WANT RAISE IN WAGES AND WANT IT RIGHT AWAY

The Japanese Listen to Speeches Concerning Their Oppression and Pass a Wordy Resolution.

Whereas, In the development of the Hawaiian sugar industry, the Japanese have contributed 70 per cent. of its labor force;

Whereas, Sixty-nine cents a day for the plantation hands is an inadequate reward for the laborers' toil under the tropical sun in the cane bushes;

Whereas, The present wages schedule is framed upon a misconceived principle, fitted for a coolie laborer or a laborer in a condition of semislavery, but utterly unfitted and unsuited for dignified and self-respecting labor;

Whereas, The prices for laborers' daily necessities have advanced at least 25 per cent. since the present wages schedule was adopted;

Whereas, The number of married men and children has rapidly increased;

Whereas, Decent, respectable houses should be provided for the married men;

Whereas, That, although the churches, chapels, temples and schools have increased, their number should be still more increased and the physical and spiritual qualities have necessitated an increased burden on the laborers; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Japanese mass meeting, held in the Asahi Theater this 27th day of December, 1908,

That the principle of wages governing the wages of the plantation hands be entirely changed from one governing the coolies' wages to that governing that of dignified and self-respecting labor, so as to enable the laborer to rise from the level of coolie to the dignity of a laborer conscious of high responsibilities as a member of a free community;

That the present wages should be immediately increased to a sum above at least $22.50 per month of twenty-six working days, and the wages of the women be correspondingly increased;

That the Wages Conference proposed by the Higher Wages Association should be immediately held between the said Higher Wages Association and the planters;

That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association through the Higher Wages Association;

That the chairman of the mass meeting is hereby instructed to sign this resolution and to forward a copy of this resolution to the Higher Wages Association for the purpose of having it transmitted to the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association by the said Higher Wages Association.

Done at the Asahi Theater, Honolulu, T. H., the night of December 27, 1908.

Hundreds of Japanese rose to their feet with a shout last night when the above resolution was adopted with acclamation at a mass meeting held in the Asahi theater, Maunakea street, concluding a demonstrative meeting in favor of higher wages for plantation laborers on all the islands. The meeting was enthusiastic and was presided over by Fred Makino, as chairman.

The opening speech contained the word "strike" a score of times, and often its use was greeted with shouts and applause. Incidentally, the Japanese newspapers who are not backing up the principal agitators in the demand for higher wages, were roasted by the speakers, the editor of a rival paper taking the opportunity to fling sarcasm at his brother editor. The theater was packed from orchestra to doors, the gallery, even, being filled. Chairman Makino opened the meeting giving the reason for the call. At the beginning of his speech he called attention to three letters he had received from plantations on Maui, in which the writers stated that if the demand for higher wages was not met, they would strike. Mr. Makino repeated this suggestion several times and then told the people that President Roosevelt had once said that a strike is a legitimate weapon of labor. He said, however, that a strike was not wanted. Strikes should not be thought of, even as a last resort. However, the strike feature was prominent throughout the meeting and was greeted with applause.

Mr. Makino went on to say, however, that in former days, when the Japanese could have passports to go wherever they pleased, strikes would be very well for the purpose, but today the condition of the Japanese was different. The strike business, he said, doesn't pay. Should they strike now and be out of work, they could not board a steamer and go to another country as they chose. Therefore, a strike would not serve the purpose. The better way would be to attain the end sought for in a peaceful manner, and the word strike should not be mentioned.

Then Mr. Makino turned his guns on the Hawaii Shinto, the Jiyu and the Daily Chronicle, all Japanese papers, which, he alleged, were opposing the effort to obtain higher wages. He roasted Editor Sheba and said he was unfriendly to the Japanese in this attitude. The speaker said that he owned a store, but everybody persecuted him for his efforts on behalf of the Japanese laborers, but still he advocated higher wages and would continue to do so.

Mr. Yamagi, proprietor of the Ono saloon, followed with a continuation of the roast on the Shinto. He said that this paper accused the men behind the higher wages movement as "vagrants" (the term used by the interpreter). He thought the editor of the Shinto was half asleep when he wrote that and wore colored glasses at the same time. He said that every one connected with the movement was a gentleman of high ideals. He felt sorry that the editor of the Shinto was not on the platform to make a speech.

Mr. Tasaki, editor of the Nippu Jiji, introduced as the editor of the only Japanese newspaper consistently advocating the higher wages movement, said he was sorry all the papers were not backing the movement. The laborers, he said, were not satisfied with the present wage schedule, to wit: at the rate of $18 a month for twenty-six working days, or 69 cents a day. To say a laborer received $18 a month was misleading, because no laborer was able to work twenty-six days in a month. They are now becoming resident laborers of the Territory and no longer migratory as before, and this new condition demands

President's Joke at the Legislators Not Relished.
Police Applicants File Past for a Mental Size-up.

By Ernest G. Walker.
(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Just as Mr. Roosevelt's presidential sun is setting, the first real live prospect of a war between the White House and Congress appears. All during the seven years of his two administrations there have been rumors of active hostilities between the legislative and executive branches. The President has been at outs with the Senate and House leaders. He has fought them without gloves, conducted crusades for legislation that he wanted and that they did not want. But there has never been open breach. Compromise has followed scrapping and the President has always gotten at least half a loaf.

But now the die has been cast and if the President chooses to press his fight the 60th Congress and the second administration of Theodore Roosevelt may close, ranged on different sides of a chasm. The cloakroom mutterings and the fierce statements of Senators and Representatives which they would not stand for in public print may bloom at last into formal and official declarations.

The quarrel is at present probably only in the incubating stage, but the House of Representatives, in most impressive manner, has adopted a resolution that reflects upon the President. It comes from legislation regarding what has been called "the black cabinet."

Gave Congress a Surprise.
When the annual message went to Congress on Tuesday, December 8, it contained a page and more devoted to the topic of "Secret Service." It was very much of a surprise that the President should discuss the Secret Service at such length or at all in an annual message. He pointed out that Congress

FREAR WRITES OF WORK UNDER WAY

Acting Governor Mott-Smith received a letter from Governor Frear by the Alameda touching on a number of matters of interest to this Territory. The Governor has secured a recognition of Hawaii's right to share in the appropriations for hydrographic and geographic surveys. In a conference between the Governor, Secretary Garfield and the heads of the hydrographic and geographic surveys it was decided that the chief of the hydrographic bureau should come to Hawaii as soon as possible and look into conditions. This is distant but not uncertain promise of the undertaking of some reclamation projects here by the United States government.

The matter of leaving Hawaii out of the penny postage arrangement with Great Britain was to have been taken up by Governor Frear with the Postmaster-General the day after the letter was written. The Third Assistant Postmaster-General ruled against the Territory in the matter of sending the election ballots through the mails under a frank. This would have saved the Territory about $300.

The Governor addressed the public lands committee of the Senate on December 11, and appeared on the same subject before the House committee on December 14.

Governor Frear expresses himself as very much pleased with the action of the Chamber of Commerce on the coastwise navigation law, though the situation is somewhat bewildering. Before news of the action of the Chamber of Commerce was received, Senator Piles, who introduced and is fathering the bill to suspend the coastwise laws between here and the Coast as far as relates to passengers, had referred the bill back to the committee, and it is now in danger of defeat.

The Governor thinks that by calling for competitive bids for the Federal building seven or eight months will be saved.

The Governor has had very little time to attend the meetings either of the Conservation Commission or of the Rivers and Harbors Conference. Director Newell of the Reclamation Service appeared in the Rivers and Harbors Congress as a representative from

RUMORED REVIVAL OF DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY

According to rumor, the County Beacon is to be relit after New Year's and made to beam in the community in the Democratic cause. The editor, according to the same rumor, is to be Charles L. Rhodes, who will be at the same time the secretary of Mayor Fern, combining in this way business with pleasure.

