the punishment of bad ones.

FRED KILEY WITH US ONCE AGAIN

Fred Kiley, ex-Honolulu, and until recently proprietor of the Honolulu Inn on Geary street, San Francisco, arrived by the S. S. Wilhelmna on Tuesday and is round town greeting his old friends.
Honoluluans know Kiley's late snug little resort well. Whenever one of the town boys dropped into the Inn he was sure of a warm welcome. Nothing in the house was too good for him and if he wanted diversion of any kind, from poker to pinocle, it was his in short order. Pleasant indeed were the memories brought back to Honolulu by visitors to "Kiley's place."
A month or so ago Kiley came to the conclusion that he had made enough money and concluded to retire. With this end in view he sold the Inn and securing a few choice "wet and smoke" agencies made up his mind to pay a visit to his former stamping ground for the purpose of seeing how his old friends were getting along.
Fred had put on weight during his occupancy of the Inn and decided that a little deck calisthenics, such as hauling the rope and pushing the holy stone, would be of inestimable benefit to his health.
He therefore boarded the good ship Wilhelmna without going through the formality of first securing a ticket and trusted to a kind-hearted skipper taking compassion on him and putting him to work.
Captain Johnson lived up to the most sanguine expectations and it wasn't long, according to reliable authority, before Kiley figured that his health had improved sufficiently to warrant considerable curtailment of his physical grind.
He is said to have paid thirty dollars to the purser and to have thereafter enjoyed the lights and delights of the second cabin, for details of which please see the agents.
Kiley declares that Honolulu has improved considerably. He finds the chief topic of conversation, "What has become of Scotty Meston?"
He regrets missing the recent boxing match but is overjoyed at having arrived in time to witness the floral parade.

TENDERS FOR KALIHI STATION

Tenders were opened today in the office of the superintendent of public works, for the erection of two cottages for the Kalihi Receiving Station. Only three tenders were received, but no award was made. The tenders were: H. K. De Fries, $9978, 160 days; Freitas & Fernandez, $9724, seventy-two days, and J. O. Hallaron, $11,526, ninety days.

LANTERN PARADE.

K. Yamamoto, wholesale merchant on Hotel street, in celebrating the Washington Birthday holiday, will give 1000 lanterns free of charge for the lantern parade. Anyone wishing to have same may call at Komeya Hotel, one of Japanese lantern parade committee.

CHINESE BANANA MEN IN A BOX

While the new ruling of the board of agriculture, establishing a fruit inspection for all products shipped out of this port to the Coast, was a welcome measure to those growers who have kept their fields free from pests and also to the shippers who have had to pay freight on bad shipments, it has not been so kindly received by the small growers, whose fields are infected with banana scale beyond hope and who have contracts with local shipping men. About Walkiki most of the banana growers are orientals who have contracts in their possession which obligate the shippers to take all "marketable" bananas off their hands. Unfortunately these contracts do not mention where the goods are to be marketed and while the Coast (Continued on Page Eight.)

SPORT NEWS

By H. M. AYRES.

HILO WANTS
SOCCER BOYS

(Special Correspondence of The Star)
HILO, February 20.—Local soccer players are anxiously waiting to hear from Honolulu regarding the game proposed for July 4. Like "Barkis," the local players "are willin'," but it does not seem as if the Honolulu boys are desirous of getting to "holts" with Hilo. It is hoped that the High School can be induced to make the trip in the event of a combined team being out of the question.

The news of the draw between de Mello and Jim Hoag was received by wireless on Monday afternoon and created no end of comment. Though de Mello is coming into the limelight it was thought by many that in Jim Hoag he had found an opponent a little too good, and the news of the draw, therefore, was good news. The outcome of the match with Gilmore will be awaited with interest.

WALL TROPHY
PLAY STARTS

Play in the Wall Cup tennis tournament will start on the Beretania courts this afternoon.

Today's schedule follows:
4 p. m.—C. G. Bockus vs. F. Hoogs;
J. Richards vs. H. S. Gray.
4:30 p. m.—C. Hoogs vs. Noel Deerr.
5 p. m.—S. M. Nowell vs. R. Sinclair;
J. Macaulay vs. K. B. Barnes.
Byes—L. Dowsett, J. Guard, J. H. Bunes.

Handicaps are fixed as follows:
Class A, owe 15 and 1/2 15; B, owe 15; C, owe 1/2 15; D, scratch; E, receive 1/2 15; F, receive 15. The players are rated as follows: A. L. Castle, present holder of the cup; A. J. H. Bunes, S. M. Nowell, B. R. Sinclair, C. G. Hoogs, N. Deerr, J. Guard, D. J. G. Bockus, F. Hoogs, T. Richards, E. L. Dowsett, H. S. Gray, J. Macaulay, K. B. Barnes, F.

The matches will be best two sets out of three, except in the semifinals and the challenge round, which are three out of five. Play will continue through Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the challenge round being set for Monday.

GUS RUHLIN
COUNTED OUT

NEW YORK, February 13.—Gus Ruhlin, famous a decade ago as a pugilist, conqueror of Tom Sharkey and others of lesser note, died suddenly today in his cafe in Brooklyn as the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

Ruhlin fought his last fight November 18, 1901, in San Francisco, when Jim Jeffries defeated him in five rounds. His fight with Sharkey took place in 1900, when Ruhlin made the sailor throw up the sponge after fifteen hard rounds.

In 1897 Ruhlin fought a twenty-round draw with Jeffries; in 1898 he lost to Kid McCoy in twenty rounds; to Tom Sharkey the same year in one round, and in 1900 he was knocked out by Bob Fitzsimmons in six rounds.

Ruhlin was born in Canton, O., forty years ago and fought his first fight in 1893. His wife is active in suffragist circles.

CANADIANS
WIN AGAIN

PASADENA, February 10.—The Canadian polo team today won the Hogan cup, offered as emblematic of the championship of California, by defeating Santa Barbara, 15 to 2. The Canadians took the lead from the beginning and the result was never in doubt.

During the sixth period Elmer Boeske, son of Mayor Boeske of Santa Barbara, struck his head with his club, severing an artery. The Mayor, who is a physician, aided by another doctor, pulled both ends of the blood vessel out and sewed them up, thus stopping the flow of blood. The operation was performed in full view of the 5000 spectators.

Young Boeske refused to lie down and walked off the field smilingly after the surgeons had finished.

St. Louis and High School soccer teams will play a game at MoHill on February 29. This will be the last game of the interscholastic series.

NEW HIGH JUMP MARK

BOSTON, February 11.—A new world's indoor record for running high jump by G. C. Lawrence of Boston, who leaped six feet, four and a half inches, and the equaling of several track records were features of the twenty-third annual indoor games last night of the Boston Athletic Association.

The local classic, the Hunter mile, was won by Oscar Hedlund of the Boston Athletic Association, running unattached, from last year's winner, Abel R. Kiviat of the Irish-American Athletic Club in new record figures for the event and for the track—4:22 3/5.

George V. Bonhag, the Irish-American Athletic Club's great middle distance champion, romped away with the three-mile run from a good field in new track figures—15:33 1/4.

M'ILVAIN IS HEARD FROM

Mindanao Herald, January 13.—When time was called and the men took the middle of the ring we got our first good look at Logan. He looked easy, but he wasn't. He had been thoroughly trained and coached by one of the brainiest fighters in the East, Eddie Tait, champion lightweight of the Orient, and he went at his work in a business-like manner.

Melvin fought throughout in his usual open style. Logan used a crouch and his style was to work in close and if Melvin didn't offer to lead, he would get in close enough to whip a high left punch over to Melvin's neck. Then they would usually mix it, without much advantage to either one. Logan did most of the leading and landed often, but seemed to lack steam. Melvin's work was nearly all to the body and he landed several that were hard enough to do damage, but Logan would laugh and come back for more. The match throughout was very interesting. It was undoubtedly a splendid and scientific exhibition of the manly art of self-defense by two men of widely different styles.

The decision, a draw, by Captain Macklin, was absolutely just. Logan, being cautioned for fouling, offset any little advantage he may have had in leading.

Melvin is very anxious to have another go at Logan. He smashed his right hand early in the fight and could not do himself justice. He still remains champion of the Orient.

Zamboanga and Holo head the list for the largest purse ever offered in the Orient, and Manila should be able to offer twice as much as either of the smaller places.

Melvin is well known in Honolulu. He lost a fifteen-round decision to Dick Sullivan at the old Zoo about six years ago.

LUAU AT PUUNENE

(Special Correspondence of The Star.)
WAILUKU, February 20.—With characteristic hospitality the Puunene Athletic Club gave everyone a splendid time at the dance and luau given at Puunene last Saturday night. A large number of people were present.

The luau was given in the big swimming tank. The tables were set on the floor of the tank and were arranged most attractively. The dance was a great success, too, and nearly everyone stayed for that. The decorations, though very simple, were most effective, consisting of streamers of black and gold. A neat sum toward meeting the expenses of a new practice barge was realized.

The H. C. & S. Company is adding several cottages to its Camp H, and on the road beyond the schoolhouse toward Kahului three neat cottages have been erected for lunas. The main office of the company is being repaired.

Rev. C. G. Burnham of Lahaina preached for Rev. Henry P. Judd at Kahului on Sunday morning, while Mr. Judd was away on an extensive trip on Molokai in the interests of the Hawaiian board.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Penhallow of Wailuku arrived in town on Tuesday morning in the Lurline. Captain and Mrs. Penhallow are also in town.

Quon Chiu, Aki and Sing Chong, former local boys and now in Chicago, are to be brought to San Francisco to meet the All-Chinese baseball team due to arrive in San Francisco from Honolulu on March 27. Fourteen players will probably be taken from here.

RECORDS THAT MAY SUFFER TOMORROW

The records which will be attacked at the A. A. U. meet at Alexander Field tomorrow, are as follows:

100-Yard Dash—W. S. Rice; time, 10 1-5.

One Mile Run—J. Goro and Bert Nott; dead heat; time, 5:24 3-5.

440-Yard Dash—W. S. Rice; time, 56 4-5.

220-Yard Dash—W. S. Rice; time, 23 1-5.

220-Yard Low Hurdles—F. M. Friesell; 22 2-5.

Pole Vault—Joseph Kauhi; height, 9 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Running High Jump—Hans Fas-height, 5 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Running Broad Jump—F. M. Friesell; distance, 20 feet 4 inches.

Shot Put, 16-Pound—H. P. O'Sullivan; distance, 38 feet 3 inches.

Hammer Throw, 16-Pound—Frank Knaae; distance, 101 feet 6 inches.

The discus and javelin are new events here and the performances in these events tomorrow will stand as Hawaiian records.

The record for throwing the javelin is 160 feet 10 1/2 inches, made by Ollie Snedigar in San Francisco, October 22, 1909.

The discus record is about 143 feet.

BOWLING STEADILY BOOMING AHEAD

Things are certainly looking up in the bowling game. Since Manager Wisdom inaugurated the very successful tournament now being conducted on the "Y" alleys, the game has experienced a vogue here which it has never enjoyed before.

Now the local champions are looking for other worlds to conquer and two matches are in sight which are of a distinctly inter-island nature.

On Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock on the "Y" alleys the Honolulu of the local league will try conclusions with a team representing Maui and holding the championship of that island.

A match may also be arranged between the Stragglers, local league leaders, and the Maui pin-spillers, Kauai Next.

A challenge from two of the best Kauai bowlers for a match has been accepted by Williams and Winne, members of the Honolulu team of the local bowling league.

Manager Wisdom sent a letter accepting the Garden Island challenge to Kauai yesterday.

The Honolulu offer to roll twenty games or more by wireless, home and home, under A. B. C. rules.

The winners of the local league are booked to play a match with the best team that Kauai can get together on the completion of the league schedule, which will be some time in April. Wolters with a score of 253 holds the Kauai record.

SNAKE FIGHT IS LATEST IN SPORTS

Georgia sports are nothing if not versatile. Just now they are planning to hold a grand snake fight. Tired of dog fights and prize fights, and being prohibited by law from having cock fights and bull fights, they have determined upon the gentle diversion of chucking a big king snake and a hefty rattler into a sanding ring to do battle royal. Where the fight will be held has not yet been determined, but the plans are being generally talked of in sporting circles.

