TO END THE WAR

Commission at Manila Meeting With Some Success.

THE POSITION OF AGUINALDO

Says He Is Fighting for the Honor of the Army—Plan of Government for the Islands Set Out.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Aguinaldo is ready to surrender, and the white flag may be raised by the insurgent army as soon as a message can be carried to him from Manila. President Schurman, of the Philippines commission, cabled the President today information which indicated the readiness of the insurgent leader to surrender and recognize the authority of the United States. The President has sent the instructions desired. It is believed here the insurrection is at an end, and there will be no further resistance to the American army.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Aguinaldo's representatives to the American-Philippine Commission have formally admitted the sovereignty of the United States over the Philippine archipelago. From a member of the Cabinet it was learned tonight that this admission was made to President Schurman at the conference held by him with Aguinaldo and Lieut. Bernal several days ago. It was in reply to a direct question put to them by Mr. Schurman, and the character of the answer was no doubt as gratifying to the Commission as it was to President McKinley. As the result of a dispatch sent by Mr. Schurman today, it is the confident expectation of the President that the end of the rebellion is close at hand. This result will not be obtained, however, without concessions which have been recommended by the Commission, and which, by the direction of the President, will be granted.

These concessions contemplate giving to the Filipinos a form of government modeled after that of the United States. The member of the Cabinet who gave the above information said that the Commission had unanimously adopted the recommendation which was submitted to the President in Mr. Schurman's dispatch, providing three departments for the new government of the archipelago—executive, legislative and judicial. The executive department, as recommended by the Commission, is to consist of a Governor-General, who shall have absolute veto power over any acts of the Legislature, and his Cabinet, formed of leaders among the Filipinos and Americans. The legislative department will be organized as the result of granting suffrage to the Filipinos having proper qualifications. The President will be empowered to appoint members of the judiciary, just as he will be empowered to appoint the Governor-General.

What the Cabinet officer regarded as the best feature of the whole affair was the acceptance of the Commission's proposition by the Filipino envoys. Furthermore, it was learned that before the submission of this proposition to them they had asserted that they did not represent General Luna, but that they represented Aguinaldo.

It is believed that the presentation of the Commission's proposition was in compliance with the request of the Filipinos, who desired to know what the glittering promises made by the United States really mean. The first proposition made by the natives to the Commission was that already reported for the adoption of an armistice, during which the Filipinos proposed to call together their Congress, and through that body arrange for peace. The proposition was refused without consideration.

It was then admitted, the Cabinet officer said, that the Filipino army was too weak to stand against the American force, which was greatly its superior. Aguinaldo, they declared, is not fighting for the independence of the country so much as he is fighting for the honor of the army, and the Filipino envoys thought it humiliating that they should be compelled to lay down their arms without first understanding what the United States proposed to do with them. If the United States persisted in overriding the Filipinos by force, Col. Arguella declared that the latter would retreat to the mountains and would continue for years a guerilla warfare, which would be to the great injury of the United States.

It has been impressed upon the Commission that before the Filipinos are granted peace they must lay down their arms. When they have taken this action and returned to their homes a form of government recommended shall be placed in operation. The Commission will no doubt make plain to Col. Arguella and Lieut. Bernal that the President cannot guarantee that the form of government recommended shall be continued, but the promise will be made that the recommendation of a government of this character will be made to Congress, and everything possible will be done to secure its adoption. This, in the opinion of the administration officials, should satisfy the Filipinos and bring peace, which the administration, as well as the Filipinos are so anxious to secure.

ELIHU THOMSON.

Tug Sent to Search for the Disabled Steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The tug Relief was sent out yesterday afternoon to search for the Elihu Thomson. The tug of Peking is due today, and it is possible that she may pick up the Thomson, as she broke down right in the track of ocean steamers, and if there is any wind at all Captain Whitney will keep his vessel as nearly as possible within signaling distance of passing steamers.

Captain Whitney is well known in San Francisco. He was formerly commander of the Centennial. His passenger, S. Fulmer, yesterday expressed his high appreciation of Captain Whitney's actions after the accident, and said that he stands willing at any time to cross the continent at his own expense to testify to the circumstances of the breakdown and Whitney's subsequent conduct.

The Thomson's cargo consists of 11,800 bags of sugar. She is owned by the Saginaw Steel Steamship Company and is one of the vessels that came around from the Atlantic more than a year ago to participate in the Alaska travel.

Travelers in Town.

Among the notable travelers in town today are:

Aboard S. S. America Maru—J. M. Johnson, a special agent of the postal department of the United States, en route to the Orient; Mrs. M. Kingdon, the mother-in-law of George Gould; Dr. S. Genthe, journalist; Consul-General and Mrs. R. A. Moseby, en route to Singapore. Mr. Moseby is son of the famous Gen. Moseby. R. H. Little, Chicago Tribune, en route to Manila.

Aboard S. S. Gaelic—Lord and Lady Chichester, C. F. Gardner, British Consul at Amoy; Sir James Poole of the White Star steamship line; Count von Spree, aide to Prince Henry.

Band Engagements.

The band will not play this afternoon at Emma Square, but will play immediately after the Sunday school review, at the pavilion in the Executive Building grounds. The usual concert will be given tomorrow afternoon at Makee Island. Probably the band will not play on Monday evening at Emma Square as it will take part in the charity performance at Punahou grounds. Tuesday the band will play the Australia off. Wednesday and Friday there will be moonlight concerts at Thomas Square.

AT KERR'S.

Economy in these times is the watchword of success and those prudent mothers and housewives are going to Kerr's for table linen, sheetings and the like, that they may need while they send their daughters to get one or two of those beautiful shirtwaists that are being sold at half the value and former price, which even then was cheap.

E. J. Perrine, at one time in the customs service here and now with the American troops in the Philippines, has been quite ill in the hospital at Manila for some time.

NOT IN A TRUST

Andrew Carnegie Retires From Business.

NEW METHODS REPULSIVE TO HIM

Is Against the Great Combinations. Fears Social Revolution—Political Attitude.

PITTSBURGH, May 5.—Andrew Carnegie's retirement from the steel business has aroused considerable interest here in his old home, but to many his decision has caused no surprise. Carnegie viewed with uneasiness the gradual incorporation of the various iron and steel industries into trusts, and anticipated the time when his company, in self-defense, must follow in the same line.

Mr. Carnegie believes that trusts will yet lead to a political revolution, and he is said not to like them. The nearest approach to one he was ever in, the famous steel rail pool, was only a temporary agreement as to prices between business competitors. Several weeks ago Carnegie referred somewhat sarcastically to the modern industrial combination, "with its trappings of preferred and common stocks and bonds," and said he preferred the "old-fashioned" way of selling iron and steel.

It is well known that the famous ironmaster is an anti-imperialist, and thinks the coming Presidential campaign will be fought with the anti-trust and the anti-expansion people on the same side. As chief stockholder in the Carnegie Company, and that company a member of the trust monster, he would occupy an illogical position in the anti-trust and anti-expansion party. By selling out his interest he will be able to devote his time, attention and money to his endeavor to bring about the success of the anti-expansion propaganda.

To the suggestion that the hatred entertained toward him by union labor may cause his advocacy of any public question to be of doubtful utility to the cause, his friends reply that it was not Carnegie, but H. C. Frick, who conducted the Homestead strike, that his approval of Frick's course was only a demonstration of loyalty to a business partner, and that he considers himself really a good friend of labor.

Carnegie could not associate with any party believing in free silver at 16 to 1, but he has confidence in himself and expects to be able to eliminate that troublesome question from the next campaign.

