In commenting on a paragraph in yesterday's BULLETIN the Advertiser—if it has any meaning at all—maintains that the Government has all along been, and is now carrying out the policy that the Annexation Club is trying to force on it by threats of revolting. What in the world then is all the row about, between the Club and the Government?

With an utter disregard of propriety, the Advertiser deliberately judges a case now pending in the courts, which is to be tried by a jury. Although the law of constructive contempt has been abolished here owing to its extreme use by the Supreme Court, that is no reason why any periodical—much less a religious one—should turn the liberty of the press into gross license. A wise journalism should perceive that the preservation of its liberty may depend upon the judicious employment of that liberty.

Whether it is speaking by inspiration of the P. G. or not cannot at present be said, but the Advertiser in the following terse and lucid sentence tacitly acknowledges its belief that revolutionary rule is about at an end, and that the constitutional monarchy is to be restored by the United States:

The correspondence which has taken place between the annexation club and the executive shows, if anything, that the Provisional government purposes to carry out the policy already formulated by it without fear or favor to those who are interested upon either side of the question and in strict consonance with the equities of the case, without reference to local politics. In other words, the cause of annexation from the real Hawaiian-American standpoint will be carried out with reference first and last to the establishment of American control in Hawaii upon the lines necessarily following the stand taken by the American government and the well-known demands of the majority of the taxpayers of Hawaii.

THE FRIEND AND MR. BLOUNT

The Friend for September makes the best of reading for the friends of the monarchy. The reverend editor's notice of the departure of Minister Blount is a queer compound of praise and mistrust. We are with the editor when he rejoices that the Minister remained a month longer than he intended to, for it was in that month that Mr. Blount reached a conclusion as to the character of the reverend editor of the Friend. We will contribute an extra quarter-dollar to the cause of Hawaiian independence if the reverend editor will publish an interview he has with Minister Blount during the last month of his stay.

The reverend editor hedges in the following sentence: "In our final estimate of Mr. Blount, much must depend upon the manner in which his report to the President will show him to have performed his arduous and important task." The chances are, reverend contemporary, that your October number will be found in denunciation of Minister Blount.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ANSWER.

In reply to a bumptious demand of the Annexation Club for the removal of what are called "avowed partisans of the late monarchy" under the Provisional Government—meaning, however, those officials who waive the honor of appending their respectable signatures to the "X" sign manual forming the greater part of the Annexation Club roll—the Government says in a note signed by "Francis M. Hatch, Chairman of the Executive Council":

The executive fully agree that avowed partisans of the late monarchy should not remain in office. All employees of the government have taken the oath to support the Provisional government. Unfaithfulness to this oath will be followed by removal and by such further action as the case warrants.

In other words the P. G. announces that it sees no necessity for any new test of incumbency of civil service to suit the hungry squad. By the terms of the Proclamation the revolutionary leaders distinctly disavowed all idea of "spoils," and a little later the only test of office was made to be the taking of the oath of allegiance. Should the Government allow itself at this late stage—when it realizes that its own existence depends on a word from Washington—to be driven by a noisy pack of venomous and voracious upstarts into a radical new departure, it would afford one of the worst exhibitions of self-stultification ever made by any government.

IMPUDENT PARALLEL INDEED.

Referring to a "blue book" accusation against the English missionaries in the New Hebrides of selling rum and firearms to natives," the Friend says it "very fairly parallels" Charles Nordhoff's impudent charge that the supporters of the Provisional Government in Honolulu were advocates of the Lottery Bill, when for months they had been strenuously denouncing that measure." Mr. Nordhoff did not say "the supporters" in a universal sense as uncandidly intimated by the Friend. He gave a list of some of the prominent supporters of the Provisional Government who had countenanced the lottery scheme, which list as revised by him on getting access to more evidence was in the main correct. If the more obscure supporters of the revolution were taken, it would undoubtedly be found that nine-tenths of them were in favor of the lottery. Not a few of the supporters of the lottery have been rewarded with offices by the Provisional Government, as shown by Mr. Nordhoff. All who know, as some in Honolulu do intimately, the high character of those British missionaries in the New Hebrides, will regard it as insulting impudence to put them in a parallel with the fanatical, selfish, mercenary, land-jobbing bigots here who, under the cloak of religion, took up deadly weapons and associated with them the criminal rabble to destroy the nationality of the people who gladly received from their fathers and grandfathers the message of peace and goodwill.

