CAPT. GODFREY ON ISLAND AFFAIRS.

He Gives the Portland Oregonian Some Pointers.

WHAT HE SAYS OF TAXES.

Is "Up North" Looking After New Inter-Island Steamer-Good Words For Coffee Industry-Digs San Francisco Correspondents in the Ribs in His Remarks.

Captain W. B. Godfrey of Honolulu, H. I., is at the Imperial, says the Portland Oregonian of Aug. 21. He is president of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, and is one of the most prominent business men of the Islands, where he has resided for some eighteen years. He is an old time ship master, and for years before locating at the Islands was captain on the line of vessels plying between San Francisco and Honolulu. In leaving this connection he took the first vessel to the Islands to engage in the traffic for the company of which he is now president. He married at the Islands years ago, and has a considerable family. His wife and children accompanied him as far as San Francisco, where they are now awaiting his return. Captain Godfrey is here en route to the Sound with Captain W. H. Hall, who is building a new steamer for the Inter-Island Company's fleet. This is a fine vessel of 800 tons register and is designed for a speed of 12 knots, with cabin accommodations for 40 passengers. It is the ninth boat Captain Hall has built for this company, and it is the eighty-third vessel built at the Port Blakeley ship yards. Both Captain Godfrey and Captain Hall are fine types of the old time, weather bronzed "square-riggers," but they are as familiar with steam as with sailing vessels.

It is doubtful if any one is more familiar with Island affairs than Captain Godfrey. He chatted courteously on these matters with an Oregonian representative yesterday, apparently viewing Hawaiian politics from a non-partisan standpoint. He said:
"Everything is moving along quietly and smoothly under the present Government regime at the Islands, all public affairs being lubricated by the spirit of progress, improvements in the shape of new streets, new roads, fine sidewalks and well kept public buildings have made themselves very conspicuous within the past year or two, and a feeling of general satisfaction prevails among all influential inhabitants, including those of native birth, and it will probably not be so very many years before the native population as a whole will grow to feel thoroughly reconciled to the change, and swear allegiance to the Government, whereby they can secure their franchises as citizens, and all will work together for the advancement of the rich and beautiful little corner of the tropics.

"Before the present Government assumed the control of affairs the march of public improvements was not exactly visible to the naked eye. That debt of $4,000,000 is but a flea-bite compared to the wealth of the country. Taxes are now but 1 per cent on a low assessment valuation of property, and this 1 per cent is the only tax-it covers all expenses of the Government, local and general, and it is due July 1 each year.
"Tourist travel is increasing rapidly. The Islands have become long since world famous as a health resort, and strangers flock to us now in great numbers. The climate continues at the same old stand, the mercury hovering in the neighborhood of 80 degrees the year round. I found it at 104 when I reached San Francisco, and three days later that city was enveloped in a chilly fog, something we don't know much about at the Islands.
"The past season has been particularly prosperous, the sugar planters realizing a moderate profit by reason of the present reciprocity treaty with this country. The crop of 1895-96 amounted to 200,000 tons in round numbers. It is now about off. Some 65,000 tons went to New York-the balance was shipped to San Francisco. The sugar crop sixteen years ago was 60,000 tons, and it was then thought all available land was under cultivation, but the output has been increasing every year. Next season's crop will be apt to reach 250,000 tons. Of course, like grain here, the crop depends upon the weather, but favorable weather is the usual thing out there.
"The Island coffee industry is beginning to make a very considerable showing. The coffee comes from the Kona district on the south side of the Island of Hawaii. This is the dry district of the Islands, and the coffee is grown on the uplands. The Kona coffee, as it is beginning to be known all over the world, is superior to almost any other variety, and brings now 2 cents more than any other. I am told, in the San Francisco markets.
Referring to the rapidly increasing inter-island trade, in which he is interested, Captain Godfrey continued:
"There are nineteen steamers now engaged in this trade, and three more are being built, two for our company and one for the Wilder Steamship Company. These two companies, which handle the traffic between the Islands and about their shores, are distinct concerns and are operated independently, although the stock is chiefly owned by the same persons, so there is no competition.

Returning again to the political affairs of the Islands, Captain Godfrey touched with some sarcasm upon the sensational accounts of occurrences as written up by the special correspondents of the San Francisco press at Honolulu, and printed under big scare heads by their respective papers.
"We have become practically accustomed," remarked the captain, "to looking for Hawaiian news in the 'Frisco papers, which reach us with the return of each steamer; but the correspondents have usually become so confirmed in the habit of building up mountains of fancy from molehills of fact, that we always take up a 'Frisco paper with a smile of anticipation."

HORRORS OF SPANISH PRISON.
Americans of Competitor's Crew in Terrible Condition.
HAVANA, August 22 (via Jacksonville 23).-The crew of the Competitor and other American prisoners confined in the Spanish fortress here are being badly cared for. Soup and soggy potatoes, their only food, is supplied to them twice a day by the military authorities. All the prisoners are sadly emaciated and to-day are mere skeletons. With their ghastly features and sunken, glassy eyes, they despairingly look out on their infrequent visitors from their damp, dark, foul-smelling, coffin-like cells through iron-barred jail doors in mute appeal.
A Spanish sergeant who visited Cabanas yesterday said to-day that one of the Competitor's men could not speak above a whisper, and that others are suffering from dysentery in choleric form. They told the sergeant that they had lost all hope of the Washington Government obtaining their release, and had consequently addressed, as a last resort, an appeal to the Queen Regent Maria Christina, for mercy.

PLAN TO GOBBLE CHINA.
Russian Who Proposes a Combination With England.
LONDON, August 25.-The Daily Mail publishes an interview with an anonymous Russian statesman in which the latter is quoted as suggesting that Great Britain co-operate with Russia to reorganize China, Russia taking the benefits accruing in the northern half and Great Britain in the southern half by means of a great China company, which would form the nucleus of a future government, as in the case of India.

As the cylinder revolves the pen traces on this paper an irregular line showing every variation in barometer pressure. Ordinarily there is a regular rhythmic rise and fall of the barometer, much like the tides of the sea. At about 9 o'clock morning, and evening the pressure is at a maximum, while at about 4 o'clock (at this season of the year) it reaches a minimum.
In settled weather the curve of the barograph is quite regular. During a storm, on the other hand, there are constantly minute variations in the pressure which record themselves faithfully in the tracing of the barograph. The accompanying traces show better than any description the nature of these variations. What is especially not worthy is the fact that the disturbance precedes the advent of the storm, and is much more striking than any mere "fall" of the mercury in the barometer. Thus on the 15th of August, coincidently with an unusual clouding of the sky, and an increase in the force of the wind, the curve of the barograph became quite irregular, although it was twenty-four hours before the storm culminated in the heavy downpour of the 16th.

