Suggestive Results of Observation Made by a Student of Signs of Character,

[Tid-Bits ] The following suggestive results of observation are contributed by a student of the various outward manifestations of character: Eyebrows that are far apart show warmth, frankness, impulse, and a generous, unsuspicious nature. Where they meet, the owner will be ardent in love, but jealous and suspicious. Eyebrows which are higher at starting, and pass in long, sweeping lines over the eyes, drooping slightly downward at the termination, give artistic feeling and a sense of beauty in form. When they are very close to the eyes, forming one line on strongly defined eyebones, they indicate strength of will and determination. Strongly marked at the commencement, and terminating abruptly without sweeping past the eyes, they reveal an irascible and impatient nature. The slightly arched eyebrows are indicative of se-sitiveness and tenderness. If straight at the commencement and slightly arched at the temples, they show firmness of purpose and tender-ness of heart. The eyebrows of per-sons who are deficient in the science of figures are very much raised at the ter-mination, leaving a wide space between them and the corners of the eyes. If they are close to the eyes at the end, it is an almost invariable sign of mathe matical talent. When the eyebrows are of the same color as the hair, we may look for firmness, resolution, and constancy, but if lighter than the hair, they signify weakness and indecision; if darker, the temper is ardent, passionate and inconstant. When the hair is ruffled and growing in contrary directions it accompanies an energetic, easily irritated nature. The hair is fine and soft when the disposition is ardent but tender. Short hairs lying closely together and leaning one way show a firm mind, and good, un-erring perceptions. Eyebrows whose hair is bent downward, almost meeting the eyelashes when the eyes are raised, indicate tenderness and melancholy The nearer they are to the eyes the more earnest, deep, and firm the character. The more remote, the more volatile and less resolute.

Mormon Recruits. [New York Cor. Detroit Free Press.] Recruiting for Mormondom seems to Recruiting for Mormondom seems to go on quite as successfully in some parts of Europe as it ever did. Every month or two a fresh batch of recruits is landed in New York and started off for Utah by the first train. The latest batch, numbering about 300, in charge of a baker's dozen of elders, was landed a few days ago. They were picked up in England, Germany and the Scandinavian country, and in appearance they were at least up to the in appearance they were at least up to the average of immigrants. The men looked rather dull and the women rather plain, but that might be said of nearly all steerage passengers when they land.

Almost the whole of the Mormon recruiting is done in northern Europe. France, Italy and Spain don't take to the polygamous idea at all, and the missionaries found out long since that it did not pay to spend either time or money in those countries. Some recruiting is done in New York and the region around, but it does not amount to much.

FRIDAY, : : AUGUST 30, 1889

Are Protestant missions in Hawaii a failure? This will be the first question asked on perusing the summary of the annual report of the Secretary of the Hawaiian Mission Board in another column, where a brief but graphic outline is given of the present condition of the native churches. It is there stated that in 1859 there were 17,978 church members in the Hawaiian Islands; in 1869, they had decreased to 12,497; in 1879, to 7,258, and in 1889, to 2,650. If we remember rightly, it was in 1863 that Dr. Anderson of Boston, came to these Islands and broke up the former system of having foreign pastors, and ordered that native pastors should be placed in charge of the native churches. This was done against the advice of many who were supposed to be better judges of the necessities of the mission and of the natives than he was.

Now, mark the results which followed, and have continued to this day—a falling off from nearly 18,000 church members to 2,650, as now reported! The native preachers may be very worthy men, but they have not the ability to act as pastors of the churches. A great mistake was made when the A. B. C. F. M. decided on this change, and the result will be that within a few, perhaps ten years, the Protestant Mission in Hawaii will be practically extinguished, and the natives will have become wholly Roman Catholics and Mormons, unless some radical change is made. It is now claimed that onethird of the entire population are Catholics and one-eighth are Mormons, making a total of over 18,000 in these two denominations, while the Protestant churches number only 2,650. And this result is due almost entirely to Dr. Anderson's suicidal

"GONE AWAY" --- YORICKS! TALLY HO!