TELL-TALE ADMISSIONS.

Rev. O. P. Emerson, editor of the department of the Friend devoted to the Hawaiian Board of Missions, makes some rather telling admissions in the latest issue of that periodical. He mentions with considerable praise the work of Revs. E. S. Timoteo and J. Ezora as an evangelistic committee, whose special aim is "to heal the dissensions and animosities which have grown out of the late political strife, and to reconcile dissentient people with their pastors, some of whom may have been unwise in the expression of their political sentiments." This admission of possible unwisdom on the part of native pastors coached by evil-disposed foreign preachers, in throwing the brand of political discord into the midst of native bodies of believers in the gospel of the kingdom that is not of this world, is significant. It shows the failure of the desperate and disreputable effort of persons who assume to be the guides of the Hawaiian churches to degrade their pulpits into the position of political party rostrums.

There is another admission from the same source, which will be rather startling to the Christian public of America who had been given the information, as one of the reasons for the violent overthrow of constitutional government in Hawaii, that the monarchy was responsible for unchecked gambling amongst a lot of other rampant public vices. The editor of the missionary page in the Friend, after giving the committee's report that there had not been defections of natives to other churches, says, "Large numbers of persons congregated on Sundays at certain cheap gambling resorts conducted by Chinese, which appeared to escape suppression by the police." Tell it not in Gath! After seven months of absolute control of affairs, this new Government, that was going to change everything from pandemonium to paradise forthwith, allows two distinct laws to be violated with impunity in the most flagrant manner. "Large numbers of persons congregated" to defy the laws, and yet "appeared to escape suppression by the police!" Their friends and correspondents in the States will be asking awkward questions as to what has been gained for ordinary morality, let alone the cause of pure religion, by the appeal to gunpowder and cold steel initiated, aided and endorsed by the representatives and supporters of American missionary enterprise in Hawaii. Their replies showing to what extent ball cartridges and bayonets are superior to the Bible, in transforming society in the tropics, would make an intensely interesting chapter in the history of Hawaii's relations with the United States.

Still another admission is made by the Friend's missionary editor, in the following words: "Mr. Timoteo is a highly esteemed pastor of great intelligence and kind spirit. He has long been a personal friend of the ex-queen, and is still loyal to her in his politics. This is a favorable qualification to him in laboring to harmonize differences, as the bitterness of animosity has been about all on the side of the royalists, and he is likely to succeed where one of opposite political sympathies would be repulsed. He is, we believe, the only one of the leading native pastors who is not on the other side." The foreign leaders of the native Protestant churches have proclaimed far and wide that practically the whole decent and devout element of those churches was with the destroyers of their nation's independence. Now, however, the official spokesman of those foreign religious leaders feels constrained to admit that the only man found able to save the native Christian societies from discord and disintegration is a pronounced loyalist—loyal to the constitutional head of the nation and loyal to the nation itself. If, as the editor professes to believe, Mr. Timoteo is "the only one of the leading native pastors who is not on the other side," it does not change but rather emphasizes the fact that the native Christian church by membership is solid for Hawaiian independence and the right of the Hawaiian people to be consulted on their political destiny.

Her Help Still Sought.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

So the head teacher of Kawaiahaeo Girls' School condescends to call on the "heathen" of Washington Place, and what is more surprising, she has evidently been asking for funds from said "heathen" to educate young girls at the school over which she presides. It is to be hoped that said "heathen" has learned by this time that there are other schools in the country for the education of girls besides that controlled by the scheming missionary gang, and that if she still has the inclination and means to support young Hawaiian girls, she will send them to schools where they are educated to be true Hawaiians, and where at the same time they will learn to regard a private conversation as sacred and not to be given away to newspaper reporters.

