RUBBER CULTURE ON HAWAII

From a Commercial Standpoint. Different Varieties Considered. Best Is

THE CASTILLOA ELASTICA

For the Hawaiian Islands.
How to Plant. Mature in Eight Years. The Government Should Act on It.

The following extract from an article by John Kidwell on rubber culture, in the November number of the Hawaiian Forester and Agriculturist, will be read with peculiar interest by those who believe in the future of the rubber industry on Maui.

Castilloa elastica is perhaps among the more desirable kinds of rubber producing trees, all things considered, the one most likely to give satisfactory results in this Territory. It is found growing wild in Mexico up to 21 degrees north latitude, and reaches down several degrees south of the equator, from sea level up to more than 3,000 feet elevation, though it is said not to yield much rubber at anything over 2,000 feet. The latter statement is, perhaps, very much like a Scotch verdict, not proven, the evidence in the case being that an isolated tree was found at the higher altitude, and on tapping it yielded no rubber; barren trees of both Castilloa and Hevea have been found growing side by side in the forests with fertile trees, the natives putting their private marks on the barren trees, indicating that they are not worth bothering with, and they call them "ma'le" trees, although they bear seed as freely as the prolific ones. In the East Indies the preference has so far been given to the Hevea, although the Castilloa has its advocates there also. In the West Indies they seem to prefer the Castilloa, but they are many exceptions there also. In Mexico and Central America the planters confine themselves almost entirely to Castilloa elastica as a matter of course, the tree being found right at their doors. It is estimated that at least twenty million dollars have been invested by the people of the United States in rubber plantations in Mexico and Central America during the last 10 years. Like all the foregoing kinds Castilloa will grow readily from cuttings, but planters generally consider that seedlings are to be preferred. According to Mr. Koschny, a resident of Costa Rica and a student of the Castilloa elastica there are two kinds of this tree also, the light and dark colored barks, but contrary to the Hevea Braziliensis, in this case it is the light bark that is good, the dark ones, he says, are not worth planting.

Perhaps the safest plan to follow in this case would be to secure a supply of the light colored cuttings for seed bearers, and a quantity of selected seed, the product from which could be weeded out as soon as they become old enough to show their true character. Besides, the cutting would probably produce seed much sooner than the seedlings would. The seed is said to remain good after becoming ripe, if washed clean of pulp, and packed in dry, pulverized charcoal, about 45 days, after which they soon lose their vitality, and if they do grow the seedlings are puny. In October of last year the Department of Agriculture at Washington issued Bulletin 49, being a report by O. F.

Cook of his observations of the Rubber Tree in Central America under cultivation and otherwise.
This Bulletin is in the library of the U. S. Experimental Station, and probably J. G. Smith, the Director, would allow anyone who might be particularly interested in rubber to read it. Mr. Cook is evidently a shrewd observer, and and while he concedes that under favorable conditions the cultivation of the rubber tree is entirely practical, and may prove to be profitable, he yet deems it to be his duty to caution the people of the United States to go slow in putting their money into any of the "get rich quick" propositions now so rampant in Central America. In saying this he desires it to be distinctly understood that he does not include all of the rubber planting undertakings in this class. He is of the opinion that Castilloa elastica does not require a continuously humid climate to grow well and to be productive, nor does the falling of its leaves during the dry season do it any harm, but rather that it is a protection against the drought. Mr. Cook thinks that there is but one excuse for planting Castilloa under the shade of other trees and that is to avoid the expense of clearing the land. Castilloa thrives best when planted in the open; any shade that may be needed for the ground can be secured by planting the young trees near together, say 10x10 feet apart, with a view to thinning them out later on should it appear to be necessary.
This tree attains a height of 60 to 80 feet and a diameter of 3 or 3.5 feet, a yard from the ground; the Hevea grows somewhat larger.
The yield of the Castilloa taking the year through is probably about the same as that of Hevea, although some wonderful reports have come from Central America of Castilloa trees having produced 50 pounds of rubber each at one tapping, but it does not appear that there were any witnesses present. This tree, like the Hevea, should not be tapped before it is 8 years old even under the most favorable conditions of growth, 10 years being a safer age at which to begin tapping.

