Hold Wilder Is Still Judge

He Is Declared To Hold Office
Until Successor Is Appointed

The present status of the Territorial Supreme Court is a puzzle that has not yet been solved to the satisfaction of local members of the bar, and the situation has been further complicated by the statement by Judge Dole of the Federal Court that he considered that Arthur Wilder is still a justice of the Territorial Supreme Court until the appointment of his successor.

Judge Dole referred to the remarkable situation in which the Territorial Supreme Court finds itself in the course of his decision holding that the proceedings of the Federal Court were not necessarily halted because one of the judges was absent from the Territory.

The view expressed by Judge Dole is that Wilder continues as a de facto justice of the Territorial Supreme Court until his successor is named, even though his resignation "to take effect immediately" has been accepted by President Taft.

The same principle involved in the status of Wilder and the Territorial Supreme Court was disposed of in the course of his decision holding

"Rejoice, for today there is born unto you, in the city of David, a Savior who is Christ the Lord."

When the elements from other events of note marked for celebration are passed over, but not so with Christmas. Here, in this very city, where, but a life's span ago, the story of that lowly birth was not even known, demonstrations of "Peace on earth and good will toward men," will compare more than favorably with cities that have known civilization and Christianity for centuries.

From the generous impulses made manifest this yuletide season it would seem that the dove of Christmas spirit has hovered over these islands, spreading her wings from Hawaii to Niihau.

Another phase of this season is the manifest endeavor to lead the little children in the footsteps of Him whose illustrious birthday tomorrow commemorates. Creed is forgotten and one hand seems to lead them.

As has been anticipated, last night's round of Christmas festivities has never been equaled in Honolulu. Local talent were given a chance to display their worth and that they fulfilled their part to the entire satisfaction of all concerned, can only be gauged by the immense audiences which filled the various churches and assembly rooms, to do honor to the coming birth of the Christ-child.

At the Central Union Church lavish preparations had been made to accommodate the immense crowd which early filled the rows of seats. The decorations were beautiful and in strong contrast to the lowly manger where the Christ-child was born. James A. Wilder must have felt proud when he surveyed the densely packed auditorium, the eager faces of all around, the decorations and the subdued lights, the product of many a hard day's work spent in making his Christmas Carol the success that it turned out to be, and a credit to Honolulu talent.

It would be impossible to describe all that was portrayed at this church last night. Words are wanting to express the pleasure that this Carol has given to so many hundreds of people both young and old. The village of Bethlehem stood out in bold relief in an exquisite reality. Shepherd boys were seen discussing the advent of the new star which for the first time was seen by these watchers of the night. The story is a very beautiful one and one that is always dear to the hearts of young people, who learn it for the first time at their mother's knees.

The wise men were portrayed by Robert McCarriston, George Fuller and Dr. Geo. Herbert. Dr. Hobdy acted as Gabriel. Clifford Livingston took the part of Joseph, while Miss Townsend

Charley Notley Offers To "Step

Hilo, Dec. 21.—Charlie Notley, the great leader of the Home Rule party, said last week that if Delegate Kahanaloale were willing to run for Delegate at the next election at the head of the Home Rule ticket, he, Notley, would be perfectly willing to yield to him this place which he has filled for so many years.

Notley was in Hilo but a few hours, having arrived on Thursday afternoon, bringing his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Heen, to Hilo, and leaving for Hama-kua in the Mauna Kea the following morning. The talk about the report to the effect that the Delegate had withdrawn from the Republican party was all over the street, and Notley was asked by many politicians what his opinion of the situation was.

"I don't believe the report," said Notley. "I think that it is all hot air. I still think that Kuhio will get the nomination from the Republican party, even though it be true that he has fallen out with the administration."

"However, if Kuhio has quit the Republican party and wants to run for Delegate on the Home Rule ticket, I am perfectly willing to step aside and to let him run in my place. I will only

Valuable Cargo To Be Turned Over To Cousinees

The filing of a cash bond by the owners of the British ship Celtic Chief is daily expected and the release of the valuable shipment of fertilizer consigned to the Hawaiian Fertilizer Company will then speedily follow.

Norman Watkins, the general manager of the local concern to whom the Celtic Chief and her cargo is consigned, has been in constant communication with the owners at Liverpool, England. A few days prior to the stranding of the Celtic Chief near the entrance to the harbor, one of the owners of the vessel died in England. This sad event may have brought about a general readjustment in the head offices of the Celtic Chief Shipping Company.

WATERFRONT NOTES

CAPTAIN MILLER. It is reported, all take the bark Alden Besse to the coast on her voyage upon which she will start the last of next week. The Alden Besse is taking over a thousand tons of scrap iron supplied by "Scrap Iron Brown." The cargo is being stowed under the able superintendence of Eben Low in such manner that there will be no risk of its shifting and causing trouble while the vessel is at sea.

THE UNITED STATES revenue cutter Thetis is due to arrive off the port tomorrow morning and Harbor Master Clark has been asked to assign a permanent mooring for the vessel. The Thetis is coming down from the coast and she has wireless in that she will surely reach here on Christmas Day. The Thetis may be sent on a cruise to the various outlying islands in order to police up the bird poachers.

THE STORES necessary for a voyage to Fanning Island were placed aboard the little schooner Concord this morning and that vessel is now prepared to go to sea. The vessel is being sent to the south seas for a shipment of guano. The Concord's men will not lack for a plentiful supply of Christmas cheer. The store list comprises a variety of good things to eat.

THE CONTENTION has been raised that the danger to sailing ships in piling upon the reefs near the entrance to Honolulu harbor could be obviated by the port pilots boarding the wind-jammers off Koko or Diamond Head. The necessity for a change has been agitated since the recent disastrous experience which befell the British ship Celtic Chief.