The king snake, it appears, is filled with a mortal hatred of all other species of snake, and will force a fight at every opportunity without provocation. The king snake is not poisonous, and will endeavor to kill his opponent by curling around his neck and strangling him to death. The rattler coils and tries to strike the king snake a deadly blow with his fangs, while the king dodges and twists like a whiplash, ready to coil himself around the other's body at the first opportunity. The battle to the death sometimes lasts two or three hours. Hunters who describe fights they have witnessed in woods or fields between king snakes and rattlers, declare the sport will be more exciting than any prize fight that was ever pulled off. The king snake has already been caught, and is now being groomed for the contest. His owner is willing to back him for any reasonable amount against anything that crawls. It is said by experts that form always makes a king snake favorite in a fight, though the opponent will not be picked until a rattler hunt has produced a worthy adversary.

SPORTDRIFT

The Floral Parade track meet will be started at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Lorin Andrews will act as clerk of the track events tomorrow and A. E. Larimer as clerk of the field events.

There will be no charge for admission to the A. A. U. games to be held at Alexander Field tomorrow morning.

Officials and competitors in the sports at Alexander Field tomorrow morning are requested to be on hand at 10 o'clock sharp.

The Hilo Athletic Club is said to be on its last legs. An effort is to be made, however, to revivify it.

A bicycle meet will be held at the Athletic Park on Sunday, March 3, under the auspices of the Honolulu Japanese Bicycle Association.

The senior-freshman track team are winners of the Oahu College interclass meet recently held. The deciding event, the hammer throw, was won by Will Paty, senior, with a throw of 123 feet. Inman, junior, took second place. Third and fourth places went to Murray and Moir of the senior-freshman team. The final score was: Senior-freshman, 72; Junior-sophomore, 67.

In a niteracholastic soccer league game played on Monday afternoon the Kamehameha Scholls eleven defeated the High School by the score of 1 to 0.

MAUI SPORTS
BOOM RACES

Louis von Tempsky and D. L. Meyer, both prominent members of the Maui Racing Association, are in town for the Floral Parade.

They state that Maui intends to give the best racing meet ever on the Fourth of July and that they have had several promises of horses from local owners.

Both men confidently expect that the Honolulu bunch will support the Maui meeting as they have done for the past few years or so. They say that Honolulu has always had a good time on Maui and received square treatment and that it is natural to suppose that they will spend their holiday where these things are assured.

The Maui people, while regretting that they will not have the entries of the Hilo horses this year, nevertheless profess to believe that this will indirectly benefit racing at Spreckels Park, inasmuch as it will give the races a much more open aspect. They claim that while the entries of the Hilo horses have been highly acceptable in the past, the superiority of the nags from across the water has crippled competition and resulted in practical walk-overs where good, keen races were timed at.

MAUI BOWLERS
HAVE ARRIVED

The Puunene Athletic Club's bowling team, engaged to play a match with the Honolulu tomorrow night, arrived by the steamer Claudine this morning.

The visiting team consists of: C. E. Meyer (captain); Ed Dolner, W. Bal, Jr., W. Chillingworth, C. C.

These twenty-five-dollar excursions are growing more popular all of the time and more persons, many of them kamaaina, clamor for tickets. The Mauna Kea will leave at five o'clock Friday afternoon, arrive in Hilo early the next morning and be met by a special train. Those who wish may stop over in Hilo but those who go on will have all day Saturday and most of Sunday to investigate and explore the country around the great crater. There is much for a tourist to see at the volcano and the accommodations at the hotel are excellent. The performance of Pinafore and the beauty of the water carnival were not more attractive than will be the scenes along the route to the volcano.

THE FLORAL PARADE.

May the gods of the weather be good to the Floral Parade tomorrow and give it bright skies the day through. It will need them; for both morning and afternoon will have its special functions, and those of a character which rain would spoil.

In the morning will be a parade of the military, the only one, we believe, that Honolulu will have seen, inclusive of all arms of the military service and with bluejackets added. It will be a turn-out worthy of a clear sky, and one which Honolulu, if the weather permits, will respond to in patriotic spirit.

The afternoon will be given over to the floral spectacle itself—or to bemoaning its fate, which ever way Jupiter Pluvius may decide. But let us hope for the best. This has been a dry winter so far, and let us hope that signs of change will continue to be signs and nothing else until the show is over.

Don't forget to give your servants a holiday. There are few and far between and they work the better for them. Suppose we make tomorrow a holiday for everybody.

A MALIHINI GOVERNOR.

It is doubtful that a malihini governor would do much that is wise, for some time at least. Conditions here, unless he came from the South, would be different from any that he had known. Our local way of doing things has gradually taken shape during eighty years and it belongs here. The circumstances that made it, still obtain to some extent and, like scrambled eggs, they cannot be unscrambled. The governor who undertakes the task will merely make a mess of things.

Mr. Kinney should know from our experience with some of the earlier carpetbag judges—Estee, Galbraith and Little—that a malihini governor, instead of constituting a tribunal at which all could plead their cause, would take sides in our factional differences. Now neither side is wholly right nor wholly wrong, and the only man who can do well with both is a fair-minded man who knows all about them, knows their antecedents, has lived among them and can work out an average of justice with both. Of course there would be rows under him. The mixture of races, ideals, interests and political heridity made that certain; but such rows are nothing at all to what would attend an alien administration where the administrator, to be successful, must unlearn as well as learn.

Governor Frear is the right kind of a man. He is not proceeding violently. He is of a judicial mind. He tries to give everybody a square deal and to administer the Territory for the best interests of all concerned. Those who do not know what their own best interests are; who want the public domain to mortgage and sell; object to Governor Frear's courses, but we submit that they are the only ones that bring the greatest good to the greatest number. Should a malihini governor come in and dispose of our little public domain as the land-grab faction wants him to, he would live to see the day, as the common people of the Territory would, when he bitterly regretted it.

Hawaii can best work out its own salvation, with such oversight as the Federal power now exercises. So long as it has a class fit for its high offices, this class ought to be drawn upon for their incumbents. Knowledge of the people and their situation is as much needed here as elsewhere to secure wise administration of their affairs. Would a county of Ohio be the better off to have a man come over from the next county in New York, to be chairman of its board of supervisors? Would it be better for Chicago to have a Cleveland man for mayor or would it be best for Colorado to import a Massachusetts man for governor? The instant objection would be, if such a transfer were legal, that the outsider would have everything to learn and that, in the meantime, while learning, he would make mistakes an insider could have avoided. The same thing is true here. Hawaii can produce better governors for its own Territory than the mainland is likely to do, and while this is so it has the moral right to expect preference in the appointment.

ROOSEVELT AND CALIFORNIA.

There have been new signs of Roosevelt among the few states governed by the "Progressive" element in the Republican party, among them California. But there are no such indications in New York, where Roosevelt was badly defeated a year ago, nor in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Michigan, Connecticut, Minnesota, nor in any of the great commonwealths which will, with the Southern States added, supply Taft with enough delegates to nominate him. California, in this matter, counts for little in the general result. It takes up with Roosevelt because it has abandoned La Follette and must go somewhere; and Roosevelt, though not an acknowledged Progressive, offers the only hope. If the "Progressives" are to cut any figure in the campaign they must get a candidate now. Roosevelt is their last chance.

THE ELIXIR OF YOUTH.

If there be gods or spirits who, from some invisible Olympus or realms of space, observe mankind and his ways, how they must laugh at times at mortals. For so often we spend our time and our substance chasing half over the world for that which lies right at our doors. The story of acres of diamonds is repeated in many ways in life. And in few things is it shown so aptly as in the chase for youth. This is one of the things mankind has searched the world over for. And now scientists are beginning to prove that it lies within us. And the gods looking on silent and amused, knew it all the time.

What quests there have been, and still are, for youth. Ponce de Leon struggled for it through the swamps and jungles of Florida, all the time growing older by reason of the worry and the hardships and the anxiety he endured. Men and women by the thousands are going up to mountains and down to baths hoping to come back with the marvelous elixir in their veins. Milady sitting in the privacy of her boudoir dabs on a little rouge, carefully pencils an eyebrow, hoping thereby she can hold fast the charm of youth, even though the twinge of gout tells her the reality is gone.

None of these things bring youth. If anything, they bring age, for they mean worry and anxiety and care. And who ever saw youth worried or anxious or careworn? Youth would not be youth if he endured these things; for youth is carefree or he is nothing.

And there, in a nutshell is the gist of the matter. Youth is a state of mind.

More and more are psychologists and scientists and doctors studying the effect of the mind upon the body. More and more is the world coming to see that the mind moulds the body. An eminent French psychologist says that women are staying young longer nowadays because they are mentally interested in more things than formerly. Few women today at forty feel old. Fifty or a hundred years ago, a woman at forty was supposed to have lived her life.

The elixir of youth then is to be found right within ourselves, and according to an eminent physician, it is brewed of several do's and several don'ts.

To keep young, he says, spend a certain number of hours daily with children. Don't be a damper upon them. Enter into their interests. Get their outlook upon the world.

Another ingredient of the famous elixir is to keep working. Do not work necessarily to make money, if the need for this is past. But work at something, and work interestedly and to some purpose, not merely to pass the time.

Another aid is to keep learning. One can go to school until the day of his death. This world is such a wonderful place, nature has so many surprising secrets yet to tell us, that we can never exhaust the things to study. And it fills life wonderfully full of interest to become absorbed in some study.

If one does become absorbed in some interesting study it is easy to

Walt Mason
The Poet Philosopher

The new year strains against its traces, as young colts will, when feeling gay; and grave and melancholy faces I see around me every day.

At Christmas time—you may remember, 'twas but a little while ago, about the last week in December—we said we'd cut out useless woe. We'd try to make the Christmas spirit remain with us the whole year through; we'd can our cares, or pretty near it, and raise a joyous whoopysody. And every guy we'd call a brother, and let him come and wed our aunt. And, though this year's extremely youthful, where are those resolutions now? Can you stand up serene and truthful, and say you've kept a Christmas vow? Alas, we're feeble, erring mortals who seldom walk as we aspire. And Col. Satan stands and chortles, and heaps more brimstone on the fire.

WALT MASON.

follow the next rule,—keep optimistic. The more the wonders of nature or literature or art are revealed to us, the more optimistic does the outlook on life become. The deeper we look into life, the more do we see its purpose and beauty.

Then the rules are put negatively as if to enforce them. Don't brood, be idle, or let the mind decay. It is easy to picture what results when we do these things.

And, as physical suggestions, are offered,—don't overeat or take too little exercise.

And thus is the elixir of youth made. It is a much surer prescription than trying to find it in the swamps of Florida, or by toiling up mountains, or soaking in sulphur baths. And when found by the path of the mind it is a sure possession and its joy abides. For it is founded upon the real things of the spirit and not upon the fleeting things of the body.

Whether Palmyra island was annexed by the British long ago does not yet appear, but if so they do not seem to have interposed when Kamehameha IV of Hawaii formally added it to his dominions in 1862 or when it was included with them when President McKinley designated the area and component parts of the group to be annexed to the United States in a message to Congress under date of December 6, 1898. If Great Britain slept on any rights it may long ago have acquired, the United States would seem to have a title it could maintain at The Hague. But as yet no evidence has appeared of such an original seizure.

Take off your hat tomorrow when the flag goes by.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

SHERIFF JARRETT—The water carnival last night was a beautiful sight. The decorated boats looked fine. The Japanese sampans were remarkably well illuminated.

CAPTAIN FOSTER—There were many seafaring people at the performance of Pinafore, and the stage sailors seemed to please the real dyed-in-the-wool mariners.

DR. PRATT—The lantern slides and other descriptive matter that are to come from the mainland should arrive soon. A lecturer will travel around with the outfit, and people will be educated through seeing the effects—in pictures—of insanitary living.

PINAFORE

As to the operatic performance, it would be almost enough to say that, individually and collectively, the participants gave complete satisfaction to the crowded audience. Undoubtedly the universal sentiment felt by the dispersing throng was that the performance had been a success quite apart from the adventitious setting in which it was given. Some of the leading actors, however, deserve at least brief special mention. Regarding the costumes all round, enough to say that it was correct.

David Anderson filled the role of "the Right Hon. Sir Joseph Porter" with consummate impressiveness, a slight Caledonian burr giving added character to his lines.

