House Passes Claims Bill

AND IT

Now Goes To the President

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—Bill passed Congress.

The foregoing cablegram, received by W. W. Hall, chairman of the joint mercantile committee, from Special Agent J. G. Pratt at 9 a. m., shows that the Fire Claims Bill passed Congress immediately after the opening of the House session today.

A special cablegram to the Bulletin received on January 2—the first news dispatch that ever passed over the cable in this direction—announced the passage of the bill by the Senate.

Mr. Hall posted the cablegram announcing the action of the House in a Fort street window of E. O. Hall & Son Ltd., and the glad tidings traveled quicker than the fire that occasioned the legislation.

The Bulletin's special on the passage of the bill by the House came quickly on the heels of Mr. Hall's cablegram. Following is the text of the bill:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the sum of one million dollars is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay in part the judgments rendered under an act of the legislative assembly of the Territory of Hawaii by the Fire Claims Commission of that Territory for property destroyed in the suppression of the bubonic plague in said Territory in the years 1899 and 1900.

Sec. 2. That the Governor and Secretary of said Territory are hereby authorized to issue the bonds of that Territory in such sum, not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, as, together with the money hereby appropriated, may be sufficient to pay all of said judgments. Said bonds shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard weight and fineness, shall bear interest at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and be redeemable in not less than five years and payable in not more than fifteen years from the date of issuance. The principal and interest of all bonds shall be exempt from any and all taxes and the payment thereof shall constitute a charge on the revenues of the Territory of Hawaii. Said bonds shall be sold at not less than their face value, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the judgments aforesaid and to no other purpose, and they shall be of such form and denominations and be issued and sold under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior shall prescribe.

Sec. 3. That under no circumstances shall any such judgment claimant, or anyone claiming through him, be required to pay, nor shall any attorney or agent be entitled to charge, demand or receive, directly or indirectly, more than 10 per centum upon the amount recovered as compensation for services or labor of any kind or character in the prosecution or establishment of the claim, and in cases of contracts or agreements providing for payment of less than 10 per centum the payment shall not be increased above the percentage so agreed upon. Before any such judgment shall be paid hereunder the Governor of said Territory must certify that the same is genuine and was duly rendered in pursuance of the act of the legislative assembly of the Territory; and the payment of said judgments shall be in full satisfaction and discharge of any and all claims or demands against said Territory or the United States on account of any property destroyed in the said suppression of the bubonic plague.

Sec. 4. That this Act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Upon arrival of the news that the Fire Claims Bill had passed Congress, a Bulletin reporter asked several bankers for their views as to the probable effects of payment of the claims upon local business. A subsidiary question had relation to the disposition of the money coming to Chinese firms, which everyone knows to be a large proportion of the aggregate of awards. The statements received appear below:

Cecil Brown, president of the First National Bank of Hawaii: "Has the bill passed the House? That's good news. The money will go into circulation in Honolulu if the money is paid here. That is a million and a half dollars. Of course we cannot say what the Chinese will do with their money after they get it, but their money will be paid to them here in Honolulu. The entire amount will in the first place be added to the local circulation."

E. I. Spalding, cashier and manager of Claus Spreckels & Co.: "The payment of the fire claims ought to have a very good effect on business. While a considerable proportion goes to Oriental firms, these, particularly the Chinese, have been tied up in transactions with banking and mercantile firms. Payment of their claims will enable them to meet their obligations and thus an immediate great benefit to business in general will be effected."

"Under their tremendous losses by the fire, the Chinese merchants have exhibited integrity and good intentions in equal if not higher degree to what should be expected of white merchants under similar circumstances. There was one Chinese merchant heavily indebted to a certain wholesale house here at the time of the fire. He was advised to compromise with his creditors, but he asked for time to pay his debts in full. His request was granted and he was paid every dollar of his indebtedness."

"Notwithstanding their great losses by the fire and the consequent period of depression, I don't think the Chinese merchants have caused a dollar of loss to any banking or mercantile establishment."

"I believe that the payment of the fire claims will greatly benefit the circulation of money. If the money is received promptly, within the two or three months when plantation dividends are awaited, it will be in the nature of a dividend to the mercantile community and will afford substantial relief to the situation."

Mr. Spalding referred to the passage of the Coinage bill as another favorable circumstance.

"After the severe crisis through which we have passed, I think we are entering upon the new year with prospects very much improved," Mr. Spalding said.

"The passage of the Coinage bill was due, I believe, to the concerted action of all the banks, including the Yokohama Specie Bank. It was held up in the previous session of Congress by the silver men, who feared it as retarding a large amount of silver. Their objections were overcome by the united representations of the banks showing the necessity of the measure."

Samuel M. Damon, head partner in Bishop & Co.: "It doesn't require a very wise man to answer that question. The passage of the bill means the plucking down of one million dollars into the business community. This must be a great relief to the financial situation."

"Of course no one can say what proportion of the money coming to Chinese firms will remain in the country. They have felt their losses severely and the payment of their claims will place them on a better footing in the mercantile community."

"There are a large number of private claimants, however, including needy people, to whom the payment of their awards will be most welcome relief."

H. E. Walby, partner in Bishop & Co.: "It is good news. A million dollars placed in circulation at one time will be a great help to business. The money will evaporate at once, I suppose, but its immediate effect will be beneficial."

Mr. Highton for the defendant asked for time to save an appeal, mentioning 20 days.

District Attorney Breckons said the rules of court governed appeals. No execution could issue within ten days Judge Estee said: "You can find out in ten days if you want to appeal. The court will not do anything to deprive you of your rights if you try to secure them."

The Hongkong Maru sails for San Francisco at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ALAMEDA A DAY LATE.

Irwin & Co., the local agents of the Oceanic Steamship Co., received a cablegram this morning to the effect that the O. S. S. Alameda left San Francisco Sunday afternoon. This will make her about a day late.

In the Police Court this morning Ah Yin was fined $10 and costs for headless driving. Wa See, charged with driving at night without a light, was reprimanded and discharged.

ASHFORD ON MAUI.

Walluku, Jan. 17.—Clarence W. Ashford (Akepoka) favored Walluku with a visit this week. The talented attorney came over from Lahaina after attending the Lanai episode case before Magistrate Kahalelelo at Lahaina. Mr. Ashford saw with his own eyes the condition of Walluku roads which were by the way not very much better than at the time when he himself was holding a portfolio under Kalakaua. He seems to think that Walluku roads are the worst he has ever set foot on and he is not very far off. It was raining quite hard when the learned jurist was here. It was cold, too, and Walluku was not donning its best.

CANON AULT TEACHING.

Walluku, Jan. 17.—Rev. Canon Wm. Ault is teaching a private school at the Kindergarten in place of Mrs. W. E. Beckwith, gone to Honolulu. The pupils comprise the white children in Walluku and vicinity who are mighty glad to obtain the services of an able tutor.

Buyers of damaged suitings at L. B. Kerr & Co.'s sale can have them made up for $10 per suit at J. P. Rodriguez, Alakea street.

MAUI MEN COMING.

Walluku, Jan. 17.—Hons. Samuel Keolani and Samuel E. Kalama of the House of Representatives, will go to Honolulu about the end of this month with their families, to attend the convention of the Republican Central Territorial Committee, so as to better prepare themselves for the discharge of their duties when important measures come up for their consideration. The other members of the legislature from Maui will all most likely go down at the same time. Hon. Philip Pall of Lahaina is just convalescing from a long illness which had kept him in doors for several months and his numerous constituents are glad to hear of the improvement of his health.

WILLIE CONWAY'S FUNERAL.

Walluku, Jan. 17.—The funeral of little Willie Conway, whose remains were brought up by the Mauna Loa last Tuesday evening from Kamehameha school, Honolulu, in charge of his bereaved parents, took place from the family residence at Waikapu last Thursday afternoon, the remains being interred in the Waikapu church cemetery. The sympathies of this community are extended to the bereaved parents who are thus deprived of their only child. The parents are, however, quite satisfied with the care and treatment at Kamehameha, the teachers, nurses, and physicians exerting their very best efforts and energies to save the life of the child.