"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Doan's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Doan's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: "I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior."

Saturday, Sept. 2, 1893.

The putting upon the market of an article superior to anything in the same line ever sold here means something to the busy business man. When we went into the ready mixed paint line we did so with the idea of giving the public a better article than it has been used to seeing. What is the result? Hendry's Ready Mixed Paints are leading all others; people who have been averse to using prepared paints are now ready and willing to save fifty percent of the cost of painting their houses by using this paint. Then you ask "How can they save so much?" We'll tell you! Not the least important item in the profession of the painter is his knowledge of mixing colors, and there's a good many of them in Honolulu who can put the paint on as even as the boards but who do not know the first principle of mixing. Very well then. A ten year old boy can paint if the colors are right. You can save the wages of a high priced man and employ one who never tried to learn the knack of mixing and you save twenty-five percent in wages. The "Hendry Ready Mixed" will cover twenty-five percent more space than ordinary paints or the average ready mixed article—there's your other twenty-five percent. If you do your own work you will save twenty-five percent more. Try it.

The assurances we have received from the Water Works department leads us to believe that there will be sufficient water from the Makiki wells for people to take baths every day. With a liberal supply of water comes a demand for bath tubs better than tin. We have in stock several of the sort largely advertised in the Century and other magazines. They are enamelled on iron and are everlasting. All the new homes have them and there's no reason why they should not be put in old ones.

People who occasionally enjoy Hamburg steaks feel the necessity for a really good machine for chopping the meat. We think, from reports we have had from parties who are using them that ours is decidedly the best in the market. We have them in enamel or galvanized iron—no danger of rusting.

There's dust in the air and its bound to get into the house and on the furniture. Rubbing with a cloth injures the polish on fine articles, using a feather duster removes it without damage—get a feather duster—we sell them.

Three plantations have lately added to their machinery complete pumping plants for irrigating cane land. Before making the improvements the managers thoroughly investigated the cost of steam pumps and windmills. A half dozen makes of the latter were in competition as to price and capacity and in each instance the Aermotor carried off the palm and is doing the work for a tenth of the cost of steam. The three plantation managers referred to above have simply fallen into line with others as their necessities required, there will be others to follow suit and we believe that within another year every plantation on the islands will have its Aermotor for irrigating purposes.

Stroud's Self-basting Pans have made a decided hit in Honolulu society and we have been obliged to order more of them. We have a few of each size left, possibly enough to last until another lot arrives, but take no chances if you want something very good in the way of kitchen utensils.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