There is no doubt that after having carefully prepared a grievance, it is very hard to find that no grievance exists. It is one of those cases which might bring tears to the eyes of a brass monkey and make even a crocodile weep. Such seems to be the position of the nameless correspondent in our evening contemporary who undertakes to try and answer our editorial of last Tuesday upon the coming election. The nameless effusion was evidently meant for an editorial, but our contemporary could not father it and clapped "communicated" on top.

The writer starts out on a "hunt for opposition" to the present ministry and after following a blind trail or two, finally comes to the conclusion that the opposition will come from a "moneyed clique." Whom this clique may be composed of, he fails to show. It is some intangible bug-a-boo which he believes lives in our editorial rooms. He will have a very hard "hunt" to find it. He acknowledges that ministry have made the present restriction act "operate to the total exclusion of Chinese" but says "anyone knows that they cannot keep this up indefinitely, let heavy, only seventeen being killed.

Now, if this bug-a-boo exists, upon the writers' own showing, it must be a small one; and if the "grievance" about Chinese is not caused by the action of the ministry, why the ministry must have a large following behind them which will enable them to keep up exclusion and "carry more sail." The writer acknowledges that the ministry have been doing what he wishes them to do, but is afraid that at some future time they will not be strong enough to continue to do so. The logical conclusion to all this is for the writer to throw his vote for the ministry and help strengthen their hands. It is a very simple matter. The ministry are doing right, give them every opportunity to keep on. The ministry are thoroughly independent men, and have shown their grit often enough to prove to the country that they will not and cannot be bulldozed by any clique, moneyed or moneyless.

The writer should let us know more definitely what his platform really is. Out of the wordy mass he has produced it is impossible to pick out what he really does mean. He appears like the immigrant at Castle Garden, who, hearing that the Great Republic had a government, at once stated, "I'm agin it." He is "agin" the Cabinet because it is a Cabinet, and because it has a policy of "Chinese exclusion."

With one statement in the "communication" we agree viz: "Some one at the ballot box must be held responsible for the delay in the constitutional amendment;" but it cannot be the present cabinet. Mr. Thurston's views on the question have been most vigorously expressed and Mr. Thurston is not a weather cock to lightly change. We think those will be held responsible for it, who, having put their hand to the plough, grew somewhat weary of the work, and saying they considered all safe, quietly went to take their own pleasure. It is a well worn quotation that "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance" and it may be added that the price of carrying measures through the legislature is being present to vote for the measures when they come up for reading.

Street Car Etiquette.

Mr. Editor: There is a custom that is sometimes practiced on the street cars, of the conductors demanding from Chinamen their seats to be given to ladies. It is as well to remember that these people do not generally understand our feeling of gallantry, and after paying for, luku, and Miss Ostrom, in Kohala, have and taking their seats, they must look upon such an act as being done Chinamen, for it is done to no one the San Francisco Japanese Mission, of that I am sure that the one who spoke to me yesterday on the subject, expressed the feelings of the rest of her sex, when she said, that while thanking the conductors for their intended kindness, it is not pleasant for her, and she would prefer never to take the seat of any person that has not been voluntarily offered.

so successful in Chicago that the cost of the last orders for 1,000 small plant is to be largely increased.

The town of Spokane, in Washington, has been devasted by fire, the damage done being estimated at Her Majesty the Queen of England received the Emperor William of Germany at Osborne House, in the Isle of Wight, and gave him an effusive welcome. Bushmen's Homes are being erected by charitable persons in the towns of the Australian interior. They are chiefly intended for keeping stockmen and shepherds from drinking on their visits to the centers of population.

In response to a request made by the Earl of Roseberry, president of the Imperial Federation League, the Marquis of Salisbury, on behalf of W. Hall, who is also agent for the the British Government, has refused to summon a conference in London of delegates from the various colonies on the question of the federa-tion of the Empire.

The meeting between the Emperor William of Germany and the Prince of Wales on the occasion of the visit of the former to the Isle of Wight was of the most cordial character. The German press generally are fulsome in their comments on the reception accorded to their Emperor in England and on the relationships between the two countries.