SECOND EDITION

Judgment Against Peacock

Judge Estee this afternoon gave judgment for $2000 for the United States against W. C. Peacock. In an oral opinion he recited the sections of the United States Revised Statutes under which the action was brought, which prescribe the procedure in procuring American registry for vessels.

The defendant was proved to have taken the oath provided before R. C. Stackable, a customs officer, in fact he admitted having taken the oath, to obtain register for the schooner Julia S. Whalen. He admitted that the ownership of the vessel stood in his name, and must therefore have known who had an interest and who had not in the vessel. His answer expressing lack of knowledge was evasive and fallacious.

"What condition would society be in," the court asked, "if a man could avoid telling the whole truth and nothing but the truth when it suited his purpose?"

The statement that "he neither admits nor denies the allegations" but leave the plaintiff to prove thereof was an admission of the truth of the allegations. "The court repeats what it said at the former hearing, that if a man does not know what country he belongs to, he does not know enough to go into a court of justice and ask for his rights." Such pleadings as those in question the court characterized as "a travesty on justice and on the practice of law, a trifling with truth, which should not be allowed."

Because the court knew that all men were not constituted alike, it would not punish the defendant as the fact warranted. In conclusion the judgment of the court was announced as finding that the allegations of the complaint were proved excepting the value of the vessel, and that the United States was entitled to recover from Walter C. Peacock the sum of $2,000 together with costs of court including the reporter's fee.

Mr. Highton for the defendant asked for time to save an appeal, mentioning 20 days.

District Attorney Breckons said the rules of court governed appeals. No execution could issue within ten days Judge Estee said: "You can find out in ten days if you want to appeal. The court will not do anything to deprive you of your rights if you try to secure them."

In the course of further discussion, Judge Estee said no trifling with justice would be allowed and made an allusion to the Tanbara case, telling about the second reprieve granted by Governor Dole on Friday while no appeal was pending or had been taken in the case.

AMERICAN MARU IN FROM ORIENT

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamship Hongkong Maru arrived off port from Yokohama this forenoon. She was docked at the Quarantine wharf at about 1:30 p. m. The Maru had a pleasant and uneventful trip from the Orient. She made the run from Yokohama to this port in 9 days 17 hours.

The Maru carries quite a large list of passengers. Lee Toma, the well known merchant of this city, is one of the people for this port. Three passengers will remain over here.

Among the through passengers for San Francisco is Bishop C. B. Galloway, who boarded the Maru in Kobe after having made a tour of inspection of various missions in the far East.

R. M. Lewis is the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Shanghai. Mr. Lewis was with the American relief column at the siege of Peking and gave an interesting lecture on the siege one evening during the trip of the Maru. He is accompanied by Mrs. Lewis and five children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moreing are Australian tourists on a trip around the world.

The Maru brought 266 Japanese steerage passengers for this port. She has 624 tons of freight for Honolulu. The Maru is scheduled to sail tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The Police Court calendar this morning was interesting because of its length and because of the variety of crime it represented. There were forty-nine cases, covering no less than fifteen different statutes. On account of this a number of the cases had to be tried this afternoon.

The Hongkong Maru sails for San Francisco at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ANDREWS GOT LEFT

WHEN HE TRIED TO PROVE DRUNKENNESS

ON GEO. DUNCKER OF HILO—ALL TOWN'S ATTORNEYS WERE ON SIDE OF DEFEND-ANT.

Hilo, Jan. 16.—The sensation in the Courts last week was not up stairs as might have been expected from the array of divorce, civil and criminal cases on the calendar, the presence of two Circuit Judges and an army of legal talent. The sensational case was down stairs before Judge Hapal. The defendant was George Duncker one of Hilo's best known hails and well met fellows. The prosecuting witness and prosecuting attorney were one and the same—our well known and amiable Sheriff—Sheriff L. A. Andrews. The charge was one that astonished all who were present at the political evening. The charge was that Mr. Duncker was present at the aforesaid meeting in an intoxicated condition and that he did disturb said public meeting.

Mr. Duncker, who took a lively and patriotic interest in the proceedings of the meeting before the Senators Friday evening, took issue with the Sheriff's allegations. When the case was called in police court, the legal talent along side of Mr. Duncker, consisted practically of all the lawyers in Hilo.
H. L. Ross of Wise & Ross, conducted the defense, H. L. Williams, the new attorney from Puna, was a close counselor during the proceedings. Both members of the firm of Ridgway & Ridgway were at defendant's table. W.
H. Smith of LeHon & Smith was within an arm's reach and Carl S.
Smith of Smith & Parsons was near at hand.

In the audience were Senators, Representatives and nearly all of the visiting members of the Honolulu bar.

Behind the Sheriff's red beard could be seen a set face, betokening a determination to win the day, with himself as a flying wedge, a la the game of foot-ball on an inter-state grid-iron.

The defendant sat in the midst of counsel, serene, smiling, buoyant. Not a line on his face betrayed emotion.
The Sheriff was the sole witness for the State.

Mr. Ross for the defense first called Senator Brown to the stand. Witness stated that he was present at the meeting the night before, saw and heard defendant and that he did not disturb the meeting and that he was not drunk.

Senator Woods was next called. He testified to the same set of facts.

A. B. Loebenstein, chairman of the mass meeting, was called. He testified that Mr. Duncker's conduct at the meeting was exemplary and that he did not annoy the chair except in a parliamentary way. L. M. Whitehouse was also a witness for the defense. It was his opinion that the defendant created less disturbance than the Sheriff did. This bit of testimony brought down the house and spurred the Sheriff to more frantic efforts to win the Court. He asked the witness if he could say on oath that defendant was sober at the meeting.

This question brought a vigorous objection from defendant's counsel on the ground that it was the duty of the prosecution to prove the defendant guilty and not the defendant's duty to prove his innocence.

The Sheriff almost fainted at this view of the law and loudly declaimed to the Court that it was a new thing to him, this theory that the prosecution must make out a case against a defendant. Even the Japs in the audience tittered when they heard this new exposition of the law by the Sheriff.

Defendant's counsel answered the Sheriff with the statement that if the Sheriff or any lawyer could produce one line or word in all the law books, in support of the contention that a defendant must prove his innocence, he would instruct the defendant in the case to plead guilty.

The next witness was Captain Harris, who sat by the defendant at the mass meeting. He testified that the witness was sober and that he did not disturb the meeting.

Judge Hapal listened to short arguments by both sides and acquitted the defendant without hesitation.

The inquiry on all sides was, "What on earth was the Sheriff trying to do?"
So far no one has been able to answer the query.—Tribune.

GRAND DUKE MICHAEL, WHO MAY BECOME CZAR OF RUSSIA.

Should the czar of Russia die without leaving a male heir, as seems probable, or should he abdicate, as it has been frequently rumored of late he may, his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, would succeed to the throne. The grand duke is a young man of twenty-four, sturdy of body, sound of mind and well liked by those who know him best. He has traveled extensively and is said to have liberal ideas.

Draft of County Bill Is Submitted to Committee

The draft of the county bill as prepared by the Republican Commission, was presented to the Central committee at a meeting in headquarters Saturday night. The report on the bill was read by Chairman W. O. Smith, who, during the reading, commented on various observations made, thus giving the members of the committee a good understanding of the bill. The report was as follows:

Honolulu, Hawaii, Jan. 17, 1903. The Republican Territorial Committee, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Gentlemen:—Some time since, at the request of your Committee, we agreed to act as a Commission to prepare a bill providing for county government in the Territory, for presentation to the Legislature, by the next legislative session.

We beg leave to hand you herewith the bill prepared by us in compliance with your direction. In presenting you the draft prepared, it will perhaps not be amiss to state in a general way the plan of county government intended to be established by it.

