MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1893.

THE letter of our Maui correspondent gives assurance that the annexationists on that island are stirring and mean to make their voice heard. John W. Kalua is a representative man and one of the most intelligent and influential of the natives. He is, moreover, a very eloquent speaker, and it is always a pleasure to hear him. He possesses the qualifications of a leader, and many of his countrymen place great confidence in him. He advocates annexation with arguments that no one can controvert and carries conviction on every point raised.

THE STAR'S INTERVIEW MUDDLE.

The interview with the American minister published in the Star of the 16th instant proves to be a most unfortunate blunder. As it is likely to form an interesting episode in Hawaiian journalistic history it may be well to place the facts on record for future reference, and for the benefit of the public. The following was printed as the interview:

"Can you not authorize the Star to say something, Mr. Willis, which will allay the present excitement and quiet the numerous rumors afloat?"

(1) "Yes, I believe that the time has come in which it is right and proper for me to use my discretion in this matter. You are authorized to say from me that no change in the present situation will take place for several weeks. I brought with me certain instructions from the United States government on the Hawaiian situation. Since my arrival here contingencies have arisen about which neither the United States government nor myself were aware when I left Washington. I have thought best in the exercise of the discretion allowed me, to submit these matters to Washington before proceeding further in carrying out my original instructions. I forward my dispatches to Washington by today's steamer, and until I receive an answer to them no change will take place in the present situation nor will any be allowed."

"What do you mean by the expression 'nor will any be allowed'?"
(2) "I mean just this: That until the time comes for me to carry out my instructions the peace and good order of this community will be kept undisturbed in the instant. That any attempt made by any person or persons to make trouble will be promptly checked and punished. You may put the matter more plainly and say that even if the Provisional government discharged the whole of its troops no lawlessness would be allowed for one moment under the present situation of affairs."

"This will go a great way towards allaying the present excitement, Mr. Willis; can you not add something more?" asked the reporter.
(3) "Yes, you may say that I deprecate the course of certain newspapers in stirring up factional trouble here, and that I admire the recent course of the Star in that regard. I think that the tone of its articles on the political situation has been proper and consistent under the circumstances. The whole Hawaiian question is now in abeyance and nothing that the newspapers can say or do will alter the situation one iota. I make this statement on my own responsibility and in the hope that it will allay the present excitement. There is not the slightest necessity for any one to stay out of bed nights for fear of any trouble of any kind, for none will be permitted."

Paragraphs marked (1) and (2) it was thought might convey in the main what the minister desired to express, but when paragraph (3) singled out the Star as the model paper which does not stir up factional trouble here, everyone who read the lines said that Minister Willis could never have uttered such a remark. And it naturally threw some discredit on the interview, which belief was confirmed when the Bulletin, the next evening, printed the following note received from the minister, the italics being ours:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE BULLETIN:—I have hastily glanced at the manuscript which you have left. The interview in the Star was submitted to me, but I did not scrutinize it carefully. It contains several expressions which are misleading; due, I am sure, to no intention on the part of the writer. The short conversation which I had with him had no political significance whatever. When my government is ready to make any official or political statements, it will be elsewhere.
I regret that a casual remark, in regard to the attitude of the press here, has been misconstrued.

When I spoke to the reporter of the Star, it was the representative of the entire press. I am not its censor, and my remark was not intended to be construed to the disadvantage of any. It was intended as an appeal to all, to unite in preserving peace and good order, which is, I know, the wish of all good citizens.
Further than this, I do not desire to be quoted.

Yours respectfully,
ALBERT S. WILLIS.

Now, here is a clear and most positive disavowal of the correctness of the reported interview on the part of the minister, who says that, as published in the Star, it "contains several expressions which are misleading." This is sufficient to show that the interview, as published, did not convey what the minister sought to express. It matters little now what the several expressions are which the Star man has twisted so as to be "misleading," nor is the minister under any obligation to the public to say what mistakes the reporter made. The "misleading expressions" have been published, and cannot be recalled.

Here this unfortunate episode might have been dropped had it not been that the editor of the Star, in Saturday evening's issue, makes two damaging statements, which can only be termed as disrespectful, if not insulting. The first is an apparent attempt to fasten on the minister the responsibility of any inaccuracies in the published interview, by bringing Mr. Manson forward as witness that the minister "spent fifteen minutes" in looking over the manuscript, as though that time was sufficient to detect errors, when the minister's thoughts were occupied with other and more important matters. To say the least, it was very ungentlemanly, and needs an apology.

The other instance is contained in the following paragraph from Saturday's issue of the Star:

Let us say to Mr. Willis in closing that the Star is careful of its good name and that it resents an assault upon it from any source; yet, out of respect for him as a well-meaning diplomat who may have found that the cold type gave a different look to his words than penmanship had done, it opens its columns that he may say, specifically, wherein the interview was at variance with the truth.

Here the editor undertakes to read a lecture to Mr. Willis, whom he most graciously terms "a well-meaning diplomat," and informs him that the cold type of the Star gave a different look to his words than the reporter's pen had done, and kindly offers him space to say what he pleases, whenever its interviewers publish anything "at variance with the truth!" This is decidedly cool. The Star's cold types give a different look to the minister's utterances than they should have done! This fully accounts for the "misleading expressions" noticed by the minister. Cold type did the whole mischief! And "cold type" is a very handy scapegoat!