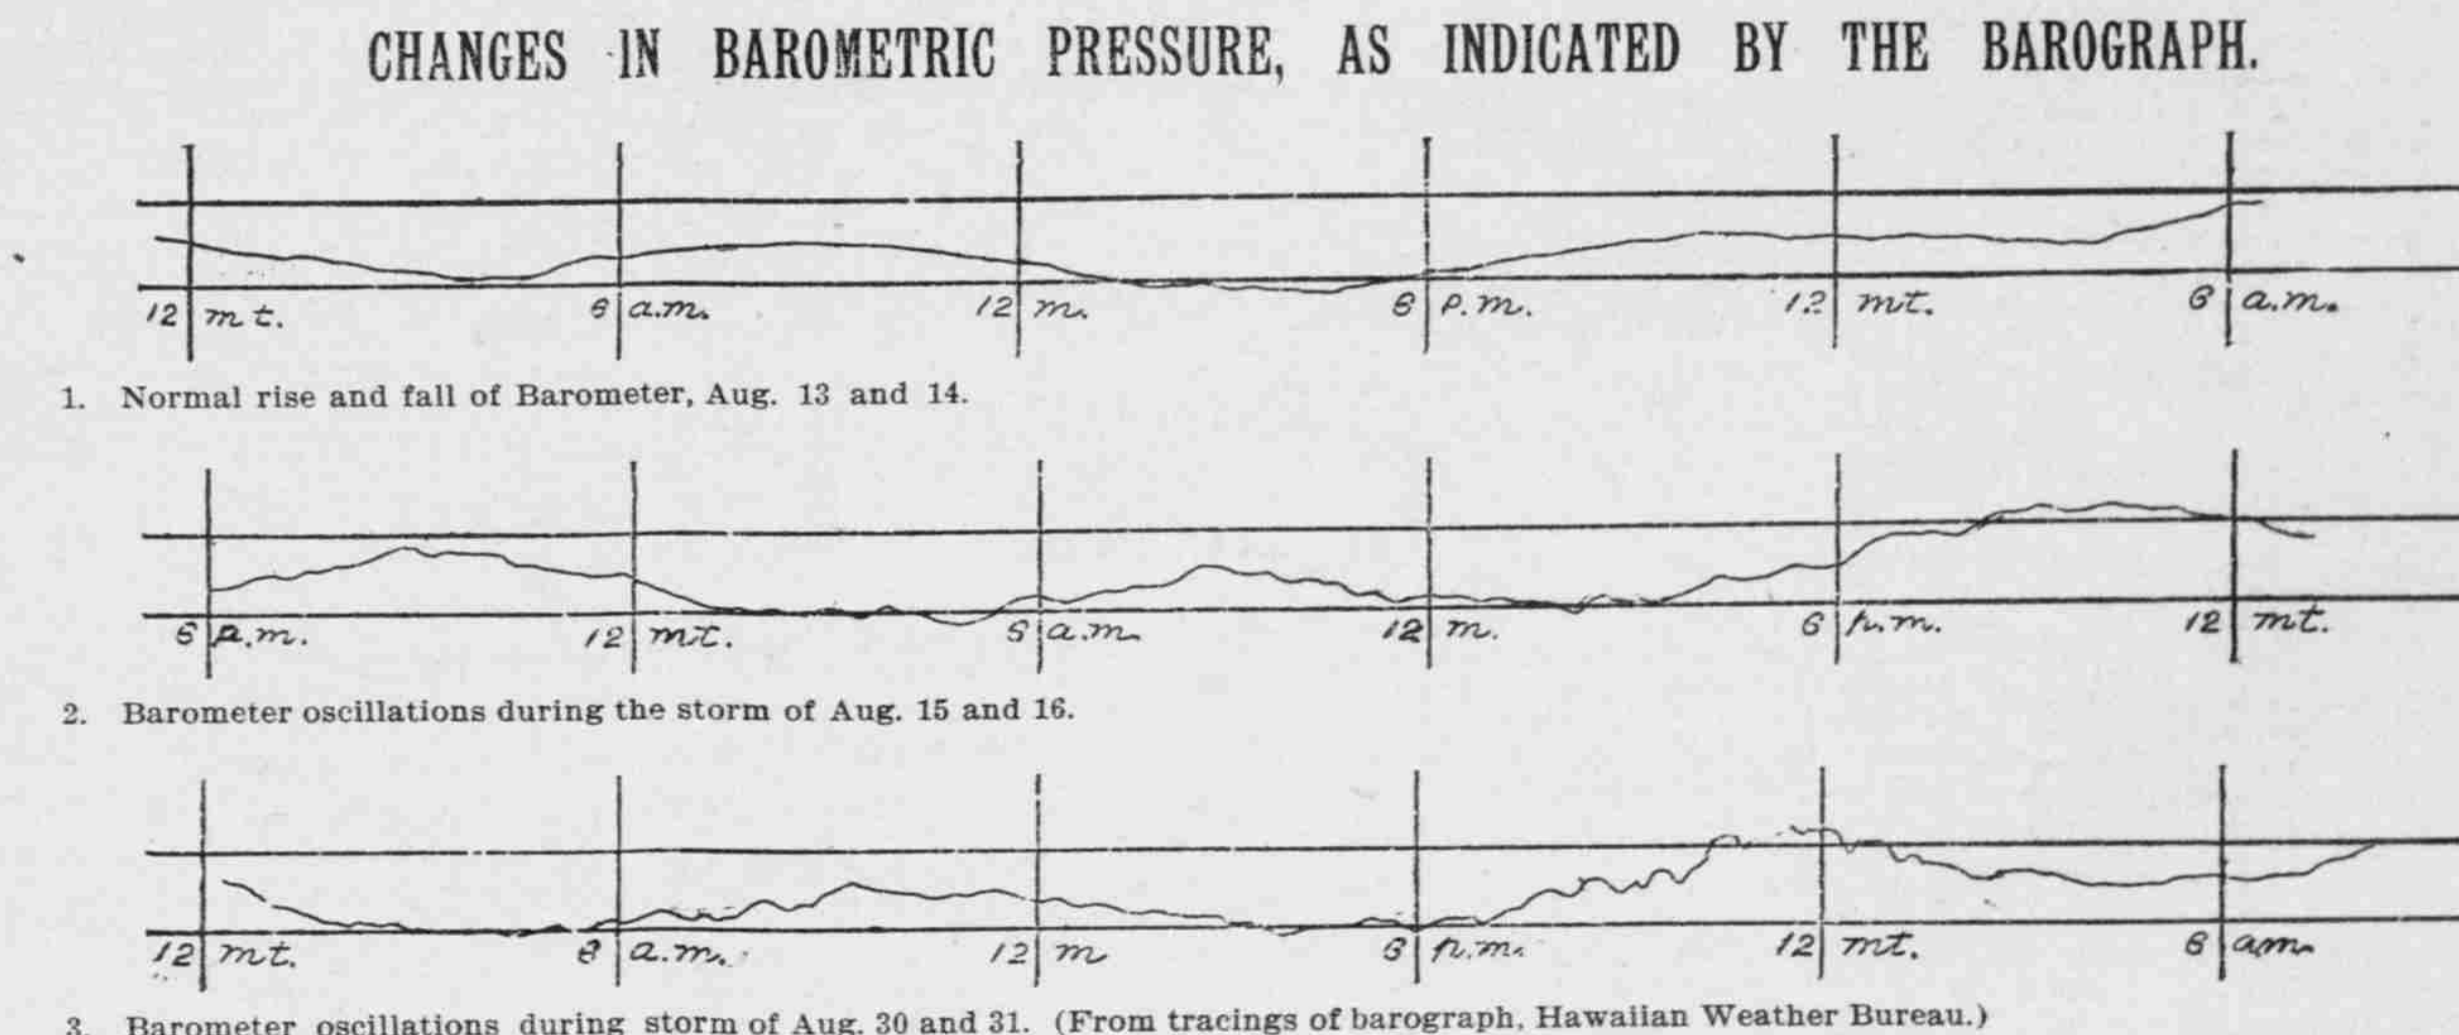

In order to more completely understand this period of Mother Cooke's life, let us imagine ourselves living in the 40's of this century, as the years from 1842 to 1849. Honolulu is a small, straggling town, most thickly settled towards the sea coast, whose only street of any width is King street, and that runs out into the wild, unsettled country at each end. On the east the Mission premises and on the west the unbridged Nuuanu stream terminates an appearance of regular town life. Nuuanu Valley lies in its primitive loneliness of streams, woods and kalo patches, some of the latter extending quite far down into what is now busy Fort street. A slender bridge path winding up to the Pali is the only indication of what is now Nuuanu avenue. The grass huts of the Hawaiians are thickly strewn on the "kuleanas" reserved among the kalo patches, and the only sign of foreign inhabitants is an occasional spot fenced in, with perhaps a small lumber-built box of a cottage, placed as an initiative on such spots of land as have been purchased by Dr. Judd, Mr. E. O. Hall and Mr. H. Diamond. In the town the only buildings of any pretension are the two-storied coral-stone houses of the chiefs, which seem like mansions in the midst of the low adobe thatched-roofed houses or all-grass huts. Changes in Barometric Pressure, as indicated by the Barograph.

The barograph is simply a self-recording barometer. It is constructed essentially like an aneroid, but in place of the index there is a slender arm carrying a peculiarly constructed pen whose point is in contact with a cylinder which is made by clockwork to revolve on its axis once in seven days. The cylinder carries a sheet of paper which with horizontal lines to indicate the height of the barometer crossed by vertical lines that indicate the hours.

As the cylinder revolves the pen traces on this paper an irregular line showing every variation in barometer pressure. Ordinarily there is a regular rhythmic rise and fall of the barometer, much like the tides of the sea. At about 9 o'clock morning, and evening the pressure is at a maximum, while at about 4 o'clock (at this season of the year) it reaches a minimum.

In the storm of Sunday, Aug. 30, the oscillations increased in frequency and amplitude with the electrical disturbance ceasing soon after the rain was over.

BEAUTIFUL CHRISTIAN CHARACTER

Review of Mrs. Cooke's Work in the Chiefs' School-One of the First and Most Arduous Christian Workers-She Was the Nation's Benefactor-Early Life Among Hawaiians.

At the meeting of the Woman's Board Tuesday afternoon, memorial papers concerning the life of the late Mrs. Juliette M. Cooke were read by Mrs. M. S. Rice, Miss M. A. Chamberlain and Mrs. L. B. Coan. The meeting was a large one and a deep interest was taken in the loving tributes paid Mother Cooke who during her days of active life labored early and late to spread Christian truths among the Hawaiian people and whose counsels were sought by those who in later years took up the work. The papers of Miss Chamberlain and Mrs. Rice are given below. These with Mrs. Coan's "Tribute in Memory" will be published in the annual report of the Woman's Board:

In order to more completely understand this period of Mother Cooke's life, let us imagine ourselves living in the 40's of this century, as the years from 1842 to 1849. Honolulu is a small, straggling town, most thickly settled towards the sea coast, whose only street of any width is King street, and that runs out into the wild, unsettled country at each end. On the east the Mission premises and on the west the unbridged Nuuanu stream terminates an appearance of regular town life. Nuuanu Valley lies in its primitive loneliness of streams, woods and kalo patches, some of the latter extending quite far down into what is now busy Fort street. A slender bridge path winding up to the Pali is the only indication of what is now Nuuanu avenue. The grass huts of the Hawaiians are thickly strewn on the "kuleanas" reserved among the kalo patches, and the only sign of foreign inhabitants is an occasional spot fenced in, with perhaps a small lumber-built box of a cottage, placed as an initiative on such spots of land as have been purchased by Dr. Judd, Mr. E. O. Hall and Mr. H. Diamond. In the town the only buildings of any pretension are the two-storied coral-stone houses of the chiefs, which seem like mansions in the midst of the low adobe thatched-roofed houses or all-grass huts. On the water front are some wooden buildings, one or two storied, where the few foreign merchants and ship chandlers do business by the two solitary wharves. The old adobe-built fort faces the water, with its whitewashed sides and broad ramparts, on which are mounted cannon, giving an appearance of power to the place. Near the fort stands one of the two-story stone buildings, the residence of Governor Kamehameha, the father of four of the royal children. A truly regal-looking specimen of a man; but the royal descent came to the children from their mother, Kinau, once one of the Queens of Kamehameha, the Conqueror. She had been the Premier of the Islands, but had passed away from life in 1839, a Christian convert, comparatively young, greatly desiring a Christian education for her children, one of whom, Alexander Liholihi, was then the adopted child of Kamehameha III., and heir to the throne.