Little need be said at this time relative to the processes of extracting the latex and preparing the rubber for market; it is enough to say that both are very simple, requiring more care than actual skill and as improved implements for tapping the trees, and better methods for coagulating the latex are being brought into use every year it will be safe to defer consideration of this part of rubber production until our crop approaches maturity.

In view of the long wait for a crop of rubber, not to mention its uncertainty, it would seem to be well, if the Government could see its way clear to do so, for it to send one of its own men to Mexico and Brazil to secure seeds and cuttings of the best kinds of Castilloa elas-tica and Braziliensis in order to be in a position to sell stock to those who may be willing to try rubber cultivation in this Territory; the Government of Ceylon has found it profitable to do so. There is certainly a large area of suitable land in these Islands where rubber trees would be perfectly at home, which cannot be put to any other use owing to the roughness of its surface and it may yet be found that much of the higher land which is not suitable for sugar would be adapted to the cultivation of rubber.

The Zebra.

German papers say the mule will probably be replaced in the twentieth century by a more efficient animal, as it has been demonstrated that the mule—the cross between the donkey and horse—is inferior to the cross between the horse and zebra.

Formerly the opinion prevailed that the zebra was almost extinct.
The opening up of Africa, particularly the eastern part, reveals these fine animals in large numbers.

Compared with horses and cattle, they possess peculiar advantages, as they are immune from the very dangerous horse disease of Africa, and also against the deadly tsetse fly. The question was therefore raised whether the zebra could not take the place of the mule, commonly used in the Tropics. The greatest credit with reference to the solution of this problem is due to Prof. Cossar Ewart, who has been trying since 1895 to produce crosses between horses and zebras, with a view to developing an animal superior in every respect to the mule.

Three species of zebras still exist in Africa: The so-called "Grevy" zebra, on the high plateaus of Schoa; the common, or mountain, zebra, formerly found everywhere in South Africa; and the "Burchell" zebra.

Professor Ewart produced crosses from mares of different breed and zebra stallions of the Burchell kind. The offspring is called "zebrula," and on account of its form and general bodily condition, especially the hardness of the hoofs, is especially adapted for all transport work heretofore performed by mules. The zebrula is much livelier than the mule and at least as intelligent.

The Indian government has already experimented with zebrulas for transporting mountain artillery at Quetta.

In Germany much interest in this animal is manifested. The well-known Hagenbeck is experimenting in this direction and intends to introduce the zebrula into Germany and America. The zoological garden at Berlin possesses some very fine specimens. The zebra stripes are often well preserved, while the undertone of the skin is generally that of the mother. A full-grown zebrula is 14 hands high and the girth circumference about 160 centimeters (63 inches).

The experiments so far have been so successful that it is predicted that the zebrula, during the present century, will completely supersede the mule.

Watermelon Syrup.

In York County, Virginia, they are making watermelon syrup, which is said to be rich and soft in taste, and as good as it sounds.

The South sends the earliest watermelon away. She can by no means eat all the latter and the best. Inevitably, there is great waste of watermelon. Watersyrup, watermelon sugar; there is a new industry in the bud. If the flavor of watermelon syrup is as happy as it is painted, maple syrup will have to look to its laurels. Besides, it is getting harder every year, in the cities at least, to get genuine maple syrup.

The storm has checked travel, and Wailuku seems quite dull and lonesome this week.

Now we are ready for your job work. Prompt and satisfactory results guaranteed.

Foreign mail was received twice this week at Wailuku, via Tuesday's and Thursday's Likelike.

The return kona storm reached Maui on Monday night and it rained steadily for twenty four hours.

The doctors report that the health of the Wailuku people is very unsatisfactory, from the physician's standpoint.