Indeed, the theory is advanced that the decision to retire from the trust-threatened business field may have been born at the famous conference which he and W. J. Bryan held in New York last winter.

ORDERED TO BLUEFIELDS.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A special to the Sun from Washington says: The converted gunboat Vixen has been ordered from Norfolk to Bluefields, Nicaragua, to assist the Detroit in the protection of American interests. Orders have been issued also for the converted gunboat Viking to be fitted for service along the eastern coast of Central America. She will be used in making frequent visits to ports in Nicaragua and Honduras, where Americans are being subjected constantly to petty persecutions.

DEWEY TO TAKE SUEZ ROUTE.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—It is again reported that Admiral Dewey will shortly return to the United States. His departure from Manila will depend upon peace there. When he does return it will be in the cruiser Olympia, and his route will be by the Suez canal.

BLANCHE BATES.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—T. Daniel Frawley informed a Call representative tonight that Blanche Bates will play a starring engagement with the Frawley company, commencing May 29.

SPAIN'S MINISTER.

MADRID, May 5.—The Duke d'Arcos, the appointed Minister to the United States, started today upon his journey to his new post at Washington by way of Paris.

LATEST FROM KAUTZ.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Navy Department has been supplied by the cable companies with the following corrected statement of Admiral Kautz's cablegram of yesterday:

AUCKLAND, May 4.—Sub-date, April 27.—Secretary of the Navy, Washington: All quiet at Apia. Mataafa and his chiefs in their letter of April 25th agreed to keep outside lines prescribed by British senior officer present, and myself and to observe peace until arrival of the commission. Think there will not be more fighting.

BRITISH PACIFIC CABLE.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 5.—The Government of British Columbia, through Finance Minister Cotton, yesterday telegraphed to Sir Wilfred Laurier, Premier of Canada, offering to contribute $1,000,000 toward the laying of an all-British cable from Victoria to New Zealand and Australia. The colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland and New Zealand agreed sometime ago to contribute $1,000,000 each, and the Dominion of Canada offered to bear half the additional cost, viz., $2,500,000, provided the imperial Government contributed a like amount. The offer of British Columbia leaves but $2,000,000 each for Canada and Great Britain to pay, the whole cost being estimated at $9,000,000.

YANKEE LOCOMOTIVES.

LONDON, May 5.—The Great Central Railway Company has ordered twenty freight engines at the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia.

MORE TRAINING SHIPS.

NEW YORK, May 4.—A Washington special to the Herald says: Rear Admiral Crowninshield has obtained the approval of the Navy Department to his recommendation to assign three more vessels to the training service—the Mohican, Hartford and Monongahela. The Monongahela will assume her new duty as soon as she has completed her summer cruise with the cadets. The Mohican and Hartford will be stationed on the Pacific coast.

IDAHO'S INSURRECTION.

WARDNER, Idaho, May 5.—Ten companies of United States troops, numbering between 500 and 600 men, are now stationed in Shoshone county, guarding mining and other property. Three companies are held at Wardner to guard prisoners arrested for alleged participation in Saturday's riot and the other seven companies are stationed at Mullan, Gem and Burke for the purpose of guarding all passes out of the district and preventing the escape of those suspected of rioting. Gen. Merriam went to Burke this afternoon on a special train to look over the situation and to locate the camps in the most advantageous positions.

AMERICANS ALWAYS VICTORS

Gallant Charges Made By the Volunteers—Rushes on Trenches—Killed and Wounded.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A cable to the Sun, dated Manila, May 5, 8:55 p. m., says: The charges made yesterday by the Kansas Regiment north of San Tomas were most gallantly executed under the personal leadership of Gen. Wheaton and his staff and Col. (Brigadier General) Funston. The Kansans were full of fight and they drove the enemy almost to San Fernando. Our troops were then recalled to San Tomas for the night to wait the arrival of the wagon train, which had been delayed by the destruction of bridges by the rebels.

This morning Gen. Hale, with two battalions of the Fifty-first Iowa Regiment and a Hotchkiss gun advanced on San Fernando, his men flanking the town on the right. The Americans were compelled to wade across two shallow streams to reach the town. When they approached San Fernando they found that the main body of the enemy had deserted that place yesterday, fleeing northward. Only a small garrison was left to make a defense. When our troops were in the middle of the second stream, which they had to cross, the Filipinos opened a brisk fire on them. If they thought to hold the Americans in check they were woefully disappointed, for the Iowans, with cheers and shouts, scrambled up the bank of the river and then matters became lively for the Filipinos. Without a moment's hesitation the Americans rushed the position held by the enemy and drove them out. Then they chased them through the town and a mile beyond. It was simply a foot race, in which the lightly equipped natives had the advantage, unless they were halted by the bullets, as many of them were.

When our troops returned to town they found that the church, convent, railroad station and several other buildings had been burned by the Filipinos yesterday and this morning. The town was strongly fortified, and if the rebels had not lost heart they could have inflicted severe losses on our forces before the place was captured. South of town there was a double line of loopholed, zigzag trenches, the construction of which showed good military knowledge. These trenches could easily have been held for a long time against a superior force if the defenders had been willing to fight. The fact that they were abandoned by the main body of insurgents is proof of the demoralization in the Filipino army. There were also several old Spanish blockhouses which could have been utilized for defense, but they were put to no use.

A Spanish prisoner, who was formerly a provincial officer, was left behind when the enemy retreated. He stated that Gen. Antonio Luna, the rebel commander, was wounded in the chest during yesterday's fighting in front of San Tomas. He added that the Filipino troops were completely demoralized and had retreated in great disorder.

Later in the day Gen. MacArthur moved the remainder of his division to San Fernando. The greater part of the residence portion of the town is intact. Many of the inhabitants who fled before or with the troops left all their household goods behind them.

The American casualties yesterday were: Killed—Twenty-two Kansas, Lieut. McTaggart and one private; First Montana, one private; First Nebraska, two privates.

Wounded—Twenty-two Kansas, thirteen men, including two officers, Gen. Funston, hand, right; First Montana, three, including one officer; Fifty-first Iowa, three; First Nebraska, five; First South Dakota, one.

Gen. Lawton is now at Maasin, five miles from San Miguel. He captured at Balinag a number of storehouses, which, it is estimated, contain a supply of rice sufficient to last the entire army six months.

Gen. Lawton has established his headquarters at Balinag. He has sent Col. Summers, with two battalions each of the Oregon and Minnesota regiments, beyond Maasin, to capture large stores which the enemy is reported to have near San Ildefonso.

The Filipino prisoners say that there are many Spaniards at San Isidro and that the main body of native refugees is traveling toward the mountains. The campaign appears to be entering the vicinity of San Isidro. The destruction of bridges by the insurgents necessitates the abandonment of plans to run the railroad trains beyond Calumpit, and wagon trains have been substituted.

The monitor Monadnock bombarded the town of Parangue this morning. Lawton reports capture of over 150,000 bushels of rice and 265 tons of sugar at Balinag. Value of subsistence captured at Malolos, $1,500,000. Capture of rice and corn belonging to enemy at other points.

The Advertiser has received copies of the Havana Daily Advertiser, established October 30, 1898. It is Havana's first American newspaper and the first and only English daily published in Cuba. George Eugene Bryson is the editor.

John Ena Will Not Live in Mexico Permanently.

Interests Are Centralized in Hawaii—The Sugar Boom—Colony. Native Sentiment.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—John Ena, a wealthy resident of Honolulu and vice-president of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company of Hawaii, arrived on the Moana with his family and has engaged apartments at the California.