Two other large stone houses, with many windows and broad verandas, are on King street, and occupy the square from near Punchbowl street to Richard street, and are enclosed by high, solid coral-stone walls laid up in masonry. (The last relic of these old-fashioned walls can still be seen around the Kawaiahao Church.) These houses, whose grounds were separated by a stone dividing wall, were the palaces of Kamehameha III., the reigning King, and the Premier, Kekaulohi, and her husband, C. Kanaina, the parents of Wm. C. Lunallilo. Heavy wooden gates on each side, constantly guarded by armed sentinels, prevented any impetuous gaze into the interior of the yards. Just mauka of this square ran a narrow street or lane, called Palace Walk, and on the mauka of this lane was the piece of ground selected for the Young Chiefs' School. The situation is the same now occupied by the stone barracks of the Hawaiian Government, with all the lawn in front added to the enclosure. The building, which was erected very near the lane, was in the form of a large hollow square, a low, one-story adobe building, plastered and whitewashed and closed in front by a large gate or portal, which was guarded by a sentinel continually, day and night. No door of exit was found on the back side of the buildings though there were numerous windows there for ventilation.

Here, then, we find the quaint, interesting family school where Mr. and Mrs. Amos S. Cooke reigned supreme in love, and exerted for ten years an influence for the future of these Islands they then had no idea of, and the full results of which can only be revealed in eternity.

Let us pay a visit to this unique school. Approaching the portal, we raise the knocker, and it is opened by the sentinel, who stands within the arched passage, and we pass into the lovely grassy courtyard of soft manila turf. The interior of the buildings are all surrounded by projecting verandas supported by wooden posts, all facing on this courtyard. The doors all stand open, and the whole quadrangle towards the verandas is bordered with gay blooming flowers. Marigolds, double balsams, larkspurs, blue and pink, lavender and dill, with its tall fragrant heads of seeds; white jasmine and damask roses in their season perfume the air. On one side of the courtyard the lovely grassy turf were the apartments for Mrs. Cooke's family, with the general dining room and culinary arrangements in the rear. On the other three sides were the school room, the apartments of the beloved helpers, John II and his noble wife, Sarai, and the living rooms of the royal scholars. The place was always happy with the joy of youth, sometimes busy with the regular work of the school room, again with sports or the charms of vocal and instrumental music. Daily exercise was taken, either on foot or on horseback, under the care and supervision of Mr. or Mrs. Cooke or one of their assistants.

Here we find Mrs. Cooke, the Mother and presiding genius of this interesting group: Moses Kalkiowa, Lot Kamehameha, Alexander Liholihi, Victoria Kamamalu, William C. Lunallilo, Bernice Pauahi, Jane Loeau, Elizabeth Kekaulohi, Emma Rooke, Peter Young Keao, James Kalkiokalani, David Kalakaua, Lydia Kamakaeha, Mary Paa-aina and Kinau Pitt Leleiohoku. All these fifteen children varying in ages from thirteen to two years she had to love, control and train, besides a rising family of four of her own.

I well remember the very crowded state of her own rooms, the piles and piles of sewing that passed under her eye—that was before the day of sewing machines. Of course there were an abundance of servants, for each child had a "haku" or attendant devoted to his or her welfare; and often great perplexity arose from that very fact. But they all needed watching and training, almost as much as the children. Her own little children suffered in learning their own tongue, from the constant intercourse with these Hawaiians, speaking broken English. Often Mrs. Cooke was prostrated with headache from the constant nervous strain. Very seldom did she leave the precincts of home, for "eternal vigilance was the price of safety." In every respect this was a Christian home. Morning and evening they met at family prayers. On Sundays the school usually attended the morning service at Kawaiahao Church, and sat in a special large enclosed pew under one of the galleries. They sometimes attended the foreign worship in the old Bethel, and it was always a pleasant sight to watch them come in and to note their perfect behavior during the services. I well remember their dignified, handsome appearance. The older boys were princely in their bearing and the girls queenly in youthful beauty. The most striking of these was Bernice Pauahi, and her manners and lovely disposition were as marked as her beauty. I remember one public examination of the Young Chiefs' School, held in Kawaiahao Church, crowded with interested spectators and friends, which was of superior excellence. The singing was led by Mrs. Cooke, who had no instrument, and raised the pitch by her tuning fork. She had a voice of singular power and clearness, that soared above all others in our assemblages, especially when she sang the tenor, or "counter," as our dear old-fashioned singers called it. To this day I can seem to hear the peculiar heartiness and harmony of the singing at this examination, in the simple pieces, one of which was:

"Before all lands in east or west,
I love my native land the best;
With God's best gifts 'tis teeming;
No gold or jewels here are found,
But men of noble race abound,
And eyes of joy are beaming."

Mrs. Cooke had a happy vein of humor, and a habit of looking on the bright side of things. She often controlled the large family of youth by some merry way of causing a little trouble or altercation to turn quickly from the serious to the ludicrous.

All the pupils but two had preceded her to the Silent Land. Her affection for every one was deep and sincere through their whole lives, and many times her heart was cheered by their steadfast affection evinced to her. They invariably called her "Mother," and none but herself could tell the unwritten history of how much they acknowledged their love and indebtedness to her.

Let me close in her own words, with an extract from her Paper of Reminiscence, read at the Jubilee Celebration of the Arrival of the Reinforcement of 1837:

"There is a wide difference between the spirit of heathenism and the spirit of the Gospel. The former teaches selfishness. Its tender mercies are cruel. The delicate infant is strangled by its own parents. Helpless aged people are buried alive. Woman is treated as an inferior, enslaved and abused. The spirit of the Gospel teaches love and kindness to all, even to enemies. It builds hospitals for the sick poor, giving them care, kindness and medical aid. It builds homes for the aged, who have no friends to care for them, smoothing their pathway and comforting them with the hope and blessings ready for them in the Home above. It builds and supports schools for the children, causing them to be taught and developed into noble men and women, an honor to their country, an influence for good and a blessing to the world."

"Let us recognize in the Queen's Hospital, the Lunallilo Home for the aged poor, and the noble provision for the Kamehameha School, some of the beneficent fruits of the Gospel of our Lord and Saviour, left us as precious mementos of some whose faces we shall see no more on earth, and who were members of the Chiefs' Children's School." M. A. CHAMBERLAIN.

Following is Mrs. Rice's paper:

In the general meeting to which we came strangers in 1841, one of the first faces to fix itself in my memory was the beaming handsome face of Mrs. Cooke, very pleasing in person, I was much attracted to her and subsequent acquaintance only heightened my regard.

I sometimes saw her in the school of young chiefs, noticed the skill with which she framed pretty bonnets, for the girls, instructing them in many ways. Bernice, afterwards Mrs. C. R. Bishop, a lovely little girl, so beautiful with her wonderful curls, that memory keeps it a living picture, always seemed to be near Mrs. Cooke, and well did she repay her care. The young chiefs were then a very interesting group, pre-eminent among them was Liholihi afterwards Kamehameha fourth, then bright and pleasing. He ever made a friend of his Mother Cooke, always having something to tell her when I chanced to be at the school.

Her patience and wisdom were a marvel to me. Her gift of song greatly increasing her influence.

Their helpers, John II and his stately wife, under the influence of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, developed the highest style of native christian character. Many disappointments came to these teachers in the lives of their pupils, but the Queen's Hospital, Lunallilo Home and the Kamehameha Schools are enduring monuments of their influence over some of their pupils, and we can hope it was not in vain over others. After the school was disbanded, as Mrs. Cooke said because there were no more young chiefs, she entered with interest into other phases of Christian work. None of us who have had the privilege of joining in her prayers at our meetings will ever forget her loving filial words. In the long years of our widowhood, and after our families were connected by marriage, we became intimate friends. At one time I made her house my home occupying an upper room, which I named "Peace," as the family life suggested the name. As a housekeeper she never seemed to worry, having a large share of what is termed in New England "Faculty," good judgment with rapidity of action, the work was quickly done and the house mother found time to teach her servants, and to help in all efforts to uplift the people among whom she lived, and to entertain many guests.

She made very welcome my young grandchildren. A letter received today from one of them says: "Mother Cooke's death is a sorrow to me, I shall miss her, she has always been so kind to me, especially in the days of my childhood."

