THIS FOR GIRLS.

Plain, Straight Talk With Lots of Sense "What about the girls," says a friend. Let the girls quit their foolishness, as Sam Jones says. If they can't make money, let them quit spending it. I know young ladies in this town whose fathers are on a strain, and yet they won't make their own dresses. They have them made by the milliner. They prance all the family. A girl whose father is clothes and some more besides. If she doesn't know how, she should learn. Every member of the family should at least earn their salt and pepper and pickels and chewing gum. A girl of 18 who can't make her own clothes is not fit to be a wife, much less a mother. Rich or poor, they ought to do something useful. Get up early and fly around and sweep and dust and look after the dining-room and the lamps. After breakfast go to the sewing-machine and make it hum and june like your grandmothers did the spinningwheel. In the afternoon put on your nice home-made dress and go to see somebody you want to see, somebody who wants to see you, and talk sense when you get there. Oh, for more model boys and girls to raise the next crop from. Young man, don't you marry a young girl who is too proud or too lazy to make her own clothes. Young lady, don't

VISITING CIVIL ENGINEERS.

The Island of Oahu has the climate, the soil, and the water supply requisite for a productiveness much greater than at present attained. Extensive tracts of fertile soil now produce no valuable crops, while the storm waters, which at periods fall so abundantly, flow to waste into the sity, than your correspondent. sea; and even the continuous streams, and the supplies which can be readily obtained from flowing wells, are adding comparatively little to the natural products of the islands, unaided by the improved methods in use elsewhere.

In view of the progressive spirit of the present time, this Island presents a striking example of undeveloped resources.

Our enterprising fellow citizen, Mr B. F. Dillingham, is moving in the right direction in this matter. During his recent trip to the coast he secured the services of Messrs. G. F. Allardt and Jas. D. Schuyler to aid him in forming his plans for extensive irrigation works.

These gentlemen are engineers of acknowledged ability. They have for years been prominently connected with investigations of water supplies on the Pacific coast, and have been engaged in the construction of works for irrigation and city supply, in various parts of the Pacific slope.

We look forward with much expectation to their forthcoming report, because in the result of these investigations all are more or less interested. The benefits derived from an increase in the products of a country reach, either directly or indirectly all branches of the community, and these can only be obtained by securing a better and if possible apermanent supply of water for irrigation, as is being done in central and southern California. The gentlemen named left on Tuesday last to examine the ditches and sources of water supply on the islands, and will probably be able to judge of what can be done in this way on Oahu.

SECOND BATTALION DISBANDED.

tained of these lands upon application to We learn that the action taken by teacher at Kaupo, Maui, or the Land the Government in disbanding the Second Battalion of the Hawaiian Volunteers, is based upon the following letter:

> SECOND BATTALION HEADQUARTERS,) August 1st, 1889.

Hawaiian Volunteers, SIR: Since the events of July 30th, my feeling, as the present commanding officer of the Kamehameha Guard, is that I should resign in consequence of my complete inability to bring forward any men of my command, as ordered by you, to support the authorities in a military capacity on that day. Before doing so, however, I wish to report the circumstances, and offer some suggestions for your consideration.

Immediately on learning of the outbreak, I came to the Police Station, where I understood headquarters had been temporarily established, and received orders from you, from time to time, during the day. I found that many, if not most of the men in some of the companies of my command, were in sympathy with the insurgents; and indeed a large number of them were actually with the party who entered the Palace grounds in the morning. Two of the killed on that day were Poni, 1st sergeant of the Prince's Own, and Sam Loika, of the Leleiohoku Guard. The only officers who answered my summons to report for duty, were those of the King's Own Company, some fifteen men of this company also reported to me, as well as about twelve of the Leleiohoku Guard; but not being able to furnish them with arms, and their services at that time not being required in any capacity in which they could act without weapons, I sent them home, with orders to be ready on call. These men held communication with me till the end of wrote shortly after his arrival in the trouble, ready to do anything called upon. I will furnish you a list of their names further on.

As you already know, the Queen's Own Company has been in a state of mutiny, and acting in defiance of orders from headquarters for some time past. One of their officers, A. S. Mahaulu, was with the insurgents, and fought with them till the time of the surrender, but escaped. The staff officers of the Battalion all reported to me as soon as they heard of the trouble, without awaiting a direct order, and held themselves ready during the Hawaiian race will be brought the day.

I now respectfully ask that the entire Battalion be disbanded. I am satisfied This was written when the Don, that no loyal military Battalion organizwho had been Hawaiian foreign ation can be maintained from the material now present on the roll of the minister for three days, was still in corps. I am of opinion that a first-class hopes of returning to the country. single company could be maintained by a wise selection of the men now constituting the Battalion, and probably introwhose guidance the Hawaiian race ducing a few others; and hope the was to be brought to life again. The authorities may not see fit to entirely strike the native force off the Volunteer Roster; but as already stated, I believe quarter of a mile mauka of Waller's alive then and has been alive all the first thing to do is to at once disband along. "Coming to life" meant the the 2d Battalion, and then discuss the organization of our native company. I would request to know your own views on this question, after you have referred the matter to Military Head-I remain your humble and devoted W. S. WOND, Adjt. and Acting Major 2d Batt. Hawaiian Volunteers.