But seriously, the editor has no right to address the minister in the manner he has done in the above paragraph. A diplomat represents the person of his sovereign, and should receive the same courtesy as the latter. As a rule he does not appear in print to defend himself nor to explain any of his official acts, no more than would the sovereign whom he represents. Nor can he be called out to engage in political disputes, even if "cold type" misrepresents him.

The Tartars are supposed to have, as a nation, the most powerful voices in the world, while the Germans possess the loudest voices of any civilized people. The voices of both Chinese and Japanese are of very low power and feeble compass, and are probably weaker than those of any other people. Taken as a whole, Europeans have stronger, clearer, and better voices than the inhabitants of the other continents.

The most singular ship in the world is the Polyphemus, of the British navy. It is simply a long steel tube deeply buried in the water, the deck rising only four feet above the sea. It carries no mast or sails, and is used as a ram and torpedo boat.

In Holland a woman is a secondary consideration—and a poor consideration at that. No Dutch gentleman when walking on the sidewalk will move out of his way for a lady. The latter turns out invariably, however muddy or dangerous the street.

It is now proved that stenography, far from being of modern invention, was much used by the Greeks and Romans in taking down the great speeches made in the forum and assembly. It is even hinted that the Egyptians, Phœnicians and Jews knew the art and used it.

HE IS GETTING USED TO IT.

The Star's Editor Was Arrested Twice Saturday.

If the Star's editor does not get tired of writing editorials of an objectionable nature to Mr. Wilson, or Mr. Wilson does not find the work of swearing to warrants of arrest irksome, there is a very good prospect of the court calendar being filled with cases entitled Wilson vs. Smith.

Saturday at noon Mr. W. G. Smith was arrested, the second time, on a warrant sworn to by Charles B. Wilson, charging him with libel in the first degree, the charge arising from an article published in the Star of the day previous, entitled "C. B. Wilson's bad break."

Saturday evening Mr. Smith was once more called on by a police officer with a warrant sworn to by Mr. Wilson, the same charge being once more preferred.

Somehow Mr. Smith seems to be very little inconvenienced by the numerous arrests, and by this time is doubtless getting used to hearing a warrant for his arrest read every day, and would probably feel that something was missing should a day pass without his having to pay a visit to the court-house.

We expected to sell Aeromotors this week so that property owners might irrigate their lawns and supply water to their tenants while the Makiki pumping plant was receiving the usual repairs, but a "contingency" arose Saturday and Sunday, which causes us to postpone the matter and turn our attention—and yours to Hartman Steel Mats, an article you are in need of since the heavy mud-producing rain has fallen. These mats are not a fancy thing that will wear out in a little while, but a strong, serviceable steel mat that will last forever. The one at our front door has been there for four years and has withstood the tramping of thousands of feet. If you have a steel mat and want something for the door sill, get a cocoa mat for about half the price you've been paying.

There's something about the quality of our silverware that makes people want it. Last week we had a run on it that overtopped anything of the kind we have ever experienced. We aim to get the best of everything and this rule applies to spoons, forks, etc., made of silver.

If people want to establish themselves as money makers they must start on the right track; "fall roads lead to Rome," but straight out Economy street is the only road to wealth. The quickest and safest way to get to this street is by the use of stays and washers in making a fence. You are throwing money away in building an old fashion post and wire fence. Steel stays at six cents each compares favorably with redwood posts for the same purpose at eighteen and twenty cents without freight.

Honolulu, September 3d, 1893.

Dear Sirs:—I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a bottle of Camelline. The advantages in this climate of the use of a soothing, harmless, preparation for the skin is known to most ladies; but fortunately many of the articles sold for that purpose produce unpleasant results. Camelline is certainly a most elegant and agreeable addition to the toilet, and my own observation and the high scientific testimony as to its merit satisfy me that its popularity is well deserved.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

HOLIDAY SHOPPING HAS COMMENCED.

Lou thinks he has good grounds for a libel suit.

The Temple of Fashion has put on its holiday attire.

The Olia restaurant, J. Lycurgus, proprietor, is a new venture in Hilo. See advt.

The Hawaiian band will give a moonlight concert at Emma square (weather permitting) this evening.

The water was 6 inches deep in the gutters at the corner of Fort and Queen streets yesterday morning.

The fire Sunday morning was caused by lime being slacked in a warehouse behind Lucas' planing mill.

Reservoirs one, two and three were filled by the rain at 6 A.M. yesterday, and were overflowing all day.

Five and three-quarter inches of rain fell at Punahou college during the storm of Saturday night and Sunday.

The attendance at the churches last night was exceptionally large considering the inclemency of the weather.

The reports from various points around the island show that the rainfall has been very general and even every place.

The annual meeting of the Wilder Steamship Company will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the company's office.

Under foreclosure of mortgage Jas. F. Morgan will sell real estate, on this island, at 12 o'clock noon today at his salesroom.

The names of a goodly number of drunks decorated the pages of the prison register yesterday afternoon. Perhaps too much water was the cause.

Mr. Robert H. Baker has promised to deliver an address before the congregation of pastor Keki's church, Printer's lane, next Sunday evening.

Two men-of-war's men and a stranger started out to do up a native on Fort street yesterday, and as a result they all landed at the police station.

This is the regular week for moonlight band concerts, but from the latest advice received from the weather clerk there will be little work for the band.

