JAPANESE PLAYERS DEFEAT ST. LOUIS BOYS

Increase In Gambling Will Follow Opinion Of Supreme Court

An opinion was handed down by the Supreme Court this morning out of the game, which promises to make it extremely difficult if not in many cases absolutely impossible to obtain the conviction of Oriental gamblers in raids on gambling games. The opinion will very likely have the effect of renewing activity in the circles of those who were the goddess of fortune whose nickname is Pal-kau.

The opinion is in the famous and seemingly interminable case of Ah Sing and the 67 others. In this particular instance Ah Sing is the only one affected. The Supreme Court having finally disposed of the 67 in a recent opinion in which it was declared that they had no standing in court on account of the failure of their attorneys to file a bill of exceptions in time, and because of the writ of error which was filed was on behalf of "Ah Sing and 67 others." The court held that the 67 others should have been named. As they were not,

COUNTERFEIT COIN IS FOUND IN MAIL Slipped From Registered Letter From Halawa

Murder will out, it is said, and the same seems to be the case with counterfeit coin, at least it was in the case of a phony quarter which managed to slip out of the package in the registered mail, in which it had been deposited, and fell into the hands of the postoffice authorities.

The coin appears to have been contained in an envelope containing a remittance of $16.31 cents from a schoolteacher on Molokai to the firm of May & Co. This letter was sent from the Halawa postoffice, but in spite of the fact that the postmaster there had placed the money, which consisted of coin of various denominations, in an extra envelope, besides the regular registered mail envelope, or "jacket," it managed to work its way out of the envelope, so that when the pouch was opened it was found scattered among the mail.

The employees of the local postoffice gathered as much of it together as they could find at the time, but as they were not aware of the total which the envelope had contained, they delivered only $16.31 to May & Co. The firm saw that the amount was short, and interviewed the postoffice people of the fact that there was a quarter missing. Another search was made at the postoffice, and it was found that the quarter had slipped into a bundle of letters.

But at this point the most singular circumstance of the matter was discovered. It was found that the quarter was counterfeit. It was delivered to May & Co., but the firm gave it back to the postoffice people, who intend to turn the matter over to the federal authorities, in order to put them on the track of the counterfeiters.

The quarter was submitted to Watchmaker Redhouse, who is an expert, and he pronounced, after testing the coin carefully, that there could be no doubt but that it was not genuine. The imitation is an exceedingly good one, as far as the stamping is concerned, but the coin contains no silver, so that it has no ring, and the plating has worn from the surface in spots making it comparatively easy of detection.

Girls Happy In Seattle

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 4. BULLETIN, Honolulu. Seattle is delivering the goods of welcome regardless of expense. The hospitality extended to the Bulletin party has been exceeded by no other place on the coast.

Party leaves Seattle on the 11th for San Francisco, and for Honolulu by the Alameda on the 15th. Everything else.

WEATHERED.

This means that the Bulletin party will soon head for home after another week seeing the sights about Seattle. It is apparent that the northern neighbors of Hawaii are leaving no stone unturned to return the courtesies that have been showered on representatives of that city during their visits in Hawaii. The girls will no doubt return enthusiastic over the prospects of the great Seattle exposition, which is to be the best the western coast has ever seen.

GRAND JURY TAKES TWO WEEK'S LAY OFF Fifty-Five Indictments Have Been Returned Already

The Federal Grand Jury has finished the more important part of its labors, and this morning took an adjournment for two weeks, until November 18, without making another partial report.

A larger amount of work has already been done than has been performed by any other Grand Jury for years. Fifty-five indictments have been returned, ranging all the way from murder to violation of the Edmunds Act. A large number of counterfeiting cases have been investigated and nearly a dozen indictments returned, most of which were against Koreans. Numerous alleged violations of the internal revenue laws have also been investigated and of the persons indicted all but one have pleaded guilty.

There have been the usual number of indictments for violation of the sanctity of the marriage vows, and Cupid has been materially aided by Hymen's Grand Violator Breckons, backed up by the Grand Jury.

The practice of certain modern Fagin tempting young boys to steal has received a serious setback by certain indictments which have been returned against local junk dealers who have been in the habit of buying stolen property. Altogether, the present Grand Jury has proved to be a most effective body.