Further particulars with regard to the great battle in the Soudan between General Grenfell's forces and the dervishes show that the rebellion has been practically quelled.

Those of the dervishes who succeeded in escaping from the attack of the British and Egyptian troops were reduced to such extreme distress that over 2000 have voluntarily surrendered themselves as prisoners to the victorious force. The casualties on the side of the British during the battle were not alone carrying more sail" without The wounded numbered 131.

EVANGELICAL.

Twenty-sixth Annual Report of the Hawaiian Board.

The report of the Hawaiian Evangelical Churches, presented at the annual meeting June 10th, has just made its appearance in print. The new Secretary, Rev. O. P. Emerson, has condensed into ten pages a very interesting summary of the progress and condition of the work carried on by and on behalf of the native churches. Since 1863 these churches have managed their own affairs with very little supervision or assistance. The various departments of work undertaken by them, not only ecclesiastical, but also educational, charitable, literary, and social, make a very creditable showing. When the Hawaiian Evangelical Association was first formed in 1863, the churches had not been organized in separate parishes as now, but were larger district organizations. Seventeen churches then contributed $2,956 62 to the Hawaiian Missionary Society, originally established to send Hawaiian missionaries to the Marquesas Islands. Last year fifty-six churches gave to the Hawaiian Board $2,568. It is worth while to note as showing the present financial ability of the Hawaiian churches, that five gave less than $10; eleven, $10 or more; eleven, $20; five, less than $50; eight, between $50 and $100; eight, $100 and over; two, over $150; the largest donation to the Hawaiian Board was $759 85 from the Kohala church, used to give over $1,000 a year, reported last year only $40. In 1859, the total contributions were reported $26,067 93; in 1869, $29,386 02; in 1879, $24,939 88; in 1889, $33,050 16.

As indicating the relative numerical strength of these churches, the report shows that ten churches have between twenty and fifty members; twenty-four between 50 and 100; six, between 100 and 150; five, between 150 and 200; four, between 200 and 250; two, between 250 and 350; one, Kawaiahao, the largest, has a membership of 604. The smallest church, Olowalu, has twentytwo. In 1859 there were 17,978 members; 1869, 12,497; 1879, 7,258; 1889, 2,630. Two pastors dead; seven pastors were ordained and installed; but there are still fourteen vacant parishes. Four parsonages were built. The average salary of the Hawaiian pastors was

In the educational department of the work, the training school for ministers, the North Pacific Missionary Institute, had thirteen students; ten of these entered last year; one graduated. The two Girls' Boarding Schools, Kawaiahao and Mauna Olu, have had respectively 128 and 76 pupils. In the East Maui School there were eleven daughters of Hawaiian ministers. In the Honolulu School, seventy-seven had their tuition paid by benevolent individuals or societies. The Hilo Boys' School has had less than forty pupils, and the Principal has tendered his resignation; but a school that has done so much for Hawaiian manhood, ought not to languish for lack of funds or Sunday Schools, Young People's Associations, Blue Ribbon Temperance Leagues, have been doing good work in their specific lines of effort among the Hawaiian population. But Christian activity has not been confined to these. The Home Mission work among the Chinese is fully reported by the Super-intendent, Mr. F. W. Damon. The Chinese Church in Honolulu has celebrated its tenth anniversary. It has now two pastors, one for the Hakka, and the other for the Bunti. The debt on the Chinese Y. M. C. A. Hall has been paid off. New Sabbath Schools for Chinese have been opened in different quarters of Honolulu. Mrs. Simpson, in Waidone great good through their day and evening schools. The Japanese work has been prosecuted through the misto them simply because they are sion established last year as a branch of which Rev. M. C. Harris is the Superin-In behalf of the ladies, I will say tendent there, while Rev. K. Mijama has had charge in Honolulu. But his departure is regretted, as the promising work on Kauai and in Hamakua is left without any worker. Mr. Okabe has recently begun evangelistic labors in Hilo for the Japanese there. For the Portuguese nothing has been done beyond establishing an evening school in Queen Emma Hall, and a Sunday School in the Armory.