We first wish to say that, in the preparation of the bill, it has been our aim to adapt the present laws of the Territory to the new system, in order that so far as possible, the officers first elected and the people generally shall have for their guide provisions of law with which all are more or less familiar, and many of which have been construed by the courts. In all instances, however, where a complete system of county government necessitated changes, no matter how radical, such changes have been made.

DIVISION INTO COUNTIES. By the bill prepared the Territory is divided into five Counties as follows: The County of Oahu, being the island of Oahu, with the county seat at Honolulu.

The County of Maui, being the islands of Maui, Lanai, Molokai and Kahoolawe, with the county seat at Wailuku.

The County of West Hawaii, being the part of the island of Hawaii comprised within the districts of Kau, North Kohala, South Kohala, North Kona and South Kona, and all other islands within a limit of three nautical miles of the shores thereof; with the county seat at Kailua.

The County of East Hawaii, being that part of the island of Hawaii comprised within the district of Hilo, Puna and Hamakua, and all other islands within a limit of three nautical miles of the shores thereof, with the County seat at Hilo.

The County of Kauai, being the islands of Kauai and Niihau, with the county seat at Lihue.

Provision is made for changing county seats.

This division conforms exactly to the division of the Territory by the Organic Act into judicial circuits.

These counties are divided into districts for road purposes and jurisdiction of magistrates, the districts and their boundaries being the same as at present.

OFFICERS AND THEIR DUTIES. The bill provides for the following county officers:

A Board of Supervisors, consisting of five members, county clerk, sheriff, treasurer, tax collector, who is also license collector, recorder, auditor, assessor, surveyor, district attorney, coroner, members of the road board, road supervisor and district magistrates.

All save members of the road board, the road supervisor and district magistrates, are to be elected; the bill providing for the appointment of members of the road board by the Board of Supervisors, of the road supervisor by the road board, and of the magistrates by the governor.

All officers first elected or appointed continue in office until January second, 1905, being succeeded by officers elected at the general election in November, 1904, or by appointments made in January, 1905, as the case may be.

After that period all officers hold for two years, except members of the Board of Supervisors. As to this board, it is provided that the term of a part only expires each two years, thus insuring a board which always has some members with experience.

The Board of Supervisors is vested with general supervisory powers over all the affairs of the county. The exercise of their powers, particularly with relation to the issuance of bonds, expenditures of moneys, allowance of claims, and creation of debts, is carefully limited, the limitations being of such a nature that any taxpayer has a ready remedy for their abuse. The county clerk is clerk of this board, and keeps all its records; he also performs certain specified duties relative to taxes. The sheriff performs practically the same duties and has the same powers in his county as the high sheriff now has. He has the power to appoint police, whose duties are as now provided. The treasurer is custodian of the funds of the county, and can pay them out only on warrants issued by the county auditor by order of the board. The tax collector collects all taxes shown to be due the county, and also all licenses. The recorder performs all duties within his county now performed by the register of conveyances. The auditor audits the accounts of all officers, draws all warrants, and advises the board from time to time as to the financial condition of the county. The surveyor performs all duties usually performed by such officer, and acts also as commissioner of boundaries and commissioner of fences. The district attorney conducts or directs all prosecutions within the county, and represents the county in all civil actions to which it is a party. The coroner performs all duties relative to inquests. The road boards and road supervisor perform the same duties as under existing laws. The jurisdiction of the district magistrate remains the same.

Care has been taken to see that the powers of all officers do not clash in any way.

All officers are required to give bonds,—the members of the board in a fixed sum, and the remainder in a sum to be fixed by the board, to be not less in each instance than a designated sum. In the case of the treasurer and the tax collector, it is made the duty of the board to fix the amount at not less than the greatest amount in the hands of the officer during the year. Sureties on bonds are required to justify under oath, and the officer or board approving the bond may call witnesses relative to the property owned by such sureties. Any officer may give the bond of a surety company which has the authority from the Attorney General of the United States, under Act of Congress, to do business in Hawaii, the premium to be paid by the county. Ample provision is made for the approval, recording and filing of all bonds.

All officers are required to keep their offices at the county seat, and to keep them open during designated hours.

The Board of Supervisors meets monthly, and has also power to hold special meetings.

Provision is made for deputies for certain officers.

TAXATION.

As under the provisions of the bill there are two governments,—the territorial and the county,—each of which must be provided with funds, it became necessary to change the tax laws in several respects. The flat rate of one per cent had to be abandoned, since we could discover no possible method of making division of it between the county and the territory according to the needs of each. The following articles stated the plan devised by us:

The present laws, in so far as they designate what property is taxable, who shall pay the taxes on such property, the amount of poll tax and who shall be liable therefor, the amount of tax on specific personal property, the amount of income tax and the persons who shall pay the same, the manner of arriving at the valuation of real and personal property, and what persons and property shall be exempt, are continued in force. All property, including incomes, must be listed for taxation with the assessor by January 20th in each year, after which date it will be listed by the assessor, and the person liable thereto deprived of any right of appeal. The assessor must complete his assessment roll by the end of March, and deliver it to the Board of Supervisors. That board, sitting as a Board of Equalization, proceeds to equalize the assessment, holding for that purpose two meetings,—one of not more than six days commencing the first week in April, and the other not more than fifteen days, commencing the last week in April. At the first meeting the board lowers or raises the value of all property, including incomes, which it believes to be unfairly valued, whether the valuation be placed on it by the property owner or by the assessor on failure of the owner to make return. Notice of all increases is given, and the second meeting of the board is for the purpose of passing on the complaints of all persons feeling themselves aggrieved; the right to make such complaint, however, being confined to persons who have made returns. Appeal to the Supreme Court is provided for, together with a method for the return to the taxpayer of the excess of tax paid, should he prevail on his appeal.

Immediately upon the completion of the equalization, the county clerk prepares a tax list, showing the amount due, on income tax, poll tax, specific tax on personal property, and insurance tax, and delivers this list to the tax collector by the first Monday in June. All of these taxes become delinquent on June 30th. The county clerk also prepares an abstract of all real and personal property and the value thereof as equalized by the board, and forwards the same to the auditor of the territory. Upon receipt of abstracts from all counties, the auditor, treasurer and secretary, sitting as the Territorial Board of Equalization, proceed to equalize the assessment in so far as territorial purposes are concerned. They have power to raise or diminish the aggregate valuation of any county, by a fixed per cent,—a power given them in order to prevent low valuations by any county with a view of escaping its just proportion of territorial taxes. The board then determines what number of mills must be levied on all of the property taxes according to valuation, in order to produce funds to pay the expenses of the territory. When this rate is determined upon, the county clerk is notified thereof, the notice to be received by the first Monday in July. The Board of Supervisors, on the first Monday in July, proceeds to levy the requisite number of mills for county purposes,—that is, a levy which, together with the receipts from poll taxes, specific taxes, income taxes, and from all other sources, including licenses, shall produce sufficient funds to conduct the affairs of the county.

They also make the levy for territorial purposes at the rate determined by the territorial board. When this is done the county clerk prepares a second tax list, showing the taxes due the county and the taxes due the territory according to such levies. This tax list is delivered to the collector in August, and the taxes shown by it to be due, are delinquent on November 30th. After this last date, the taxes due the territory under the levy for territorial purposes, are paid to the territorial treasurer by the treasurer of the county.

Proper provision is made for the collection of delinquent taxes by distress and sale of personal property, and the sale by advertisement of real estate. All personal taxes, including income, constitute a lien on any real estate of the person from whom due. Incomes are assessed according to the calendar year,—a change which will necessitate the taxation in 1904 of but six months' income,—from July 1st to December 31st, 1903.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the changes made in the present laws are about these: All property must be listed in January. The tax on incomes, the poll tax and the specific taxes remain the same, and are delinquent after June 30th. The rate of taxation on all other property is determined by the county and the territory, according to the needs of these two governments; and is delinquent after November 30th.

The inheritance tax law remains intact, and the tax is a territorial revenue.

LICENSES.

In the bill is incorporated all of the present license laws of the Territory, with only changes made necessary by vesting jurisdiction over the subject matter in the proper county officers and for the purpose of making the laws general in their application. The tax collector is license collector. All fees are payable to the county.

MONDAY, JANUARY 19, 1903.

The second reprieve in the Tanbara case will likely cause some interesting discussions on the authority of Territorial executive to override the judgment of Federal courts.

After all Attorney General Dole told the Bulletin the truth when he said he had not resigned. He did not resign. He was kicked out of office.

Wouldn't that jar you?

Honolulu will hardly be the same without its genial Camarinos. With all his faults, he was a good fellow, big hearted, kindly, generous. His friends extend far beyond the borders of Hawaii.

With the appointive power in Roosevelt's hands it is hardly possible for those who raised the carpetbagger cry to oppose the Mitchell bill which throws the Territorial Governorship open to Mainland candidates.

Hawaii is only injuring its standing in Congress if it attempts to class the Mitchell Commission report with the Blount report. It is well to remember that Mitchell and his associates are Republicans and have rendered their report to a Republican Congress. It does not follow that Hawaii must accept the report without argument, but if a campaign of innuendo is started, opposition to the recommendations will be discredited at the outset among the friends of the Senators, who are quite as influential as any combination the Territory can muster.

The preliminary report on the county bill presented by Chairman W. O. Smith indicates that the bill has been drafted on reasonably liberal lines, and follows the general American scheme for local self government. The list of offices created appears to have been kept within bounds of competence and the counties will be able to conduct their business on an economical basis. The continued centralization of the Board of Public Instruction and the Board of Health will probably be criticised unless bills are framed which will reorganize these departments as now existing. Placing all public institutions of the Territory under one board of control members of which are presumably to serve without pay is also a feature that will be food for discussion when the bill is published. A good beginning has been made and as the time given for general perusal of the bill is ample, it should be possible for the Legislature to speedily pass a law which will meet the demands of the people and be a credit to the party.

FIRE CLAIMS SUCCESS.

Better proof of the frequently repeated statement that Congress will deal liberally with Hawaii could hardly be asked than, first, the passage of the coinage bill that places our financial system on a firm footing, second, the enactment of the fire claims bill which will put over a million dollars of American coin into local circulation. This is a beginning which furnishes very competent evidence of good intentions and it is to be hoped the good work may continue even at the present session with such rapidity that through the work to be carried on by Federal Departments Hawaii may obtain a fair share of the large sum now paid into Federal coffers at the customs house and internal revenue office. While the demonstration of Congressional good will produce a good local effect, the history of this appropriation should bring home to our people the value of united action in presenting the necessities of Hawaii to the Federal authorities. This Territory presented a solid front on the fire claims appropriation. The request was unanimous as far as political parties or factions were concerned. The people were behind it. And Congress heeded the popular appeal.

That which has been done in the fire claims campaign can be repeated on other measures if the people will make up their minds to put aside petty differences when the progress of the Territory is at stake. Equal unanimity behind the Pearl Harbor appropriations, the bounty on coffee, and every other measure that has for its object the development of Federal public work in Hawaii will bring about the desired result. The people of any State, Territory, city or town who can get together, who show that they have a personal pride in forwarding the interests of their section while steadfastly loyal to the nation, who are vigorous and honest in their presentation of facts, inspire respect and it is seldom such a community is refused the confidence of Congress. The battle for recognition cannot be won in a day. Congress moves slowly. But the people who get together eventually win its favor.

The Territory should not rest satisfied with the first million and a half. They got together on this appropriation. Now let them keep together. Take up the coffee bounty, harbor improvements, in fact every appropriation bill that carries money for any department represented in the Territory.

TANTALUS ROBBERIES

People on Tantalus are becoming very tired of having their places robbed, and it is safe to say there is not a single house up there now that is not provided with a revolver, a shotgun or a rifle.

The latest robbery occurred some time yesterday at the Schmidt home, known to all who have ever been up on Tantalus as "Maluhia." Wm. Schmidt of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., went up to his father's house for a day's outing and upon arrival there thought surely some of his friends must have preceded him, for the doors were all wide open.

On examination of the premises, Mr. Schmidt found that someone had broken in four of the doors and taken all the eatables and drinkables in the place. There was absolutely no clue to the person or persons who committed the outrage. A Chinaman living in a small house not far away did not hear any noise whatever.

Some Tantalus residents were seen today and they favored a combination for the purpose of protection. The idea is to employ a man to go the rounds every day in the week and to pay particular attention to those houses not occupied. This man would undoubtedly be given a special police officer's commission by High Sheriff Brown if it was represented to him what his duties would be.

SECOND REPRIEVE OF DOOMED MAN

Governor Dole on Friday last issued a second reprieve for Tanbara Gishuro, under death sentence for the murder of Captain Jacobsen, master of the schooner Fred J. Wood, upon the high seas.

In the meantime neither Judge Eates, District Attorney Breckons nor Marshal Hendry has received any intimation from Washington regarding the first reprieve, which was granted to Tanbara by the Territorial Executive on December 24, two days before the date set for the execution of sentence.

No writ of error has been sued out for a judicial review of the conviction and sentence of the prisoner in the United States District Court, nor any step whatever taken for an appeal of the case beyond the usual formal notice of counsel after verdict and judgment to save the prisoner's right of appeal.

There is nothing to show that the Governor has investigated the circumstances of the case or even taken the first steps toward that usual accompaniment of a reprieve. The President of the United States, it is said, never grants a reprieve or pardon, or otherwise exercises the prerogative of mercy without obtaining full information of all the circumstances of the particular case.

In Federal circles here different questions are being canvassed with regard to the Tanbara case. For example: What is the reason of the interference of the Territorial Executive with the course of Federal justice?

Why has a second reprieve been granted before any reply has come from Washington to the reference of the first reprieve to President Roosevelt?

Has the first reprieve ever been referred to Washington by the Governor?

Does a Territorial reprieve run indefinitely to stay the course of justice until it may be confirmed or disallowed by the President of the United States, without any limit of time for the reference of the reprieve to the President?

SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE.

The Seamen's Institute, which is presided over by Mr. Everton, a man who has had much experience in this line of work, is contemplating an expansion of the work. The present quarters on the second floor of the brick building at the corner of Nuuanu and Queen streets is becoming too small to accommodate the large number of sailors who visit the institute during the evenings.

Every Saturday night a special entertainment is given in the hall for the sailors in port, and these have grown so in popularity that on last Saturday night there were seventy sailors present.

The Institute is kept open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10:30 at night and there is something of interest going on every evening.

VALUABLE LAND UP AT AUCTION

A lot of valuable land was put up for sale by Jas. F. Morgan, the auctioneer, during the noon hour today. The sale of the lands of Wm. H. Wright, which was advertised to take place at the police station, was postponed. One piece of land is at the corner of Sheridan street and Lincoln Avenue, containing an area of 15,000 square feet and conveyed to Wright by Anna S. Wright and husband, on March 30, 1901. The second piece is in Puunui, Nuuanu, and contains an area of 20,000 square feet.

The sale was postponed by order of High Sheriff Brown on the protest of C. W. Ashford, attorney for Mrs. W. H. Wright, which was to the effect that since no service had been made on Wright the judgment and execution are invalid. The postponement is for the purpose of getting an opinion from the Attorney General.

The first sale at Morgan's auction rooms was of two pieces of property—the first on the mauka side of Huihua Avenue and covering an area of 46,460 square feet and the second on the makai side of the same street and covering 6 1-10 acres. The total acreage of the two pieces is 7 acres and 7256 square feet.

The sale was under a mortgage dated October 30, 1902, and delivered by Frank Huihua, mortgagor, to the First National Bank of Hawaii to secure the payment of a certain indebtedness ($27,000).

The first bid was $5,000 made by A. S. Humphreys for the First American Savings and Trust Co., Ltd. P. Muhlenhoff, acting for S. C. Allen, bid $6,000 and the property was knocked down to him.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Services in memory of the late Paul Isenberg were held in the German Lutheran church, Beretania street, Sunday afternoon, long before 4 o'clock, the hour announced for the service, the church was filled.

An organ voluntary followed by a choir selection, opened the services and then the Rev. Mr. Felmy led a short praise service and the Rev. Canon Mackintosh gave a tribute to the dead. After another number by the choir, Pastor Felmy eulogized the dead, speaking from the 21st verse of the 25th chapter of Matthew. After the sermon came a solo by Mr. Constable who sang "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death."

The front seats of the church were occupied by Senator and Mrs. D. P. R. Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Isenberg, Mrs. Otto Isenberg and two children, with other relatives and immediate friends. The leading business houses of the city were also represented.

THE DAVIS CONTRACT

Editor Evening Bulletin:—The contract made with me and executed by Sumner was first read over by me and fully explained by me to Sumner in the presence of the notary who acknowledged the same.

The notarial certificate on this contract answers this morning's correspondence fully; further, Sumner made a promissory note for the amount, $3,000, payable on demand, and this contract was made in view of appeals to higher courts in all litigation. The text could not be altered. It was in my handwriting and is on one sheet of paper bearing the initials of the notary. Good-bye, Pacific Commercial Advertiser. Respectfully,
GEO. A. DAVIS.

SAW EWA PLANTATION.

Members of the Y. M. and Y. W. Christian Associations had a splendid time down the road on Saturday last. A party of thirty-six, made up of young men and women, went down on the 11 a. m. train and were met at Ewa plantation by a train of six cars of the plantation which were very kindly placed at the disposal of the party by Manager Renton.

L. P. Tenney acted as guide, and he took the young couple throughout the mill and all over the plantation, explaining to them the workings of the former as they went along. The members of the party had taken their luncheon along, so at the proper time they sat down to a very fine meal. The party returned in the 5:30 o'clock train.

DEATH OF CAMARINOS

POPULAR FRUITERER A VICTIM OF ANEURISM

NO ONE AT HIS BEDSIDE WHEN DREAD SUMMONS CAME.
FUNERAL AT 3 P. M.
TODAY.

Demetrius George Camarinos died at his home, corner of King and Alakea streets, Sunday forenoon at about 9:45 o'clock, the direct cause of death being aneurism of the heart. Deceased had not been feeling well for a long time and was recently a frequent sufferer.

The circumstances of his death were as follows: On Saturday night, Mr.
Camarinos was in company with C. H.
Brown and others and at that time he complained of severe pains in the region of the heart. He went home early and retired.

At about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Brown called around to see Mr. Camarinos and found him in bed reading the newspaper. He stated that he was far from well and that he had been unable to eat anything but an orange. He stated that he would remain in the house during the forenoon and go out to Waikiki later on.
Mr. Brown left at about a quarter of nine.

At about 9:30 o'clock, the Japanese boy went up into the room with a light breakfast which he placed near Mr.
Camarinos. About a quarter of an hour later he went up to the room to remove the dishes and found his employer leaning over on his right side, his head and shoulders resting on a pillow. He was groaning and upon being asked what the matter was, vouchsafed no answer. The boy at once summoned George Andrews, the cousin of Mr. Camarinos. He addressed his uncle but there was no answer. Dr. Herbert was summoned but the deceased was beyond human aid. An autopsy was held in the afternoon and aneurism of the heart was found to have been the cause of death.
The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of H. H. Williams, Fort street, from which place the funeral will take place this afternoon.

Camarinos was born in a little village near Sparta, Greece, about 48 years ago. He was educated in the schools of Sparta and later on went to the university of Athens. He was educated to become a priest in the Greek Orthodox church. However, he abandoned this course and became a clerk in a mercantile establishment. He came to New York in 1877 and later on came to San Francisco and established himself in the fruit business. He was very successful and amassed a considerable fortune.

The first visit of the deceased to this country was in 1892 while his late brother, P. G. Camarinos, was in the fruit business in this city. It was his intention to arrange for the shipment of bananas to the Coast but he received $1000 from the local shippers to keep out of the business for five years.
He then returned to his business on the Coast.

In 1897 his brother died and he came to Honolulu to carry on the fruit business. He got along so well and liked the country so much that he decided to spend the remainder of his days here.

Deceased was very well liked by all who knew him and his friends in the city may be numbered by the hundreds.
He was always in a happy frame of mind and never too busy to talk with anyone who desired to have a few minutes' conversation with him on any subject whatever. He was most generous and there are many in Honolulu today who have tasted of the hospitality of "Cammy." He was a particular friend of all the newspaper boys in Honolulu and on the Coast and many are the good times he has shown them.

PROBATE COURT SESSION

Judge De Bolt passed upon probate cases this morning as follows:

Manuahi was discharged as administrator of the estate of Pila Manuahi, deceased, his accounts being approved.

Catherine Steward, executrix of the estate of James D. Steward, was discharged with approval of accounts.

The will of Dr. Richard Oliver was admitted to probate and David Dayton appointed executor without a bond.

S. W. Kaleikini, guardian of Kapunibala, minor, was granted leave to sell real estate under a bond of $500.

The third annual accounts of Mrs.
Holloway, guardian of Francis and George H. Brown, minors, were referred to P. Dunson Kellett Jr. as master.

C. Abi, retired administrator of the Abi estate, was ordered to show cause why he has not made an accounting.

The first and final account of Henry Smith, receiver of the estate of Mary P. McPherson, went over on account of the disqualification of Judge L. Bolt.

Ah Look and Au Teong, two Chinese merchants, appeared in the Police Court this morning charged with common nuisance. The defendants were arrested by Officer Sam Hook for having ducks exposed for sale on the sidewalk outside their store on Aala lane.
The defendants escaped with a regretful mand.

VALUABLE LAND
UP AT AUCTION

The second sale was that of three pieces of land in Pawa, being a portion of the property conveyed to Geo.
H. Paris by deed of Alfred W. Carter on March 15, 1900. This land was mortgaged to the First American Bank of Hawaii, Ltd., to secure payment of certain indebtedness amounting to $6000, with interest at 8 per cent from February 15, 1902.

Lot C was withdrawn from the sale at the instance of Attorney A. S. Humphreys, appearing for the mortgagees.

Lot D, having an area of 9450 square feet with a frontage of 63 feet on the mauka continuation of King street, was bid in by Mr. Humphreys for $1500 and was announced as a sale to the First American Savings and Trust Co., Ltd.
Lot E went for $1700 to the same party, acting for the same corporation.

The third sale was the largest of the day. The property advertised is that certain section at Kailua, this island, commencing at an angle in the line of Queen street on the mauka side, which point bears S. 54 degrees 40 minutes W. true 264.6 feet from an iron pin at the south corner of King and Queen streets, near the Haalilamau bridge.

It was mortgaged by Frank Hustace to F. A. Schaefer, W. Lanz and H.
Focke, doing business under the firm name of F. A. Schaefer & Co., said mortgage being for $20,800.

The bidding went by jumps from $15,000, the bid of August Dreier, until it reached $22,000, when it was knocked down to J. A. Kennedy, acting for the Inter-Island S. S. Co.

Next came three lots—one in Makiki adjoining the home of J. A. Gilman the second and third in the Ill of Pau Waikiki. The first piece covers an area of 2 1/2 acres, the second 70,712 square feet and the third 10,982.5.

The mortgage was made by Frank Hustace to August Dreier, said mortgage being for $15,000.

The first lot was started by H. Focke at $5000 and went up steadily to $7,500 when it was knocked down to the same bidder.

The second lot was started at $5000 by Mr. Focke and was finally knocked down to him for $8,500.

The third lot was started at $500 by Attorney W. L. Stanley and was knocked down to P. Muhlenhoff for $550.

In regard to these last two sales, it might be of interest to know that the land sold to the Inter-Island Co., to Mr.
Focke and to Mr. Muhlenhoff, were all sold to Larry Dee a few days ago at the police station. Mr. Dee was acting for the Kamalo people. In the case of the property at the junction of King and Queen streets, sold to the Inter-Island Co., Mr. Dee paid $2,500 over and above the amount of the mortgage, which was $20,800. As the property sold for $22,000, it will be seen that the Kamalo people are out a few hundred dollars.

In the case of the Makiki lot and the two pieces in the Ill of Pau, the Kamalo people are in a little. The mortgage was for $15,000, Mr. Dee paid $500 over and above this amount, and the whole thing sold today for $16,500.

The last sale was of property of S. K.
Kane and wife mortgaged to Wm. Chas.
Markham. A part is up in Palolo valley and another part near the School street bridge. It was knocked down to Geo. R. Carter, bidding for Mr.
Markham, the price being $750.

PRESS BULLETINS.

Director Jared Smith of the Experiment Station, makes the following announcement with reference to press bulletins:

Notice—Beginning with January 1903, the Hawaii Experiment Station will publish in this form a series of papers known as Press Bulletins. The subject matter of these bulletins will be notes of minor importance, or reports of preliminary experiments, or compilations from the publications of other experiment stations and scientific institutions of immediate interest to the farmers of Hawaii. The regular bulletins of this station will hereafter contain in more complete form the results of original research investigations conducted by the station staff.

JARED G. SMITH, Special Agent in Charge. Honolulu, January 2, 1903.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

GEORGE GOULD, WHO HAS A BIG RAILROAD FIGHT ON HAND.

Mr. George Gould is an aggressive factor in the world of high finance. Just now he is engaged in a most interesting railroad war with two powerful antagonists. In the east he is at odds with the Pennsylvania railroad, and in the west he has to deal with E. H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific lines. During some odd moments he recently arranged a deal by which he leased his New York elevated railroad property to the new underground transit company.

A RANK OUTSIDER

"I disapprove of the engagement; and as Pamela's eldest brother and the head of the family, I think my opinion should count for something." The Earl of Aveton raised himself on his toes and then dropped his heels pompously to emphasize his feelings on the subject of his sister's engagement to James Mackay.

"Of course your opinion counts, Aveton; still, in this case, I think you are unreasonable." His mother spoke with her usual suavity; but the snap of her fan told of suppressed irritation.

"My dear mother! the fellow is an outsider."

"Pooh! Francis; no one is an outsider nowadays; you are behind the times to say so; really I see no reason why Pamela should not marry James Mackay." Lord Aveton frowned.

"His very names is an offence," he grumbled. "James Mackay! the obnoxious name in tones of contempt; and a gay fresh voice exclaimed:—

"Here you are, mother; I am back early. Oh! Francis, how are you? You look more than ordinarily solemn."

Lord Aveton's dried-up face stiffened.

"I think I have some cause to look solemn, Pamela; I have just heard of your engagement to—er—Mr. Mackay."

Pamela's creamy skin became tinged with pink; she threw up her head with a haughty gesture.

"I don't quite understand," she spoke in a measured voice. "Why should my engagement to James affect you in any way?" Her clear brown eyes looked straight into her brother's face.

"A girl of your age," blustered Lord Aveton, "has no right to engage herself to any man without the consent of her seniors."

His sister moved slowly across the room and stood behind her mother's chair; her dark eyes flashed as she answered:—

"I have the consent of the only senior whose authority I recognize," she said; her arm round her mother's neck with a loving pressure, and the elder lady stroked the girl's fingers.

"Dear," she murmured, "you brother means to be kind; you must listen to what he has to say."

"The fact is, Pamela, you have been too much indulged all your life, and now you do not recognize any authority at all." His lordship gave forth his opinion with a pompous snort, and cleared his throat with an air of finality.

Lady Pamela laughed a low soft laugh, and dropped her tawny head over her mother's shoulder.

"Mother," the words came in a gurgling laughter, "you hear what Francis says; you must have brought me up very badly."

"Pamela!" expostulated the Countess, but her voice had a quiver of mirth in it.

The Earl straightened his thin back and buttoned his coat.

"My dear mother," he said stiffly, "since you permit Pamela to make sport of a very serious subject, there seems no use in my discussing the matter any longer. I wish you to understand, however, that I shall not recognize the young man as my brother-in-law, and my wife and I shall not be present at the wedding—if it ever takes place." The finish of his remark was levelled at Pamela.

"Oh, don't disturb yourself, Francis; it'll take place right enough," Pamela's voice was gayly defiant, and she smiled serenely as Lord Aveton, wished his mother good-day and marched out of the room.

Pamela flung herself into a chair with an exaggerated show of fatigue.

"The head of the family is a distinct bore, mother mine. What are his Lordship's objections to my fiancé?"

The Dowager Lady Aveton fidgetted with her eyeglasses.

"Francis says Mr. Mackay is an 'outsider,'" she answered, "and of course, dear, you must be prepared for a few remarks of the kind; it takes more than one generation for people to forget that a man's fortune was made from the sale of—er—ah—" The Countess paused.

"Pigs—out with it, mother," broke in Pamela. "There is more of a man in Jim Mackay's little finger than there is in the whole of Francis' aristocratic body," she added contemptuously.

"I like Mr. Mackay very much," her mother said with warm sympathy; "but, darling, you would have made a lovely Duchess." Lady Aveton's voice expressed regret, and Lady Pamela stooped her proud head to kiss the soft cheek.

"I don't wish to be a duchess, and I wish to marry Jim," she blushed slightly as she spoke, and, humming softly to herself, she left the room.

Alone in her own room, she stood before the glass and looked sternly at her reflection.

"I believe I am a bit of a snob at heart," she murmured, "and I hate myself for it; but—" she paused and clenched her hands—"these pigs do rankle a little; and yet I love Jim—I'm sure I love him."

"I saw your brother today, Pamela," James Mackay announced when he called the next day.

"Did you?—and was his Lordship gracious?" Pamela bent over a bowl of roses so that her face was partly hidden from her lover.

"No, he was not—Mackay's voice was stolid. 'He said I was not good enough for you, and that he did not intend to acknowledge me as a member of the family.'

Lady Pamela glanced up at him. "And what did you say?"

Mackay rose from his chair and walked across the room and back before he answered; and the girl watching him was struck again, as she had many times been struck before, with the peculiar grace of his lithe well-knit figure.

"I said—" he paused in his walk close beside her chair and looked down at the lovely face—"that I would not marry you until I had made him acknowledge that I was worthy of you."

"Jim!" She rose and faced him; the war moods rushed to her face and then receded, leaving her creamy skin perfectly colorless.

"Do you mean that you care more for Francis' feelings than for mine?" She spoke quietly, but he could hear the repression in her voice. He took her hands in his.

"Dear one, you should know better than ask me a question like that"—his soft Scotch voice was very gentle—"but surely you do not wish to marry a man who is tabooed by the head of your family?"

"I don't care a rush for the sayings of the head of my family," she spoke lightly.

Mackay smiled. "I don't believe you do; but I must confess I am not so indifferent; and, after all, Pamela, there was some truth in what the Earl said."

"What did he say?" she demanded.

"He said I had not proved myself in any way; that I had simply walked into the large fortune made by my father, and that I had done nothing to show the world that I was fit to rank in your position."

"And you stood that kind of talk?" Her clear eyes stared at him in amazement.

"Dearest, a sensible man does not quarrel with truth," he answered; "besides, Pamela, would you not rather marry a man who had done some decent work in his life? You have the blood of generations of soldiers in your veins, and should appreciate courage and work."

The girl paused. His words found an echo in her easily stirred nature.

"What could you do?" she asked.

"I have volunteered for the front, and am going out as one of Lord Lovat's Scouts." He held her fast as he told her, and Pamela clung to him with a low moan.

"Oh, Jim, I can't bear it." He bent over her until his lips touched her hair.

"Darling, will you wait for me until I win you?" he whispered.

And her answer came clear and ringing: "I will wait for you, if need me, until death."

There was no doubt in her mind now as to her love for him; nothing on earth mattered if only she did not lose him.

III.

One morning, eighteen months later, Lady Pamela locked herself into her room, and wept tears of sorrow and of joy. The paper crushed in her hand told her the glorious story of her lover's heroism, and, at the same time, had spoken of the precarious condition of the young hero's life.

The dispatch told how Mackay had been sent out in charge of a small party of scouts, and they were surprised by a company of Boers more than double their own number; also how Mackay's quick perception of the situation had saved the lives of all his party. With a shout to his comrades, he led the way with a rush to an adjoining kopje; the Boers, surprised at the brilliancy of the dash, hesitated—and were lost.

The Scottish soldiers gazed the kopje, and fired a steady stream of fire into the midst of the enemy, until the Boers wavered, and at last galloped off on their ponies, many of which were ridden.

The Chief further commended James Mackay's conduct in having shielded the bodies of two wounded comrades, although badly hit himself in the thigh; he had dragged himself in front of the unconscious men, and with the endurance of a stoic he had continued to fire one enemy until the fight was over.

"It will mean the Victoria Cross—if he lives," Pamela murmured, and then buried her face in the pillow in a paroxysm of terror.

He did live, and in a few weeks was sent home a mere wreck of his handsome, stalwart self.

"I shall meet him at Southampton, and take him to Aveton Manor," so the Earl of Aveton, pompous even at his best moments, announced his intentions to his mother and sister. "The man is a hero," he went on, grandly, "and I shall be the first to tell him so; I owe Mackay some reparation."

"Yes you do, Francis," Lady Pamela agreed, "but for you Jim would never have been wounded."

"My dear child, but for me Jim would never have been a hero," her brother reminded her; and the girl's heart ached at hrob at the name her lover had won.

Jim was stretched on a couch in his dressing-room when Lady Pamela was allowed to go to him, and except for his eyes and his smile she would hardly have known him.

"Darling," he whispered, "I have won you now. Look up, dear one, I have longed—so to see you."

"Jim"—her eyes would not meet his—"I must tell you, and get it off my mind; before you left, I did mind about the pigs, just a little; but now—" She rested her face on his covert.

Mackay's eyes were smiling as he raised her head until he made her face his.

"But now?" he questioned. "You shall finish your confession."

Her beautiful face was crimson, and her eyes danced mischievously.

"Now," she said, slowly, "I love"—Jim raised himself eagerly—"the pigs!" she finished; and Jim fell back on his pillow with a shout of laughter.

Draft of County Bill Is Submitted to Committee

the county of certain public works and institutions. The present road law is continued in force, except that all power now exercised by the Superintendent of Public Works is transferred to the Board of Supervisors. The counties also take complete control of county jails, fire apparatus, water works, street lighting systems and markets.

There is constituted by the bill a "Territorial Board of Public Institutions" consisting of territorial officers. To this board is transferred all power relative to harbors and wharves, houses of correction and reformatory institutions, territorial penitentiary, charitable institutions, executive building and judiciary building. The present Oahu jail is declared to be the territorial penitentiary, and all persons under sentence of one year or more must be confined there. A part of said building is to be used as the jail of Oahu county.

The present school system remains intact. The Board of Health is likewise continued, with duties and powers as at present.

ELECTIONS.

The present election law is by the bill applied to county elections, and all necessary provisions made for such elections.

The bill provides that it shall go into effect in January, 1904, except as to certain matters relative to the powers of the Territorial Board of Public Institutions, which take effect immediately.

Provision is made for an election in November, 1903, for officers to continue in office for one year, to be succeeded by the officers elected for two years at the general election of 1904. Detailed provision is made for the proper organization of the counties, and for the transfer to them of necessary records and of all public property now used in connection with works and institutions which by the act pass under their control. In order that the counties on their organization may not be without any funds, the bill provides for the payment by the territory into the treasuries of the several counties of specified sums.

Whatever may be the desire of your committee, or of the Legislature, that the bill should go into effect at an earlier date than provided, it is our judgment that the date should remain as fixed. Should the system be inaugurated at any other time than the commencement of the calendar year, it will readily be seen that very great confusion might result.

In submitting this bill for your consideration, we feel that perhaps there are some provisions which will not meet with your approval, and that before urging its passage by the Legislature, changes will be made by you. If the system as a whole meets with your approval, we respectfully request that any changes made by you before submitting the bill to the Legislature be made carefully and consistently—that is, in such a way that no confusion shall arise from making an alteration in one part of the bill and failing to make it in another. For instance, a change of date in this bill, on Revenue, would lead to utter confusion unless other dates therein contained were changed accordingly. And should the general plan meet with the approval of the Legislature, but amendments be offered and made, we likewise request that your committee do all in its power to see that such amendments be properly made.

The bill does not cover salaries to be paid to officers, as we deemed it best to keep that subject separate and apart from the general system. We recommend that you cover that by separate bill.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM C. SMITH,
E. D. TENNEY,
A. L. C. ATKINSON,
A. G. M. ROBERTSON,
GEORGE W. SMITH.

On motion of Geo. R. Carter, the report was accepted with thanks to the commission and Mr. Breckons.

Mr. Breckons was kept very busy for an hour or more answering questions on various provisions in the bill.

The Republican Central Committee will have a thousand copies of the draft printed in pamphlet form.

JEWELRY FIRM FAILS

San Francisco Jan. 16.—Following immediately on the largest holiday business ever done in the history of San Francisco the failure is announced of Schumacher & Co., jewelers, whose store is beside the Market street entrance to the Palace Hotel. The liabilities are somewhere between $60,000 and $70,000.

Two days ago W. A. L. Miller petitioned the Superior Court for a dissolution of partnership, an accounting and the appointment of a receiver. H. G. F. Schumacher is the other member of the firm and is well known in Masonic circles, for as one of the reception committee he cut a dash last year on the occasion of the Myrtle Shrine convalesce in this city. Judge Kerrigan, who heard the petition of Mr. Miller, appointed Louis O. Levison, president of the California Jewelry Company, receiver, for the reason that his corporation is the largest creditor of Schumacher & Co. Though the matter was kept quiet and there was little on the surface of the proceedings to excite suspicion, rumors were soon in circulation that the firm had reached its embarrassed condition through Schumacher's methods. These stories have served to incense the creditors of the firm very much and so they have spread.

NEW YORK'S NEW STOCK EXCHANGE BUILDING.

The finishing touches are now being given to the new home of the New York Stock Exchange, and in a short time it is expected that the structure will be occupied. This view shows the principal facade, which fronts on Broad street. There is a smaller entrance on Wall street.

A K. OF P. LUAW

Puunene, Jan. 17.—Haleakala Lodge, K. of P. (native) gave a luncheon Saturday night, at their hall in Wailuku. Fully three hundred of the best citizens of Maui, representing every profession and craft on the island, responded to the invitation and showed quite an interest in the event.

The occasion was the first anniversary of the establishment of the Hawaiian lodge. The hall was tastefully decorated. Forms and moses in beautiful festoons swung from radiant chandeliers dotted with roses and Japanese lanterns. In the background and stretched across the wall, were two immense flags—the American Stars and Stripes and the Hawaiian standard—(yet protection) and the other symbolizing a lost kingdom and submission (yet a bright hope for future rewards).

Extending the full length of the hall were two large tables neatly arranged and laden with the choicest viands of Maui.

At half past six o'clock the word was passed along by the efficient waiters that all was ready and with one accord the guests seated themselves at the table and enjoyed with great relish the feast of rood things.

During the evening, quite a number of Hawaiian melodies, accompanied by stringed instruments, were sung by a select quartet, adding much to the enjoyment of the sumptuous repast.

At 8:30 o'clock, after all had been served, the guests engaged in a social chat until the wee small hours, when Morpheus began to warn them that home was a good place to be. One by one they filed out, until all were gone, carrying with them a fond remembrance of an evening spent as guests of the Hawaiian Knights.

A PUUNENE WEDDING

Puunene, Maui, Jan. 16.—Spreckelsville has been quite lively today—made so by the guests who have been in attendance at the Medeiros—Alameda wedding. At nine a. m. a gay party wended its way to Kuan church, where the Rev. Father James performed the impressive ceremony which made Mr. Frank Medeiros and Miss Alexandrian Alameda one.

After the ceremony at the church a large number of the relatives and friends escorted the happy pair to the home of Manuel Martine, where they were received amid a shower of fragrant flowers. An elegant repast was spread in honor of the occasion and all present did full justice to the many delicacies prepared.

Many beautiful and useful presents were received.

The bride was tastefully arrayed in white satin over which hung in graceful folds an elegant tulle veil held in place with orange blossoms.

After spending a few days with Mr. Martine, god-father of the bride, the happy pair will take up their residence in Kahului, where the grooms holds an important position. Their many friends join in wishing them a long and happy life.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The Farmers' Institute will meet Saturday, January 24, at Kamehameha school. Non-resident members will be the guests of the school at dinner on the evening of the meeting. The following program has been arranged:

Annual address of the president, Jared G. Smith; "Dairying," Dr. E. C. Shorey; "Nature Study in the Public Schools in Its Relation to Agriculture," V. Thompson; "Pineapples," James D. Dole.

MAUI NEWS NOTES

Wailuku, Jan. 17.—Mrs. V. A. Velez has been quite ill with appendicitis during the past week.

Business has necessarily been at a standstill in Wailuku this week, on account of the excessive wet weather.

W. P. Pogue of Nahiku came over to meet with the republican executive committee at Kihului on Monday.

The weather in Wailuku has been phenomenally cold for the past three weeks, owing largely to the north kona winds.

The Alice Kimball is now out 25 days from Gray's Harbor, bound for Kahului. She is probably having a rough voyage.

Pro Vicar Libert came over from Honolulu to Lahaina on Tuesday, reaching Wailuku on Thursday, where he will remain for a week before returning to Honolulu.

Judge P. N. Kahokoluna has not removed from Lahaina to Paia, as was announced, but will remain in Lahaina several months yet before making the change.

Senator C. H. Diekey arrived on Maui by Tuesday's Kinau, to spend a week or so in question of information among his constituents, before the legislative meets.

Mr. B. D. Baldwin of Puunene has gone to Makaweli as temporary manager, during the absence of Mr. W. H. Baldwin, who is taking a vacation for his health.

Maui members of the Farmer's Institute of Hawaii are invited to attend its tri-monthly meeting and dinner at Kamehameha School, Honolulu, on Saturday evening, January 24.

The shaft at Pump 3, Kihel, has been uncovered, and the fire is all extinguished. Examinations are being made to discover the extent of injury to the shaft, but the work proceeds slowly for lack of machinery.—Maui News.

Kodak finishing—If you have a kodak, no doubt you have some pet films you would like to have enlarged. If so, let King Bros. show you what can be done in this line. They have a special camera for the purpose and the work done with it is equal to a contact print, perfect in every detail.

MAUI GULSTAN COUNCIL

The following are the newly elected officers of the Gulstan Council No. 576, Young Men's Institute, to serve for the ensuing six months:

L. R. Crook, president; J. Vasconcellos, first vice president, (re-elected); F. Medeiros, second vice president; J. Garcia, recording and corresponding secretary, (re-elected); G. B. Schrader, financial secretary; A. J. Rodriguez, treasurer; A. Enos, Jr., marshal, (re-elected); M. S. Olival, inside sentinel; J. Freitas, outside sentinel; A. J. Gomes, Dr. J. Weddick and H. Meyer, Executive Committee; Reverend Father Julian, Chaplain. The above officers were installed last Friday evening.

On last Saturday evening, Aloha Lodge No. 3, K. of P., installed the following officers for the ensuing year: Jas. L. Coke, C. C.; R. A. Wadsworth, V. C.; J. J. Walsh, M. of W.; C. Carman, K. of R. & S.; E. Diemer, M. of F.; F. Summerfield, M. of E.; Chas. Braun, M. of A.; W. A. McKay, P.; P. E. Lamar, I. G.; Hugh M. Coke, O. G.—Maui News.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth had another hair-breadth escape last Saturday night and was saved by the pluck of his trusty companion, Officer Dan Renner. The two officers had just caught a Porto Rican, Gonzales by name, selling spurious liquor without a license in a shack in Kakaako.

Spanish Interpreter Macaulay had been sent to summon the patrol wagon when the officers suddenly found themselves surrounded by a gang of armed Porto Rican ruffians. As the room in which they were had three doors, it was hard to guard it, and the situation became a very ticklish one.

One man sneaked up behind the Deputy Sheriff and was just raising a knife to plunge it into the unsuspecting officer when Renner espied him. He immediately drew his gun and marched the man out of the door. He knew the Porto Rican, Bolles by name, and did not attempt to arrest him, as this might have started a melee which would have been dangerous on account of the large number of cut-throats who surrounded the house.

When the patrol wagon arrived Gonzales was sent in to the police station. Bolles was arrested early the next morning.

A MAUI RUNAWAY

Walluku, Jan. 17.—A frisky mare driven by Mrs. W. H. Cornwell, Jr., near the Walluku depot last Tuesday morning, ran away at the sight of the train. Mrs. Cornwell was thrown out into the mud but was not hurt. Miss Macaroy, who was also in the buggy, remained in it for a little while longer and this nearly cost her life. As it was the buggy was upset and the lone occupant was dragged underneath it for quite a distance when finally the harness gave way and the mare made for the Bismarck Stables in quick order. When Miss Macaroy was taken from her most dangerous position, she was indeed a sight to behold. She was covered with mud from head to foot, but strange to say, she was not hurt in the least. The mare also escaped unharmed. There are more runaways to the credit of this animal than any other horse in this town, but still she is considered a very valuable animal. The buggy likewise came out with very little damage to speak of.

SOLDIERS ARRESTED.

In the Police Court this morning three Camp McKinley soldiers—Eugene A. Boles and Privates H. Carlton and T. Walton—appeared charged with house-breaking. It is alleged that they broke into Chief Justice Frear's Tantalus house yesterday.

The Chief Justice's Tantalus house has during the past year been broken into no less than eight times and, despite the fact that special officers have been guarding the premises, all attempts to arrest the intruders have heretofore been unsuccessful. Yesterday the Chief Justice was approaching the house when he noticed three men in soldier's uniforms leaving the house through a window. He immediately telephoned to the police station, whence a detail of officers in civilian clothing were sent to the scene. At about 6 p. m. the officers located the three soldiers in Maunaloa valley. The men were recognized by the Chief Justice. They had in their haversacks a number of ladies' articles of dress belonging to Mrs. Frear and other ladies who have been visiting her. The soldiers claimed that they had found these things under a tree.

The cases were continued until tomorrow morning. Ball was fixed at $250 each.

OUR CHINA LETTER.

"It would surprise you," writes our correspondent, "to see the wonderful progress that has been made in sanitary lines since the recent war. The mandarins and toadies of the various sections have completely revolutionized the former sewerage and plumbing system of the larger cities. Sewers are being laid and all within convenient proximity to them are ordered to connect. A peculiar feature is, that the DOUGLAS PATENT CLOSET is installed in nearly every residence. The makers of this famous closet, the DOUGLAS, claim and guarantee that it will not leak, and that there is no annoyance of running water."

(NOTE:—For the benefit of our readers, we will say that E. R. BATH, THE PLUMBER, of 165 King St., can supply full details.)
