

S. S. SENATOR WITH LAWYER, FOR LABORERS

INFORMATION WAS GIVEN THIS AFTERNOON THAT THE MEN INTENDED FOR THE ALASKAN CANNERIES ARE GOING TO BE TAKEN ON BOARD THE SENATOR OUTSIDE THE THREE-MILE LIMIT, AND THEN THE NECESSARY ARTICLES WILL BE SIGNED.

The Pacific Coast steamer Senator, which has been shrouded in mystery ever since she left San Francisco on March 28, arrived in port this morning, and still she is just as mysterious as ever.

She was off port at an early hour and in addition to the customs and immigration officials, F.B. Craig boarded her as she came to outside the harbor. The immigration and customs officials quickly passed her, and she came along to a berth at the Railroad wharf. A gangway was put down, but no one was allowed aboard, and orders were given out that the crew was not to leave the dock.

Brings a Lawyer.

Several passengers were on board. Efforts were made to hide their identity.

Winfield Dorn, one of the arrivals, was taken over to City and County Attorney Cathcart and introduced, and after a few pleasantries he left. Mr. Dorn is an attorney, and his office is in the Merchants' Exchange building. He resides in Oakland.

J. C. Bell, one of the other passengers by the Senator, is an accountant with the Alaskan Packers' Association, San Francisco. His address is Post street. He usually subscribes himself J. Clark Bell.

Both are staying at the Alexander Young Hotel, and Frank B. Craig, who has been down here some time, also took up rooms there this morning. The three registered together.

Called a Slave Ship.

It was indeed a mystery ship. The crew when questioned said that they knew nothing about her. They knew that she was coming to Honolulu when she sailed from San Francisco, but why they couldn't say. One of them said he understood that she had "become a slave ship, or something of that sort." None knew when she will sail, nor anything at all about her future movements. She had a good trip down, and brought four passengers but no cargo. Who the passengers were the crew had no idea, and of what they were here for they were just as ignorant.

Crew Kept Aboard.

The quartermaster was adamant at the gangway. He had his orders to allow no one on board, and he had to obey them. He pointed to members of the crew on the ship already in their street clothes ready to go ashore, but they could not leave the vessel. He did not know whether this order would be lifted later on or not. All he could do was to obey orders. He didn't know the names of the passengers either. As one man observed, there was the tightest-mouthed bunch on board that he had ever seen.

Passengers and Purser Mum.

Some of the passengers came ashore, and when asked, they said that they had nothing to say. They refused firmly to give their names, and stated that they had nothing of interest to say concerning the visit. Already one said the newspapers had had too much to say concerning the vessel's mission. Beyond this expression of opinion he would say nothing. Efforts in other directions failed also. The purser had forgotten the list, and he could not for the life of him recall the passengers' names. He was in a hurry to get away, and would not make any prolonged effort to think of the names.

The purser and two of the passengers strolled from the ship to the customs house. Judging by their familiarity with the streets they have been here before, for they went straight to the building.

Hard Alaska Conditions.

She is a small vessel, and resembles somewhat the Mauna Kea. She has a decided list to starboard, and is flying very light. She is a slow boat, her top speed, one of the crew stated this morning, being nine knots. The usual rate is eight. It was this man that said that he had heard that the mission of the ship was to take laborers up to Alaska. He then gave it as his profane opinion that they would be foolish to go there. He had heard such a lot of the hardships that men had to put up there that he thought that anyone would be better off in Honolulu receiving less money, as the conditions here were much better. She is only 1836 tons net, and was built in San Francisco away back in 1898. For this trip, as has already been published, she has been chartered from the Pacific Coast S. S. Company.

An iron door in the side of the ship was thrown wide open as she lay along side of the wharf, and displayed the rude bunks that have been installed. It was stated by one of the crew members that there is accommodation for over 1000 steerage passengers, the vessel having recently been granted a license for this number. This, however, did not tally with information received elsewhere, for it was stated that there was steerage accommodation for 318

TOURIST AND TOBACCO BOOMS FOR HAWAII ARE GROWING Apace

A particularly interesting letter of Secretary H. P. Wood to the Hawaiian Promotion Committee is the following one, to be laid before that body this afternoon:

Will Help Hawaii.

"I am pleased to be able to report that while in Honolulu, Mr. C. H. Crocker who, as you know, is a great traveler, frequently called at our rooms, and before leaving expressed himself as specially gratified at being able to secure from our files such complete information concerning the places he proposes visiting on his present trip, i. e., Fiji, New Zealand, Australia, Java, China and Japan, complimenting us by stating that he had not been able to secure such a full and interesting line of printed matter on the Coast. Mr. Crocker also kindly offered to make a point

IMPORTANT POINTS RAISED ON RAPID TRANSIT BILL UPON ITS SECOND READING

The bill to extend the franchise of Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Co. to 1950 was read throughout and passed second reading in the House this morning. Proposed amendments were laid on the table to be considered on third reading. One was from Castle with regard to the five-cent fare limits.

Another offered by Kellinof of Maui was to have the two and a half per cent of gross receipts made payable to the Territory instead of the city of Honolulu.

Dead One Revived.

The Congressional visit bill, appropriating $20,000 for entertaining members of Congress and other distinguished persons visiting Hawaii, passed third reading in the House by 26 to 1. Dr. Huddy was the lone opponent. Some days ago a report of committee favoring the bill was laid off the table, whence it was pulled off this morning.

New Laws.

Through the Secretary's office the House was informed that the Governor had signed Act 63, making a public park at Napoosoo, Act 64, relating to records in the office of the clerk of the Supreme Court, Act 65, granting a street railway franchise for Hilo; Act 67, amending the election law; Act 68, to provide for the registration of voters, and Acts 69 and 70 relating to the offense of inducing laborers to leave their employment.

The Emigrant Agent.

The bill amending the emigrant agent act of this session passed third reading with Makekau the only member voting against it.

House joint resolution for a commission to investigate all matters relating to the public lands administration passed third reading unanimously.

With only Hale voting no, against 27 voting yes, the House bill exempting the family homestead from forced sale passed third reading.

Getting Back Kahoolawe.

A report of the agricultural committee was adopted recommending the passage of Kellinof's bill authorizing the cancellation of lease of the Island of Kahoolawe and remitting back rents.

INCREASE OF MUTUAL STOCK

There is to be an addition of $50,000 to the capital stock of the Mutual Telephone Company, Ltd., to provide for improvements and extensions, as well as put the company on a dividend basis.

This action was decided upon at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

At present the capital stock of the Mutual Telephone Co. is $250,000, divided into 25,000 shares of the par value of $10 each. The increase now to be made will bring the capital up to $300,000, besides which there is $235,000 of six per cent. bonds outstanding, out of $250,000 authorized to be issued. Today the stock is at $14.87 1/2, sale of 100 shares recorded and $15.25 asked, while the bonds are at $102 bid.

It is proposed to issue the $50,000 new stock pro rata at par to the present stockholders.

A dividend of six per cent per annum is to be paid, the first payment for six months to be made on July 1 next.

HILLO TROLLEY BILL SIGNED

NUUANU PARK ESTABLISHED

Governor Frear acted like lightning in carrying out the Legislature's wish to create Nuuanu Park, as the following letter presented to the House this morning shows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

Honolulu, Hawaii, April 6, 1911.

Mr. Edward Woodward, Clerk, House of Representatives, Honolulu, T. H. Sir: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 4th inst., transmitting House concurrent resolution No. 17, in regard to setting aside the Queen Emma place in Nuuanu Valley, as a public park, to be known as "Nuuanu Park," and to say that I have this day issued an executive order setting aside that land, as requested in the resolution.

Respectfully yours,

representing the franchise interests while the legislature was working on the measure, returns to Hawaii tomorrow and hopes to take with him the pen with which the governor put his autograph to the bill which has now become an act.

In speaking of the franchise today, Mr. Connors said: "Every attempt will be made to complete the street car line as soon as possible. The recent rapid growth of Hilo is apparently only a start, and within the next five years the population of the city should be more than doubled. Following the opening of the Panama canal even this record should be eclipsed. I expect that the building of the street railway will be one of the big factors in sending Hilo ahead."

CLARK PLEADS GUILTY, IS FINED A THOUSAND DOLLARS

The charges of embezzlement preferred by the grand jury against Henry N. Clark were finally disposed of this morning, Clark entering a plea of guilty and being fined, in all, $1,000. He was given until the 14th inst. at nine o'clock to find the money.

The matter came before Judge Cooper in the first circuit court. Frank Thompson appearing for the defendant and City and County Attorney Cathcart representing the Territory.

Clark was indicted by the grand jury on two charges, one of embezzling the sum of $105 and the other with embezzling the sum of $288, both sums the property of the Territory.

Attorney Cathcart announced that he understood that Clark wished to withdraw his pleas of not guilty and enter pleas of guilty, and to this Attorney Thompson concurred, remarking, however, that Clark had one reservation to make. Clark, he stated, had been making an effort to secure enough money to pay the fine, if a plea were imposed, but he had been unable to get the money, and requested that the matter stand over a week to permit of Clark making further efforts along those lines.

Judge Cooper thought it would be better to dispose of the case then and there, but permitted the matter to stand over for a few moments for Thompson to confer with his client. When the case was called on again the pleas of not guilty were withdrawn and pleas of guilty to each charge entered.

Imprisonment Not Asked.

Attorney Cathcart made an appeal to the court in favor of a monetary penalty being imposed. While punishment was necessary, it should not be vindictive. Defendant was a young man.

ATTORNEYS FILE BRIEFS IN EMIGRANT WITNESSES' CASES

With the formal filing of briefs in the habeas corpus matter in the cases of the fifteen Filipino witnesses now held in jail to appear as witnesses against E. De Guzman, before Chief Justice Robinson, Associate Justices Perry and De Bolt, and the setting over until Monday of the cases against Frank B. Craig, Alvarado and Baltazar in the circuit court, today's proceedings in these matters were very brief.

In the circuit court before Judge Cooper at nine o'clock this morning, Attorney Ed M. Watson asked that the three cases stand over until Saturday, which he had set apart as a rest day, having had a pretty strenuous time of it lately. He suggested Monday and to this counsel agreed.

AT THE THEATERS

Empire's "Gee Whiz."

With the change of program at the Empire tonight Whittier and Crosson, the singers, will present a repertoire of popular and up-to-the-minute songs, including "Gee Whiz Aweety," "Vale of My Dreams," and "Where the River Shannon Flows." The team is making a big hit and is keeping in the front rank of the Empire favorites. Princess Susana, the midget, whose twenty-seven years have given her only thirty-two inches, will make some changes in her tight-wire act, which is her main stage specialty.

Singer at the Savoy.

With tonight's change of bill at the Savoy Hilda Carle will sing three up-to-date songs, the popular success of the Coast. They are "You're the Boy I'm Looking For," "Miss Me," and "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey." Miss Carle has been unfortunate in having a cold, but she is gradually overcoming this and will presently be in good voice. Hattie, the juggler, will juggle his juggling stunts and give some new changes, his comical make-up going far to entertain the audience. There will be new films.

Argentina at the Bijou.

The most attractive of the dances of the famous Hidaigos, the dancers from Madrid, will be presented tonight at the Bijou. One is the "Match-leha," a dance of Argentina, and one picked up by the clever team while they were recently in South America. They will conclude their dance with the "Bolero Espanol," a fascinating Spanish invention. Senorita Fela Hidalgo will sing "La Toquilla," and in this will wear a costume which she considers one of her handsomest. It is a heavily embroidered dress, the embroidery being done by hand. It is a rich garment and somewhat unusual for stage wear. Jones and O'Brien put on a roaring comedy entitled "The Zulu," in which they appear respectively as a soldier and a Zulu.

GREAT SALE AT SACHS'.

The week beginning Monday, April 3, will be a notable one at Sachs Big Store. A great reduction sale in White Dress Goods and New Easter Millinery will be the attractions.

HOW TO LOOK TALL.

In these days of the slender and willowy—we omit graceful, for many fat women are graceful—every woman must appear tall. It makes no difference if she measures but five feet when standing on tiptoe, to be in style she must manage to look at least three inches taller. Slenderness and grace are valuable attributes to charm. A certain delicacy of poise and fineness of line are inevitably associated with refinement, and the women of today wisely desire to make themselves and their surroundings artistic and beautiful. It is the civilized instinct asserting itself. Life must be faced, so why not face it as charmingly as possible, and certainly a charming gown is the "outward" manifest sign of an inward spiritual grace" if ever there was one.

To appear tall, always, if possible, have your gown of one color, built in long, flowing lines, with the belt slightly raised. Have the belt of the same shade as the gown. A tall woman can afford a contrast at the waistline with very chic effect. But these hints are for the petite woman. The neck should be rounded or pointed, and always dressed low. Flat collars and guimpe effects are becoming. Dog collars and stiff ruchings should be shunned. Pink, white and light green are colors that add materially to height, especially when carried in some shiny material, such as satin. Brown, black and red and dull fabrics must be avoided.

Dress the hair high. Never mind if the hairdressers' windows show heads with astonishingly draped coiffures. The best style is the most becoming style, and a pretty bandeau or fillet or ribbon will give an up to date look while permitting height.

DANCE AT HALEIWA.

Manager Kimball is to be host at a dance at Haleiwa on Saturday night. As the moon is due to be full there should be a large crowd go down for the week end. Those who own automobiles will find the ride an enjoyable one, the less fortunate will take the limited on the O. R. & L. Reservations should be made at once by persons intending to remain over Sunday.

HOW TO PREVENT CHOLERA.

Cholera often starts with a diarrhoea. Take Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as soon as this diarrhoea appears, and after three doses have been taken take a dose of castor oil and the attack of cholera may be warded off.

PROFIT IN SWEET PEAS.

How a high school boy developed into an enterprising business man, specializing in the cultivation of sweet peas is entertainingly told in the April number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. Placed in charge of the home garden, he planted a small patch of sweet peas for table flowers. They grew so luxuriantly that thousands were given to neighbors or thrown away. A neighbor suggested that he sell those he didn't use. A florist agreed to take all he would bring, giving him instructions about preparing them for sale. That year he received nearly $100 for his flowers. Last year he cleared $500, meantime studying up on sweet-pea culture.

He had been planting ordinary home-grown seed, but this year he bought seed in California, planted early and late varieties, picked his flowers with more care, arranged them according to colors, made his bunches neat and uniform and at the height of the season sold as many as 25,000 blossoms a day. They were tied in bunches of 28.

At the season's end the plants were allowed to go to seed, and this seed he sells to dealers for home pea patches. Now the young florist is building a greenhouse to grow sweet peas in winter and further increase his income. Next year he will have about two acres in sweet peas and expects to clear $5,000.

PROPER TREATMENT

FOR CHOLERA.

Take a double dose of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy after every operation of the bowels more than natural. After three doses have been taken or when the diarrhoea has been checked take a dose of castor oil, and after that operate take the remedy again as before. Go to bed and remain as quiet as possible until out of danger.

THE CLEGHORN GIFT.

If the reason why this legislature has not accepted Mr. Cleghorn's testamentary gift of Aiea for a public park is the fear that after expenditure of money upon it, the land may be forfeited for failure to comply with the conditions annexed to the gift by the testator, it might be well to ascertain from those who would take it under the will whether they would not be willing to release to the Territory all claims which would vest in them upon such forfeiture. We assume that this could be done so as to bind the heirs of the residuary legatees, or if not that the legatees could secure the Territory against any claim of their own, which would probably be all that would be required.

As under the will the Territory has four years within which to accept or decline the gift, it is possible that the legatees would prefer to give all needed assurances now, in view of the probability that the gift will ultimately be accepted.

THE RAPID TRANSIT COMPANY.

The Star does not sympathize with any desire there may be to hamper the Rapid Transit because it is a corporation. Those of us who recall the wretched service given by Pain, the slow, dirty, reeking little cars, the mangy-looking mules, the double—or was it treble?—fare asked for between Palama and Kapiolani park, the general "public-be-hanged" policy which distinguished the Pain outfit, must felicitate themselves that the Rapid Transit system exists. It came when it was badly needed, it has performed a laudable work for the people, and no public service corporation that we know of has shown a more unselfish spirit.

Instead of contriving for dividends, the policy of the Rapid Transit, for years at a stretch, has been to make its system better. The growth of the town in several directions has been principally due to it. The Rapid Transit built up College Hill, where, we believe, its service has never made a cent; and there would not be a hundred people, except military, living in and near the Kaimuki tract today but for the facilities it has afforded. Wherever it goes it turns acre property into city lots at a fair price; such places as it has not yet been able to reach are still acre property and wanting a Rapid Transit extension. But for the public spirit of the corporation, the owners might have had a big dividend from the start, but they have satisfied themselves with a small and intermittent one, believing that their first duty was to build up the system and the town, and their policy still looks towards construction.

Here are the facts of the case as the Star understands them, and they are sufficient to justify public good will towards a company which has done so much for the city.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

The proposal to lay official hands on newspapers that print things which estrange nations is a remedy which may prove worse than the disease. Whatever the defects of the press may be, its freedom, subject only to the ordinary processes that punish individuals for crime, ought to be jealously guarded; and it is so guarded by the organic law of the United States. There is always a tendency among men in power to muzzle the press which arraigns them, but neither the courts nor the people are in accord with it, as was proved to Theodore Rex when he brought his coercive but abortive suits against several journals for their sharp criticism of various phases of the Panama canal purchase from the French. In Grant's time Mr. Dana of the Sun was subjected to Federal indictment, simply to curb the policy of his paper, but he won, as all editors will win in such cases so long as the people of the republic continue to realize what government control of the press would mean to their own liberties. For if anything is permitted to coerce the newspapers, the next repressive act will be upon the public speech. The liberty of the citizen and that of the press are joined in the flesh, and the twain cannot be severed without mortal hurt to both.

It is, of course, a bad thing for the peace of communities and nations to have a reckless press; but recklessness is its own punishment, for papers like people are soon appraised at their true value, and their influence is gauged by the test. We are getting used to the yellow papers and understand them better than we did. They were new in 1898, when they brought on the Spanish war; they wielded an influence then which they cannot have now when their irresponsibility is better realized. Give them enough rope and they will hang themselves; but do not try to punish them by abolishing guarantees that are vital to the press as a whole and to the people as a body.

THE FILIPINO AS A WORKER.

Judge O'Connell, the visiting publicist, who has lately come from the Philippines, wonders why the planters here want Filipinos. "They will not work in their own country," he says; "then why should they be expected to work here?"

There is no tragedy equal to the demolition of a theory by a fact. Judge O'Connell's theory is good, but the fact is that the healthy Filipino works very well in Hawaii, as has been long since proved. He may not have worked at home; perhaps he did not have much encouragement to do so. We have known men who never got any chance to fight at home who made very good fighters in the field.

Take a man from a lazy, slothful environment and put him where an example of work is set on all sides—where the air is electrified by labor—and he often turns out to be a model of industry. So with the best class of Filipinos here. They have done and are doing well. Our trouble has only been with the diseased riffraff that a labor agent at Manila has mixed in with better men.

Apropos of all this, it should be kept in mind that this is a more invigorating country, a cooler and healthier one climatically, than the Philippines, and that a man from Luzon is braced up in Hawaii just as one from Hawaii is strengthened and exhilarated when he goes to sub-tropical California.

If the scheme is to try our new political experiments in a small locality first, why not give Kakaako the direct primary law to play with and see whom the uncoerced voters really prefer for supervisor?

Perhaps it will turn out that it was the gang behind Lorimer and not Lorimer himself who bought the votes.

The royal coach swings sideways and it may be necessary, in the coronation march, to either put bilge keels on it or provide the Queen with a stewardess.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

I went to roost without a dime, and there I lay for hours and dreamed that I was John D. Morganheim, and wealth into my coffers streamed. I watched my speedy minions flee ONLY A DREAM to dump the bullion in the banks, and sleuths forever walked with me protecting me from wicked cranks. The world sent forth its host of bores, and mendicants in serried squad filled all the landscape out of doors, and tried to touch me to my wad. And all the jealous plutocrats were there to get my coin away; they poked me sorely in the slats, and kept me humping, night and day. In solemn state I seemed to sup, and sleepless tossed upon my bed; and interviewers called me up and twisted everything I said. I had no pleasant hours to while away at games I loved before; I mounted guard upon my pile, and counted sacks of gold and swore. I had no friends; I had men's hate, and I suspected other men of low down schemes to swipe a crate of my long green, and then again—I had no comrades; uncles, aunts, and all my kindred eyed my till, and changed to cringing sycophants that they might figure in my will. And O, the joy when from this dream to cheerful poverty I woke! I uttered one long gladsome scream, and cried: "Thank heaven, I am broke!"

WALT MASON.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

F. T. CLARK, Seattle.—In my city the trolley roads sell 25 car tickets for $1 and make money by it.

JOSH TUCKER.—If you want home-owners on the undeveloped land, survey and plat it and build roads. Then they'll come.

PRESIDENT KNUDSEN.—You don't need sidewalks in Honolulu. Everybody in this city rides in an automobile.

METROPOLITAN MARKET.—The two lions now in town consume twenty pounds of beef a day, though they would like more.

SUPERVISOR AMANA.—We want to give the poi factories a chance to open as soon as they comply with proper conditions.

W. M. BUCHANAN.—The Japanese say that it is a good job that the Koan Maru arrived with the rice when she did, as the local supply was almost exhausted.

L. G. BLACKMAN.—I believe, in striking while the iron is hot and I think it is a good thing for the rugby boys to start right in now and get ready to play the Kent.

CHARLEY FRAZER.—I am pretty familiar with billboard legislation and think I could give those who are agitating the subject some advice as to what kind of a law would stick.

SUPERVISOR KRUGER.—A. L. C. Atkinson, as attorney for the Chinese poi factories, has effectively seconded the efforts of the health committee of the supervisors to improve conditions in the poi shops.

JUDGE O'CONNELL.—I regretted as soon as I came ashore that I had not planned to stay longer. It would not take much to induce me to remain in Honolulu for good.

A. Q. MAROALINO.—The newspaper boys did not expect to be held up for tickets for next Saturday's ball game, but we need the money. I got rid of a batch of tickets in the Star office.

CHARLEY CLARK.—A kitten has adopted the Senate chamber as its daytime home and circulates among the desks of the members during session. I suppose it "smells a mice" in the appropriation bill.

CHARLEY WILSON.—This revival of talk about getting Chinese labor here reminds me that eighteen years ago, when the annexation proposition came up, I told the leaders of the annexation movement to retain their right to bring in Chinese.

ED TOWSE.—The Central Grammar school is the only public building in the territory excepting the jails, penitentiaries and the insane asylum, that is surrounded by a formidable stone wall.

GOVERNOR ADAMS, of Nevada.—I am leaving Friday, all too soon. This is a beautiful country, filled with people whose hospitality is not confined to race. The volcano, which I have seen, is one of the wonders of the world.

JOHN SMITH.—I was edified by reading a newspaper heading stating that the pork barrel was on its last legs, and when I proceeded to read what was below and found that the legislature was going to apply the pruning knife to the barrel, I decided never to miss another copy of the paper.

FORESTER HOSMER.—Those deer that escaped to the mountains from Waikiki will be looked after. Some others, which got away from Moanalu, may have joined them. It is desirable to get rid of the little herd as soon as possible, or it will do mischief to the young trees.

JOHN A. McCANDLESS.—Any man who doesn't read the "Uncle Walt" prose poem daily in the Star loses a lot of good stuff. "Uncle Walt" is a shrewd fellow, an everyday philosopher, and he has humor and wit. I understand that he lives in Kansas and that he supplies his rhymed talk to hundreds of dailies throughout the country.

L. HINES.—It is a curious thing that the Dole company seems to have cornered San Francisco for pineapple beverages and the Clark company Honolulu. They tell me that Mr. Thomas will butt in next year with a third concoction of pineapple drink. By and by more people may take their fresh pineapple from a bottle than a plate.

RICHARD KELLY.—The improvement of Bethel street is already marked. It is interesting to watch the various strata of alleged attempts at making it a good street, as they are dug up to make room for the new roadway. You can see boulders, coral, brick, pebbles, sand, dirt and macadam, the digging up process revealing chronologically the previous strata at building a thoroughfare.

A. P. TAYLOR.—Louis Meyer, who is now ranching and editing in Colorado, wrote the account of the E. P. Dole divorce trial, which made the Advertiser famous. It was, in some respects, the funniest article ever written on a local news theme. E. P. Dole couldn't stand the strain, and, in a few months, closed his office and went to the coast. He has never sent in his name to the Comeback Club.

HUGH McINTYRE.—Years ago there was a man here who called himself "John Smith, if you please." He was in debt to everybody, particularly to Judge Widemann. One day during his absence from this island, his wife advertised for all his creditors to file their accounts with her. Widemann was among the first to get there. She thanked him kindly, took the account and said: "I just wanted to find out how much the old man owes."

MANUEL VIERRA.—The trouble with grape-growing outside the Punchbowl district is that the owners think all they have to do to let the vines grow and produce. The Punchbowl district folk know better. They are aware, for one thing, that a fungus will blight the crops unless, while the bloom is on and when the grapes are beginning to form, a little sulphur is thrown on the leaves—just a dust-coating of it. Everybody might have fine table grapes in his yard if he sulphured and pruned at the right time.

"MOTHER OF SIX"—The members of the House have seen fit to pass a bill against trading stamps without consulting the mothers of the community. Speaking for myself I have been very careful to impress on my children, the wisdom of making small and early savings, so in addition to placing odd nickels in their money boxes, I have always taught them to save their stamps which were given as premiums on cash trading, so that they might get some useful article for the home. Furthermore my father has always taught us to pay as we go and the little green stamp is a reminder to us of that homely but wise maxim. Several of my neighbors to whom I spoke, are indignant at the idea of taking little from the poor.

REPRESENTATIVE AFFONSO.—I am in favor of the Sunday bill. There is nothing in the bill which gives to the supervisors the power to open moving picture shows on Sundays, to prevent people going to church if they want to. I do not think that anybody who goes to church is going to switch to the moving pictures. The people who attend houses of religion will still continue to do so, while the people who do not go to church are the ones who will go to the moving pictures. Roughly speaking, for I have not obtained the statistics, I believe there are about thirty churches in Honolulu, with a seating capacity of about fifteen thousand worshippers. What are we going to do with the other forty-five thousand people who want entertainment?

Union barber shop will be open till 10 o'clock Saturday nights on account of the Sunday law.

man, intelligent, and had a good prospect before him. The position that he had held in the police court was such that unless a careful watch was kept of the matters there was placed before him a great temptation. If he had been an older man he could be more blamed for what he had done. Cathcart took the position that where a young man was entrusted with large sums of money, then it is the duty of those who are over him to see that such a watch is kept that it will not be placed in his power to appropriate some to his own use. It is putting too much temptation in the way of a young and untried man.

Was Not Supervised.
In this case, through lack of careful methods in the supervision of accounts, it was practically an invitation to him to avail himself of the funds and his character did not prove strong enough for him to resist it.

"No good end can be served, in my opinion," said Cathcart, "by any imprisonment. A fine will be a sufficient punishment and it will afford him an opportunity of starting again in life and proving that there is some manhood in him."

Thompson added that all the money alleged to have been embezzled had been refunded to the Territory.

Previous Good Character.
Judge Cooper observed that he had taken considerable interest in the case, and had found that Clark's previous character, excepting this one instance, had been very good and that there were no traces of inherent criminal instincts. He agreed that imprisonment would serve no good end and sentenced Clark to a fine of $300 in the first charge and $700 in the second, without costs in both cases.

The coroner's jury which concluded its inquiry into the death of Clifford Livingston last night, refrained from recording whether or not the deceased met his untimely end by accident or design. The verdict was as follows: "Clifford E. Livingston came to his death on the 3rd day of April, 1911, at the base of the skull, said injury Honolulu from commuted fracture caused by being struck by the Oahu railroad train leaving Honolulu at 2:15 p. m., on said day. THREE GAMES ON PROGRAM FOR LOCAL BASEBALL FANS

Baseball fans are looking forward to the match scheduled for Saturday afternoon between the Representatives and the Judiciary team, and the two matches set for Sunday. These three games will be played at the Athletic Park, Saturday's match commencing at 2:30 and Sunday's games at 1:30 o'clock. Prospects for good ball are bright, though the game between the Representatives and the Judiciary team is looked upon more as a philanthropic social event. However it is regarded, it seems certain that the stands and bleachers will be packed when the umpire calls: "Play ball." There should be a great amount of amusement derived from the game, as some of the Representatives are not as agile as they at one time were, and their efforts to hold high flies or hard smacks to the infield should be productive of more than a modicum of merriment.

Tickets for the game can be obtained from E. O. Hall & Sons, but those who fail to procure tickets from that source will have to keep their eyes peeled to dodge Tony Marcellino and Eddie Fernandez, who are on the hold-up with a bunch of tickets. Even the newspaper offices are not immune from attack, for yesterday both Marcellino and Fernandez led attacks on the various offices and successfully lured the members of the various staffs, much to the surprise of the latter. "There are to be no passes," said Marcellino, "the lepers want the money badly." That is the right spirit and if there is not a record subscription it will not be because Marcellino and Fernandez have not been exerting themselves.

Sunday's main attraction is the ball game between Sam Hop's aggregations, and on the result of this match will depend the championship of the Oahu Junior League. The Asahis won the first game of the series last Sunday and if they win out next Sunday they will have won the championship. Victory to the Muckies will mean that a third game will have to be played.

Sunday week the regular ball season will open, and the first matches of the Oahu League will be played. On Monday night the official lists will be made public and it will also be decided then whether the Native Sons of Hawaii or an All-Military team will be admitted into the league to fill the hiatus caused by the withdrawal of the Marines. It is generally expected that the Native Sons of Hawaii will be admitted, as there will be a greater feeling of security by the management in this aggregation faithfully filling all its engagements.

W. K. Hayes, who pitched for the Rest in last Sunday's match at the Athletic Park, is reported to have signed up with the Japanese nine, in which case the Japanese can be congratulated on securing a rattling good player. Hayes has a good record from Northern California, Oakland and Berkeley and will sure prove an acquisition to the Japanese team.

Barry's Beauts are out on the war-path again looking for matches. Barry has challenged the boys at Leliehua to a series of three games, two at Leliehua and one in town and he has also sent a deft to Wailuku for three games to be played on July 1, 2 and 3. The soldiers and the Maul players will probably accept Barry's offers, as he places no conditions as to splitting up the gate on either of them.

SPORT RECORDS ON THE COAST

BERKELEY, March 25.—Lanky Ben Ward of the University of California track team, cleared the bar at 6 feet 2 inches in the high jump during the California-University of Southern California dual meet on the oval this afternoon. This jump was within half an inch of the coast record, held by Channing Hall. Ward won the high jump at 5 ft 11-1/2 inches, and then tied for the coast record. Ward cleared the bar at 6 feet 2 inches, almost equalling the present record, but failed when the bar was raised to 6 feet 3 inches. California easily won the meet, 80 to 42.

Ward's phenomenal jumping was but one in a series of thrilling events which marked the meet. Allen, of the California track team, broad jumped 22 feet 10-1/2 inches, within a quarter of an inch of the Stanford California intercollegiate record, established by Kretzinger in last year's varsity meet.

Not the least phenomenal of the athletes who took part was Little Waldo Throop, of the southern team. Throop ran a very pretty race in the 100 yard dash, and breastst the tape three feet ahead of Wood, the California runner, in 10-1/5 seconds.

When the runners came to their marks in the 220 yard dash and all was ready for the starter's pistol, Throop was seen to fall over in his tracks in a faint. Coach Cromwell and Walter Christie rushed to his assistance and the race was delayed until the runner could recover.

After the two mile, the sprinters came to the start again, and Throop beat Claudius in the excellent time of 23 seconds flat. Just after breaking through the tape at the finish, Throop fell to the ground again, and had to be carried to the training house.

Dowd's record breaking race in the half mile was one of the most creditable performances of the day. Dowd won easily in 1 minute 48-4/5 seconds, without extending himself. This mark is just two-fifths of a second more than the coast record, held by John O. Miller, of Stanford university, who negotiated the distance in 1 minute 58-2/5 seconds.

Beeson's work in the hurdles was good, 18 seconds flat in the high hurdles being the fastest hurdle race on the coast this year. Beeson had no difficulty in beating Stine of the southern team over the low barriers.

The absence of Rice, California's phenomenal freshman hammer thrower and shot putter, gave the shot put to Trotter of the University of California team, who got in a put of 41 feet 9-1/2 inches. Hale of California showed up well and took second

King George Interested.
LONDON, March 27.—King George gave further stimulus to the already widespread interest in the forthcoming attempt to win back the international polo cup by receiving Captain Hardesty Lloyd and the other members of the English challenging team, who will sail for New York next week. His majesty is keenly interested in the efforts to recover the prize which Queen Mary handed over to the Whitney team in 1909. He chatted at length with the team members, inquiring and advising them in regard to the ponies and the practice. The King told Captain Lloyd that he looked to him to bring him the trophy.

Match Play Rules Goff.
CHICAGO, March 25.—Match play will be substituted for medal play at all open golf tournaments of the Western golf association, according to a resolution adopted by the directors today. The resolution provides for 36 holes qualifying round.

A resolution also was adopted providing that the team to represent the Western association in the Olympic cup competition shall be composed of the last four winners in the western amateur championships, and their four substitutes to be the last four runners-up in the same contest. By this resolution the association will be represented in 1911 by Mason Phelps, Midlothian country club; Charles Evans, Edgewater country club; H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor club, and D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton club.

Habner Swims in Record Time.
PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Harry Habner of the Illinois athletic club won the 50 yard national amateur swimming championship at the Y. M. C. A. here tonight in the record time of 24-4/5. Perry McGilivray, of the Illinois athletic club, Chicago, was second, and Richard Fritzel, of the Missouri athletic club third.

Crabbe, the freshman, won the two mile with farical ease. Lee Rathbone, who won the two mile in the freshman intercollegiate last Saturday at Stanford, finished a good second.

AUSTRALIAN BEATS DANIELS' RECORD

In commenting on the successes of "Billy" Longworth, the latest Australian swimming wonder, the San Francisco Call states:

"At the beginning of 1911 William Longworth of Sydney, Australia, was unknown to the world as a swimmer. Today his name is known in every nook and corner of the earth as the fastest man who ever went into the water, and, furthermore, his unheralded appearance in the limelight of nautical sports has brought him fame with every race he has entered. "Longworth is not alone satisfied to win the events, but in every championship race he has started in, with the exception of the one mile, he has shattered the world's figures so badly that it will be years before they are broken.

"Charles Daniels, of the New York Athletic club, for years considered the fastest swimmer of the present time, has had to take a back seat to Longworth on the times made, as, in most cases, it was Daniels' record that went by the board.

"Longworth's first triumph was on January 18, in Sydney, when, before 8,000 people, he won the three-quarter mile championship of Australasia, shattering Daniel's world's record of 17 minutes 45 seconds by 3 seconds and reducing the figures to 17 minutes 42 seconds flat.

"He next won the mile championship of Australasia, which was held in Brisbane before 4,000 people, following which he annexed the three mile race, winning it and setting new world's figures for the distance in 78 minutes 22-3/5 seconds.

"The next race was a sprint. This was his first attempt at a short race. This was the 110 metre race, and again the honors rested with him. He reduced Daniel's figures to 55 seconds flat, which is another world's record. "Longworth has, in these races, beaten all the present Australian champions and holders of the titles, including Beaupaire, of Victoria, who returned from Europe especially to defend his title. Daniels beat Beaupaire at the Olympic games, after one of the closest struggles ever witnessed in a swimming race. Beaupaire won the championship of every European country he raced in last year."

Stenciling
Have you Tried It?

If you have never tried it, you most certainly should, it is the latest idea in decoration and fancywork.

Stenciling on fabrics gives very pleasing results, as you can make such attractive presents for your friends or you can beautify your home with artistic curtains, pillow covers, table covers, etc.

Stenciling is not hard to do, you can learn how very easily. The chief requisite is to get the right materials to work with—colors that will be clear and brilliant and will remain fast in the fabric when it is washed.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS

yacht floating in the harbor last Sunday, and so far he has not had any application for it. It is now moored to the Mauna Loa wharf awaiting a claimant. It is painted white above the water line, with a blue deck.

Manuka Replaces Aorangi.

The Sydney office of the U. S. S. Co. has received a cable from New Zealand to the effect that the R. M. S. Manuka has been commissioned to take up the next trip of the R. M. S. Aorangi, on the New Zealand-San Francisco mail line. The Manuka was to leave Wellington yesterday and Auckland on April 8.

The Manuka was once a favorite steamer on the Canadian-Australian line.

Hilonian Had Stormy Passage.

San Francisco Call: After struggling against a severe northeast gale all night, the Matson steamer Hilonian, Captain Charles Peterson, made this port from Honolulu via island ports yesterday morning. With the best of weather conditions continuing throughout the passage and until Friday afternoon, the gale came on suddenly, accompanied by huge seas that swept the ship and kept the deck awash. So unusual were the conditions for this time of the year that the skipper remained on the bridge for about twenty-four hours. When the ship anchored off quarantine Peterson's eyes were so inflamed from the effects of the spray which had struck him that he was almost blind, and was compelled to receive treatment.

As the storm had caused some delay, the Hilonian was taken direct to the Western Refinery to discharge her cargo. The nine passengers were loaded into the Charles Peterson launch Barbara, and taken to pier 38, the regular Matson dock. The cargo consisted of 58,000 bags of sugar. The passengers were Mrs. Fannie Krause, for years stewardess of the Wilhelmina, and just returning from a leave of absence spent in the islands, and granted on account of illness; Mr. and Mrs. Kinsman and daughter, Violet; Kinsman is chief engineer of one of the Matson tugs in the islands; Judge J. Haugaard, of the Kauai District Court, who, with Mrs. Haugaard, is making a visit to the old home in Germany; and Mrs. Shoemaker and Miss Nellie Wheeler, of Tacoma, returning home after a visit in the islands.

Chronicle: The transport Sherman will sail from this port on April 5, with about 500 casuals and fourteen officers of the Army, Navy and marine corps. Among the officers who have already secured accommodation on the vessel are:

Brigadier-General George S. Anderson, recently promoted from the rank of Colonel of Cavalry, and ordered to duty in the Philippines division; Lieutenant-Colonel A. D. Kniskern, commissary department; Major H. L. Roosevelt, marine corps, detached as assistant to the depot quartermaster in this city and ordered to the Philippines brigade as quartermaster; Major T. D. Keleher, a paymaster, ordered from the Department of the Lakes to the Philippines division; Lieutenant-Commander V. S. Jackson and Lieutenant E. Whitehead, U. S. N., ordered to the naval station at Manila; Captain P. L. Smith, Nineteenth Infantry, returning to his command; Captain J. F. Costello, Philippine Scouts, returning from leave; Captain E. A. Ames, Philippine Scouts, returning from leave; Lieutenant J. T. Donnelly, Eighth Cavalry, to join regiment in the Philippines; Second Lieutenants C. Rich Perry and F. E. Brady, Philippine Scouts, recently appointed from civil life and ordered to join commands; Second Lieutenant F. S. Clark, coast artillery corps, joining company at Fort Mills, and Major Archibald Campbell, coast artillery corps, acting Adjutant-General, who is ordered to Honolulu as Adjutant of the District of Hawaii.

Nippon Maru This Afternoon.

Castle & Cooke agents for the T. K. K. line of steamers have received a wireless from the Nippon Maru to the effect that she expects to be off port this afternoon at half-past three, and will be despatched tomorrow morning early.

American-Hawaiian Fleet.

The Columbian, which sailed from Seattle five days ahead of her schedule time will be in tomorrow. It is anticipated. She will bring freight here forty-seven days out of New York. The Missourian is now loading at Kaanapali, and will leave there tonight for Kahului, whence she goes to Hilo, and sails from there next Thursday for Salina Cruz. The next vessel to leave Seattle or Tacoma is the Alaskan on the 15th instant.

Foohng Suey Taking Sugar.

The ship Foohng Suey is now almost ready to sail. She is awaiting a load of sugar by the Likelike, which is due some time today. After this sugar has been taken on, the Foohng Suey will sail for Manukoa, and then to New York via the Horn.

ready purchasers at reasonable prices whenever offered for sale. The low price of crude petroleum and the fact, according to the figures of the California Oil World of Bakersfield, that on March 1st there were 34,000,000 barrels in storage, has not weakened the confidence of operators in the future of the industry, and has not deterred capital from making investments in meritorious enterprises.

Honolulu Consolidated.

The Honolulu Consolidated has determined to locate its Bessemer gas compressor plant on section 10 of its property, where its main camp is pitched, and the gas will be piped from the company's wells on sections 6 and 14. The plant consists of eight units, with a power of 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

HAWAII'S TRADE FOR JANUARY

Shipments of domestic merchandise from Hawaii to the United States mainland in January were of the value of $2,030,593, which is $1,130,665 less than in January last year. The value of Hawaiian products in the above total was $1,996,797, the decrease in them being $1,099,420.

Sugar shipments were $1,770,593, being $1,041,150 less than for January, 1910. Raw sugar represented $1,670,211, a decline of $1,064,757 as compared with the corresponding month last year. Refined sugar valued at $100,382 was $23,607 in excess of the previous January shipments.

Of course the greatness of the difference between one January and the other is merely a matter of time of marketing the sugar crop, yet a portion of the decreased value this year is due to the low prices of sugar at the start of the crop. In January of 1910 the shipments of raw sugar were 36,359 tons which are valued in the official returns at $2,734,968, while this last January they were 24,702 tons, valued at $1,670,211. If the ratio between quantity and value were the same this year as last, the January shipments this year would have amounted to $188,000 better.

Refined sugar shipments in January this year were 1,026 tons, valued at $100,382, against 744 tons valued at $76,775 the corresponding month last year, an increase of 282 tons in quantity and of $23,607 in value.

January gave promise of an increase in Hawaii's trade with foreign countries for this year which will equal if not exceed the great expansion therein for last year. Imports direct from foreign countries to this Territory were $510,804 in value, an increase of $90,128 over those of January last year. Exports of domestic produce hence amounted to $34,044, a gain of $29,064 over the corresponding month of 1910. As previously reported in the Star, the foreign imports of Hawaii increased in 1910 by over $700,000, and the domestic exports to foreign countries increased by $309,007, the amount for 1910 being $390,079. The gain in the direct foreign trade of the Territory is largely due to the new markets found for our preserved fruits, coffee and honey.

SAYS RUBBER
LOOKS GOOD

C. J. Austin, late manager of the American Hawaiian Rubber Co., at Nahiku, has some very optimistic remarks to make concerning the rubber being grown there, and the prospects for the future of a large output of rubber from these islands.

"Of course, it is rather too early to speak yet," he said, "as our trees are only three years old but the rubber has been tested, and found good, while on the market it has been bringing ten cents lower than the best offering. All the trees are doing well, and the prospects of a large rubber industry look remarkably good.

"As the trees are so young, it is impossible to give a true forecast, but the prices that the plantation has been getting for its rubber indicates that the industry on Maui will be a thorough success. During the next two years a better idea will be formed of the value of the trees. But I feel sure that it is practically an assured industry."

The Railway Convention.

"The 1915 Railway Passenger Agents' Convention is still simmering. Mr. T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway, writes under date of March 15th as follows: "I trust you will pardon the delay in answering your letter of February 1, but conditions here have been such that all our time has been taken up with the trouble we are experiencing on our line.

"I heartily agree with you in the proposition advanced, as I believe the benefits that would accrue from a meeting to be held in the Hawaiian Islands by the managers and general passenger agents, to include the members of the American Passenger Agents' Association, would be everlasting to those who would attend, and I will be glad to lend my influence to bring about the desired plans. Most of the members of these associations are acquainted with the conditions in the States, but few of them realize the possibilities in the islands, and as we are all interested in the matter of transportation, I, for one, would favor Honolulu as a meeting place."

giving security, that it does not transgress the constitution. Cases are cited in which its constitutionality was impliedly recognized. Even if the statute is unconstitutional counsel claim that under section 1673 of the revised laws and section 81 of the Organic Act that the order was justified.

Circuit Court's Power.

The objection that the order called for recognizances to appear before the grand jury is met, according to counsel's contention, by the proviso in the Organic Act which empowers the circuit courts to subpoena witnesses to appear before the grand jury, this being taken to apply to all processes. In submitting that the court has inherent power to detain witnesses, counsel contend that each particular case must rest on the circumstances.

Witnesses Were Leaving.

In the present case no other method was practicable, as the witnesses were about to leave the Territory and there were no means of serving the ordinary subpoenas, as the men required were in Federal Territory under quarantine and permission to serve them with subpoenas was refused. In conclusion the brief states: "It is not contended that the recognizance contained unnecessary or improper conditions and the strictest construction of the order leaves it a necessary order * * * and to hold under those circumstances that there is no such power in the court is unnecessary and unsupported by authority, particularly in view of section 1648 of the revised laws and the provision in the Organic Act declaring broadly that the court issuing the order in question has all powers to administer justice."

Claims Law Is Unconstitutional.

In his brief filed in support of his application for a writ of habeas corpus Attorney Watson contended that section 1899 of the revised laws of Hawaii, was unconstitutional in that it deprived the parties committed thereunder of their liberty without due process of law. The commitment authorized would seem to permit indefinite imprisonment in the event of no indictment being preferred. Even admitting its constitutionality, Attorney Watson contended that its terms had not been complied with in the order of commitment, for instead of authorizing the binding of witnesses to appear at the trial of such indictment it required the parties to enter into recognizances to appear before the grand jury. The rule laid down in the case of the State vs. Calhoun, and Evans vs. Rees that "in exercising the power to bind witnesses to appear at trial a strict compliance with the statutes conferring the power is necessary" was admitted during argument by one of the counsel for the respondent.

Cannot Compel Appearance.

Attorney Watson argued that there was no statutory authority in this Territory for the committal of witnesses to appear and testify before the grand jury. There was no inherent power in the courts to compel such recognizances from witnesses to appear and testify or to commit them to jail for that purpose; all such proceedings must be specially authorized by statute.

Watson points out that in the pres-and first-class accommodations for 123. According to the captain's own statement on board this morning he did not know exactly why he was here, and someone told him that his troubles had only just begun. The vessel is fitted with wireless, but she did not send in bulletins for publication regarding her dignified approach to this port.

Denies Umatilla Story.

It was stated on board this morning that nothing was known at the time the Senator left that the Umatilla would be leaving for these islands on a similar mission. The captain characterized the report as newspaper "gas."

Deny Boiler Accident.

It was stated that the reason why the vessel was so long en route was owing to an accident to a boiler. This, however, was denied by those on board, who stated that no trouble at all was experienced in the engine room. She has been taking on water for some time now, and when her tanks are replenished, she will move out from the wharf to an anchorage. Those responsible for her presence do not anticipate being able to get away almost immediately, as was so sanguinely prophesied.

BROKE UP BIG PAIKAU GAME

Twenty Chinese gamblers were gathered in by Chief Detective McDuffie last night, when a room above the Chinese hackstand at the corner of King and Mauna Kea streets was raided. Sergeant Kellett and Officers Oleson and Kamao accompanied the chief on the raid and they had to make their way over the roofs of four houses before they could get within striking distance of their quarry. The raid was eminently successful for the twenty men were caught in the middle of a game of paikau and there was the sum of $17 lying round to be garnered in as evidence. All except one appeared in the police court this morning, Ah Chow forfeiting $10, but the others pleaded guilty and were fined from $5 to $15, the territory benefitting by $140 in the way of fines. Ah Yong had three previous convictions, Ah Kai had two, while Yong Tong and Chong Yau had each a previous conviction and brought larger fines than the first offenders.

So Char Whan, who jumped bail under an indictment for assault and battery and was captured on Maul, had his trial set for Wednesday next by Judge Cooper today.

A nolle prosequi was entered for Moke and others charged with stealing coal.

ent case the commitment was made by the circuit court judge, arbitrarily, without evidence, upon the affidavit and demand of the attorney-general, such affidavit being based on information and belief only, and was therefore hearsay. No subpoena was served on the witnesses; none of them had failed to respond to the ordinary process of law; and the parties had not been given an opportunity to appear before a court or judge to enter into recognizances. Mr. Watson contended their detention was illegal and asked for their release.

CAPTAIN LAWLESS TALKS OF FUTURE FREIGHTING IN PACIFIC

Captain Lawless, of the barkentine Stromboli, seems to think that there will be a revolution in the method of transporting freight on the Atlantic and Pacific coast of the United States. He is the proprietor of the canal in 1911, he believes that all freight will be transported by freight steamers with a large or a sailing ship in tow also later.

Speaking this morning to a Star reporter, Captain Lawless gave it as his decided opinion that soon there would be a regular line of steamers running between Pacific and Atlantic coast ports towing specially constructed barges, or sailing ships. In this way two cargoes can be taken at a little more than the cost of one.

Of course, there is nothing decided as to when this line of steamers will be started, but it is already being discussed. The idea is to get a sailing ship in tow by a steamer. The steamer need not be fully equipped, but it is usual to put enough sails on her to enable her to keep way on, or maneuver should it ever be necessary through stress of weather, for the tow line to be released. As soon as the weather clears, the steamer can pick up her charge again, and proceed on her way.

Captain Lawless said that perhaps it would be some time before this was done between here and the coast, but he thought that it would be within the year. He quoted the American-Hawaiian S. S. Co., as being a company that could easily do this. The difference in time, he said, would not be great, perhaps a steamer would take twenty-five per cent longer, but this would be fully compensated for by the increased advantages. He gave it as his firm opinion that this would be the only method of transportation for ordinary freight within the next few years.

Sailing ships seem generally to be passing out of commission, admitted Captain Lawless. It was some time since he had had a passenger, and freights were getting smaller. "People never go to sea in a sailing ship now," he said, "unless they are ordered by the doctor to take a long sea voyage. Nowadays they want to be sure that they will get to a certain spot in the time set out. They do not want to go beating about for twenty-five days, when they can do the journey in six, especially with fares so cheap."

What was once a waste land has been transformed into a beautiful small post at the marine battalion station. There are prettily laid out walks paved with white coral, attractive grass lawns and flowers, making the marine station of Hawaii truly a place of beauty.

It is anticipated that on the completion of the officers' quarters and barracks now under contemplation, to be built near Pearl Harbor, a large force of marine troops will be sent here.

With the departure on Tuesday night on the Crook for the Coast the Marine battalion of the naval guard station has been seriously depopulated and the places where the tents of the two hundred marine soldiers were pitched, near the ocean beach, are now simply spaces. Major Wendell C. Neville, commandant of the United States Marine Corps stationed here, lost more than half of his file corps and three marine officers.

Lieutenant Lauren S. Willis, Captain Frederick A. Ramsey and Lieutenant Fred D. Kilgore, all of the Marine Corps, were departing passengers on the Crook for the Coast. There are a little less than one hundred and fifty marines at the old camping ground at the Marine battalion station, now.

Marines Are Champions.
Lieutenant Edward R. Cole, Marine Corps who was a visitor at this port during the stay of the Sheridan, has completed a tour of duty in the Philippine division and was en route to the Coast for assignment in the home-land. Lieutenant Cole is an athlete of known ability and organized and was captain of a Marine baseball team while he was stationed at Olongapo, P. I.

This team of Marines won the pennant of victory at the very last ball game played in Manila by the baseball league of the Philippine Islands.

Personal and General.
Lieutenant Commander W. L. Leahy, Navy, has been assigned as ordnance officer of the United States Pacific fleet.

Major General William H. Carter, in command of the troops maneuvering in Texas, with headquarters at San Antonio, has issued an order regulating bugle calls as follows: Reveille is at 5:30 o'clock in the morning. Assembly at six o'clock. Tattoo at eight o'clock at night, with taps at ten p. m. Within these limits brigade commanders will regulate calls for the respective brigades.

Major George B. Duncan, Second Infantry, United States army, who took a twenty-three days' leave of absence at the time the two battalions of his regiment left San Francisco for this station, is expected here on the next transport from the Coast. Major Duncan will join the infantry post at the Lihueha reservation.

The naval yard station on Richards street is to have a new entrance gate, which is badly needed. The new gate will add greatly to the attractive appearance of this pretty yard.

ARMY AND NAVY ACT TO CREATE OFFICE OF "MARKET SUPERINTENDENT"

The following is a copy of House bill No. 217, being the latest plan to aid the small agriculturist:

"Section 1. In the operations of the Board of Immigration created by Act 33 of the Session Laws of 1909 as now or hereafter amended, there shall be created, to be appointed by the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii and to be paid a fair salary out of the funds of the said Board of Immigration, an officer of the Territory, to be known as 'Market Superintendent.'"

"Section 2. The duties of the said 'Market Superintendent' shall be generally to encourage and promote the profitable sale and exchange of the products generally of the Territory, but more especially fruits and vegetables by:

"(1) Visiting orchards and gardens throughout the Territory, and consulting with and advising the owners of occupants thereof;

"(2) Making trips to the western mainland of the United States and ascertaining the condition of the market for Hawaiian produce with the view particularly of establishing satisfactory business relations between producers within the Territory of Hawaii and commission houses, clubs and hotels on the western mainland of the United States;

"(3) Investigating and reporting upon the produce business and, more especially transportation of produce between ports of the Territory of Hawaii;

"Section 3. The text or summary of the reports or findings of the 'Market Superintendent' shall be published from time to time, at the expense of the said Board of Immigration, with the approval of the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii."

NEW GOVERNMENT FOR MAUI COUNTY

A new tenure of office for supervisors of the County of Maui is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Kawaakoa. It provides for five supervisors, four of them to hold office, and the fifth, to be chairman and executive officer, for two years.

At next election, however, the two supervisors other than the chairman receiving the highest number of votes shall hold office for four years, and the two receiving the next highest for two years. Thereafter the chairman and two other members shall be elected at each county election. All are to be elected at large. The chairman, besides presiding at all meetings of the board, "shall exercise and have general superintendence and control over all county affairs, and shall manage the same subject to the advice and direction of said board." He shall be paid a salary of $2400 a year, the other supervisors $600, the same as under the present law.

Another bill introduced by the same member is to prescribe when the officers of the County of Maui shall be elected, which provides that the county election shall be held on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in the month of May next following each general election held in the Territory, and all officers then elected shall take office on the first day of July next ensuing. The first county election so prescribed shall be held in May, 1913, and the present county officers shall continue in office until and including June 30 in that year.

The House unanimously concurred.

Various Matters in Probate
William O. Smith petitions for probate of the will of Mary Kelleys French, in which he is named as executor. An estate valued at $2,100 is left to be equally shared between the three daughters and the son of the testatrix. The daughters are Sarah Deverill, Mary Rayway and Elizabeth Lindley, all residents in this Territory, and the son is Hiram French, residing in London, England.

George A. Goncalves, guardian of Jas. H. M. Goncalves, a minor, petitions for leave to pledge the minor's one-seventh interest in a certain life insurance policy for the purpose of making part payment on a mortgage of lands at Makiki in which the minor holds a one-fifth interest. It is stated that money can be borrowed on the policy at a cheaper rate than is now paid under the mortgage.

Judge Robinson admitted to probate the will of James C. Jones, appointing the testator's mother, Mary A. Jones, executrix to serve without bond as nominated in the will. The testator leaves his entire estate to his mother.

William O. Smith was appointed by Judge Robinson as guardian of the estate of Alexander Keenly Young and Meredith Young, minors, under $2,000 bond.

In the Senate amendments to the two House bills (1) making it a misdemeanor, and punishing as such, the enticing of servants and laborers from their employment to go outside of the Territory, and (2) defining remedies for all practices of that sort.

Probable Choices.
Seniority being the prevailing rule in making promotions on committees and in selecting chairmen, it is pretty well determined at this time who will be the chairmen of the principal committees of the Senate, and the list is as follows:

Appropriations, F. E. Warren, of Wyoming; agriculture, Henry E. Barnham, of New Hampshire; census, S. Guggenheim, of Colorado; who is also the ranking member on the committee on mines and mining, and will have his choice of the chairmanship of these two committees; claims, C. F. Crawford, of South Dakota; commerce, William P. Frye, of Maine, the present chairman; District of Columbia, Jacob H. Gallinger, the present chairman; finance, Boise Penrose, of Pennsylvania. Efforts have been made to induce Senator Cullom, of Illinois, to take the chairmanship of this committee and to have Senator Penrose retain his present committee chairmanship on postoffices and post-roads. This effort, however, is said to have failed, and Senator Penrose will assume the chairmanship of the committee on finance, and Senator Cullom will retain his present chairmanship of the committee on foreign relations. The committee on immigration will be at the disposal of Senator J. A. Follette, of Wisconsin, and Indian affairs at the disposal of Senator R. J. Gamble, of South Dakota, who is also the ranking member on the committee to audit the expenses of the Senate, of which he will probably take the chairmanship. If he should do this, Senator George Sutherland of Utah, will be entitled to the chairmanship of the Indian affairs committee. The chairmanships of the Inter-oceanic canal committee, is at the disposal of Senator Frank B. Brandegee, of Connecticut. The interstate commerce committee will have as its chairman Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota, the present chairman of the committee on Indian affairs. The chairmanship of the committee on irrigation and reclamation of arid lands will be given to Senator George R. Nixon, of Nevada. Senator Clarence D. Clark, of Wyoming, will retain the chairmanship of the committee on judiciary. The military affairs committee of the Senate will probably have as its chairman Senator Henry A. Du Pont, of Delaware, succeeding Senator Warren who, as above stated, will take the chairmanship of the appropriations committee. Senator George C. Perkins, of California, will retain the chairmanship of the committee on naval affairs, and Senator Harry A. Richardson, of Delaware, is entitled to the chairmanship of the committee on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico. If he should decline to take this committee, the chairmanship will be at the disposal of Senator William Lorimer, of Illinois. Senator Porter J. McCumber, of North Dakota, will retain the chairmanship of the committee on pensions, and Senator Henry Cabot

Remarkable Scenes.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Theodore Roosevelt told 12,000 persons yesterday that the Bible was a good book, and that they should read it and try to live up to its teachings day by day.

Several thousand more tried to get into the Hearst Greek Theater to hear him. They brought lunch and camped along the hillside and in the theater as if they had taken root there. They

They flowed around the edges, a human tapestry. They struggled at the gates, swept away the police lines and left only a little space in the center of the platform for Roosevelt.

It was the greatest gathering seen in these parts since Tetraxini sang at Lotta's fountain on Christmas eve. They sat patiently hour after hour, waiting. They sang "John Brown's

"No man is worth his salt who doesn't think deeply of woman's rights, and no woman is worth her salt who doesn't think a thousand times more deeply of the rights and duties of her home."

"Personally I'm very tepidly in favor of woman suffrage, but it seems to me it is infinitely less important than innumerable other questions which are worthy of our thought and effort."

"A good woman must be now, as in the past, a good wife, a good mother, and able to train up healthy children."

"A man isn't fit to exercise the right of suffrage himself if he isn't decent and doesn't occupy a proper position in the home."

"Unless every American is a pretty good fellow and his wife is a better fellow it will be impossible for this nation to rise. No ability atones for the lack of sound family life."

"Be ready to fight if necessary, but be decent. If you are willing enough to fight, nobody will complain about your being virtuous."

Lodge, of Massachusetts, the chairmanship of the Philippines committee. The chairmanship of the committee on postoffices and post-roads is at the disposal of Senator Crane, of Massachusetts, who will be the ranking member after Senator Penrose takes the chairmanship of the finance committee, but it is possible that Senator Crane may wish to retain his present chairmanship, that of the committee on rules, in which event Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, will become chairman of the post-office committee. Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, will retain the chairmanship of the committee on printing. The chairmanship of the committee on privileges and elections is at the disposal of Senator William P. Dillingham, of Vermont, now chairman of the committee on immigration. It is expected he will take this chairmanship, leaving immigration open to Senator La Follette. Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, of Idaho, will become chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds. Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, it is expected, will retain his present chairmanship of the committee on public lands, although he is also the ranking member of the committee on territories, and can assume that chairmanship if he so desires.

There has been considerable discussion as to the possibility of the insurgent members of the Republican party endeavoring to overturn the customary practice of assigning the committee chairmanships and places through seniority, but it is believed there is no foundation for this assertion. As a matter of fact the insurgent members of the Senate gain more at this time through the application of the rule of seniority in making committee assignments than any other group of Senators. Under this rule, Senator Clapp, one of the leading insurgents, will obtain the chairmanship of one of the most important committees in the Senate, that of interstate commerce. Senator La Follette will be chairman of the committee on immigration; Senator Bourne will be made chairman of the committee on postoffices and post-roads; Senator Crawford, chairman of the committee on claims; and Senators Borah and Bristow will be advanced materially on the various committees to which they are assigned.

present assigned. The insurgent members of the Senate will be given representation on the committee on committees, and it is tacitly understood that Senator Cummins is to be given a place on the committee on finance.

Besides the numerous changes in the chairmanships of important committees, a large number of desirable committee places are available, to which the younger members of the Senate, in point of continuous service, and the insurgents will be appointed. Of these vacant positions, three will be on the committee on appropriations, two on the committee on commerce, four on the District of Columbia, four on the committee on finance, three on foreign relations, three on interstate commerce, three on judiciary, four on military affairs, two on naval affairs, two on pensions, five on postoffices and post-roads, four on privileges and elections, three on public buildings and grounds, four on territories and two on the committee on rules.

These vacancies will give ample opportunity to the Senate committee on committees to gratify the ambitions of practically all of the Republican members of the Senate.

HENRY HOGAN'S POOR ESTATE

W. P. Fennell's account as amended by the addition of new claims, in administration of the estate of the late Henry Hogan, lawyer, is submitted for approval. The order awaiting signature gives the following claims and the pro rata amounts to be paid thereon: Mrs. C. L. Seybolt, $53—$1.76; Julia M. Hopkins, $913—$30.58; P. H. Burnette, $10—$36 cents; tax assessor, $35.40—$1.20. Total claims, $33.90. Julia M. Hopkins appears to have a particularly hard deal, as a large portion of her claim is for cash advanced to Hogan, to whom she furnished room and board.

KUNAWAI WATER RIGHTS.

Editor Star:—The statement made in the Bulletin yesterday that Chop Leong, the Chinese taro planter, had his right to water from the Kunawai spring decided by Judge Lymer in his favor, was decidedly erroneous. The facts connected with the case were these: that a case of malicious injury was brought against Chop Le-ong on the complaint of Mrs. Elmira Johnson that he had been seen destroying the embankment of the pond of Waulana, which is her private property, and of whose waters she has absolute control. The defendant denied that he had dug on the embankment, and another Chinaman having sworn that he was the one who did the digging and injury to her property, Chop Leong was discharged on the ground that there was reasonable doubt as to his guilt.

The right to the waters of Kunawai spring which is a public spring has never been questioned by Mrs. Elmira Johnson but she has objected to the neighbors' destroying her private property and helping themselves to the waters of the springs owned by her on her property. No dispute was made by Chop Leong as to Mrs. Johnson's right to control these waters; he merely denied that he had trespassed upon her property, claiming it was a case of mistaken identity.

ANOTHER COLONEL.

"We Americans," said Simeon Ford at a banquet in New York, "are justly famous for our titles. I used to think that the finest of all our titles was that of Colonel Abraham Hardgrass, who told a questioner that he was neither a regular nor a volunteer Colonel, but a Colonel by marriage, having wedded the widow of Colonel Harrison Pike, of Pink Creek. But I came across the other day a still better Colonel than this. He was rather seedy and, handing me a soiled visiting card, he asked me in a low voice if I could lend him $2.

"I glanced at his card. It was inscribed 'Colonel William Melcher Dana.'

"You are, I presume," I said, "a Colonel in the Army?"

"Yes, sir," he said.

"Regular or Salvation?" I asked.

"Neither, sir," he answered; "army of the unemployed."—New York Press.

TEDDY SERMON

Body" and "Kearer, My God, to Thee, and anther after anther.

Crowd Jams Street.

When Roosevelt arrived he could have walked from the platform to the top of the terrace on a pathway of human heads.

The white hands clapping for him were like the leaping of the breakers of a shining sea. He turned to a white-haired minister sitting beside him and said:

"This is the most extraordinary thing I ever saw."

And Roosevelt has seen some extraordinary things in the way of congregations.

What did they come for and what did they hear?

This is a sample of what they heard:

"Let the man who goes to church and reads the Bible feel that it is peculiarly incumbent on him so to live in the face of the world that no discredit can be brought on his creed or on the Book."

Or this:

"More and more I believe that all people who possess either religious belief or aspiration are going to demand conduct as the ultimate test of the worth of a belief."

No Pyrotechnics.

There was nothing sensational, no soul-stirring excitement and cloud lifting—just a plain talk to the heart of the plain people, with the sun beaming on the scene and the trees rustling.

Roosevelt strove hard to repay the thousands for their wait. When it was over he went to the edge of the platform and spoke to an old lady who had stood all through the talk, her upturned face trembling directly under him.

"Madam," he said, "I am profoundly sorry that you should have had to stand all this time. I am afraid I haven't done you much good, but I want to tell you that you have done me a lot of good."

Then he bowed to all the crowd as though to include them all in this last sentiment.

The great crowd vibrated for him and told him as plainly as could be when he was right and when he was wrong.

He abhorred a man who had a beautiful religion on Sunday, he said, and then proceeded to forget it the rest of the week. A little wave of laughter broke over the platform. The faces seemed to say:

"That's right; we know such men. Tell us some you know."

He warned to the subject.

Play All Thieves.

"I don't like the thief—big or little—in business or in politics," he said. "But I dislike him most when he tries to shield himself under the pretense that after all he is a religious man."

"The man who advances the fact that he goes to church and reads the Bible as an offset to the fact that he is a scoundrel in his public and private relations only writes our condemnation in larger letters than before."

"All of you have seen the appeal made to stand by a man who has done evil because he is a pillar in the church. Such a man is a rotten pillar in any church."

"The men of the church should be more jealous than the outsider to hold such a man to account."

He told them of their little work, honest, and they judged each other and acknowledged it fairly.

"We can help our fellow men and ourselves," he said, "only as we strive—with whatever shortcomings—to lead our lives in accordance with the principles laid down in the Bible."

"I mean that for today. When you go home this afternoon, apply it to those nearest to you."

"Don't wait for some great heroic chance to show you are a good Christian, but show it in the little things that make up the big things."

Children and Bible.

The children were not forgotten.

"I ask you to train your children in it," he said.

"A word of advice: Don't commit the awful error of training the child by making him learn verses in the Bible as a punishment. He will associate it all the rest of his life with a disagreeable task. Don't, for pity's sake, make the children look on the Bible as an instrument of torture."

"The worth of religious teaching is shown, not in hysterical excitement of the soul, not in selfish contemplation of one's own spiritual feelings, but by our conduct to our fellow men."

"Act it—do it. You will save your own soul best by working for the souls and bodies of others."

"We must strive so to conduct our lives as to be to a certain extent our brother's keeper—to show we actually do take into our own souls the teachings we read."

As the day was the 300th anniversary of the King James translation of the Bible, Roosevelt discoursed for some time on the merits of this and other versions and the shallowness of certain Bible critics.

Suffragettes Asked Help.

Colonel Roosevelt is not enthusiastic in the cause of woman suffrage. He believes in it; but the liking and the belief are, as he expressed it yesterday, merely "tepid." Even the latter word seemed a rather strong adjective to apply to his favorable leaning after he had finished qualifying it. He admitted that he had voted for suffrage whenever the occasion arose, but he added that he had done so without any particular warmth or enthusiasm.

Just before Colonel Roosevelt arose to speak he was handed a letter of voluminous size, written on several sheets of note paper. He glanced at one or two pages, frowned and deliberately tore the missive up. The crowd laughed and the colonel smiled. He referred to the incident when he began the discussion of woman's rights.

"Before I came on the platform today," he said, "I was handed a letter from the Equal Suffrage league asking me to say something regarding women's rights."

"It wasn't the letter I tore up," he added, after a pause which had been punctuated with a general laugh. Then he continued:

"I have always told my friends that no man is worth his salt who didn't think deeply of woman's rights"—another pause—"and that no woman is worth her salt who doesn't think a thousand times more deeply of the rights and duties of her home."

"Personally, I'm very tepidly in favor of woman's rights. I have voted for equal suffrage whenever the occasion has arisen to exercise a ballot upon the matter. I have studied the subject, and I have studied its effect in the states in which it is in use, and I have studied the condition of women in these states and adjacent ones. But I never have been able to take very much interest in the question, because it seems to me it is an infinitely less important than innumerable other questions which are worthy of our thought and effort."

"I don't believe that much of the harm which its opponents say will result from it would actually occur—that half of 1 per cent of the good which its advocates claim. I don't think that the question is one thousandth or one millionth as important as keeping, and where necessary reviving, among women the idea that their great work must be in the home. A good woman must be now, as in the past, a good wife, a good mother, and able to train up healthy children."

"As for the men—there is no man with whom I am in less of sympathy than one of the type who are in favor of women doing their home duties, but who don't do their own. A man isn't fit to exercise the right of suffrage himself if he isn't decent and doesn't occupy a proper position in his home. The home and family life are at the foundation of our government. Let a man do his duty first at home and then he is fit to take part in the direction of community affairs."

Men Who Are Not Men.

"We all know the type of man frequently found at crossroads groceries, who in his abundant leisure explains how humanity could be benefited and how the nation should be run, and who whistles away his own time while his wife takes in washing. We also know the type of man in our government who is possessed of the loftiest ideals but whose family breathes easier when he is away from the house."

"Disregarding the exceptional cases and speaking normally, no man can be of service to the state or amount to anything in the way of usefulness to the community at large unless he is decent in the close relations of life. No ability atones for the lack of sound family life. If divorcees grow greatly in any community you can set it down as an unquestioned fact that there is something rotten in that community, that there is some evil at work that must be put down and overcome, or there will follow widespread disaster."

No Molluscoides Wanted.

"If a man practices a different code of morality from that which he demands that his wife shall follow there is no civic matter to which he can arise worthily. I don't mean that I like molluscoides. I admire a man, but I abhor the creature who uses the old saying 'a man must be a man,' to excuse being vile and vicious. Be ready to fight if necessary, but be decent. If you are willing enough to fight nobody will complain about your being virtuous."

Urges Raising of Families.

"Unless you believe that the average man and the average woman should be married and have healthy children, then it is a waste of my time to come before you and a waste of your time to be here. If you don't believe that your stock should be kept up you are not a good American, and I for one won't mourn your extinction. I would rather welcome any race that comes to take your place, for you are not fit to cumber the ground. Now, I have got by the most unpleasant part and can't expect applause, and I don't care a rap what you think of me for telling you."

ABBREVIATIONS.

In preparing to read over the affidavit filed by Mr. Kinney in the matter of the case against Baltazar, Attorney E. M. Watson, remarked that it was submitted by Mr. Kinney of Kinney, Prosser, Ballou and Anderson and to save time he would refer to the firm as "Kinney, et al." To this Mr. Prosser promptly rejoined: "No objections to us referring to you as 'Wat'?" "None," smilingly answered Mr. Watson, "It is a familiarity which I expect sometimes from counsel."