Mr. Ena denied the published reports that he was leaving the Islands with the intention of locating permanently in Mexico.

"It is true," said Mr. Ena, in an interview, "that I am going to Mexico with my family, but only with the desire of benefiting our health. I will remain several months on the peninsula, or what is called Old Mexico, and if the climate does not agree with us we will go somewhere else."

"Incidentally I may make some investments in mining lands or other interest-paying properties. We will assuredly return to Honolulu, as my holdings are centered there, and I would not care to jeopardize them by leaving."

"Everything is booming now at the Islands, especially sugar stocks. We will have the largest crop of sugar this year we ever had. I cannot say as much for coffee, which is a failure, at least on the Hilo side. The coffee planters have sold their lands to a syndicate, which will start sugar to growing on them."

"The natives in Hawaii are anxious for a territorial form of government. Nobody wants the country to be a colony. When the latter question was mooted it met with the strongest opposition. The native population is now practically acquiescent on the annexation proposition, but is extremely desirous that the policy of the United States be to establish a territorial form of government in Hawaii."

Doctor Hints on a Weapon of the Riot.

Testimony of Several Witnesses—
One Jap Identified—Jurors
Not Suffering.

The first witness put on yesterday in the Kahuku Japanese case was a Chinaman. He testified in regard to the opening of the assault, and identified one of the Japs as the one who attacked one of the Chinamen who died from the wounds received.

Edward Worthington, head luna at Kahuku, was the next witness called. He did not see the beginning of the trouble. When he heard that the riot was in progress he immediately rode to the scene. He then directed his efforts to stopping the trouble. He was unable to identify any of the Japs.

Dr. Hubert Wood testified in regard to the wounds received by the Chinese. Death was caused in one instance from the effects of a fracture of the skull, the wound having been made with some heavy instrument, probably a hammer.

J. W. Stone, another of the plantation lunas, gave testimony similar to that of Worthington. He did not see the beginning of the riot, but had done all he could to quell it after he arrived.

George Kamaka, one of the police officers of that district, told of his efforts in suppressing the trouble. He was the first policeman to arrive on the scene. When he got there the first assault had already been made.

The prosecution will probably finish putting on their witnesses this afternoon. The defense will begin Monday.

The jury seems to be getting more enjoyment out of the case than any one else. Only when they find that in cutting out of the papers everything connected with the trial some other readable article has been shorn of its meaning, do they begin to bewail their lot. They have obtained glimpses of the show bills while going to and returning from the courtroom and are now talking of hiring a box on the opening night. That is, of course, if the powers that be permit.

"In His Steps."

The title of Sheldon's remarkable story "In His Steps" is the title announced for the sermon to be given in Central Union by Rev. Wm. M. Kincaid tomorrow forenoon. Mr. Sheldon is a clergyman in Kansas. His book has had an enormous circulation in the States and it is said that the edition of a million for England has been exhausted. One of the chief characters in "In His Steps" inquires most impressively and directly: "What Would Christ Do?" This is the ring of the book. Any number of people have been reading "In His Steps" during the past fortnight. Attention was first called to the work here by Dan H. Case, a personal friend of the author. Mr. Sheldon read the work to his own congregation before its publication, giving them a chapter each Sabbath evening. Next the story was published as a serial in the Advance, of Chicago.

FROM HILOVILLE, KONAIVILLE, HAWITON AND QUINCEEN HAWAII.

KONAIVILLE—I am a clergyman, officiating in two parishes 10 miles apart. Your Sterling bicycle is a great blessing to me. I find my ideas much clearer to my hand after pedaling between meetings. I can make the 10 miles faster than any horse on the island, including John Smith's roan mare Speckles. I am informed that you do the best repairing on bicycles in Honolulu. Do you repair baptismal suits? Yours truly, Rev. Enoch Crabtree.

HILOVILLE—Will the tires on your Sterling bicycle pick up tax? If so, I prefer to walk, as I am taxed too high to go. Yours, etc., Wm. R. Taxable.

HAWITON—Are the Palmer tires on the Sterling bicycle inflated with compound oxygen, or what? I rode them one day last week and was very much intoxicated. Yours, truly, Hiram Wheeler.

QUINCEEN HAWII—I always thought that a pneumatic meant a person subject to pneumonia until I rode your Sterling bicycle. I now see my error. It is my liver that bothers me most and I find that a speedy wheel lively tired and a tired liver are synonymous. Yours truly, Marcus Liverworth.

Testimonials, judiciously used, are by some people considered the best form of advertisement. The Pacific Cycle & Mfg. Co., in the Ehler Block, on Fort street, receive testimonials every day; The above are a few old stand bys.

W. N. ARMSTRONG - EDITOR

SATURDAY : : : MAY 13.

IS IT TREASON?

Mr. Atkinson of Boston is unwise and unpatriotic in the opinion of many, in sending papers and pamphlets to the officers of the army in Manila in order to convince them that the Philippine war ought not to be prosecuted. The dispatches state that the administration feels badly about it, and would like to muzzle Mr. Atkinson. Even if it is admitted that he is unwise, and impolitic, he is simply using his legal and constitutional right of free speech, and only the proclamation of Martial law will authorize the Government to disturb him.

"Treason," says the Constitution, "consists only in levying war against them (the United States) or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort." The statutes also provide for the punishment of offenders. But the aid and comfort must be expressed in an "overt" act. The dog may bark, but must not bite. You may talk about sending guns and powder to the enemy, but there is no treason in it, unless you attempt to deliver guns and powder to the enemy. The palladium of liberty in America is the right to perpetually wag the tongue. It is the theory that political nonsense, like a bad smell in the open air, will soon dissipate itself, and the more you try to confine it, the longer it will last and more offensive it will be.

During the Civil war, Secretary Stanton made some shocking blunders in trying to curb the right of free speech.

When Gen. McClellan was the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1864, and during the Civil war, with Lincoln as the opposing candidate for re-election, the policy of the Democratic party was in opposition to the prosecution of the war. The Democratic journals and orators did then just what Mr. Atkinson is charged with doing now. They sent large quantities of red-hot reading material to the men of the army camped on the battlefields, with the intention of securing their votes against Lincoln's policy. As the soldiers had the right as citizens to vote, they also had the right to read and hear. Lincoln's majority was only 407,342 votes.

Not the least attempt was made by the administration to stop the circulation of what was called "treasonable matter" simply because it could not be done legally. Of course, there was the usual crowd of earnest patriots and partisan journals that wanted all "copperheads" to be put in irons and chained to the floors of deep dungeons, and the "copperheads" were extremely irritating to the loyal men.

But it is the glory of Anglo-Saxon political life that when the real test of their principles is made, there is always a "saving majority" who keep the ship of state on an even keel, and hold down the excited crowd that madly rushes from one side of the deck to the other, so that at times the taffrail dips the water, or rushes at the helmsman and tries to get the tiller out of his hands. These people really belong to the South American republics, where free speech is held to be rather a dangerous article, and must be kept under lock and key by the Government.

Mr. Atkinson can do no harm to the cause of expansion even if he sends carloads of opposition literature to the officers and soldiers in Manila. We have no place in our political system, like that of Russia, where the good political papa cuts out of the newspapers, before handing them to the children, all literature "calculated" to make the children feel uneasy and become discontented. If the American soldier has not sense enough to answer Mr. Atkinson's arguments, he belongs to Aguinaldo's forces and ought to have no place in the American lines.

THE IDAHO STRIKE.

