HALEAKALA MAY GET RANK WITH WORLD WONDERS

George C. Curtis, Artist-Geologist of the Museum Staff of Harvard University, Sees the Volcanoes of Hawaii.

"There are certain examples of geological forms that stand out in such marked contrast from everything else that they have become the world's scenic wonders. Niagara is one of these. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is another, and the Matterhorn and the Bay of Naples. In my recent studies, I have met with two localities in the Pacific concerning which I have made the statement to the residents thereabouts that it may come to pass, in time, that those localities will come to be regarded as among the world's great natural scenic types. Those two places are the Bay of Opono, in the island of Moorea, Tahitian group, and Mulford Sound, in New Zealand. I am now inclined to add to this group of candidates for highest honors the 'House of the Sun,' the great Caldera of Haleakala, on the island of Maui."

The speaker was George C. Curtis, artist-geologist, of the museum staff of Harvard University, who for seven months past has been studying the volcanic and coral problems in the Society Islands, whither he was sent specially. He is now on his way home, sailing for the mainland on July 4th, and has visited Mauna Loa, Kilauea and Haleakala during a short stay at these islands. He was found at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel last night, having spent the greater part of the day in climbing, photographing and studying Punchbowl and Diamond Head.

"Those cones should be kept, as nearly as possible, in the condition that they are now," he said.

Mr. Curtis is the only scientist in America today doing his peculiar line of work—that is, studying geology scientifically from the scenic side, although there are some eminent Europeans in the same field. And he has visited many volcanoes.

"Without question," Mr. Curtis said, "the most unique scenery within the Sandwich Island group lies in its old and young volcanoes. It should be stated here that this type of scenery is not confined to Hawaii. A large proportion of the Pacific islands are of volcanic origin, and represent some stage of volcanic cones—earlier or later. To merely see them, one gets but little. But when the sight is directed by intelligent observation based on some general understanding of volcanic history, the visit may be made of real interest."

"Among the general types of volcanic craters might be mentioned the explosive, like Pelee and Vesuvius, the fissure eruptive as Tarawara, in New Zealand, and some Icelandic volcanoes, and the welling caldera, like Kilauea. The volcano must not be confused with the crater. This is a very common mistake. The crater is usually but a small portion of the volcano, and represents a rent through which material from the interior is ejected."

"Mauna Loa is a great volcanic cone, among the larger, but not the largest, in the world—or even in America. Shasta and Rainier are volcanic cones, each higher than Mauna Loa, and there are some very active volcanoes in Alaska, which are larger."

"Kilauea is a small volcanic cone, with a comparatively small-sized crater. It is but a parasitic cone, on the flanks of Mauna Loa, and I should say that the lava comes from the same source. It lies in a large caldera, or open pit, but even this pit is far from the largest in the world. It is very common for large volcanic cones to have these parasitic cones about their bases."

"Mauna Loa is an excellent example of the type it represents. Indeed, it is a classic example of the basic, lava dome volcano. Its height being great while the slopes are extremely gentle, its total bulk is extremely large, and it is for this that Mauna Loa is famous. The great uniformity and symmetry of the mountain show that the position of the summit crater has been long maintained, and the vast quantities of lava which have been ejected, and the time necessary for such construction will appeal to all who give it but a moment's thought."

"The surface on the leeward side shows scarcely any mark of the destructive agencies of the atmosphere, although there are some comparatively slight ravines to be seen on the lower slopes on the rainy side. This is additional evidence that the constructive agencies completely overbalance those of erosion. This is much more apparent on Mauna Loa than on such active volcanoes as Vesuvius, La Soufriere, Pelee, Aetna and others."

"Many volcanoes are both explosive and effusive, as in the case of Vesuvius, Pelee and Vulcano, in the Lipari islands. But one of the marked characteristics of Mauna Loa is that it has continued for many thousands of years to send out lava alone."

"Kilauea, however, which is probably a comparatively recent outbreak on the lower flank of Mauna Loa, has been the scene of explosive action of the fragmental sort, evidence of which may be seen in the northwestern part of the caldera. Though not of the startling quality of actual eruption, there is much of interest about these volcanic vents which may be observed at any time."

"The smooth, uneroded slopes of Mauna Loa, the various flow structures which the lava has assumed, the rugged and the rocky pahoehoe, the lava caves and far-reaching subterranean tunnels, the dribble cones formed by perfectly frozen lava, the crater pits and the many interesting forms which are included in the great open amphitheaters or caldera, are all interesting."

"Haleakala appears to me to be a great caldera, within which are situated many volcanic cones and craters. Perhaps this may be the largest of its kind in the world. To me, it is the most striking scenic type in the Sandwich Islands. But it is not, as is sometimes stated, the largest volcano in the world. Its imposing attitude, remarkable size, and stamp of great age that it bears, the picturesqueness of the erosion forms, the vegetation which beautifies its amphitheater slopes, all make it a remarkable aggregate. There is a lofty rim, covered with a chaotic mass of broken rock. From this, graceful talus slopes, the waste of the weather, dip thousands of feet to the floor. A good portion of the slopes is covered with ferns and vegetation, making a surprising and extremely pleasing contrast with the gray and ash and rocks which surround them. There is a wealth of volcanic forms within the great depression, many scoria and ash cones, some 1000 feet in height, which of themselves offer enough to attract the traveler."

"Lava and dribble cones are frequent, and various sorts of lava flows near at hand are fresh as when they cooled. Vast areas are covered with scoriae and volcanic ashes. Bombs of various types, enough to supply the museums of the world, may be picked up on every hand. The silver-sword glistens and blossoms in this desert waste, and vegetation of all kinds is surrounded by the evidences of old time fires. The animal life within this little world, the wild dogs, wild cattle, wild goats and birds, would be extremely interesting to the naturalist. The scene when the sky is free from clouds, the rapid changes of their forms when the clouds come, the rise and the set of the sun from this, his home, have always been remarked by travelers. And the contrast of the lofty, smooth slopes of Haleakala with the deeply dissected topography of West Maui is pleasing, as well as remarkable."

"As to suggestions from travelers, if the general visitor would suggest improvements in facilities and accommodations, their writings would be of more service to the public than endeavors to suddenly become writers of descriptive geology. By suggestions of this sort, the visitor may be of real service to those who follow him. It seems to me that what is needed about these volcanoes are good, comfortable accommodations, conducted by competent persons sensible to the demands of the region. There should be facilities for supplying visitors with rational information about the place, with facilities for seeing the sights. The accom-

COOPER FIRST CHOICE IF CARTER DOES RETIRE

Unanimous Vote by Republican Central Committee—Sam Johnson Calls the Knockers In Vain to Come to the Light.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★
"Whereas, George R. Carter has resigned his position as Governor of Hawaii,

"Resolved, that in the event of his insisting that his resignation be accepted by the President, this Committee does endorse Henry E. Cooper, as its first choice for Governor of Hawaii."

By the foregoing resolution the Republican Territorial Central Committee placed itself on record, incidentally, as confirming the action of its executive committee in endorsing Governor Carter's administration and desiring a continuance thereof, besides directly making Mr. Cooper its first choice for Governor should there be necessity for the appointment of a successor to Mr. Carter as the outcome of the present crisis.

Joseph P. Cooke, who presented the resolution, clearly gave it the interpretation just now paraphrased. It carried unanimously, without even a muttered objection, in a full meeting. While this declaration regarding the governorship was the main item of business, there was an episode not on the program which is likely to have a wholesome effect on Republican party councils for some little time to come. This was when Sam Johnson challenged any and all of his detractors in connection with the county campaign to come out into the light. He challenged in vain, but John A. Hughes seized the opportunity to drive home a lesson to the party workers which will not soon be forgotten.

By person and proxy the following twenty-two members of the Central Committee answered the roll call, at the meeting held at Republican headquarters Saturday night:

Chairman A. G. M. Robertson, Vice Chairman John C. Lane, Secretary W. T. Rawlins, H. J. Lyman, W. Horner, Geo. C. Hewitt, G. P. Kamaoaha, E. A. Fraser, J. P. Cooke, S. E. Kalama, W. P. H. B. M. A. Nakulua, Geo. H. Dunn, Sam. Johnson, Fred. Meyer, D. Douglas, Henry Vida, Chas. H. Clark, J. H. K. Kaiwi, Geo. W. Mahikoa, W. W.