Christmas has already come at the Post Office Store. Drop in and look over Vollesen's line of Christmas goods.

Our old cylinder press is now for sale, and will come in quite handy as a cane crusher in some of the big Maui mills.

In the shipping column will be found the schedule for the American-Hawaiian line of steamers for the next six months.

Puunene Mill has already turned out about 20,000 sacks of sugar this season, and has hardly got under good headway yet.

The Chinese of Wailuku are erecting a large two-story building on Vineyard street, to be used as a Chinese Joss House.

The installation of the new drum cylinder press in the News office this week unavoidably delayed the hour of going to press.

The Ranier Beer handled by the Maui Wine & Liquor Co. is bottled at the factory in Seattle, and not in San Francisco or Honolulu.

The recent storms have seriously interfered with sea fishing, the only ones caught now being those of the fluky tribe which are in the cans.

All needed material has been received to complete the new schoolhouse, and the contractor will soon be ready to turn it over to the authorities.

Visitors from the country are scarce this week, as the roads are quite muddy and the men folks are all very busy with the news cane crop.

If you are in doubt about what to send your folks back home as a Christmas present, try a subscription to the Maui News. They will appreciate it.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Kaahumanu Church, at its irregular meeting at the Church tomorrow evening at six o'clock, will be led by Miss Babb.

The Wailuku Improvement Association met on Tuesday evening with a good attendance. A brief of the proceedings will be found in another column.

It is intimated that the bid for the jail and fire department building may be reduced to the limit of the appropriation made by the legislature for that purpose.

The Honolulu Photo Supply Co. is now doing a large and growing business on Maui, and deserves praise for the promptness and satisfaction with which all orders are filled.

Despite the rain, the sale of fancy articles held by the Ladies' Guild of Wailuku last Tuesday afternoon proved quite a success, nearly everything being sold, and over $50 being realized.

The championship cup presented by Mr. Kirkland to the Morning Star Base Ball team is on exhibition in the display windows at Rodriguez's Store. It is a very handsome piece of silver service.

Sam Dacker has rented the old post-office building in the Danley Block, Wailuku, next door to the Barber Shop, and will open up today with a stock of gentlemen's finishing goods and ready to wear clothing.

Notice.—Dr. W. G. Rogers, Oculist and Aurist, will arrive on Maui next Wednesday, December 14, and remain a week or ten days. Those wishing to see him can call up Pala Hospital on Wednesday and Thursday.

Sugar is being rapidly piled up in the Kahului warehouses awaiting shipment. Some 1600 tons have already been received and about 6000 tons will probably be received by the end of the month, when the first shipment of the season, some 5,200 tons, will be made on the Nevada, which is scheduled to arrive early in January.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Holds Regular Meeting. Fair Attendance. General Important Matters Discussed.

On Thursday evening the Improvement Association held its regular monthly meeting at the Wailuku Court House, D. L. Case in the chair and W. J. Coelho as secretary. A fair attendance was present, and many important matters were brought up for discussion.

Chairman Coelho of the tree committee reported that during the visit of Governor Carter to Maui, his attention was called to the matter of tree planting on Maui, and he promised to send Forester Hosmer over here to make investigations with the view of determining the trees best adapted, and he also promised to assist in furnishing the proper seeds and cuttings. Chairman Coelho also stated that the tree committee is hampered in its work in tree planting along road sides by the fact that the lines of the roads are not definitely laid out, and he suggested the appointment of a committee which would attend to the matter of having definite lines fixed. H. M. Coke chairman of the committee on armory site had found a piece of land adjoining the new school grounds, belonging to the Wailuku Sugar Co. which might be secured by the government in exchange for outside property, and moved that a committee of one be appointed to confer with Governor Carter as to the exchange.

The Lyons lot on Maui street was also discussed, some seeming to prefer the latter lot, if obtainable. Mr. Wadsworth and Judge McKay urged expedition in the matter, as the time will soon elapse when the appropriation will be available.

