FIRST WEEK OF ROOKIE TRAINING

Everyone Is Happy And Having The Experience Of A Life Time Make Good Impression

FOOD IS GOOD AND MEN GET PLENTY

Spent Last Sunday In Honolulu After Strenuous Week's Work—Feet Are Given Attention

By WILL. J. COOPER

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 3.—At dinner tonight one of the men in the new Officers' Training Camp expressed what perhaps every other man in the camp feels. He said—"If I never get anything more than the experience I am getting right here, I'll have no kick coming. It will have been time well spent."

The first week of the three months' course designed to make officers of 100 men of Hawaii has just ended. The men, themselves, probably without exception, are pleased and anxious for more. There is good reason to be lieve that Capt. Hunt, U. S. A., who is in charge of the camp is well satisfied also. (Capt. Hunt, it may be said, has made a big hit with the men. He is undoubtedly an instructor of unusual ability, besides being a soldier of high qualification.) His system of teaching is through small squads or small groups. He outlines his lessons explicitly and the squads then take up the work and demonstrate it themselves. Drills and theory are worked out in this way, the squads really teaching, and then clinching, the lessons by repetitions and criticism among themselves, Capt. Hunt in the meantime, keeping a careful eye on the different groups to see that the work has been correctly understood and interpreted.

Constantly the fact is impressed that the members are students only that they may be able to teach others; that the drills and discipline they are undergoing is designed to fit them to whip into discipline the raw troop which will make up the second draft of the great National Army now being created.

Discipline Strict

The discipline at the training camp is strict. The men are required to conform to regulations that require practically every bit of their time. But practically every man has taken to it not only willingly but in serious earnestness that gives even more than required. And the results are amazing in even this short space of time. It is safe to say that a stranger who might see the men marching on their

Encouraging Prospects For Stork Company

The officers and directors of the Stork System of Savings and Supply Company, Ltd., held a meeting last Thursday morning, at the Baldwin National Bank, Kahului. Mr. J. J. Correll and Mr. Arthur Seymour of Denver, Colorado, were present, and submitted reports of the business. These reports indicate that the prospects of this company are very encouraging, so much so, that auxiliary offices will probably be opened in New York, to cover its expansion. At an informal and harmonious meeting of the stockholders, held last Friday night, absolute confidence was expressed in the representatives, and a few needful matters of business were attended to. The officers of the organization are, W. A. Baldwin, president, L. Weinheimer, vice-president, D. C. Lindsay, secretary-treasurer. The directors are F. P. Roscreans, A. W. Collins, Antone Tavares, and E. R. Bevins.

RED CROSS WORK WELL UNDER WAY

Maui Workers Are Devoting Much Time And Effort—Seven Units Have Been Organized

Mrs. F. F. BALDWIN AT THE HEAD

Men Of Maui Have Generously Responded With Subscriptions Work Progressing Nicely

The Maui workers of the American Red Cross on Maui are all at work steadily and earnestly devoting their spare time to creating the many needed articles called for by Headquarters at Washington. Not alone at the regular centers for sewing, but at many an informal social function, knitting and crocheting go steadily on, and with exact directions, and in many cases material and needles furnished which answer all requirements, the product is consequently satisfactory and every one endeavors to accomplish all that they can. At the various centers the leader of each unit inspects all the work and offers any necessary suggestion or correction.

There are now seven units at work on Maui, under seven leaders with Mrs. F. F. Baldwin of Puunene at the head.

The Wailuku unit meets every Friday afternoon from one to five at the Alexander House in the room adjacent to the Wailuku Library. Two sewing machines have been donated by Mr. Whitehead of Wailuku, for use as long as necessary, and are kept humming by busy fingers. This unit is under the supervision of Mrs. H. B. Penhallow, assisted by Miss June Mitchell.

First Aid Class Gets Certificates

Very Complete Course Issued By American Red Cross—Is Uniform Throughout Country—Common Sense When Trained Is Valuable Asset

There are those who do not realize how practical are the lessons in First Aid which are issued by the American Red Cross from Washington. They are only given by instructors who must receive their appointments from Washington, and are uniform in the subject matter and work that they require, while the instructors are under the supervision of Major R. U. Patterson of the Medical Corps of the United States Army.

In the course is taken, bandaging, dressing of wounds, emergency measures in accidents and sickness, and a text book plays no small part in the acquiring of knowledge. In the course taken by a number of ladies, recently on Maui, were practical classes with patients then under a physician's care, visiting wards and assisting in demonstrations, while each member of the class attended at least two major operations, receiving instruction at first hand as to the minute detail and regime necessary in complete surgical technique.

It has been impressed upon all the classes that common sense when trained is an invaluable ally, and is at times all that stands between an injured person and death until the arrival of a doctor or trained nurse.