Ever since the Beacon's glimmering died out a year ago, the local Democracy has been without an English journal all of its own. This, when there will be public printing to do in the way of advertisements and news scoops to be landed from friends in high office, is an unthinkable position to be in, and the proper steps are to be taken to get out of it.

As a starter the doctrines of pure Democracy are to be handed out in the tabloid form of a weekly; later on there may be further developments.

CANNOT GARNISHEE WAGES OF SEAMEN

WASHINGTON, December 12.—The question whether the wages of a seaman can be garnished was decided today in the negative in the Supreme court of the United States, in connection with the case of James L. Holt, tax assessor and collector for the First Taxation Division of Hawaii, vs. the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company. Holt sought to attach the wages of a seaman named Tullett, who was in the employ of the navigation company.

Hawaii, and read a paper on the subject which attracted much attention. According to a cable, the Governor spent Christmas at Manchester, Vermont.

Mrs. Augustus Knudsen was the delegate from Hawaii to the Woman's Rivers and Harbors Congress, and she made an address on Hawaii.

The Governor writes: "We have not yet decided whether to introduce an immigration bill this session."

DREDGING CONTRACT WAS SIGNED LAST THURSDAY

On Thursday a cablegram was received from Walter Dillingham by the Dillingham Company, advising the latter that the contract for the dredging of Pearl Harbor and channel, for which the Hawaiian Dredging Company put in the lowest bid, which was accepted, had been signed by representatives of the government and Mr. Dillingham.

This act clinches the bargain, and the dredging company will now begin to make active preparations for the commencement of the great work, which will cost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

George Denison of the Oahu Railway Company, who was in Washington with Mr. Dillingham when the dredging company was awarded the contract, was in Cincinnati last week, and is probably on the way home.

"NO EMIGRATION" POLICY ADOPTED BY JAPANESE

WASHINGTON, December 14.—All Japanese immigration to the United States is to be stopped by the Japanese government. When the Japanese Diet meets, a few weeks hence, Baron Komura, Minister of Foreign Affairs, will make official announcement that the government has decided to prohibit all emigration to the United States after a given date. Thus will disappear the last remaining difference or possible cause of trouble between the United States and Japan.

Though the announcement in Tokyo may be made upon the assumption that the Japanese government has voluntarily agreed upon this course, as a matter of fact the decision was reached through a long series of negotiations between Secretary Root and Baron Takahira, the Japanese ambassador to the United States. The order of the Japanese government will prohibit all emigration, but will, of course, leave travel free, so that merchants, students and tourists from Japan may visit America at will under the passport agreement with the United States government.

In settling the immigration matter, it is understood there is no treaty, nor even an exchange of formal notes, but that none the less the so-called "yellow peril" is a ghost laid to rest.

BRINCKERHOFF'S FIRST REPORT

Discusses Problems of Leprosy Research and Prospect of a Cure.

"In spite of the more or less vigorous enforcement of segregation, leprosy has increased among the Hawaiians and is becoming more and more a disease of the inhabitants of the Territory of other races. The fact that there are more known lepers per capita among the Hawaiians now than formerly might be due to more strict segregation, but I am not inclined to believe this to be the real explanation. The increasing numbers of non-Hawaiian lepers, shown among the Portuguese and Japanese particularly, is probably due to importation as much as to infection acquired in this Territory. Both the races named must be classed as people among whom leprosy is common at home. The important conclusion to be drawn from this fact is that leprosy in Hawaii will not continue to be a problem related to the native race alone, but will persist and always be a menace unless some effective means be devised to check its spread."

"From a public health standpoint the most urgent problem is how to get lepers segregated early in the course of the disease. Two general lines of policy may be pursued to this end: First, to improve the conditions of care for lepers so as to increase the number who will surrender voluntarily; and, second, to use every means possible to collect cases of the disease."

With this striking summary, Dr. Walter R. Brinckerhoff, director of the Federal leper hospital and research laboratory on Molokai Island, Hawaii, concludes the first of three reports which will soon be issued by the Marine Hospital Service.

Dr. Brinckerhoff gives a complete review of the history of the disease in Hawaii since it became a public health problem in 1863 and the inauguration of the policy of segregation in 1865. Among the statistics presented are those for the period 1904-5, showing the percentage of increase among the races here other than Hawaiian, the percentages among the 460 cases segregated in that period being: Hawaiians and part-Hawaiians, 83.5; Chinese, 6.8; Japanese, 2.2; Portuguese, 3.2, and all others, 4.3.

The Research Work.

Concerning the research work being carried on, the report says:

"Until the new hospital and laboratory are finished and can take in the selected cases which will form the chief part of the material for experiment in the search for a cure for leprosy, systematic work in this direction is obviously carried on under difficulties. Even with the whole 'plant' in operation, it would be unreasonable to expect definite results at first, for leprosy has for the most part completely baffled research. The germ of the disease is apparently identified in the Bacillus Leprae, discovered by Hansen of Norway in 1874. The germ closely resembles in size, shape and manner of taking stains, the bacillus of tuberculosis. A further general similarity is found in the resemblance between the nodules in nodular leprosy and the tubercles of tuberculosis. In both cases the germs cause an accumulation of pathogenic growth in the tissues, and these growths finally break down and liberate the innumerable germs they contain."

"But beyond the identity of the leprosy bacillus very little is known. The method by which the disease is transmitted is yet to be found. Infection by inoculation has never been proved, the one possible Hawaiian instance of this kind being explainable as an infection by the ordinary means. It is not known where the germ originates, and the supreme difficulty of the whole task appears in the fact that so far no medium has been found on which the germ can be artificially grown. A satisfactory culture medium is the first step to be taken, but although work in this direction is already under way, no definite announcement of the experiments and the results can yet be made."

One of the investigations that Dr. Brinckerhoff reports on was a trial of the "percutaneous" tuberculin test to determine whether this test was useful in distinguishing cases of leprosy from cases of tuberculosis. Tuberculin, as is well known, is the most important chemical substance formed by the tubercle bacillus.

The tests were, however, inconclusive, yet Dr. Brinckerhoff sees in the results indication of the close relation which exists between the chemical products of the leprosy and tuberculosis bacilli, and suggests that tuberculin may well be given a new trial in curative treatment of leprosy.

Doubts the Mosquito Theory.

Dr. Brinckerhoff discusses the theory of the transmission of the disease through the agency of mosquitoes in a doubtful way, advancing some arguments why such a theory is untenable. The two ways in which the mosquitoes might act as a carrier of leprosy infection would be comparable with the conditions in the transmission of malaria by the mosquito, and of plague by the flea. The malaria parallel would require that the mosquito draw the lepra bacilli into its stomach, and that the bacilli should then migrate through the stomach wall and pass into the salivary gland, from which, when the insect bites, the germs could be implanted in the human host. This is improbable, however, as the lepra bacillus possesses no power of motion, like the malaria organism. The fact that the latter is also an animal parasite with a peculiar cycle of development including a migratory stage, still further destroys the parallel.

On the second hypothesis, it need only be supposed that the mosquito permits the bacilli taken up from an infected person at the time of drawing blood from a bite, to pass through its intestinal tract without loss of virulence and deposits the bacilli at the time of biting upon the skin of a healthy person.

Against any assumption that the lepra infection is thus actually conveyed, Dr. Brinckerhoff sets the fact that nearly all the available evidence is against the possibility of transferring leprosy by inoculation, which would be the process involved if these were infection-carrying after the manner in which the flea conveys plague infection.

CONGRESS IS READY TO FIGHT

at its last session restricted the operations of the Secret Service to the Treasury Department, having by provision in one of the appropriation laws, forbidden the transfer of Secret Service men to duty in other departments.

This struck hard at a practise the President had countenanced of allowing Secret Service men to be transferred for duty with the Department of Justice and the Department of the Interior, largely for investigating land frauds. Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, the chairman of the House Appropriation Committee, is credited with having brought about the legislation to forbid such transfers. Congress had quite a splutter about it at the time. It was claimed that Secret Service men had been detailed to follow a navy officer and assist his wife to get a divorce, but the abuses most complained of was the use of Secret Service men to do work that the special agents of the Department of Justice and of the Interior Department could do, and, as claimed, could do better.