The Hawaiian Hardware Company have a timely talk this morning on Hartman steel-wire mats. Aermotors are not discussed—nature performing its duty.

The hearing of the libel suit brought by Chas. B. Wilson against W. G. Smith, which was to have taken place Saturday, was postponed till next Wednesday, at the request of the prosecution.

The exact date of the sailing of the bark Alden Besse from San Francisco is not known, but it is highly probable that she brings five or six days' later news than has been received here.

One of the native members of the Kaunakapili church is said to be secretly stirring up strife among the members of that church. This agitator's aim is to place the queen at the head of the church.

Sealed tenders for the construction of a jail at North Kohala, Hawaii, are asked for by the minister of the interior. Plans and specifications can be seen at the bureau of public works, or at the office of C. H. Pulaa, deputy sheriff, North Kohala.

Word was received at the station house this morning from Waialua to the effect that a native of that place had been arrested on a charge of attempted murder, the intended victim being the man's own daughter. Some sensational details are expected as the outcome of the assault.

On Saturday morning two horses belonging to the tramcar line got loose from a car on Beretania street, and evidently frightened at what they had been pulling, ran away. The team ran along Beretania street to Fort, where one of them slipped and fell, bringing the other to a halt.

At Morgan's auction sale of thoroughbred horses Saturday, $50 was the starting offer for "McGinty." The animal was finally bought by Mr. H. Focke for the estate at $155. "Daylight" was not sold, as nothing over the starting price of $300 was offered. Evidently thoroughbreds are not in demand.

The barkentine Kikikita, which left this port on Saturday, has a fair chance of reaching Port Townsend ahead of the next mail steamer from this port to San Francisco. Some two years since she made the passage over in December in twelve days, carrying news that was telegraphed all over the United States. She took a file of the ADVERTISER, which all captains leaving should do. You can have them for the asking.

Last Thursday as the locomotive at Lihue plantation, Kauai, was bringing the laborers in to dinner, a Japanese laborer, in attempting to get off the engine before it stopped, missed his footing, and was thrown under the wheels and killed instantly, his body being horribly mangled and torn.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

HOLIDAY SHOPPING HAS COMMENCED.

Lou thinks he has good grounds for a libel suit.

The Temple of Fashion has put on its holiday attire.

The Olia restaurant, J. Lycurgus, proprietor, is a new venture in Hilo. See advt.

The Hawaiian band will give a moonlight concert at Emma square (weather permitting) this evening.

The water was 6 inches deep in the gutters at the corner of Fort and Queen streets yesterday morning.

The fire Sunday morning was caused by lime being slacked in a warehouse behind Lucas' planing mill.

Reservoirs one, two and three were filled by the rain at 6 A.M. yesterday, and were overflowing all day.

Five and three-quarter inches of rain fell at Punahou college during the storm of Saturday night and Sunday.

The attendance at the churches last night was exceptionally large considering the inclemency of the weather.

The reports from various points around the island show that the rainfall has been very general and even every place.

The annual meeting of the Wilder Steamship Company will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the company's office.

Under foreclosure of mortgage Jas. F. Morgan will sell real estate, on this island, at 12 o'clock noon today at his salesroom.

The names of a goodly number of drunks decorated the pages of the prison register yesterday afternoon. Perhaps too much water was the cause.

Mr. Robert H. Baker has promised to deliver an address before the congregation of pastor Keki's church, Printer's lane, next Sunday evening.

Two men-of-war's men and a stranger started out to do up a native on Fort street yesterday, and as a result they all landed at the police station.

This is the regular week for moonlight band concerts, but from the latest advice received from the weather clerk there will be little work for the band.

The Hawaiian Hardware Company have a timely talk this morning on Hartman steel-wire mats. Aermotors are not discussed—nature performing its duty.

SHE WAS TIRED OF LIFE.

Frederica, a Young German Woman, Takes Poison.

A young German woman known as Frederica living on Queen street near Punchbowl, grew tired of life Saturday evening, and committed suicide by means of poison taken in whisky.

Dependancy, caused by domestic troubles is supposed to have been the cause leading the young woman to take her life.

The woman was dead when found by neighbors, and the body was soon after taken to the police station where a post mortem examination was held, the result of which went to show that death was caused by poison, although Professor Lyons, who had the analysis of the contents of the stomach in hand, was unable to say last night what the poison was.

THE FIRE SUNDAY MORNING.

It Was Caused by the Wetting of Lime in a Warehouse.

The fire alarm at 3:45 yesterday morning was for a small blaze in the warehouse at the rear of the Lucas' planing mill. Some lime was stored in the warehouse, one end of which had been raised a day or two previous, and when the heavy rainfall occurred Saturday night the water falling into the warehouse ran to the further end where the lime was piled, which, on becoming wet, ignited and caused a small fire. The damage resulting was nominal, as the fire was discovered soon after it started, and the fire department responding promptly nearly all loss was averted.

Moonlight Concert.

HAWAII'S WONDER.

THE VOLCANO OF KILAUEA
VERY ACTIVE.

Distinguished Visitors From All Climax Pay Madam Pele
a Visit.

VOLCANO HOUSE, Kilauea, Hawaii, Nov. 12.—Most people, will I think, be glad to hear that the volcano is in a state of unusual activity. It has, within the last two weeks, overflowed its banks and again dropped to a depth of forty feet, and is now constantly rising or falling with numerous fountains playing.