In the matter of publications, a special effort has been made for an increased circulation of the Bible. The Bible So-Underground lighting has proved | ciety has generously met one-half the Bibles, so that these are now sold at one dollar each. Judge Judd's address is given in an English translation of the Jubilee Oration, delivered in the Kawaiahao church, in commeration of the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of the Bible in Hawaiian. A new edition has been published of Gospel Hymns in Hawaiian, and a new supply ordered of the Hawaiian Hymn Book for the churches. Three hundred and ten Bibles have been sold the past year, 325 Testaments, 563 Hymn Books. Other books loot up a total of 1,731 sold for $1.167 60 When the old missionary annual meeting was changed into the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, and the native pastors became members of the new organization, it was voted that eighteen should be chosen to constitute the executive board, one-third of whom should be Hawaiians. The Board now numbers 27 elected members and two ex-officio. The President is Hon. A. F. Judd; the Treasurer is W. American Board of Foreign Missions. There are six standing committees; and the business is prepared by these committees for consideration and authoritative action, at the regular monthly meeting, held at the rooms, 108 Beretania street. In the first twenty-five years of its existance, this organization has had much to do with the religious development of the community. In entering now upon its second quarter-century, Secretary Emerson speaks of the need of a vigorous aggressive policy. The Hawaiians are now outnumbered by people of other nationalities, who have taken up their abode in these islands. The fate of the Hawaiian people is to be determined by the character of these other nationalities.

O LEFT OUT THOS OAHU COLLEGE

Punahou Preparatory School HONOLULU, H. I.

These Schools Open for the New Year September 9, 1889.

The faculty of Oahu College will be the same as last year. The Friend says: "We think that there has never been an abler faculty at Oahu College, or one better adapted to impart a high classical and cientific education."

The Boarding Department can accom-modate but few more than were in attendance last year, and all who desire to enter | Corning Top Buggies, should make an early application. The Preparatory School continues under the Principalship of Miss Malone; Miss Carrie A. Gillman takes Miss Chamberlain's position, the latter having resigned to remove to the United States.

The Trustees are happy to announce that, through the generous interest of a friend, they are erecting a fine new build-ing and remodeling the present one, so that this school will occupy new and commodious quarters in September. When thus equipped we believe the Preparatory School will offer opportunities second to none in the Kingdom,

CRUISE OF THE ESPIEGLE.

Two Islands Annexed, and Others Visited-Pleasant Weather Experi-

H. B. M. S. Espiegle returned to Honolulu on the 28th inst. after a pleasant cruise of over a month. The vessel left here on July 27th under sealed orders, and proceeded to Humphrey's Island and Rierson Island which were both annexed to the British dominions with the usual formalities. These two islands are twenty miles apart, and are supposed to be on the route of one of the projected trans-Pacific cables. Malden, Starbuck, Penrhyn and other islands were also visited; and the weather was most propitious during the cruise which seems to have been for the purpose of the annexations mentioned.

While at Humphrey's Island, the Espiegle took on board twenty men of the wrecked British ship Garston; and afterwards, on August 20th, visited the scene of the wreck on Starbuck island, where she fired guns in hopes of finding a missing boat in which were Captain Pye and eight of the crew. The wreck by this time had her bows stove in, and the foretopmast gone; but the Rev. George Wallace, A. M., rector of main and mizen masts were still standing. Malden island was touched at on the following day, but no tidings of the missing boat could be obtained.

LOSS OF THE GARSTON.

Particulars of the Disaster-Saving of Twenty-one of the Crew; and Expected Loss of the Captain and Eight Seamen, Including 2d and 3d Officers.

By the British war-vessel Espiegle, which returned to port on Wednesday last after an absence of four or five weeks, we were only able to give a very brief account of the voyage in yesterday's issue; but our reporter has since interviewed the chief mate and some of the sailors of the wrecked ship Garston, from whom the following epitome of the voyage and wreck of the vessel were gleaned.