The President declared in his annual message, however, that this legislation was solely in the interest of the criminal classes and that the chief argument for it was to keep Secret Service men off the trail of offending Congressmen. It happens that a number of Republican Congressmen have at times been implicated in Western land frauds. The President recommended in his message, with fine sarcasm, that the restrictions on the Secret Service transfers should be limited so that Congressmen could not be investigated by those sleuths.

Caused Great Indignation.

Great indignation at the Capitol ensued, of course, as soon as the message was read. Senators and Representatives forgot for the time being all else in that document. They interpreted it as a serious reflection upon a great co-ordinate branch of the government, as, of course, there was no distinction between the good Congressmen and the bad Congressmen, when the President commented so severely upon legislation that Senate and House had solemnly enacted.

The fires smouldered for two days. The big leaders on both sides of the Capitol had to take notice of the situation. Democrats in the Senate and Democrats in the House threatened to bring forward resolutions for an investigation of the facts about the legislation, if the Republicans did not. Speaker Cannon and Senator Hale, the new leader of the north end of the Capitol, conferred again and again. A program was ultimately agreed upon and on Friday, after many, many parleys, a resolution was presented by Representative James Breck Perkins, of Rochester, New York, a staunch Republican, a man of unquestioned probity, and one of the most scholarly of members of the House.

It cited the language the President had used in his message and called for the appointment of a committee of five to make an early report. In most impressive and carefully chosen words Mr. Perkins briefly recited what had been done and the necessity for some action. He spoke but three minutes and thereupon, without a dissenting vote, the House authorized the appointment of the special committee. Speaker Cannon named Mr. Perkins, Mr. Denby, of Michigan, and Mr. Weeks, of Massachusetts, Republicans, and Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, and Mr. Lloyd, of Missouri, Democrats. They have been studying the situation and formulating a report. The Senate is ready to act and is expected to go quite as far as the House is willing to go in showing its displeasure at the President's course. There has been talk that the Senate would expunge that portion of the message from the permanent Congressional Record. For the message is read in both houses at the same time, but is not printed in the records of the House proceedings. It is, however, included in the Senate proceedings.

President Has Been Busy.

With all this ferment on the Hill, the President has been "getting busy." At first he told visiting Congressmen that he looked upon the Secret Service paragraph of his message as a huge joke at the expense of Congress for having undertaken to interfere with his administration of the Secret Service. But Senators replied that it was a very serious kind of a joke and they did not propose to ignore it.

And so things went on and the President called Chief Wilkie of the Secret Service to his office. What transpired has not been given to the public, but it is understood that Mr. Wilkie was directed to prepare a statement and that the President will have something to say in justification of his action. Speaker Cannon and some Senators have also been called to the White House in regard to the Secret Service situation.

Word has gone out that the President intends to fight back and that he will make it uncomfortable indeed for a number of Congressmen, if anything like a censure of him is undertaken. Many think this is something of a bluff on the President's part to scare the Senate and the House and to deter them from any vigorous action. As a matter of fact the purpose of the Senate and the House apparently is to act as mildly and in as dignified way as possible, but at the same time to leave no doubt of their official disapproval.

DISCOURAGING OUTLOOK FOR PROFESSIONALS HERE

The Chances Are That "Mique" Fisher's Stars Will Not Stop Because of Lack of Local Team.

"Mique" Fisher and his swatfish aggregation, who are due here from the Land of Nippon very shortly, haven't a very pleasant outlook to face if they stop off at this 'burg. Baseball-crazy Honolulu has not as yet arranged for a local team to meet the professionals, and from the present standing of things it doesn't exactly appear that the Honolulu players intend to exert themselves in this direction, however much the citizens would like to see the All-Americans in action.

"Pat" Donahue was promised as a catch for the All-Hawaii team, and it was generally presumed that he would also do the backstop work. But the business of getting "Pat" here seems to have been wholly worked out in the fertile imagination of the plumber baseball magnate. That Donahue is coming here at this late stage of the game is not only the remotest kind of a possibility, but it would also be a very foolish piece of business. The Reach All-American team is due to drop off here along the latter part of next month, and Donahue, even if he started here immediately, could hardly be expected to whip a team into shape in the time he would have left.

It is understood that the league management have guaranteed Fisher $800, besides a share in the net receipts, for a week of stellar exhibitions. Now, the aforesaid King "Mique" may be a sportsman and all that, but just the same, you can bet your copper pennies that he won't take any chances on losing cartwheels on the proposition. Unless the Honolulu baseball artists wake up, get some ginger and life into their systems, organize, practise, and pick a team—within the next two weeks, at the very least—Manager Mique will make his first stop at the little old town of Frisco, cutting Honolulu entirely out of his schedule.

Money makes an awful noise with Fisher, and he knows as well as anyone that the fans are not going out to watch a game of ball where the odds are so lopsided—as they undoubtedly will be unless the locals come to life. The players are here, but the organizing pivot is lacking. Over in Japan the All-Stars didn't put up such a rip-roaring ball as might be expected, the little Keios holding them down to 5-0 scores. A team can be picked from among the big league players here that will do things with Fisher's bunch, with a little training. At any rate, some interesting games could be furnished, games that would at least furnish the excitement of being hard-fought, even if not close.

It is all up to Honolulu whether or not the tourist ballplayers stop off here. Jack Doyle, than whom there is not a more loyal fan or a keener follower of the game here, doesn't think the chances are good. A number of the best players are indifferent, or have expressed indifferent opinions. Bill Hampton, the heady little twirler, says he is through with the game. In view of existing circumstances, it certainly behooves someone to get busy with the organization of a good local team.

Wake up! Honolulu wants to see that bunch of cracks show off on the diamond, and, ergo, there must be a real team here.

OKUWA TEAM WINS IN NINTH

Twelve to nine was the score by which the Okuwa carried victory away from the Pacific team in the Seaside League game yesterday afternoon. It was a surprise of the first water for the Pacific lads in fact, the press agent of this league states that it was a very great surprise, and consequently it must be, for by all the rules of ordinary doping a baseball contest, the Pacific aggregation were due to come out a few to the good.

As a matter of fact, Ahana, the clever little twirler for the Oceanic nine, was little off color. Seven bingles most of them sizzlers, too, were pecked out by the Nipponese, and, just to help the good work along, Ahana transferred ten of his opponents to the initial station by the four-ball route. Togo, on the contrary, was in tip-top shape for the Japanese baseballists. He allowed but four hits off his delivery, and passed only two men.

Not until the ninth inning did it look as if the Pacific team could be anything but a winner, for they held a good lead from the start of the game. Then came the disaster! Ahana, who probably forgot that Christmas was a thing of the past, gave walking tickets right and left, which, coupled with some timely hits, scored seven runs for the Okuwa. David Pa was the star bingle artist, practically winning the game for his team with the long drive in the ninth which scored three runs. There was nothing doing for the Pacific in their half of the ninth and the game ended with the score, 12-9. Considering the fact that the season is young yet and the players barely warmed up, the game was an excellent one, and great excitement prevailed until the last man was out.

Second Game.
The second game was between the Starlines and the Kukui teams, the former piling up fourteen tallies while the candle-nut kids were dozing along with half that number. The contest was listless, with hardly any startling or spectacular features.

WOULD JEFFRIES DARE TO RETURN?

Whether or not big Jim Jeffries will take a crack out of the colored champion is now a "burning question," as the poet would say. Jeffries, it will be remembered, made the statement when he surrendered the belt that the only inducement that could pull, push, or yank him back into the square ring would be to bring the waist-line trophy into American hands again. Jeffries drew the color line, and he drew it hard and fast. He wouldn't fight anyone who savored of a "shine."