The strike and the destruction of property in Idaho is another illustration of the effect of the uneven development of a community. In the desire to obtain sudden and great wealth, all the conditions for securing social safety are neglected. Mines are opened and a crowd of roughs and irresponsible miners are invited to work them. These men are without families or social ties, as a rule. No effort is made to create well-ordered communities of families, so as to have law-abiding people. Although many of the mines are profitable, the owners, who are generally absentees, prefer to use the earnings for their personal advantage instead of spending a part of them in building up civilized communities. The result is the tyranny of the unions, and the slavery of the owners. The despotism of the miners is as vigorous and cruel as that of the Turkish officials. While the flag floats over the property, and all join in singing "Sweet land of liberty," the unions treat life and property with indifference. No man dare testify against these lawless men. The foul murder, last year, in Idaho, of one Hawaiian born, by a large gang of "union" cutthroats who were American citizens, has not been avenged. The law is trampled upon.

This is only a temporary condition of things. There will be, without any doubt, an evolution into a better state. But is it really necessary that there should be such despotism and even martyrdom? Or, shall we be philosophers and regard outrages as only aspects of our national growth, just as we regarded the murder of the settlers in early days, by the Indians, as one of the stages of evolution.

The experience of the majority of mining towns shows the danger of carrying on industrial work by men without homes, of men who can, and will, commit crime and get away, without much risk of punishment. Public opinion is made in the mining towns by the miners, and public opinion made by a floating population is neither wise nor safe.

SHALL WE ELECT?

Some people in town ask the question and it is also asked by the Coon-Cat Avalanche: "Why should the September elections in Hawaii be allowed to take place?" The reason for asking the question is, that it is assumed that any legislature elected will be abolished by the organic law which will be passed for the government of this territory.

If those who ask the question would read the annexation act, they would see that it clearly provides for the enforcement of our municipal laws until Congress directs otherwise. These municipal laws require an election of members of the Legislature in September. Neither the Government here, or the Executive in Washington can alter or nullify a law of Congress, however useless or absurd that law may be.

The administration, in the matter of regulating immigration, has briefly and most pointedly informed President Dole that, until Congress acts, the Hawaiian municipal laws must be enforced.

The election of the Legislature at the present time would seem to involve an unnecessary expense. But the probabilities are that it will be in session before Congress enacts any organic law. That event, owing to the general debate on colonial and territorial matters, may not happen until late in the session.

Marquesville Church.

Tomorrow, May 14th, Rev. Father Clement of the Catholic Mission will celebrate mass in the Catholic Church of Marquesville (Punahou) at 10:30 a. m. The collection during the service will be for the needs of the church. The congregation will consider the two great wants of that new church—a bell to call the faithful to church and an organ to accompany the choir. The estimated cost of both bell and organ is less than $120. Committees are urged to go around to try to get that sum of money. All the faithful and friends are invited to contribute.

Drink
PURE WATER.

If the advice given in those three words is heeded, good health will follow. City water is not good for many reasons, principally, because it is contaminated with vegetable and putrid matter of all descriptions. A simple analysis shows this to be a fact.

EXERCISE

Our doctors are busy treating patients who are suffering from complaints, more especially malarial disorders, which will be materially benefited if they drink a water that is pure and possesses curative features, as does Bartlett Spring Water.

DUE

Ask your family physician about the water, and if he is honest he will endorse its use.

All who have drank the water speak in the highest of terms for it. This climate demands the use of such a water and you cannot afford to be without it.

VIGILANCE.

We will serve free of charge a glass of this wonderful natural Spring water at our Soda Counter to all who care to come and test its virtues. We deliver the water to your home in case lots at $6.50 for 50 pints, $9.50 for 50 quarts.

WOMAN'S WORK FOR WOMAN.

A THOUGHTFUL PAPER.

It holds true and always will hold true, that a woman best knows a woman's needs, and if woman is to be helped in the way most needful to her it must be, either directly or indirectly, through the instrumentality of woman.

The more frequent my contact with women of foreign races, the more intimate my intercourse with them, the more firmly do I believe that "we have all of us one human heart." Woman should be dear to woman regardless of color or condition.

I believe it will be universally conceded that the most efficient work done for woman in the lower walks of life has been through the personal influence of noble, consecrated women, women who give not only of their money and time but themselves, their real lives, and the more Christ-like these lives the more of Christ do they give to others.

There are few of us who believe with Jacotot that one may teach successfully a subject of which he himself is ignorant. Would one woman teach love, faith, truth, goodness in a word, Christ—to another woman, it is essential that she herself should know Christ or words avail little.

From Phillips Brooks we get a valuable suggestion for the test of a woman's life—and what a beautiful work for woman, even though it required a whole lifetime, it only she could bring one other woman's life to stand this test: "Can you say to your sister 'I wish you were like me?' Can you take your purpose and standards of living and quietly, deliberately, wish for all those who are dearest to you that they should be their purposes and standards too?" He adds, "Be nothing which you would not wish all the world to be—and yet mean to be something with all your might—and be sure that ambition and charity will both grow mean unless they are both inspired and exalted by religion." God hath implanted in every heart energy, love, faith, the three elements which we are told make up the perfect woman, God hath planted, but woman may be called upon to resuscitate, to nourish, to direct. The soul's awakening is the greatest event of life and worthy of any sacrifice.

Missionary journals contain many interesting and often wonderful accounts of these awakenings of the soul and the bringing to activity of latent powers through the influence of holy men and women. Much has been said in public meetings and through the press of the heroic efforts of women both in home and foreign fields. Of the accounts of the work in North America among the Indians and Negroes, in South America, Africa, India, Persia, Japan, China, the Islands of the South Pacific, each has its own peculiar interest for us.

In this city we frequently are favored with the great privilege of hearing missionaries from far away countries recount their own experiences.

Woman's work for woman is a boundless subject. It means all manner of work by all manner of women for all manner of women. It is evident that justice cannot be done such a subject in the space of a few minutes, especially by one whose field of observation and experience has been decidedly limited.

It is apparent to all that there are racial characteristics which cannot be overlooked in the solution of this great problem, yet, in the main, women do not differ so widely in nature as we are often led to believe.

There are vast fields for work even on this small island. Demands for money, laborers, courage and patience are large. Responses are encouraging but not adequate.

In this cosmopolitan land the different nationalities each draw to themselves their own particular devotees, large hearted men and women where only motive is to help those less fortunate, to point out to them the ideal life which, in the light of superior educational advantages has been revealed to themselves, and, having pointed it out to seek to make it to them a tangible thing, to keep it in their sight so beautiful, so possible, so necessary that they must perform strive for it and lead others to strive.

Everywhere the character of a nation depends upon the character of its individuals and in this land where so much of evil is said to lurk the lives of the girls and women should concern us deeply.

The question of labor for women in these islands is so widely different from that in America or England that it is difficult for recent arrivals from those countries to know just how to confront it. There, with few exceptions, the domestic servants are women, here, with few exceptions, men.

In this city native girls rarely appear seeking positions, yet the problem of their employment should appeal to us none the less strongly. We have great reason frequently to be troubled over their moral condition as a result of their non-employment at some honest work in some wholesome atmosphere.

It is an old time thought, but it comes again and again, that where common seamstresses and servants for ordinary domestic work are required, woman should be given the precedence over the man, especially in those homes where the mistress expresses a deep concern for the welfare of all woman-kind. In obscure corners of the city may be seen cards of poor women calling for sewing or washing, but we pass them by and seek a Chinaman to make the common garments and launder our articles.