Mrs. Alice Hayward was an exceedingly piquant "Little Buttercup," and her tones were as clear as a bell, so that every word was distinct. Her singing of "A many years ago" was among the hits of the evening.

Mrs. Riley Harris Allen as "Josephine" was charming as well as finished throughout, revealing a well-trained voice and chic stage manner. As a comparatively recent arrival Mrs. Allen on this occasion proved herself a valuable acquisition to the ranks of local amateurdom in music and drama.

Miss Florence Melnotte, in the part of "Tom Tucker, midshipmite," sang her songs beautifully, adding distinctly to her stage reputation, she being perhaps the only one in the cast belonging to the professional guild of entertainers.

Mrs. Sallie H. Douglas as "Cousin Hebe" had a most telling makeup and was not the least among the contributors of mirth.

F. M. Friesel gave a striking interpretation of "Dick Deadeye," never losing his grip on the difficult requirements of the part.

J. D. Dougherty played "Ralph Rackstraw" well, as was expected he should, and was particularly good in the duet and chorus, "Farewell My Own."

Exceptionally good work was done by the chorus, as well as the whole ensemble, in singing and dancing both. Applause was frequent throughout the performance.

Following is a complete list of the performers:

The following is the cast:
The Right Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., David Anderson
Captain Rackstraw, Luke Rader
Ralph Rackstraw, James Dougherty
Dick Deadeye, F. M. Friesel
Bill Robstay, Clarence Waterman

Cottrell, C. Osborne, J. H. Morrison, Robert McDowd, Cyril Hoogs, Charles Herbert, E. C. Schenkel, Geo. D. McIntyre, O. T. Webber, Frank Cleghorn, G. Mattiford and Mr. H. Vincent.

The Orchestra.

W. A. Love, Eaton Magoon and James Lloyd, first violins; Dr. C. E. Wall, Ernest Busch, second violins; George Tait, viola; Dr. Carl Ramus, cello; Ernest Kaul, bass; Charles Deaky, flute; Luther Walman, first cornet; Manuel Teves, second cornet; J. Stanley, clarinet; R. Behling, trombone; B. J. Webber, "ano; M. L. Titus, drummer. Mr. Titus is the Fifth Cavalry drummer of Schofield Barracks. This orchestra is a strictly local product.

A. R. Cunha as director and Mr. Dougherty and Will Douthitt as stage managers deserve a large share of the credit for results. The Mohican's illumination was a great feature of the event.

The Water Carnival.

From what has been said already of the decorated boats, it may be judged that the water carnival was a grand sight.

As the procession neared the passage in front of the audience on the right and left floating mines of fireworks were set off, sending up fountains of carmine and golden spray. Then on came the sloop, barge, sampans, launches and other craft, fairly well spaced apart, each one being heartily applauded as it nosed its way into the narrow strait. The fleet boys and the citizens manning their respective craft added to the gaiety of the occasion by their counter cheering to the spectators and the rollicking fun they put up in passing. Most entertaining of all was the "Seeing Honolulu" bus of the cruiser Colorado, and most attractive the floating theater of geisha girls with music and dancing. Applause was strong for the California's representation of George Washington cutting the cherry tree, and the South Dakota's of the old Hawaiian man-of-war Kaimiloa. The first-prize winner, a Japanese entry, representing the globe with an American flag on the north pole, drew a popular expression that anticipated the award. One of the most beautiful entries was the rowed barge of the Myrtle Boat Club.

Prizes were awarded as follows, the naval exhibits being separate from the others:

Naval Prizes.
First Prize—U. S. S. California.
Second Prize—U. S. S. South Dakota.
Special Prize—U. S. S. Colorado.

The Others.
First Prize—Japanese Fishing Company.
Second Prize—Myrtle Boat Club.
Third Prize—Pacific Fishing Company (geisha girls).

Fourth Prize—W. E. Young, chairman of carnival committee, for a realistic imitation of Kilauea volcano in action.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham and Mrs. Spear were the judges.

Pinafore Again
FRIDAY NIGHT

No amount of rehearsing can do for a production what a trial before an audience can do, and the production of Pinafore last night, which was successful in spite of adverse conditions, has prepared the amateurs for a finished show on Friday night when the opera will be repeated. The sale of seats at the offices of the Territorial Messenger Service for this second showing of amateur talent is already large and a success is guaranteed the players which will reward them for their hard work.

Entries in the horse drawn float division of the floral parade, of which Charles R. Frazier and B. von Damm are in charge, are still coming in from the business houses of the city and while the competing firms are naturaly reticent about the nature of the various surprises which they will give the public tomorrow, there is no doubt that there will be many unique and elaborate creations in line. The Colorado's "Seeing Honolulu" float, which appeared in the water carnival last night, will reappear in the floral parade. Perhaps the most pretentious of the floats will be the "King and Queen" float, which is being prepared by Mrs. Charles Lucas and Mrs. Robert Lewers. Upon this Kamehameha II. and his queen will appear in primitive state in a true old-Hawaiian setting.

The following announcement concerning the automobiles at Alexander Field tomorrow was made this morning by Director General A. F. Wall of the Floral Parade:

"All autos holding tickets of admission to Alexander Field to view the judging of entries and awarding of prizes tomorrow afternoon will enter Alexander Field by the Manoa gate opposite Swansy's."

"All other autos enter Punahou College grounds by Wilder avenue and Punahou gate. Admission to Alexander Field is free, except for automobiles. Persons who wish to come in machines may park their cars in the Punahou grounds, and enter Alexander Field on foot where seats are provided."

Both Officer Rathbun, who arrested her, and Captain Nelson, who received her at the station, testified that defendant acted drunk, looked drunk and smelt drunk.

"It is correct that I indulge in spirituous liquor occasionally," stated Felicitia through Interpreter Rosa, "but on this occasion I must deny the soft impeachment."

"Four dollars and costs," exclaimed Judge Monsarrat without hesitation.

Felicitia gave him a withering look and went to quod to work the fine out.

NEW RULES

low:

Be it resolved by the Board of Health of the Territory of Hawaii, that the following rules and regulations be and the same are hereby made and adopted for the promotion of the public health, and especially for the prevention and suppression of diseases which may be caused or transmitted by mosquitoes, by providing against the breeding of mosquito larvae and prescribing the manner in which water in which mosquito larvae might otherwise breed shall be cared for so as to prevent such breeding within five miles of the harbor of Honolulu, the principal place of danger from such diseases.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful to have, keep, maintain or permit, within an area of five miles of the harbor of Honolulu, any cistern, tank or well or other receptacle of similar character containing water, or any pond, pool, spring, fountain or other body of water of similar character, or any rice or taro patch containing water, unless the water thereof or therein shall be kept constantly treated with a solution of copper or other chemical agent or constantly covered with kerosene or petroleum oil or other substance so as effectually to prevent the breeding of mosquito larvae in any water therein or thereof or constantly kept sufficiently free of vegetable growth and other obstructions and stocked with mosquito-destroying fish, or constantly so screened with wire netting of at least eighteen wires to the inch each way or otherwise so covered as to prevent the ingress and egress of mosquitoes to and from the water therein or thereof, or unless by emptying and drying or cleansing any such container of water or otherwise adequate means be employed so as effectually to prevent the breeding of mosquito larvae in any such water or container.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful to have, keep, maintain or permit, within such area, any other body of water or any other receptacle containing water in which mosquito larvae might otherwise breed or any thing or condition which might otherwise enable mosquito larvae to breed, unless adequate means be employed so as effectually to prevent the breeding of any such mosquito larvae.

Section 3. The above rules and regulations shall be self-operative and obligatory upon each person or corporation or public officer or employee who or which by reason of ownership,

PINECTAR TO GO 150,000 GALLONS

E. A. Berndt, president of the Pinectar Sales Company, states that his company is preparing for an output of 150,000 gallons of "Pinectar" during the coming year, and that a large portion of this is already contracted for. Last year the company was unable to take care of all its orders, but with the recent increase in facilities hopes to be able to do so this year.

The company is preparing to spend about $20,000 this year in mainland advertising, this amount having been set aside from the recent issue of new stock when the company was reorganized on February 1.

The Pinectar company at that time took over the entire holdings of the Clark Farm Company, and now controls the output of about 550 acres of land at Pupukea, this island. It then increased its capital from $40,000 to $200,000, of which amount $50,000 will be held for the present as treasury stock. Most of the remaining $150,000 has been subscribed.

In taking over the business of the Clark Farm Company, the Pinectar people were obliged to take a number of five-year contracts for supplying fresh fruit to mainland dealers. Inasmuch as the profits from this business are less than from Pinectar, however, it is not expected that these contracts will be renewed.

We would be foolish if we didn't admit that we want your patronage and we are wise enough to seek it in the most business-like way—by carrying the most valuable shoes—"Walk-Overs," of course. Jacobson Bros., Pantheon block, Hotel near Fort.

SUGAR MEN SHY AS TO CONTRACTS

Indicative of the general belief among sugar refiners that prices for the present year are to run high, is a statement made by Joseph E. Hill, secretary of the California Canneries Company, who arrived here yesterday on a business trip from San Francisco.

"This is the first year," said Mr. Hill, "that the sugar men have not besieged the canners for contracts to furnish the sugar necessary for the season's fruit pack. Not only have they not sought for contracts this year, but have declined to make any, giving as a reason that the condition of the sugar market is too uncertain to warrant their making a price."

Since arriving here Mr. Hill has about satisfied himself that the uncertainty of the sugar market is due chiefly to the shortage of raw sugar, and not to the manipulation of the "sugar trust," as he stated the canners had been inclined to believe.

PAIA AND HAIKU RAISE DIVIDENES

The annual meetings of the Paia plantation and of the Haiku Sugar Company were held this morning in the offices of Alexander & Baldwin. The general reports covering these plantations are contained in the report of the Maui Agricultural Company, in which they are partners, a synopsis of which appears in this issue.

The profits of the Paia plantation for last year (18-35) of those of the Maui Agricultural Company, amount to $239,079.50. Dividends of 15 per cent were paid, amounting to $357,500. The Haiku Sugar Company's portion of the Maui Agricultural Company's earnings (12-35), amounted to $226,053, and 15 per cent in dividends were paid, or $339,080.

The same officers of both companies were re-elected for the coming year.

At the conclusion of the meetings the directors of both companies met and voted to raise the regular dividends of each from 1 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent per month—this being in view of the good outlook both as to crops and prices for the coming year.

MAUI AGRICULTURAL COMPANY EXCEEDED PREVIOUS RECORDS

Both in total output for the year and in the production of sugar per acre, the Maui Agricultural Company's plantations last year exceeded any of its previous records, according to the annual report of Manager H. A. Baldwin, made to the annual stockholders' meeting of the company held this morning in the offices of Alexander & Baldwin. The net profits of the year amounted to $943,385.49, of which amount $659,321.25 was distributed among the several partner companies of the corporation. The total assets of the company are given as $6,348,000.20. The balance carried forward to next year's account amounts to $1,365,356.22.

There was no change made in the management of the company.

Manager Baldwin's report is in part as follows:

"The operating expenses were somewhat higher than estimated, due to the fact that certain expenditures originally estimated as for improvements were for replacements and chargeable to operating expenses. Both operating expenses and expenditures for permanent improvements were under what they were for 1910, although the labor expense in both instances was higher in 1911, the reduction being in the amounts paid for materials."

1911 Crop.

"In my last year's report I stated that this crop should give us at least 29,000 tons of sugar. In the fall, prior to grinding, we estimated that there would be 30,000 tons, which amount was exceeded by 715 tons. The best yield in sugar was from the Keahua plant cane which was 12.54 tons per acre, although the heaviest yield in cane came from the old Paia flat of 55.66 tons per acre, producing 11.45 tons of sugar. The average yield of the plant cane was 9.11 tons of sugar per acre and of the ratoons 6.32, as against 8.41 and 6.49 respectively for the 1910 crop. The average polarization of the sugar for the 1911 crop was 98.48."