Heads May Tumble While Frear Is Gone

The statement in the morning paper that the head of one of the department chiefs is liable to tumble into the basket during the absence of Governor Frear will probably prove erroneous, if anything may be deduced from a hint given by the Governor this morning.

"The morning paper, I see," he said, "credits me with saying that no changes will be made so far as land Commissioner Pratt, Auditor Fisher and Surveyor Wall are concerned. That is all right. I did say that yesterday. But the reporter who interviewed me also says that no other changes will be made during my absence; that there will be time enough to talk about any changes after my return."

"The paper makes that statement on its own account. I never said any changes will be made so far as land Commissioner Pratt, Auditor Fisher and Surveyor Wall are concerned. That is all right. I did say that yesterday. But the reporter who interviewed me also says that no other changes will be made during my absence; that there will be time enough to talk about any changes after my return."

Peacock Loses Suit

The Supreme Court this morning handed down an opinion in the matter of the suit for damages brought by Walter C. Peacock against John G. Rothwell for malicious prosecution, in which the decree of Judge De Bolt awarding Peacock damages in the sum of $500 is reversed and judgment on costs entered for the defendant. The syllabus of the opinion says:

Wrongful attachment—pleading—probable cause.

A complaint in an action claiming actual and also exemplary damages resulting from an action by defendant in which plaintiff's property was wrongfully attached.

NAKUNA ORDAINED

Moses Kunea Nakuna was ordained a full-fledged minister of the gospel yesterday forenoon at Kaunakapili church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Gulick and Rev. Mr. Timmer, assisted by Revs. S. Desha, Peepoe, Post and Lono, the pastor of the church.

Surrounded by his brother pastors, Nakuna knelt down while Rev. Timmer ordained him as a minister of the gospel.

Rev. S. Desha delivered a very able and instructive address. He advised his brother, Nakuna, to be brave and courageous in his work. At the close of his speech the audience was permitted to meet Rev. Nakuna. The church was filled to its utmost capacity, the Kaunakapili society being present, besides the regular attendants. Rev. Moses K. Nakuna has been and is yet connected with the Hawaiian Board. He is well liked and was the recipient of many congratulations yesterday.

DELEGATE CALLED FOR CONSERVATIVE ACTION

A meeting of Wallace followers was held at Aala Park on Saturday evening at which a resolution was discussed and passed severely criticizing President Pinkham of the Board of Health, and calling him a "big liar." Delegate Kahio spoke to the Hawaiians present in favor of conservative action and a proper appreciation of the good-will of the people of the mainland. Some of the people in the audience were very critical in their attitude toward him. There were from one thousand to fifteen hundred people present.

WATERFRONT NOTES
The Matson liner Hilo will leave for San Francisco tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, taking passengers and mail. The Hilo is taking an exceptionally large cargo to the Coast.

The big new freighter, Lurline, now under construction for the Matson line, will be fully equipped with an up-to-date wireless system, and at the same time will bring to the Pacific Coast another complete system for the Hilo line, which will be installed as soon after arrival as possible. This will be a big advantage to the Matson boats when approaching either end of the run. Not only will the wireless on these vessels be a boon to incoming passengers but also to the ships themselves in learning the conditions of things many hours before they arrive.

It has been arranged that the U. S. S. Albatross will convey a party of scientists from Tahiti to Flint Island, about 200 miles north of Tahiti. These scientists and astronomers are from different parts of the United States and, through the generosity of W. H. Crocker, are making a trip to this mid-Pacific island for the purpose of viewing the eclipse of the sun on January 4. The party will sail from San Francisco to Tahiti on the Mariposa.

The crew of the Russian steamer Sunkari, lying in Mission Bay, left in a body against the wish of Captain Prede yesterday, says the Chronicle of Oct. 24. They expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the food and clothing allowed them under the articles of agreement. They got ashore all right, but up to the hour of closing the Consulate they had not called upon the Russian Consul. Inquiries at the Consulate elicited the reply that nothing was known of the men.

The Sunkari is the Russian steamer that was supposed to call in at this harbor for a supply of fuel.

Congregational singing is to be fostered to a greater extent at the Central Union church. It is proposed to inaugurate a musical society of forty or more members, who will be called on at stated occasions. It is understood that the singers, so drilled, will be placed in the body of the church and will stimulate the singing by the congregation.