A bunch of keys is lost.
A house and lot on Wilder avenue are for sale. See advt.
The S. S. Australia will be along from the Coast to-morrow.
There were six feet of water in the Nuuanu reservoir this morning.
Eight flagpoles arrived on the four-masted schooner Alice Cooke to-day.
Mr. H. Z. Austin, teacher, will return to Kapaa, Kauai, by the Makee to-morrow.
The U. S. cruiser Boston trained both her search lights on the city yesterday evening.
The P. G. band gave its usual concert on the Executive Building grounds this morning.
A native named Oili was fined $10 in the District Court to-day for assault and battery on his sister.
There will be a general flight of teachers to their respective stations by the island steamers this week.
Koolau the leper outlaw slept at the house of a friend at Mana, Kauai, on Wednesday night of last week.
The Honolulu football club will practice at the Makiki Recreation ground at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.
The subscription ball which was to have taken place this evening at the Hotel has been postponed until Monday night.
At to-morrow's meeting of the Board of Health, action will be taken on the resignation of Dr. Trousseau as Port Physician.
The WEEKLY BULLETIN of this date is out. Now is the time to subscribe for the only reliable newspaper published in Honolulu.
The troops make daily demonstrations against an imaginary enemy in the shape of skirmish drill on the grounds of the Executive building.
There will be a quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Queen's Hospital at the Chamber of Commerce room at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.
Mr. Oyster will be one of the most welcome arrivals by the Australia to-morrow. He will put up at the Beaver Saloon, and be put down by Mr. Nolte's patrons.
The Road Board has at last got a move on. Laborers are hard at work repairing that celebrated apology for a sidewalk on Nuuanu street, between Beretania and Kukui streets.
A big che-fa game was running in full blast at Kakaako on Sunday. It is said that the bank does not open in one place twice, but goes from place to place in order to evade the police.
A horrible monster seen through the microscope is the coffee blight. Mr. Jos. Marsden, Commissioner of Agriculture, gives visitors to his office in the Judiciary Building a peep at this and other wonderful things of a similar kind.
There was a meeting of the Board of Education at the Executive building this morning, attended by Messrs. S. M. Damon, W. W. Hall and Walter Hill, members. W. J. Smith, Secretary, and A. T. Atkinson, Inspector-General of Schools.
A lot of the toad species is expected to arrive by the Australia to the Bureau of Agriculture. It is hoped that if the toads live they will wage a useful war against insect pests. Past experience is against the chance of life here for the ugly creature that wears a jewel in its head.
The local sports who are backing Antonio Kano the runner, in answer to the challenge of J. J. Barry of the U. S. S. Boston for a five-mile race for $75 or a barrel of poi, wish to request the Boston runner to "put up or shut up." They are ready at any moment to put up a forfeit or the purse, if Barry will come ashore.
Hawaiian Soap, the only pure laundry soap in the market, can be had by the case or at retail, at any of the grocers in Honolulu, as well as at the Company's agents. Families can now order Hawaiian soap from their grocers with other goods. Price $5.00 per hundred. M. W. McChesney & Sons, Agents Honolulu Soap Works Co.
The steamer Jas. Makee is held until to-morrow, to take the foreign mail for all Kauai. On his late visit to the garden isle, Postmaster-General Oat made arrangements whereby a foreign mail, loaded at any port, may be quickly distributed to all ports on the island by coasting steamers. The telephone system on the island has this improvement feasible.
The time made by Fred Mac in the trotting race with Aupuni yesterday was 2:42—very fast considering that Mac was entered in the 3-minute class. After that event a three-quarter mile race was arranged between C. W. Macfarlane's Little One and R. Ballentine's Queen L., the owners to ride the respective animals. It was for a purse of $100 a side. The race was won by Queen L.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Joustown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. I cured both of them. I know of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

COURT CHRONICLE.
Various Matters at Circuit Court Chambers.
Judge Cooper has admitted the will of the late Daniel Hanley to probate, and appointed A. W. Carter as administrator with the will annexed.
Henry Waterhouse and Alfred S. Hartwell, executors of the estate of the late J. H. Wood, have been granted by Judge Cooper three months' extension of time in which to file accounts, owing to pending litigation and their inability thus far to sell certain real estate.
W. F. Allen and Samuel Parker, executors of the will of John P. Parker have had their accounts allowed by Judge Cooper, excepting the voucher of Wilder's S. S. Co. for $250 which the Court has disallowed. The receipts have been $149.68, and expenditures $164.72, leaving a balance due the executors of $152.01.
The accounts of J. Alfred Magoon, guardian of Susan Brash, have been approved. The charges received of $187.56, and expenditures of $184.25, leaving a balance due the ward of $3.31. The inventory contains three lots of land, two of them yielding rent amounting to $12 a month, $3000 in Hawaiian Government bonds and $1500 in Wilder's S. S. Co. stock.

OUT OF THEIR FILIKIA.
Generous Act of T. H. Davies & Co. Saves the Healan Boat Crew.
The Healan Boat Club's six-oared senior crew came within an ace of "busting up," as the saying is, yesterday. E. Holt and Chris. Holt, members of the crew, had been absent from town for two weeks, only returning a few days ago. The crew had its full complement and held practice once last week. Practice was suspended on account of the races on the Queen's birthday, when the members met at the club house. It was there learned that Chris. Holt, one of the strongest men to leave for Maui on the Claudine to-day to be engaged in one of T. H. Davies & Co.'s stores on that island. A committee from the club called on the firm this morning and requested that Mr. Holt be allowed to stay in the city until after the great event, which is to take place on October 7. This request was graciously granted and the crew will begin active training this evening, and hereafter will take a spin in the harbor twice a day. The crew will be as follows: James Spencer (stroke), Ed. Holt, Chris. Holt, John Holt, W. H. C. Greig and C. W. Macfarlane.