1912 Crop.

"This crop will come from 1827 acres of plant cane and 2370 acres of ratoons. Prior to the commencement of harvesting we estimated that we should get for this crop 31,764 tons of sugar. We began grinding November 15 and since then have had unusually clear weather and cool nights and the cane has ripened rapidly, so that it has required an average of only 8.3 tons cane to one ton of sugar bagged, whereas last year up to a corresponding time the average amount of cane to produce one ton of sugar was 9.1 tons. At the present writing the cane harvested has yielded approximately 1000 tons over the estimate, and we can be sure, I think, of at least 33,000 tons for the crop."

Factory.

"In last year's report I stated that the most pressing need at that time in the factory was more effect or evaporating capacity. We have obtained this at practically no cost by improving the drainage from the drums and the distribution of steam in them. This has increased the efficiency 50 per cent, and with a belt and two coils added to one of our vacuum pans we are able to handle the juice much faster. To date for the 1912 crop we have manufactured 12,431 tons of sugar, whereas last year at a corresponding time, although we commenced only one week later, we had but 7470 tons. We have constructed a sugar elevator and conveyor in the sugar warehouse that has facilitated the handling of the sugar and made it possible to pile to a greater height, thus increasing the storage room."

Ranch.

"The ranch made an especially good showing during 1911, both with live stock and with pine and other farm products. Watermelons on a small scale and scientifically cared for proved a very profitable crop."

Forestry.

"During the year we planted in the Kaillili or forest region and on waste land on the plantation about 350,000 trees, mostly eucalyptus of different varieties and Japanese cedar. We have also planted, in conjunction with the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, in the ditch country between Kailua and Honomahu over 15,000 trees."

Improvements.

"We have improved our camps from a sanitary standpoint to a considerable extent by providing concrete washstands and concrete drains at convenient intervals, as well as in other ways. We have recently ordered a cement gun from New York that we can, I think, use to advantage for this sort of work and for ditch lining in general."

"We have done considerable in the way of building new and enlarging old reservoirs, which is work that should continue for years to come."

PINEAPPLE JUICE NOT DEAD ISSUE

J. D. Dole of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company has called the attention of the Star to inaccuracies in a statement published in these columns yesterday in regard to the Hawaiian Pineapple Products Company and its bottled pineapple juice.

He states that while the introduction and advertising of this product has been more expensive than anticipated, yet a fair market is being created and the company expects to do a considerable and increasing business in the product.

In spite of the knocking that the juice has had here in Honolulu, the sales of it are fair and increasing, and if as much were sold in the rest of the United States as is now being sold in this Territory in proportion to the population, there would be a business of 150,000 cases a year.

Dole's Pineapple Juice, Mr. Dole says, has general support from the medical profession, who are prescribing it more and more for stomach, throat and kidney trouble, and for convalescents, and its use as a straight beverage and in mixed drinks has already become a regular habit in many of the best New York and San Francisco clubs.

2000 M'BRYDE AT TEN FLAT

Trading in local stocks was limited today to a comparatively few issues, McBryde and Hawaiian Commercial Sugar leading. Both of these stocks are selling strong.

McBryde recorded sales of about 2000 shares in all since yesterday, all at 10 flat. Apparently there is more available at this figure, indicating that the recent upward tendency is about spent. At close 8.75 was bid and 10 asked.

Five shares of Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar sold on the board today at 48.25. Yesterday's selling price was 47, but between boards 700 shares brought 47.50, in half a dozen different blocks, while early in the session today 48 was paid for 140 shares; 48.50 was asked at close, with 48 bid.

Olaa is still weakening, a number of sales being made today at 8.375, while bidders were offering one point less than this.

The first sales of Pacific Sugar Mill made for some time were recorded today, when a number of blocks aggregating 63 shares were sold for 143. Bidding is strong at this figure, with no more offered.

Pioneer is feeling the general tendency toward depression, a number of blocks selling today for 258.50, a drop for 260. Buyers are offering 257.50, while 259 is asked.

Hawaiian Sugar is one of the stocks still on the upward course, several hundred shares selling between boards for 51.50.

OVER THE TEACUPS.

By Meg Negley.

CALLING DAYS FOR HONO. LULU.

Mondays: Punahou, College Hills, Manoa, Makiki.

Tuesdays: Waikiki, Kapiolani Park, Kaimuki, Palolo.

Wednesdays: Nuanu, Punui, Pacific Heights. First and Third Wednesdays above Nuanu Bridge. Second and Fourth Wednesdays below Bridge.

Fourth Wednesdays: Pacific Heights.

Thursdays: The Plains.

Fridays: Hotels and town. Fourth Friday, Fort Shafter.

First Tuesdays: Fort Ruger.

Saturdays: Kailhi, Thira and Fourth Saturdays, Kamehameha Schools.

Judge Perry and his bride arrived yesterday in the Wilhelmina.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Marx and party occupied a box at the production of "Pinafore" last night.

Mrs. Andrew Fuller has issued invitations for a bridge tea on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Knight will give a bridge party tomorrow afternoon at her home at Waikiki.

Mrs. Kingsbury and Mr. and Mrs. Penhallow of Maui enjoyed "Pinafore" last night from the box of Mr. Arthur Wall.

The older girls attending school at Punahou have charge of a Washington dinner which is to be given at Dole Hall tonight.

Mr. Rivenburg has secured the Middlechurch property on Green street and will occupy it as soon as Mr. Rivenburg arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baldwin, who arrived yesterday from Maui, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith on Nuanu street. They expect to remain for a fortnight.

Mrs. Ross Kingsbury will issue invitations for a card party in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Kingsbury of Maui. The event will probably take place next Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Abrams gave another delightful week-end party at the Peninsula last Saturday. These informal parties are given quite often by Mr. and Mrs. Abrams, and those who are fortunate in securing invitations report a pleasant outing.

Mrs. G. E. Turner, wife of Lieutenant Turner, was the hostess on Monday for the regular U. S. Service Bridge Club.

Mrs. Turner is a charming hostess, and on this occasion was assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Mrs. Brown, whose long experience in service circles makes her most sought after.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent at bridge.

Those who were present on this occasion were Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Sheedy, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Miss Kathryn Stephens, Mrs. Tuttle, Miss Edith Cowles, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Brown, Miss Case, Mrs. Gayler, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Turner.

At the conclusion of the rubbers the scores were counted, which resulted in Miss Stephens securing the first prize, Mrs. Kennedy the second and Miss Cowles the heart prize.

The first and heart prizes were dainty centerpieces of Canton linen, the second prize being an elaborately embroidered blouse.

Miss Francis Cochran, daughter of Captain Cochran, entertained a number of young friends at dinner on board the revenue cruiser Thetis last evening. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. Pine, wife of Lieut. Pine of the revenue cruiser Thetis, gave a dinner party on the cruiser last night. There were many friends present, and a pleasant time was spent. After dinner the comic opera, H. M. S. Pinafore, was witnessed from the Thetis.

ENTERTAINMENTS AT THE EXHIBIT

With the exception of the bare details, the program for the nightly entertainments at the Palama gymnasium during the Public Welfare Exhibit has been completed, as also the program for the conferences.

The actual work of constructing the booths commences this afternoon, the gymnasium being closed to the public from now until Monday evening. It is not yet positively decided whether the exhibits will remain opened both afternoon and evening or in the evening alone, and this will rest largely with the initial attendance. It is probable that certain afternoons will be set aside for the schools, each of which will be given special invitations on certain dates.

The entertainment program opens Tuesday evening, with installments on each of the three evenings following, the exhibits closing after the Friday exhibition.

The entertainment Tuesday will be afforded by the kindergartens, Miss Lawrence having spent the last several weeks preparing her little actors. The entertainment, however, is to take new lines, more suited to the purpose of the general exhibition, and there will be illustrations of how children can be amused and instructed with simple toys and such things. There will also be an exhibit of "sensible toys" on the floor.

The Normal School students will have charge of the program for Wednesday evening and while the details of it have not been announced, they will bring a chorus of over a hundred voices.

Thursday the boys and girls of the Kamehameha Schools fall heir to the program and on Friday evening the boys and girls of the Palama Settlement step in. The last have been drilling for a month or so under the direction of W. Spencer Bowen, Mr. Rath's assistant.

The program for the conferences was announced this morning as follows:

Monday—Annual meeting of settlement and illustrated talk on tuberculosis by ex-Governor George R. Carter.

Tuesday—"The Juvenile," presided over by Judge W. L. Whitney.

Wednesday—"Vocational Training," Perley L. Horne presiding, Professor Collins and Miss Pope the principal speakers.

Thursday—"Community Hygiene," Frank E. Thompson presiding, Doctors Ramms and Marshall the speakers.

FILIPINO QUARTET AT THE BANQUET

Thanks to the courtesy of one of the directors of the Hands Around the Pacific movement there will be a Filipino quartet at the big banquet on Nuanu street Friday evening. This will probably be the beginning of a Philippine orchestra in Honolulu. Berger's band will also be on hand at 5 o'clock in the afternoon to play the national airs, and the guests to the banquet, which begins at 6 sharp, are invited to come early and meet each other. Kaal's quintet and the Russian accordion players will be on hand, and in every way it will be a hands and music around the Pacific affair. Visitors in the city from any of the Pacific Coast states are requested to call up the Public Service 3396 if they wish places reserved for them at the tables with those from their states. Canada and the South so far have the largest representation, with the Chinese, Japanese, Australians and New Zealanders following close after them.

HOLIDAY HOURS AT POSTOFFICE

J. G. Pratt, postmaster, announces that the postoffice will open at 8 and close at 9 o'clock a. m. tomorrow. Carriers' mail will be delivered to patrons at Bethel street door on application.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO KAHUKU.

The Oahu Railway will run a special train to Kahuku tomorrow night, leaving Palama at nine o'clock (not nine-thirty as announced in the morning paper), for the accommodation of the hundreds who come in from that part of the island to see the processions in the daytime and the lantern parade at night. This will be in addition to the regular 11:15 train for Wahiawa and Lihue.

CURE YOUR COLD NOW.

Do you know that more real danger lurks in a common cold than in any other of the minor ailments? The safe way is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a thoroughly reliable preparation, and rid yourself of the cold as quickly as possible. This remedy is for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co. agents for Hawaii.

The Empire Auto Stand has a 1912 Cadillac car and a late model Stevens-Duryea open for engagements for tomorrow. Reasonable rates.

GOSPEL DEBATE IN COSTUME

"A Million Dollar Gift; or, Hindoo Students vs. Hindoo Women."

The meeting in the parish house at Central Union Church at 7:30 this evening will resolve itself into the American board, to consider the question of the disposition of a gift of one million dollars which supposedly has been left to it, for the evangelization either of the students or women of India. A deputation of four students and four leading women from that country will be present in costume to plead each for their respective sides. The students who are coming are Messrs. Rutherford Swami, Sivamanga Prasad, Sanjiva Chariar and Rupanendranath Bannerji. The Hindu ladies are Misses Murnahab and Kadeja, the Pandita Ramabai and Mrs. Chandra Lein. Those who will impersonate these visitors are Messrs. R. M. Cross, C. F. Loomis, H. W. Robinson and E. T. Chase, and Misses Frances Dillingham, Louise Galtick, Mabel E. Boshier and Jessie C. Shaw. The impersonation will be in appropriate costumes. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend and help decide the disposition of the gift.

CLARKE TONIGHT.

Tonight will be the last performance of "My Wife's Husband" at the Hawaiian Opera House by the Harry Corson Clarke Comedy Co. This bill is one of the best in Mr. Clarke's repertoire. Tomorrow night the performance at the Opera House will start at nine o'clock after the Japanese lantern parade to give the public a chance to see the parade and attend the Clarke play as well.

Doric Trio Same Old Favorites.
The Doric Trio drew a large crowd at the Bijou last night notwithstanding the strong counter attractions and the threatening weather. They appeared first as cowboys and then in the conventional evening dress.

The songs rendered last night with one exception were all new here and they had the popular swing to them.

The tall bass singer is a very good comedian and dancer and he had the audience laughing with his snakelike dances. The trio responded to three encores and still the audience clamored for more.

Billy Hader rendered three selections very well, though her best efforts were in the "Last Rose of Summer." In this song her beautiful soprano voice was heard at its best.

Vaudeville at Savoy.

The Savoy will have two vaudeville acts in conjunction with a line of new pictures fresh from the Wilhelmina freight.