This overflow is said to have been a very grand sight. The molten lava came surging across the floor, like a veritable sea of fire and broke upon the outer wall, like the waves of the ocean.

Upon my arrival, Nov. 7th, this flow was cold, so that one could walk over it, and the lake had dropped down thirty or forty feet, but it had evidently reached its turning point and was now rising rapidly again. There were a few fountains playing, but the Madam was evidently in a bad humor and very chary of her favors. However, on the 12th she gave another most gorgeous display of her powers. On this occasion the entire lake was in commotion, and seven or eight great fountains were playing at the same time. After these had subsided, two more started about one hundred feet apart, they gradually grew larger and larger until they formed one vast fountain of liquid fire. At this time there were numerous small fountains, and the whole mass made a picture of beauty of indescribable grandeur.

The brilliant light from this ocean of fire was reflected on the sky above, and the force and shock of this mighty surging mass shook the volcano to its very foundations, causing no small consternation to the fair visitors.

But the volcano is not the only attraction here. There is the pleasure of meeting so many charming people, people fresh from those great centers of learning, and from the great world of fashion, culture and refinement.

There were on this occasion a number of German scientists, general English gentlemen and the "Kennedy party," a company of thirty persons from Hilo. Besides these the scenery to the volcano cannot be surpassed. Then there is the climate, which nothing can approach, and appetites which nothing can satisfy.

Again there is the new volcano house, with all its conveniences, and the old volcano house with its picturesqueness and rusticity, its broad, open fireplace and its solid comfort; and lastly, there is Peter Lee, the host, who will do all he possibly can for your comfort.

But I must not forget the Volcano road, the last few miles of which I have good reason to remember. This road will, when finished, be one of the finest in the world. The whole trip, from Honolulu to the volcano, can now be made with ease and comfort compared to former times.

THE BALL GAME SATURDAY

The Unknowns Defeat the Myrtles—A Successful Umpire.

The ball game Saturday afternoon between the Myrtles and the Unknowns was a closely-contested and well played match, the score of 5 to 2 in favor of the Unknowns showing a result a long way ahead of the average amateur game.

When the seventh inning was called the score stood 2 and 2, where it was kept throughout the inning. During the eighth inning first baseman Harris, of the Unknowns, did some hot work on first, stopping everything in reach, and to his superior play the Unknowns owe the three runs added to their score during the inning, and the victory over the opposing team, which played well and contested hotly every run made by their opponents.

J. L. Brown, of the Adams, umpired the game in a satisfactory manner to all concerned, which, in the average ball game, is a greater feat than playing any position.

The recent great fall of "mana" in Mardin and Diarbekir, Asiatic Turkey, has been explained. Chemists who examined the stuff report it to be a species of lichen (Lecanora esculenta) which is not known to grow outside of Tunis, Morocco and Algeria.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Documents of the First Fourteen Congresses Found in the Senate Basement.

The former assistant librarian of the senate, Mr. E. T. Cressey, has made a most important discovery among the 40,000 volumes, supposed to be useless, which have been accumulating for years in the basement of the senate wing of the capitol. After a search of months he has found 79 volumes, hitherto supposed not to be in existence, which comprise the senate documents of the first 13 congresses and the house documents of the first nine. The Congressional library, the Boston public library and the British museum are all without these, and the addition of them to the senate library makes it the most valuable in the world for references of the proceedings, debates and documents of congress.

Almost from the adoption of the constitution all documents of the senate and the house have been set aside in small numbers for the secretary of the senate. These were kept in bad order, if kept at all, and were scattered in various places. Just after the war, however, they were all collected into the senate library, which occupied a number of almost impenetrable recesses in the upper part of the senate wing and also an equal number of still more difficult nooks and corners in the basement near the heating machinery. This last was a dry and safe place, but hardly anybody ever ventured within its doors. The 40,000 volumes accumulated there were all supposed to be extra ones. Mr. Cressey's discovery shows that they contain perhaps the richest single treasure in the country.

The volumes are in a good state of preservation, although they and many others stacked in this unexplored retreat show traces of the worms. Many of the books indeed are entirely gone, but the pages are intact, and the senate library may now boast that it has for reference complete documents of the senate and the house, all except those of the senate of the Second congress.

A few of the 79 volumes are bound in manuscript, just as they came from the authors, and some of them, as it is believed, have never been printed. During the five years subsequent to the end of the war, and during the seventies the chamberlain would be called upon to change a few coins. It was believed that all had been taken up.

Yesterday, however, Chamberlain Hills was visited by two young ladies who showed him a quantity of the currency issued in 1863 and asked him what it was worth. To the chamberlain's questions as to how it had come into their possession the elder replied that in looking over the effects of a relative lately deceased it was found stored away in an old box along with many war curios. Mr. Hills promptly handed over the counter in good bills the face value of the money, between $25 and $30.

A singular coincidence connected with the transaction was that Chamberlain Hills himself had the currency redeemed yesterday to the original owner over 80 years ago.—Albany Journal.

World's Fair Box Parties.

