SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1893.

One of the most eloquent arguments employed by the annexation envoys to Washington was that of the millions of capital invested in the chief industry of this country, of which at least three-fourths belonged to American citizens. Coupled with this statement was the broader one than nine-tenths of the wealth and the same proportion of the intelligence were represented by the Commission. What, then, are we to make of the new tack taken by the evening organ of the P. G. within the past few days? It has produced an elaborate argument to show that the millions of capital invested in our chief industry were conspicuous by their absence in the annexation revolution!

It would be a mighty smart stroke of business for the P. G. now to tack on one or two millions to the public debt in anticipation of annexation by the United States with an assumption of all Hawaii's liabilities. Probably all copies of the Advertiser and Gazette with this morning's bonds-booming article giving away this scheme will be kept out of the outgoing foreign mail and away from Commissioner Blount's eyes! If the Provisional Government had not adopted the policy of trying to extinguish the freedom of the press perhaps the BULLETIN itself might have left the United States to protect herself against any such scheme on the part of the Government her forces established in this country.

Opinions of sensible people on the operation of the spoils system are becoming confirmed in various instances. A number of Customs officers were removed to make room for some of the motley crowd who had "laid down their lives" under the shadow of the Boston's gallings and were "ready to do so again." One or two new hands were taken on trial only to be laid aside labeled "n. g." Another who held on longer fills half a column in the Advertiser of this morning with a wall over his dismissal. In the meantime, while the number of arrests made by the police of opium users shows that the supply of the prohibited article is profuse, the P. G. Customs guards have as yet to make their first seizure of opium on the water front. Other branches of the public service having become the objects of assault by the spoils brigade, we may expect before long to find a pretty mess of incompetence, breeding all sorts of abuses, in every department.

In the Advertiser's article to advertise the Government bonds placed on the market, there is some incompressible arithmetic. For instance: "There are 861,800 acres of Government lands, some of which are among the finest in the country. In Mr. Damon's very careful and conservative estimate the value of these lands is set down at $2,186,950, which is only about 25 cents an acre. According to Gray's arithmetic to which the BULLETIN looks back over a quarter of a century for guidance in simple calculations, the value of 861,800 acres at a quarter of a dollar an acre would be $215,450. Then we are told that the Crown lands containing 915,288 acres "are naturally much more valuable than the Government lands, and the estimate which places their value at $1,000,000 is exceedingly low." Well, we should smile! If an area of 861,800 acres of land is worth $2,186,950, and an area containing 53,488 acres more than the former, and "much more valuable" acre for acre, is set down at $1,000,000, then truly figures lie most outrageously. Perhaps a lie was necessary to the argument and the Advertiser, having exhausted its ingenuity in that line, enlisted a broken array of figures for the service in the hope that, as figures are proverbially incapable of lying, nothing would be believed in their contradiction.

POLL THE PEOPLE.

Amongst the reports that preceded, accompanied and followed the Commissioner sent here by President Cleveland, nearly all that were favorable to the anti-revolutionary party have from the first proved correct. One by one the facts regarding Col. Blount's mission were given to the public by the opposition press, and each denied by the organs of the P. G. only to be confirmed by the event. The announcement that came outside of the American press one mail, that a Commissioner was to be sent to the Islands to investigate the situation, was denounced as a fabrication by the subsidized press. Yet the investigation is now proceeding. There has thus far been only one exception to the fulfillment of anticipations based on positive statements regarding the intentions of President Cleveland in the matter. That is, no move toward taking a popular vote, divested of all elements of intimidation, has been made by the Commission. Such a vote would be the most decisive means possible for ascertaining the sentiments of the electorate, as established by the constitution of 1887, regarding the question of annexation. To make the results of a plebiscite more intelligible in its complete significance, the votes of Hawaiians and foreigners should be taken separately. Without such a poll of the people annexation of the Islands by the United States, by means of a treaty of any kind with the Provisional Government, could not be divested of the quality of conquest pure and simple. There is no doubt that at least some Hawaiians would, if accorded their rightful privilege of having a voice in the destiny of their country, vote in favor of annexation who would otherwise regard the deprivation of their national independence as an outrage. A popular vote would give President Cleveland and Congress a perfect insight into the entire sentiment, foreign as well as native, of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands. Whereas, the most acute canvass of presumably representative persons and organizations, conducted by the very astute Commissioner, will of necessity yield a great deal of prejudiced and factitious data, which will be liable to cloud as much as to clear the situation to the gentlemen who have to consider the evidence at Washington. Let the people be heard peacefully and not in duress through the ballot-box. That, we believe, is the American way.