VISITING ELDERS ENJOY GRAND LUAU

Music And Feasting In Hawaiian Style

Elders Smith and Sheehy, of the Reorganized Church, will have one experience to relate when they return to Missouri. It will be of a grand luau tendered in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poon at their residence at Waikeke.

This is the first experience either of the Elders have had with the delights of a luau and they both seemed to enjoy it to the full. There were fully three hundred present.

A large tent was used to serve the luau in, and as there was a somewhat stiff wind blowing the idea of the tent was much appreciated.

Six long tables were required to serve the large number attending. The tables being purposely short in the legs, the Hawaiian style of sitting on haubala mats, spread on the ground, was indulged in. President Smith enjoyed it with the rest.

The Hawaiian band was in attendance during the luau and there were also a number of songs by Miss Pihl.

After the feast both of the visiting elders made short but interesting speeches. David Kalaupohai, Jr., who was master of ceremonies, introducing the speakers.

Among those present besides the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Latham, G. J. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Willard of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Flebburn of San Diego, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Whitney, R. H. Trent, Captain Piltz, Dr. W. T. Monarrat, Ralph S. Hosmer, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Rhodes, Mrs. George Lucas, Harry Whitman, Captain of Los Angeles, Miss Pihl, Miss Poon, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Harbottle, Mrs. Emma Guick, Senator Kalaupohai, Mr. and Mrs. Moses K. Nakulua, Mrs. Wright, Miss Kabele, the Misses Kinney, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Blittman, Mrs. Hoarner, Mrs. Vandenberg, Miss Marshall, Judge J. L. Kaulukou, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shabaka, John W. Francis, Supervisor Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swinton, R. Kalaupohai, Jr.

given purporting to be signed by the persons convicted and their surety. At the trial in the Circuit Court before Judge Robinson some of the defendants were identified by name or appearance as having been in the room when the raid was made. The list of names was called by Clerk Simonton and each of the defendants stood up and answered to his name when it was called.

Judge Robinson held that this was sufficient for purposes of identification, the prosecution relying upon the introduction in evidence of the bail bond, claiming that its recital was an admission, and this, coupled with the evidence that the persons arrested were guilty of the offense, and the presumption of identity of persons from identity of names was sufficient to secure a conviction.

The Supreme Court says, in the opinion: "The evidence furnished by the bail bond is meager and unsatisfactory so far as it connects the persons signing with the misdemeanor in question. It does not specify any time or occasion on which they were arrested and it may be doubted whether such a recital inserted incidentally in a document designed for an entirely different purpose and signed by persons unfamiliar with the language in which it was written could be held sufficient to support a conviction in the absence of all other identification."

We do not find it necessary to pass upon this point, however, as we are of the opinion that the bond was improperly admitted in evidence for the purpose for which it was offered. Although the name of Charles F. Chillingworth appears on the bond as an attesting witness to the signatures of the principals and surety no proof by such witness or otherwise of its execution was offered. The bond also bears the words "Approved, Henry C. Vida, Asst. Sheriff," and was admitted upon Mr. Vida's testimony that he was assistant sheriff; that on the 23d of November, 1936, certain Chinese were brought to the police station charged with being present at a gambling game and released on cash bail and afterwards an approved bond was put up in lieu of cash bail, which bond he thereupon identified as the one which he had approved. The bond was then offered for the purpose of identifying the parties before the court and admitted over the objection that the signatures of the defendants had not been identified.

Says Figures Should Convince Hustace Of Error

"Chairman Hustace is off when he says that the Police Department is not doing its work," said Sheriff Lakea this morning. "I have just had the figures showing the work for the past month compiled, and a comparison with the figures of the corresponding month of last year shows that we are doing far more than was done before."

The Sheriff then gave out the figures referred to as follows:

own written admission it would seem essential that there be some evidence that he signed the writing or that the signature was his. The tendency to assume that a signed document is all that it mutely purports to be, without requiring external evidence of authorship, is one which must be constantly guarded against. 3 Wigmore Evidence, Sec. 2139. As a court record the bond might have been admissible for some purposes upon proof of its mere existence, but as a written admission of the defendant of a collateral fact its execution should have been proved like any other written and unrecorded instrument. The assignment of error upon this point is sustained, the judgment of conviction of Ah Sing reversed, and new trial ordered.