I believe that in this country the welfare of Hawaiian women should be especially sought. Hawaii is their homeland and the only place where they have for special consideration.

It cannot be denied that the majority of Hawaiian homes lack the spirit of industry but under direction and with proper incentives the average Hawaiian is a willing and systematic worker.

It is not my wish to thrust into prominence the school in which I serve, but I speak from a field of my experience; I speak from this particular field because I am more deeply interested in it than I have ever been in any other.

In no schools is there found a more cheerful, industrious spirit than in those composed of Hawaiian girls. The exertion required on the part of the instructors is more often to prevent the overtaxing of strength by an undue proportion of physical or mental work rather than to correct indolence or unwieldiness.

The boarding schools for native girls, with their crowded hours and full curriculum, do not profess to send out each year a class of accomplished scholars, finished seamstresses, expert waiters, and housekeepers models in every particular, but they do profess to give much needed help along these lines, and were the girls given a fair trial by those who are deeply interested in woman's work for woman, it is certain that as great measure of satisfaction would be given as by the newly arrived Japanese and Chinese who do not even understand the English word "tea" and who require the hostess to convert herself into a contortionist before he is enabled to comprehend the simplest duty of a waiter.

Hawaiian girls have been tried in different homes at different times. After a trial of a day or two in one home the girl is dismissed with no recommendation to carry her farther except that "she is too slow." In another home a girl whose experience has been very limited appears offended at being called upon to do a certain piece of work which she deems beneath her dignity. Here, perhaps, is an opportunity for the much needed counsel and even reproof, but a sharp retort and swift dismissal is the chosen course. Again, in a third home, a girl is called to assist for a few days, but, during the first day her blunders are too frequent, her amiability under censure too exasperating, and at night she is told that her services are not needed on the morrow.

The mistress of the home feels that she is giving too much thought to the woman in her employ and not enough to the study of the Social Reform Movement and the planning of Socials to Save, so advertise for a skilled Japanese servant and sends the girl back into the narrow by-street to a home, upstairs in a little room among the crowded Chinese tenants, not to become skilled in sewing, or tidying, or keeping and so prepare herself for future usefulness, but to a life which, though undesirable, it is easier to sink into than rise above.

I am well aware that each private home cannot be converted into a real training school for servants, but I am also well aware that in many homes where Hawaiian women are most severely criticized for incompetence, Japanese and Chinese servants decidedly inferior in command of English, in address, in natural aptitude, and in character, are borne with to a point far beyond where forbearance ceases to be a virtue.

It is true that when we hire our domestic work done we wish it done well, and with the least expenditure of thought and patience on our own part, but, realizing that a woman's ability to serve well in a good home is often her salvation, and realizing, too, that women are not born skilled seamstresses or home-keepers, but that they become so through suggestion, dictation, persuasion, and example, what should be woman's work for woman in this case? If every woman who employs a woman whom she feels to be unsatisfactory, would add to the stipulated silver a few more practical suggestions, a little greater forbearance, a deeper interest for the woman's future welfare, a little more pity for her lack of skill in certain lines, and a little less self pity for a slight misfit or an overdone steak, if this were often woman's work for woman the world over, there would be fewer ignorant, disheartened despairing women, seeking work and finding none, fewer trembling on the line between good and evil, fewer preferring idleness and sin.

The story is not unfamiliar of the woman who, though skilled in no line of labor, was compelled to sue for work. She was admitted to a house and given the family washing. In her home were no damask table covers, snowy napkins, and delicately embroidered lunch cloths and doilies. The iron passed rapidly to and fro over these articles in a way that was positively painful to the lady who took a pardonable pride in these particular pieces and happened to observe her untrained efforts. It may be of interest to note her attitude towards the erring laundress. She stopped on her way and kindly gave a careful lesson in proper placing, stretching and folding of dainty articles with a few suggestions as to when to iron lengthwise, when on the wrong side, etc. The next week the delicate articles were again entrusted to the woman and, though the improvement was marked, a second lesson was given. It may be argued that the lady instructed her from selfish motives; be that as it may, suffice it that she voluntarily took of her own valuable time and carefully enlightening her as to the proper way of doing the task assigned her, instead of peremptorily dismissing her for incompetency and advertising for skilled labor. Long afterward, when the lady had returned from a prolonged journey she was met one day by this woman who greeted her with tears of joy and again and again poured forth her thanks for the valuable help given her in her early attempts at laundry work. She told her how, through her help, she had learned to perfect herself in the art, and how, by the satisfaction rendered, custom had increased until she had been able to live comfortably on her earnings. This is not an exceptional case, certainly, but it is an example of practical help for woman.

The establishment of sewing classes both inside and outside of the schools has been productive of so much good that there is no fear of the discontinuance of the work.

We hear much at present of college and social settlement work of the associated charities, employment of the poor women, day nurseries for the children of working women, rescue homes, industrial schools and numerous other like institutions.

It is obvious that minds and hearts have been filled with these great movements and it is well-known that definite measures have been taken for carrying out many plans along this line in our own city, and with intelligent, earnest men and women at the head, success must follow.

Many are aware of the great help received by Hawaiian women in the private prayer meetings and through the valuable talks given on the care of themselves for their children's sake as well as their own, the care of children in health and disease, moral training in the homes, etc.

It is only more women could have the benefit of these talks! Might there not be public meetings at stated intervals and word spread throughout the city that would reach the young Hawaiian wives who so much need suggestions along these lines? There are many ladies who through experience and study are well equipped to give helpful talks to others of less experience.

The social and literary club known as the Hawaiian Woman's Club has done much for the advancement of Hawaiian girls in various directions.

Club work among little girls is deserving of high commendation. It is not a growing danger, however, of the child seeking all her entertainment outside of the home? It is true that many so-called homes are unworthy the name, yet it is a much regretted fact that too many young Hawaiian girls are unacquainted with real home life. They find more and more entertainment on the street and less and less at home.

If only we could see more true homes where father, mother and children meet and really enjoy the society of each other and the entertainment provided by the home.

Whether by public lectures, personal persuasion, the example of social settlements or by some other means let one strong feature of woman's work be an attempt to encourage the establishment and preservation of individual homes and a strengthening of the sacred ties which should bind one member to another.

For many months I have been impressed by the great need of a home for the central part of the city for those Hawaiian girls who do not live in the city, but who are employed at meagre wages or are only in training for paid positions. By a home, I do not mean an industrial home nor a rescue home, but a home-like boarding and lodging place where good moral character shall be the prime requisite for admittance. It would lead to a wholesome independence on the part of the girls, and to less imposition on their generous but poor relatives who so gladly give up nothing the last of their scanty stock. Moreover, such an establishment would furnish profitable employment for a limited number of girls.

The need of such a home was especially felt during the summer school sessions. The board and lodging could be provided at merely nominal rates, the home being made partially self-supporting at least. An efficient board of managers could easily be secured, but the primary requisite would be a matron, one distinguished for good practical sense and womanly virtues, if not for the lighter accomplishments—one who shall have at heart always the best interests of the girls. An attractive social room provided with entertaining books, games, pictures, and one or more musical instruments, should be provided as a necessity rather than as a luxury. An occasional entertainment under the direction of a special committee would be a pleasant and helpful diversion for the members of the home.

Regarding the going and coming of the young women, the friends received, and the times of receiving them, only such surveillance on the part of the matron would be needed as we might expect from any wise mother over her daughters.

That such a home was once started and given up is scarcely an argument against a second attempt. If the plea be made that the number of Hawaiian girls employed in the city is too small to warrant the establishment of such a home, then we make a more earnest plea for greater effort to be made to furnish employment, whether it be sought or not, for the many poor native girls who roam the streets with no direction except such as their own immature judgments or the persuasions of baser minds dictate.