But if he is of the same mind as he was a few years ago, a challenge to Jack Johnson should come forthwith. And, methinks, the great Jeffries would be handed the same kind of a Christmas present as that which was passed out to Tommy Burns, the money-maker. "Doc" Roller looks to be the logical man to go after the negro fighter, but the Seattle wrestler-pugilist must first get some experience before he tackles a ring general such as Johnson undoubtedly is. Roller has weight, strength, nerve—in fact, he has all the physical attributes of a heavyweight champion—but he simply must have the noodle, the real "fighting noodle," before he meets the big fellow.

It is extremely doubtful if Jeffries will make any rash challenges. He has graduated into the "small farmer" class. If he does, however—look out, lady—for there will be didings when the old warhorse and ex-cham mixes with the kinky-haired "champeen of de world!"

PETER BARON WRITES AGAIN

The Veteran Athlete Still Feels the Cold—Roller Boxing Vigorously.

Another letter from Pete Baron. The poor old boy is suffering from the cold pretty badly from what he says. "Send me a little of dear old Honolulu sunshine that I may get warm once more. I have been frozen since I came here. By George, but this is an awfully breezy place, and everybody is in such a hurry that they seem to have no time to eat, sleep or anything else."

He does not say very much about the big doctor's prospective movements, but encloses several clippings. One of these is a lengthy story about Joe Carroll, the man who trained Gotsch and put him into the wrestling game. Carroll is quoted as saying that Gotsch is a quitter and that he will train Hackenschmidt so that the Russian Lion may be able to defeat Gotsch the next time they meet. Which is all very old patter, but probably quite true.

One clipping is a very interesting description of Roller in boxing action. The headlines state that "Roller, in action, recalls the once great sailor, Tom Sharkey." The article goes on to detail the doctor's movements when sparring with a big boxing partner and how he boxes in at close quarters. If Dr. Roller does turn out to be a great boxer, there ought to be a valiant show when he and Jack Johnson get together.

Another clipping, which is here reprinted, refers to the Portland man who was so anxious to wrestle Roller, but does not now see his way to come through.

PORTLAND, Saturday, December 12.—There is great indignation among the big Portland wrestling clientele over Dr. Roller's offer from Seattle to throw Eddie O'Connell thirty times in an hour in a private wrestling match for a $500 forfeit. Whatever O'Connell's merits or demerits, he certainly has Portland sports with him, as is clearly evidenced by the presence of over 1000 fans at the last two matches, neither of which could be said to possess any particular class.

At first Roller's offer was read with incredulity. He had said he would post $250 forfeit with Dr. Wiley G. Woodruff, of this city. The evening papers said last night the money had not come. "Roller Talks in a Stage Whisper," and everybody caught the covert allusion to stage money and laughed. But there was a different sound this morning when the morning paper announced the $250 check had really come. If Roller wanted to make O'Connell's big following sore through and through, he couldn't have tried a better tack.

One thing is understood here: O'Connell won't do anything before the Dwyer match, December 17, at which 1800 persons will probably be present. O'Connell's future as a wrestler here pretty nearly depends on what he does against Dwyer and no matter what Roller says or what handicap is offered, he will take no chances before then.

O'Connell declares, however, he will take the offer up for any amount from $500 to $10,000 after that. Of course, no one knows anything about conditions yet. Either could easily escape by that route.

In Portland the general impression is that Roller would want all the bars down in a 30-an-hour handicap and that he would figure on so crippling the Multnomah man before the hour was up that he could easily handle him at will.

TOM LONGBOAT BEATS DORANDO

NEW YORK, December 16.—In a heart-breaking race of twenty-six miles and 385 yards, before thousands of wildly cheering men, women and children assembled at Madison Square Garden, Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian, last night wore down Dorando Pietri, the Italian, and won their match race after the latter had collapsed on the saucer-shaped track. The victory came as a complete surprise to the form players, who, with Dorando's records here and in England against Longboat's poor showing in the Olympic contest, could see nothing in the match last night but a decisive victory for the Italian runner. The time of the race was 2:45:05-2-5, a little over half a minute slower than the Marathon record established by Dorando in his race with Johnnie Hayes three weeks ago.

Few persons in the vast throng which poured into Madison Square Garden last night had any idea that Longboat would prove to be more than a good practice run for the Dashing Dago. Nevertheless he received an enthusiastic ovation when he appeared upon the track. A few minutes later, when Dorando stepped out from his dressing room, thousands of Italians rose to their feet to greet their countryman.

The race was close up to the beginning of the twenty-sixth mile. Previous to this the Italian and the Indian took turns in leading the procession around the cinder track, at no time being separated by more than a few yards. Longboat led at the fourteenth mile, Dorando in the fifteenth, Longboat again in the twentieth and twenty-third, when Dorando regaining the advantage in the twenty-fourth. In the fourth lap of the twenty-sixth mile, Longboat then leading by a quarter of a lap, the Italian suddenly staggered and dropped in the middle of the track. Longboat finished alone, amidst the cheers of the spectators.

GOOD GAMES AT AALA PARK

White Sox and Dragonlets Win in Closely Contested Matches.

It was a pleasant day with a pleasant-looking crowd at the Aala Park diamond yesterday afternoon. The two snappy games of baseball resulted in victories for Samuel di Hoppo's sockless White Sox and the Dragonlets, both of the games being so well played and closely contested that for a time it appeared to those present that extra innings would be required to decide the winners, especially so in the first contest, when the game was not won until the last inning. It was good baseball. The teams are improving a great deal since the league opened its series.

Quite a few of the notables were on hand, so many that for awhile to those who have been old frequenters at this place it was like the old days again. A. K. Vierra surprised his friends by being present without his official cane of office. Still, he managed to keep things in good order, and with the good assistance given him by Will Prestidge, the crowd was well kept behind the forbidden lines.

The feature of the day was the pitching of George Clark, who has improved a good deal since he first handled the borseshide pellet in the Cupid league. His good work in the box was a wonder to Johnny Notley, the former Nippon captain, and who is at present holding that some position in the White Sox aggregation. Notley made a bold remark after the game, stating that if Clark would continue in the way he is now doing, he will have to quit the Home Rule party in order to spare more of his time to prepare the championship luau, which would certainly follow if his team came out victorious at the end of the season. This incident brought smiles to Samuel di Hoppo's face.

First Game.
The first game started with the White Sox at bat and the Aalas taking the field. Correa singled and swiped the second one. Kealoha received transportation from Pitcher Dreier, and then Ross wetted the ball, while Correa and Kealoha romped. Notley found the cemetery by a fly to Bailey at short, and Mack fanned the air, but Ross managed to score on Luning's error. Tom Yen flew out to Leandro at centerfield. This gave the White Sox three runs in the lead.

Zerbe failed to discover Clark's puzzling curves and was sent to the bench after three unsuccessful attempts to connect with the ball. Bailey was hit by the pitcher and went to second on a passed ball, stealing the third sack. Walker doubled and Bailey came home. Luning grounded to Correa at first, which closed the first inning.

Neither team score again until the sixth inning, when the Aalas got four men over the home plate, while the White Sox were shutout in their half. Here is how Luning's aggregation scored: Flizer struckout; Zerbe bingled and Bailey did likewise; Dreier safed on Clark's error and the bases were full. It was here where Walker made a decided hit with the crowd. He sent the ball flying into the stream, thus clearing the bases and the crowd cheered. Of course, this gave the Aalas one run in the lead. Then someone on the bandstand called out to Samuel di Hoppo to get busy on the coaching line, otherwise the sockless aggregation would never be able to catch up.

In the seventh the Aalas scored their final run. Timas, the big first-base man of the Hoodoos was the performer this time. He crossed the plate by a double, an error by Notley and a good steal for the home sack.

The White Sox scored the winning runs in the last inning. Correa, Kealoha and Ross were the lucky ones who got home, which decided the game 6 to 5 in favor of Samuel di Hoppo's team. The Aalas failed to tally in the ninth.