Certificates were granted some time ago by the First Aid Department, Bureau of Medical Service, American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. and signed by President Wilson and Major Patterson, to a class on Maui, which successfully passed examinations of both a practical and written nature.

NEW CHURCH IS NOW OPEN FOR SERVICE

Magnificent Baldwin Memorial Is Dedicated With Appropriate And Beautiful Ceremony

BUILDING CROWDED TO CAPACITY

Every Section Of Maui Was Represented In The Congregation Many From Other Islands

In the new Memorial Church, at Paia, Maui people possess an edifice which is without doubt one of the most beautiful buildings in the Territory. Field stone was used as material, and frosted with lichen, the appearance of this new structure is that of age.

The services on Sunday last will be long remembered by the large number attending. Not only was the edifice itself dedicated, but also the Austin organ given in memory of Leslie and Jared Baldwin, the sons of H. A. Baldwin. The pulpit Bible, which was also recognized by an appropriate service was the gift of the twenty-four grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin. The wording of the dedication services was carefully worked out in a most impressive manner by the minister of the church, Rev. A. Craig Bowditch.

Scripture reading and prayers were given by the several pastors of the Maui Union Churches, and Rev. Henry P. Judd, presented the greetings of the Hawaiian Board of Missions and the Maui Evangelical Association. The prayer of dedication was offered by Rev. J. H. Williams, acting pastor of Central Union Church Honolulu.

Rev. George Laughton, of Hilo, preached one of the ablest sermons ever heard on Maui, holding his audience in the closest attention to the end. His theme was "The Church And Its Mission," the central thought being "Upon this rock I will build my church." Briefly outlining the historical setting of these words and the future of the kingdom which Jesus had in mind, the speaker said that like every other society, the church of Christ had its offices and ceremonies, its functions and its services. It has its sacred edifices, where the saints gather together for communion and which illustrate more impressively the dignity and greatness of man than the parliaments of mighty nations. "Here, we stand on heights that pierce the heavens. Here, we know that we are the children of eternity and shall outlive the stars. It is to dedicate such

Work On Maui And Molokai To Conserve Food

An interesting account of efforts at food conservation is given by the Advertiser which speaks of a letter received from Mrs. George Cooke of Molokai, who with a number of women resident on that island have been trying out various methods for themselves. Taro has been used as a partial substitute for wheat flour, beef and venison have been dried, also akule; wild tomatoes in the cane-fields have been made into catsup, and entire meals have been served composed of island grown products. Mrs. Cooke has been appointed as chairman of a woman's committee on Molokai to co-operated with the food commission on Oahu, and has appointed Mrs. James Munro of Kaunakakai and Mrs. C. C. Conrad of Puukoo as her assistants.

Mrs. A. C. Bowditch of Paia, has accepted her appointment as chairman of a similar committee on Maui, and has plans for the local campaign now under way. The personnel of her committee is not yet fully decided, but it is but a short time when they will, too, swing into action.

BIG PARTY GOING TO HONOLULU

Attendance At Coming Civic Convention Expected To Be Largest In History Of Organization

MAUI WILL SEND CLOSE TO FIFTY

Entertainment Of All Kinds Will Be Provided But No Cocktail To Be Served At Dinner

Attendance at the coming civic convention, to be held this year at Honolulu, beginning Sunday, September 16, and ending Tuesday night with a banquet at the Moana hotel, will be the largest the Islands have ever known.

From a trip to Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, Raymond C. Brown, chairman of the central committee, brings back word that forty delegates may be expected from Kauai (one estimate ran to seventy-five, but he wants to be conservative), while Maui is expected to send another forty and the Big Island, including Kona and Kohala, is counted on for upwards of fifty.

These figures compare in the most encouraging way with the actual attendance at any previous civic convention, and they do not include delegates at large.

Heretofore delegates have been elected by the different clubs, chambers of commerce, improvement societies and other civic bodies of the Islands. This year it was suggested to the central committee that this organization contains a defect.

There are numbers of public spirited citizens, whose interest in and services to the community are well recognized, yet, who, for one reason and another, do not happen to belong to any of the bodies from whose membership the convention is chosen. Accordingly the central committee decided this year to name delegates at large, in addition to those regularly elected.

No fixed number has been set and no method of choice specified. Probably in the end the list will be made up by the chairman of the central committee, Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu and passed upon by the Committee.

It must not be supposed that any citizen who wants a junket can have it by being named a delegate at large for the asking, but at the same time, the central committee is most liberally disposed. It will welcome suggested names not eligible on the list of regularly elected delegates. Such suggestions should be addressed to Mr. Brown.

And apropos of names, the committee wants very much to make up its final list of accredited delegates regularly chosen. It can't very well name delegates at large until all other dele-

WAR PARTISANSHIP

Before the entry of the United States in the war, the attitude of many among us was to look on the war as something of a sporting event. There were those who sided with the Central Powers, and there were others who sided with the Allies. Both partisans had their reasons for the position they took, and both were insistent on the righteousness of their point of view. In this ante-war discussion the invasion of Belgium was hotly denounced by one side only to be defended by the other as having been done for good reasons.