The matter of the contract for constructing the Jail and Fire Department Building was brought up by Mr. Harry, and it was stated that if slight changes proposed were adopted, the award for the contract for $3000 would be made.

On motion of H. M. Coke, the Chairman was appointed a committee of one to confer with the Governor at once and ask for immediate action on Maui appropriations. Judge McKay moved the appointment of a committee of three to prepare an emergency resolution to the effect to Governor Carter. Messrs. McKay, Coke and Ault were appointed such committee, and presented the following resolution which was adopted:

Whereas, the term within which the money appropriated for public improvements in the District of Wailuku will expire June 30, 1905; and

Whereas, the citizens of Wailuku feel that the improvements are urgently needed;

Be it resolved, that this Association urge upon the Executive the necessity of prompt action in the matter of the expenditure of these appropriations, and that a copy of these resolutions, be forwarded directly to Governor Carter.

Chairman Case read a letter from President Pinkham of the Board of Health, in answer to a prior letter, stating that there are no funds to pay a sanitary inspector, and suggesting that the Wailuku police look after the matter. It was stated that Mr. George Weight had been appointed Food Inspector without salary, and Messrs. W. G. Scott and S. B. Harry volunteered to act in the same capacity, if commissions were issued to them.

Considerable discussion was had relative to the neglect of road boards to meet and attend to road business, W. J. Coelho citing one instance which had come under his notice at Kanae where a defective bridge had been removed under promise that the Hana road board would meet at once and have a new bridge built. Three months have since elapsed, and the Road Board have not yet had time to meet and order a new bridge.

In the meantime the school teacher and school children, who live on the opposite of the stream from the schoolhouse are frequently unable to reach school on account of high water. Mr. Harry introduced a resolution that a committee of three be appointed to write to prominent citizens in Wailuku District for the purpose of electing their views as to the propriety of changing our road board system. The matter was referred to the executive committee for action.

Mr. Coelho, as representative elect invited the Association to prepare and lay before all the representatives elect such matters as require legislative action, specifying particularly such regulations as would give more uniformity to permissions to visit the leper settlement, also needed road regulations.

Up Country Notes.

A. S. Prescott and James Correll of Kahului were returning passengers from Honolulu Wednesday. It is said you can see their horns growing.

The steamer Hawaii called in at Kahului Wednesday for some mules which she is taking to Hawaii.

The Claudine had an unusually large cargo for Kahului this week.

Sugar is piling up very rapidly at the different mills. If it can only be got on the market at the present prices the plantations will reap a rich benefit.

The typhoid patients from Maunaloa seminary have quite recovered and most of them have returned home.

Mrs. F. F. Baldwin who was quite ill last week is much improved.

Attorney Magoon and Mr. Chambers of Honolulu are up on Maui. They left Wednesday for Hana by Steamer Claudine.

Christmas falls on Sunday this year but it is hoped the plantations will observe Monday instead.

O. W. Gullick of the Honolulu Japanese Mission is visiting Maui.

The pumping in plants on Spreckelsville are closed down for the present due to the heavy rains we have had lately.

The late rains will be very beneficial to the pasture lands of Kila and Makawao which until very recently have had scarcely any rain.

A new assistant chemist is expected at Puunene Mill this week.

LAHAINA LINES.

The walls of the commodious and handsome buildings at Lahaina are now up, and they will soon be roofed in.

Rev. T. Chumura, the first Japanese pastor in this town, was here on a visit last week.

Church services were held last Sunday as usual, although the weather was quite inclement.

Mr. Schiefer Promoted.

Mr. Waldemar Schiefer, who came to Wailuku a month ago to accept a position as assistant bookkeeper and chemist with the Wailuku Sugar Co., received this week a flattering offer from the Ewa Plantation as chemist, which he has concluded to accept, and he will at once leave for his new field of labors.