"M. P. Prosser, Deputy Attorney General, for plaintiff; R. W. Brockington for defendant."

Judge Robinson stated this morning that this opinion by the Supreme Court will make it practically impossible to secure convictions in cases where a number of Orientals are arrested in a raid, for, outside of other Orientals, who will not identify the arrested, there will be no one else who can swear that a Chinese or Japanese who appears for trial after having been released on bail, is the same man who deposited the bail and was released thereon.

"They are like a lot of squirming rattlesnakes," said the Judge. "One looks just like another, and it will be impossible to identify them. No one can come in and testify positively in many instances that the man who appears for trial is the man who was arrested."

"In this case, there were so many of them that the only thing the Grand Jury could do was to block all the windows and doors and arrest everybody in the room. No one could identify all of them."

"The opinion in this instance affects only Ah Sing. All the others have paid their fines and the case is closed so far as they are concerned. But it will make a lot of difference in the future."

The opinion of the Supreme Court means that Ah Sing gets a new trial if he wants it.

MUST JAPANESE GO AND CHINESE RETURN?

When an organized party of the Philippine Assembly takes a demand for Chinese labor as a principal plank of its political platform, it is fair to suppose that there must be something of the substance of popular demand back of it.

All along the line there are evidences that the "Chinese-must-go" cry of years ago bids fair to soon be substituted by equally positive evidence that the Chinese question will not down.

A most striking indication of this is found in the articles on the "Japanese and the Pacific Coast" written for Collier's by Will Irwin. He has made a thorough canvass of the situation on the Coast, in Canada as well as America. He finds no great love for the Japanese among the employers of labor. The employers are not as bitter as the labor union men, but they are by no means enthusiastic. They need labor, however, and take the best that offers.

The solution of the difficulties in the esteem of the great majority of employers is to offset the Japanese predominance with Chinese. In this way alone do the employers feel that they can get their work done without being absolutely in the hands of the "little brown men." "Give us Chinese to save us" is, according to Irwin, heard on every hand.

There are certain places, however, in which the Japanese are held in the highest esteem and everything possible apparently done to please them. Certain sections of Texas, and Seattle and its environs, are the notable exceptions to the bitterness elsewhere prevailing against the Japanese. In Seattle, Irwin found business men doing their utmost to keep on the good side of Japan. In fact, Seattle fosters everything Japanese with a view to gaining greater strength in Oriental trade.

Texas agricultural towns are also on the list of communities that greet the Japanese as friends, and the Japanese on their part appear to take most kindly to permanent residence and American ways.

Mr. Irwin's summing up of the situation at the close of his series of articles is especially interesting, although he comes to no definite conclusion. He begins with a question and winds up with it unanswered, indicating that he is in doubt or the situation is so young as to make forecasts difficult. In one place he thinks that the movement for Chinese is so strong that it must be of great avail. Going a comparatively few miles further he finds extreme bitterness against all Orientals. And still further he finds the Orient and the Occident on the most friendly terms.

Irwin's final say on the subject follows:

"This has been simply a first-hand study of the Japanese in America, their progress, their attitude toward the Americans, the attitude of the Americans toward them. It is hardly time yet to discuss the larger bearings of the question; the situation is still too confused. But it would be unjust to California and British Columbia, the two places where Japanese competition pinches, to close without a statement of that larger factor which seems to be the logical basis of the exclusion movement.

"Taken by themselves, the Japanese yield to no class of immigrants coming in numbers to the United States today. They are the most industrious of our newer peoples, the most progressive, the most amenable to law; on the whole, the most decent in their way of life. They have their faults, of which their commercial unreliability is the greatest; but the signs go to prove that they are correcting those faults as they learn the peculiarities of Aryan minds and Christian ethics. The Pacific Coast would welcome them—were their complexions different. For the ultimate question is one of assimilation. "Nation by nation, we Americans have received the Irish, the Germans, the Scandinavians, taught them Americanism, and, after a generation or two, taken them into the blood. They are a part of us. In our un- easiness over the undesirable Lithuan, Bohemian and Hungarian immigration which is coming through Ellis Island just now, that is our hope. Their sons and daughters will marry the sons and daughters of other breeds; their third generation will intermarry with Americans.