Now after a period of somewhat strained neutrality the United States has entered the war, and among the many reasons for this step, Mr. Wilson includes that of defending democracy from the assaults of the Prussian military autocracy. With millions of our countrymen lined up in defense of the flag a new situation has developed. Out and out Americans would denounce any one who does not uphold Mr. Wilson's war policy, as a traitor to the country, but the war partisan feeling long fostered by the pre-war days of uncertain neutrality will not die overnight, but linger on, ethically outlawed, though it may be.

Remote as this Territory is from the scenes of war and war activities, the seriousness of the situation is not yet completely realized. To some the fact of the war having been entered into contrary to the advice of George Washington about entangling foreign alliances, is a justifiable excuse for lukewarmness and contrariness.

The fact that Mr. Wilson was forced to draw the sword in the defense of American lives and American property against the German policy of frightfulness on the high seas as practised by German submarines is by these of our countrymen looked on as somewhat embarrassing but not provocation enough for setting aside its policy of peace, and as an issue that might somehow be temporized as Norway or Holland and other neutrals have temporized over the sinking of merchant shipping and the killing of seamen in the war ravaged seas of Europe—for the sake of peace. After all peace is very much to be desired; all things considered, it is only human to give anything—but not everything—for peace.

With the call to arms, the sons of our neighbors and even some of our relatives have left their peaceful callings, to don the habiliments of the warrior, on their way to the blood soaked battlefields of Europe to fight the battles of the Republic. This of itself ought to make us lay aside our petty differences and the least we could do is—to root for the home team. For in all seriousness they are going to fight for us (the sorry stay at home) to defend us from unseen war terrors reaching forth to seize us and to engulf us in its horrors, and the very least we should do is to be loyal to the cause for which the boys from home are going forth to battle, and to die if need be.

In these times of trial, before the casualty lists begin to appear in print, we should drop all our small differences, look to the safety of the nation as a whole and stand solidly behind that. It is true no armed enemy is nearer than ten thousand miles from the shores of this Territory, but nevertheless the war menace is in the air. Let no one harbor any thought comforting to the enemy of the nation, least when we find the names of those we know written on the casualty lists we be shamed for not having supported morally at least the defenders of the nation. Let no voice be heard in the land save that of cheer and faith in the cause for which the youth of this sea-born Territory are gathering to battle for the common good.

A very timely and important lesson along Food Conservation lines can be gleaned from the following taken from the Country Gentleman: Suppose you were to read such an advertisement as this in your daily paper:

For sale, for cash on delivery, fat for frying, $4.05 a pound. Goose fat, $5.36 a pound. Duck fat ¼ pound, $1.13. Salted goose leg 94c each. Larded goose breast, $2.08 per pound. Fresh fowls, $1.01 per pound and up. Young country laying hens, $3.32 each. Well-fed, snow-white Emden giant geese, $11.01 to $19.06 each. Horseflesh, 53 to 86 cents a pound.

These are exact quotations taken from advertisements in German newspapers during last June. Of course the advertisements are addressed more particularly to the rich. Even horseflesh has become a luxury beyond reach of the common people. Evidently the scarcity of fats has not been exaggerated in reports from other sources.

The agitation started by Delegate Kuhio against putting the National Guard of Hawaii in the stay-at-home class seems to have borne fruit, for the latest wireless news received indicates that the Guard is to be mustered into the National Army very soon. The drafting of men for the army from this Territory waits on the completion of the registration lists of Oahu and of the County of Hawaii. Very soon the boys will be marching away, and with that act will come home the realization that the nation is at war.

The Territorial Food Commission is handing out to the public some advice on what to eat and where to put the brakes on the eating habit. A perusal of the official leaflet gives the impression that the eating restrictions are intended for Caucasians only and those who have acquired the eating habits of that class. The Asiatics, by far the largest element of our population, are left to enjoy their bowls of rice and fish unwarned of the dangers of a food shortage to arise from unrestrainedly satisfying the cravings of a normal appetite.

At Kahului, Mrs. Dale, in charge, has arranged that the ladies shall meet every second Friday at the Kahului Community House, while the ladies of Puunene are not yet positive as to their meeting place, though it will probably be at the Puunene Club House. The Makawao unit meet for an all-day session every other Monday at the Maunaloa Seminary where they have the use of a complete sewing equipment, cutting tables and machines. The ladies of Pala and Hamakua unite in this unit, bring their lunch and tea is served by the Seminary ladies. This last week their part of the shipment to Honolulu from Kahului consisted of 120 nightgowns, 28 suits of pajamas, 12 pillows, 22 eye bandages, 12 wash cloths, and 6 pairs of baby socks. The work is begun at the Seminary and then finished at home whenever possible. Mrs. S. E. Taylor and Mrs. H. D. Sloggett are the prominent workers in this division.