There is one objection offered by worthy ladies of Honolulu which is thought to silence all criticism regarding the non-employment of Hawaiian girls, that is the fear of contaminating the moral atmosphere surrounding the young sons and daughters of the home. It is a painful fact that there is foundation for the unfortunate experiences related by those who have had their home on the island for many years. I believe, however, that there is less cause for fear in the present day. I believe it to be rare when the modern Hawaiian girl is an instigator to real evil.

After close contact with Hawaiian girls from twelve to twenty years of age the more than four years, I can sincerely say that I believe in their beauty of character and purity of thought, I believe in their uprightness of intention to be the rule rather than the exception. I believe their power to stand in crucial tests has increased marvellously and I am devoutly thankful, I do believe this; but, I believe also in the great, almost resistless power of evil and therefore, that woman's work for woman is to do all possible to strengthen the character of the weaker woman by her side, to purify vitiated atmospheres, or to remove those in danger from the influence of its poison, and to see that minds and hearts are absorbed in wholesome work.

Incalculable good would be accomplished if only we could lead the woman, who to our minds is low in the depth of ignorance and sloth, to feel all possible to strengthen the character of the weaker woman by her side, to purify vitiated atmospheres, or to remove those in danger from the influence of its poison, and to see that minds and hearts are absorbed in wholesome work.

If woman in her eagerness to work for woman would but take the following beautiful words of Whittier and strive to make them, not only her own daily prayer, but the heart-felt prayer of another woman who had never before felt the desire, surely the effort could not be made in vain.

"If there be some weaker one,
Give me strength to help him on.
If a blinder soul there be
Let me guide him nearer Thee.
Make my mortal dreams come true
With the work I fain would do;
Clothe with life the weak intent,
Let me be the thing I meant.
Peace that dearer is than joy,
Out of self to love be led
And to heaven acclimated
Until all things sweet and good,
Seem my natural habitude."

It is difficult to close without mention of one more need for Honolulu, perhaps the greatest need of all, that is a hospital for women and children. The subject has been talked of, cannot the construction of it be hastened by those in authority? That it would furnish wholesome and needful occupation for girls may be considered a secondary consideration, yet it is not. This, too, is a necessity owing to the few avenues open to the young native women. From what I have observed many Hawaiian girls, with their accurate memories and skilful fingers are admirably adapted for positions in hospitals. They are naturally attracted to the work and with their pleasing appearance, quiet and gentle manners, they would not be uncommensal to the average patient.

I do not shrink from mentioning the fact that owing to the low moral character of many patients, and the nature of diseases treated at the Queen's Hospital it is positively unsafe for Hawaiian girls to be sent there for medical attention. Not long ago one was recalled, it being felt better to risk the physical condition, feeble as it was, than the moral.

The necessity for a hospital exclusively for chaste women and children is no longer a question.

Connected with the subject of hospitals is the thought of the patient at home. A poor convalescent sat, one day, in the little close room where she had been confined for such long, weary weeks, gazing from her narrow window into the great, beautiful, fresh, out-of-doors. She watched the private carriages rolling by, one after another, often with two, sometimes with three, vacant seats. A very little ride in the cool air would have been for her a pleasure to be remembered for many days and how she longed for it.

As she sat there, she made the resolve, poor though she was, that when she was well again she would give of her own time and money to make it possible for weary invalids, fretful children and poor over-worked women to have an occasional carriage ride, and she carried out her resolve.

Is such a work of less value than the translation of a Psalm? To the tollborn, disconsolate women who were gladdened through her efforts, the sea and sky, the valleys and mountains, the trees and flowers—all nature declared the glory of God; and the opportunity thus given to behold and enjoy these beautiful things of nature revealed more fully unto them the power of Christ's love, and led them to believe more deeply in the sisterhood of woman.

Let us not be afraid of sentiment but only of selfishness.

Mrs. Mabel Boulton of Brisbane, Queensland, has had the following unusual and most delightful experience:

"From infancy I was weak and delicate and grew to be anything but a robust child. I suffered from debility, no appetite, and the usual consequence of such complaints. But my parents hearing of the health restoring properties of procured some for me and I am happy to say that after having taken two bottles I regained health, vigor and good appetite and have not been troubled ever since. I am now married, have a family of my own, am still strong and well, and can recommend Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a good family medicine. For constipation take Dr. Ayer's Pills. A TYPICAL POET

Tennyson Representative of the Recent Era.

POET OF HIGHEST ORDER

Early Life and First Efforts—Appointment as Laureate—Rolle's Study Given.

Professor Rolle's University Extension lecture last evening was on the poet Tennyson and was heard by a large and interested audience.

The only just estimate of Tennyson's position is that which declares him to be, by common consent, the greatest poet of the recent era. Not only one of our greatest poets, but representative of the modern, Western, passion, of other partial phases of our era, but of the time itself, with its diverse elements in harmonious conjunction.

Tennyson is one of the best illustrations that our literature affords of a typical poet of the highest order: a man who lives in communion with both nature and human life, and devotes himself to the task of embodying the most perfect forms that language can assume; and who also assumes the further and quite different task of interpreting, in a beautiful and simple way that all can comprehend, the deepest thought of his contemporaries and himself upon the problems and mysteries of our existence. It is as such a poet, a revealer of the beauty of nature and life, and an interpreter of the noblest thought and aspiration of his age, that Tennyson will be studied in his lecture.

He was born in 1809, in the little Lincolnshire village of Somersby, of which his father was rector. His boyhood was a quiet and simple one, marked only by love of nature and of books. He began very early to write verses, and at the age of seventeen published in conjunction with his brother Charles a little volume of them, called "Poems by Two Brothers." Two years later he entered Cambridge. There he formed friendships that influenced his whole life. He also continued to write, producing a remarkable poem (remarkable for his age) which gained a university prize. While still at Cambridge he published another volume, this time alone (1830, at the age of 21). It contained many of the minor pieces that stand first in the present editions of the complete works. Two years later a group of poems like "Oenone" and "A Dream of Fair Women" appeared, and his reputation was established among readers of discrimination.

After leaving Cambridge Tennyson devoted nearly ten years to patient study of his art. At the beginning of this period he lost his friend, Arthur Hallam, in whose memory he afterwards wrote "In Memoriam." At the close of the period he published, as the outcome of his long silence, some thirty new poems, among them "The Two Voices," "Morte d'Arthur," "Dora," and "Locksley Hall" (1842, at the age of 33). He was now recognized as the peer of the great poets of the earlier part of the century.

There was another period of silence and then (in 1847) "The Princess" appeared. A little later, after seventeen years of slow growth, "In Memoriam" was given to the world (1850). At about the same time Tennyson married. And before the close of the year he was appointed Poet Laureate. In 1855 "Maud" was published. It was received with disfavor, in consequence of misunderstanding. A few years later four of the "Idylls of the King" appeared (1859). They attained immediate and lasting popularity. Others of the series followed, at longer or shorter intervals, until they gradually grew into a rounded epic.

At the age of sixty-six Tennyson completed his first drama, "Queen Mary" (1875). During the seventeen years that remained to him he produced six other plays, some of which were successful on the stage. These, however, were not the most important work of this last period. That is to be found rather in a certain group of less ambitious poems. He had largely refrained heretofore from dealing in his poetry with the special problems of the age, except in "The Princess."