Harris and W. T. Robinson. Mr. Meyer is a new member in place of W. W. Goodale, Waialua, whose resignation was accepted. Harry T. Murray was secretary of the meeting.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.

Mr. Cooke, immediately after the opening routine, presented the governorship resolution above quoted. "In explanation of this resolution," its author said, "I would like to refer to the resolution passed by the executive committee on Monday of this week, when this committee placed itself on record as expressing regret that Governor Carter had tendered his resignation, together with its belief that the interests of Hawaii and its people would be conserved by the continuance in office of the present Governor. The sense of the committee was that of a hope that Governor Carter's resignation would not be accepted."

"Under the existing circumstances, with the possibility in question, it is desirable that the party should act as a unit. The party is not too strong. It is proper to express our preference for Governor unitedly, in the event that the resignation of Governor should take effect. It is only fair that this committee should place itself on record in naming Mr. Cooper as its first choice. After a vacancy occurred might be too late. If we want to have any influence in Washington, one of the most essential things is the presenting of a united front."

Applause followed Mr. Cooke's remarks. Immediately it had subsided, Mr. Clark moved and Mr. Harris seconded a motion that the resolution be accepted.

Chairman Robertson, having invited remarks on the question without obtaining any response, put the motion and it carried by a hearty unanimous vote.

TOO MUCH MACHINERY.

Nobody answering a call for any further business, Chairman Robertson said he would call the attention of the committee again to "the ever fertile subject of rules." Now that the County Act had gone into operation it seemed to him that they had too much machinery. There were too many committees to manage campaigns. They had the Central, the District and the County committees. It might be well to do away with the District committees. If they retained the County and District committees they would be tumbling over each other in campaigns. They could not tell when there might

SENIOR CAPTAIN PARKER REMAINS ON POLICE FORCE

Captain Robert Parker is still Senior Captain of the Honolulu police. Yesterday he and Sheriff Brown had an interview that cleared up some things that seemed to have been hazy in the first interview, and now among the police the whole affair seems to be regarded as a sort of joke. It seems that the Sheriff and the Senior Captain had some little dispute and Parker jumped at the conclusion that his services were no longer required from something that the Sheriff said to him. According to Sheriff Brown there was no intention on his part to discharge Parker and he said last night that evidently the Senior Captain had got an idea that he was "fired" when such was not the case.

Captain Parker said last night: "I am to report in the morning. I went to see the Sheriff this morning and he told me that he did not want me to leave the force and that he did not intend that I should leave it when he had the interview with me Saturday. He said that some people had been after him to discharge me, but that it was not his intention to do so when he called me in. Of course when he said he had no more confidence in me I thought that he meant for me to get out. But he says that he did not mean that, so I am to go back tomorrow."

Sheriff Brown confirmed the statement that Captain Parker would be on duty this morning, saying that he had evidently mistaken his intention. He said that Parker was a little excited that morning and evidently thought that the Sheriff meant to put him out, so he turned in his badge and keys. The Sheriff stated that he and Parker had had a talk yesterday morning and that as a result of it Parker would be at his old post today.

Being asked about retrenchment in the police force Sheriff Brown said: "It is not my intention to discharge any of the men on the force now. When any men are discharged it will be done after consultation with, and with the approval of, the supervisors. They have decided that there must be retrenchment in the department, so of course some will have to go. Personally I would like to have as many men as possible, but the county has not the money. So we will have to cut down. It will be almost impossible to cut anything but the salary roll. We have to support all the prisoners in the police station jail, and we can't cut the salaries as they are low enough already. The regular officers are just sufficient to cover the beats, so we will have to save by cutting off some of the specials and extra men. Of course this means that every regular officer will be worked to the full limit, but we cannot help it. There cannot be many reductions in the country police. I do not see how we can save more than $1000 a month on the present cost of the department. I shall submit a schedule of estimates to the supervisors soon and it will then be up to them to say how much cutting will be done and where."

FINE WORK IN LAUHALA

Specimens of What the Schools Can Achieve.

The public school pupils of this Territory are doing a work that is worthy of much wider fame than it seems to have earned so far. This is the making of mats, baskets, hats, and, above all, picture frames of the beautiful lauhala leaves. The material is easy to work, and the articles may be most tastefully constructed in any number of patterns. In the office of Superintendent of Public Schools Davis, for instance, are three large frames, enclosing engravings of Washington, McKinley and Roosevelt, that would be creditable ornaments in any home.

There is on the mainland, as everybody knows who has been there lately, a decided fad, grown perhaps from the recent close intercourse brought about by the railways leading into old Mexico, for Indian basket work, and work of that character. This has been taken up by society women everywhere, as a new and unique departure in fancy work—something different from the old crewel and crocheted and embroidered—and has spread to all classes. Also, it is altogether the thing for the best women to weave summer hats for themselves of a kind of African grass, called raffia, and in some towns there have been organized "Raffia Clubs" to do this kind of work. This raffia craze, in some slight measure, has even reached Honolulu.

But Honolulu has a better thing in the lauhala and bamboo weaves, if the samples of work shown by the public school pupils goes for anything. The women on the mainland who go in for Indian basket weaving take pride in preserving the old patterns of the several tribes whose work they follow. Lauhala and bamboo mat weavers here might preserve the old Hawaiian designs—and might create a fad that would spread to the mainland and thus confer a lasting benefit upon the islands. Certainly the work that might be done would be as attractive as Indian basket work, and as easy.

"We teach this kind of thing in the schools," said Superintendent Davis, "not alone for the training of the hands of the pupils, but so that the mechanical brain may be developed along with the intellectual, and the growth be thus entire. We teach the mat and basket making, with the lauhala and bamboo; the pupils also do drawn work, such as this specimen and this, and all kinds of needlework. Why, the girls even make shirts for the boys—and, in some remote schools where the children have to come through the rain, they keep extra clothing at the schools that they may change when they reach the school house."

Superintendent Davis is very proud of his collection, and properly so. "It was gathered for the St. Louis fair," he said, "although it was never sent. Now we propose to get some glass cases, and keep the specimens we have here under cover."

Mr. Davis, among other treasures, showed a map of North and South America, carved in wood and with the outlines of rivers and lakes and mountains all in their proper places. "It is the work of a little boy," he said.

THE WEEK AT WAHIAWA COLONY

Wahiawa, T. H., June 30, 1905.
Editor Advertiser: I am sending some Wahiawa items for your paper, as much that has occurred the past month, is not only of interest to the colonists, but also to many not living here.

Our school closed after a year of faithful, conscientious hard work, on the part of the teacher at least, on the 16th inst.

The dam is a never failing source of interest to all, and we are looking forward to its successful completion in the near future.

The summer crop of pineapples—a large one—is now ripening, and from now to the end of season will allow little time for anything else but the canning and shipping of the fruit.

But the one fact above all others that is, and has for some time, been most in our thoughts, is that our friends and neighbors at Lei Lehua ranch, Mr. W. A. Buick and family, are leaving us to go to the coast. It is hard to realize that we will have them with us no more; later, when we come together at our neighborhood affairs, or when in need of neighborly assistance in an emergency, then will we realize our loss; for one and all, I think, had come to depend on them much—and never in vain—for the successful carrying out of every neighborhood undertaking, whether it be picnics and other social affairs, or fighting fires and other things where hard work and skill are most needed. No gathering will seem complete without them. Many are the happy times all have enjoyed at hospitable Lei Lehua; where the lath string was always "out" and all were made welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Buick opened their home here for the last time on the

WANTS THE MINOR TO PAY THE BILLS

J. S. Low by his attorneys, J. Alfred Magoon and J. Lightfoot, has filed a motion that A. W. Carter, guardian of Annie T. K. Parker, minor, be ordered to pay, out of the minor's estate, $570.00 costs and $2000 on account of counsel fee, in the suit of Low as "next friend" of the minor, to remove Carter as guardian. An affidavit in support of the motion tells about the great expenses of the trial, of the appeal to Washington and the contempt case in the Territorial Supreme Court. "Keep for boys," "food for boys," "beef for boys," "poi for witnesses," etc., are found in the itemized account attached.

MR. THURM OFFERS SOME CORRECTIONS

Editor Advertiser: The account of my finding the helau of Kupopolo, given in your Sunday issue, needs a few corrections, which kindly permit me to make.

The temple is located near Waimea (not Waianae) Point, on the Waialua side, which brings it properly to the "four miles beyond the Haleiwa hotel."

Further on in the narrative Waianae is again given where Waimea is intended; in fact, Waianae don't figure in this at all.

Referring to the temple to which the bodies of the officers of the Daedalus were probably borne, it was not "on the flat above this one," but one known as "Puu o Mahuka," on the top of the bluff on the eastern side of Waimea valley, as it was older and more important. I am not prepared to say it is larger than Kupopolo, for I have not seen it; but from descriptions had am of the impression it is smaller in size, of earlier construction and different in shape. I am sorry not to have made myself quite clear on this point.

I ask permission to descend from the point of eminence whereon your writer has seen fit to perch me in connection with this discovery where he states that the helau's "existence has heretofore been altogether unknown to island antiquarians." In expressing my surprise at so little being known about it I said, "No doubt old Kamaaina of the district knew of it, but no one at the hotel, nor anyone I had met, with seemed to have any knowledge of its existence."

tenth inst. to give one of their pleasant parties, which was really their farewell party to the neighbors and friends here, and I am sure all appreciated it and will long remember the occasion.

Many pleasant affairs have been given in their honor recently. Among them the supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, deserves notice. Thirty-three people were treated to a delicious repast daintily served. The tables were prettily decorated—that of the older guests in violet and white, and the young people's table was very dainty in pink and white. The former was arranged on the veranda, the latter in the dining room. Beside the plate of each guest was a miniature paper boat, each supporting a tiny flag, and containing a cargo of sweetmeats. The center piece for each table was a very good imitation of a steamship, a reminder that our friends were soon to be sailing "over the water" in the steamship Korea.

Another very pleasant affair was the party given by Miss Bernice Smith in honor of Bernice and David Buick, Mr. L. G. Kellogg giving his commodious rooms for the occasion, Mrs. L. P. Frain acting as chaperone. The floor was perfect, the music fine, the refreshments elegant, and a delightful evening of sociability, dancing and games passed all too quickly.

HORSE SUFFERS CRUEL NEGLECT

Editor Advertiser: We very often see in print pathetic stories of "Man's inhumanity to man," but inhumanity to the brute creation seems to be generally overlooked (although of the two evils the latter is the worse in my eyes). On last Tuesday a resident of Wahiawa Colony telephoned from town to have his horse and buggy sent to Pearl City to meet him. The Chinese teamster led the horse down, took him out of the buggy and tied him to an algaroba tree and went home. The horse remained there all that day and part of the night, until a good Samaritan came along and took pity on him and took him to his stable and fed and watered him. Today, Thursday, after two days and two nights, I understand the owner has telephoned down to have someone feed the horse. This is by no means the first of such cases that have occurred here and probably will not be the last if someone does not put a stop to it.

LEVY-LANDO SUNDAY WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. JULES LEVY.

Beneath a wedding bell composed of white asters Miss Esther Lando, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lando, of 1323 Beretania street, was married to Mr. Jules Levy, Rev. Mr. Wadman of the First Methodist Church officiating, at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Lando home. The wedding was private only the relatives and near friends of the contracting parties being in attendance. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which was attractively decorated in green and white. The bride wore a handsome wedding gown. Her bridesmaid was Miss Weight of Hilo, who was also prettily gowned. The groom was served by his brother, Mr. Sydney Levy, as best man, and the bride was given away by her father.

After the congratulations were over, the sliding doors between the parlor and dining room were thrown back, exposing the wedding supper table, prettily decorated with carnations and maille. An American flag caught up with a Naval Academy pennant, which was sent to the couple from the United States Naval Academy, by Midshipman Lando, brother of the bride, occupied a prominent place in the room. A picture of the "Navy Girl" appeared just below the flag. Yellow crapepiss blossoms filled the room. The supper was a merry affair. In an adjoining room many handsome and useful presents were displayed. Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which the bride is a member, gave a beautiful music case. Several of the groom's friends about town presented the couple with a very handsome and costly grandfather's clock. A china closet filled with cut glass came from a large number of friends. Complete sets of furniture, silver and dishes made an attractive display.

The couple have taken the Church residence on Kewalo street for their future residence. The bride was formerly a High School girl and is quite popular in her social set. The groom is one of Honolulu's promising young business men, and is the head of the grocery firm of J. M. Levy & Co.

SPORTS.

Hard training has ceased at Pearl Harbor and, save for light rowing, the crews are now ready and fit to start when the gun is fired tomorrow morning. Every crew is in good condition and there will be no excuses asked or given by the defeated ones.

There are some who predict victory for the Myrtles in both races, and others who are confident that the Junior Healanis will do great things to their opponents. The Myrtles won both races last year, but the time of the Senior race was the slowest ever recorded here, 10:48 1-5. With the exception of the stroke, the Senior crew is the same this year. The Junior race was rowed last year in 11:04 2-5. If there are favorable conditions tomorrow both these times should be beaten. The course has been moved fully a hundred feet mauka of where it was before, and, as it will be low tide at the time of the race, there will be a stretch of shallow water which in some places will not exceed three feet in depth. Should any of the boats strike this there is bound to be a drag.

While the crews have been commented upon as a whole, there has been little or no comment on the men individually. The following will give a more detailed account of the men and what they have done.

HEALANI SENIORS.

Bow, W. Rycroft, apt to be slow on the catch but has beef and is a hard worker. Swings out of boat. Pulled last year.

No. 2, R. McCriston, inclined to be slow at catch, also in getting his arms away quickly.

No. 3, E. K. Allen, inclined to jerk at end of stroke. Swings out of boat and finishes too soon.

Stroke, J. Clarke, inclined to be tardy in the catch and does not reach quite far enough. Sets a good slow stroke.

Has pulled before, but this is first time at stroke.

All the men are in good condition and, while they do not row together as well as they might, they can put up a hard race.

MYRTLE SENIORS.

Bow, L. King, pulls hard oar, but catches ahead of stroke. Rowed in over a half dozen races here. Pulled Senior last year.

No. 2, E. Kopke, cuts off his stroke and is inclined to meet his oar. Pulled Freshman 1903, and Senior shell 1904.

No. 3, E. Crabbe, inclined to catch ahead of stroke. Pulled Freshman 1902. Junior barge 1903, Senior shell 1904.

Stroke, F. Beckert, hesitates at end of his stroke nearly always and as a consequence his crew catches ahead of him. Could be quicker in getting his hands away. Pulls a strong deliberate stroke. Has pulled Freshman, stroked Junior barge 1903 and 1904. Junior shell 1904. Has never pulled in losing crew.

The time of the crew as a whole is good and the boat runs well between strokes.

HEALANI JUNIORS.

Bow, A. J. Blackman, behind in catch and don't feather high enough. Rowed Freshman 1903, and Junior barge 1904.

No. 2, M. Robinson Jr., pulls strong oar. Swings out of boat and has the habit of pulling in at the end of the stroke. First shell race.

No. 3, V. Fernandez, doing good work but has bad habit of looking out of the boat. Meets his oar. First year in shell rowing. Pulled Freshman last year.

Stroke, W. Dickson, don't feather high enough and does not keep his eyes in the boat. Stroked the Freshman crew to victory last year.

MYRTLE JUNIORS.

Bow, R. Hughes, rushes slide, don't drop his hands or get them away quick enough. Pulled Freshman 1903, Junior shell and barge 1904.

No. 2, L. Underwood, good form and strong, but inclined to cut his stroke. A new man in shell. Pulled Freshman 1904.

No. 3, R. Johnstone, swings out of boat. Largest man in boat and has difficulty in pulling with No. 1, who is much smaller and has not the reach. Pulled Junior shell and Senior barge 1904.

Stroke, A. Ewart, drops his hands at the catch, putting the blade up and thus tossing water. Strong steady rower. Pulled Freshman 1903, Junior barge 1904.

The crew shows good form compared with the other crews. A special train will leave Honolulu for the races at 9 a. m. and return immediately after the last race, reaching town in time for those who care to, to go to baseball in the afternoon. A special train will leave early in the morning carrying the crews and officials for the race.

Berger's band will be at the Peninsula in the morning, and in the afternoon there will be dancing at the Pavilion.

GOLF AT HALEIWA.

Weather conditions at Waialua were perfect for golf yesterday and there were over twenty entries. F. H. Armstrong won the first prize and Dr. A. C. Wall, the second.

During the day a number of automobile parties arrived and passed through Waialua. Supt. C. S. Holloway and a party of twelve stopped at the hotel for a short time on their way around the island. The party occupied three machines. Frank Armstrong and a party also made the run to Haleiwa for the day.

BASEBALL.

Two baseball games will be played on Wednesday at the Boys' Field between teams of the Boys' Clubs League. The Junior game, which will start at 2:30 p. m., will be between the Kawaihae and Kamehameha Preparatory boys. At 4 p. m. the Kauluwela and Kawaihae of the Senior teams will meet.

Some time in the latter part of July a nine made up of the management of the Boys' Clubs will play the winners of the Boys' League. The team will be picked from the following: T. Richards, H. K. Poepoe, Jno. Plunkett, Geo. Waterhouse, J. A. Rath, C. R. Hemenway, W. W. Thayer, Jess Dutoit, C. Robbins and E. B. Turner. The United States lowered its colors to China yesterday, when a baseball team from the Chinese Athletic Club defeated the U. S. S. Bennington nine, 19-12. The game was played on the Makiki grounds, commencing at 2 p. m., and was hotly contested through-

MONDAY JULY 3.

DR. ALEXANDER RETIRES.

With the retirement of Dr. W. T. Alexander as a Commissioner of Education, the public and the Department of Public Instruction lose the active services of one of the most devoted of educationists in this Territory. It has been a long and honorable career, one which adds lustre to the land of his birth as well as conferring glory on himself. For it is glorious to have stamped one's individuality upon the educational institutions of a people, and Dr. Alexander has assisted in every forward movement in education for many decades past.

The doctor's practical educational work commenced when he returned from his University career and became professor of classics and mathematics at Oahu College or, as it was then known, Punahou. His deep erudition and his kindly disposition won for him the respect and love of his pupils, a love which has lasted many through life. It was a long time, after he had received his doctoral honors from his University, that those who knew him well could drop the title of professor by which he had been known so intimately to so many.

The work of this gentleman as a member of the Board of Education under the monarchy and later as a commissioner under the Republic and the Territory, has been varied. He has been president and vice-president of the Board; he has been on most of the important committees, especially upon that on teachers. His intimate knowledge of the islands, and of their residents, together with his thorough conversance with the physical and climatic conditions of the various districts made him peculiarly useful in all branches of our peculiar educational work.

Another attribute of Dr. Alexander, outside of his erudition and his knowledge of school systems throughout the world, has been his breadth of mind, and his great kindness of disposition. There was no narrowness in the professor, he valued men and women at their best and not at their worst, and never took into consideration either sect or creed.

Hawaii owes a deep debt to Dr. Alexander. He will never lose his interest in the education of the Territory, but his active work has ceased. It would have ceased some years ago but for the personal solicitation of the then superintendent, Alatau T. Atkinson, who worked in conjunction with the doctor for over eighteen years. However excellent the personnel of the present commissioners may be, there is lost to the department the ablest, if not the only true Hawaiian scholar, and one of the most honorable and high minded gentlemen in the Territory.

Hawaiians should thank Commissioner-General Sargent for that word—"irrigation"—used in his address to the Board of Immigration the other day when urging a proper representation of the Territory's needs in Congress. It is only just now that irrigation has been adopted as one of the subjects for the common welfare which the United States Government should undertake. Hawaii has as good a claim for sharing in the new service as any other part of the country. On the recent visit of the Congressional Irrigation Committee to the raising-growing sections of Fresno county, California, the remarkable development of irrigation methods impressed the visitors. Our sugar plantation interests have struck out upon a line of great things in irrigation, which no doubt will incidentally confer much benefit to small farming enterprise. Yet there is much land in these islands, both outside the sugar-raising class and off the routes of plantation ditches, which might be rescued from barrenness to become of great value for diversified cultivation if water were brought to it. Since Uncle Sam is in the irrigation business, it will be now in order to make a special inventory of all the land in the group which lacks only water for making fertile. Thanks, Mr. Sargent, again for that word.

It is remarked by the Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript, as a peculiar coincidence, that the threatened boycott of American goods by China, unless the Chinese exclusion laws are regulated in accordance with well-defined treaty obligations, "is the most disquieting in those sections which have gone to the greatest lengths in hostility to the Chinaman. The South, in deference to the wishes of Northern labor unions, has generally voted in Congress for the most extreme of Chinese exclusion measures. That is the section that needs the Chinese market for cotton. The Pacific coast has, of course, led in these Chinese exclusion movements, and it, too, is covetous of the trade of the Orient. In the last great fight over the terms of a Chinese exclusion bill, when Orville H. Platt of Connecticut led the battle all day for as much humanity and fair dealing as could be incorporated into law, he met almost solid opposition from these sections which are now worrying over the Chinese boycott."

Maui clothed itself with county government this time, unlike the occasion of the nullity, without any military fanfare. The neighboring island's county officials also quite sensibly avoided an ungodly hour for assuming their functions. By starting in at high noon of July 1 they showed they were in no fear that Haleakala would fall down and bury them, or that a tidal wave would rush in and carry the new jail out to sea, on account of leaving the Territorial authorities a fiddling twelve hours overtime looking after roads and keeping the police on the move.

Referring to the unanimous recommendation by the Judiciary Committee of the New York Assembly, that Justice Warren B. Hooker of the State Supreme Court "be removed from the bench for various improper uses of his influence, to his personal advantage and to the detriment of others," the World's Work says: "Such an action is fortunately most rare in the United States. Manifestly, an incorruptible, impartial and high-minded judiciary is the only cornerstone upon which a nation can erect a structure of equal rights for all."

There are two expeditions out for the relief of the Ziegler polar expedition. If ever the north pole is discovered, the chances are great that the discoverer will never return to tell about it. And, if he should, the probability is extreme that another century would pass, and many expeditions perish, before a single bona fide excursion party could be safely carried over the route. As a winter resort, the north pole hardly seems worth developing.

By the time France became quite ready to enforce neutrality at her Far East colonial ports, neutrality was just about what the Russians most needed. Delay to coal and supply up, on the part of any fugitive vessel calling, had become exceedingly dangerous, while the alternative of internment and dismantling was then about the only chance of saving the ships for the next war.

HALEAKALA MAY GET RANK

modations should be comfortable, clean and wholesome, without attempt at pretense. Books pertaining to the environment, maps of the region, pictures and photographs should be in abundance. Adequate facilities for camping out and for riding parties should be at hand. In fine, a hostelry adapted to the requirements of the locality.

"Prices should be moderate, so that people of moderate means could visit and revisit these localities replete with volcanic manifestations. Government ownership is probably the only way to preserve for the public these great volcanic forms. They should be maintained, and the present forms not destroyed. There should be no charge for a visit to the crater. It always seems to me a debasement of these great forms of nature to put them on a side show basis, like charging for a view of a mountain. It seems an effort to corner nature, as it were, for the special benefit of a trust. Let there be a few big things for which people shall not pay. Kilauea is one of these. The volcano should be saved for the people, as the Yosemite and Yellowstone Park are."

Speaking generally afterwards, Mr. Curtis said it was entirely probable that the Hawaiian islands lie along a fault, or area of shifting activity, where the manifestations of volcanic force had traveled from beyond Kauai, through Oahu, Molokai and Maui to Hawaii, which was the most recent of the islands.

Also, he said that it was entirely possible that there had been volcanic activity in Haleakala, without the fact becoming known, in historic times.

FOR A MEMORIAL.

Plans are being made for an Alice Mackintosh memorial at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Just what form the memorial will take has not been yet decided, but it will be something worthy to commemorate the life of the noble woman to whose memory it is to be dedicated.

BISHOP STALEY'S WIDOW IS DEAD

We have received the announcement of the death of Mrs. Staley, the widow of the first bishop of Honolulu, which took place near New Brighton, Cheshire, on May 4. The deceased lady during her residence for eight years in the Islands, made many warm friends, some of whom remain today. Warm, impulsive and generous to a fault she drew to her both young and old. The Hawaiians fully reciprocated the great affection she bestowed upon them. There is a grave of one of her children in the Nuanu consecrated cemetery, and every year on Decoration day it has a lei upon it. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Staley has lived with her son, the Rev. Leonard S. Staley, or with her daughters, Edith and Blanche. Her eldest son, Evelyn, who occupies a high position in India, returned to England in time to see her in her last moments. All her children now in England received the Holy Communion at her bedside. She was in fullest possession of all her faculties up to the very last. They buried her by the side of the bishop, her husband, at Bournemouth near Bournemouth.

Two daughters were absent from their mother's bedside—Constance, now Mrs. Copeland, who resides in Boston, Mass., and Mildred who is a physician in India. The latter paid a visit to Honolulu, her birth place, a few years ago. Queen Emma was her god-mother.—Anglican Church Chronicle.

THE HONOLULU CHINESE
DENOUNCE EXCLUSION ACT

At the Chinese meeting to discuss the Exclusion Act, briefly noticed in yesterday's issue, the first speaker was Mr. Akana, who gave a general review of the exclusion act and its history and urged the Chinese to be united in opposing it.

Ng Ping spoke on the subject, "How the Chinese should regard the Exclusion Act and how to urge the Chinese Government to Oppose It." He told how much the Chinese have done for the United States, in building the Pacific railroad and in other great enterprises. "After we have done so much," he said, "to open up the mineral wealth of America, and to develop the resources of the country, how unjust it is to cast us out. When the first agitation against the Chinese took place, in 1875, there were but 100,000 Chinese in the whole United States, while there were more than this number of other foreign laborers in many single states. It is claimed that the Chinese take away work from Americans but these alien laborers from other nations than China are really the ones who are driving out the American workman. Why this discrimination?"

"Now that exclusion is in force and few Chinese are entering the United States, now that there is no danger of a deluge of Chinese laborers, the exclusion laws are being made stricter. Why should this be? It is claimed that there is an exempt class, but the officials are doing all they can to hinder it from entering. This policy is the rankest injustice. When these people get their passports, pass their medical examination, have their clothes disinfected, and take the steamer to the United States, they are turned back. Is this justice?"

"The boycott is quite justified if we have a grievance. It is not an extreme stand. By it perhaps we may bring the Americans to a realization of what they are losing. Let us all stand together and be firm." (Tremendous applause.)

Kong Mau Tak was the next speaker, taking as his subject, "Our Duty as Chinese to Stand Against the Exclusion Act." He said in part: "The whole act is based on a lack of brotherly love, a spirit of unfairness (great applause). There are different classes of Chinese. Our scholars have been in the first rank and have taken honors, our farmers are industrious and have proved themselves to be the best laborers on the plantations. We want the world to know that the Chinese are men and will stand for their rights." (Tremendous applause.)

Ching Kim spoke on the theme, "America in Enforcing This Law is Losing Her Right to Claim to be an Enlightened Nation."

"Have we kept Americans out of our country?" he asked, amid loud cheers. "Yet America claims to be the enlightened country. We certainly can't stand such a law." Voice: "No, we can't," and cheers. "The injustice of it! Our wives and children are in China, they may be dying, yet they cannot come to us. What we want is fair play."

Rev. E. W. Thwing of the Fort street Chinese church spoke on the subject, "An American's View of the Exclusion Law." He urged that it was unjust, unprofitable and un-American. He showed how the Japanese and Koreans are admitted to the United States but not the Chinese, a manifest injustice. The Chinese must show America the value of Chinese labor and the value of Chinese trade, and urge the Chinese government to stand at least for a modification of the law. Mr. Thwing's speech was frequently interrupted by applause.

Lau Kan made a humorous speech urging the Chinese to contribute to the fund for fighting the law. He said that all the Chinese, whether in American or Chinese dress, were still Chinese and should stand together.

Ku Kwei Long made a strong speech, calling attention to the good order in the meeting and saying that the object was not to raise a row but to show the people that they were in earnest. When he showed how Japan had stood against oppression and war and said China must likewise stand, though peacefully, there was loud cheering. "We must be careful and not get caught in this treaty like the fly in the spider's web. Let us get all our relatives to sympathize in this movement."

Lee Khai Fai spoke on the boycott and its benefits. He recited the vital clauses in the exclusion law of 1884 and then took up the distinction between the exempt class and the laborers. He told how the Chinese Minister and other dignitaries had been shut out of some hotels on account of their being Chinese. He said that it had been proposed in San Francisco to segregate the Chinese quarter on the ground of its being insanitary. "It is true that some Chinese violate the sanitary laws but should the few cause the many to suffer? We are as cleanly as many other foreigners. On the steamers we are treated differently from other foreigners. This is unjust. I have been over the city and have not found one Chinese who was not a sympathizer in this cause." The speaker suggested that as Prince Pu Lun had been accorded such a hearty welcome here, perhaps he could influence the ministry to draft a new treaty. He closed with a plea for unity.

Choy Wan made a stirring appeal for unity. He said the Chinese had been treated like animals since the treaty went into effect.

At the close of the speeches the following resolution was introduced and passed unanimously amid cheers: "Whereas, since the exclusion act of the government of the United States was put into effect some twenty years ago against the Chinese people who reside in the United States many hardships and much ill treatment arising in consequence of this act have been in existence;

And, whereas the exclusion treaty between the governments of the United States and China expired some time ago and it is the intention of the government of the United States to induce the government of China to enter into another treaty of the same character and intent;

Therefore, be it resolved, that we the Chinese population of Hawaii, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby oppose the signing and ratification of the exclusion treaty by our government and heartily endorse the action of our countrymen in the Empire of China;

And, be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Foreign Office in Peking and all the principal cities, merchants, guilds and chambers of commerce throughout China."

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the owner of the theatre and three cheers for China.

HILO FINDS A NEW KINK

How Many Sheriffs Does County Law Give Hawaii?

HILO, June 30.—A question which is puzzling Sheriff-elect William Keolanui and other fusionist leaders is whether the enactment of a county law ipso facto terminates the terms of office of members of the Sheriff's Department. There is a feeling of unrest in the police force, and it has been rumored that none of the present incumbents will resign. It was reported that Capt. W. A. Fetter who as a republican was elected Deputy Sheriff for the district of South Hilo would refuse to serve under Sheriff Keolanui, but Capt. Fetter denies this statement most emphatically. If there is no express provision in the County Act providing for the termination of office of the present officers, the public may see the County of Hawaii presided over by two distinct and separate executive law officers. This would mean that before Sheriff Searle can be displaced by Sheriff-elect Keolanui, he must either resign or be removed by the Governor.

When interviewed Sheriff Searle was non-committal on the subject: "I have nothing to say for publication," said Sheriff Searle. "The question has been raised and there appears to be some ground for doubt on the subject. I certainly have no intention of resigning and, of course, if my term of office continues under the Territorial administration, there is no good reason why I should not retain office. This is a matter which I have given little consideration. If my office is vacated by operation of the County law, I am simply in the situation as described by John J. Ingalls of Kansas, when he failed of re-election. 'I am a statesman out of a job.' I have no plans whatever for the future."

It is understood that the matter has been regarded as such a serious matter, that Sheriff-elect Keolanui has retained C. M. LeBlond, special counsel to protect his interests.

PLEASANT SOCIAL FUNCTION.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hayes on Wai'anuenue street presented an animated scene of color and beauty last night, when about twenty couples traced the pretty figures of the german, given in honor of Miss Genevieve Venable, a cousin of the hostess. The parlors had been cleared and were tastefully decorated with ferns and evergreens, clusters of fragrant roses being conspicuous in the decorations. Settees and chairs were arranged along the verandas for the dancers, and the figures of the german were led by Miss Venable and Mr. Thos. C. Ridgway, with grace and dexterity. There was a profusion of beautiful and artistic favors of roses, butterflies, boutonnières, bouquets, etc., which lent color and variety to the dance. Mrs. S. C. Ridgway, Mrs. John Holland, Mrs. M. Rice and Mrs. W. T. Balding presided at the favor tables. Cooling refreshments of rose cake and sherbet were served during the evening and the dancing continued until long after the midnight hour. Miss Venable, who has been a teacher in the public schools of the Islands for the past eighteen months, leaves shortly for her home in Virginia. She has been a general favorite in social circles here and her presence will be greatly missed after her departure.

WELL-KNOWN WOMAN DIES.
Mrs. Johanna Wilhelm, for thirty-five years a resident of Hilo, died at her home on Volcano street on Tuesday morning after an illness of several weeks. Deceased was born in Berlin, Germany, in 1855 and at the time of her death was within three months of three score years and ten that is allotted to life. She arrived in Honolulu fifty years ago. Her husband died here in 1887. He had conducted a bakery at the corner now occupied by Hackfeld & Co., which deceased continued for a short time after his death and she in turn was succeeded by one of her sons. Mrs. Wilhelm leaves three sons, one of whom is in California, and three daughters, of whom Mrs. Sadler resides in Hakalau, Mrs. Luscomb in Hilo and the third in Honolulu.

HILO NOTES.
Superintendent Davis of the Department of Education, appointed Representative Jas. D. Lewis, Normal Inspector C. E. King and School Agent L. Severance as a committee to determine on a site for the new Hilo High School, for which $3,000 was appropriated at the last legislature. After considering the various sites suggested, the committee practically determined on the lot on which now stands the Riverside School.

The entertainment and ball to be given at Hilo Armory under the auspices of the Elks and the Hawaii Jockey Club on the night of the Fourth will be one of the distinctive features of the day's celebration. Nightly rehearsals have been held by the ladies and gentlemen taking part in the comedy of "Lend Me Five Shillings," which will precede the ball.

The banquet on Saturday evening at Demosthenes Cafe in celebration of St. John the Baptist Day, given by Kilaua Lodge of Masons, was a distinct success. Over sixty covers were laid and toasts were responded to by members of the Order. The banquet was in honor of Past Master F. Sousa, who departs shortly to make his home in Panama.

A LOT OF NEW THINGS

OLD HICKORY—Something new, odd, and dainty—decidedly artistic—in the way of porch and lawn furniture. Can be left out in all kinds of weather. It is a line of fashionable rustic furniture. It is made only of hickory, the strongest of American native woods, the bottoms and backs being plaited by hand and being of very strong inner hickory bark. For a den or lanai or even for your lawn there is nothing more odd than this.

NEW WEATHERED OAK SET—By the "Sonoma" we received a fine weathered oak dining-room set, consisting of a table, an odd buffet, a leaded glass china cabinet, two arm chairs, and eight regular dining chairs, these latter having green leather seats, which go well with the dark color of the oak.

We also received a very handsome golden quartered oak sideboard and a china cabinet—about as good as can be made in any furniture factory.

RUGS—New lot of all sizes of rugs, including fine Wilton's of all sizes.

WICKER CHAIRS And ROCKERS—A lot of cheap wicker work in the way of chairs and rockers is disposed of every year in Honolulu. Some of it lasts for a couple of months and some as long as a year, but the best on the market—that advertised in all the magazines—and the best of American make, made in American factories from the best Ceylon rattan, will last for years. We have a new lot of the American goods in chairs and rockers, of all patterns, shapes and sizes and at reasonable prices.

TAFT HITS NAIL ON THE HEAD

Secretary of War Taft, in his speech Thursday, hit the nail on the head, and leaving out the rabid union labor voter, the politician who depends on that vote, and the yellow journal that depends on those two classes for support and graft. It is safe to say the remarks of the Secretary meet the unqualified approval of Californians. For various reasons many do not care to become conspicuously antagonistic to the anti-sympathy with the following remarks of the Secretary:

"Is it just that for the purpose of excluding or preventing perhaps 100 Chinese coolies from slipping into this country against the law, we should subject an equal number of Chinese merchants and students of high character to an examination of such an inquisitorial, humiliating, insulting and physically uncomfortable character as to discourage altogether the coming of merchants and students?"

Then he said: "One of the great commercial prizes of the world is the trade with the 400,000,000 Chinese. Ought we to throw away the advantage which we have by reason of Chinese natural friendship for us and continue to enforce an unjustly severe law and thus create in the Chinese mind a disposition to boycott American trade and to drive our merchants from Chinese shores, simply because we are afraid that we may for the time lose the approval of certain unreasonable and extreme popular leaders of California and other Coast States? Does the question not answer itself? Is it not the duty of members of Congress and of the Executive to disregard the unreasonable demands of a portion of the community deeply prejudiced upon this subject in the Far West and insist on extending justice and courtesy to a people from whom we are deriving and are likely to derive such immense benefit in the way of international trade?"—San Francisco Commercial News.

WHY WIGHT WAS CHOSEN

Acting Governor Wishes
Manual Training
Promoted.

It would appear that some people have seen fit to question the selection of a business man, instead of a professional educator, to fill the vacancy on the Board of Education caused by the retirement of Dr. W. D. Alexander.
Acting Governor Atkinson himself is the first one to apprise the Advertiser of such criticism of the appointment.
In conversation with a reporter of this paper yesterday evening, Mr. Atkinson referred to opinions he had heard in that regard. He attributed the sentiment entirely to a lack of knowledge of Mr. Wight's qualifications, that gentleman's prominence in inter-island steam commerce and in the commercial interests of Honolulu, for these many years past, having overshadowed his attainments and qualities in other respects which, it will be seen, the Acting Governor has recognized in offering him the educational commission.
"I have appointed Mr. Wight, as a practical man, to the Board of Education," Mr. Atkinson said, "because I wish to have the manual training feature of education promoted."
"Mr. Wight understands the mechanical arts, besides which he takes a great interest in education. He is just the kind of man needed on the board to stimulate interest in manual training. Moreover, Mr. Wight is an educated man, being a graduate of the Annapolis Naval Academy. All these things, together with his great experience in business affairs, make him just the kind of man I wanted."
"I consider manual training in our schools one of the most important factors in bringing the youth of this Territory up to useful citizenship."

COOPER FIRST CHOICE

be a campaign for some reason or other.
It might be well to appoint a committee to canvass the situation and report back.
On motion of Mr. Hughes (Wm. Horner's proxy), seconded by Mr. Rawlins, it was voted to have a committee of three on rules, which the chair said it would appoint later.
FAREWELL TO STEWART.
Mr. Ka-ne then presented the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Cooke and carried unanimously:
"Whereas it is understood that Mr. T.
McCants Stewart is about to leave this Territory to reside on the mainland, and
"Whereas, Mr. Stewart has, during his sojourn in this Territory, been a prominent, enthusiastic and consistent Republican, whose valuable services have repeatedly been required by, and cheerfully given to, the Republican party:
"Resolved, that the Territorial Committee of the Republican party of the Territory of Hawaii, while expressing extreme regret at the departure of Mr. Stewart, bids him Aloha Nui, and trusts that he may have his full share of happiness and success during the rest of his career."

SAM JOHNSON'S DEFEAT.
Sam. Johnson, on mention of adjourning, rose and said he had a personal matter requiring settlement there and then. He was informed that there was an affidavit in existence—he believed it was in possession of someone in attendance there—which affidavit declared that he advised voters on election day to vote for Henry instead of Brown. It was a false, low, dirty piece of business and all he wanted was that the author of it should come into the open and show himself. Then he would know how to deal with the person.
Mr. Hughes got up, saying it was high time that regard should be compelled to straightforward Americanism in this Territory. There was entirely too much throat-cutting. It was true enough, perhaps, that mistakes had been made by party workers. Too many men followed the lines of least resistance, yet he thought Wm. Isaacs should not have been hunted down for anything he had done in the county campaign.

"It is time this sort of thing was stopped," Mr. Hughes said concluding.
"If this Territory is going to be a canker-spot in the American Union, it ought to drop out. Unless all this wrangling among ourselves be ended a proposition may take shape in Washington to cut us out altogether.
This committee ought to go on record for stopping the censure resolution business and the firing out of well-meaning party workers."

"All should unite to guard what all may share.
The general good should be the general care."
Loud applause greeted Mr. Hughes.
Mr. Johnson said he expected the matter relative to himself to come up.
He was told someone in the back room had the petition, and he wanted to see it. It was a small thing, but he wanted to find out who was at the bottom of
it. Then he would soon settle the business.
"I hope no such affidavit will come up," Mr. Cooke said in soothing tones.
"Mr. Johnson has been known to us for years as a solid Republican and a hard worker for the party. I think he is to be admired for the part he took in the late campaign. We should for-

THE TRUTH ALWAYS.

"When you are in doubt tell the truth." It was an experienced old diplomat who said this to a beginner in the work. It may pass in some things, but not in business. Fraud and deception are often profitable so long as concealed; yet detection is certain sooner or later; then comes the smash-up and the punishment. The best and safest way is to tell the truth all the time. Thus you make friends that stick by you, and a reputation that is always worth twenty shillings to the pound everywhere your goods are offered for sale. We are able modestly to affirm, that it is on this basis that the world-wide popularity of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION
rests. The people have discovered that this medicine is exactly what it is said to be, and that it does what we have always declared it will do. Its nature also has been frankly made known. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. A combination of supreme excellence and medicinal merit. Nothing has been so successful in Anemia, Scrofula, Bronchitis, Influenza, Loss of Flesh and Wasting Diseases, Weakness and Low Nervous Tone, and all complaints caused by Impure Blood.
Dr. Austin D. Irvine, of Canada, says: "I have used it in cases where cod liver oil was indicated but could not be taken by the patient, and the results following were very gratifying." It cannot deceive or disappoint you, is effective from the first dose and comes to the rescue of those who have received no benefit from any other treatment. It represents the dawn of progress.

get all the troubles of this last campaign."
Mr. Cooke was loudly applauded and,
as nobody produced any affidavit, the incident closed there.

ENCOURAGE COUNTY OFFICIALS.
Mr. Hughes then offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted, after which the meeting adjourned:
"Resolved, that this Central Committee extends its hearty Aloha to all county officers and promises them its moral support."

CONTRACTED CHRONIC DIAR-RHOEA WHILE IN THE PHILIP-PINES.

"While with the U. S. Army in the Philippines, I contracted chronic diarrhea. I suffered severely from this terrible disease for over three years and tried the prescriptions of numerous physicians, but found nothing that did me any good until I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, two small bottles of which entirely cured me and I have since had no return of the disease."—Herman

FOUR SCORE BOYS BACK FROM SPLENDID OUTING

Eighty boys representing eleven Boys' Clubs in the city of Honolulu returned on Saturday from a week's outing at Makua, Oahu. The boys had a royal good time and were in charge of Rev. E. B. Turner, who proved an admirable captain. The success of the outing was such that the youngsters are already beginning to talk about next year's encampment.

The eighty boys who grew brown in the camp were chosen by the different clubs. Every boy had to be in good and regular standing, and to pay fifty cents toward the camping expenses.
Benevolent business men of the city contributed $150. The Oahu Railroad made a rate of a cent a mile, the round trip-ticket being obtained for 80 cents. The company hauled all the baggage and provided a tank of water.
Senator McCandless gave the boys the run of his 5000-acre ranch. Fresh meat was supplied frequently through the generosity of Mr. von Holt.

Tents were pitched at the camp,
which is the same one used by the Ka-mahameha school boys. But the spirit of the out-of-door life was so strong that even at night the youngsters slept out in the open. They burrowed holes in the sand and then wrapping blankets about them planted themselves in the excavations, their feet extended toward a central bonfire.

Because of a very high surf the ocean bathing was particularly enjoyed. The boys were greatly elated over bagging four goats. Mountain climbing with cave exploration was a strong feature of daily life. One day the campers enjoyed a feast at which one hundred fish were disposed of, the fish being caught by the youngsters with the assistance of some native friends.

The nationalities of the boys were varied, comprising Hawaiians, predom-

CURE FOR HEARTWORM

Chas. Hustace Finds
Remedy for Sick
Dogs.

A cure for the disease of heartworm, which occurs in dogs in the islands with more or less fatal results, has been tried by Charles Hustace with pronounced success. The cure is really to the credit of John Ena.

Many valuable hunter dogs, as well as some of the ordinary types of dogs, have been lost to their masters. Hustace has noticed that when dogs have heartworm their lips and gums turn white, they waste away, have fainting fits and acquire a cough. The latter sticks closely to some, and in others it is intermittent. One of Hustace's dogs recently was afflicted with the malady and medical aid was rendered, but the animal grew worse.

Then John Ena suggested a remedy.
This is to prick a green papaya as it grows on the tree and, obtaining about 15 drops of the juice, add a tablespoonful of water and mix thoroughly. Administer this dose to the ailing dog about four times a day. Mr. Hustace's dog was cured, and he now is willing to give the benefit of his experience to others who have afflicted canines.

facto today at 12 o'clock noon, when Circuit Judge A. N. Kepoikai will administer the oaths to the newly elected officials.There will be no turnout of National guards, no luau, no parade or show of any kind—simply affirmations to oaths and nothing more.Treasurer L. M. Baldwin will not be present inasmuch as he was summoned to Honolulu yesterday morning.There has been some difficulty in securing the necessary bonds by at least two of the county officials, but probably the difficulty has already been overcome.All the supervisors are in Wailuku, having held an informal meeting on Wednesday.The Wailuku police postponed their farewell luau arranged for Friday until the return of ex-sheriff Baldwin from Honolulu.The Makawao police gave a fine farewell spread yesterday afternoon at the Makawao courthouse. The deputy sheriff, policemen, members of the local bar and others were present and report an enjoyable time.

WEDDING BELLS.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Estelle Swan to Mr. Frank Alvan Alexander, both residents of Paia, took place at the Spreckelsville home of Hon. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin, Thursday afternoon. The wedding was a private one, about thirty relatives being present.The ceremony took place on the large lanai, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. One corner was made most attractive with banks of fernsMrs. Kearns's Hawaiian ChutneyBetter than the foreign article because it is fresher and because the favorable climatic influences tend to give the ingredient a richer flavor.
Every boiling is made under personal supervision.

TESTIMONIALS.

Messrs. Lewis & Co. say: Four years ago Mrs. Annie Kearns commenced making "HOME MADE HAWAIIAN CHUTNEY" for us, and we have been entirely satisfied with her make, and cheerfully recommend the same to anyone.Messrs. Henry May & Co., Ltd., say:
Mrs. Annie Kearns makes our "HA-WAIIAN MANGO CHUTNEY," and we are quite satisfied with it. The quality leaves nothing to be desired.Messrs. C. J. Day & Co., say: We carry Mrs. Annie Kearns's Mango Chutney in stock, and are happy to testify to its excellent quality.The Manager of the Moana Hotel Co., Ltd., says: Mrs. Annie Kearns's
"HAWAIIAN MANGO CHUTNEY," is very good, and is much appreciated by the guests of the Hotel.Dr. Herbert, who is an authority on Chutney says: Your Chutney is very good, it is all right.

Moana Hotel,
June 20th, 1905.We have been using Mrs. Annie Kearns's Mango Chutney for some time past, and I can truthfully testify to its excellency. It is in fact superior to any Mango Chutney we have been using. Our guests, after having once tasted it, will order it again and again.Very respectfully, MOANA HOTEL,
Per J. H. GERTSCHE,
Manager.To Mrs. Kearns, Manager Mango Chutney Co.,
I have much pleasure in stating that the supply of Mango Chutney you supplied to the C. S. Restorer is being greatly relished by all, it being most palatable and appetizing, and all agree they have never tasted any Chutney to equal it in all their travels around the world.BASIL C. COMBE, Commander C. S. Restorer.

party stood under a huge bow of turlin-ton with ends caught at the sides.
The bridegroom dressed in white entered with Rev. Mr. Bazata and the bride on the arm of Mr. H. P. Baldwin to the music of Lohengrin's wedding march played on the piano by Mrs. H. A. Baldwin.The bride was charming in a handsome gown of soft, white silk and a veil fastened with a bridal wreath and maidenhair fern. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with white ribbons.After a most impressive marriage service performed by the Rev. B. V.
Bazata of the Makawao Foreign church, congratulations were offered to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander. Then followed a daintily served luncheon at small tables on the lanai.Soon after this, the happy couple boarded a special train for Wailuku amid showers of rice. The same evening they sailed to Honolulu by the steamer Mauna Loa on their way to the mainland, where they will remain for several months.

SHIPPING IMPROVEMENT.

The greatest sort of an improvement is being contemplated for the seaport of Kahului by the H. C. & S. Co. A wharf four hundred feet long, fronting the water is to be constructed and much dredging is to be done adjacent to it, and in a channel leading in, so that a depth of 30 feet of water will be available for large steamers and other vessels.The Claudine, the Nevada, a coal vessel like the George E. Bellings or a lumber schooner like the Olga can then make fast to the wharf and discharge cargo as is the custom in metropolitan Honolulu. A mammoth shed will completely cover this great pier. All this has been definitely decided upon and plans and specifications made, though no requests for bids for contracts have yet been published.Such an improvement as the foregoing is of direct benefit to all Maui residents, for the saving of lighterage fees and the cost in handling imported goods will lessen in a corresponding degree the price paid by consumers for such goods.

THE RUBBER INDUSTRY.

Last week D. C. Lindsay, James Lindsay and S. R. Dowdle visited the Nahi-ku rubber plantations and found that they were in a flourishing condition.
Of course the younger of the two rubber farms, the Koolau Rubber Co.'s, has made as yet little progress, the laborers under the direction of C. O.
Jacobs being busy clearing the land, formerly the property of Judge W. A.
McKay of Wailuku.Mr. Anderson, who is in charge of the Nahi Rubber Co.'s affairs on the land formerly belonging to W. E.
Shaw, is using the greatest care in arranging and starting the new plantation. For instance in planting trees, each individual seed is placed by itself in a small bottomless cup or cylinder of bamboo and watched most carefully, or otherwise in a very short time worms and bugs would play havoc with many embryo plants.It is now generally admitted that the soil of Nahi is not adapted for sugar-raising, but in regard to rubber everything up to the present time looks favorable. So men of experience state.

NOTES.

On Sunday last the Corpus Christi celebration at the Wailuku Catholic Mission was largely attended. Trains were run from Paia, Punene and Kihei, and the people from the different villages near Wailuku completely filled thirteen large cars. A free train was run by the plantation between Hamakuapo and Paia.Saturday evening, June 24, an enjoyable party was given at Maunaloa Seminary, Paia, by Misses Sheffield and Agnes Fleming. A candy pull and dancing were features of the evening's entertainment.Some of the Sunday schools connected with the Hawaiian churches of Maui will hold a convention at Makena on the 16th.A grand ball will be given in Castle hall, Wailuku, the night of the 3rd, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. The celebrations of the 4th will consist of the races at Spreckels's Park, Kahului, and a picnic by Maka-wao people on the grounds of Maunaloa Seminary.Eli B. Snyder has resigned his position as principal of the Ulupalakua government school and will purchase land either on this island or on Oahu, and raise lily bulbs for the mainland market. The department of education loses a most excellent teacher in Mr.
Snyder.C. B. Kinney, postmaster and train-dispatcher at Kahului, has resigned and will depart for Honolulu today to take charge of the Honolulu wireless office during F. J. Cross's vacation to be spent on the mainland.Geo. Schrader has resumed his old position in charge of Kahului postoffice.By Wednesday's Maui, Hon. C. H.
Dickey and his two daughters, Mrs.
Merrill and Miss Belle Dickey, arrived on Maui and will spend the summer at their Haiku residence.Mrs. Z. K. Meyers of Honolulu was also a passenger by Wednesday's steamer and will visit Mrs. F. L. Stols at "Idelwild" on Haleakala's slope.Today Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Dinegar of Punene depart for New York via Honolulu for a two months' holiday.Holmes Beckwith of California is visiting his grandfather, Dr. Beckwith of Hamakua. He returned from the volcano of Kilauea on Friday.It is reported that Captain Parker of the Claudine has resigned and will take a position on a deep-sea vessel.Yesterday James Kirkland gave up the management of the Kahului store but will not leave Maui until after the 4th.On Sunday the four-masted schooner Olga arrived in Kahului with a cargo of lumber for Kahului Railroad Co.
The steamer Alaskan, after loading sugar two days at Kaanapali, arrived in Kahului on Wednesday. She departed for Hilo yesterday afternoon, having taken aboard considerable Maui sugar.Today the bark Kaulani cleared from Kaanapali for San Francisco.Weather—Extremely warm; cooler today and yesterday because the trades have resumed their functions.PORTUGUESE ARE READYWould Decorate the City Hillsides with Vineyards.As reported in this paper, Frank P.
Sargent, U. S. Commissioner of Immigration, addressing the Territorial Board of Immigration, spoke of the probability of a grape wine industry if people from Northern Italy were introduced here. It happened that within an hour before that meeting, J. W.
Pratt, Commissioner of Public Lands, in the course of conversation with an Advertiser reporter on land settlement matters, broached an idea of how a considerable grape-growing and wine-making industry might be created right in the environs of Honolulu.Mr. Pratt referred to the reservation of the Makiki watershed lands for the purposes of Honolulu's water supply.
There is an area of about 1000 acres and Mr. Pratt estimates its value at an average of $150 an acre, or $150,000 for the whole. As a matter of fact, there are bottom lands within the confines of the reservation assessed as high as $7-000 an acre.At six per cent, per annum, $150,000 represents $9000 a year to the Territory's debt against whatever the reservation may yield in value of water. Yet all of the Makiki water in sight, Mr. Pratt says, would not make a volume of more than one-third the capacity of a six-inch pipe.It looks to Mr. Pratt, who has had large experience both in tax assessing and water rates adjusting, like a very high price to pay for the quantity of water. He considers that it would be more economical to pump water from the ample subterranean resources known to exist, particularly at Pawaa, in that district. Especially is he impressed with this opinion because the surface water requires filtration to insure its purity, which the artesian water does not.Mr. Pratt, with the views just mentioned, declared his belief that, should he give notice to the Portuguese Consul that the Makiki reservation would be offered for settlement in small lots, a day would not pass until applications covering the entire area were filed.The result of such settling of the land by Portuguese would be seen in hillsides covered with vineyards, adding greatly to the scenic attractions of Honolulu. Then the revenue from taxes on the holdings would far exceed the cost of finding water from another source. Moreover, the cultivation of ground now bare would tend to improve the climate and, as trees and shrubs would be included in the culture, the purpose of conservation of moisture in the soil, benefiting the natural reservoir underground, would incidentally be subverted.

TRIBUTES TO HAWAII FROM TWO VISITORS

Tributes to Hawaiian scenery and volcanic phenomena have been received by the Hawaii Promotion Committee as follows:

My visit to this most charming spot will never be forgotten. It presents nature in grandeur and loveliness. Here at Kilauea one finds opportunity to learn the terrible force of nature, as well as to view with admiration its wondrous works. At the Volcano House are rest and refreshments, with a grandeur of scenery that cannot but please the most fastidious.

F. P. SARGENT,
U. S. Commissioner General of Immigration.

John L. Lott, Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "It requires a greater command of language than I possess to adequately describe the charm of the Hawaiian Islands—the gems of the Pacific—or the charm and hospitality of their people."

CATHOLIC CHOIR SCORES SUCCESS

A gratifying success was scored by the Catholic cathedral choir in its concert at Progress hall on Saturday evening. There was a large attendance, by which the program was greatly enjoyed. Rev. Father Ulrich was the director. The first number was an open chorus by the choir, "Tantum Ergo," vocal solos and instrumental music following. A dance succeeded the concert.

The entertainment realized $252.85 over all expenses, those of installing a new harmonium included, which sum goes to the choir funds. The harmonium has recently been purchased for cash and is now on the way.

Father Ulrich and the members of the choir wish to convey their thanks both to the musicians who assisted them on the occasion and to the public who so generously patronized the entertainment.

There is a heap of satisfaction in a good, mixed drink. When you are next near the CRITERION call in and sample the handiwork of our champion mixologists who will be happy to concoct anything you may call for.

CRITERION mixed drinks are scientifically prepared and are calculated to cause a man to forget all his cares.

"The disease made its appearance first in New York City, but has apparently traveled overland to the Pacific Coast and from there to the islands."

FOR ARMY SUB-POSTS.

At the next meeting of the Wailuku Improvement Association, to be held July 13, Representative W. J. Coelho will ask that a resolution be passed asking the Federal Government through its War Department to establish sub-posts on each island and maintain a detachment of regulars.—Maui News.

SEA AND SHORE

TACOMA (Wash.), June 16.—The bark Coloma, just arrived at Everett to load lumber, caught fire on May 25th when 1200 miles from Honolulu. Flames were seen coming from the starboard galley. Pumps were quickly manned and the vessel was saved after a fierce fight lasting several hours.

The entire crew set to work with pumps, buckets and tanks to flood her decks. Despite this, the flames spread quickly and the mainsail was soon on fire. The balance of the rigging was saved by cutting down the burning sail. The bark's only life boat was burned.

The fire gutted the galley donkey-room and sail loft. It was placed under control by stopping the scuppers and flooding the decks. Several sailors lost their clothes and belongings. After making temporary repairs the vessel continued on her journey without putting back to Honolulu.