"Now comes a people equal to us industrially, in many ways superior, to work for control of the primary resources in a rich part of our territory. When they have become lords of the soil—what then? Will we take them into the blood; will either the Americans or the Japanese desire that? Not the Americans, one would say off-hand. The Anglo-Saxon-Celtic mixture has encountered many dark races in its spread eastward and westward, conquering some, exterminating others. They have left no trace on our blood. Where there has been any mixture, the Anglo-Saxon and the Celt have usually compelled the half-breed to remain on the other side of the race division. Unlike the Latin, we have a passion for purity in the white blood. And now we encounter this race question in another aspect. Negro, East Indian, red Indian were inferior or barbaric peoples when we met them. Here, for the first time, we find a people of different race who are approximately our equals in civilization, wholly our equals in native power.

"Will we take them in? It seems unlikely. And if not, shall we share our territory with an unassimilable people who, not content to remain seers, will crowd us in every line of industry? An industrial question at present, it will come to be also a social question as time goes on. That, say the fair-minded and enlightened of the Pacific Coast, is the kernel of the Japanese question, the issue upon which it must finally be decided."

attached cannot be sustained as an action for malicious prosecution for lack of averments that the action was brought maliciously and without probable cause and terminated in plaintiff's favor.

Regarding the action as brought for a wrongful attachment ancillary to the main action requiring malice and want of probable cause but not favorable termination, the averments that defendant acted with deliberate malicious intent and without probable cause in making his complaint and that he deposited therein falsely, fraudulently and maliciously that the plaintiff was about to remove his property with intent to dispose of it in fraud of his creditors may be treated as sufficient averments of malice and want of probable cause in procuring the attachment good after verdict.

Probable cause for the court, and not the jury, to pass upon if the evidence is undisputed on which the want or existence of probable cause is claimed.

JAPANESE ADVISED

BY MAKINO

TO STAY IN HAWAII

In spite of the rainy weather the Japanese in large number gathered last night at the Japanese theater in Aala lane. The meeting was presided over by K. Onodera of the Hawaii Shimpo and was very enthusiastic throughout. Fred K. Makino made the strongest speech of the night. He advised his hearers to raise, besides sugar, pineapples, grapes, oranges and other fruits, and called their attention to the fact that the more they did the more Hawaii would be known all over the world.

"Instead of your trying to go to the mainland or Vancouver," said Makino, "it is best that you remain here and cultivate the lands. You can earn more in the long run by doing so than by continuously working for the plantations. In order to be popular in the community advertise yourselves in the newspapers. This will be a promotion work for you and the land in which we live." In concluding Makino urged upon his hearers to advertise Hawaii through the press. He was loudly applauded.

The other speakers were Haga, Takel, Tasaka and Hashimoto. The meeting was orderly throughout and was full of enthusiasm. Three cheers were given for their Emperor.

There is today a voting contest going on among the Japanese. It is to show who is the most popular man in the community from the standpoint of their various employments, such as laborers, liquor dealers, blacksmiths, carpenters, druggists, storekeepers, restaurants, etc. The voting contest closes some time this month.

In the matter of the suit of Lowrie against Baldwin and the Castles, a motion was filed this morning on behalf of the plaintiff for leave to file an amended complaint. The proposed amended complaint accompanies the motion. It includes the correspondence between W. R. Castle and Lowrie relative to the latter's taking charge at Spreckelsville.

JAPANESE CHRISTIANS

OF WAILUKU

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Wailuku, Maui, Nov. 2.—The Japanese Christians of Wailuku will celebrate the Mikado's birthday at the new Japanese school house on Vineyard street at 7 o'clock this evening. The exercises will consist of singing and refreshments, to be followed by a play in English written for the occasion, in which Uncle Sam appears and offers the usual congratulatory greetings on the happy occasion. The Mikado receives him with open arms and reminds him of his wonderful work towards the peace of the nations at Portsmouth and likewise his attitude toward universal peace at The Hague, where the delegates at the front worked most assiduously for peace on earth while those at home were supporting their arguments by building more Dreadnoughts, which were the only real assurance of universal peace.

MRS. A. M. HAGERMANN

made from simple native roots and herbs. For more than thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, regulating the functions perfectly and overcoming pain. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for child birth and the change of life.

Mrs. A. M. Hagermann, of Bay Shore, L. I., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I suffered from a displacement, excessive and painful functions so that I had to lie down or sit still most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman so that I am able to attend to my duties. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see what relief it will give them.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Therefore she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

"I must look at him. He may not be badly hurt," said the Kid.