But with her busy useful life, she found time for reading, always having a good book on her table, often reading aloud to her family. I can never forget the work she read to us on Russian History at the period of the Turkish invasion, some of the answers to prayer in that volume have been a perpetual help.

She was pleasing in conversation, for which she had varied materials. I remember once when we were talking of our school days, she stated with great clearness a proposition in Euclid.

Often in our talks her nice sense of justice was apparent, and her charity toward others, so that in our acquaintance of half a century I scarcely remember a word to the disadvantage of any one. Perhaps a loving patience was her most striking characteristic, ever in exercise toward the youth around her whose love she gained. Such an unselfish useful life must be in remembrance before God, though she in her deep humility was unsatisfied with herself, but will be ever in our memories as a choice treasure.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

A Club Stables Horse Takes No-tion to Run.

At about 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening Puhill, a driver of one of the Club Stables hacks, drove into the stables through the entrance next to Love's new building for the purpose of getting his lights.

He left his horse standing and walked over to the place where the lights are kept. As he did this the animal became frightened at something and started off, running into and breaking one of the posts supporting the rear shed.

This was carried along with the now thoroughly frightened horse. After reaching Fort street, the animal turned up and ran into the sidewalk outside of Frank Gertz's store, capsizing the hack. The horse was caught and was found to be uninjured with the exception of a bruise on one leg. The top of the hack was a complete wreck.

Proposition Agreed to.

The Board of Managers of the H. A. A. C. met informally yesterday evening and decided to accept the proposition of the football players of the city and allow two teams to enter the field under the banner of the H. A. A. C. They will supply all the suits and other necessities in football games, but when it comes to the time for the games the club will take all the receipts.

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL Station? One generator can furnish power to your Pump, Centrifugals, Elevators, Pumps, Railways and Hoists; also furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 26 miles.

Electric power being used saves the labor of hauling coal in your field, also water, and does away with high-priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COM-PANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandeliers and Electrical Goods.

MISSCORDO--MRS. INGALLS

Honolulu Professor Married, Mid Roses and Pinks.

'Twas a Fashionable Church Wedding--Bride and Groom Soon to Arrive Here.

WHITMAN, Mass., July 16.--Prof. Arthur Burdette Ingalls of Honolulu, and Miss Lilla May Cordo, daughter of Rev. H. A. Cordo, D.D., the pastor of the First Baptist church of this town, were married in the church last evening, the large number of friends and relatives completely filling the large edifice.

Miss Cordo has many friends in this part of the state, and several were present from her old home in Courtland and Gloversville, N. Y., where she formerly resided.

It is not often that there are such beautiful floral decorations seen at a wedding at Plymouth county, and it was owing to the prominence of the bride in church and social circles that so many of her young friends showed their appreciation of her worth as in this part of the pretty service.

The hallway leading to the body of the edifice was first looked after by the young ladies, the following having charge of the decorations: Mrs. August Wolforth, Misses Lillian Bates, Minnie, Grace and Lucy Ellis, Adah Black, Laura I. Hutchinson and Minnie F. Kalor.

The railings were trimmed with green, and each balustrade was entwined with evergreen, while little dotings of flowers gave it a picturesque appearance. The door leading into the auditorium was outlined with green and cut flowers, which were deftly entwined in the masses of green in an artistic manner.

The pews, where the invited guests and relatives were seated, were designated with ribbons of white, and these, too, bore the indications of much care on the part of the young ladies. A large arch of oak leaves had been erected at the farther end of the aisle, and it was beneath this that the ceremony was performed.

This beautiful decoration was heightened by the intermingling of yellow roses and white pinks. On either side of this arch large ferns and towering palms had been placed as a background.

The pulpit and the organ loft at the rear were not overlooked by the young decorators, who had racked their brains in the effort to make the result effective.

The chandeliers, both in the body of the church, and the organ loft were draped with masses of green, and neatly interwoven with flowers, the general colors, yellow and white, predominating. Each window was banked with evergreen and masses of fern. Here, as well as in the rest of the church, the floral garniture added to the beautiful effect.

While the guests were assembling and being escorted to their seats by the ushers, who were Percival Schmuck of Boston, Charles H. Edwards of Amherst, Mass., Morton Hiscox of Olean, N. Y., and Frederick C. Fisher of Boston, selections were rendered by organist George B. Merritt of Rockland.

The bridal march from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was the signal of the approach of the bridal couple, and they entered the church soon after 8 o'clock. The bride was accompanied by her brother, Frank Irving Cordo of Chicago, a well-known railroad man in the northwest, and the party was made up of the bridesmaids, maid of honor and immediate relatives.

The couple stood beneath the arch of green, and were made one by Rev. H. A. Cordo, D.D.

The bride was accompanied by Miss Emma L. Caten of Gloversville, N. Y., as maid of honor, and Mr. Edwin S. Hunt of New York city was groomsmen. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white duchesse satin, en train, trimmed with point and duchesse lace. She wore a tulle veil, caught at the side with a beautiful diamond pin, the gift of the groom. She carried a bunch of bride roses.

Miss Caten, the maid of honor, was attired in a beautiful dress of white embroidered chiffon over white moire, trimmed with yellow ribbon. She carried a basket of marchal neil roses. The four bridesmaids, Misses Lillian F. Bates, Lottie Bates, Grace West and Minnie Tyler, of this town, wore dresses of white, and they also carried a basket of marchal neil roses.

The best man and ushers were presented with beautiful leaf pins set in pearls, from the groom, and each bridesmaid, as well as the maid of honor, was presented with stick pins of the same from the bride. A floral carpet was made for the young people to stand upon during the ceremony.

The beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march filled the handsomely decorated church, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal couple were escorted to the vestibule. A carriage was in waiting to take them to the Baptist parsonage, where their relatives had made elaborate arrangements for a reception in their honor.

Here the decorations were in keeping with the whole event. The large mantels were entwined with green, and banks of flowers were used as a background. The couple stood in front of the mantle and received their friends as they were presented by Mr. Hunt and several of the ushers. They were assisted in this pleasing duty by Rev. Dr. Cordo and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls will take a short trip in the west, and expect to arrive in Honolulu soon after Aug. 15, where they have a pretty home fitted up for their occupancy. Mr. Ingalls will take his bride to a city where he occupies a prominent position in college circles, as well as in the social life at the island. He has occupied a chair in Oahu college for several years.

AMERICAN LEAGUE AFFAIRS.

Reply to Charges Concerning Proposed Amendment.

MR. EDITOR:--Will you permit one of the members of the American League to answer an article in the Independent of last evening. It says that President Murray introduced the amendment and afterward went back on it. To bring this thing in its proper light, Murray introduced it at the earnest request of one member, to see how the League would take the change. By a vote the financial secretary was to ask the members as to their wishes. Eighty-five answered "No, the League must stand American." Now at the meeting held on the 1st inst. these names were read. When Mr. Cavanaugh rose and asked what right these people had to dictate to those present. When told the reason he replied that the strings of the missionary were pulling us the way they wanted. Now, if he had asked anything reasonable it would have been granted. Mr. Cavanaugh is not an American citizen, which can be proved; and as to his going about prating that he wants this and that, where was he when the American League in its infancy stemmed the tide? The writer knows; others know.

The League will live when the Independent is not heard of, as there are men who stood in the breach at one time, and are willing to do it again.

YARRUM.

Honolulu, Sept. 2, 1896.

WHAT IS THIS SOCIETY.

And Whence the Foundations for Positive A. P. A. Assertions.

MR. EDITOR:--For a week or more an evening paper has been distributing copies of what it claims to be the oath of the American Protective Association, otherwise known as the "A. P. A.," for the purpose of deterring the good people of Honolulu from having anything to do with this alleged disreputable organization, which the paper in question asserts has recently been established in Honolulu.