STOLEN TO THE CLAUDINE.
A Sailor Thief to Serve a Long Sentence.
Some four or five months ago a Japanese passenger named Masui on the steamer Claudine lost his valise containing about $53 worth of clothing. Masui reported the loss to the police, but no trace could be found of where the luggage went. Last week the Jap saw Kaikala, a member of the Hawaiian National Band, wearing a Japanese crepe shirt, which he identified as one of several amongst his missing property. Masui asked Kaikala where he got the shirt, and the latter told him that he had purchased it of a native sailor named Kaikala, who was employed on the steamer Claudine. This latter fact forged the link in the chain of evidence, and Masui got out a search warrant. On Kaikala's house being searched nearly all the missing articles were found in the same valise which the Jap had missed. Kaikala was arrested on a charge of larceny in the third degree. Yesterday Kaikala pleaded guilty in the District Court, and sentence was reserved until to-day, when he was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and be imprisoned at hard labor for eight months.

Mr. H. J. Mayers, of Oakland, Cal., says: "I have sold thirteen bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to-day and am literally sold out. This is the largest sale on record of any preparation in a day over our counters. It gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine we handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations on this market." For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

ALICE COOKE IN PORT.

Her Delay Owing to the Weather Experienced.
The fine four-masted schooner Alice Cooke, over which there had been some little anxiety was telephoned of Koko Head at 8:45 o'clock this morning. Half an hour later the tug Elen with Mr. Robert Lewers, one of the owners, on board, left the mail dock and steamed out to sea. The towline was taken this side of Diamond Head, and shortly after 11 o'clock the Alice Cooke dropped anchor in the naval row.
Captain D. P. Penhallo, the popular skipper, when seen stated that it was the meanest trip he ever had, the weather throughout being calm, and nothing but calm. The schooner left Port Gamble on July 30, and for the first four days the weather was light. For twenty-two days after experienced light variable weather and calms, the average day's run being about forty miles. Got the first trade winds on Saturday night, which was a perfect relief. From thence to port had fair trade winds and fine weather.
The Alice Cooke's cargo consists of 84,000 ft. of lumber, 205 telephone poles and 8 flagpoles. She is consigned to Lewers & Cooke. The passage was made in thirty-seven days.
Captain Penhallo is accompanied by his wife, who is also disgusted with the weather experienced on the passage.

NOT A GENTLE HORSE.

Mr. Geo. McIntyre Has Some Trouble Over the Beast.
A Sylva, an employee in the harness-making store of Mr. W. E. Foster on Fort street, sold a sorrel horse to Mr. Geo. McIntyre a few days ago for $100. Sylva warranted the animal to be kind and gentle, and any lady could drive it. The bargain was made on these conditions. Mr. McIntyre bought the horse for the use of his wife, as he thought hack hire was too expensive. The animal was taken home and Mrs. McIntyre made an effort to ride it, but the beast would not stand still, but began rearing and behaving in a very unruly and ungentle manner. Several trials were made but it was no use, the horse would not suffer a lady to ride him. Mr. McIntyre took the horse to Mr. Sylva and asked him to refund the money, as the animal was not as he represented him to be. Sylva refused to refund the "spendulike," and the sorrowful purchaser resorted to law. He had Sylva arrested for gross cheat, in obtaining money under false pretenses. The case came up in the District Court this morning, and after hearing evidence Judge Robertson committed Sylva for trial to the Circuit Court.

Jack in a Hash House.
Edmund Kelly, a bluejacket belonging to the U. S. S. Adams, while under the influence of liquor broke into the New Model restaurant last night. The tar got inside by forcing the lock off the rear door. A police officer heard the noise and on investigation found Kelly in possession of the restaurant. He had found a seat, on which he was snoring. Kelly was arrested for housebreaking. This morning the Chinese proprietor of the New Model called at the Police Station and stated that he would not press the charge, and asked for Jack's liberty.
Kelly was fined $2 in the District Court for drunkenness.

Hood's Cures

Numerous Boils
And Catarrh in the Head

"I feel that it is impossible for me to say too much in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was a great sufferer from impure blood and Catarrh in my head. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me, and I suffered from numerous boils."
Agony Boyard Description.
When I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla I had six of them, one of which came to a head, and since then, thanks to this good medicine, I have been free from this great affliction. I cannot find words to describe the relief. I earned 14 pounds a week, and the Catarrh in my head which has troubled me for years has also been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills.
Hood's Pills cure all Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Sick Headache.

LUCOL OIL

Leads the Way!

Report of the Foreman Painter, Southern Pacific Co.

TACRED, July 21, 1892.
W. S. PALMER, Esq., Engineer of District No. 1, So. Pacific Co.
Dear Sir:—
I find that the oil requires much less pigment than I used to use a point of the requisite covering and spreading qualities. 100 lbs. of white lead will take no more than 4 to 4 1/2 gals. of linseed, while in my priming coat, I get even better results with 7 to 10 gallons of Lucol, and in my second coat with 7 to 8 gallons of Lucol to 100 lbs. of lead. This means a very material saving (from one-third to one-half) in the amount of pigment necessary to cover a given surface.
In my roof color I used less than 100 lbs. of "car paint" (Primer Metallic ground in oil) where a roof of this size has always required 200 lbs. of car paint with linseed oil. I mixed my roof color with 18 gallons of Lucol to the 100 lbs. of pigment and got a better body of color than I ever got with less than one-half that number of gallons of linseed. I give you simply the facts but I cannot understand or explain them.
The drying qualities of the new oil are perfect. The priming coat with white lead, dried strong and hard inside of 24 hours. The first coat for sand took the sand freely, firmly and in larger quantity than linseed and dried hard inside of 24 hours. The second coat of body color and trimming dried thoroughly without tack inside of 24 hours. It covered perfectly and dried with a fine smooth surface entirely free from wrinkles and blisters, and bore out remarkably well so as to develop a fine lustre, giving much better looking results than I have ever gotten with two coats of linseed on new wood. The car paint spread on the roof was mixed with raw Lucol and dried perfectly in 24 hours. Notwithstanding that only one-half the usual amount of color was used, the paint covered perfectly and did not run. The second coat of sand filled up solidly, taking up a larger quantity of sand more evenly than I have ever gotten on to linseed.
The Lucol has effected a saving of 215 lbs. of pigment or nearly one-third of the amount usually required for a building of this size.
With respect to the general appearance of the finished work, I must confess that I never saw its equal in two coat work with linseed, and if the oil wears as well as I fancy as it has worn with the Master Car Painter, Mr. Finch, at Sacramento, there can be no question about the SUPERIORITY of Lucol over linseed, even at the same price per gallon, in ECONOMY, GOOD LOOKS and in DURABILITY.
Yours Respectfully,
[Signed] W. H. MELLUS,
Foreman Painter, Southern Pacific Co.

GERMANY'S IRON TREASURE.

The Indemnity Which France Paid Held for War Purposes.

In the fortress of Spandau there is stored the celebrated emergency fund of the German empire—the so-called iron treasure, millions of silver pieces, most of them minted with the head of Napoleon III. Derived from that colossal indemnity which victorious Germany imposed upon humbled France in the hope of permanently crippling the hereditary foe, the payment of which and recuperation of its loss is the financial wonder of the world, this hoard of coined money is kept for the contingency of war. It seems like a relic of barbarism to ignore the modern methods of finance—bonds, notes and other evidences of national credit—and to rely upon actual, tangible money; but there is a practical side to the idea which appeals to the soldier, if it causes the banker to smile.