Nearly every train that goes out of this city for Chicago has several "box parties" on board. These are entirely different from the box parties at theaters, but have been christened by the train hands with the same name. They are little groups of people bent on taking an economical glimpse of the great exposition, and who, in order to cut down their expenses to the lowest notch, have had packed at home boxes of luncheon of sufficient magnitude to last during the trip. At each meal hour the members of the box parties draw these boxes from under the seat or sit in groups with their luncheon on their knees and chat as contentedly as if they were at a gorgeously appointed hotel. Sometimes an exchange is effected of a boiled egg for a tomato or a bit of fruit for some ham, and the fellow who has had the forethought to bring a few bottles of beer is a prime favorite with the other passengers.—Philadelphia Record.

Immigration Diverted to Canada.

The rigid inquiries now instituted at the ports of the United States to keep undesirable immigrants out of the country are likely to divert immigration into Canada, where it is welcomed, and the emigration of the interior is already rejoicing in the prospect of increased population. What is chiefly interesting to an outside observer is that countries which do not generally export their citizens are now beginning to do so. France, for instance, is contributing settlers, not to Quebec, which is already fully stocked, but to the northwest territories, where Dutchmen are beginning to flow into Manitoba. It is less satisfactory to find that Chinamen continue to pass over into British Columbia, though eventually they are certain to be swamped there.—Westminster Gazette.

How the Senators Speak of It.

It is interesting to note the way in which senators refer to the silver act. "I have here," they begin, "a petition from the blank board of trade of blank asking for the repeal of the."

There is a long pause, a glance toward the senior senator from Ohio in a depreciating sort of way, as though they wanted to avoid bruising any one's feelings, and then:

"The so-called Sherman act," with great stress upon the "so-called." This little passage has occurred about four score times up to date, and it is always the same.—Washington Post.

Hood's Cures

Even When Called Incurable
Terrible Scurvy—Sciatic Rheumatism

Mr. Arthur Simon
Of Galatia, Ohio.

"They said I was incurable, the doctors did, but the result has proven that Hood's Sarsaparilla was able to cure. I had Sciatic Rheumatism and was confined to my bed six months. Three physicians did not help me and I was given up to die."

When I was in this terrible condition, unable to move hand or foot, I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle had a little effect, and while taking the second, I gained so rapidly that I could sit up in my chair. My system had been so run down by other medicine, that it took me quite a while to recuperate. By the time I had taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I could walk around, and now, as I have taken six bottles, I am cured and can do a good day's work. I do not feel I can praise enough."

MAUI DOINGS.

ANNEXATION CLUB MEETING AT WAILUKU.

Stray Scribbles, Etc., by the "Advertiser's" Special Correspondent.

MAUI, Nov. 18.—During Monday evening, the 13th inst., the Maui Annexation Club held its fourth general meeting at the Wailuku court house. J. W. Kalua, president, called the gentlemen to order and requested J. L. Dumas to take the chair. (Mr. Dumas stated that the club had been assembled to dispel various rumors that were in circulation to the effect that the Maui association had become divided and had about "given up the ghost," to show that the club still maintained a most lively and thriving existence; that it still wanted annexation, and that it fully endorsed and upheld the Provisional government.)

Volunteer speakers were then called for. F. B. McStocker, of the executive committee of the Honolulu club, stated facts concerning the prosperous condition of his own association, and gave a brief outline of the able support which the government now has. He congratulated the Maui club on its brave showing, and said he should make a most favorable report in Honolulu.

J. W. Kalua followed him with a patriotic speech, brief and eloquent, which was ably interpreted from Hawaiian to English by Sheriff Chillingworth. He indignantly denied that there was any split whatever in the Maui association, but that they were as strong and staunch as ever. It was now high time for every man to take a decided stand either for or against annexation. (Much applause.)

W. A. McKay and other members made brief remarks on the work of the club and concerning the necessity of standing firmly together.

J. L. Dumas' answer to the proposition of deciding matters by general vote, was received with enthusiastic applause.

Two resolutions read by Secretary Hons were unanimously adopted.

The first was an endorsement of the resolution recently offered by John Emmeluth in the council, relating to the enrollment of all male office-holders under 45 years of age in volunteer companies, and all over that age in the citizens' reserve.

The second expressed "implicit confidence," "unswerving loyalty," "cordial support" and "firm adherence" to the present government from the 17th day of January last to the present moment.

It was further determined that copies of the above resolutions be forwarded to President S. B. Dole, the executive council and the Honolulu annexation club.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to call of the committee.

The court house was well filled by a most respectable and orderly body of Maui citizens, and the meeting was enthusiastic and interesting from beginning to close. Kahului R. R. Co. trains conveyed people from Paia, Spreckelsville and Kahului.

STRAY SCRIBBLES.

Deputy-Collector F. B. McStocker of Honolulu left this week for Hawaii, after spending several days at Kahului. He is on a tour of inspection of custom houses.

E. E. Atwater has been managing the Paia store during A. D. Larnach's absence in Honolulu.

The Makawao Ladies' Aid Society will give a moonlight garden party during the evening of Friday, the 24th inst. It will take place under spreading trees on the beautiful lawn of H. P. Baldwin's Haiku residence. There will be pretty booths under the espionage of pretty girls at which candy, lemonade, sandwiches, coffee, etc., will be dispensed. A programme of unique events has also been prepared. Exercises begin at 7 p. m.

E. Hutchinson, D. D. S., will not visit Mauna Makawao as he intended, but will establish his temporary office during the first part of next week in the school teacher's residence at Hamakua-poko.

After the tennis games at Kahului court last Saturday afternoon, a coterie of the members hied to Mrs. Alexander's house and spent a delightful evening.