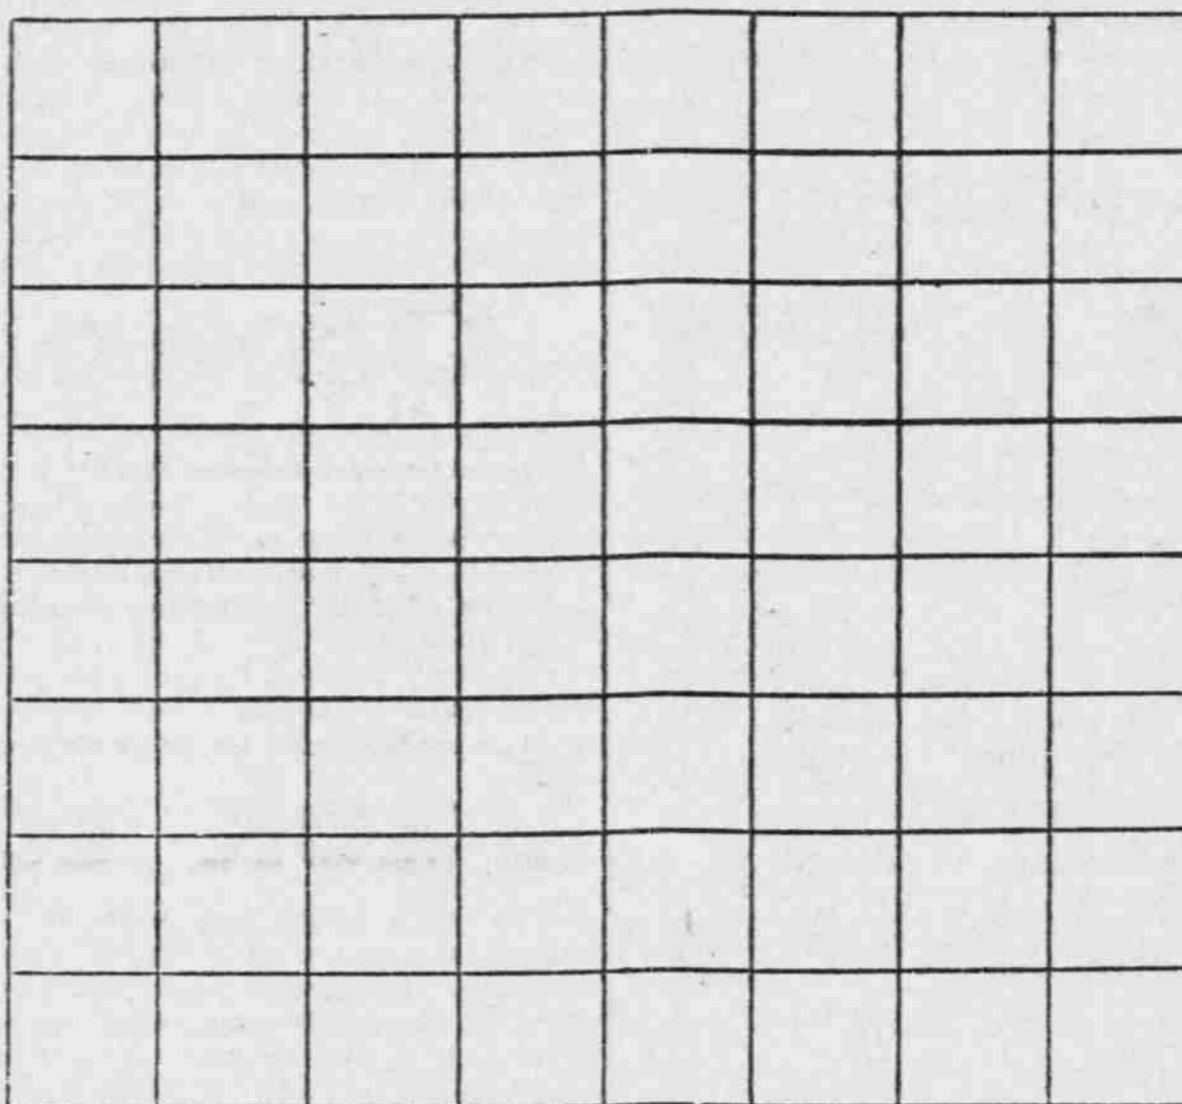

Aside from the question as to whether the A. P. A. has been established in Honolulu or not, does it not seem strange, or rather unreasonable, that an avowed enemy of the society--like the editor of your contemporary, for instance--should be let into the secrets of the order and given an opportunity to publish reprints of obligations which on their face were never intended to be seen by the uninitiated? If the A. P. A. has been organized in Honolulu, I have been unable to learn that such is the case. The order is evidently not intruding itself upon the public, since it would appear that only the editor above referred to has been initiated into its secret councils. His admission into the order does not appear to have been satisfactory to himself; or perhaps--and which is more likely the case--the other members felt they could not trust him. If the latter surmise is the case, the order was justified in kicking him out, since, apparently, his first act was to publish to the world one of the obligations which he must have subscribed to in order to get access to it.

As I said before, Mr. Editor, I do not know whether the A. P. A. is in existence in Honolulu or not, but if it is, it strikes me it must be a loyal, patriotic institution, since its only enemy is one of the recognized leaders in an effort to disturb the present peaceful and happy condition of affairs, and notorious for his disloyalty and want of patriotism. Such opposition is the best endorsement any organization could possibly have to satisfy honest men that it is prepared to protect the rights of the citizen, and also to support good government.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation, I am, yours, etc.

"PATRIOT."

PUZZLE NO. 3.

When the "Japanese boy," whoever he may be, sent in his answer to Puzzle No. 2 he wrote on one side of his paper, "Easy." Consequently the puzzle editor has been in search of a "corker" that would puzzle the brain of the Japanese boy, as well as Commissioner Marsden. Armstrong Smith was interviewed, and Puzzle No. 3 is the result. The solution of the puzzle is given as follows:

The problem is to divide the above (64 squares) into four pieces of paper by three straight cuts, and so to readjust the pieces that there shall be apparently sixty-five squares.

Having received the above suggestion, the puzzlers are supposed to go ahead with their shears and finish the solution.

BABBIT WILL PITCH.

For the Stars in Game With Kams Saturday Afternoon.

There will be some fun between the Stars and Kamehamehas at Makiki base ball grounds on Saturday afternoon. The Kams are flushed with the victory over the First Regiment team on last Saturday, and think they can beat any club in the League, notwithstanding the fact that the Stars will enter Messrs. Babbitt and Bliss in the next game. They think that with Lemon in the box and the heavy batters of their team, they will be able to do great things.

But the Stars are laughing in their sleeves and saying very little of anything. Babbitt will probably be put in the place of Hart as pitcher, and the latter will take right field. Bliss will play second base.

Chris Conradt will not play in Saturday's game, he being slightly indisposed, on the other side of the Island. Tom Pryce will likewise not be able to play on account of the accident he had a fortnight ago while catching behind the bat.

JOE PUNI INSANE.

Unfortunate Condition Caused by the Death of His Children.

Joe Puni, a native about 55 years of age, was arrested yesterday morning on the charge of insanity, and taken at once to the police station. In the afternoon he was examined by Dr. Emerson, who gave the following story to a reporter of this paper regarding the man's life and the cause of insanity:

"Puni is a fine old fellow, temperate in habits and kind in good in all his dealings. He is insane without a doubt, but through no cause brought about by himself.

"At one time he was the proud possessor of thirteen strapping children, a number which has proven most unlucky for the old man, for now but four remain alive.

"Of course Puni was naturally very sad when from year to year several of his children died; but the death of two daughters and three grandchildren in quick succession not long ago turned his mind, and he has been insane ever since, becoming very bad just lately.

"This is the first year of the attack, and he will have to be watched very closely from now on. His is a plain case of mania, with periods of violence when he shouts and sings and holds converse with his dead children, whom he imagines are at his side from time to time. When the fits have passed off he becomes very quiet and perfectly sane, conversing about his family and especially of the sad death of his children."

An "18 to 1 Shot."

Something new turns up every day with Superintendent Fogarty since he began work digging a new channel for Nuuanu stream. First it was skeletons, and now it is a good hard coin worth $18 in silver or gold "according to the book." The coin Mr. Fogarty brought to light Wednesday was an American half-dollar of 1830. On one side is the eagle and shield and on the other the Liberty head surrounded by thirteen stars. Mr. Fogarty says that any free silver man who wants to give him 18 to 1 for his find can have it.

Jack Thompson was arrested yesterday morning for being on the premises of another without lawful excuse.

J. T. Waterhouse

This drifting from pleasant to warm weather rather troubles the merchants who sell dry goods, because they are at a loss to know just what to put forward. It makes it a sort of second between seasons when cloth is too heavy and not enough confidence can be put in the weather. Lawns and India linen are shelved for the same reason, to be taken out when called for.

The best articles, then, to advertise are those which are servicable during all the year. We have them as well as the others.

Pillow linen, 40x50 is a good thing, servicable always and something which no family can afford to be without. The same with linen sheeting, 80, 90 and 100 inches wide. Not much more expensive than cotton and double the life.

Colored Madras curtains are always pretty, and like white goods, they won't fade. We've a hundred varieties to select from. All qualities, none of them high priced. Then there's ice wool in all shades; ladies understand the value and men don't care to.

You all know how we lead in Clark's crochet cotton--prices are down.

THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser.
WALLACE R. FARRINGTON, EDITOR.
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3.

Although the drinking of light wines in European countries is often referred to with favor, the recent action of the French Academy of Medicine gives a black eye to the common statement that there is "no harm" in the consumption of light alcoholic beverages. Resolutions recently adopted declare that the drink evil has become a permanent danger, attacking "the very life and force of the country," and the resolutions further demonstrate that even the purest alcohol "is always and fundamentally a poison." Speaking of legal restrictions, M. Rochard, a member of the illustrious scientific body, said: "I know that this is difficult to accomplish. Alcohol is a terrible power. The professional hierarchy (the manufacturers and dealers) holds the country enmeshed in the meshes of a net of unavoidable self-interest without pity."

When M. Louis Vossion, the new representative of the French Republic, made his first official call upon the Minister of Foreign Affairs, he remarked upon the difficulty of obtaining authentic literature descriptive of Hawaii. This gives another practical argument in favor of more money being expended in spreading information abroad concerning the country. M. Vossion has been stationed in Philadelphia, so that his failure to get accurate data was not due to his being removed from the usual channels of information upon which the people of this country expect others to rely. The fact is that the matter isn't to be had outside of a few centers—possibly Washington and San Francisco. It would pay either the Government or the business men to enter more heartily into the dissemination of information regarding our political, industrial and commercial status.