AN EDUCATED PIG.

He is Pawned by Scotch Sailors for Whisky.

Three Highlanders who were sailors on the British ship Vimera, which arrived a few days ago from Newcastle, New South Wales, deserted on Monday while the ship was lying alongside Long wharf, at the foot of Fourth street. The captain's pig also deserted at the same time. What moral suasion induced him to leave is not known, but he went. The merry trio on reaching the Cottage saloon on Kentucky street took the pig, which is a highly educated animal, in to have a drink. Parties passing along the street noticed that the pig had scruples about going in, but he was finally induced to accompany the three sailors, and shipped behind the two green blinds in a very quiet manner.

What happened inside is only told in a fable. The wily saloon-keeper cast longing eyes on the pig and his three companions left him behind as security for a bottle of "Old Scotch" whisky. The sailors never returned and the saloon proprietor was innocently amusing himself with the sick fat pig when a big policeman put in an appearance and gathered up the porker on a search warrant sworn out by Captain Steven of the Vimera, who claimed that the pig was stolen property and that his three Highland sailors had run off with the prize animal.

The names of the sailors charged in the complaint and for whom the guardians of the peace are looking are Donald McLeod, David McKinnon and David McDonald. They joined the ship at Glasgow over nine months ago. As they were prominent members of the Thistle Club in Scotland, and expressed a desire to be transferred to that august body in this city and settle down and acquire property in this country, the officers of the Thistle Club here have been warned and the doors of that powerful club are now barred to the three Highlanders who are fresh from the firths and lochs of Scotland.

The ship Vimera will now take credit for the balance due three sailors on the voyage. The Captain, however, cares not for this again, as he is supremely happy over the recovery of his Yorkshire trick pig.—S. F. CHRONICLE.

Honesty in Hawaiian Politics.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

It was suggested in a recent editorial in the BULLETIN that the U. S. Ambassador had probably learned already of the sham pretence that the Queen's signature to the lottery bill contributed largely to the origin of the proceedings of January 14th, 17th; the facts being that a large proportion of the supporters of the revolutionary movement, including the bulk of office-holders under the new regime, were among those who petitioned the legislature for the passage of the said law, or openly worked for its passage. The same fraudulent pretence is put forth in regard to many other Acts whose infancy now apparently appals the missionary oligarchy and their apologists, but which never worried them so long as the Queen (and her brother before her) continued to give the family compact the offices and government patronage—including the facilities of the back-stairs. For instance, what of the idolatry cry? Did it not equally exist in January, 1891, and thenceforward during all the time intervening till January, 1893? And although the queen continued to reappoint the most objectionable ministers, in one cabinet after another, who in turn were successively ejected from office by the combined vote of the so-called Reform party with the constitutional wing of the Liberals, yet the missionaries, pretending to contend for the "principle" of a cabinet representing the majority, eagerly accepted a coalition, which included three of their own faction and three of those "born diplomats" (vide Star) constituting the Hawaiian annexation commission, who made an official tour of the United States with the doctrine, "We are determined to rid ourselves of kanaka rule," nailed to the mast, then returning to Hawaii and starting a newspaper to try and wheedle their dear Hawaiian fellow-electors that they will never, no, never, consent to any scheme of annexation which will deprive the loyal Hawaiians of their full civil rights.