THE WORKER MUST BE WELL

In these days of sharp competition everyone who works should be keyed up to the highest pitch of efficiency. The rewards of business life go to the clearest thinkers, to the men and women who know and do things better than other people.

But who can do his best work when the health is impaired, when the appetite fails to demand the food necessary to sustain the body, when strength is lacking and ambition gone? Surely the part of wisdom is to begin at once to build up the body to its normal condition, and this may be done more certainly by the use of

Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Extract

than any other medicine. It checks hacking coughs, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, restores flesh to the emaciated, and renews health and vigor. It is so agreeable to the taste that its regular use is a pleasure. Get it at your chemist's and be sure you get STEARNS'—the genuine.

THE JAPANESE WAGE SCALE.

The ones responsible for the present agitation being worked up among the Japanese plantation laborers of Hawaii are playing with fire. They are, so far as can be learned, principally hotelkeepers, saloonkeepers and certain Japanese storekeepers, and have in their number no fair proportion of laborers themselves or their accredited representatives. These leaders in the agitation are careful to state that they are advocating no strike among the laborers and no violence, but they are applying the torch to tow. It is certain, for one thing, that they are commending the principle of striking and in their newspaper, the Nippu Jiji, threatening the plantation managers with strikes unless an immediate increase in wages is granted. Such tactics are dangerous in the extreme in dealing with a question of this nature. It is quite probable that the threats of a strike will be taken up and carried out by the laborers, who may easily get out of hand, in which event the principal sufferers will be the laborers themselves and the ones now egging them on.

It is most impolitic, too, on the part of the Honolulu agitators, to go into this matter with a deliberate misstatement to begin with. They know, or most certainly ought to know, that the average wages paid the Japanese on the plantations is considerably over twenty dollars a month. On some plantations the laborers earn over a dollar a day for each day they work. On other plantations, where contracts are given, the pay of the industrious Japanese is more than that paid to any other nationality. What consideration do these agitators expect to receive from the Planters' Association when they base their demands on reasons that are not true. Either they expect to mislead the laborers or are very ignorant of the fundamental facts in the matter they are agitating.

There is no hope, according to what can be learned from the officers of the Planters' Association, of the present agitation having any good effect. The planters will not treat with the irresponsible ones now heading the movement. The sooner these leaders recognize this and subside the better. When responsible men of the Japanese community, with credentials showing that they represent something more than the small trader and hotel element, approach the Planters' Association, it is probable that they will secure a hearing. What the results of the hearing may be will depend altogether on the merits of the case. There can not be results from the present agitation other than trouble, and idle talk of strikes, even though clothed with words of caution, will only hasten it.

TAFT'S GROWING GREATNESS.

Advices from Washington note that President-elect Taft's latest sojourn at the capital has strengthened him greatly with what might be called the governing class. By that is meant not alone the Senators and Representatives of both parties, who comprise Congress, but the great army of employes that keep the government at Washington running. All these people study a President-elect more closely than do the average citizens throughout the country. They know their activities will bring them into more or less close relations with him and that his policies and ways of thinking and of transacting public business can not but have an important bearing upon their careers for the next four years.

When McKinley had been elected President, he remained at Canton and Washington saw nothing of him until the special train snorted into the Washington station and a dashing span of horses drew him and Mrs. McKinley up Pennsylvania avenue and up Fourteenth street to the Ebbitt House, a day or two before inauguration. But President-elect Taft has been so much in Washington since his election that his coming and going does not attract a crowd at the station. Of course, Mr. McKinley, at Canton, sent for many people to come to see him for conference, as Mr. Taft has done at Hot Springs, and as he probably will do during the next two months in the South. But Mr. Taft has been attending to a deal of business pertaining to his coming administration the while he visited in Washington. His most important conferences, since early November, have been here.

He has said again and again, during his recent visit, that he is unable to realize fully that he is to be President of the United States. "I have to pinch myself occasionally," he has asserted several times, "to make sure it is not all a dream."

Except that he has been a little busier and has been subjected to more pressure from various directions, his recent days in Washington have outwardly been about the same as when he was Secretary of War and was trying to do twenty hours of work in about ten or twelve hours. He has been meeting everybody, who had legitimate demands upon his time, with absolute frankness and absence of undue formality. The great parlor of the Boardman residence off Dupont Circle, where he and Mrs. Taft were guests during their stay here, was filled with Senators and Representatives and other visitors during every minute that he could spare for conference. The hours for their coming were all arranged. A secretary called out the names of those who were next, as rapidly as a visitor had been disposed of in the small room adjoining. Senators generally demand precedence in Washington, but in calling upon Mr. Taft they were simply accorded the hour that had been assigned for them to come. Mrs. Taft in the meantime kept in mind the social engagements her husband had made. The political conferences were always conflicting with those social appointments, but when it had become so late that there could be no further delay she would walk in upon the politicians and remind her husband that the time had come for him to depart.

Senate and House were of the opinion that they could have their way more easily with Mr. Taft than they had with Mr. Roosevelt. After the developments of the last two months they are beginning to wonder whether their earlier conclusions were correct. He has shown decided firmness, especially in pressing for tariff revision, which is taken as a probable indication of his general attitude as President and as leader of his party. His talks with callers of the Congressional circle here the past week have convinced them that he is rapidly shaping his ideas about other administrative and legislative matters and that he may be equally firm in pressing for these other things that he wants.

At the same time he has dealt with the men of his party who occupy high positions here on a most amiable and considerate basis. There have been no efforts to dictate and coerce, but rather Mr. Taft has sought to exchange views and to "talk it over." When a given subject has been talked out, he has his own ideas of what ought to be done, and says so. Congressmen like that. It has been one of their chief grievances against President Roosevelt that he called unrepresentative men into consultation, took their advice, and went ahead without paying any attention to the leaders and captains of the party, whom the people had selected to represent them and present their views in Washington.

NUUANU DAM CONTRACT.

In the two days during which it was possible to obtain water for sluicing on the Nuuanu reservoir site this month, two thousand yards of earth were washed down and put into position on the dam. Under the ordinary weather conditions this work could be kept up until the dam is finished, which, at the rate of a thousand yards a day would take now about a hundred days. To say that sluicing under the present system installed at Nuuanu is not practicable because for once in twenty years the necessary water supply has failed is nonsense.

The Star discusses the question of bringing earth for the fill down by a gravity railroad system, about the most expensive way that could be planned. Possibly the Star forgets that an aerial tram line was in operation once at the dam and that that cheaper system cost three or four times what the sluicing system now costs to move dirt. The present system was planned on a basis of the average rainfall for the past twenty years, and the most competent engineers endorsed it. It is possible that the Star, in advocating the abandonment of the system, believes that this sluicing plan is the same as incorporated in the first contract, otherwise it can hardly be serious in stating that "it is not at all sure that the sluicing plan is reasonably practicable after all."

In view of the fact that Superintendent Campbell is to ask the Legislature for an appropriation for the extension of the Honolulu waterworks system and in the light of the temper of the Legislature last session over the Nuuanu dam contract, the question of changing it now and adding to the expense of construction should be left strictly alone.

The reorganization of the police force along the lines at present advocated in going to have one good effect at least. After the various captains and other high officers are commissioned, it will be rather an honor to be arrested, the chances of falling into the hands of a plain, unadorned cop being in proportion to the number of privates in the ranks—very small. It is hoped that the force will not have so many generals as to be top-heavy.