Hughes and Prior, the equilibrists and jugglers, will be the headliners. Their act is a very clever one, be it acrobatic feats or juggling.

The "musical Reeves," purveyors of novel music, will extract music from all kinds of instruments. Their "Garden of Harmony" act is well worth seeing.

By special request the management will put on the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures again tonight.

PARTICULARS OF AUTOMOBILE TRAGEDY AT WAIOHINU SUNDAY

Mrs. Neece's Attempted Suicide—Great Chinese Street Parade—Men of Fleet See Volcano

HILLO, February 20.—The reckless conduct of one of the passengers in the Volcano Stables and Transportation Company's express truck on Sunday resulted in a very serious accident, probably the loss of one life. The truck was hired by D. J. Garden of Honolulu, to convey a party of eight or nine persons from Honolulu to Waiohinu and return, and the run out was accomplished without mishap. On the return journey there was some doubt in the mind of Garden as to whether the chauffeur could reach Honolulu in time to make connection with the steamer Kilauea, for among the party were several steamer folk, including Purser Henry K. Sheldon. Accordingly Garden urged the chauffeur, Joe Monish (or Marzens), to speed up, but Monish would not do so, telling Garden that the car was then going at a speed just within the limits of safety. Garden would not listen to reason, but continued to worry the chauffeur, and eventually he began to interfere, first trying to seize the steering wheel, then trying to increase the gasoline supply. So it went on for some little time, with Monish doing his utmost to retain control of the car and at the same time keep Garden quiet.

Finally, Monish called for help, telling one of the natives in the car to climb along the footboard and shut off the power, but this the Hawaiian was unable to do. By the time they had reached the steep grade on the Honolulu side of Naalehu the car was out of control and struck the high curbing, clearing it and heading straight for a telephone pole. This Monish tried to avoid, but the sharp turn he endeavored to make was too much for the car and it turned completely over. Monish had his back broken, Purser Sheldon had his leg broken, one of the Hawaiian passengers had his heel ripped off and was otherwise badly hurt, and all the rest, excepting Garden, were more or less injured.

C. E. Wright, manager of the Volcano Stables, proceeded to the scene of the accident and his story bears out the above statements.

(As reported in yesterday's Star, the Kilauea brought word that the chauffeur, Monish, died almost instantly.—Editor Star.)

Attempted Suicide.

Mrs. W. Neece, wife of Conductor Neece of the Hilo Railroad Company, attempted suicide on Sunday, shooting herself just below the left breast. Mrs. Neece was led to this rash act by reason of reports that her husband was consorting with other women. He did not return home for lunch on Sunday and this fact, coupled with a report the wife had heard earlier in the day, drove her to distraction.

Young Neece is a bright young man of gentlemanly address. He declares that his wife's suspicions and the gossip which was current were entirely without foundation.

Chinese New Year.

"Konohi" was celebrated with great eclat in Hilo by the local Chinese. The usual firecrackers were left off during the evenings of Saturday and Sunday, but the festivities reached their height on Monday morning, when several hundred Chinese combined in a grand march through the streets of Hilo. Headed by the local band the procession wound through street after street. Immediately behind the band marched a corps of merchants, all wearing the emblem of the new republic, and most of them carrying small flags. Then came three drummer boys, keeping time with the local band, and behind them were close upon a hundred school-boys waving aloft the new banner. Motor cars, decorated in a manner befitting the occasion—red, blue and white shields, stars and wreaths, and all topped with the red and blue flag—made up the greater portion of the pageant, and some of the cars were worthy of a place even in the great Floral Parade, so well had their owners used their time and expended their money. Yet in all this there was no dragon; and a Chinese procession without a dragon might well be likened to Hamlet without the Prince of Darkness.

The Fleet Visit.

The stay of the fleet in Hilo was brief, for the three boats left on Sunday evening, bound for Lahaina. Though brief, the men of the fleet seemed to enjoy their stay in the second city of the Territory. Upward of 250 of the sailors made the trip to the volcano, the Hilo Railroad Company running extra trains for their convenience, and the Volcano Stables handled the visitors over the road. Only one public function was arranged for the men, a dance being given in the Armory, which was well attended, though there was a scarcity of the gentler sex.

A series of ball games was played on the Moohau Park diamond, the most important being those in which local teams figured against the sailors. But the sailors knew a little too much of the game for the Hiloites, winning all three games played. Against Hilo, the Colorado won out four-three, after the local players seemed to have the game clinched. Then against the Japanese, and there were nine native Japs on the team, the South Dakota won, six-three. The game between the Chinese and the California was a particularly good match, eventually being won by the California players by seven runs to six. This game went eleven innings and was full of sparkling plays.

HONOLULU NETS $1200 A DAY FROM TOURISTS NEW IN TOWN

"If the Promotion Committee had an annual income equal to the net profits Honolulu will receive this month from her tourist traffic, we could do a good deal more than double the effectiveness of our work," declared H. P. Wood, secretary of the organization, in commenting upon the large number of strangers in the city at present. Strangers in Wood estimates that there are not less than 1200 visitors in Honolulu at the present time.

"Southern California estimates that her tourists spend on an average $5 per day each," he continued, "and most persons in a position to judge believe that the class of tourists who visit Hawaii spend nearer twice this amount here. But figuring on the California basis, we are getting about $600 per day, or $180,000 per month from this source alone. Estimating that there is twenty per cent. profit in this business, it means $1200 per day net, or $36,000 per month. This amount is twice what the Promotion Committee at present has to spend per year in advertising the islands and, if we had it, it would mean a good deal more than double efficiency for our efforts."

There are probably between twenty-five and fifty automobiles owned by tourists in the city at present. One hotel garage has no less than sixteen of these machines to care for.

With the arrival of the Sierra this evening or tomorrow morning, with over 200 passengers, and possibly a number from the China, the problem of hotel accommodations is going to become serious. The leading hotels are all crowded to full capacity at the present time, and many visitors have already had difficulty in finding quarters in boarding houses about the city. It is possible that the Sierra may be compelled to turn itself into a floating hotel during its stay here, in order to take care of its passengers.

HACKSTANDS MAY BE OVERHAULED

At yesterday's meeting of the board of supervisors Eben P. Low brought up the matter of horses tied along the curb, where their feet cut up the pavement, also of the incumbrance of the streets with hackstands, on which he had previously given a little interview to a Star reporter.

Murray said there had been some talk of making a new arrangement of hackstands.

It was suggested that the control of hackstands was vested in the sheriff and the matter was left with the police committee.

The dredging of the harbor channel should be finished within the next eight or nine days, is the opinion of representatives of the Standard American Dredging Company, which concern has the contract in hand.

When the dredge has finished its work there should be a minimum depth of thirty-seven feet. There was never very much wrong with the channel itself, but the sides had begun to silt up. This has all been removed now, and there will be a clear entrance to all the wharves including the channel when the big dredge has finished its work.

WAILUKU YIELD SHOWS DECREASE

The annual meeting of the Wailuku Sugar Company was held this morning in the office of C. Brewer & Co., the agents. The officers elected for the ensuing year are the same as last year, with the exception of the auditor, D. G. May being elected for this place instead of T. R. Robinson.

According to the report of the manager, H. B. Penhallow, the output last year was less than for the two preceding years, amounting to 16,198 tons of sugar. The manager ascribes the lower yield to the exceptionally wet winter which lowered the standard of the juice. In spite of the fact that labor has been dearer and scarcer, he points out that the cost per ton of sugar has been little higher than for the two previous crops.

For 1912, an output of 17,000 tons is estimated, of which 3290 tons have been already manufactured. The conditions this year are thus far satisfactory.

According to the treasurer's report, the net profits of the company for 1911 were $474,902.39. Dividends paid during the year amounted to 18 per cent on the capital of $5,000,000, or $540,000. The total assets of the company are placed at $3,123,261.47.

TWO FLOATS OF HONOLULU SCHOOL

The attention of all within the walls of the Honolulu School for Boys, Kaiunui, has been directed during the past ten days toward the erection of a couple of floats to be entered in the forthcoming Floral Parade. One of these is of an allegorical nature entitled "Hawaii, the Throne of Flora," and typifying our islands, representing as the throne of the Queen of Flowers and the home of all things beautiful. The general color scheme will be pink grading into a deeper shade of red. At one end is a flight of steps leading to the royal throne on which Her Majesty will hold her court as she passes in review through the capital of her mid-Pacific realm. Opposite her is a somewhat lower dais destined for the musicians, slaves, trust bearers and other personages whom one would expect to find in attendance upon royalty of olden time. Around her wave magnificent ostrich plumes, while the scent of countless roses will be wafted through her court, and amid this flowery splendor her slaves, in classic costumes of Grecian style, will minister to her needs and ply their vocation tasks around the throne. Vast bunches of grapes and a large number of graceful lilies will add to the general beauty of the scene, and the whole will indeed bear out the reputation proudly owned by Hawaii of being the Paradise of the Pacific.

The second float is of the comic variety and shows an enormous sausage machine flanked by a couple of flywheels, and from the front of which pours an endless stream of sausages complete and ready for sale. These are ostensibly the remains of the various sausages which are being given an assisted passage into the monster's open maw and greedily devoured thereby, though needless to say each of the aforementioned bounds manages to revive in a most surprising manner, after which return to things mortal he is again converted into sausages. It is feared that at least some of the butchers may, on account of his lack of stature, fall into the works and become hopelessly entangled in the mincing apparatus. However, every hope is anticipated that the product of this particular machine may rival anything that can be purchased elsewhere in the town.

S. V. Simao, a native of the Azores, and James E. Hamilton, born in England, have filed declaration of their intention of becoming citizens of the United States.

Marion H. Sanders, who was last Saturday denied by Judge Clemens his discharge in bankruptcy, has filed a new petition for discharge.

HONOLULU BRIGHT WITH GAY COLORS

This is essentially a season of flags. The Floral Parade, the approach of Washington's birthday, the Chinese New Year and the birth of the Chinese republic have given Honolulu ample occasion to drape herself in bunting and hang out the emblems of jollification. There is scarcely a store in the business section this morning without an array of American flags and a picture of George Washington. The shields of the United States surmounts the cornices, in the downtown section the American flag is draped with the Hawaiian, and in Chinatown the new five-colored flag of the Chinese republic shares the balconies with the American colors. Some of the window decorations are not only colorful, but are done with great taste and are truly attractive.

The Jordan dry goods house in Fort street has carried out the floral idea in its window decorations with splendid effect. A green lattice work is hung with pink and white flowers and in the foreground of one of the windows is a miniature automobile completely buried in blossoms, with a chauffeur attired in bright red, white and blue.

H. May & Co., Ltd., has two striking window displays, in which growing pineapples and Kona coffee in all its stages, from bush to ready-to-brew, are shown.

Many of the shops, like the Japanese Bazaar in upper Fort street, Arleigh & Co. in Hotel street, and the Hawaiian News Company in Bishop street, have set apart a window for the display of American flags and the familiar engraving of Washington.

The little Stanley Stephenson building in King street near Bishop is placarded with huge paintings of Washington, Taft and Frear in a setting of shields and flags. Against the back ground of a large flag the Gurrey store is displaying pictures of Lincoln, Martha Washington, American revolutionary prints and colonial pictures. Other shops which are already strung with bunting and adorned with flags are those of the Photo Supply Company, the Manufacturers' Shoe Company, the Wichman store, the two McInerney stores and Wall, Nichols Company, besides many others. The Bazaar Nippon has taken up the floral idea and its windows contain two Japanese vases filled with the cherry blossoms of Nippon, a panther skin to add color and a drape of red, white and blue.

The most striking decorations in King street this morning were the four great American flags which hang from the third floor of the Elks' building and the double string of signal pennants on the Wall, Nichols building.

BANANA MEN

market may be closed the shippers, according to the letter of the contracts, would have to take into their warehouse the product of an enormous acreage which they cannot ship and which they can not possibly dispose of in this city.

One large Chinese shipper is bound by contracts to take almost the whole output of the Waikiki banana groves and, while these goods might be shipped before March 1 to the Coast, they would go against the advice of Market Superintendent Starrett and, according to the new arrangement, he would have to notify the California authorities of the infected shipment, so that it would be destroyed on the other side and the unhappy shipper would lose the cost of freight as well as the bananas.