"Don't touch him!" She followed, nevertheless, and stood near by while her brother examined his victim. Struve was breathing, and, discovering this, the others lifted him with difficulty to the couch.

"Something cracked in here—ribs, I guess," the Kid remarked, gasping and feeling his own side. He was weak and pale, and the girl led him into the bunkroom where he could lie down. Only his wonderful determination had sustained him thus far, and now the knowledge of his helplessness served to prevent Helen's collapse.

The Kid would not hear of her going for help till the storm abated or daylight came, insisting that the trails were too treacherous and that no time could be saved by doing so. Thus they waited for the dawn. At last they heard the wounded man faintly calling. He spoke to Helen hoarsely. There was no malice, only fear, in his tones:

"I said this was my madness—and I got what I deserved, but I'm going to die. O God—I'm going to die, and I'm afraid." He moaned till the Bronco Kid hobbled in, glaring with unquenched hatred.

"Yes, you're going to die, and I did it. Be game, can't you? I shan't let her go for help until daylight."

Helen forced her brother back to his couch, and returned to help the wounded man, who grew incoherent and began to babble.

A little later, when the Kid seemed stronger and his head clearer, Helen ventured to tell him of their uncle's villainy and of the proof she held, with her hope of restoring justice. She told him of the attack planned that very night and of the danger which threatened the miners. He questioned her closely and, realising the bearing of her story, crept to the door, casting the wind like a bound.

"We'll have to risk it," said he. "The wind is almost gone and it's not long till daylight."

She pleaded to go alone, but he was firm. "I'll never leave you again, and, moreover, I know the lower trail quite well. We'll go down the gulch to the valley and reach town that way. It's farther, but it's not so dangerous."

"You can't ride," she insisted. "I can if you'll tie me into the saddle. Come, get the horses."

It was still pitchy dark and the rain was pouring, but the wind only sighed weakly, as though tired by its violence, when she helped the Bronco into his saddle. The effort wrenched a groan from him, but he insisted upon her tying his feet beneath the horse's belly, saying that the trail was rough and he could take no chance of falling again; so, having performed the last services she might for Struve, she mounted her own animal and allowed it to pick its way down the steep descent behind her brother, who swayed and lurched drunkenly in his seat, gripping the horn before him with both hands.

They had been gone perhaps a half hour when another horse plunged furiously out of the darkness and halted before the roadside door. Its rider, mud stained and disheveled, flung himself in mad haste to the ground and bolted in through the door. He saw the signs of confusion in the outer room, chairs upset and broken, the table wedged against the stove and before the counter a shattered lamp in a pool of oil. He called loudly, but receiving no answer, snatched a light which he found burning and ran to the door at his left. Nothing greeted him but the empty tiers of bunks.

Turning, he crossed to the other side and burst through. Another lamp was lighted beside the couch where Struve lay, breathing heavily, his lids half closed over his staring eyes. Roy noted the pool of blood at his feet and the broken window, then, setting down his lamp, he leaned over the man and spoke to him.

When he received no answer he spoke again loudly. Then, in a frenzy, Glenister shook the wounded man cruelly, so that he cried out in terror: "I'm dying—oh, I'm dying

HIGHS OUT PLAY KAMS ON GRID

To Andrews of the High School belongs the glory of winning a close football match between the Kamehameha II team and the High School. This lad had attempted several field goals during the game but failed until the end of the first half, when he placed a dandy squarely between the goal posts for four points. This was the only score made during the game. The Kams outplayed the High School boys and kept the ball in the High School territory most of the time, but they were unable to score a touchdown.

This is the second victory for the High School team and all the credit is due them. Their supporters were wild with joy Saturday and they shouted their yells while the Kams sang their school songs. It was a regular football day. Some of the High School young ladies wore black and gold hats.

Rice of the Kams tried several times for a field goal but failed each time. At the close of the game it looked as though the Kams might score.

The line-up and officials were:
High School—Pratt, Turner (captain), Hughes, J. Gilliland, H. Chillingworth, Ingalls, Andrews, Marcellino (Kyoshi), Maruchi, Rice, Akana.