The brigantine J. D. Spreckels, Captain Christiansen, arrived last Monday, the 13th inst., at Kahului, sixteen and a half days from San Francisco. She brought six passengers, Captain Hanson, wife and four children. Her cargo consisted of pipe for H. C. & S. Co. The brigantine returns to San Francisco today in ballast (Kahului sand).

The Makawao local circle of teachers is holding its second meeting this morning, and discussing John Henry Pestalozzi at Mr. Crook's residence.

Mr. G. E. Beckwith read the sermon at Paia church last Sunday. His brother, Dr. Beckwith, of Honolulu, will (according to the Star) take charge of the parish about January 1, 1894. The gentleman is very popular in Makawao district.

A road jury will sit at Makawao post-office during Monday, the 20th instant, to consider the opening of a piece of highway joining the Kula and Kahului roads.

Paia depot is undergoing considerable improvement as regards the office part of the building. When completed, there will exist a most spacious and convenient office and a large waiting-room for the traveling public.

Some of the "boys" have already begun training for the coming field day in Makawao.

The Makawao Seminary's Thanksgiving entertainment takes place during the evening of the 28th instant.

During the past week Superintendent Carley has sent around new telephone lists.

Kalakaua's birthday was little celebrated on the 16th inst. Was it or was it not a legal holiday?

J. J. Williams is doing fine photographic work in Wailuku.

Nine men are working in the sand hills, near camps 6 and 7 (Spreckelsville) riveting pipe. They will be engaged about three weeks.

Weather.—Several showers have fallen in Wailuku and Makawao. Snow on Haleakala during the early part of the week gave a chill to the atmosphere.

Parallel Columns Shows How News Is Gleaned With the Shears.

The following extracts taken from the report of the Board of Health, as they appeared in the ADVERTISER and Star of the same date, are printed to show how news is sometimes gleaned with a large pair of shears.

The ADVERTISER being a morning paper, printed the extracts first:

ADVERTISER—Thursday A. M. Star—Thursday P. M.

The secretary was instructed by the board to notify Mr. Board to notify Mr. Meyers that the board had been informed of the small form of the small size of the cattle furnished the settlement, and to ask that if possible an improvement in this respect be made.

In regard to non-referring to the leprosy children born suggestion of the settlement, the health officer that said Smith said that the question of non-the girls are provided leprosy children born for at Kapoli at the settlement home, but that no pro-quires consideration, vision is made for the President Smith said boys. That there were that the girls are brought down with made for the boys, him, had there been there were two boys now at the settlement whom Mr. Reynolds would have brought down with him, had there been any place to put them.

In regard to the selling of awa licenses at Kalaupapa, President Smith said that he understood that the use of awa predisposed the users to leprosy, and that he should advise using should advise using all efforts to have the all efforts to have the sale of the license at sale of the license at the settlement discontinued, continued, and the secretary was instructed to inform the minister of the interior to that effect.

Women at Fires.

"Talk about women's vanity," said an old member of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, "I've seen some peculiar cases of that. You would think that when flames were licking the window panes and smoke coming up the stairs in clouds a woman would forget her appearance; but no, it's nothing of the sort."

"I've known a woman risk her life from burning by standing in front of her glass coiling her hair instead of making her escape while she could. I recollect seeing hold of her to drag her from the building, and her crying out:

"Let me finish; I can't face all that crowd with my hair all down my shoulders." And she wouldn't come until it was securely fastened.

"Another lady in Kensington has just been rescued from a burning building when she rushed up to me and said:

"Oh, Mr. Fireman, do try and save my poodle. Look, there he is, on the window-sill." I started off, and as I was on the ladder she cried out: 'Bring my bonnet as well, please. The one with the trimmings she said, but I saved it as well as the poodle, and she thanked me with tears in her eyes.'—Ex.

AFTER THE STORM

THE STREETS LOOK NEAT AND CLEAN.Goods Damaged in Hackfeld's
Warehouse—The Tracks Cleared for the Palace Cars.

The heavy rainfall during the past thirty-six hours has done much good in the city, to say nothing of the benefits resulting from an agricultural standpoint. The streets, instead of being much damaged, have been improved by reason of the thorough cleaning they have received, and this morning, instead of the usual mud and slush generally encountered after a rain-storm, the streets present a clean and neat appearance.

The greatest damage heard of so far as a direct result of the storm by H. Hackfeld & Co., whose warehouse was flooded and had to be pumped out yesterday morning. The yard upon which the warehouse faces is somewhat lower than the street, and the water ran into this through several driveways until it filled the yard to a level with the warehouse door, whence it found its way into the warehouse which is well filled with general merchandise.

It was at first thought that the damage would be quite heavy, but on examination after the water had been pumped out, it was found that the damage was very light, amounting in all to less than $100.

Kapoli street is in a bad condition, as the water in running down the hill cut it up badly, and at the junction of Kapoli and Beretania streets considerable sand has been piled up, and yesterday morning a gang of laborers were put to work to clear the track for Paine's palace cars before they could proceed on the uneven tenor of their way.

Up on Emma street, where several lots have been left below the level of the street owing to the new grade, the sidewalk has caved in, throwing the fences down into the lots in several places.

The ditch along Punchbowl street gave way yesterday, and the overflow carried considerable debris into School street.

Taken altogether the storm did no very serious damage to grades and streets, but it will take considerable work to remove the mass of sand and general riff-raff deposited in the streets by the water.