Now he began to treat them, divesting them of whatever was temporary or accidental, and lifting them into the region of eternal truth and beauty. In doing so he made valuable contributions to the thought of his time, as well as to the world's store of pure poetry.

In 1884 Tennyson was raised to the peerage, as Baron of Aldworth and Freshwater. His death occurred in 1892. He was buried in Westminster Abbey, in the Poets' Corner.

SUBJECT FOR ESSAYS AND CLASS.

*1. Compare the two "Locksley Halls." Do you conclude from the comparison that Tennyson's convictions and his hopes for mankind changed materially between youth and old age?
2. "For more than sixty years he lived close to the present life of England, as far as he was capable of comprehending and sympathizing with its movements; and he inwove what he felt concerning it into his poetry." What were the movements, judging from your acquaintance with his writings, that Tennyson comprehended and sought to forward, and what were the problems and tendencies of the present time with which he was unable to sympathize? Designate in every case the poem or poems from which you draw your conclusions.
*3. Compare Tennyson, as regards the beauty of his verse, with any other poet whom you know well, noting especially the use of alliteration, the use of liquids, the adaptation of sound to sense, the adaptation of metre to subject, and the skill with which the art of the verse is hidden and made to seem like nature. Illustrate all statements by parallel quotations from the two writers.
4. For what do you value "In Memoriam?" Answer in detail.

pecially the use of alliteration, the use of liquids, the adaptation of sound to sense, the adaptation of metre to subject, and the skill with which the art of the verse is hidden and made to seem like nature. Illustrate all statements by parallel quotations from the two writers.

ADDITIONAL SUBJECTS FOR CLASS DISCUSSION.

1. Tennyson's conclusions concerning women's duties and privileges, as set forth in "The Princess."
2. "The one man, surely, in all the world today, who from a towering eminence which none could question affirmed the realities which to us are all in all." (See the illustrative criticism.) Is this praise of Tennyson just? How much does it mean? To what extent and in what ways does a great poet mould opinion and direct the course of thought?

3. Do the "Idylls of the King" constitute a successful epic?

READING.

The principal poems might profitably be read in the order indicated by the questions above. They should be studied long and carefully; for in the case of good poetry a single reading, not followed by other perusals, is almost a waste of time. An student is recommended to commit some of their favorite poems and passages to memory. There are two fairly good biographies of Tennyson: a smaller one by H. J. Jennings, a larger, well illustrated by Arthur Wainwright, both are based in part upon the recollections of Mrs. Tennyson (Thackeray's daughter), published in Harper's Magazine in December 1883, and later in a beautifully illustrated volume called "Idylls of Tennyson," edited by Browning. There are many studies both of Tennyson's entire work and of the more important single poems. The best example of the former is Stopford Brooke's "Tennyson: His Art and Relation to Modern Life." Among the latter one of the best is Jennings' "In Memoriam: Its Purpose and its Structure."

ILLUSTRATIVE CRITICISM.

For more than sixty years he practiced his art, and his practice of it, being original and extraordinarily careful and self-respecting, suggests and comments on almost every question that concerns the art of poetry. For more than sixty years he lived close to the present life of England, as far as he was capable of comprehending and sympathizing with its movements; and he inwove what he felt concerning it into his poetry. For many years to come that poetry—so close to modern life—will open a vast storehouse of subjects to the writers who are interested in the application of imaginative emotion to the problems and pleasures of life. Half at least of those problems and pleasures eluded Tennyson, or he did not see them. But he felt the other half all the more strongly, and he felt it for his long period of sixty years.

These years of creation were given to make a new country of the imagination, which men will visit, and in which they will wander with pleasure, while humanity endures. Every one who in the centuries to come shall spend therein his leisure will leave it and return to his daily work consoled and cheered, more wise and more loving, less weary and heavy-laden, nearer to beauty and to righteousness, more inspired and more exalted. From Stopford Brooke's "Tennyson: His Art and Relation to Modern Life." If the temperament of Byron or of Mrs. Browning may be pronounced an ideal poetic temperament, certainly the career of Tennyson is an ideal poetic career. He has been less in contact with the rude outer world than any poet save Wordsworth; again, while even the latter wrote much prose, Tennyson, consecrating his life wholly to metrical art, has been a verse-maker and nothing else. He has passed through all gradations from obscurity to laureled fame; beginning with the lightest lyrics, he has lived to write the one successful epic of the last two hundred years; and though he well might rest content, if contentment were possible to poets and men, with the glory of a far-reaching and apparently lasting renown, he still pursues his art.—From Stedman's "Victorian Poets," edition of 1876.

Wordsworth, Darwin, Tennyson,—the three greatest Englishmen of our century,—all now have passed away. Greatest I call them, not for personal faculties alone, which are hard to compare as between the many men of genius whom our age has produced, but because it seems to me that these men's faculties have achieved most in the most important directions, in the intuition, discovery, promulgation of fundamental cosmic law. . . . All men mourn the poet. But those of us who cling to the spiritual aspect of the universe have more than a great poet to mourn. We have lost our head and our chief; the one man, surely, in all the world today, who from a towering eminence which none could question affirmed the realities which to us are all in all.—From Myer's essay on "Modern Poets and Cosmic Law," in "Science and a Future Life."

Platinotype Photographs.

Mr. L. HART, F. R. M. S., lecturer at the Ballarat School of Mines, and at the Working Men's College, Melbourne writes as follows:

"The Platinotype process is decidedly the most perfect process of photographic printing, as the metal is not affected by any sulphurous fumes or compounds such as are found in the atmosphere, whereas other processes are easily attacked by them.
"The impression is indeed unalterable and were it possible to hold a platinotype print in the hand for several hundreds of years the paper would crumble and rot away, but the photographic platinotype image would remain intact."

"L. HART."

NOT A SUCCESS

Future of Submarine Boat
Rather Doubtful.

The Holland Better Than a French Specimen—Like a Balloon—The Morse Tried.

The attention of the authorities has been directed to the apparently successful trials made in France with the Gustav Zede, and it is probable that the matter of submarine boats will soon appear before the Board of Naval Construction at Washington, the annual appropriation bill permitting the construction of two submarine boats of the Holland design. The reports of a number of experts on the operation of the Holland have been received by the Department, some of which are quite favorable, but it is still contended that further advancement should be made before steps are taken to authorize an additional number of these boats.

In recent experiments with the new French submarine boat Morse some interesting and novel facts have been brought to light in connection with this type of craft. It is found that a vessel completely submerged, as is the case with the several vessels constructed for the French navy, and supported by the water, as in the case of an ordinary craft, acts pretty much as a balloon suspended in the air. Her center of gravity is below the center of buoyancy, and is practically hung up to it. A long, cigar-shaped vessel, like the Morse, is very much like a sea-saw suspended by its center. Its center of gravity was found of unexpected ease of displacement owing to the large relative weight of crew, fuel, torpedoes and other material likely to be moved, and as a result but little was necessary to make her capsize through 90 degrees in the plane of her longitudinal section. The firing of a torpedo, the loss of fuel consumed, movement of the crew, or even partially filled water tanks, would be quite sufficient to send her down by the stern or by the head, a movement which would necessarily be accelerated by the action of the propeller if it was in operation. It was found almost impossible to steer this vessel with any degree of accuracy between perpendiculars. The controlling engineer never knows for a moment when the bow of his craft is going to stick in the mud or when to expect a sudden emergence into the air. Taken altogether the future of the submerged torpedo boat is not a particularly bright one.

Some men worry because they can't meet their bills, but the majority are sad because they can't dodge them quick enough.