After March 1, these bananas will be condemned here and the bad bananas will simply have to stay in Honolulu. It is rumored that the shippers' liability will be tested in several lawsuits shortly and if it is possible for them to break their contracts with the growers of infected bananas they will do so, which will have the direct result of clearing up the bad patches. If they are held to their contracts the shippers will suffer enormous losses.

The small growers can not be persuaded, it seems, that their sealy fruit is not acceptable in California, and, in the belief that their shipmen's would get through, several sent batches of bananas on the Siberia which were not approved in the local inspection.

GOVERNMENT IS WATER WASTER

"On the waterfront alone the government wastes as much water in a day through leaky taps as the householders do from the same cause in a year," was the startling assertion made by a prominent shipping man this morning.

"Look at the Kukul, and see the amount of water she is wasting," he continued. "When the crew is not using the water to clean the decks it is not cut off, but allowed to run to waste into the harbor. Everywhere, the connections are leaky. Take the railroad wharf, the water is being sprayed into the harbor there through a faulty connection. The government takes no notice of that, but says that householders are to be blamed for not seeing that water taps are in order."

Everywhere, he said, there was evidence of great losses. In many instances the water could not be seen to be running to waste, until a boy was procured and a glance taken underneath the wharf.

His words were true enough with regard to the Kukul having a "leaky" connection, and the tap on the railroad wharf being in bad shape.

TESTIMONY OF R. P. RITHET BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION OF THE AMERICAN SUGAR REFINING COMPANY

Following is the first half of the testimony of Robert Patterson Rithet before the special committee of the House of Representatives on the investigation of the American Sugar Refining Co. and others:

The witness was duly sworn by the chairman.

The Chairman. Mr. Patterson, will you give the committee your full name?

Mr. Rithet. Robert Patterson Rithet.

The Chairman. Your residence?

Mr. Rithet. San Francisco.

The Chairman. Your occupation?

Mr. Rithet. Merchant and president of the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co.

The Chairman. How long have you been president of that company?

Mr. Rithet. Since it was started in 1897.

The Chairman. Are you a large stockholder or a considerable stockholder in the company, besides being its president?

Mr. Rithet. I owned stock when it was started, but it was reconstructed some years ago, and the Sugar Factors Co. of Honolulu own the control of the stock.

The Chairman. However, you are still its president?

Mr. Rithet. I am still its president, and there is some stock in my name.

The Chairman. Who are the principal owners of the company?

Mr. Rithet. The Sugar Factors Co. of Honolulu.

The Chairman. Is that a corporation?

Mr. Rithet. Yes.

The Chairman. The Sugar Factors Co., of Honolulu, owns this concern called the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co.?

Mr. Rithet. And Col. Spaulding is an individual stockholder.

The Chairman. Who is Col. Spaulding?

Mr. Rithet. He is a Hawaiian sugar planter.

The Chairman. Who owns a majority of the stock?

Mr. Rithet. The Sugar Factors Co., of Honolulu.

The Chairman. Which is a corporation of the Hawaiian Islands?

Mr. Rithet. Yes.

The Chairman. And Col. Spaulding is a minority stockholder?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. Are there any other minority stockholders?

Mr. Rithet. I think those are all.

The Chairman. Those are the two stockholders?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. In what proportion do they own it?

Mr. Rithet. I think 50,000 shares is the capital of the company, $5,000,000, and Col. Spaulding of that owns about $800 shares.

The Chairman. Is he a large sugar planter?

Mr. Rithet. Well, he is not now. He used to be a large sugar planter.

The Chairman. Is he a stockholder in the Sugar Factors Co.?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. So that he owns an interest besides his interest as a stockholder in the refinery?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. Where does this company get its supply of raw sugar?

Mr. Rithet. From the Sugar Factors Co., and the allied plantations in the Hawaiian Islands.

The Chairman. Entirely?

Mr. Rithet. Well, not entirely. We have to buy some duty-paid sugar for certain trades; that is, the canning trade, which is entitled to a drawback on imports, and we can only use in that trade duty-paid sugar.

The Chairman. The bulk of your sugar, however, comes from the Hawaiian Islands, and from this Sugar Factors Co. and their allied plantations?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; that is it.

The Chairman. Is Mr. John D. Spreckels interested in that company in any way?

Mr. Rithet. He is not; in no way whatever.

The Chairman. Have you any relations of any sort with the American Sugar Refining Co., and when I say "you" I mean your corporation?

Mr. Rithet. No; none whatever.

The Chairman. Do they own any interest, direct or indirect, in your corporation or its stock?

Mr. Rithet. No.

The Chairman. Have you any trade agreements with them of any kind whatever?

Mr. Rithet. None whatever.

The Chairman. Is there any apportionment of territory between you and them?

Mr. Rithet. None.

The Chairman. Do you agree with them as to what territory you shall sell your sugar in or they shall ship theirs in?

Mr. Rithet. No; we get all the business we can, and I suppose they do the same.

The Chairman. You do not consult with them about that?

Mr. Rithet. No, sir; not at all.

The Chairman. In what territory do you market your sugars?

Mr. Rithet. The Pacific coast territory and the Missouri River points.

The Chairman. You get as far east as the Missouri River points?

Mr. Rithet. Yes.

The Chairman. And cover all the intervening territory, to some extent; at least, as far as your production will permit?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; I think there are eleven States in what we call Pacific coast territory.

The Chairman. Can you name them?

Mr. Rithet. California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Michigan, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and Colorado.

Missouri is in another district. We call that the Missouri district, and the other district is the Pacific Coast district.

The Chairman. Do you get to Missouri?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. Any farther east than Missouri?

Mr. Rithet. Well, very rarely.

Mr. Baker. Do you ship to Minnesota?

Mr. Rithet. I do not think so; not very much. We may ship there occasionally.

The Chairman. Mr. Rithet, were you president of the California & Hawaiian Sugar Co. in 1903?

Mr. Rithet. I was.

The Chairman. Do you remember making a contract with John D. Spreckels and William H. Hannam, directors of the Western Sugar Refining Co., in that year?

Mr. Rithet. No, sir; I do not. I remember having a contract with D. Y. Campbell, our lawyer.

The Chairman. A contract with D. Y. Campbell?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. I do not care to go into your contract with your own lawyer, but there has been some testimony given by Mr. John D. Spreckels, and I want to ask you if this is substantially true:

"In April, 1903, John D. Spreckels and William H. Hannam, both of whom were directors of the Western Sugar Refining Co., caused their company to enter into an agreement with the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co., whereby it was provided that the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co. should for three years, from April, 1903, refrain from importing raw sugar and from manufacturing refined sugar from imported raw sugar, and from selling, shipping, or distributing throughout the several States and Territories of the United States any refined sugar, and permit Western Sugar Refining Co. to market or refine sugar manufactured by it from sugar beets and to receive, use, and pay for all raw sugar thereafter to arrive from the Hawaiian Islands for California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co., for which it had contracted with certain planters, and Western Sugar Refining Co. was to pay California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co. for its refined sugars sold by it upon an agreed basis, and in addition to pay it $200,000 each year of the agreement."

Is that true?

Mr. Rithet. That is substantially correct; yet, sir, the names are not I do not remember Hannam.

The Chairman. Did you hear of Spreckels in this transaction?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; the transaction was really with the Western Sugar Refining Co.

The Chairman. And Spreckels represented the Western in this negotiation?

Mr. Rithet. Yes; and I represented the other company.

The Chairman. Is that a fair statement of what you did agree to?

Mr. Rithet. I think so.

The Chairman. You do not desire to correct that at all?

Mr. Rithet. No; except this, the way it is put there it would look as if the stipulations were easy to make, but they were not. It was not easily made, and it was not easily got.

The Chairman. You mean there was a good deal of difficulty about getting the contract made?

Mr. Rithet. Yes.

The Chairman. But you finally did get it made, after a good deal of difficulty, and it was substantially as I have outlined?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; substantially so.

The Chairman. Now, let us continue:

"From April, 1903, to April, 1906, after entering into this agreement, California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining Co. closed its factory and kept it closed and refrained from purchasing any raw sugar or sugar beets and manufacturing any raw sugar or sugar beets into refined sugar, and from selling, shipping, or distributing any refined sugar whatsoever."

Mr. Rithet. We did not operate at all during those years. It was under a lease, as I understood it.

The Chairman. That is substantially the contract, as I have outlined it to you?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. Now, Mr. Rithet, is there anything further you care to call the committee's attention to other than what has been covered by the questions I have asked?

Mr. Rithet. No; I do not know of anything, unless you want some information as to the working out of the arrangement and as to the fact we have been entirely independent ever since we started. We started as an independent institution and we have been independent ever since, except during that period, and we did that because we had reasons of necessity for doing it.

The Chairman. Would you mind telling the committee what those reasons were?

Mr. Rithet. I will be very glad to. We had been fighting, I think, for five years or more.

The Chairman. Fighting whom?

Mr. Rithet. The Western Sugar Refining Co.; that is, the company of John D. Spreckels.

The Chairman. And that is the company in which the American Sugar Refining Co. was also interested?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; but it was called the Western Sugar Refining Co. We had been endeavoring to build up a trade and hold it. We had succeeded in doing that fairly well, and we had reserved for our purposes about 50,000 tons of sugar a year. Before starting the refinery, I might tell you, we were induced to do so because we were told by Mr. Spreckels, Jr., who was then in control, that he would not make a contract with us. We had had a contract previous to that time for fifteen or twenty years.

The Chairman. A contract of what kind?

Mr. Rithet. A contract for our raws.

The object of our starting up was to find a market for our raws in the Pacific territory, which we claimed, being the nearest to us in the United States, we were entitled to; and they had been making a contract until, I think, it was in 1897. Then Mr. Spreckels said he would not give us a contract any longer.

The Chairman. How did he control the supply of raws?

Mr. Rithet. He did not control the supply of raws. He bought them.

The Chairman. And he would not let you have any of them?

Mr. Rithet. He would not give us a contract. He would not buy our raws.

The Chairman. He was running a refinery?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. And it was the only refinery there?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. And then you started this company?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; to protect our selves.

The Chairman. Why did you make this agreement about closing down your factory?

Mr. Rithet. We were short of working capital, and I wanted to have a little time to look over the situation and see what I could do, and I agreed to lease the property for three years.

The Chairman. Now, after you established this refinery, the California & Hawaiian Co. was the competitor pretty fierce between you and the Western?

Mr. Rithet. Yes; and it is now.

PELOROUS JACK

(Show at Opera House Monday and Tuesday.)

The traveler who visits Nelson by steamer will have an opportunity of seeing the famous "Pilot Fish of the French Pass." Pelorous Jack. This singular cetacean is probably the most remarkable known of the creatures of the deep. For many years past he has been constantly observed by the crews and passengers of the steamers trading between Wellington and Nelson by the way of the various channels known to the Maoris as the An-miti, the "Jacking" (or "Swirling") current, and to the Pakeha (white man) as the French Pass, separating the mainland from mountainous Rangitoto or D'Urville Island. Both by night and by day he is ever on the watch. Directly a steamer heaves in sight of the mouth of Pelorous Sound bound for the Pass, "Jack" appears and accompanies her for several miles, playing round her bows, as if he recognized her as some great playmate.

"Jack" is believed to be the only fish in the world protected by a special government proclamation. He has been classed by naturalists as Risso's dolphin (Campus Rissoi), and an order in council in 1904 protected all animals of that species in the waters of Cook Strait.

The Maoris have some remarkable legends about Pelorous Jack. In Maori eyes he is a (taniwha) or ocean god, just such a deity as those which played around Father Neptune in old world mythology. His Maori name is Kaikala-waro, or "Food at the deep," and it is said that he was seen here first several generations ago. The fish of the Grampus Griseus species are very long lived, but the Maori tradition carries one far back indeed.

A very interesting legend associated with "Pelorous Jack" which has never been previously in print may be narrated here, as told by the natives of the Ngati-Kia and Ngati-ton tribes, off Pelorous Sound and the Wellington Province. It is a good example of the strange blending of fact and fiction characteristic of so many Maori folk tales. It shows "Jack" (or perhaps "Jack's" previous incarnation) as a beneficent kind of taniwha, just as he is today.