ANCIENT CAPITAL STRICTLY UP-TO-DATE

LAHA'INA, Maui, December 26.—There is nothing slow any more about this place, even the speed limit having been nudged up a notch or two within the past few hours. Yesterday Harry Heleikalani backed his hack into the barn, turned his horses out into the manie, and tooted loud and long upon a real automobile horn. He had heard of the fortunes to be made in burning up gasoline in Honolulu, and has gone into the auto-back business on his own account. All Lahaina turned to see him crank up and to admire the shiny paint on the mud guards. Then the chauffeur put on his isinglass goggles, sharpened his pencil, and proceeded to book orders for the day. He filled his slate within four minutes and ran steadily—between involuntary stops—all the rest of the day and far into the night, when the acetylene glows were especially admired. Every one in Lahaina who was anybody had at least fifteen minutes of glorious speeding, and walking as a means of locomotion dropped off several points. Mrs. Burt, Miss Burt, Miss MacDonald, Miss Burnham, Miss Law, Miss Hose and Miss Green are visiting in Lahaina.

Miss Ho is visiting her parents in Honolulu.

Last Wednesday Miss MacDonald of the Normal School, who is visiting at Lahaina, gave a lawn tennis party and afternoon tea to Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, Miss Mosser of Paia, Miss Folts of Wailuku, Miss Law, Miss Clapham, Mr. Law, Mr. Kishart, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Paschall. The games were exciting, Messrs. Wilson and Roberts doing some especially fast work over the nets.

Mrs. MacDonald, who has been visiting Mrs. Dodge of Wailuku for a few days, returned home on Thursday.

On Wednesday evening, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Kroll, a very fine Christmas concert was given at the parish hall. The children showed much skill in taking their parts. The play represented Santa Claus' first visit to Japan. It will be repeated on Wednesday next.

On Thursday evening the children of Waihee church were made glad by a well-laden Christmas tree in Hale-aleha hall.

Miss Foltz, who has been visiting Mrs. Simpson of the Baldwin Home, went to Honolulu on Thursday evening. Teachers, who went to Wailuku to attend the convention on the 18th say that if it had not been for the kindness of Judge McKay, the Rev. Mr. Dodge, Mr. Case, Miss Turner and others they would have been without lodgings owing to the hotels being filled with lawyers and witnesses in the case of Waldeyer vs. Wailuku Sugar Co.

Dr. Kincaid of Charlotte, North Carolina, has sent a Christmas greeting to his friends of Lahaina.

A Christmas service was held in each of the leading churches on Friday. The Rev. C. G. Burnham preached in the Waihee church and Mr. White interpreted the sermon into Hawaiian.

A party headed by Professors Roberts and Wilson went about a mile above the source of the Lahaina water system on Thursday. Since Mr. Pratt has had the ditch extended the water is good, and the whole system is in excellent condition, with an abundant supply.

BOER FLAG FOR MUSEUM.

JOHANNESBURG, December 12.—General Botha has presented to the Transvaal Museum the Boer flag which waved above the government buildings at Pretoria until the capital was occupied by Lord Roberts. It appears that when the British army entered the town the flag was lowered by an official of the republic, C. P. Hattingh, who intrusted it to Mrs. I. Haarhoff, knowing that this lady would do everything possible to prevent it from falling into the hands of the English. For more than a year Mrs. Haarhoff carried the "Vierkleur" on her person, sewed to the inside of her skirt. After that she concealed the flag in a mattress, where it remained until the conclusion of war, when she considered that General Botha had the best claim to the standard, and gave it to him.

HILO BOARD OF TRADE AWAKES

Reorganized and Now Ready to Work for Home and Country.

HILO, Hawaii, December 24.—It has not been dead, but merely sleeping; and being at last aroused, the Hilo Board of Trade is going to work like a giant refreshed. Secretary Vicens made a special muster of members on Tuesday last, and in response a large and representative gathering assembled at Firemen's Hall.

John A. Scott, chairman, called the meeting to order, and stated that he had deemed it well to call them together to consider whether it was necessary to reorganize the Board of Trade, which had been in a dormant state for some years. Much good had been done by it in the past and it could do much in the future if all worked unitedly. At present it was desirable that they should strengthen the hands of the delegate at Washington in obtaining appropriations for the Federal building in Hilo and for the harbor and breakwater works.

After a general discussion, in which most of those present took part, it was agreed that the Board of Trade should be reorganized and its constitution strengthened, so that it might discharge the functions of the Chamber of Commerce as well as its own. To this end it was suggested that the bylaws should be revised, the rates of initiation and annual dues increased, a salaried secretary appointed, and other reforms instituted.

The following provisional officers were elected: President, John A. Scott; vice president, C. C. Kennedy; secretary, C. B. Buckland; treasurer, H. V. Patten.

No More Free Drinks.

The Board of License Commissioners met yesterday afternoon and decided under a new ruling, that no holder of a wholesale license can dispense any liquor to be consumed on the premises. This prevents any "treating" by wholesalers to their customers when they call to give orders or pay bills. It also stops a wholesaler from giving a free drink to a friend who may call for a chat, or to any person who visits a wholesale store for any purpose whatever. Any man who now wants a drink must go elsewhere than to a wholesale place and pay for it.

Manuel Branco, of Laupahoehoe, whose previous application for a retail license had been refused, found the board more lenient yesterday, as he was granted one. Silva got a retail license for Kukuiahae, while Kuritani's application for a wholesale license at Honoumua was refused.

News Notes.

Mauna Kea has been well covered with snow this week away down almost to the suburbs of Hilo.

John Henshall, who was recently in Hilo on breakwater work, has gone to the Coast for a few months.

Work on the breakwater is progressing, the mole now extending out fully three hundred feet.

Captain W. C. Warland, father-in-law of I. E. Ray, came on a visit to Hilo by the Enterprise, accompanied by Mrs. Warland. The captain was formerly in command of the bark Amy Turner and has many friends here.

Superintendent Vannatta of the Hilo waterworks bureau has been busily engaged with laying new six-inch water pipes on School street in place of the old four-inch and replacing three-inch pipes on Pleasant street. After the next session of the Legislature Van expects to have all the water piping that Hilo needs.

Rudolph Spreckels, in response to an invitation to visit the volcano, wrote to the Herald from Honolulu: "I am sorry not to be able to go to Hawaii this trip, as I would enjoy seeing the volcano, the more particularly because you say its present activity is a peaceful scene compared to San Francisco politics."

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lindsay returned on Sunday by the Enterprise after an absence of six months, passed in Europe.

Miss Kate Trowbridge has returned from the Coast after a visit of nearly six months, ready to return to her scholastic duties.

Samuel K. Pua, sheriff-elect, has obtained the opinion of the county attorney to the effect that it is not the duty of the sheriff or his deputies to collect license fees. They have simply to see if licenses are paid and to prosecute in the event of failure.

NEW YORK WORLD AFTER ROOSEVELT

Metropolitan Journal Makes Hot Retort and Throws Down Gage.

NEW YORK, December 15.—The World in the course of its answer to President Roosevelt's reference to that paper in his special message to Congress today says: "Mr. Roosevelt is mistaken. He can not muzzle the World."

"While no amount of 'billingsgate' on his part can alter our determination to treat him with judicial impartiality and scrupulous fairness, we repeat what we have already said, that the Congress of the United States should make a thorough investigation of the whole Panama transaction, that the full truth may be known to the American people."

"The World appreciates the importance and significance of Mr. Roosevelt's statement when he declared to Congress that the proprietor of the World 'should be prosecuted for libel by the governmental authorities' and that 'the Attorney General has under consideration the form under which the proceedings against Mr. Pulitzer shall be brought.'"

"This is the first time a President ever asserted the doctrine of lese majeste or proposed, in the absence of specific legislation, the criminal prosecution by the government of citizens who criticized the conduct of the government or the conduct of individuals who may have had dealings with the government. Neither the King of Great Britain nor the German Emperor would venture to arrogate such power to himself."

"John Adams' attempt to enforce the sedition law destroyed the federalist party in America. Yet Roosevelt, in the absence of law, officially proposes to use all the power of the greatest government on earth to cripple the freedom of the press on the pretext that the government itself has been libeled—and he is the government."

"It is true that the World printed the public reports concerning the Panama Canal affair, which resulted from William Nelson Cromwell's appeal to the district attorney's office during the recent campaign to prevent the publication of a story which was said to be in the hands of the Democratic National Committee."

It was Mr. Cromwell's own action which raised the issue in the campaign. It is true also that when Mr. Roosevelt made his attack upon Delavan Smith, the World called attention to certain statements which Mr. Roosevelt must have known to have been false and misleading, and appealed to Congress to end all scandal by a full and impartial investigation. If this be treason, let Mr. Roosevelt make the most of it."

"Mr. Roosevelt's lamentable habit of inaccurate statements makes it impossible to accept his judgments or his conclusions. In his message he does not state correctly even so simple a matter as the pretended causes of his grievance."

President's Word Challenged.

"The World has never said that Charles P. Taft or Douglas Robinson made any profits whatever. Mr. Taft denied that he was concerned in the transaction in any way, which denial the World published and accepted. It would have been equally glad to print Mr. Robinson's denial had it succeeded in obtaining it from him, as it frequently attempted. The World has no evidence that he was associated with Mr. Cromwell and would accept his word to that effect; for Mr. Robinson is an estimable gentleman of high character, whose reputation for veracity is infinitely better than that of his distinguished brother-in-law."

Roosevelt Called Demagogue.

"If the World has libeled anybody we hope it will be punished, but we do not intend to be intimidated by Roosevelt's threats or by Roosevelt's denunciation or by Roosevelt's power. 'No other living man ever so grossly libeled the United States as does this President, who besmirches Congress, bulldozes judges, assails the integrity of courts, slanders private citizens and who has shown himself the most reckless, unscrupulous demagogue whom the American people ever trusted with great power and authority.'"

"We say this not in anger, but in sincere sorrow. The World has immeasurably more respect for the office of President of the United States than Theodore Roosevelt has ever shown during the years in which he has maintained a reign of terror and vilified the honor and honesty of both public officials and private citizens who opposed his policies or thwarted him in his purposes."

"So far as the World is concerned its proprietor may go to jail if Roosevelt succeeds, as he threatens; but even in jail the World will not cease to be a fearless champion of free speech, free press and a free people."

THE GEM.

"The great Dreyfus trial" is to be featured in motion pictures at the Gem Theater this week, when the scenes and incidents in that famous blot upon French history will be brought vividly before a Honolulu audience. This film has attracted great crowds on the mainland, and as it is to be shown here in connection with other pictures there is no question as to what the attendance will be at the Gem, where the admission is ten and twenty cents for adults and five cents for children.

Around the Police Station

Lopez, the reformed and retired desperado, who led the police force a merry dance around the island last spring after his spectacular escape from Oahu Prison, seems to be unfortunate out of jail. Lopez came out of prison several months ago with the intention of leading an honest life and he went down to Ewa plantation where he worked for about a month when he was called to Honolulu as a witness in a Circuit Court case. He was called about three times with the result that he ceased to work at the plantation and remained in town. He became a spy for Chief of Detectives Kalakela, especially in gambling games, but lately has had no employment in that line.

On Christmas night Lopez and his wife visited some friends of the latter at one of the Hotel street lei stands.
 One of the women told Lopez and his wife that she would take them home with her but the mother of the prospective hostess did not agree to the proposition. In Hawaiian she told her daughter that the man she intended harboring was none other than "Lopez the desperado, the man who went all through Kalihi and scared us all." She advised her daughter that she had better think twice about her invitation.
 Lopez understands a few words of Hawaiian, and he caught the drift of the mother's warning. The police claim that he gave the mother a beating for her criticism of himself and that is the reason he is held at the police station pending a charge being placed against him.

Christmas Generosity.

All the Christmas Eve and Christmas
 Day drunks who appeared before Judge Long Saturday morning were given suspended sentences for thirteen months and set free. Several assault and battery cases, in fact, very case but one was similarly disposed of. The judge decided that this was just the time to temper justice with mercy. Among those who were released was Hugh Burroughs, the young Virginian who was sent to prison a few months ago for passing some bad checks.

Atcherley Wants a Job.

Among the aspirants for a police job
 Dr. Atcherley's name has been before the Democratic committee and his simon-pure Democracy has received the endorsing O. K. Dr. Atcherley believes he should be the successor of Dr. Emerson, who has been police surgeon for many years. Although Mrs. Atcherley worked for the Democratic ticket, it is said that Dr. Atcherley's chances of assuming the title of Police Surgeon are extremely slim. While many Democrats would like to give this position to another surgeon, it is said that Dr. Emerson will continue to examine pupule guests at the station house, treat wounded men and women and give pills to the alling.

Held On to the Post.

Detective Minieville has learned a new method to detain heavyweight Hawaiians who try to break away after being placed under arrest. The other evening a young Virginian who had gazed long and lovingly into the wine cup when it was real red, and an elephantine Hawaiian who had all alone surrounded considerable square-face material, got into an altercation. Minieville happened along and took them up.
 The young haole stayed by when the detective turned in a call for the wagon, but the Hawaiian beat a retreat after waiting under restraint for awhile. When the wagon arrived the Virginian was put in and Minieville started after the Hawaiian, who looked like a grizzly bear in the distance.
 Minieville caught hold of the man several times but weight counted and the detective was too light. Finally Minieville caught the belt of the Hawaiian's trousers and threw his arm around a handy post and held on until reinforcements arrived.

Another Auto Accident.

Another auto accident was reported to the police on Christmas night. An auto driven by Mr. McKenzie was rolling along Beretania near Miller street about 6:15 p. m. A garage auto bowled along beside it. Just then Cropley's hack swung into Beretania avenue. Mc-Kenzie's auto lifted the back out of the way and it was later removed in a semi-demolished condition to the side of the street. The hack will be repaired at the expense of Mr. McKenzie.
 The passenger in the hack had celebrated during the day so successfully that he failed to appreciate the fact that he had been hit by anything weightier than a raindrop and refused to leave the carriage even though the box was flat on the ground with wheel spokes sticking through it and the top was crumpled up concertinawise.

THE SMALL FARMER

Can secure our assistance in endeavoring to find a market for his products. We are engaged in the business of selling Groceries, Provisions and numerous articles required by the farmer for the daily use of his family. We believe we may be able at the same time to sell his products; some of them anyway if not all.

If the farmer will let us know what he has to sell, when it will be ready for market, how packed and how to be shipped, with probable quantities in each shipment; give us in advance all the information he can; we will at once start investigating the market conditions and advise him of same.

We sell to family consumers throughout the Islands for CASH, money with order, and many acknowledge that they are saving money every month. We want the farmers' family trade and will sell their products for CASH also, so as to furnish the necessary "GOLD LUBRICANT" to keep the farm running smoothly. No order too small or too large for us to undertake.

DOUBTFUL STORY OF ROOSEVELT RUDENESS

WASHINGTON, December 17.—How President Roosevelt severely rebuked a party of girls from the National Park Seminary at Forest Glen, Maryland, for riding past him Thanksgiving day in Rock Creek park is told in a story which has just leaked out and been confirmed today by Miss E. L. Sisson, teacher in the school, who was the chaperon for the party, according to the Washington Star this evening.

The girls were riding three abreast behind the President and then galloped past him. When they slowed up President Roosevelt galloped rapidly and overtook the party. As he brushed past his horse struck the foot of one of the young ladies, knocking it from the stirrup and a blow from the President's crop fell on the horse's flank. The young woman's horse reared, and but for her coolness and admirable horsemanship she might have been thrown beneath the feet of the horse.

"You know that you should not go ahead of our party," said the President as he rode past them, turned in the saddle and looked them squarely in the face. He then joined his companions.

Albert Waterhouse returned on the Siberia from the Straits Settlement where he went several weeks ago to inspect some rubber properties in which he is interested. He was accompanied by Mrs. Waterhouse and by Mr. Wallace, who is manager of the Settlements properties. Mr. Wallace came here to meet the directors of the company of which Mr. Waterhouse is one of the principals, and to go over the Maui rubber plantation in which the Waterhouses are also interested. He will not only inspect but give suggestions as to propagation of trees and development of the property.