"When a man tries to make people believe that he knows it all," says the Philosopher, "they generally class him as the victim of a case of mistaken identity."

Hoax—"You say that Skinfint married a woman with a history." Hoax—"Yes; he found it cheaper than taking the 60 monthly installments she had talked him into subscribing for."

Nell—"Miss Passay got very excited when I told her about Cholly trying to kiss me. She said she'd just like to see anybody attempt to kiss her." Belle—"I dare say she would; she can't be particular at her age, you know."

PERFUMES.

(Philadelphia Inquirer.)
It is an interesting thing to know that 4200 species of plants are gathered and used for commercial purposes in Europe. Of these 420 have a perfume that is pleasing and enters largely into the manufacture of soaps and scents. There are more species of white flowers gathered than of any other—1124 in all. Of these 187 have an agreeable scent, in extraordinarily large proportion. Next in order come yellow blossoms, with 951, seventy-four of them being perfumed. Red flowers number 823, of which eight-four are scented. The blue flowers are of 594 varieties, thirty-four are perfumed, and the violet blossoms number 308, thirteen of which are pleasantly odoriferous.

THOUSANDS OF WHEELS

An immense cycle factory is being completed at Leeds, England, by the Yorkshire County Cycle Company, Limited, which will be one of the largest in the kingdom, says the American Exporter. The premises have a frontage of 520 feet, with a floor space of 200,000 square feet, and are situated right in the heart of the city. A siding runs from an adjacent colliery into the works, and will supply coal at a figure unheard of in cycle factories. When everything is in running order, it is expected that the works will have a capacity of 2000 complete sets of parts per week. It is worthy of note that the factory is being stocked with the latest American automatic machinery.

Another Report On Doan's Backache Kidney Pills.

If your poor back still aches, If you toss all night racked in pain, If you cannot bend over or straighten up, Depend upon it, it's your kidneys. And kidney disorder rarely leaves of its own accord.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine.

They cure kidney complaints.

This is how they furnished it with a Honolulu citizen:

Mr. A. J. Cahill, of Fort street, this city, night watchman in the employ of Messrs. T. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., says: "Whilst a young man I was a sailor and at one time worked for the inter island service. I was, however, obliged to give up sea life on account of severe suffering from my back and kidneys. For this I had tried various remedies, but the one which restored me to health was Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, procured at Hollister's drug store. They relieved me completely after years of suffering. If any one desires further particulars he may apply to me. I am to be found at van Dorn's Ship Chandlery, Fort St."

You should get the same medicine which helped Mr. Cahill. See that the full name DOAN'S BACKACHE KIDNEY PILLS is on the wrapper and refuse any imitation.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

DR. KOCH.

Professor Robert Koch, the celebrated bacteriologist who, in 1883, at the head of the German cholera commission, visited Egypt and India, and then discovered the so-called "comma" cholera bacillus, will start with an expedition soon for the tropics, to continue his investigation as to the nature and origin of malaria. The Reichstag having made a grant of five thousand dollars in aid of the undertaking. When he returned last year from a similar expedition to the German East African coast, he advanced the theory that in the case of human beings mosquitoes played the part in communicating malaria which ticks play in the cattle disease known as "Texas fever." He had reached the conclusion that where there are mosquitoes there is always malaria, and that where there are no mosquitoes there is no malaria.

A FRENCH COLONY.

Max O'Rell's book on "John Bull and His Colonies" there is an amusing sketch of the way in which the Frenchman proceeds to form a colony. First he builds the inevitable barracks, then the prison, and finally the Bureau of Statistics. Having accomplished this much, he sits down to wait for his colonists. At length they appear—English, Scotch, Irish, Germans, Danes, Norwegians, Italians—in fact, every race in Europe except French.

NEW KIND OF HERO.

A private in the Regular Army has written to Surg. Gen. Sternberg a letter saying that he desires when he dies that his body shall be given to proper persons to be used for the benefit of medical science. The soldier explained that he has taken this step because the disease of locomotor ataxia is surely approaching his heart and he feels sure that he is soon to be a dead man. Gen. Sternberg considers the writer of the letter quite a hero.

LOTS OF LIARS

Perjurers Still to Multiply in Dreyfus Case.

Evidence of the Staff Officers Shattered—Court of Cassation Is Ready to Report.

PARIS, May 3.—Slowly, but steadily the net is closing around the French general staff in the Dreyfus revision inquiry. Gen. Mercier, who was Minister of War at the time Dreyfus was condemned, on being called upon by M. de Freycinet, the present Minister of War, to produce the report regarding the secret dossier, which Lieut. Col. Du Paty de Clam testified he had destroyed it, and he called Gen. Goussier as a witness to the truth of the statement. Unfortunately for Mercier, Gen. Goussier had already testified before the Court of Cassation that, although Mercier had destroyed the original he kept a copy.

Another anti-Dreyfus argument has received its death blow. Gen. Zurlinden, Military Governor of Paris, and others, who testified before the Court of Cassation attached great importance to the closing sentence of the dossier, "I am starting for the maneuvers," as proving the guilt of Dreyfus and the innocence of Esterhazy, inasmuch as the staff probationers were only notified on August 29th that they would not be required to attend the maneuvers. It has now been proved that this notification was actually dated May 17th. Therefore, Dreyfus could not have written "I am starting for the maneuvers" in the following August.

NEW YORK, May 3.—A Sun cable from Paris says: It is stated this evening that the Court of Cassation has concluded its supplemental inquiry into the Dreyfus case, and that M. Babinet-Beaupre, president of the civil chamber of the court will be ready to report at the end of next week.

BERESFORD AND AUTOMOBILES.

LONDON, April 29.—Lord Charles Beresford came forth this week as a warm advocate of automobile cars. He attributed the congestion of the streets to the use of horses, and said: "While I was in New York I was supplied with a motor car which had the appearance of a cab and the manners of a kangaroo, but it always got me safely to my destination."

Beresford also pointed out how much Great Britain is behind the times in the use of electricity. He was amazed, he said, to see how much work was done by electricity on board American warships where the English use steam.

THE REGULARS WILL RELIEVE VOLUNTEERS.

State Troops on Luzon Are Soon to Be Replaced and Returned.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Arrangements are being made at the War Department to expedite the transportation of reinforcements to Gen. Otis as much as possible, but owing to unforeseen obstacles it has been found necessary to postpone the departure of the transport Sherman, which will be ready to sail for Manila on May 22d. The Sixth Infantry, which was to have started from San Francisco on the 5th, will not be able to get away until the Sherman is ready to sail. That regiment, as well as the Sixteenth Infantry, is in the vicinity of San Francisco, and will start across the Pacific as soon as the transports are available.

Gen. Corbin said today that no change had been made in the plans of the department regarding the sending of reinforcements to the Philippines to take the place of the volunteer troops who are to be brought home, and that so far as he knew the orders for the movement of the Nineteenth Infantry from Porto Rico to Manila, after a short stop at Camp Meade, Pennsylvania, will be carried out.

MILES TO BE SAVED.

NEW YORK, May 3.—A Journal special from Washington says: President McKinley has decided that the court of inquiry has dealt too severely with Maj. Gen. Miles, Inspector Gen. Breckinridge and Maj. John D. Black. The President objects specifically, it is stated, to features of the court's report which arraigned Gen. Miles and Gen. Breckinridge for dereliction of duty. The President can, therefore, be counted on to disapprove such recommendations of the "embalmed beef" court as reflect in any manner on the authority of Gen. Miles to make his allegations, or the time at which he saw fit to make them public, which was before the War Investigating Commission.