Kams—Makakau, Komomoa, Kufale, Kaluna, Kainalof, Kaal, Ladd, Hal, Kakeia, Norton, Kahapana.
Referee—Arnold.
Umpire—Desha.
Timekeepers—Horne, Blanchard.

ENGAGEMENT PARTY AT SEASIDE

Last Saturday evening a most delightful and select dinner party was given at the Seaside to Miss Maude Johnston and Mr. Irving Hard by a party of about twenty intimate friends. The occasion was the commemoration of the engagement of the couple in whose honor the party was given.

The private dining room was most beautifully decorated for the occasion. After the collation there came dancing to the dreamy strains from Kasi's orchestra, which was kept up till quite late.

During the dinner, a bombshell was dropped into the midst of the happy crowd in the shape of the announcement of another engagement, that of Miss Carrie Miller to Mr. James Crockett. Among those present were Misses Johnstone, Desha, Miller, Lyons, A. Macaulay, Macaulay, Melan Grace, M. Colman and G. Colman, and Messrs. Christensen, A. Crockett, J. Crockett, George, I. Hard, V. Hard, Jenkins, Perkins, Simpson and Wright.

CITY BEAUTIFIER ROBINSON ENTERS PROTEST

Charles Melford Robinson, the beautification architect of cities, in a letter to Governor Frazier, has entered his protest against the sale of the ashmarket property to the Pacific Mail people, or to anyone else, for that matter, for the purpose of using the same in a commercial way, and more particularly for a coal yard. He says in part:

"Do stop the sale if you can. And then, if the postoffice is put in Palace Square, or whether it is or not, since other public buildings are there, and with the so much publicly owned waterfront, Honolulu can make itself a pretty handsomely designed city. I hope you will stand for that."

Mr. Robinson has just finished a survey of the city of Los Angeles in the same capacity as he served this city, and is at present stopping at the Hotel Del Monte.

KISSING-ROOM

It is proposed by the master of the Grand Central Station in New York, that it would be advisable for the railway companies, in their new plans, to provide a kissing room and require all osculation to be performed there, so that the concourse, doorways, platforms and gates be not congested by those who linger for the last good-by.

The question of who should get the nomination was settled here this way: We had a big jumping match, and Bill Jones jumped fifteen feet and won the nomination for Coroner. —Whitner (Ga.) Courier.

SPORTS*Chinese A.C. Give Palamas A Bad Beating

Sixteen to two tells the sad story of the Palamas against the Chinese Athletic Club in yesterday's game of championship baseball. John Lo's good wing was in fine shape yesterday and although the ball was wet and slippery he allowed the native lads but two bingles and they were so far apart that they did no damage. On the other hand, the Palamas pitchers were pounded all over the orchard and into the river. Thirteen hits were registered off Pitchers Paaluh and Kealoha. Ayau and Mon Yin were the only players who did not connect safely with the sphere.

Notwithstanding the wet weather there was a big crowd on hand to see the fun. The game carried much interest, as some thought that it might be the last game of the season. Both teams have now won a game and next Sunday the teams will play for the championship.

A double by Sing Chong, a pass to Chi Bui and an error by Kaopua gave the Chinese boys three runs in the first inning and a lead which proved large enough to win the game. In the third and fourth the Chinese fireworks started and they hit hit demons. Five runs each were scored in these two innings and the Palamas were made to look foolish. In the fourth Paaluh was chased to the tail timber and Kealoha took his place. This pitcher fared little better than the first. The Palamas scored their only runs in the fifth and the seventh. Hoopli in the fifth hit for two bases and went to third on a passed ball. He crossed the plate on a second passed ball.

The Chinese boys played a good fielding game and made but three errors. They had in all 10 chances.

The final game between these two teams will be played on Sunday next and a fast game should result.

Following is a detailed summary of the game:

ATKINSON LEAGUE

Ocean Views 6, Brewery 5.
Pearl Handlers 16, Iroquois 14.
These were two interesting games of ball and there was enough play crowded into these twenty innings to pull off four or five games. It took the Ocean Views eleven innings to down their rivals and this game furnished all kinds of excitement. It was a real good game and better ball is seldom seen in any league. These teams played very even ball. But four errors were made on one side and five on the other.

The other game was a batting-fest in which everybody hit and the pitchers worked overtime. The cops played a great game and although they got less hits and more errors than the sailors they won the game.

They all played as follows:
