THE APPEAL FOR A PLEBISCITE.

"Fee simple and simple fee and all the fees entail" seem to have convinced Paul Neumann that the situation in the Hawaiian Islands is so unsatisfactory that nothing less than a general ballot among the aborigines can settle it. Hence he proposes, in an open letter to President Dole, that the kahuna party, led as it is by adventurers whose names are inseparable from the disciplinary records of this group, be called upon to decide the future of the Islands by a plebiscite. Then, of course, if the proletariat and sans culottes should conclude to try the lottery and optum (Queen, again, in spite of the men who own seven-eighths of the wealth and have the real stake in the soil, why then we should have Paul's idea of stable government. Or, if the result should be to install Paul's old client, Claus Spreckels, as Sugar Trust dictator, so much the better. Anything which should end the present era of economy, retrenchment and reform, and re-instate old or create new abuses would seem to fill Mr. Neumann's idea of public policy.

This talk of a plebiscite by an aboriginal race, which is lapsing into paganism and is led by unscrupulous politicians, is obvious clap-trap. While our people have favored the idea of giving the natives, as a condition of their acceptance of annexation, a chance to reverse themselves and grow into the stature of American citizens, they never have proposed that the conduct of political affairs should be wholly left to aboriginal devices. Even the late native monarchy restricted aboriginal suffrage for good and sufficient cause; and what it did not dare permit would be folly for the Provisional Government to experiment with, particularly when it came to staking its own existence on the issue.

As we view it the proposal to have a plebiscite among the Hawaiians may be fairly met with the argument of England against a ballot for sovereign possession of New Zealand by the Maoris, of Egypt by the fellahs, of Northern British America by the Indians and Esquimaux and of India by the 200,000,000 natives whom 80,000 Englishmen govern by force. It has come to be a precept of civilization that the Caucasian race has a governmental and Christianizing duty to perform towards the inferior races whose ancient lands it has come to occupy. It would be a crime against progress for England, Germany, France or the United States to subject their own enlightened policies to the jurisdiction of the simple or semi-savage people over whom their flags have been raised or their predominance established. It does not matter what numerical advantage such natives may have. The only thing to consider is their capacity and progressiveness. Where these are in question plebiscites would be farcical.

In these Islands the American has established himself in power and here he will remain until the time comes to connect the country with some great Caucasian power. The Provisional Government is strong and potent enough to control the internal affairs of the group and will not surrender to any domestic faction or party. So much Mr. Neumann and his friends may as well take for granted and hereafter hold their peace. It would be as unpleasant for them as it was for certain scriptural malcontents to kick against the pricks.

THE STRONGEST POWER.

The British subjects who edit the ex-Queen's personal organ are displeased at the statistics by which it has been proved that the United States have more wealth and area than any European country, and a greater population than any except Russia. Although the organ "has not the space"—and we might say the facts and the intellect—"for an elaborate analysis and refutation of the article," it announces the general conclusion that the claim is based upon "suppression of fact, alteration of figures and deliberate mis-statement." This appears to be the most the Holomua can say in rebuttal, and the best it can do. Meanwhile, the Statist and all encyclopaedic authority sustain the precise figures of the Star and leave the United States in proud pre-eminence with their 3,129,296 square miles of territory, their 62,000,000 population, their sixty-six billion dollars of wealth, their 12,000,000 men of fighting age and their unequalled credit and material resources—the only power which has ever beaten Great Britain in war or humbled her in arbitration.

Says the British organ: "And to think that this man alleged to be English by birth could so pervert Shakespeare's lines applied to his own native country, and to-day its proudest boast: 'Come the four quarters of the world in arms, And she shall shock them.'"

And write that the United States or any other country could discover the British Empire in thirty days, forgetting the other portion of the same proud speech in Shakespeare:

"This England never did nor ever shall Lie at the proud foot of a conqueror."

"Bah! We haven't patience with such an idiotic, prevaricating, fulsome lickspittle."

It is no desire of this paper to derogate from the greatness and glory of the English race. In the light of all that Britain has done for the world, in the knowledge of her past conquests of arms and peace, of her venerable strength and dignity, and of her antique majesty in the world's affairs, cavil of that kind would be a waste of breath and a wreck of conscience. On the other hand, to say that the British Empire could not be severed in thirty days by the United States, when all the vast domain of British America lies exposed and defenseless on their frontiers, is to assume that the Washington Government would not be mindful of its opportunities in time of war. In the northern part of the western hemisphere lies more than a third of the territorial property of Victoria's realm. Such British subjects as Goldwin Smith and Erasmus Wymann believe that, to lose it, the Empire would be reduced territorially to a second-class power. Can a nation thus menaced and exposed afford to talk loftily about its invulnerability and of its indifference to the great republic? Can its subjects seriously doubt that war with the United States under such circumstances would be disastrous to their ancient and mellow claims of martial superiority?

Great England, but greater is that power which has never failed in war by land or sea and has leaped in four generations to the proudest eminence in the world's affairs! England has done much in spite of the fact that she was driven out of the Sudan where she left her bravest commander to a hideous fate, but the republic has done more, and by reason of her strength may not do less in times to come. America is a lusty and stalwart youth with the goal of opportunity beyond. Let no ancient and battered mantarms in the cuirass of the past seek to hinder his triumphant progress.

This editorial veal of the Holomua says that the Maoris of New Zealand have all of four Legislators and one Minister, and that the fellahs of Egypt control their own Parliament—hence it would be a good thing to establish the native Hawaiians on their basis. In the meantime British government, British arms and the British flag prevail in both countries, in spite of native protests to the contrary. If that sort of play-government-under-a-foreign-flag is all Liliuokalani's organ intends to ask for we fear her ex-Majesty will see fit to stop "digging up" to pay the paper's expenses. That is not her lay.

REBURIED IN GERMAN SOIL.

Bodies of Soldiers Who fell in the Franco-German War Removed From French Territory.

BERLIN, June 30, 1893.—The bodies of the officers and soldiers of the Prussian guards who fell at Stail, just over the French border, in 1870, were removed yesterday to German soil. The removal was accompanied with solemn military ceremonies. In the morning a detachment of Prussian guards and a company of infantry crossed the frontier.

They were received at Stail by several regiments of French troops drawn up in a hollow square under the command of General Jamont, chief of the Sixth French Army corps. The coffins were delivered formally to the Germans, the French and German chaplains made brief addresses and the cortege then moved to the border line, the French troops marching in the rear.

On the line General von Haeseler, commander at Metz, and his staff met General Jamont and invited him to enter German territory under the escort of a company of hussars. General Jamont rode down the German lines, saluting, and then withdrew.

The bodies were buried at the foot of a monument near Gravelotte. The firing of three volleys over the graves ended the ceremony.

All the German officers who were at Stail praise the courtesy and generosity of the French troops in rendering military honors to the dead Prussian soldiers.

School Inspector Atkinson is expected back on the W. G. Hall next Saturday.

PAUL NEUMANN'S BRIEF.

He Wants to Have An Aboriginal Plebiscite.

Hon. S. B. Dole—DEAR SIR: The situation in the Hawaiian Islands is unsatisfactory and complaints are loud on all sides. To the present uncertainty are attributed hard times, languishing trade, and the wearing strain upon the mind and patience of the people; anyhow, it is thought that removing the existing uncertainty of our condition will abolish those evils.

The people of the Islands have remained in conservative expectancy. Even those who are not widely enthusiastic in favor of annexation will credit to the party at whose head you stand an honest purpose to benefit all the people of this country by their policy. Why, however, this delay in positive action.

This letter is addressed to you, firstly, because you have assumed all responsibility by assuming the leadership of your party; secondly, because a number of people, though not content with the state of affairs, yet give a tacit support to the Provisional Government because they have confidence in your character, disposition, integrity and ability.

But their faith in your strength and in your courage to do what is just and right is wavering.

Leaving aside certain objectionable acts of your party—objectionable because they were certainly unnecessary and presumably impolitic—such as the childish interference with the band, the absurd military bill and others—the people acquiesce in your leadership and in the direction of public business by your colleagues and by the Advisory Council. Because the people confide in your honesty nothing has been done to impede your course of action or to thwart your policy. Is, however, the present condition to continue indefinitely?

Do you, do your colleagues, does the Council, and do your partisans believe that a government established under the circumstances under which this Government was created—a government existing without, I will not say against, the consent of the Hawaiian people can be permanently maintained? This, you know, is not probable—it is not possible. An attempt to shape your action to accord with such a belief may be fraught with very serious, perhaps dangerous results.

It is not necessary to advance the proposition that annexation is entirely impossible; it is undeniably impossible without an expression of the will of the Hawaiian people. The United States would not, without such an expression, annex this country in any form or under any conditions.

It is obvious that neither the previous "elan" which inspired the Annexationists last February, nor the propaganda which the small portion of the American press and the stereotyped sermon of ex-Minister Stevens may make will induce the American people to garrote the Hawaiian and steal the Islands.

It is strange that men of such intelligence and political experience as some members and partisans of the Provisional Government are could not foresee the fact that the American nation are not filibusters, and that instead of attempting to gain annexation by legitimate efforts in the Islands, you tried by foreign and unlawful assistance to knock Mr. Stevens' ripe pear off the Hawaiian tree. It was a misdirected blow. The United States did not spread the bag to receive the pear, it is hanging there yet, and nobody was struck unless our respected friend Mr. Stevens, as one may fairly judge from the groans of pain which he emitted in San Francisco before the Chamber of Commerce. In the end not even the resolutions of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will help to annex the Islands.

The point is what can, what should be done and what is your duty at this time? All possible propositions lead to but one conclusion, and a very cogent conclusion. A plebiscite must be held. Why wait until this necessity is pointed out by the American Congress, to whom very probably the President will submit the Hawaiian question? Does anyone believe that the indecency heretofore attempted through false reports sent to Mr. Harrison and Mr. Foster can be repeated, and that the Hawaiian people will be robbed of their independence against their expressed consent, or will have the benefits of annexation conferred upon them without their expressed wish? Whoever believes that does not know the United States of America.

If the qualified voters of the Hawaiian Islands ratify the actions of the committee of safety and of the Provisional Government, you will need no army to strike terror into the hearts of the malcontents. If they do not endorse you, what right have you to usurp the functions of government?

If the people ratify those acts and approve your political existence as rulers, every decent, intelligent and well-meaning resident, though no adherent of your party, will array himself upon your side and sustain your actions and your policy. Then the prayer for annexation can be made in such proper, clean and justifiable manner that our great and good friend across the sea can, with propriety, give heed to our request. Then he may help us; if not by annexation, to his own detriment, yet by assisting us to maintain a stable and decent government.

If a majority of representatives elected by the qualified voters of the country declare for a change of our form of government, irrespective of the possibility of future annexation, they will be sustained by the taxpayers and reputable citizens of this country, and no dissent will be heard if the present Government should be placed lawfully and constitutionally in power.

The people will not submit to Pre-terianism or indefinite delay in settling the question.

M. McINERNY.

Are we to be, or not to be, a part of the Great Republic, seems to be the burning question of the day, and one we had rather leave to wiser heads than ours to solve; and while great statesmen are wrestling with this momentous question, we want to have a little "pow-wow" with you on some other subjects, that concern you as well as ourselves.

Has it not occurred to you that you've been wearing that old hat long enough! In these progressive times if you intend to be "in it," you've got to keep pace with fashion. No matter how otherwise well dressed you may be, unless your hat is the correct thing you bear a shabby appearance.

We have already laid in a stock of the Latest Hats of the coming Spring and Summer styles, in hard felts, soft felts and straws, and including a line of the celebrated "Fedora" Hats, at present all the rage in the United States. There is therefore, no necessity for you to hang on any longer to that old Tile that bears such a strong resemblance to the hat "your father wore."

Believing that business will be better in the near future, we have not hesitated to keep our stock full in all lines. Take collars for instance: We have almost everything you could wish for. If you wear a standing collar, just come in and take a look at our "Narenta" or "Ardonia;" or if you prefer a turn down collar, try the "Winnipeg" or "Goswell;" we have have lots of others, and can't fail to suit you. Cuffs in abundance, links or otherwise.

Neckwear in profusion, scarfs, windsors, 4-in-hands, and a special lot of "Boys' Bows;" suspenders in great variety, leather and woven ends, good strong, serviceable goods.

We might go on indefinitely, but space is valuable, and to enumerate everything we carry would fill a pretty fair sized book. If there is anything you want in the men's line, just drop in and see us, and if we can't suit you, we don't believe any one can.

If you should want a pair of nice shoes, let us try a hand at fitting you. Did it ever occur to you

How much a man is like his shoes; For instance, both a soul may lose. Both have been tanned; Both are made tight by Cobblers; Both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet.

They both need healing; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mould. With shoes the last is first; with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new; When men wear out, they're men dead too.

They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others nothing loth. Both have their ties, and both incline When polished, in the world to shine; And both peg out. Now would you choose To be a man, or be his shoes.

Either of the two conditions means ruin. Both are grossly unjust and inconsistent with the principles which the Annexationists must possess and profess if they are fit to become American citizens.

The step recommended, that is, the convening of a body of lawfully chosen representatives and carrying out their conclusions, means sustaining right and justice. The people have the right to demand that it be taken; you (meaning the Provisional Government) have no right to refuse to take it or to impede or prevent it—if you are honest.

But there is another and more urgent reason for such action. It should be impelled by gratitude to and consideration for our friend the United States. These Islands, it is well known, have been befriended and in reality protected at all times by the great republic. It is claimed that our political change has been effected by a representative of the United States, in violation of justice, decency, comity, treaty obligations and international law.

That representative came near to casting an indelible stain upon the American nation. But why ask the United States to judge him? His future fate does not concern us. Let the Hawaiian people assemble by duly chosen representatives, let the people declare how and by whom we shall be governed, and ask the United States if it should be necessary to assist us in carrying out the conclusions of the people. Now we call upon you, who profess an attachment for the United States so great that it impels you to surrender Hawaiian independence for American citizenship, to save our great friend and neighbor from a disagreeable task by taking the vote of the Hawaiian people and following the popular will. You will then show that you are fit to become American citizens, and do not wish to trample under foot every gift of liberty, every principle of representative government, every guarantee of justice and right. Do now what is just and right not from fear or necessity, nor until it is demanded by the United States, but because you owe the fulfillment of that duty to the people who permit you to represent them and to those whose faith in your honest motives must be justified by your own conduct.

Put your house in order so that you may show to the American Congress when it assembles what is truly the wish of our people, in whom, after all, the sovereignty rests, and ask your great neighbor to help you if the wish expressed is reasonable and rests on proper grounds.

This course will not alone preserve the high estimate in which you, and many of those who are with you, are held at home, but will commend your cause, which will then be the cause of the people of Hawaii, to a respectful and advantageous consideration in Washington.

I am, with every assurance of my high esteem, Yours sincerely,
PAUL NEUMANN.

LITTLE TOES GOING.

They Will be Lost in the Grand Shuffle of Civilization.

That the civilized part of us are changing our physical structure in answer to the conditions under which we live is a fact to which the poor little toes in the corners of our boots might tearfully testify if we could consult them in the spirit.

This member—which our prehistoric lady ancestors doubtless found esthetically useful when, while grasping with the foot an article of food, they elegantly elevated the little toe from the others, as the little finger of the dandy with the teacup of to-day—has now so fallen from its high estate that in 36.25 per cent. of men and women the first joint of the little toe has been replaced by a solid, inflexible bone. It is to be supposed that if we continue for a few more eons to walk about with our junior toe doubled up beneath the sole of our foot like a leaf in a book we shall some day look all around our foot and find no little toe at all.

As the process continues and each rushing cycle knocks off another toe we shall finally have in place of the present artistically befringed pediments a pair of solid pads on which will rest five useless commemorative nails, like so many tombstones erected to those departed members which went to join the dodo rather than accept shoes that did not fit.

At the extreme other end of our excellent anatomies it is probable that a change is also progressing, though the processes of time in the evolution of man are generally as hard to detect as the music of the spheres. If the truth were discovered, it might be known that the line of the hair on the forehead is slowly but constantly receding in the direction of the base of the brain—just as the sea appears to be still in course of retirement from the higher confines of former periods. After this gradual withdrawal of the hair has continued for a few more ages, we shall be reduced to a trifle of soft bangs in the back of the neck, which, drooping gracefully over the collar, will present the appearance of a line of weeping willows at the edge of a vast moonlit alkali desert.

When at length the ideal of manly beauty shall imperatively require a sun-kissed, shadeless crown, and such a thing as hair on the head shall be a vulgar index of tardy evolution, a brilliant polish of the crown will perhaps be first in vogue, and a man may visit booths at the street corners where a small coin of the realm may be exchanged for a cranial shine-up that will make every one his own heliograph. Soon, however, those heads capable of reflection within as well as without will arise to a feeling of the prosaeness of so many pates all similar, and then we

They Have Come!

Those Razor Strops you have been waiting for several weeks, are here. They are so good that it has been said of them, that if you lay your razor, and one of these strops down together on your washstand, the razor will keep a fine edge; still, we recommend following the directions printed on each strop.

Try the new Keystone Egg Beater, if you want a beater that will do quick, clean work.

Hose.—½-in. to 2-in., 3 and 4-ply plain or wired, just received; cheap and good quality; also carbolized. We have a large stock of "Hubbards," "Pioneer," and cheaper brands of White Leads and Zinc. Also, Oil, Turpentine, and all painters' supplies, and you will do well to see our Stock and get our Prices before you paint your house.

American Flags.—6 to 18 feet long, came by the last steamer to us. They are a fine lot, sewed bunting.

Fire Arms and Ammunition.—A new lot of Sporting and Target Rifles, Colt's new Navy, Smith and Wesson, and cheaper Revolvers, came last week and can now be seen. We carry the most complete assortment of Cartridges in town, from 22 to 50 cal., and always have plenty of them.

Leather.—We have received within the past sixty days, by steamer and sail, 66 Rolls of Leather, containing 9088 lbs., and 5347 ft.; also, 3 bales containing 142 doz. sheep skins, so it looks as if we meant to keep our Stock of Leather up, although by getting it in large lots, we are able to keep the prices down.

Salt.—We are headquarters for Hawaiian Salt, as we make it. That the quality is good, and Price Low, is easily shown by the large quantity we sell every week.

ABOUT KAHUNA DOCTORS

THEIR REMEDIES AND MODE OF PROCEDURE.

Their Motto is Cash in Advance, or Its Equivalent, in Every Professional Instance.

Much interest having been manifested in an article in yesterday's issue relating to kahuna malpractice, a STAR reporter has made further inquiries on the subject, the result of which is detailed below. No information whatever could be obtained from natives in regard to the usual practice pursued by the kahuna doctors in treating the sick, the questioner being always answered to the effect that they knew nothing about it. This reticence has since been explained to be caused by fear, one of the cardinal principles of the kahuna profession being to instill a wholesome dread of consequences into the minds of their followers in case they should divulge anything to its detriment. With the innocent natives, in whom superstition is born and bred in the bone, and fed to them in their infancy in their mothers' milk, this is an easy task. In spite of the civilizing effect of churches, schools, rapid communication with the outer world, etc., it is boldly asserted that the native Hawaiian does not exist in the secret recesses of whose heart there is not the same superstitious fear that obtained with their forefathers a hundred years ago. And when it is considered that this fear has, with one or two possible exceptions, been both secretly and openly encouraged by those highest in authority over the nation, it is no wonder that it exists as a national evil today.

There are kahunas and kahunas, good, bad and indifferent. It is generally a question of choice in case of sickness, but when a native is to be "kahunaed" or really frightened to death it is another matter. To offset the evil effects of one kahuna the victim must employ another of greater power and skill, and money is then no object. But it is not the object of this article to take up and describe the "sorceries" practiced even at the present day by these kahunas and by which even in this Christian era many natives are undoubtedly frightened to death, but rather to describe the methods practiced in sickness and the medicines used.

The kahuna, in the first place, is strictly a business man and the plan he pursues is to get every dollar he possibly can out of the sick person and his or her relatives, and to get that dollar invariably in advance. Having obtained his fee he visits the sick person and commences operations with a little praying. This being over the patient is examined and prescribed for, a little more praying done and the kahuna departs promising to come tomorrow if not sooner. If the patient has plenty of money this treatment is kept up for an indefinite period, strictly cash in advance. If he has little or no money it is remarkable how quick he gets well or dies.

Among other superstitious ideas imbibed in the native mind, and for that matter in the minds of some of their haole brethren, is one that a purgative treatment must be followed and kept up in every case of sickness, and this is invariably followed by the kahuna doctors. Indeed, the patient would not think he was getting his money's worth unless he was thoroughly well physicked. What effect this drastic treatment would have upon a person whose system was demoralized with the grippe can be imagined. The purgatives generally used, for a description of which the reporter is indebted to one of our leading physicians who has long made a study of native habits and customs, are koali, a plant of the convolvulus or morning-glory order. A similar plant furnishes the jalap of the drug stores. This is a powerful, quick acting purgative and is the one most generally used in cases of stomach derangement from over-eating, which is the commonest disorder with the natives. Another plant much used for the same purpose is the red taro, which is a powerful irritant purgative. This is what the dead printer, George Kai Lokai, was dosed with until he died.

The popolo, or rather the expressed juice of its green leaves, is a milder laxative and is used for children. Another remedy is the seeds and expressed juice of the seed cases of the hairy convolvulus, which is much milder than the koali. The apu-awa, or common gourd, is another popular kahuna remedy. The pulp and juice are used, but as it often acts as an emetic as well as a purgative and is poisonous in large doses, its use is somewhat dangerous. Other native remedies used are awa, a plant belonging to the pepper family, and from which the sacred intoxicant is made with which all natives dose themselves and offer as a sacrifice to the gods. An infusion of this plant is useful in bladder troubles. A tea made from the hau, a mucilaginous mess similar to slippery elm tea, is also used for the same purpose. It has the advantage over the other remedies described in being perfectly harmless.

For sprains and bruises, black eyes, etc., the kahunas have a treatment that is remarkably successful. The green manula bean, pounded up and applied in the shape of a poultice, is generally used. The koali is sometimes used for the same purpose applied in the same manner.

The kahunas claim to be able to cure leprosy, but there is no instance on record of their having done so. The remedies used are Hawaiian ginger and sugar cane, but recourse is sometimes had to the haole medicine, iodide of potassium, while the weed nena is used as a poultice to the affected spot.

FOOTBALL MATCH ASSURED.

The Local Club Have Challenged the Boston's Team.

U. S. FLAGSHIP BOSTON, July 12, 1893.

Editor Star.—SIR: Having seen a report in this morning's Advertiser in regard to Mr. Corbett and his "kick-ers," I wish to state that the football team on the U. S. S. Boston has not received any challenge from him or any one else in regard to a match, but we would be pleased to play them any time after the 29th of this month.

Respectfully,
E. HUMPHREY,
Captain Boston Football Team.

In connection with the above, it may be stated that a practice game of the local club was held last evening at the new ball grounds, some fifteen players being in attendance. After the game a meeting was held, at which Captain Crane was authorized to send a formal challenge to the Boston's team, which no doubt has reached Mr. Humphrey by this time.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

George Wessels Accuses His Wife of Doing Many Naughty Things.

In the Circuit Court George Wessels has filed a complaint for divorce from Kekahona Wessels. The document alleges that the parties were married on the 6th of January, 1889, at Hauula, Oahu; that there is no issue of said marriage; that the respondent is in the habit of getting into a state of beastly intoxication; that she is a confirmed drunkard, and that the habit is growing upon her; that while she is under the influence of liquor she does much damage to plaintiff's property, uses bad language to him and destroys his peace of mind; and, lastly, that she is in the habit of deserting his bed and board without giving him any notice, during which absence she associates with worthless and debauched persons and entirely neglects her marital duties.

Electric Lights.

Every one who was present at the delightful reception at the residence of Alexander Young Esq. last evening was struck with the brilliancy and beauty of the electric lights. The whole house and lamp fixtures had been wired in three days by Messrs. E. O. Hall & Son, under the supervision of Thomas Quinn. The electric current was furnished for the occasion from the Government electric wires, but will be furnished by the Hawaiian Electric Company as soon as the new plant is completed.

Many other residences and offices are already wired and are only awaiting the completion of the new station to supply the electric current.

District Court Matters.

There being no criminal business on hand this morning Judge Foster took up the civil case of Mrs. J. H. Boyd vs. Malcolm Brown, and J. A. King, Minister of the Interior, as garnishee, and rendered judgment for the plaintiff for $280, the face of the note, $50 interest to date, $14 65 attorney's commission and $4 60 costs; in all $395 55.

Judge Foster dismissed the case against G. Pahupu, charged with desertion, this morning, the parties having become reconciled.

SUING BACK AND FORTH.

NOW EHRLICH GETS BACK AT PETERSON.

A Twenty-five Hundred Dollar Action Results From the Row of April 14th Last.

About the 14th of April last a personal altercation took place in the Annexation Club rooms between S. Ehrlich and one of the secretaries of the club, Robert C. Peterson, out of which much litigation has ensued. To start in with Ehrlich had Peterson arrested for assault and battery, and the latter paid Judge Foster $8 50 for the privilege of knocking Ehrlich's spectacles off and doing other things constituting the crime of assault and battery as Judge Foster construed the law and the evidence.

The next move was on Peterson's part when he brought suit against Ehrlich for $5000 for defamation of character, claiming that during the altercation Ehrlich had called him a liar and used other terms which to polite ears should be unknown. This suit has not yet come to trial.

Ehrlich now comes back at Peterson with a demand for $2500 with which to save his wounded feelings and make amends for the beating which he claims to have received at the hands of Peterson, and for the destruction of a pair of spectacles, and has brought suit in the Circuit Court to recover that sum, by C. W. Ashford, his attorney.

The following is the gist of the complaint:

The undersigned, Samuel Ehrlich, a resident of Honolulu, and a foreigner by birth, plaintiff herein, claims of Robert C. Peterson, a native Hawaiian and defendant herein, the sum of $2500, and in support of said claim, states the facts here following; that is to say: That, heretofore, to wit: on the 14th day of April, 1893, said Honolulu, said defendant, without warrant or authority of law, and against the right of this plaintiff, did make an assault upon this plaintiff and did then and there beat, bruise and maltreat this plaintiff, and did insult and abuse him, and did ignore and destroy certain property, to wit: certain eyeglasses of this plaintiff, then and there being worn by this plaintiff, to the damage of plaintiff twenty five hundred dollars, etc.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

Miss Susan A. Young and Dr. Anderson Married Last Night.

The Central Union Church was well filled last night to witness the marriage ceremony between Miss Susan Alice Young, daughter of Hon. Alexander Young, and Dr. R. W. Anderson, the popular dentist. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers, ferns and palms.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Beckwith. Miss Bertha Young, Miss Nellie Young, sisters of the bride, and Miss Veda acted as bridesmaids, while W. Porter B. yd was the groom's best man, and Professor Wood, of Oahu College, and E. Benner officiated as groomsmen. The bride was given away by her father.

After the ceremony at the church the wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's parents, which had been beautifully decorated and illuminated for the occasion, where a reception was held. Refreshments were served, and the Hawaiian Band discoursed sweet music at intervals. The bridal presents were both costly and numerous.

THE INFANT DIVORCE CASE.

Shall the Youthful Husband be Punished for Contempt?

Judge Cooper is occupied in hearing a motion directing Samuel Kipu to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. It will be remembered that Samuel Kipu eloped with an Hawaiian maiden named Wananika about the 26th of June and as duly married by the pastor of Kaumakapili church. The girl being under age and her father very much averse to the marriage, the latter brought suit for its annulment by the Circuit Court. Pending the final decision of the case Judge Cooper made an order that the girl remain in the charge of her father and that Kipu should not interfere with her.

On July 6th the child disappeared, and was, of course, found with Kipu. She was again returned to her father, who procured an order summoning Kipu to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in disobeying the mandate of the court and enticing his wife away. Kipu claims that, as she came to him of her own accord, he has done nothing for which he should be punished. This phase of the case is being argued today, much of the morning session having been occupied in taking testimony.

may look for artistic designs for cranial ornamentation.

More tangible an evidence of the direction in which we are going is found in the status of the wisdom tooth. Back in the dim period when what is now man had his sole raiment always growing on him and was able to flick a fly off his ear with his tail and a careless grace, he also needed a heavy set of grinders in his business of life for extracting the marrow from the bones of departed friends and others.

But we have molted, and we have sat so much on the caudal instrument—which must have been of such service in the handling of infants, and of such embarrassment in street fights—that our suffix is gone, and it is gravely doubtful if the loss was a gain. And the innovation of the ax, which evolved into the table knife, resulted in the duty of human grinders being partly modified; with the outcome that only about 42 per cent. of civilized adults now cut the wisdom teeth, which were formerly the most powerful and important of all the molars.

An echo from the hall: Masker—"Have you got a knife about you, waiter?" My friend and I came here as the Siamese Twins, but he's been overdoing it a little, and I want to cut the rope!—Puck.

Mrs. Lennox Hill Jr.—I'm so glad you've come, Lennox. Christina, the nurse-girl, left this morning, and, as she's taught little Beekman nothing but Swedish, I can't find out what he wants!—Puck.

The Miss Browns—Oh, so glad to see you, Mary! But we've such dreadful colds, we can't kiss you, dear, we can only shake hands! Fair visitor—Oh, dear, how sad. I hope you haven't got a cold, Mr. Brown!—Punch.

Hatters assert that the average American head is considerably smaller than it was fifty years ago. This is strange, considering that the average American head is often so much larger to-day than it was last night.—Philadelphia Press.

"Pshaw!" said a Sixteenth street lady to her husband, who had been criticizing her attire, "what does a man know about a woman's clothes, anyway?" "He knows the price, my dear," he replied, gently, and she retired.—Washington Critic.

Mrs. de Culture—Horror! Going to marry that young Mr. Hayseed? Are you crazy? He eats pie with a knife. Miss de Culture—I know it, ma, but I love him. "You'll die of disgust." "No, I won't. I'll never have pie."—Philadelphia Record.

"Why are you shoveling that snow on to the clean sidewalk?" "Faith, sor, Oi contracted wid th' woman in th' house for ter clean off th' sidewalk for tin cents, an' he had, when Oi finished she wouldn't pay me; an' be gorra, back goes her blothy snow."—Life.

Old Mr. Wearie—Yes, I know I'm old, and blind, and lame, and poor, and forgotten, but I never cease to thank the Lord for one thing, parson. Parson—What is that, my friend. Old Mr. Wearie—That I'm not a retired President.—Burlington Free Press.

Dude (entering Delmonico's, to waiter; the dude carries a heavy stick, with an enormous horse's head)—Hat, waiter! Waiter—Yes, sir. Dude—Coat, waiter! Waiter—Yes, sir. Dude—Cane, waiter! Waiter—Yes, sir. Have it blanketed, sir?—Life.

Brown (producing his scrap-book and pointing with pride to one of his early effusions)—There, read that! I wrote that when I was only twelve years old! Fogg (after reading)—Can it be possible, Brown, that you were so old as twelve when you wrote this?—Boston Transcript.

Mistress—Marie, I saw you kissing a young man at the kitchen door this morning. I want you to understand that I will not stand that sort of thing at all. Marie—Pardon me, madam; I did not know the young man was a friend of yours. It shall not occur again.—Terr Haute Express.

Wampole's
Tasteless
Preparation

OF

Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION

removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.

In making up an order, see that it includes a subscription for yourself and for one or more relatives or friends abroad to "THE HAWAIIAN," the oldest paper published in the Pacific, Rev. S. E. Bishop, Editor; published monthly, at $2 per annum, devoted to the religious and educational interests of these islands, as also a recorder of political and other current events. Sample copies mailed to any address. A limited number of advertisements inserted at reasonable rates.

The Hawaiian Annual now in its Nineteenth year, and acknowledged not only as the best authority on all information pertaining to the islands that residents should know and strangers invariably ask, but the only reference book of Hawaiian statistics, and annual recorder of current and reminiscence events. There are homes probably in this land in which it is unknown, except by name, and there are numerous friends abroad to whom this publication would afford untold satisfaction for the fund of reliable information it imparts in its one hundred and fifty or more pages, with nothing of the "Guide Book" gush about it. Price per copy to any address in these islands, 75 cents; or mailed to any address in the Postal Union for 85 cents each.

And we propose to stay there!

We don't keep Fischer Ranges, Hendry Breakers, wind mills or things of that sort, you know. But when you talk Pictures, Picture Framing, Artists' materials, Window cornices, Hat racks, Easels or any thing else in our line, you will find us on top spinning along with the times.

If you have a photo of a deceased friend or relative that you would like to have enlarged, try one of our $10 portraits which we guarantee to suit or ask no pay.