During the storm last night one of the electric light wires on Young street came in contact with one of the telephone poles, which was burned off near the top, in very short order. Some little damage was done to telephone lines, but not enough to amount to much.

How often it has been said by the croakers that there is no business, everything is dead, times are hard, and everything is going to the bad here in Honolulu, but the California Feed Co. are not built that way; we say business is good and getting better every month. And to prove what we say we have had to take larger and more commodious warehouses. We have just completed arrangements with Mr. J. F. Colburn, whereby he gives up his old stand, corner Queen and Nuuanu streets. We take session on November 15th. Our old place at Lele is too small for our fast increasing business, hence the change.

We expect the Hawaiian bark Mauna Ala to arrive here again in a few days with her fourth full cargo of hay and grain bought by our Mr. J. N. Wright who will arrive on the bark. We prefer to select our merchandise ourselves rather than have others do it, which means that we get better goods at a less price.

We thank our many friends for their liberal patronage for the past three years, and hope by strict attention to a business we thoroughly understand to merit the patronage of as many more.

We intend to keep a large, well selected stock of the very best hay and grain to be had in the California market, and we are going to sell it.

"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior.

Music

In the Air

And also at the Music Emporium of the Hawaiian News Co. In the past month, we have made many improvements and additions, both as to variety and quality of stock and general arrangement of the department.

Our latest importations in the Piano line consists of the celebrated make of "Everett" of Boston and "Schillier" of Chicago; unequaled for brilliance of tone and perfection of action and considered by all connoisseurs of the music art as superior instruments in every respect. Three of these Pianos just to hand by last steamer; also cabinet Organs for parlor, church or schools; every instrument fully warranted for five years. The installment plan for the sale of Pianos and Organs inaugurated by us five years ago, has proven a great success as many a home in Honolulu can bear testimony. We shall continue same and increase our facilities in this branch as the trade demands.

Just landed—a new line of piano Stools in various styles, prices from $1.75 up; also genuine made American Guitars, elegant tone and well finished $7.50; cheap German make as low as $4.

Special Order Department—for Sheet Music and Music Books—if you will hand us your orders and same cannot be filled from our large assortment in stock, we will book it in our "special orders," which go forward to the publishers every mail; in this way we will save you much trouble as well as money, as we make no charge for postage. It is our aim to keep in stock everything connected with the music trade; parties out of town will find it to their advantage to deal with us and not send their orders abroad.

AS IT SHOULD BE.

Maud Muller on a summer's morn
Jerked the suckers from the corn
And walloped the striped things that flew
From the melon vines in the morning dew.
Her dress, though adjusted with patient care,
Was, maybe, a little the worse for wear.
But her face was as fair as the ripe red rose,
Though she had a few freckles upon her nose.
Her father, an honest and kind old lay,
Was out in the meadow making hay.
And trying to lift, with his brawny arm,
The mortgage that covered the dear old farm.
'Twas an uphill job, and it took him a year,
For he had ten children and dogs to rear.
And the crop was large, but the price was not,
And the annual interest made him hot.
The judge rode by on his swagbacked horse
And saw Maud Muller and changed his course.
He was struck with her beautiful eyes and hair
And fell in love with her then and there.
He stopped and conversed with the growing crops,
And the wavering price, and the bucket shops,
And was quite impressed with her sterling sense,
As she with his classic eloquence.
He came each day and longer stayed,
And offered his hand to the modest maid,
And she, in true lover's parlance versed,
Requested to be a sister at first.
But afterward yielded, when he demurred,
Submitted a brief, and her dad concurred.
And so it was that the train should be
One and the same for eternity.
The wedding day came, 'twas a grand affair,
For the cream of the country was gathered there.
And Maud was dressed like a fairy queen
In the finest togs she had ever seen.
And the judge was happy, and so was she,
And so was the whole community.
Meantime the Muller farm seemed to be Fresh meat for the ravenous mortgagee,
But the judge, in a dignified, legal way,
Sought the creditor out and advanced the pay.
And gave his wife's father a farm beside Without the least show of judicial pride.
And said to himself as he wrote the deed,
"I'll not see my father-in-law in need."
For he gave her his daughter, and she alone
Is worth many times all the wealth I own."
—Nebraska State Journal.

In the Far North.

Thethane of Coon creek perceived, the moment Alfreda entered the room with a delicate flush upon her cheek, that Athel-stane, the bow-legged, had been calling again.
"What, ho, daughter!" exclaimed the old warrior.
With lowered glance and trembling limbs she advanced.
"Pa," she murmured timidly, "he has spoken."
The parent turned pale with sudden foreboding.
"What said the youth?" he sternly demanded.
"He asked me if I could return."
She faltered. The great drops of perspiration stood upon the brow of the chieftain.
"What, child? Speak, I command you!"
"His love," said the maiden, simply.
A great sigh of relief broke from the lips of thethane.
"Hail," he cried. "Then he said naught of the umbrella I borrowed of him last week?
Return his love? That were dead easy."
In his joy the proud father bought was-sail for the crowd.—Puck.

Plenty of Her.