As we all know, there is a question of veracity involved as to whether the new constitution, as proposed by Liliuokalani, contained a clause depriving all but Hawaiian subjects of the franchise; i. e., all who were made voters by the constitution of 1887. As the leaders of the late movement claim this as one of the most atrocious of all the atrocious acts which drove them to revolt, let us, for the sake of the argument, admit their claim as to the proposed change. Then let us turn to the proceedings of the previous legislature, and we find that this very same party—this family compact who stand aghast at the iniquity of the Queen's proposition in 1892—3—seeking to accomplish the same result by their work, voices and votes in 1890 in passing through the house for the first time a proposed amendment to Articles 59 and 62 of the Constitution of 1887, whereby all but Hawaiian subjects are to be excluded from the franchise! Leaving out of the question the absolute right or wrong of any of these acts, contemplated or accomplished before January 17, 1893, were those which were wrong previously, right subsequently, or vice versa? And as to our future—whether annexation, restoration, a republic, or political suzerainty (European or Asiatic)—does it not seem clear that whatever impediments have been thrown in the way of the first named, since January 17th, have resulted from the blundering of those at the political helm, whose shilly-shallying and exposed deceptions, at home and abroad, have made the American people suspicious of everything the hand of the star-chamber touches? And in this is strong confirmation of the old adage that honesty is the best policy—even in Hawaiian politics.

OBSERVER.

A Suggestion.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
It is apparent to every observing person that the presence of the cottony cushiony scale blight on this island is causing much injury to valuable fruit trees, but should the blight get a foothold on the island of Hawaii what will become of the Hilo, Puna and Kona coffee plantations?

I would suggest to the Bureau of Forestry that, to prevent the scale blight or any other newly-imported plant pest from getting a foothold on the other islands, every plant or shrub shipped from Honolulu to any other port of the Hawaiian Islands before being allowed to be taken on board of a coasting vessel should be first drenched with a strong solution of some effective insecticide wash.

Plants imported from abroad should also be treated in the same effective manner, instead of being merely looked at by a plant inspector as at present before being removed from the wharf. — C. W.

"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called Hoarseness, at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief." ☐

Under the present government a portion of the street along the water front has been improved to such an extent that old friends would hardly recognize it. Heretofore it has been the custom to repair the driveways in the outer districts at the expense of the business thoroughfares. We are promised other improvements in public works which will be hailed with sincere delight by the residents. The pumping plant at the water works, when it becomes a fact, will silence the short water cry of the Waikiki folks and add color to the lawns. The sewage question which has been mooted for years may very shortly become a certainty and cholera scares will not be dreaded as they now are. Through the excellent management of the Board of Health, Hawaii nei has thus far escaped, but now that the Islands have been so thoroughly advertised and immigration so cordially invited, it will be strange if Mr. C. H. Olera will not be found among the settlers and tourists who visit us during the coming summer. He is to be dreaded more than the people who have their eyes on Crown lands and who will take them up with an idea of laying them out, not only for coffee growing but in plots to overthrow the government. With the dangers which surround us in the absence of a proper sewage system the people must seek a preventive rather than a cure. It will not do to wait until the discomfort strikes you under your vest button or your girdle, it will be painful then to read advertisements; look to it now. The number of cases from Europe were reduced more by the contrivance of a smart Yankee than the ship physicians. The Ozonator did it! Last year when symptoms of cholera were felt in the United States we took up two cudgels against it. First, the Improved Gate City Filter, because microbes lurk in the water even if it comes from an artesian well; secondly, we took the Ozonator in hand to rid the air in the dwellings of anything injurious to health. We have a supply of each of these articles in stock and are prepared to furnish them to people who want good water and pure air. Everyone knows what the stone filter is but most people are in the dark about the air cleaner. There is absolutely no smell about it and yet its effect is instantaneous and wonderful. What the peculiar qualities are of the liquid used in the machine no one but the manufacturer knows. We do not, we only know the results. The machine itself is a neat compact affair and may be placed in the bedroom or parlor and no one will know but that it is a piece of bric-a-brac.