Mrs. Decoto, in charge at Lahaina, starts organized work, next Saturday at the Armory and here will be also held all day sessions, every Saturday, from nine to five. All the Lahaina ladies have been asked to assist and sewing machines will be in use, brought for the day by the different members. Lahaina has done her share before this, but hopes from now on to do more, under regular hours and systematic planning.

The Haiku women meet every other Thursday afternoon, and also take home, work to finish. There is no regular place of meeting, but Mrs. W. I. Wells, who has charge in this district, arranges meetings with the different members.

Sore—But Not Cold—Feet

"Rookies" from the Schofield officers' training camp were in town in force yesterday afternoon. And they do not have to go back until five o'clock this afternoon.

I met several of them, mighty likely looking fellows and all righteously proud of the fact that they had become successfully identified with the training camp. Several, while still enthusiastic, confessed that their feet were sore. Not cold, but sore. There's not a cold foot in Schofield!

It stands to reason that one is likely to get sore feet with all the drill and foot-work hiking and what-not incidental to breaking in one's self to be an officer in the National Army.

I saw some of the boys in drug stores. They were laying in supplies of talcum powder, foot-ease and other remedies for blistered, torn or aching feet. Old Doc Ryan and a lot of other chiropodists were yesterday afternoon besieged by chaps who wanted to get their feet fixed up in a hurry, in time to get back to Schofield with a clean bill of health as far as their tootsies were concerned.

Will Cooper—I hardly know whether to speak of him as just plain Will Cooper, or Captain Cooper, was one of my old friends visible in the thoroughfares of the great metropolis yesterday. He's a newspaper man. He was editing the Maui News, Wailuku, Valley Island, when he heard his country calling. No, he hadn't sore feet, nor would he give me any information when I inquired after the general condition of the feet of the prospective officers. What he did say, though, and he said it out loud, right in the lobby of the Alexander Young Hotel, so that everybody could hear if they wanted to listen, was that he had never had as many good things to eat, outside of his own home cooking, as was served at the training camp.

"Finest grub you ever tasted," said Will, "and I don't see how they do it." Coop admitted that the training is no snap. Nor should it be. Nor does anybody expect it to be.

Another thing Coop gloried in, and later on I heard "Andy" Farrell, formerly of The Advertiser, voice the same sentiment, and that is the fact that the finest kind of rest a newspaper man can get is go into Uncle Sam's officers' reserve training camp. "You get tired," they both said "but it isn't the kind of tiredness you get in the newspaper game."—Sunday By-stander.

The Concrete Ship

The anticipated arrival of a concrete ship, which it is reported, will soon visit Honolulu from the mainland, has been hailed in the coast press as somewhat of a new departure in shipbuilding, but concrete ships are not such a novelty as most of us believe.

The first concrete boat was built in France in 1849 and is still in service. In the form of lighters, they have been used on Chesapeake Bay for five or six years. A concrete barge that has been in use on the Welland Canal since 1910, having a length of 80 feet and a width of 24 feet, has walls only two and a half inches thick, which were poured in molds and reinforced with steel rods. It is withstanding the hardest kind of usage.

Norwegian shipbuilders have now begun the construction of vessels of 3000 tons displacement, and a slip for a craft of 4000 tons burden is nearly complete. The builders claim that these concrete ships can be sailed or engine like any other vessels, which places them amongst the most important developments of the shipbuilding art, if true. Furthermore concrete ships need neither paint nor calking while experience extending over three generations has taught the experimenters with this type of boat that barnacles will not collect on a concrete hull.

With a process for the manufacture of cement perfected on Maui, it is not an extravagant hope to look forward to the day when Hawaii will be in a position to pour her own ships for the inter-island trade.—Star-Bulletin.

NO CUSTOM CHARGES

Parcels sent to American and other allied soldiers in France are not subject to customs duty, according to advices received by the war department yesterday. The same rule holds goods for soldiers in the hospitals. Such things as tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, cards, and beverages, commonly under duty, may be passed free when sent thus and no examination other than the identification of the parcels is needed.—Star-Bulletin.

SPECIAL TREASURY NOTICE

It having come to the knowledge of the Governor that on the Islands of Hawaii and Maui certain parties, having connections with Banks and Capitalists, have, in order that public improvements may be proceeded with, suggested subscriptions might be had to the Four percent Bond issue provided funds subscribed were conditioned on their expenditure on the Islands and to the amount of each Islands subscription.

I am authorized to state that in view of the above and legal restrictions the Territorial Treasury will accept private tenders at the legal limit of $98.04 per $100.00 bond and said funds will be as by law provided set aside for the public works indicated by the Legislature for such Island so subscribing as per allotment.