The great scarcity of servant girls in Boston has led to the importation of a considerable number of farmers' daughters from the back districts of Maine to serve in fashionable city houses. The want of familiarity on the part of these girls with city ways and language has led to some quaint scenes.
One afternoon a lady called at a fine residence in Beacon street, where one of the girls was employed, and rang the bell. Samantha Wayback answered the call.
"Can Mrs. Cressus be seen?" the visitor asked.
"Ken she be seen?" enquired Samantha.
"Well, I ruther guess she ken. She's 6 feet high and 4 feet wide! My sakes! I can't see much of anything besides w'en she's around!"—Youth's Companion.

Taking Things Quietly.

There is no more effective sanitary agent than fire. The ancient who made his napkin of asbestos had but to throw it into the fire when soiled, and it could not be made cleaner. And could we but build our houses of incombustible materials the spring cleaning might be efficiently accomplished by incineration. London indeed was purified from a plague by a general conflagration. And almost the one thing which that nearly indestructible disease germ, the bacillus, cannot stand is heat.
But if heat is a great purifier cold is no less a preserver from decay. Amid the eternal snows of the arctic regions the un-buried carcasses may lie fresh and uncorrupt for months. The flesh of the mammoth, buried in the frozen soil of Siberia, has resisted decay for untold centuries, and here perhaps we have one of "nature's hints to inventors," for meat is now largely preserved by freezing.
Electricity is also a sanitary agent. When Professor Tyndall was experimenting with atmospheric dust in his classical researches on the origin of the lowest forms of life, he found that an electric discharge passed through a dusty atmosphere purified it by causing the minute particles to settle. And long before these researches it was commonly held and believed that a thunderstorm purified the air. Thus a scientific foundation is found for the popular belief, and the lightning flash takes its place as an accredited sanitary agency.—Chambers' Journal.

NOT SUCH A BAD SWINDLE.

A Bad Umbrella Habit Is Cured For the Outlay of $1.

Some years ago I answered an advertisement which offered in return for a $1 bill to send an infallible remedy for the habit of leaving one's umbrella behind in offices and more especially in vehicles. As a money maker that advertiser was a distinct genius, for in response to my application and in return for my dollar I received a picture slip, about 4 inches by 2 in size, with the picture of a man alighting from a hack with an open umbrella, which had got stuck fast in the door. Below the picture, which it was explained was purposely drawn out of perspective, were a few lines explaining that if a man would once impress the picture on his mind he would think of it every time he left a vehicle or car and would be prevented thereby from leaving his umbrella behind.

My indignation at this barefaced swindle was so great that what the advertiser advised actually happened. The incident and illustration both became so photographed in my mind's eye every time I carried an umbrella I thought of that absurd illustrator, and the dollar I thought thrown away has since saved me many dollars a year in umbrellas. The science of mnemonics is a very peculiar one, and few people understand it. Years ago it was common to tie a knot in one's handkerchief as a reminder of anything, and this plan has been improved upon from time to time. I have a friend who always hangs his hat on one peg in his office and has a small brass file just below the peg. By hanging loose memoranda on this file he can scarcely leave the office without being reminded of important duties or engagements.

Another man, who has no clock in his office, slips memoranda in his watch pocket, so that when he looks to see if it is time to go home he will also notice whether he has forgotten anything. The only duty which no one yet has been able to remember or to invent a scheme for is mailing a letter written by one's wife. The number of times a rational business man will carry a letter around in his pocket for over a week and then sneak quietly out and mail it in the corner letter box is something remarkable, and this unaccountable neglect of husbandlike duty accounts for no end of misunderstandings and broken friendships among the victims of this species of masculine carelessness.—Waverly Magazine.

His Honor Convinced.

It has not been so very long since the old English court rules passed out of observance, and when they were in vogue nowhere were they observed more strictly than in South Carolina. A rule provided that a lawyer when he spoke in court must wear a black gown and coat, and that the sheriff must wear a cocked hat and sword.
On one occasion a lawyer named Pettigru arose to speak in a case on trial.

"Mr. Pettigru," said the judge, "you have on a light coat. You cannot speak, sir."

"Oh, your honor," Pettigru replied,
"may it please the court, I conform to the law."

"No, Mr. Pettigru," declared the judge,
"you have on a light coat. You cannot speak, sir."

"But, your honor," insisted the lawyer,
"you misinterpret. Allow me to illustrate.
The law says that the barrister must wear a black gown and coat, does it not?"

"Yes," replied the judge.
"And does your honor hold that it means that both gown and coat must be black?"
"Certainly, Mr. Pettigru; certainly, sir," answered his honor.

"And the law further says," continued
Mr. Pettigru, "that the sheriff must wear a cocked hat and sword, does it not?"
"Yes, yes, Mr. Pettigru," the court answered somewhat impatiently.

"And do you mean to say, your honor," questioned Pettigru, "that the sword must be cocked as well as the hat?"
"Eh?—er—h'm," mused his honor. "You —er—continue your speech, Mr. Pettigru."

The Weather Forecast.

He entered the meteorological service of office and said abruptly, "This 'ere's where you give out weather predictions, ain't it?"
The clerk nodded.

"Well," continued the old man, "I thought as how I could come up an give you some tips."

"Yes," said the clerk politely.
"Yes, I've figured on it a little, an I find that ye ain't at all right."

"No; we sometimes make mistakes."
"Course you do. We all do some time.
Now, I was thinkin as how a line that used to be on the auction handbills down in our county might do fast rate on your weather predictions an save you a lot of explainin'."

"What was the line?"
"Wind an weather permittin'."