Not only his employers here, but also the many friends he made during his short stay with us will regret to see him go. His marked energy and ability make him a decided acquisition to any plantation, and his genial social qualities, no less than his accomplishments as a musician have won him a warm place in the hearts of those who had the pleasure of meeting him here, and wherever he may go he will be followed by the Aloha of his many Wailuku friends.

Died At His Post.

Mr. Carl Braun, for many years night watchman at the Lihue Plantation Mill on Kauai, was found dead, sitting in his watchman's chair at the Lihue mill last Saturday morning. He died of heart disease, and his end had evidently been sudden and painless.

Mr. Braun was a native of Germany, aged sixty-seven years, but had for many years been a resident of the Islands. He leaves six children, four daughter and two sons, one of the latter being Mr. Charles Braun of the Maui Telephone Co., who is stationed at Wailuku.

NOTICE

TO THE PATRONS OF CITY MARKET.

Notice is hereby given that all bills or accounts due the City Market of Wailuku, Maui, T. H. shall hereafter be payable to The First National Bank of Wailuku or to A. G. Dickens.

From this date all receipts must be signed by the said First National Bank of Wailuku or by A. G. Dickens. Receipts bearing other signature will be worthless and void.

This by virtue of a certain mortgage dated September 24th, 1904, and recorded in Book 249 on pages 170 and 173 in the office of the Registrar at Honolulu, and Power of Attorney executed by W. H. Cornwell to The First National Bank of Wailuku under date of September 24th, 1904.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Sheffield and Miss Gay were visitors to Honolulu by last Saturday's boat.

A. Borba Jr. of the Market Saloon returned from Honolulu by Wednesday's steamer.

W. Lougher of Puanene paid a brief business visit to Wailuku on Thursday morning.

Attorney J. L. C. Ke of Wailuku drove over to Lahaina on Tuesday on a professional trip.

Miss A. Dunn, Mrs. F. S. Dunn and 4 children booked on Saturday's steamer for Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Aiken of Paia are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Baldwin of Makaweli, Kauai.

Charles Wilcox of Kihui was in Wailuku yesterday closing up a Land Commission's sale of real estate.

Attorney P. N. Kahokoluna of Paia was in Wailuku on Wednesday attending to professional business.

Mr. Haworth of the Bulletin Honolulu has gone to the Coast with no definite time fixed for his return.

Mr. Carnegie has resigned his position as assistant manager of the Maui Hotel, and left this week for Oahu.

Dr. Rogers, the oculist and artist will arrive by next Wednesday's steamer to spend a week or ten days on Maui.

L. A. Perry of Paia, H. Davis & Co. came over on Wednesday's Claudine to spend the Christmas holidays on Maui.

Messrs George H. Dunn and W. F. Crisler drove over from Lahaina yesterday and will spend today in Wailuku.

Messrs. J. J. Corell and A. S. Prescott of the Kaula Store left for Honolulu by Saturday's Likie to join the herd of Hiks.

R. W. Shingle and Dr. J. H. Raymond who spent last week in the Kula and Ulapakua district left for Honolulu by Saturday's steamer.

Mr. Frank Atherton, who was for some time in charge of the First National Bank at Wailuku, leaves Honolulu today for a trip to the Coast.

Mr. Robert Anderson, who was to have gone to Nalihi this week to look up the rubber proposition, was detained in Honolulu, but will be along next Wednesday.

Attorney D. H. Case left for Honolulu last night, and as Chairman of the Improvement Association will incidentally touch up Governor Carter on Maui appropriations.

Attorney John Richardson of Lahaina sent the early part of the week in Wailuku on professional business. He states that the report that he intends starting a democratic paper on Maui is a canard.

Mr. C. D. Lufkin, manager of the First National Bank of Wailuku returned on Thursday's Likie, accompanied by his wife. They have spent some time with the "old folks at home" back in Illinois. Master Frank remained to attend school in Illinois. Mr. Lufkin reports that all lines of business are flourishing in the States.