GRADING THE SCHOOLS.

Discussion of the disposition of the Kaula and Fort Street schools proves nothing if not the necessity of dividing Honolulu into regular school districts. The Honolulu school system is a good one, but there is still plenty of room for improvement. The tendency just now seems to be for the boys to congregate in one school and the girls in another. Some pupils go to the school nearest their home, while others go by two or three school houses to get to one of the same grade. Furthermore, this prospective change appears to have brought out that the Commissioners have no positive means of finding out just how many pupils they must provide for when the change is made—that is, when the Kaula school teachers are transferred to Fort Street, there may be more and there may be less scholars, unless the Bureau of Education establishes a hard and fast rule that the scholars must follow their teachers. Then again, the division along lines of nationality makes the situation more complex.

Inspector General Townsend has the right idea when he maintains that dividing the city into districts and grading the schools on the same plan that obtains in the States will settle the whole difficulty. Now that the High School is in full swing, a proper grading should be instituted in order to more completely systematize the course of study leading up to the High School. Furthermore, in the free schools at least the nationality lines should be drawn less sharply. Draw the lines in the grading of studies, and govern the pupils, whatever his or her nationality, accordingly.

U. S. FEDERAL COURTS AND POLITICS.

Since the Federal courts are among the institutions that are receiving considerable attention in the present campaign in the United States, it is interesting to note the spirit with which the American Law Review accepts the resolutions passed by the Democratic convention. The editor of that journal sees nothing particularly distressing in what is said about the income tax, and is rather inclined to place the blame on the Supreme Court, as is shown by the following extract: "It is safe to say that the Supreme Court of the United States will never draw down upon itself the animadversion of a political party as long as it confines itself to the office for which it was created—that of administering justice and deciding 'judicial questions.' But whenever it interferes with the political departments of the Government, it is liable to meet with resistance, and it ought to meet with resistance."

It is further maintained that had the Court considered the matter when the Venezuela war scare was on, the majority would have declared in favor of the law; or had war been declared, the Executive of the Government would have gone ahead and levied the tax, notwithstanding the action of the Court. In this last statement the editor is forecasting a possibility in a manner to leave him liable to the accusation that he is predisposed to make light of the ability and sincerity of the men who compose the highest court of the Nation. He evidently takes the ground that from whatever source a decision may come the people as well as the lawyers have a right to file exceptions. Accepting this proposition the question arises: "What is the Supreme Court for? Had the Democrats worded their platform in such a manner as to bring about a constitutional amendment they would have made their political armor proof against the attacks of the American citizens who believe in upholding the law of the land as interpreted by men whose integrity the sensible citizen will not assail."

The wholesale denunciation of the Federal Courts is taken as a scheme to catch a certain class of voters, and in this feature the legal writer comes back to first principles where he says: "When Federal courts enjoin the employees of railroads from striking, singly or in a body, they are guilty of an oppressive exercise of their powers, because such an injunction creates a state of slavery. But when they enjoin a body of irresponsible strikers from interfering with the operations of a railway and from destroying railway property, they exercise their powers justly and conservatively, in cases where irreparable damage is threatened, and where the law affords no adequate remedy. The very fact that the state governments, cowardice, imbecility, or criminality, are notoriously incompetent to protect such property, renders the exercise of the injunctive powers of the courts of the United States, in cases otherwise within their jurisdiction, imperative. Government by injunction is better than no government at all."

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

An English paper tells of a real Mrs. Partington. She walked into the office of the Judge of Probate and asked: "Are you the Judge of Probates?" "I am the Judge of Probate," was the reply. "Well, that's it, I expect," quoth the lady. "You see, my husband died testate, and left me several little infidels, and I want to be appointed their executonier!"

The French Government now refuses to take certain French silver coins, among them those bearing the effigy of Charles X, Louis Philippe, and those of Napoleon III which have no laurel crown.

"The Church Times" says that on a recent Sunday in a church in Dublin the choir was startled during the singing of the psalm by the appearance of the organ-blower's head, who shouted out, "Sing like blazes; the bellows is busted!"

The words "In God we trust" first appeared on an American coin in 1864, when it was stamped on the copper two-cent coin. This is said to have been the first use of the word God in any act of the United States Government. The sentence was introduced by James Pollock, an ex-Governor of Pennsylvania, who was Director of the Mint at that time. In 1866 the motto appeared on the double-eagle, eagle, half-eagle, silver dollar, half-dollar, and nickel five-cent piece, in place of the time-honored "E pluribus unum." The "trade dollar" of 1873 used both mottoes.

"On a trip through Logan county, West Virginia, five years ago, I sold a mountaineer his opening stock of goods for a country store," said Louis E. Rawlings, a Baltimore traveling salesman, at the Metropolitan. "He was very sanguine of success, and would have bought more than he did, had I encouraged him. It so happened that I did not make another trip through that section until a few days ago, and drove several miles out of my way to the mans store. There were very few goods left in the place, and the merchant looked rather gloomy. After exchanging the usual salutations I said: 'Your stock is pretty low.' 'Yaas,' 'You'll want some more goods, won't you?' 'Naw.' 'Why not?' 'Ain't got no money to pay with. But that ain't the real reason. Thar ain't no one to sell 'em to.' 'The people all moved away?' 'Yaas.' 'How did that come?' 'Waal, I solt 'em goods an' kep' takin' mortgages, until I own the lan' clear to nex' std' on each side o' me. Goods all gone, people all gone, money all gone. I kain't sell the lan' an' hyar I be, plum 'lone.'—Washington Star

ANCIENTS CAPTURED PARIS.

The invincible Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, in sections for the purpose of making things easier for its worn out commissary department, has reached Paris, and Paris trembles underneath her ronge. She saw enough of war in 1870-71. But she mistakes the object of these rosy-gilded cavaliers. They come not for blood, but for recreation. As Col. Henry Walker, who is as industrious a poet as he is melodious an afterdinner speaker, sings in his "Ancients on the Channel":

"Advance, brave lads, advance,
All into the heart of France;
La belle, the beautiful land;
No more with sword or lance,
But in Boston coat and 'pants'
While the natives weave the dance,
To the heel-entrancing chants
Of the band!"

Red and white wines went up two sous a litre yesterday, and the crisis has only begun. "Ah, this Bostonian corps of officers," says Figaro in despair; "there is only of water for us others."—New York Sun.

BROKE TWO FINGERS.

That's What Ah Man Did to His Wife, Annie Kealoha.

Late Tuesday night a Chinaman by the name of Ah Man presented himself at the police station and had his wife, Annie Kealoha, arrested for being drunk. The woman was locked up and, upon investigation yesterday it was found that Ah Man had been the very one who presented his wife with too free an allowance of wine and that she being very thirsty at the time, availed herself of his generous offer.

Annie spent the night in jail, and upon being released yesterday morning, went straight to her home in Kepohoni to see her husband. She was not received very cordially.

Late last night Annie went running to the police station crying out that she had been almost killed and acting as if in the greatest of agony. Upon investigation it was found that two of the fingers of her right hand were badly broken and that she was otherwise badly battered up. Dr. Emerson was sent for and attended to the woman's injuries. It took two stout policemen to hold her down while the doctor was doing his work.

Annie said that she got thirsty toward evening and the effects of quenching it proved too much for her. She got into a little altercation with the husband whereupon he got a club and beat her cruelly, breaking her fingers.

Ah Man was immediately arrested and sent below for the night.

DOGS GONE.

Good Result of Airing a Case in Police Court.

Rather a serious case came up in the police court a few days ago in which a native brought suit against two Chinamen for assault and battery upon him in the vicinity of his home near the slaughter houses in Iwilei. The native's testimony was very flimsy and the Chinamen were found not guilty.

At that time people known for their veracity testified that there were about two dozen dogs at the native's place which took special delight in running out and biting horses and Chinamen. It was through the attempt of the two Chinamen to beat off the dogs that the unpleasantness occurred. Dr. W. T. Monsarrat testified that it was absolutely necessary for him to carry rocks in his carriage in passing by the place early in the morning.

The case had very good results, for now people can pass by in peace and Chinamen can get home without having to insert patches into the seats of their trousers upon their arrival. The vicious canines are all kept chained and some have even been given away.

Mr. Greene's Grass.

The "grass hedge" which an evening paper says is to be placed about the Executive building has not materialized and probably never will. R. Jay Green is now at work however on a scheme to relieve the barren appearance of the immediate surroundings of the building, by turbing the ground in the close vicinity. The turf will reach out as far as the foot of the steps in front and rear, following the curve of the driveway about the building. On either side of the steps palms will be planted, all of which will add not a little to the artistic beauty of the grounds surrounding the capitol.

ENCAMPMENT OF PYTHIANS.

Eighteenth Gathering of Uniform Rank at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 22.—The eighteenth encampment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, opened informally tonight and the formal dedication will take place Monday afternoon. Major-General Carnahan, who is at the head of the Uniform Rank, inspected the encampment, which consists of 2000 tents, and formally accepted it. He immediately went into camp with some of his staff officers already on the ground.