Maui Red Beans Moving Slowly

Eggs Go Up Again—Feeds Remain
The Same—Irish Potatoes Are Short While Sweets Have Dropped
A Little—Limes Are Scarce

HONOLULU, September 1.—Island eggs are scarce and have advanced five cents a dozen, while most feeds have remained at the same price and a few have dropped two dollars on a ton. A shipment of Maui beans were received and though the price has dropped a little, they are selling slowly.

There are no Island Irish potatoes in the market. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and the price has dropped to $1.25 a hundred pounds. A shipment of Island onions and dried corn has been received from Maui. The onions are better than the last shipment.

Limes are scarce and in demand. Farmers having any limes on hand should ship them while the market is good.

Bananas are still plentiful and cheap. Large bunches selling for thirty-five cents.

Island grapes have advanced another cent a pound and no grapes are coming from the other islands.

Tomatoes are scarce and have advanced another cent.—O. B. LIGHT-FOOT, Acting Superintendent.

Pleasant Afternoon At Kuiaha

As a farewell to the many friends with whom acquaintance had been renewed, or newly made, Mrs. Stanley Livingston and Mrs. J. L. Hopwood of Honolulu, who have been at the Livingston homestead at Kuiaha for some weeks, entertained last Tuesday afternoon. During the afternoon, a number of callers also added to the afternoon's guests. Those who were present were, Mrs. W. I. Wells, Mrs. E. C. Moore, Mrs. F. G. Krauss, Mrs. C. J. James, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, and Mrs. J. Gannon of Lahaina, Mrs. O. H. Gulick of Honolulu, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ganfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dodge, Mrs. F. Partridge, Mrs. L. E. Bailey, Miss Lizzie Fearn, Mrs. G. W. Patterson, Mrs. Geo. Wilbur, Mrs. Anna Watson, Mrs. J. O'Brien, and Mrs. Will. J. Cooper. Mrs. Livingston and Mrs. Hopwood return to Honolulu on Saturday, September 8th.

MAUI PRODUCTION GOOD

Maui onions in big quantities are coming into the Territorial Market, which are being sold at $2.50 a hundred pounds and three cents a pound retail. Sweet potatoes are also plentiful. They retail for $1.50 a bag and two and a half cents a pound.

Island dry corn for feed is another product which is coming from the Kula slopes on Maui. The corn is selling for $83 a ton. Bananas are the only island fruit of which there is any considerable quantity, although a large shipment of watermelons is expected from Maui next Monday. The only drop of price of island products is in Maui ripe beans, which now sell for $9.50 a hundred.—Star-Bulletin.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Glory Of Yolanda"
Anita Stewart in "The Glory Of Yolanda" is the feature of tomorrow night's program at the Orpheum.

The story deals with a simple dancing girl taken from her home by the Grand Duke, who with his influence made her the most admired of the Imperial Russian ballet and the idol of the Russian court. Her love however was with a young artist whom the Duke banished to Siberia. She puts aside the glare of fame and position and goes with the lover, ready to stand the test of her affection.

"The Spirit Of Romance"

"The Spirit Of Romance" is Vivian Martin's latest successful Pallas Pictures starring vehicle and it comes to the Walluku Orpheum Sunday. The supporting cast are the selected players of the Pallas studios, with the popular Colin Chase as leading man. The story deals with a little girl—as do all of the stories in which Vivian Martin is the star—who points out the road to happiness to a grouchy old millionaire and a young inventor.

The millionaire, Richard Cobb, and the inventor, Tom Cobb, are father and son while the "ray of sunshine," is Abby Lou Maynard, maid of all work in the antique shop of the elder man. Joseph Snow, a wealthy old miser, meets Abby Lou in the antique shop and is smitten with the girl. He is so impressed with the girl's success in distributing happiness that he reappears a changed man and continues the good work she has started. Meantime, through the girl's help Tom's invention proves a success and brings a sweet culmination to their romance.

"The Love Thief"

"The Love Thief" is the title of a Fox production coming to the Walluku Orpheum next Monday, with the new screen star, Gretchen Hartman.

The story concerns the love of a feminine leader of Mexican bandits for an American army captain and the plot is furnished by his failure to love in return. She succeeds at first in alienating the officer's bride-to-be, but with a return of their love, kidnaps the American woman and submits her to all the ill usage which her jealous hatred can devise.

The officer falls into the same trap in attempting to rescue his sweetheart but they elude their guards together and win the long race for freedom.

"The Dummy"

"The Dummy" is the next Wednesday night offering at the Walluku Orpheum, with the feature star, Jack Pickford playing the leading role.

"The Dummy" is a story dealing with the life of a typical American youth, a messenger boy who finally decides to become a thief-taker. How well he succeeds in this line of work is cleverly told in the picture. Ethelmary Oakland, a new child star, gives excellent support and little Ethelmary should be heard of again. Good child stars are indeed rare and the Famous Players have made a discovery in this little girl.