Works of Necessity.

Mr. Editor: In your weekly issue of the 13th, mention is made in the "Kauai Notes" of an outrage being committed against the community, and an injustice done to laborers by compelling them to work on the Sabbath day, etc. In justice to the "neglectful police" and others concerned, I deem it my duty to reply to "Veritas," the watchful guardian of the community's peace. The work that was done on the Sabbath day was work of necessity, as was proved to the proper authorities, who are better judges of the neces-

The "compelled laborers" came and received their one dollar per day and asked for more "injustice" and Sabbath work, and were disappointed to learn that there was no further necessity for their services that would warrant their being compelled to work on the Sabbath.

In reply to the query, Where were the police, etc.? I will say, in justice to them and their superior officers, they were on duty and arrested and marched to jail ten (all who were at work) of the "compelled laborers." ONE OF THE EMPLOYERS.

OAHU COLLEGE

Punahou Preparatory School

HONOLULU, H. I. These Schools Open for the New Year

September 9, 1889.

The faculty of Oahu College will be the same as last year. The Friend says: "We think that there has never been an abler faculty at Oahu College, or one better adapted to impart a high classical and scientific education. The Boarding Department can accom-modate but few more than were in attendance last year, and all who desire to enter should make an early application. The Preparatory School continues under the Principalship of Miss Malone; Miss Carrie A. Gillman takes Miss Chamberlain's position, the latter having resigned to remove to the United States. The Trustees are happy to announce that, through the generous interest of a friend, they are erecting a fine new building and remodeling the present one, so that this school will occupy new and commodious quarters in September. When thus equipped we believe the Preparatory School will offer opportunities second to none in the Kingdom.

Who is Andrew Carnegie?

This is a question often asked, and has often been answered after this fashion: "Andrew Carnegie is a man who fancies that the object of his life is to tell lies in favor of American institutions and especially American democracy." Our answer is that he is a Scotchman who came to America poor and friendless, and by dint of his native characteristics has accumulated vast wealth; and now, out of gratitude to the "bridge that carried him" he spreads broadcast the truths that he has experienced. For Andrew Carnegie to speak judgment was proved he owed otherwise than ravorably of the losts sa to was given for that States, would be base ingratitude and contrary to his knowledge; but he soul, and that soul is bound to speak the soul, and that soul is bound to speak the being for medical attendance. Projected Trans-Pacific Mail Lines of Steamers-Great Speed and Frequent Trips.

The bark Pak Wan will sail to-day at The Associated Press telegrams from Ottawa and London make the important announcement that the contract for the New Atlantic Steam-line service undertaken by the Andersons of London, has just been signed. It calls for a fleet of steamers of 6,000 tons, with a twenty-Mr. Levey will offer at his special sale knot speed and guaranteeing under heavy penalties to make the voyage between Quebec and Plymouth in 144 these hours, or six days. Halifax is to be the terminus in winter and Quebec in sumnight were: One kanaka for assaul, and mer. Bids are also invited for a fortnightly steam service between Vancouver and Sydney by way of the Hawaiian and Fiji Islands, the service to be sixteen knots. A steamer is to be ready to leave of the Supreme Court to be held at each terminus of the line within nine The announcement was made some time ago, and the fact is known that five new steamers of high speed and peculiar con-struction, suited to the Pacific trade, are being built on the Clyde for a greatly improved service between Vancouver, Yokohama and Hongkong. It is expected that the first of this fleet will be do all work in her line, and that she exon the route in about six months from this date, until which time the service will continue to be performed by the old Cunarders as at present.

Regarding the trans-Pacific line to the Australian colonies, the New South Wales Government will help sufficiently to ensure the continuance of the present line until the adjournment of the next Congress; and unless the United States Government furnishes two-thirds of the subsidy, the Australian aid to the maintenance of the Oceanic contract will be withdrawn.

What the changed feeling in the Colonies may be when it is known that England and Canada are contracting for a speedy fortnightly service between Vancouver and Sydney cannot, of course, be known until later on. But, in any event, the fact appears clear that unless Congress acts, the San Francisco service loses the subsidy which the colonies have been paying for twenty years. These may be taken to be the facts of the situation precisely as they are. They The steamer Mikahala reports that the are of a nature to commend themselves menaced. The situation should be looked squarely in the face, as becomes a practical people, and taken hold of with a vim and energy worthy of our reputation and commercial standing. A nation of 60,000,000 people, with an over-flowing treasury ought not to stand idly by, whilst the trade of the Pacific is passing into foreign hands. We are face to face with a great occasion. If we are alive to the situation, we may make the Pacific for commercial purposes practically an American lake; but if we are supine for a year longer, Great Britain will have a clear road to become its supreme mistress.—[S. THE HARVEST OF DEMCCRACY.