The ship Garston, Captain Pye, was 1,812 tons register, owned in Liverpool, England, and left Sydney, N. S. W., on June 20th last bound to San Francisco.

Land Co. Pians and specifications may be seen and all necessary information obtained at the office. The right to reject 46-td The vessel sailed the usual easterly reserved. course to the North Cape of New Zealand; but at this point of the voyage, owing to easterly winds a northerly course was steered to the Harvey group. On the 17th about 10 p.m. the chief mate was awakened by an unusual moaground. Captain Pye was then giving orders to back the yards in an endeavor to get the ship into deep water, but his efforts were fruitless. The surf was very heavy and the vessel reeled about so that it was difficult for the men to move about, and fears were entertained that she would cant over. The Captain then gave orders to abandon the ship, and the whale boat was lowered with five men under charge of the third officer. The gig was next lowered with four men under charge of the sailmaker, and provided with a ing or sub-division. Apply to chart, compass and provisions. The 13-1m W. Pye left the lot of men; and several of them might find employment from this port, if they incline that way. instead of the sailmaker who had charge sel all night, hoping to be able to go again on board for more supplies; but when morning dawned they found this approached, the boats were ordered fice. back to where the ship was stranded. Next morning the three boats kept company along shore, but no landing place could be found; and during the next two remaining boats then made fast together and remained hove to for the night in order to rest the men who were by this time tired out. The following morning the boats were out of sight of land; and, as the whale boat was leaking it was abandoned. A scarcity of water was now felt, and much privation was suffered until by steering in a southerly direction for ten days vesse', land was sighted. As the remainseen to approach containing natives; and, on nearer acquaintance, those on board the canoe gave the information in fair English that the land was Humphreys Island. A welcome was extended to chief mate Davis to go into the canoe and he went ashore to report. Finally the life-boat came up close to a reef; and, as the crew were exhausted they were assisted by the natives to land. The greatest kindness awaited the sailors on shore, and they were welcomed to the native village of Tokao where food and water was supplied. The natives were found to be Christianized, and among them was a Protestant missionary or settler named Ellis. On August 9th H. B. M. S. Espiegle hove in sight; and, on communication being made with her, the shipwrecked men were taken on board the warship with the exception of one sailor who elected to stay ashore. The Espiegle then continued her eruise, visiting severai islands and also the wreck-finally arriving at Honolulu as stated.

[Cor. Boston Gazette.] I had a letter from Miss Clara Louise Kellogg the other day, in which she described a part of her tour to me. She is now journeying through the northwest, and in all her travels, in Europe or America, she says she has never had so interesting a time. There is nothing very exciting or romantic about the ordinary thriving western town, but the mining towns where Miss Kellogg has been sing-ing of late have given her the most pict-uresque episodes of her professional

She has traveled all through the Yellowstone region, where she says she failed to find the brilliant hues Thomas Moran gets in his water-colors. Going through this country she rode in stages, and usu-ally occupied the seat with the driver. These drivers she describes as veritable characters out of Bret Harte's stories. They were full of anecdote, and kept her entertained with their adventures and experiences all along the route.

At Mammoth hot springs she gave a concert on Sunday night at 9.30 o'clock. This late hour was to accommodate people from out of town, from 200 to 400 miles away, who came to hear the singing, for music of the sort Miss Kellogg and her company gave them is scarce in that part of the country. Some of the parties carried tents and provisions and camped out along the way. After the concert there was a ball, which did not begin until after 12 o'cleck midnight, which made it Sunday morning.

Miss Kellogg says that she stayed to the dance, and not only stayed, but took part in it, going through the figures of the Virginia reel and a quadrille with a cowboy for a partner. An old ranchman called off the figures. Every variety of frontier costume was seen in the dancered shirts, hickory shirts, leather shooting coats, top boots and moccasins, all making a striking background to the prima donna's concert dress.