When the readers of this column grow tired of scratched and battered furniture they cannot do better than get a bottle of Masolene Furniture Polish from us and put their household goods in order. Ten minutes' work will make an old dressing case or bedstead look like new. It's very cheap stuff and brings the same good results that are obtained from polish for which you pay twice as much money as we ask.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Mr. J. N. K. Koola, of the Advertiser staff, and Miss L. Paehole at Halawa, Molokai, on Thursday next, May 4.

The dredge is at work near the Claudine wharf, and in a few days the largest steamer coming here can dock at the Pacific Mail wharf. After clearing out the shoal near the Mail dock, the dredge will operate near the boat-house.

Not content with importing things to make people desire to live, the Hawaiian Hardware Co. turns its attention to articles designed to prevent people from dying. Their Gate City filter rid the water, and their ozonator the air, from poison. They have a furniture polish so effective that it cannot be used on the Palace doors; the guards would be always shooting at their own reflections on the polished panels.

DEPUTY SHERIFF WOND.

Comes to Town to Receive His New Commission.

Mr. W. S. Wond, the suspended Deputy Sheriff of Ewa, came to town this morning to receive his new commission. Marshal Hitchcock has decided to re-commission that officer, after investigation of certain charges made against him. Mr. Wond stated to a BULLETIN reporter this morning that it was all personal spite against him harbored by four residents of that district. He would have made them feel very sick if they had gained their point and secured his dismissal. The officer knew a little about these individuals, but he wouldn't make public what this little was.

According to residents at Ewa Mr. Wond is a very efficient sheriff, having during the short time he has been down there suppressed all gambling and liquor-selling. All the liquor down there is brought by visitors from town.

DESERTERS CAUGHT.

While Enjoying a Rest After Painting the Town Red.

Two bluejackets, deserters from the U. S. S. Boston, were surprised by Lieutenant Hookano and three other native officers in Allen & Robinson's lumber yard this morning. The men, Hawley Hicks and Ed. B. Horvan, had been "painting the town red" and one fellow was dozing while the other was laying down the law. There was no politics in their ramblings, but it was something about the places they had visited last night and the good things they had imbibed.

When the men found that they were in the hands of bluecoats they made a struggle to get away, but were overpowered. They were restored to the cruiser this afternoon. There is one more bluejacket, John Bicknell, still missing from the cruiser.

Part of the Crown Found.

One day of last week, when the yardmen in the Palace grounds were removing bags of black sand from the basement (not cellar) of the Palace, one of the men picked up an ornament of some kind, who afterwards handed it to Captain Nowlin. Last Monday morning Nowlin showed it to Major Robertson, who recognized it as the orb of the missing crown. Major Robertson reported the fact to Marshal Hitchcock on Monday afternoon.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Please permit me to ask Mr. J. A. Kahooni in answer to his letter in last evening's BULLETIN. Who signed his card allowing him to become a member of the Hui Kalaiaia? It may interest the public he seems so anxious to please to know this.

ANOTHER WILD GOOSE CHASE.

Captain Schlemmer Runs Down a School Boy in the Mountains.

Since the circulation of reports that deserters from the men-of-war and merchantmen in port were in hiding in Waolani and Puunui valleys Mr. Sylvano Nobriga, proprietor of the Enterprise ranch and also owner of the lands mentioned, issued a notice forbidding persons from trespassing on the place. Waolani Valley covers a large area and contains many caves where a number of men could live in safety for an indefinite time. There is also an abundance of fruit of all kinds. About 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon Sylvano saw through a spy glass two men walking along the peak of the mountain and disappearing in the brush. Thinking they were deserters, and one of them probably the eagerly sought-for individual, Bruett, he sent a telephone message to the Police Station.