Long, long ago, when Maori tribes alone peopled the Fish-of-Maui and the greenstone land this taniwha fish Kaikala-waro, whom white men call Pelorous Jack, lived in a sea cave at Kaimahi Rock, close to the mouth of Te Hoiere, or Pelorous Sound; his Rangitira (chief or owner) was one Matua Hauere. Kaikala-waro used to take delight in escorting the Maori canoes passing along the coast from Te Hoiere mouth toward Whakatu (now known as Nelson). He would swim along ahead of them, leading them in the direction of their haven, just as he leads the big paheka steam canoe today. He was a benevolent godfish, although women and children on seeing him would sometimes cry out in fright, regarding him as a Taniwha-Horoni-Tangata—a "man swallowing monster."

Well, in those ancient days there lived upon the island of Rangitoto, just to the north of Pelorous and the French Pass, a young woman of high birth named Hinepoupu. She married a chief called Manini-Pounamu and went to live with him at his home or Arapawa Island, Queen Charlotte Sound. Before long Manini, the Picket, set eyes on another desirable woman and straight way plotted to relieve himself of his wife. So one day he arranged a canoe expedition to Kapiti Island, thirty miles across the sea of Raukawa (Cook Strait), resolving to maroon his faithful Hine there. He and a crew of his tapu set off, paddles and sail, taking Hinepoupu with them. Arriving at the island they camped for a space at Marekolu Bay which is at the southern end of Kapiti. The perfidious husband induced the unsuspecting wife to walk up the hills out of sight of the canoe landing place, by telling her of the fragrant pokura plant which grew there, much prized by the Maori housewives of those times because of its sweet perfume when strewn on the matted floors of the sleeping unahes. Hinepoupu set off, taking her two dogs with her, and busied herself gathering the scented flowers. After the space of some hours she retired to the camping place, but to her dismay found that her husband and his followers had disappeared. Far away there was a black speck upon the waters, the canoe of Manini-Pounamu.

Poor Hinepoupu was deserted. The weeping chieftainess walked out to the extreme southern point of the island, and there upon a projecting rock she sang a pathetic Waiata-ohia, a song of grief. Then in her indignation at her cruel desertion she resolved to be revenged. She would swim the trait and square accounts with the faithless one. So she threw off her mat and, calling to her dogs to follow her, she sprang into the sea and struck out for the dimly looming blue mountains of her home. Her two dogs followed her to the point, but were afraid to enter the water and remained there on the shore, howling as only Maori Kuris can howl. Possibly the

TESTIMONY OF R. P. RITHET

The Chairman. Was it what you commonly call in trade parlance cut-throat competition?

Mr. Rithet. I think it was as near as you could get to it.

The Chairman. And that is what induced you to make this agreement with the Western?

Mr. Rithet. We had been in beets, too, and had lost money on beets, and while we never lost very much on the refining, we did lose money on the beets.

The Chairman. And the competition had kept you from making profitable returns?

Mr. Rithet. Yes; and it was getting more difficult all the time, and we thought we might play a little bit of the game, too.

The Chairman. So you leased out to your competitor?

Mr. Rithet. Yes; we had contracts with our own people for the raw sugar and we compelled them to take those contracts.

The Chairman. In other words, you said: "Now take over our contracts and pay us $200,000 a year and we will not refine any sugar?"

Mr. Rithet. Yes; and they had to purchase their raw sugar from those who were associated with me in the refining, which was an important matter to us, because it shut out the others a little, and then they were easier subjects to work on when we wanted to reconstruct again; and we did reconstruct and we got through all right.

The Chairman. Have you a copy of that contract?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. Where is it?

Mr. Rithet. I do not know.

The Chairman. Did you not keep a copy for your company?

Mr. Rithet. I do not know. I will have to refer to our lawyer. He got all that.

The Chairman. Do you know the facts about what has become of that contract?

Mr. Rithet. I do not.

The Chairman. Did you sign the contract?

Mr. Rithet. I think I did.

The Chairman. Did you not retain a copy of so important a document?

Mr. Rithet. I do not know. My copy probably was destroyed in the fire.

The Chairman. You remember signing the contract?

Mr. Rithet. That is my belief; yes, sir.

The Chairman. Now, do you have any recollection at all as to whether you retained a copy of it or not? Was not the contract executed in duplicate?

Mr. Rithet. I think if the copy was retained, it was probably retained by Mr. Campbell.

The Chairman. Was Mr. Campbell present at the negotiations?

Mr. Rithet. Well, no.

The Chairman. Was he present
when the contract was signed?

Mr. Rithet. No; if a contract was made it was drawn by him and it was signed at his request, but we are quite at sea as to whether it was signed or not. I believe it was.

The Chairman. But if you kept a copy of it, you say it went to your lawyer with your other papers?

Mr. Rithet. Or else it was in our safe.

The Chairman. And in either event you think it was destroyed by the fire?

Mr. Rithet. I know it must have been destroyed.

The Chairman. Have you ever made any search for it?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. And you can not find it?

Mr. Rithet. I can not find any sign of it at all.

The Chairman. I have stated substantially what its contents were?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Malby. How many shares of stock are there in your company?

Mr. Rithet. Fifty thousand.

Mr. Malby. And Col. Spalding owns 5500?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Malby. And the par value of the shares is $100 a share?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hinds. How did you happen to go back into business after you once made this contract?

Mr. Rithet. That was part of the play I told you about. We were taking a rest for three years to get in shape to get back in again and fight.

Mr. Rithet. I saw only a newspaper report to that effect.

The Chairman. You do not know anything about that?

Mr. Rithet. No; I do not know about that.

Mr. Raker. I understand, Mr. Rithet, the Hawaiian Sugar Factors Co. reduces the raw sugar in Hawaii?

Mr. Rithet. They do.

Mr. Raker. And that company, the Sugar Factors Co., own all of the stock of the California & Hawaiian Refining Co. except 5800 shares?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Raker. Do you not own a little of it?

Mr. Rithet. It is in my name, just to qualify me as a director.

Mr. Raker. Who else is qualified as a director besides yourself?

Mr. Rithet. Warren D. Clark, Frank
B. Anderson, Wallace M. Alexander,
W. H. Huntington, August Hamburg,
D. Y. Campbell, and myself.

Mr. Raker. And this stock is simply held by them as trustees for the purpose of qualifying as directors?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Raker. The Sugar Factors Co., has a contract with the American Sugar Refining Co., which has heretofore been entered in the record?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Raker. That contract, as entered in the record, is correct, is it?

Mr. Rithet. I believe so. We have a stipulation of so much reserve for the Pacific coast in the American Sugar Refining Co.'s contract, and we do not have to get any authority from the American Sugar Refining Co. for our supplies.

Mr. Raker. The point I was getting at is, you have contracted, or this Sugar Factors Co. has contracted all their sugar in the Hawaiian Islands except 50,000 tons—

Mr. Rithet (interposing). More than that; 150,000 tons now.

Mr. Raker. All their sugar in the Hawaiian Islands except 150,000 tons, which you reserve exclusively for your factory?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir.

Mr. Raker. Now, the Sugar Factors
Co. do not sell to anyone else on the Pacific coast?

Mr. Rithet. No.

Mr. Raker. Does the Western Sugar
Refining Co. handle any of that sugar
on the Pacific coast?

Mr. Rithet. We have sold to them once or twice, but not lately.

Mr. Raker. Why do they not sell to the Western Sugar Refining Co?

Mr. Rithet. Well, we are human.

Mr. Raker. What is the object of that?

Mr. Rithet. They think, and perhaps it is a narrow-minded view to take, but they do take that view on the islands, that they might be assisting a competitor.

Mr. Raker. If they sold it to the Western Sugar Refining Co?

Mr. Rithet. Yes, sir; that is the only reason I know of.

Mr. Raker. Can you give any distinction, so far as the real facts are concerned, between selling directly to the American Sugar Refining Co. all of the sugar except what you reserve and selling it to a company in which they own half of the stock. Can you draw any distinction at all?

Mr. Rithet. One is for the New York market and the other is for the Pacific coast market.

Mr. Raker. I understand that; but what is the purpose of it?

Mr. Rithet. Just to prevent them from competing too strongly on the coast, that is all. I do not see anything else. The New York market and the San Francisco market are separate markets altogether.

Mr. Raker. Is it not for the purpose of taking the extra quantity or supply of sugar that would land on the Pacific coast and bringing it East, so that the price on the Pacific coast is kept up by the present arrangement?

Mr. Rithet. No; I do not think the price has anything whatever to do with it.

Mr. Raker. As a matter of fact, if it were not for this agreement between the Sugar Factors Co. and the American Sugar Refining Co., would not this sugar come to San Francisco naturally, because of its location, because of the freight rate, and a factory being there which could refine and would not that great territory you speak of get sugar much cheaper than they now do owing to this contract with the American Sugar Refining Co.; and therefore this contract does keep up the price of sugar on the western coast.

Mr. Rithet. All the time I have been in the sugar business, for the last twenty-five or thirty years, the prices on the Pacific coast and New York have been regulated by the world's prices. I do not think it would affect the deliveries or the price one particle if we were not to ship to New York. We have always shipped to New York even before this company was in existence. We shipped to New York and marketed our supply in New York, because it is a large market. The Pacific market is not sufficient to absorb the products of the islands now. They have grown so much they could not take it. And then we have the beets to be taken care of.
They are marketed principally in the local market, and consequently we are shut out.

Mr. Raker. That is just what I am trying to get at. Your prices and the prices of the Western Sugar Refining Co. are practically the same on the coast.

Mr. Rithet. Well, I will tell you about that. Of necessity they must be the same.

Mr. Raker. I do not know anything about the necessity, of course, and I just want the facts.

Mr. Rithet. Will you let me explain that?

Mr. Raker. I will be pleased to have you explain it. I just want the facts.

Mr. Rithet. There are only two of us there. Now, there is a very limited market, and each one of us has our own customers. If we are ten cents under the Western today, we will get all the business, and we can not take care of it. If the Western is ten cents under us, they would get all the business, and I do not think they could take care of it for very long. We have fought that out, and I have never been able to make a scheme that would fit a position of that kind without going back to the old idea. For instance, we are selling today at 5.10 or 5.20 or 5.30; they will sell at 5.10 at 5.20 or 5.30, just as we are selling. If they move, we move; or if we move, they move, but we have to move together.

Mr. Raker. Then, as a matter of fact, there is a tacit or gentlemen's understanding—

Mr. Rithet (interposing). None whatever, sir.

Mr. Raker. Just one moment; I had not finished my question. In your business relations you work so that the price will be the same?

Mr. Rithet. No; we do not. We are compelled to work according to the conditions of the business.

Mr. Raker. I understand that.

Mr. Rithet. You are making us out to do that by arrangement.

Mr. Raker. Oh, no.

Mr. Rithet. And we do not do that, because we are as far apart as the poles.

Mr. Raker. I do not want to assume that, and I am not assuming that.

Mr. Rithet. Well, don't, please.

Mr. Raker. But it comes about in some way, by virtue of publishing reports or telegrams, or something else, and you know the price of sugar at the other place, and you both sell at the same price to avoid any rush upon either one of the businesses.

Mr. Rithet. No; it is not that. It is simply because we cannot do otherwise.

Mr. Raker. I cannot understand how you can both keep at just exactly the same price.

Mr. Rithet. We don't. Sometimes we are up and sometimes they are up.
If we go up, they follow; and if they do down, we have to follow. There are only two of us in the business.
The prices have been kept pretty well anyway, and I have never had to complain that they were too high or too low, either. We would have been crowded out of business if it had not been we had quite strong support.

Mr. Raker. During the high prices of sugar you both sold at the same price?

Mr. Rithet. We made no money at all last year. We did not get the benefit of the prices at all on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Raker. But you sold at practically the same price?

Mr. Rithet. We cannot help it.

Mr. Raker. And the reason you did not get any benefit out of the raise was because you had sold in advance?

Mr. Rithet. Yes.

Mr. Raker. And you think by virtue of this arrangement with the Hawaiian people and the American Sugar Refining Company being able to place that quantity of sugar so as not to overstock the market, it keeps an even price for the beet-sugar people as well as yourselves in the West?