It was a strange mingling of Paris and Yellowstone fashions. The natives themselves did not enjoy the fun one whit more than did Miss Kellogg; indeed, not as much, for it was a new and interesting experience to her, while to them it was an old, old story.

Lamar and the Tailor Congress man.

[Washington Letter. Secretary Lamar's dreamy, abstracted ways and his indifference to dress, furnished many jokes for his brother senators while he was one of them. He likes his coats to be loose and comfortable, so loose that he can turn around and shrug his shoulders inside of them, and button his shoulders inside of them, and button them up with a law book in his breast pocket. He was sitting in his seat in the senate one day, lounging down in the depths of his coat somewhere, with the collar riding up over his ears, when he was joined by Leopold Morse, a Boston congressman of Hebrew decent, who has amassed a great fortune in the clothing

Mr. Morse seemed nervous about something while he sat talking to the great Mississippian, and when both rose to finish the conversation standing, Mr. Morse's twitching fingers suddenly laid hold of the front of Senator Lamar's coat. Instinct had been too much for him, and holding the fronts together he shook Mr. Lamar far back into the coat and held the great laps of cloth out before him. "It is a very good piece of cloth," he said, giving the fine material a professional caress between a thumb and finger, "but there is too much in this coat. Take a little off here—," but the astonished Mississippian slipped out of the grasp of the Boston tailor, and asserted his senatorial dignity before the man could finish telling dignity before the man could finish telling where else the coat did not fit.

No v Zealand's Agriculture. [Chicago Tribune.]

The agricultural statistics of New Zealand for the year ending with March, 1885, show that the area under wheat fell off by 107,663 acres—from 377,706 acres to 270,043 acres, as compared with the area in 1884. Yet the yield is very high in New Zealand—twenty six bushels per acre in 1884 and twenty-five and a quarter bushels in 1885. Oats, on the other hand, increased in area from 262,954 to 354,794 acres, and barley from 32,907 to 39,703 acres.

The export trade in foreign meat has led to an increase of pasture and root crops to provide for the keeping of more sheep, which have increased from 13,884-075 in 1884 to 14,106,337 in 1885.

Increasing the Pod Product. [Cor. Rural New Yorker.]

By selecting the pods of lima beans which contained four seeds, and planting which contained four seeds, and planting these. I found next year that the number containing four beans had greatly increased, most of them previously containing only one or two. The process was repeated, and the result the second year was that a majority of the pods then contained four beans, and a few had five beans. In the third year scarcely a pod contained less than three the majority contained less than three, the majority four, and a large number five.

Sicilian Superstitions. [Ingleside.]

The Sicilians are charmingly super stitious. They are still believe that the government has the power to give and cure cholera at its pleasure—that it has at its disposition u contre, as they say in their dialect, a specific against the

In the worst time of the plague, the Sicilians have been heard to cry out: "Come, come, it's not so bad; we'll soon be rid of the cholera. The government will put a stop to it when there are 5,000 dead!"

An anecdote of equal savor is told of young Sicilian who, affected with omesickness in Italy, longed to return to his beloved Sicily. Moving restlessly bout the docks for sometime, he hapens to meet a sea captain of his own ace. Delighted with the chance, he nplores him to take him on board his essel and land him anywhere on the

"Willingly," said the captain, "on ne condition." "Name it; I subscribe to it in advance."

"That you will give us the antidote for cholera" "I haven't any antidote for cholera, ny man!" "What nonsensei Don't you belong to the government? Are you not the on of our mayor?"

A Cure for Malaria. [New York Times.]

Pretoria,

REPUBLIC.

D. H. Schmüll,

"Has a cure been found for malaria yet?" questioned the reporter as the docor paused.

"For plain malaria quinine, of course, is infallible. Professor Crudelli, by the way, gives a simpler, less costly specific, which he claims is equally efficient. It is this: One lemon, peel and all, should be cut up, put in three tumblers of water, boiled down to one glassful, strained and put to cool. When cool the liquid is to be drank all at once, and the practice to be repeated daily or every other day, according to circumstances of location or constitution."