BY AUTHORITY

NOTICE

To Whom It May Concern:

The Territory of Hawaii has been able to sell $200,000 of the proposed 4 percent loan of $1,500,000.

It takes upwards of four months to go through the process of preparing for and presenting a loan. These are times when financial and other situations change from day to day so there is no counting on the future.

As per our laws and preparation, the Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii can, at private sale, dispose of $1,300,000 of 4 percent per annum bonds at $98.04 per $100.00 bonds.

Of this bond balance of $1,300,000, this sum approximately applies to the various islands as follows:

Hawaii	$ 405,000.00
Mau	205,000.00
Kauai	38,000.00
Oahu	650,000.00

Total.. $1,298,000.00

It is up to the people of each of these islands to purchase each its quota of bonds receiving a guarantee that the money will be spent on each island, in full or pro rata, to its subscriptions.

It is plainly a case of put up the money, of which there is plenty, or going without the improvements.

The $200,000 will be principally spent on items that are in the interest of and to the advantage of the whole group.

By direction of the Governor,
HENRY C. HAPAI,
Acting Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii.

Honolulu, T. H., September 4, 1917.

LIBERTY CATERING

No. 17
BY MAUI WOMEN

A Department Of Domestic Economy Intended To Serve A Patriotic Purpose in Conserving Food Needed By The Allied Armies In Europe

CORNMEAL

1. When cornmeal is first purchased, spread out in a shallow layer in a flat baking tin and heat slowly in a moderate oven, of course avoiding cooking the meal. This destroys the hatching power of whatever weevil substances may be present, and if sealed at once in an air-tight jar, will keep indefinitely.

2. Cornmeal Gingerbread

Mix 1 cup yellow cornmeal, 1/2 cup each molasses and sugar, 1 tbl. butter, 1/2 ts. salt, 1/2 cup each of sour and sweet milk, and cook in a double boiler for 10 minutes. When cool, add 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 ts. soda, and 1/2 ts. each of ginger, cinnamon, and cloves, and bake in a shallow tin in a moderate oven.

3. New England Brown Bread

Take 1 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs, 3/4 cups cold water, 1/4 cup molasses, 1 1/2 cup each of cornmeal, rye flour and graham flour and 3 ts. soda. Soak bread in 2 1/2 cups of the cold water over night. Rub through colander, add molasses and remaining ingredients. Stir till well mixed, fill buttered 1 lb. baking powder tins 2/3 full, cover and steam 2 hours.

4. Yum-Yum Pudding

Take 1 cup cold cornmeal mush, 1/2 cup syrup, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup raisins, 2 eggs, mix well and put into a double boiler, until heated through and smooth. Then turn into a buttered baking dish and bake 40 minutes. Serve with cream.

5. Cornmeal Souffle

Slice two pieces of bacon and fry, draining off the fat. Cook 1/3 cup cornmeal with 1 cup boiling water and salt to taste, add 1/2 cup milk, yolks of two eggs, and fold in the beaten whites. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

6. Fruit Gums

One cup cornmeal, 1 ts. salt, 1 ts. baking powder, 1/2 cup each of raisins and currants, 1 1/2 cups rich milk. Cook meal and salt in milk for a few minutes. When cool, add baking powder and beat well. Add fruit and bake in well-greased muffin tins.

7. Cornmeal Gums

One egg, 2 cups buttermilk or sour milk, 2 cups cornmeal, 1 cup flour, 2/3 cup brown sugar, 2 heaping tbs. shortening, 1 ts. soda and 1 ts. salt.

8. Brown Bread

Two cups graham flour, 1 cup cornmeal, 2 ts. baking powder and 1 ts. salt, 1 cup molasses and a pinch of soda, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups milk and raisins to taste. Steam in baking powder tins 1/2 full, well covered or bake.

9. Spider Corn Bread

Into a dish sift 1/2 cup cornmeal, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 tbs. sugar, 1/2 ts. salt, and 1/2 ts. soda. Add 1 well beaten egg, 1/2 cup sweet milk and 1/2 cup of sour milk. Melt 2 tbs. butter or shortening in a frying pan, turn in the mixture and pour over it, 1 cup sweet milk without stirring. Bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes.

10. Southern Spoon Bread

Pour 1 cup boiling water over 1/2 cup cornmeal. Cook briskly for 5 minutes, add 1 dessertspoon butter and 1/2 ts. salt and stir until well blended. Take from fire, add 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1 well beaten egg. Pour into a well greased pan and brown in oven for about 20 minutes.