Supreme Chancellor Walter B. Richie is in the city. His labors will begin early in the week, when he will call to order the Supreme Lodge of the World. Mr. Richie said that the order now consists of very nearly 500,000 and is constantly growing, and prided himself on the fact that in times of trouble the military branch of the order can offer 50,000 men drilled in the United States tactics.

The Supreme Lodge will consider next week early the refusal on the part of the German lodges in Richmond, Louisville and Chicago to discard the German ritual.

TELEPHONE COMBINE.

Western Union Said to Have Bought
Bell Company.

BOSTON, August 21.—The Commercial Bulletin will say to-morrow: We understand under the best authority that the Western Union Telegraph Company controls at the present moment the American Bell Telephone Company. The importance of such control will at once appear to every one who appreciates how the two have come in competition during recent years. Western Union dividends have become threatened through competition with the Bell Company and of the Postal Telegraph Company, but it has long been a fully arranged plan for the Western Union to secure control of the telephone company.

Another Trolley Car Wrecked.

ST. LOUIS, August 24.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Frederick City, Md., says: Forty persons were more or less injured as the result of the brakes of a trolley car failing to work last evening on the steep incline on the Frederick and Middletown Electric Railway. The line was opened late Thursday, and yesterday a large number of excursion parties from this city made the trip.

SOME PLURALS.

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes. But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes; Then one fowl is a goose, but two are called geese. Yet the plural of mouse should never be mouses. You may find a lone mouse or a whole nest of mice. But the plural of house is houses, not hices. If the plural of man is always called men, Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pens? The cow in the plural may be cows or kine. But a cow if repeated is never called kine; And the plural of vow is vows, never vine.

If I speak of a foot and you show me your feet, And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beets? If one is a tooth, and a whole set are teeth. Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth? If the singular's this and the plural is these, Should the plural of kiss ever be nicknamed keese? Then one may be that and three would be those. Yet hat in the plural would never be hose, And the plural of cat is cats, not cose. We speak of a brother, and also of brethren, But though we say mother, we never say methren; Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him, But imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim. So the English, I think you all will agree, Is the queerest language you ever did see. —Boston Commonwealth.

The official returns of trade and navigation of the French Republic for 1895 show that the general trade of the country last year was of the estimated value of $1,901,800,000, being an increase of $17,800,000 on the trade of 1894 and a decrease of $52,000,000 on the average of the past five years. The trade with the United States amounted to $56,600,000 in imports and $57,800,000 in exports.

There are in Paris 8000 women who are heads of mercantile houses.

THE PASTEUR FILTER

STANDS ALONE IN THE WORLD
AS A GERM-PROOF FILTER.

"The very best filter yet devised cannot rid the water of all micro-organisms, with the sole exception of the PASTEUR FILTER."

—From report prepared for the Parliamentary Bills Committee of the British Medical Association, of England, in the "British Medical Journal," July 6th, 1895.

"In a report just issued, General Zurlinden, the French Minister of War, reviews the progress made in the army since 1886, in point of prophylactic measures. The most striking results are still as they were in Mr. de Freycinet's reports from 1889 to 1892, those relating to typhoid fever. In 1886 the number of cases of this disease was 7,771, being over 14 per 1,000; in 1894 it was 3,060, being under 6 per 1,000; a reduction obtained by an almost progressive decrease in each year. This result is shown by a detailed examination of the circumstances of those stations where the reduction has occurred to have invariably followed on the purification of the drinking water supplies. The report instances twenty-nine of the garrisons most subject in earlier years of typhoid fever, in each of which the introduction of an uncontaminated water supply has been followed by the disappearance of the disease, except in isolated cases, the majority of which were shown to have been contracted outside the barracks. In those cases where a new water supply has been provided, and the water was drunk UNFILTERED, epidemics followed from time to time on the contamination of the source, and disappeared on the application of PASTEUR FILTERS.

W. W. DIMOND.

By the Albert which arrived a few days ago we received 128 Gurney Cleanable Refrigerators, ranging in size from the small household ice box to that used in a grocery store. It was a large invoice—not consigned, but bought outright. These refrigerators and ice boxes have nine points of excellence, to wit:

Cleanliness, free circulation; economy in the use of ice; condensation and dry air; low average temperature; freedom from condensation on the inner walls; freedom from damage by the use of ice picks; proper location of drip pipe and long life. These points are found only in the Gurney cleanable.

Now for the reason for the large purchase. There are 128 persons in Honolulu who need refrigerators, many of them have old ones. We propose leasing these refrigerators on the following term: The selling prices of the article is divided by six; when the refrigerator is delivered one-sixth of the price is paid in cash and monthly thereafter in equal payments until the entire amount is paid. If before the expiration of the six months, the lessee wishes to pay off the balance he will be entitled to a discount of five per cent. on the amount unpaid. If a customer wants to buy outright for cash, he gets five per cent. discount on the entire amount. The Gurney cleanable can be had only of us.

What Is King Bros., PURIFINE?

It is the new disinfectant which has superseded all other disinfectants, being a scientific compound, having no odor, yet possessing the qualities of a powerful disinfectant.

The automatic distributor should be placed in every house in Honolulu where odors and germs of disease exist. They are placed free of charge, taken care of and kept working day and night for $1.00 per month. It's an innovation, but on scientific principles, and appeals to everyone of common sense. The idea is this: The distributor drops two drops a minute, day and night. Foul odors are killed, yet no disagreeable smell of carbolic acid or crude disinfectants takes its place. You don't know that a powerful disinfectant is being used if you judge by the lack of odor. But it's doing the duty—doing it well. Can we show you the "Ideal Automatic Distributor?" ## GUARDIANS OF THE YOUNG IDEA.

Education Commissioners Hold Their Weekly Meeting.

APPOINTMENTS AND TRANSFERS.

Several Teachers Rewarded by Increased Salary—Disposition of the Kauluwela School. Matter of Free Scholarships to be Investigated by Deputy Inspector J. F. Scott.

The Commissioners of Education held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon with Messrs. Alexander, Townsend, Cooper, Scott, Rogers and Mrs. Dillingham and Jordan present. The minutes of previous meeting were read and accepted.

Mr. Townsend reported that resignation of Miss Margaret Walker had been received.

The Teachers Committee in its report recommended the following appointments and transfers which were indorsed:

Eli Snyder was appointed to Huelo school. Christian Andrews transferred from Kalaupapa, Molokai, to Hauula, Oahu.

Miss Augusta Bruce appointed teacher for Kalaupapa. Miss Millie Morris assistant in same school.

Mr. Isaiah Pahee appointed assistant to Waihole school.

Miss Grace Sharpe principal at Kekaha and Miss Flora Sharpe assistant.

Miss May Atkinson appointed assistant to Miss Coursen's school. Miss Perry to take Miss Atkinson's place in Pohukaina and Miss Juliette King appointed to Miss Perry's place.

Miss Sarah Peterson appointed to take Miss King's place.

Mrs. S. D. Heapy transferred from Waikapu to Lanai.

Joseph Hennessy appointed temporarily at Lahaina until the arrival of the regular teacher from California when Hennessy will be transferred to the shops as assistant instructor.

Mrs. S. Kellinori temporary assistant at Waihee.

Miss Bernice Cook assistant at Waihee and Miss Alvin Keiki at Waihee. Joseph Kealialo at Waihee, James Post assistant at Honokowai, Miss C. D. Pringle and Mr. Vincent assistants at Hanalei, and Miss Abbie Rose assistant at Lahaina.

Inspector-General Townsend reported that owing to non-arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Taggard appointed to positions at Haaleo Miss Hattie F. Coan has been temporarily appointed and will select her own assistant.

Mr. J. C. McStay had been assigned to the principalship of Hilo select school. J. Kealialo had declined the appointment as assistant at Kipahulu and J. L. Paoo appointed. The report was accepted and the appointments of Mrs. McStay and Mr. Paoo made permanent.

Inspector Scott reported three applications for free scholarship. Mr. Cooper felt that the ideas on free scholarships were a little off. The door was opening wider and wider and it was not getting time to begin to retract. He believed in the select school. The free scholarships should be granted as a reward for excellence of scholarship rather than poverty. The matter of scholarships was deferred to the deputy inspector to report at the next meeting of the Board.

A recommendation to increase the salary of Mrs. M. F. Scott of North Kona was indorsed and her salary placed at $1000 a year. Mr. Cook's request for an increase of salary resulted in the salary being placed at $65 a month. Miss Davidson's salary and that of Mrs. Frazer were also raised.

An extended discussion arose over the disposition of the Kauluwela School. It was finally decided to transfer the Kauluwela School teachers and scholars to the Fort Street building, and to transfer Mr. Wells to the Kauluwela building.

Another Robbery.

A thief entered the house of Mrs. Robinson, opposite Kapiolani Maternity Home on Beretania street, last Friday night and succeeded in making away with a lady's gold watch and a diamond pin of great value. Nothing was heard by the inmates of the house and nothing could be found as a clue. The detectives are at work on the case, but not much to give them encouragement has been found.

Leilani's Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the Leilani Boat Club was held in the basement of the Hawaiian Hotel last night, with about thirty members present. After the regular routine business had been finished the "silver question" was brought up for discussion. Every member present was interested in this phase of the evening's meeting.

Next came up the matter of the 19th of September boat races, and the boys concluded that they would not enter.