Captain Schlemmer and Lieutenant Hookano armed themselves and proceeded on horseback to the valley. They were met by Sylvano on the road and proceeded as far they could go on horseback, when they alighted. The animals were tethered to a fence and Captain Schlemmer left his companions and went to reconnoitre. He had proceeded but a little way when he saw two men walking through the trees about two hundred yards in advance. One had a bag in his hand. The officer proceeded cautiously and having gained a little on the unsuspecting men halted them. Both men started to run and the officer gave pursuit. The path became rather dangerous for running, and Schlemmer fired a pistol shot in the air. One of the men halted and sang out, "Please don't kill me, please don't kill me!" When the officer got up to him he found a boy named Henry May, about fifteen years of age and a student at Kamehameha school. The officer asked May what he was doing up there, when he replied that he had gone up to the mountains to gather some ferns and ginger plants for a luau they were going to have that evening. When asked why he ran he replied that it was because he thought the officer was Sylvano, the owner of the land; he knew the land was tabu and that he was stealing. May did not know who his companion was, but thought he belonged to St. Louis College. He was another lad about seventeen years of age. May had also met a number of young fellows during the afternoon after ferns and plants.

Captain Schlemmer released the boy and told him to get back to school as soon as he liked, and returned to his companions, half a mile below. The officers returned to town after a fruitless search. They had intended to come back to the Station with Bruett, the escapee, but they returned empty handed. The remark made by Schlemmer's side partner on his return was, "Schlemmer, you're no good."

Purloined Papers.

Complaints have been received from the different departments in the Government building that they do not get the BULLETIN regularly. Enquiries in that quarter elicit the fact that the P. G. guards stationed there purloin the papers, being seen by several taking them, and after reading stick them in their pockets. When the U. S. troops were in charge of the building none of the papers were missed. The marines borrowed the papers and after reading returned them to their proper places. There was a similar complaint from the United States Consulate while the Annexation Club occupied rooms in the Campbell block. It is pleasant to have such a practical testimonial from that party that the BULLETIN is well worth stealing.

MRS. RAMOS GONE.

She Was a Passenger by the Barkentine Hilo.

A few weeks ago a decree was issued by the Circuit Court giving the custody of a child of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ramos to the father, pending a suit for divorce. Mrs. Ramos was allowed to visit the child three times a week. On the first occasion of availing herself of this privilege she abducted the child and a writ of habeas corpus was issued on Tuesday last for Mrs. Ramos to appear in the Circuit Court on Thursday with the child. On that day she appeared without the child, but produced a certificate from Dr. Day that the child was too ill to be moved. The hearing on the writ was therefore continued till to-day. Then Antonio Perry, counsel for her husband, moved for an order commanding Mrs. Ramos to show cause why she should not be adjudged guilty of contempt for not obeying the original order of the Court as to the custody of the child. This last order was returnable yesterday, and it was returned with a policeman's endorsement that the woman could not be found. Hearing on the order was therefore also continued till to-day, at half an hour after the time for hearing the habeas corpus matter.

In the meantime the police got a clue that Mrs. Ramos had gone to San Francisco on the barkentine Hilo, which sailed on Thursday afternoon. She was seen with the child, a little girl, on the barkentine shortly before the vessel sailed for the Coast. Mrs. Ramos went as passenger under the assumed name of Mrs. Romana.

HAWAII'S ARMY.

How New York Youth Are Taught to Regard Our Defenders.

In the Boys of New York of April 15, 1893, is a unique description of the "Standing Army of Hawaii," which shows that all the efforts at advertising the country abroad have not been in vain. This is the information given by the Boys: "The 'standing army' of Hawaii in time of peace consists of seventy men. When the dogs of war are let loose it is swelled as high as 200 men sometimes. The Hawaiian Army rarely 'stands,' however. It prefers to sit down when it is not on the dead run for cover. Every man in the army has a different kind of uniform. The equipment consists of almost every sort of noise producer, from bulldog revolvers, with a bark like the bull of Bashan, to the matchlock that Captain Miles Standish used to kill Indians with. If the rank and file take a notion to obey the order of their superior officers, well and good. If they choose not to obey, also well and good. It's all the same to the officers, and more so to the rank and file."