This treasure is sacred. There is no crisis through which the German empire may pass, save that of foreign war, which makes this vast sum available. The Germans are very fond of the word "iron" in its sense of rude firmness, of harsh endurance, of severe tenacity. They have applied it to their greatest historical character—the Iron Chancellor—to his policy of absolute inflexibility; and to the most prized reward—the Iron Cross—of which there is but one degree, and which can be earned only by actual bravery on the field. They have used the word to designate the treasure at Spandau, and they have also adopted it to characterize an institution in their minute and comprehensive scheme of military organization to which they attach great importance.

When the German army is transformed from a huge reserve of precautionary power into a massive instrument of aggressive force, its units, the individual soldiers, are put into absolutely new uniforms. The purposes of this step are numerous. It makes the operation of mobilization more simple and systematic, and with the contingent of prolonged warfare it makes the continuance of military operations more economical. There is a sentimental issue involved—the personal pride of the soldier is stimulated and his zeal in service increased.

In equipment and accoutrement a similar system is followed. The result is that the soldier starts out in the condition practically that he should be theoretically. His equipment is a luxury one, but the knowledge that every pound of weight he carries represents something useful to his occupation and his comfort and convenience while engaged in it lightens the load. He realizes that he is provided for every emergency. In his knapsack are his clothes and his store of cartridges. Each one of his pockets has a particular purpose. The lining of the one on the left of his tunic is medically prepared, to be used when necessity arises as an antiseptic bandage. In his haversack is his loaf of bread—the staff of life—and the so-called "iron ration."

This is the institution to which reference has been made. It is the reserve fund of the soldier's food, his sustenance when deprived of all other resources of mess, commissariat and forge. There is a huge factory in Mayence devoted to the packing of these "iron rations." In small bags, in a preserved and compressed shape, these rations consist of coffee, rice, hardtack and tobacco in a quantity sufficient to provide for three days' use.

The cavalry receives in addition similarly prepared rations for its horses consisting of hay and oats sufficient for five days.

These rations are to serve only in cases of extreme necessity. They are sacred whenever the trooper is provided by the commissary department with the necessary food, or when he can procure it by requisition or forage. The "iron ration" cannot be touched except by command of a superior officer.

In the preparation of these rations chemical science has been at work, and it is believed in the articles provided the greatest amount of nutrition has been secured in the most compressed and endurable shape.

In the grand maneuvers which annually take place in Germany, and in which the soldiers are exposed to every contingency save that of an enemy's death-dealing powers, the "iron rations" are carried, and their purpose made clear to the men.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

UNDER THE SEA.

A System of Signaling That Has Proved to Be a Success.

The hydrophone invented by Captain McEvoy, which was described in the technical journals last year, is being actively experimented with by the British Government in order to determine its value in defending the English harbors from being suddenly entered by hostile cruisers or torpedo boats. Its object is to give notice to a fleet or battery of the approach under cover of darkness or fog of a hostile vessel, or to warn vessels off dangerous points of the coast. It consists of two parts: an apparatus to be submerged at a distance of say three miles from the shore, and connected by an insulated electric conductor to an indicator on land, or on the home fleet. The former part comprises a flat spring fixed at one end and free at the other. Upon the free end rests a short piece of roughened platinum wire, guided in an easy-fitting hole. The spring is exceedingly sensitive to vibration, and responds to the slightest disturbance, although its movements are often so slight as to be invisible. If, however, an electric current is passed through it, and through the platinum wire and a telephone in series, a constant crackling is kept up, due to the rubbing of the wire in its guide.

When placed in a building the apparatus is never silent, the movement of the innards and of vehicles outside being sufficient to keep it in action. It is found to be so efficient under the sea that the passage of a steamship within a mile sets it in operation. The most efficient utilization of the instrument is rendered possible by a most ingenious and interesting device. The communicating of signals by telephone might be attended with great uncertainty, as the attendant might be absent or away at the critical moment. In order to meet this contingency Captain McEvoy has devised an arrangement whereby the most minute variations of currents in the microphone are made to set in operation a bell and an electric lamp. So that the slightest disturbance is instantly signaled in such a way that the alarm cannot be overlooked.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.