Mr. Rithet. No; we have no idea of that kind at all. We are marketing our own product, and we are marketing it in the way it will accomplish the best results for ourselves; that is to say we find it cheaper for us to make a contract with a responsible firm like the American Sugar Refining Company. I may tell you that when the first contract of that kind was made I was on the committee, and I made the first contract with H. H.
Howell Sons & Co. in New York for our product to be shipped to the Atlantic coast here. That contract was for three years, and it was carried out all right, but H. H. Howell Sons & Co. had come forward when the next contract was before us and had to say they could not handle it.

CROWD AT HALEIWA.

So great was the demand for accommodations at Haleiwa last week that a number of requests for rooms were of necessity turned down. That sort of things is the straw that shows the direction of the wind. The hotel there, the most beautiful in the islands, is all that the most exacting person can demand; cuisine, service and appointments compare favorably with the best on the mainland.
There is an auto at the place that is

MEDICAL GYMNASTICS

(By Gustav Bjorkman.)

The manual treatment of disease is as old as humanity itself. Far back in the dawn of civilization we find that the Egyptian priests used certain forms of manipulation, such as kneading and friction, for rheumatic pains, neuralgias and swellings.

The Hindus had some knowledge of the healing influences of certain forms of motions upon the human body, although since the priests were in reality the only physicians there were among them, the masses were mystified by them into believing that these movements, used with incantations and magical words, were invented by the Gods.

The Persians used a few forms of movements for some diseases.

The Chinese maintained, as long ago as three thousand years before the Christian era, a system of gymnastics to prevent the stagnation of fluids in the human body, and these people had also a fair idea of the specific healing qualities of these motions.

The Greeks were the first to devise some sort of a system of movements.

The philosophers of that ancient and enlightened people recommended manual treatment. Plato was the first man to divide movements into active and passive and he laid the greatest stress upon the latter. In fact, among the Greeks there was a class of people who made Mechano-Therapy a profession, and it must be said to the honor of these "parents of civilization" (the Greeks) that this profession was highly honored and thoroughly recognized. They were called Paedo-Tribes.

The Romans, especially the upper classes, also used a system of movements in the cure of chronic diseases, but this soon became among them simply a light form of calisthenics. Here in the Paradise of the Pacific was "lomi-lomi," a kind of massage known and used for different kinds of bodily ailments long before the arrival of "Haoles."

As every student of history knows, the Middle Ages became the grave of most of the former knowledge of ancient times. Along with nearly all other science and wisdom gained up to that time, Mechano-Therapy, sank into that grave of oblivion and was mostly forgotten. This same fate was shared by all medical knowledge.

A partial resurrection of Manual Treatment took place in the fifteenth century, but it was not until the famous Swede, Per Henrik Ling (1774-1829), systematized Gymnastics, that this wonderful curative agent was brought to the attention of the civilized world.

Physiological Effects of Movements.
Of all the agents or means used to influence the development of vital conditions essential to life and health. Movements are the most rational. This is, of course, only true when these movements are the result of careful study of the laws of physics, mechanics, anatomy and physiology.

Movements are the agents adapted to excite such actions by which the human machine performs its function; by which it is developed, preserved and repaired.

The effect of a movement may either be general, acting upon the whole body, or it may be local, acting upon a part only. We are therefore able to give both a local and a constitutional treatment.

Action of Movements on the Blood.
All movements increase the circulation of the blood in the arteries, the capillaries, or in the veins. A very lightly increased temperature, a pulse increased in strength and fullness, and a healthier color of the skin will always be noticed after a treatment with movements.

Any muscular contraction will effect a pressure on, or a compression of the walls of the blood vessel situated in the neighborhood of the muscle so contracted. Now, it is a fact that contraction of the blood vessels means increased flow of blood. When in the course of a Mechano-Therapeutic treatment, certain groups of muscles are alternately contracted and elongated (pulled) thereby producing a suction which hastens the blood-stream towards the heart. Now, when we consider that a very large percentage of all disease is simply a blood-stasis (or stoppage) in certain parts of the body, we must begin to realize the correcting influence of Mechano-Therapeutic movement. Further, certain movements of the different joints of the body produce an alternate contraction and widening of the blood-vessels in and around those joints, thereby hastening the flow of healthy blood through the vessels. Hence the great success with which the Mechano-Therapist treats the various diseases of the joints often after all other treatments have failed. And finally, movements of the different parts of the body will increase the circulation of blood toward and within those parts, and at the same time decrease the flow of blood to the neighboring parts or organs.

Now, this is important in that we are thus enabled to increase or decrease the supply of blood to different parts of the body. The immense value of this lies in the fact that we can, as is so necessary in so many chronic ailments, increase the flow of blood to certain parts without putting any additional labor upon the heart muscle itself.

Effects of Movements on Digestion.

Gymnastic movements constitute a regulated and scientific form of exercise for the invalid, thus increasing the demand for food. They aid the digestion and stimulate the secretions necessary for the process of digestion. Movements are especially valuable in that they increase the contraction of the muscular fibres of the stomach and intestines, thus hastening the mixing of the juices of the stomach and intestines as well as increasing the flow of bile. In the correction of the world-wide disease of constipation the movement cure has attracted the greatest attention. If the people only knew what a sovereign remedy they have in Mechano-Therapy for such a distressing malady as is constipation, there would be very little opportunity for patent medicine.

Effects of Movements on Respiration.

Since the act of respiration is performed principally by the intercostal muscles and the diaphragm, aided by others, such as the pectoral, the sternomastoid and the serratus muscles, it follows that through the development of these muscles by proper movements we secure an elastic, roomy thorax. This gives the lungs ample space to perform their functions of inspiration and expiration. In expiration the flat muscles of the abdomen, as the rectus and internal intercostals, are used, and when they are made strong through well regulated scientific movements, the patient is better enabled to perform respiration. In short, we can, by the aid of Mechano-Therapy increase the circulation in the lungs, or rather in the pulmonary vessels, develop the lung-tissue, bring more oxygen in contact with the hemoglobin of the blood, and powerfully aid the elimination of carbon-dioxide and other waste products from the body.

Effects of Movements on the Nervous System.

When discussing the effect of movements on the circulation, we noticed that these movements increase the flow of blood. Now in so doing, additional nutrition is brought to all nerve tissue. We know that mechanical stimulation will generate or create nerve-force. Given a perfectly healthy body, exercise is necessary to keep it so. If the body does not get a certain amount of the right kind of exercise, the nerves will soon begin to suffer from degeneration, irritability or abnormal sensibility. Now, Mechano-Therapy in exercise scientifically adopted to a diseased body and in order to restore the diseased nerves to health, movements such as the Mechano-Therapist uses, are called for.

Again and again has it been demonstrated the world over that this science is the greatest aid in the cure and amelioration of nervous disease. We have seen patients come for treatment in such condition that all hope had been abandoned of ever curing them of prolonging their lives. And again and again have these very same patients been actually brought back to life, simply by Mechano-Therapeutic movements.

If movements are used so as to adopt nicely the quality and quantity to the condition of the invalid, the encouragement thus afforded to the failing forces imparts new energy to the whole man, and we often see him in a few days brought up and out of the slough of despondency and enjoying the sunshine of hope and renovated feeling.

Effects of Movements on Secretion and Excretion.

When we realize that movements increase blood-pressure as mentioned before, we can easily see that the activity of glands will be increased at the same time, for all glands are very plentifully supplied by blood vessels.

In the kidneys the elimination of the urine is accomplished by two different processes, namely, filtration and secretion. Filtration takes place in the malpighian tufts, and is increased directly by movements, while secretion goes on in the convoluted tubes of the kidneys, and this is indirectly affected through movements by increased blood-pressure. The flow of urine from the kidneys to the bladder is directly aided by scientific gymnastic manipulations, which also strengthen the involuntary muscles of the bladder, the abdominal muscles and the diaphragm, all of which have a part in the act of urination. The skin being an important excretory organ, supplementing the kidneys, it will be readily understood that movements, scientifically done, open the pores, giving an overworked pair of kidneys a chance to rest by having to perform less work.

Absorption.

The science of physiology teaches that the veins and lymphatic vessels are the chief agents of absorption. The place where the absorption is carried on is mainly in the intestines, but also in the respiratory organs and the skin. The real object of absorption is to introduce new materials into the blood. Now scientific movements will stimulate absorption, thereby increasing and improving the blood. Since waste is continually going on in the system, we can readily see that it is necessary that this waste is made good by materials absorbed from the digestive surfaces of the body. Movements influence directly the absorption process, hastening and making it more complete. By increasing the flow of blood to any part of the body an increased nutrition is carried to that tissue, no matter of what kind the tissue may be, whether bone, muscle, glandular, or nervous. Mechano-

Therapeutic motions, by increasing the flow of blood in the veins, aid the collection of waste matter, and hurry them to those organs by which they are finally excreted or discharged from the body. All these motions are also stimulating to bones and muscles, and by their careful application muscular irritability and fatigue will be lessened, and the muscles, ligaments, nerves, and bones will grow stronger and more elastic.

The reader will have noticed, if he has been patient enough to follow the physiological effects of Mechano-Therapeutic movements as outlined in this little article, that they all center around proper circulation of the blood. Here then is the leading principle of this beneficent science.

Permanent Health Through Perfect Circulation.

Some people, especially those who nurse chronic affections, reason that disease is logically unavoidable that sickness is the corollary of health, as light is of darkness, but this is all wrong. Nature loves harmony and disease is discord. The body itself proves this. No man working to save his business or mother watching over her failing babe, could strive to tide over the crisis and recover with greater intensity than that which the human organism puts forth when attacked by disease. Nature intended to produce normal organisms only, hence disease cannot be an equal to health—it is an abnormality. And it is the business of the Gymnast to dispose of this abnormality. This he accomplishes by a system of manipulation, physiological and scientific, which accelerates the circulation, increases combustion, and facilitates the natural elimination of diseased conditions. In short, by Mechano-Therapy, we make it possible for the body to purify itself by improving the circulation. This is the object and certain result of this science. When we carefully consider some of these facts, how inappropriate it seems to have people taking patent-medicine to purify the blood, as they call it. This may appear sensible until one realizes that in a state of nature, the blood supply is pure seventy-two times a minute, so that the process of cleansing by means of drugs is no small task. The blood is an organic chemical tissue and what patent-medicines really do, when they do anything, is to add to it some chemical agent which is absorbed exactly as food is absorbed, and that chemical agent may or may not be of value to it.

Since the last word has not been said as to the precise chemical changes going on in the blood, and as we are all as yet somewhat in the dark about it, it follows that dosing with patent-medicines is very decidedly experimental in most cases.

The French senate has ratified the Franco-German treaty on the subject of Morocco and the Congo.

Morning Cable Report

WASHINGTON, February 21.—Semi-official statements from members of the ways and means committee of the House yesterday showed that that body intends to cut sugar tariffs in accordance with the original Democratic program. Duties on all imported luxuries of dress are to be raised accordingly as the sugar tariff is lowered.

Final conference on these important features of the new Democratic tariff legislation will be held Saturday when a decision is expected to be reached.

The committee on ways and means has also come to an agreement on a parcels post bill which will shortly be reported to the House with amendments recommended.

POMONA, Cal., February 21.—The auditing of the books of Hook-keeper Earl of the Standard Oil Company who defaulted several weeks ago has been completed. It shows that the books show a defaultage of $149,000, almost three times the amount announced at first.

JOPLIN, Mo., February 21.—Eight of the delegates from this state to the National Democratic Convention may go pledged to support Champ Clark for the nomination to the presidency. Successive balloting yesterday in the state convention brought the same results each time and there is little prospect that the final ballot will change.

LONDON, February 21.—The government has finally intervened in the great coal strike. Premier Asquith has written letters to the employing operators and the leaders of the striking miners and the first conference will be held tomorrow.

ERIE, N. Y., February 21.—An almost successful trip from this city to Point Dover, Ontario, and back, by Aviator Earl Sandy ended yesterday with a bad fall.

SHREVEPORT, La., February 21.—Eight are dead in this city as a result of a tornado which swept over Caddo county yesterday afternoon. Seven of the dead are negroes, the eighth the baby of a white family. Fifty have been injured, many seriously, in falling houses.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., February 21.—Rescue parties working in the famous Hoosac tunnel to clear the tracks of the wreckage of a bad collision have come across the bodies of four trainmen who were killed in the smash.