11. New Style Mush

Add 2 ts. salt to 3 cups boiling water, sift in 1 cup yellow cornmeal and stir constantly for 10 minutes. Add 1 cup sweet milk gradually, so as not to stop boiling. Cook 10 minutes longer then put in a double boiler for 1/2 hour. Eat as a cereal or use as a substitute for potato. Can be sliced after cooling in a pan and fried.

12. Indian Pudding

Heat 1 quart of milk and stir in 1/2 cup cornmeal till it thickens. Take from fire and add 1/2 cup molasses, 1 ts. salt, and 1 ts. ginger and cinnamon. Put into a buttered baking dish, add 1 cup cold milk and bake over a slow fire for 2 hours.

13. Prune Brown Bread

Take 1 cup scalded cornmeal, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 ts. soda, 2 cup graham flour, 1 cup sour milk, 1 ts. salt, and 1 cup chopped prunes. Steam for 3 hours. Is delicious.

14. St. Charles Corn Bread

One pint cornmeal, 1 ts. baking powder, and 1 ts. salt sifted together. Mix 1 pint milk, 1 tbs. melted butter, and 2 well beaten eggs together and stir into meal, beating hard for 2 minutes. Pour into greased pan and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven. Other cornmeal recipes will be given later.

First Week Of Rookie Training

drill ground or going through the various drills would never dream that the organization was but one week old. The truth of the matter is that perhaps 90 per cent of the recruits have had previous military experience and that a general high order of intelligence combined with superior instruction has made possible results that under less favorable circumstances would require months to accomplish.

Work Not Too Hard

Capt. Hunt has the rare faculty of getting the other fellow's viewpoint, and he is constantly impressing the importance of this. It is for this reason that there is little fear that the men in his camp will ever be seriously overworked. The drills, "setting-up" exercises, hikes, etc., while vigorous, have not yet caused a single man to drop out of ranks. They are becoming more strenuous daily, but as muscles become accustomed to unusual work the tasks become lighter. Aside from some sunburned noses and a few blisters on hands unaccustomed to handling a rifle, no one has suffered from the work. On the contrary, a large percentage of the men have acquired an erect and active carriage which they did not have when they arrived.

Made A Good Impression

Urged by Capt. Hunt to not stay at the Barracks over Sunday, almost all of the Company went to Honolulu on Saturday afternoon returning Sunday evening in time for dinner. It was the first time any of them had been to town since the camp was organized. The red, white and blue hat cords and the neat chevron on the left arm with letters "U. S. T. C." attracted general attention and much favorable comment. Most of the boys spent the time with admiring families or friends eager to hear the details of training camp life, and if the embryo officers carried themselves with somewhat self-conscious erectness, it was merely due to their surroundings. Here at the camp this carriage is rapidly becoming fixed, and round shoulders are being straightened as by magic.

Good Food

While the service is not off damask linen, but instead is from a bare but whitely scrubbed table top, the food supplied the rookie officers is both abundant and good as to quality and preparation. Skilled cooks prepare everything in palatable and hygienic manner, and thus far not a single kick has been heard. The men have ample variety and apparently the supply is never exhausted.

Strict Care Of Feet

Up at 5:30 o'clock every morning, the men have made up their beds, bathed, shaved, eaten breakfast and thoroughly polished the building and grounds by 7:05 o'clock, when the drill hour comes around. From then till 11:30 the company is given a setting up drill, a sharp double-time chase across a steep little ravine, (perhaps several times,) and then usually a several mile hike, to probably be finished up by an hour of close order or manual of arm drill.

Last Friday, on returning from the hike, the men were required to sit on the ground and remove leggings, shoes and stockings, while the officers carefully looked for evidences of poor fitting foot-gear. Where such was found new shoes were ordered or other remedies prescribed. The care of the feet of the fighting man of today is second only to the care of his diet and general health, for a soldier that can't walk is not only no good to the army but a liability as well.

gates are known. The committee urgently requests all bodies which have not yet made their choice, or made it known to the central committee, to do so at once.

Although the delegates do not actively enter upon their duties until the morning of Monday, September 17, they will arrive bright and early for the aquatic sports of Regatta Day, Saturday, the 15th.

Sunday the Honolulu Automobile Club will take the visiting delegates and their accompanying wives and relatives for an auto trip, stopping at the Halewa hotel and returning by way of Schofield Barracks and the Lihue plain.

The same night the delegates will assemble as a body for the first time at union services to be held in the Central Union Church.

Monday morning the convention will assemble for organization at the Lanika Theater, a conveniently central location. All business sessions will be held in the same place.

The first of these will be held Monday afternoon and the remaining two on Tuesday morning and afternoon.

Between sessions the program is full of recreation. Monday afternoon the ladies will be the guests of the Outrigger Club at a tea given on the beach at Waikiki. Monday evening both the delegates and their guests will take dinner at Lanika at the invitation of the Pan-Pacific Club. And a little later still they will all troop off to the Ad Club show in the Bijou theater.