1. The majority of the Englishspeaking race under one republican flag, at peace.

2. The nation which is pledged by act of both parties to offer amicable arbitration for the settlement of international disputes.

3. The nation which contains the smallest proportion of illiterates, the largest proportion of those who read and write.

4. The nation which spends least on war, and most upon education; which has the smallest army and navy, in proportion to its population and wealth, of any maritime power in the world. 5. The nation which provides most generously during their lives for every soldier and sailor injured in its cause, and for their widows and orphans. The nation in which the rights of the minority and of property are most secure.

7. The nation whose flag, whereever it floats over sea and land, is the symbol and guarantor of the equality of the citizen. 8. The nation in whose Constitution no man suggests improvement; whose laws as they stand are satisfactory to all citizens. 9. The nation which has the ideal Second Chamber, the most august assembly in the world-the American Senate. 10. The nation whose Supreme Minister of the parent land. 11. The nation whose Constitution is "the most perfect piece of GREAT BRITAIN, T. R. Walker, work ever struck off at one time by the mind and purpose of man," according to a Prime Minister of the Court is the envy of the ex-Prime parent land. 12. The nation most profoundly conservative of what is good, yet based upon the political equality of the citizen.

13. The wealthiest nation in the world. 14. The nation first in public credit, and in payment of debt.

15. The greatest agricultural nation in the world.

16. The greatest manufacturing nation in the world. 17. The greatest mining nation in the world.—[Andrew Carnegie in

"Triumphant Democracy." WON'T PICK UP ANOTHER BABY.

What Happened to a Stranger who was Polite to a Mother in a Crowd.

He was a heavy swell from London, stopping at the St. Denis Hotel, and he was standing Wednsday at the corner of Fourteenth street and Fifth avenue, says the New York Sun, when he saw a well dressed woman with a baby helplessly struggling in the dense crowd that packed the sidewalk. Politely lifting his hat, the dignified Britisher said:

"Madam, that child will be crushed."

"Madam, that child will be crushed. Where do you want to go?"

"Oh sir," said the perspiring mother, with an appealing look, "I am trying to get into Sixth avenue."

"All right, I will help you, as I want to get to the elevated station," was the reply. "Let me take the baby."

baby."

The child was transferred to the arms of the sturdy English dude, who pushed his way through the crowd, and in a few minutes had reached the middle of the avenue. Looking around for mother, she was nowhere to be seen, and the Englishman started for the place where he had left her. He was stopped by a policeman, who refused to let him pass and said he would have to "go the other way."

"Will you please take the baby, then; its mother is lost?" "Now young feller, you can't give me any story like that," was the

Just at this moment the infant set Just at this moment the infant set up a loud howl, its tears running down the neck of its protector as it hung about his shoulders, and the crowd at the same time awoke to an appreciation of the scene. There were cries of "Hi, Jimmie, get onto his jags wid de kid!" "Why don't he marry the girl?" and "It doesn't like its daddy!" A thousand peo ple by this time were laughing at the Englishman, who stood helpless and uncomfortable in the middle of the street, looking about as if for the street, looking about as if for some place to throw the child, when a policeman asked him to give an account of himself and how he came into possession of the squalling in fant. Finally the mother struggled to the scene, grabbed the child and, stopping for a moment to accuse her new acquaintance of trying to steal it, rushed off.

It is proposed to open a museum in Berlin in which shall be exhibited all the German costumes from earliest days, with interior arrangements and decoration of houses.

And now Cincinnati is talking of annexing a dozen or more suburban towns, in which event it is expected that she will step up from the ninth to the eight place.

A most curious and interesting insect has lately been presented to the Zoological Gardens in London by Lord Walsingham, namely, the leaf insect. This creature inhabits the Seychelles, and is a most wonderful illustration of mimicry in nature since it so exactly resembles a leaf, that, even when pointed out in its glass case, it can hardly be distinguished from its food plant.

Who invented spectacles? To this question an answer has been given by the Italians in favor of one of themselves. In Florence, in a little street, a memorial tablet has been inserted in the facade of one of the houses, and bears the following inscription: "To honor the memory of Salvino degli Armati, inventor of spectacles in the thirteenth century, Armati, placed this tablet on the 5th day of July, 1885."

As there is no SIMPLE TEST by which adulterated soaps can be detected, the SAFE COURSE is to purchase only those scaps which bear the name of a long-established and reliable house. SINCE 1806 Colgate & Co. have made only the best of articles; as a result, their toilet soaps and perfumes are sold in ALL PARTS OF THE CIVILIZED WORLD, and are everywhere acknowledged to be the STANDARD for purity and excellence. The toilet soap and handkerchief perfume held in highest esteem by the American public is CASHMERE BOUQUET, and over 30 first awards testify that they are "unequaled in quality and perfume."