Elder S. S. Beaver, of McAllisterville, Juniata Co., Pa., says his wife is subject to cramp in the stomach. Last summer she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for it, and was much pleased with the speedy relief it afforded. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Our Optical Department still goes along in the even tenor of its way despite all opposition. Every day we fit somebody either with a pair of Eyeglasses for $25., and once in a while we get as high as $2.00. We can't go higher because that is the best pair of eyeglasses you can buy and why pay more? The reason is that we do not need any special two weeks' study of the question because our instrument, the EYEMETER, is so simple that its test is absolute. Doesn't matter if your eyes are myopic, astigmatic or any other ailment, that instrument gets there every time.

A Problem in Etiquette.

A correspondent asks for a categorical answer to the following important question: "To be truly polite, should a gentleman remove his hat when in an elevator, public or private, with a lady?"

We shall not abuse our correspondent's confidence by attempting to solve so profound a social problem as this off-hand. It will be better to lay before him some of the chief data on which the study of the subject is based, together with the opinion of the leading authorities, and leave him to form his own judgment.

In New York there is always a crowd on the ground floor, waiting for the elevator. When the door opens the mass surges inward. The killed and wounded, generally women, are carted to the morgue and the hospital in a patrol wagon, and the elevator shoots up with the survivors. The gentlemen do not remove their hats. Anybody who did so would be marked at once as a "jay." Jays also rise to give their seats on the elevated cars, and the New York gentlemen slide into the vacant places. Gentlemen likewise occupy the seats in the ladies' cabins of the ferry-boats while the women stand. The men's cabins are occupied chiefly by hogs.

In Chicago the conditions are substantially the same as in New York. Not only are the stock yards the most potent element in setting the social tone of the place, but the fact that most of the inhabitants have their offices in the twelfth story and live in the elevators would render it impracticable to adopt any such rule as that to which our correspondent refers.

In Washington it is the uniform rule for gentlemen to remove their hats in the presence of ladies in elevators of any description. Persons who do not do so are set down as coming from New York or Chicago. In spite of the mixed character of its transient population, Washington is essentially a Southern town, and it is dominated by the Southern traditions of ceremonious courtesy toward women. There are very few open elevators there as yet. When they become more plentiful the customs may be modified.

In San Francisco the practice is unsettled, which is an embarrassing factor for people who want to be in the swim. When you are invited to dinner in London you can feel secure in putting on a dress coat, and in Creede a flannel shirt, but in Milwaukee you don't know what you ought to wear, and that is uncomfortable. Just so in New York you can be at ease with your hat on in an elevator full of women, and in Washington with it off, but in San Francisco, whichever course you adopt, you are sure of incurring the wrath and scorn of the faction that adheres to the opposite policy.

There are local censors of manners of the highest authority who will tell you that it is the mark of a vulgarian to remove the hat in a public elevator in the presence of strange ladies. They say that the elevator is a part of the public hall and that it is no more proper to intrude one's personality on women with whom one is not acquainted in such a place than it would be to lift the hat to them in the street. One distinguished connoisseur in etiquette asserts that a gentleman will uncover his head in a closed elevator when ladies are present and that he will also do it in an open one if he is a blanked fool. Otherwise not. An open elevator he considers part of the hall—a closed one a room. Another expert draws a different distinction. He would have the hat removed in elevators in hotels and other places of abode, and left on in office buildings. And there are still others who will be satisfied with nothing less than the unconditional divorce of the hat and the head in every elevator containing ladies, wherever and whatever it may be. They even go so far as to apply to those who do not act on their views the same epithet of "vulgarians" which the pundits of the other school apply to them.

We trust that our correspondent feels now that he has the basis for a judgment of his own. If not, we suggest that he select half a dozen of the ladies of his acquaintance whom he is most anxious to please and ask them what course would suit them best. Then he will be safe, whatever the authorities may do.—S. F. Examiner.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J.