Tuesday the Y. W. C. A. will take the ladies in hand for the day. After adjournment that afternoon, the delegates will wind up their stay with a banquet at the Moana hotel,—the first "dry" banquet the convention ever has held.

In view of the growing sentiment on Oahu for prohibition and the belief that the federal authorities are shortly to close all saloons as the only way in which bootlegging to soldiers can be stopped, the central committee voted this year that the customary cocktail should be omitted. It was felt that any other decision would be received as an affront by the general public.

Esaku Takaki, an employee of the Maui Agricultural Company, was badly scalded by the bursting of a boiler tube at the Maliko Pump Station, Hamakunapoko, on August 21st. His death followed on the 26th. He is survived by a wife and two children.

Owing to an extremely high surf running last Monday night, passengers at Lahaina, intending to go to Honolulu were unable to board the Mauna Kea, and returned to their respective homes instead. The Claudine had an extra large passenger list last Wednesday in consequence.

The upper ditch at Makawao is practically dry, so that Maunaloa Seminary and Sunnyside have had to resort to the cistern supply and that is running low. The Baldwin Home and places lower down have a supply from the lower ditch which so far remains available.

The Civic Convention program will devote Tuesday, September 18, to the subject of food conservation. J. J. Walsh, of Kahului, has been assigned the problem of the marketing and sale of farm products of the Territory at a reasonable price, and Harold Rice of Makawao will talk on the growing and curing of hay.

The last consignment of Eastern sugar, for some time, from Kahului was taken on board the Texan the end of last week amounting to 1641 tons. Her total cargo is 15,500 tons, which consists of 5657 tons from Hilo, and 6200 from Oahu. The Texan left Kahului last Monday night for Hilo, and will then proceed to the Coast. It is rumored that the Texan will not be on the local run following this trip.

Henry Mossman, formerly of Maui, but recently a resident of Washington, is now a member of the Aviation Corps as corporal of the Tenth Aero Squadron at Rantoul, Illinois. In a communication, to his parents, he mentions having been sent to New Orleans, says the Advertiser, and was then ordered back to join his squadron which was preparing to depart for New York thence to service in France.

A grass fire of mysterious origin, on the homesteads of Mrs. E. A. Turner and W. I. Wells, was the occasion for a general alarm, and all the men of the neighborhood worked briskly from six P. M. to half past eight before the last blaze was extinguished. The fire seemed to have started at least three different points and owing to the extremely dry condition of the land spread rapidly. About six acres of gulch land, was burned over but the fire was luckily stopped before it reached any planted areas.

New Church Is Now Open For Service

an edifice that we assemble ourselves together this morning. This building was erected to perpetuate the memory of a man who did justly, loved mercy, and walked humbly with his God. About him we can say as was said of a man in the old Testament, "The Lord shall count when he writeth up his people, that this man was born in Zion." It is altogether fitting that a memorial to Mr. Baldwin should take the shape of a House of Worship. This building is an expression of devotion. It is a hymn and prayer in wood and stone. It is a religious service in itself. A house of worship such as this makes it known to all who see it, that God has a people in this place, that Christ has a church. The mission of the modern church is to perpetuate the ministry of the Master on earth."

The speaker also emphasized such lessons to be learned, as consecration to service; and fit equipment for service, comprising such divine attributes as sympathetic insight, and compassion, these being emotions which became transmuted into actions, in Christ's life.

The music was an especially fine feature of the service. Mrs. G. K. Tackabury rendered with rare effectiveness, a contralto solo, "Rock Of Ages," and H. W. Baldwin with Mrs. L. C. Jones were never heard to better advantage, than in the duet "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah". The chorus choir of over forty well-blended voices, sang under the direction of H. Washburn Baldwin, two splendid selections, Gounod's "Sanctus" and Faurer's "Gloria in Excelsis" from the Mass in B-Flat. Maui is to be especially congratulated on the acquisition of an organ such as was dedicated on Sunday. With a tone of wonderful dignity and yet sweet and sympathetic, religious interpretations given on it will acquire new depth and meaning. Miss Mary Hoffman presided at this instrument during the program.

Next Sunday, September 9th will mark the second of the two dedication services for the Memorial Church at Paia. This service will be participated in by old friends and associates of the late Mr. Baldwin, and will especially commemorate the installation of the Baptismal Font of the church.

Addresses will be given by Mr. William H. Rice, of Lihue, Kauai; Rev. Stephen L. Desha, of Hilo; Rev. J. Fukuda, of Paia; Rev. David White, of Lahaina; Rev. John P. Erdman and Rev. Frank Scudder, both of Honolulu.

Five choral numbers will be heard, two of which will be rendered by the Molokai choir, the West Maui Choir and the Paia Choir also giving numbers, while the Makawao Union Choir will sing the anthem "My Faith Looks Up To Thee".