Another Skeleton.

Another skeleton as large as the larger of the two found yesterday morning was unearthed a few feet away from the resting place of the latter yesterday morning. It was laid with the feet toward the sea and was surrounded by leaves, bottles and stones as the other had been. Superintendent Fogarty is now of the opinion that there are a lot more near the place, but as he is simply excavating for the wall of Nuuanu stream he will not branch out on the trail of skeletons. A peculiar fact about the three already found is that they were buried at such a shallow depth.

FITZGERALD ON TRIAL.

Case that Took up the Whole Day in the Police Court.

Ah Fat and Huihui Tell of the Shooting—Defendant Took Deliberate Aim and Fired.

The case of Arthur Fitzgerald for shooting Special Officer Ah Fat in the leg on the morning of August 26th, came up in the police court for trial yesterday morning, and took up the whole day. E. P. Dole for prosecution, Creighton and Correa for defense. A recess was taken at 12 noon until 2 p. m., when the trial was continued. Following was the evidence produced:

W. H. Paine testified as to the money that was put into the box on the night of the robbery.

Miss Peterson told about the Portuguese children who called at her home and told her of the money that had been found in the barn.

Captain Parker told of how he had made an examination of the premises on the morning after the shooting, and of the blood that he found on the ground. He said he found pieces of tramcar change envelopes in Fitzgerald's room, as well as some envelopes with the change still in them.

Ah Fat, the Chinese detective shot by Fitzgerald on the night of August 26th, sworn, stated: Was at Palama on the night of the 26th; was ordered by Kapapa to keep watch in the vicinity of the barn where the street car money was found. Huihui went with me; was in the grain roof of the stable; could see plainly through the cracks. We stood watch together until 12 o'clock, and then agreed to watch one at a time. It came my time at 2:30 a. m., and Huihui lay down to sleep. Saw defendant approaching with a gun. I lifted up my leg to move, and just then he shot me in the leg. Huihui awoke then. I cannot tell what happened after the firing. Was about twenty feet away from Fitzgerald; could see his face very plainly. The bullet struck me in the thigh.

Cross-examined—Never have had any trouble with defendant. Have known him about two years. There was light in the room where I was.

Huihui—Am a special officer on the detective force. Was at Peterson's barn with Ah Fat. Saw defendant about 2:30 a. m., August 26th. After the shot was fired the bell struck six times at the Insane Asylum. Ah Fat was sitting on a chair; was fighting mosquitos when the shot was fired. Stopped immediately. Mosquitos had no further place in my thoughts. When I got up from the floor defendant was standing with his gun still at an aim. He then ran off and I fired two shots after him. I saw him plainly, because when I jumped up he was very close to me.

Huihui then described how he, Kaapa and others had searched Fitzgerald's premises and found the gun with the cartridge.

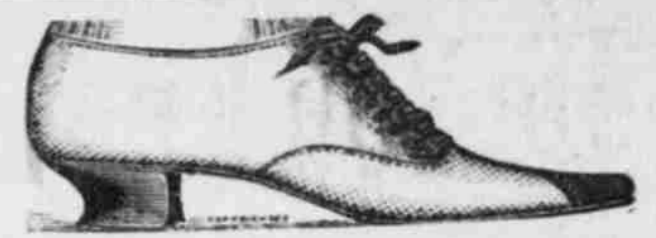

At 5 p. m. the case had to be continued until this morning.

They Investigate.

Early yesterday afternoon before the continuation of the Fitzgerald case in the police court, the following party visited the barn and surroundings on the Peterson premises, Kapalama, to study the place where the defendant shot Ah Fat with a rifle: Judge Geo. H. De La Vergne, Deputy Attorney Dole, Charles Creighton and A. G. Correa, attorneys for the defense, Detective Kaapa, the defendant, in charge of officer Nicholas and officers Huihui and Ah Fat.

From all accounts Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a Godsend to the afflicted. There is no advertisement about this; we feel just like saying it.—The Democrat, Carrollton, Ky. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

GAINSBOROUGH NOTES.

What is Being Done With the Rigging and Cargo.

Early yesterday morning the natives at work on the stranded bark Gainsborough began getting the coal in shape to take out, and worked all night. They are to get so much a ton for taking the cargo out, and will put what they can aboard the little schooners waiting near by. All of the coal within about four feet of the 'tween-deck beams, as near as can be seen, is uninjured by the water.

The schooner Luka has taken aboard all the running gear, the spars, sails and yards. The heavy chains and anchors, with the exception of those used to keep the stern of the vessel out, will be put aboard today, and it is probable that the Luka will sail for town today.

Messrs. Hewitt and Hughes, who have had charge of dismantling the Gainsborough, will return to town tonight, as their work will be done.

The schooner Lavina went out to the stranded vessel at 11:30 a. m. yesterday. She will make her first trip in with coal on Friday. After her arrival heavy anchors were put out astern of the Gainsborough.

The stranded vessel is now hard and fast in the rocks, but if she has no rough weather and does not thump hard it is very possible that she will be got off. The story spread about town that the Gainsborough is split open on her bottom is false. She has a hole stove in her, but it is presumed that this is not very large.

The royal and topgallant yards and the royal and topgallant masts have been taken out. They are an exact fit for the bark Matilda, a vessel that comes to this port with lumber consigned to Allen & Robinson.

SEAMAN DEAD.

Taken Sick Aboard the Bark Gainsborough on July 5th.

F. Forsman, the seaman who was brought ashore from the bark Gainsborough very sick on the morning that vessel was stranded out at Diamond Head, and who was taken immediately to the Queen's hospital, died Tuesday.

He was troubled with a complication of diseases among which was blood poisoning. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and the remains were interred in Makiki cemetery. Captain McPhail and all the members of the crew of the Gainsborough attended and placed the remains of their dead shipmate below the sward forever, many a tear tickling down their weather-beaten cheeks as they performed the sad duty.

Forsman was a Swede about 28 years of age and shipped on the Gainsborough at Westport, N. Z., just previous to the departure of that vessel on June 23rd. He did his work well until July 5th when he was taken down with the illness that continued and resulted finally in his death.

He was a good worker, of quiet and gentlemanly behavior, and was highly respected by the Captain and crew of the Gainsborough.

WHARF AND WAVE.

AT DIAMOND HEAD SIGNAL STATION, Sept. 2, 10 p. m.—The weather is cloudy; wind light, north.

The Iwalani will sail on her regular Hamakua route today at 9 a. m.

The Kaala arrived at 6 o'clock last night from Oahu ports with a load of paddy.

The Waialeale arrived early yesterday morning from Kapaa with a mixed load of sugar and paddy. She will leave this evening for Kauai.

R. M. Fuller is a busy man attending to the wants and dispatching of Allen & Robinson's fleet, all of which vessels are now in commission, either packing sugar or acting as tenders to the wrecked bark Gainsborough.

A large staff of workmen are at work on the Hall's wharf, which when finished will be one of the best docks on the waterfront. The steam roller is setting down the heavy rock, ready for a covering of fine dressing.

Repairs on the W. H. Dimond have been completed, and her cargo is being replaced. Fortunately the leakage was discovered in time to obviate any damage to the freight. The Dimond will leave during the day for San Francisco.

The schooner Moi Wahine has brought down 1849 bags of sugar from Hamakua mill for Theo. H. Davies & Co., consisting of 300 bags No. 1 and 1584 bags of sugar for the local market. This is among the finest sugar made in the Hawaiian Islands. The Moi Wahine sails again with quick dispatch for Paailo today, as there are 10,000 bags of sugar awaiting shipment at that plantation.

The O. & O. S. S. Coptic resumed her voyage to the Orient at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. As she passed out of the channel she looked a pretty sight, having on board 3,029 tons of freight, sufficient weight to put her down in the water to show her model to advantage. By the way she squared away to the westward it would not be surprising to hear of another record-breaking trip. The Coptic took 6 cabin and 111 steerage passengers from this port.

NOT SETTLED YET.

Japanese Line Port of Call Yet in the Balance.

CHICAGO, August 20.—H. Kabayske, confidential secretary to President Asano of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamship line, denies that San Diego, Cal., has been definitely settled upon as the terminus of the line. Mr. Asano has gone to New York and Kabayske will leave this morning. Mr. Kabayske said:

"A certain gentleman has made promises on behalf of the citizens of San Diego, and if these promises are fulfilled the line will certainly go to that point. But whether the people of the California town will or will not acquiesce in the conditions agreed upon I cannot say."

DEPENDS ON THE MERCHANTS.

Japanese Line Will Probably Dock at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, August 24.—It now rests with the merchants of this city and Los Angeles to determine whether the steamships of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha shall make San Diego their Pacific terminal. A. H. Butler, who has been with S. Asano during the negotiations with the Santa Fe officials in Chicago, arrived in this city to-night, bearing definite propositions in writing from Asano to the merchants of the two cities regarding guarantees of freight, etc. Butler had a conference tonight with the joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. He will accompany the committee to Los Angeles to-morrow to lay the matter before a like committee in that city.

Butler declares that so far as Asano and the Santa Fe Company are concerned the deal is completed, but the carrying out of its provisions will depend entirely upon the action of the merchants of this city and Los Angeles.