"Fighting a Typhoon" is the title of a sea narrative in the Wide World Magazine for January by A. P. Taylor of the Advertiser staff. It is a story of the voyage of the animal transport Siam from Honolulu to Manila in 1899, when 371 of the horses and mules were killed in a terrific typhoon off the coast of Luzon. The story is well illustrated.

L. G. Blackman, principal of Aliolani college, has accepted the resignation of the Rev. Fitz from the institution, who leaves shortly to undertake work in Boston. The vacancy caused by the departure of Mr. Fitz will shortly be filled and the teaching staff enlarged to meet the requirements of the new students who have recently enrolled. Mr. Fitz has not been the principal at Aliolani for some time and his departure will not result in any change in policy in the manner of conducting the college.

William Nott, C. J. Day, Miss Yarow and John M. Martin led the religious services yesterday at the Leahi Home, these being in the nature of New Year's services. Mr. David Dowsett and Miss Florence Batterson were married at one o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kirkaldy, Punui, Honolulu, Rev. Henry Parker, pastor of Kawaiahao church officiating. Miss McCriston was the bridesmaid and the groom was supported by Mr. Fred Peterson. The wedding was a quiet affair, only relatives and immediate friends of the bride and groom being present.

The bride is a newcomer in Honolulu and for the past three or four months has been a teacher at the Normal School. She is from the mainland, and since her arrival her beauty has been generally remarked. She is of the brunette type. Mr. Dowsett is an Islander, the son of the late J. I. Dowsett. The couple are spending their honeymoon at Haleiwa.

BERKELEY SENTIMENT FOR COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

BERKELEY, December 14.—Candidates for the positions of commissioners under the proposed new charter of Berkeley have been announced on the eve of the calling of the charter adoption election, the date of which will be fixed by the town trustees Tuesday evening. That the charter will carry appears to be a settled fact in the minds of Berkeleyans.

Five commissioners, elected by the people, will handle the entire city administration, the city auditor being the only other elected official. One of these commissioners will be mayor.

The charter provides for nonpartisan choice of commissioners, all candidates being placed on the ticket by petition. The mayor's office carries a salary of $2400 a year.

LOOKS WELL FOR THE HILO RACES

HILO, December 22.—Everything promises well for the success of the races on Friday and Saturday, January 1 and 2. The only uncertain element is the weather, and the recent heavy rains have awakened the hope that the celestial reservoirs have now been pretty well emptied and that they can not overflow for the next two weeks.

The Mauna Kea on Wednesday last brought from Honolulu the racers Bruner and Indigo, and these have been in active work since their arrival. There is every assurance of excellent sport on both days.

The jumping events will be particularly interesting. At least one steeple-chaser has been brought here from the mainland for the meet, and there are on the Islands some jumpers which, horse experts say, are worthy of competing in almost any company.

The Japanese are taking a tremendous interest in the races, and there will be all kinds of entries for the Japanese events. Each of the plantations is sending its star performer to uphold its honor on the track, and large sums of money will change hands on these events, as each horse will have a large following of admiring and part owning Japanese.

SULLIVAN AND AYRES TO HILO

H. M. Ayres and Dick Sullivan, who fought for honors in the recent walking contest, will leave for Hilo on the Mauna Kea tomorrow to compete with the walking experts of the Rainy City. Both received offers by letter in the last mail from that city. The communication stated that the management would be willing to put up either a purse or a cup for the winner, as an inducement to the local hikers.

Ayres and Sullivan have decided to accept the offer, and consequently will leave on the Mauna Kea. The race will be on the Hilo track, and will be of either one or one-half mile length. The probabilities are that between now and the time of sailing, the two Honolulu pedestrians will spend the greater part of their time in the water, in anticipation of a possible "light" shower at Hilo on the day of the race.

Subject to the approval of the committee, which meets tomorrow night at five o'clock, the second big walking race will be held here over the same course—Kakakauna avenue and King street to the Waikiki Inn—on January 17. This waddling contest will be for blood. Ayres says so himself, and he ought to know. The committee which will decide definitely on the date of this contest is composed of Jack Densham, H. M. Ayres and E. M. Cheatham.

In the meantime, arrangements are going ahead rapidly for the elimination contest on January 17. To enter the big race on January 17, it is necessary for the walker to have covered the course in the elimination stroll in less than twenty minutes. Only four men—Densham, Sullivan, Cheatham and Ayres—made this time in the first race, but there are many others who have gotten into better condition of late and feel that they can easily come inside the limit. Irving Hurd, Dan Fahey and many others, in all about twelve, will be entered in the elimination contest.

HANDEL'S MESSIAH AT CENTRAL UNION

Handel's Oratorio of the Messiah, the greatest of all sacred operas, was beautifully rendered last night at the Central Union church, 196 voices, trained by Stanley Livingston, carrying the choruses, and Mrs. Alan White, Mrs. Walter Hoffmann, Arthur Wall and Chester Livingston taking the solos. It was a finished production that was given last night, this being the second public performance of the well-trained amateurs.

The chorus, which was composed of members of the Kamehameha and Normal schools, filled the organ-loft and crowded over on a platform especially built for it. Stanley Livingston, the director, also stood on a small platform in front of the singers. Two much praise can not be given the chorus work. The full force of the deep responses came as from one mighty throat, and Mr. Livingston has again demonstrated his ability in training a large number of voices in difficult parts.

Mrs. Walter Hoffmann, who, although she was suffering from a bad cold, carried her solo part in order that the production might not fall through, was almost at her best in her rendition of "He Shall Feed His Flock." "Come Unto Him," one of the soprano solos, was excellently rendered by Mrs. White. Mr. Arthur Wall's clear tenor tones were heard at their best in "Comfort Ye My People," and Chester Livingston sang "The Trumpet Shall Sound," his bass solo, with finished form. The other solos were sung far better than usual, the singers being accompanied by Mrs. Earl Bartlett, organist, and Mr. Earl Bartlett, pianist.

Crowded to its utmost capacity was the auditorium of the church, the people even standing in the aisles and packing the doorway. The performance was a great improvement over the initial one which was given at Kamehameha Schools a short time ago, the chorus work especially showing a marked advancement.

WANT RAISE IN WAGES

more wages to meet the expense of maintaining their homes and growing children. That, he said, was one of the principal reasons for the higher wages demand.

In Japan, he said, the wages of under officials, were being raised and Parliament would pass a bill next session increasing the pay, for the price of necessities had risen in Japan. Laborers in Hawaii had families in Japan dependent upon them and to meet their conditions they must receive higher wages. If the demand for higher wages was complied with it would mean an increase of $1,600,000 in the pay per annum, and not only would the laborers benefit from it, but the planters and business interests throughout Hawaii also.

The editor said that the collector of his paper had been expelled from the Pioneer and Puuene plantations because his paper advocated higher wages. "This is un-American, barbarous and savage," he said, "simply because my paper advocated higher wages it was persecuted. I rejoice because my paper was persecuted on this account." (Applause.)

The speaker said that the Hawaii Shippo was being paid $100 a month by the planters to oppose the higher wages agitation, which he considered was a poor reward for thwarting the payment of $1,600,000 more per year to the Japanese people. This same remark was made by all the speakers.

The speaker said he understood that real Americanism meant the establishment of a strong middle class, and therefore, unless the Japanese laborer is given more than the present wages he could not rise to the level of the middle class. The Japanese laborer is now making his home here and he should participate in the prosperity or the reverse of Hawaii. They should be given higher wages if the people here wanted them to educate their children properly, lead decent, respectable lives and become a constituent part of the great American Republic.

Mr. Nagoro was the last speaker. His address was similar to the others. He explained the resolution, paragraph by paragraph, dwelling particularly upon the increased price for necessities. He also spoke of the poor living quarters of the Japanese on plantations, saying they were conducive to immorality.

The resolution, given above, was then adopted with cheers.