OUT OF THE hundred or more persons booked for the excursion to Hawaii by the steamer Mauna Kea practically the entire company has signified their intention of going through to the volcano. The party will leave by the popular inter-island vessel on Friday evening, December 31 and will return to Honolulu early on the following Monday morning.

THE MAUNA LOA wharf had all the appearances of a very animated bazaar following the arrival of the inter-island steamer Mauna Loa from Kona and Kau ports. The steamer brought a half hundred crates of turkeys and there was a lively and noisy colony of little porkers who are expected to grace many a Hawaiian feast on the morrow. Sheep and other live stock also appeared on the manifest. The Mauna Loa brought 27 cabin and 52 deck passengers. Included in the cargo was 1044 sacks coffee, over one hundred sacks potatoes, 96 sacks beans, 368 barrels oranges, 17 cases dried fish, 14 bundles hides, 17 crates coconuts, 259 packages sundries, 50 head cattle, 55 hogs, 53 crates chickens and ducks, 55 crates turkeys, 96 bunches bananas and 35 crates Hawaiian fruits. The Mauna Loa met with considerable rough weather on the inward trip. It was found impossible to work ship at Punaluu and the shipment of five hundred sacks of fertilizer was brought back to Honolulu.

IN BUSINESS CIRCLES

Christmas week has of course been quiet in many lines of business with the exception of those supplying the public with gifts for the Holiday season.

The Holidays that started in the earliest and as the best Honolulu has ever known in the retail trade, have kept up the record to the last day. Every business man of Fort street reports increased business and nearly all of them have been rushed to the limit.

This city has a larger Fort-street buying population than it has had since 1890, and it should be said to the credit of our business houses that the goods bought for and displayed this season are more up-to-date and attractive than ever before. Merchants all seem to have sensed the coming of the good times, laid in ample stocks and of the best lines.

Honolulu's American population is increasing steadily. The Federal operations are bringing in a good number of skilled workmen. Assistant Secretary Cooper of the Promotion Committee reports that there are more tourists in the city than ever before at this time of year and enough are coming to tax the transportation lines to the limit. In addition to this the present enterprises of the city are attracting or rather demanding a good number of skilled and well paid employees. The leading automobile garages have been constantly increasing their staffs, and the class of men required are of the best skilled mechanics. So it is all over the city. The local supply is not enough, and with the expansion that is going on everywhere a man here and one there go to make up a good sized total of desirable new-comers, many of whom have families.

Many express the belief that after the holiday rush of business there will be a very decided slump. It will be quieter of course, but the man who figures that Honolulu has stopped growing and business will fall off in the future fails utterly to grasp the drift of events. January may be a comparatively quiet month; just enough to give the business houses time for stock taking. But the business rush will be greater than ever in the following months. Tourists will be coming to the islands in numbers to test the capacity of the city accommodations. The return of the Pacific Fleet for a week in February will keep everyone humming. And above all other things is the steady onward march of the Federal work, always moving along very quietly, but always bringing in new men, and always building something that is permanent and assuredly adding to the citizen population of this island.

It becomes almost tiresome to repeat it, but the fact nevertheless remains that the Federal government has hardly started on the margin of its work on this island. That being true the business rush of today will be the regular business detail of tomorrow.

The coming year should see a good share of this great development work in full swing. This not only includes the many features of making Pearl Harbor a naval base but coincident with that is to be the construction of army posts and continuation of the fortifications.

While all this is going on the main industry of the Territory looks forward to another very prosperous year.

The week just passed in the stock market has witnessed the very speedy ending of the so-called holiday stock slump. Last year the revival of prices began on the 22nd. This year it was two days earlier—If the drop in quotations on the stock board may honestly be designated as a slump. The quotations went down to figures that made the stock exchange list appear and also to be absolutely ridiculous. That Wai-lua and Pioneer should apparently drop seven and eight dollars a share as the stock list would suggest is utterly foolish. Each of these properties is in as good and even better physical condition than when the stocks were selling at a much higher figure, and yet the exchange list shows that these stocks suffered a terrific slump. All of which is nonsense. If any man sold out under the fear of the slump he was merely a fool who could be flimflammed by ghost stories.

Hawaiian Commercial could not be shaken. In the midst of the alleged slump, it advanced a dollar a share and is now taken up at 37. Ewa, Oahu, Onouka and Makaweli are all strong. It will be remarkable if the latter does not start upward before long on the report of a stock dividend later in the season. With four cent sugar this property, with no bonded indebtedness, will be due for some sensational turns.

The cheap stocks have failed to revive as rapidly as might be expected. Olan directors have called a special meeting of the stockholders to pass upon the refunding of the bonded and floating indebtedness. It is proposed to take up a million and a quarter of the floating indebtedness under a new issue of bonds totalling two millions and a half. The present holders of bonds will either be paid off on the next interest date, February, or they will take the new issue bonds. This will reduce the floating indebtedness of the plantation to some five hundred thousand dollars, and put the stockholders in a much more satisfactory position.

Perhaps the average stockholders of this plantation do not realize it, but they have to thank the good ideas of the head of Bishop & Co. that they have any stock. By all odds the best money-making method of dealing with Olan during the days of its adversity would have been to have "frozen out" the stockholders and placed the property in the hands of the bondholders and creditors. This could have been done and by many would have been regarded not only as a legitimate business move but a very proper one. Mr. Damon has not seen it that way however. His financial policy has been to build up rather than revive through destruction, and that is why the stockholders in Olan today have something of value for their certificates of stock.

Olan is now in good condition else it would not be possible to refund the loan. It will have a first class crop this season, and the returns from all the fields are showing the value of thorough cultivation that nearly every plantation has had to undergo before it really struck its profitable and steady progressive stride.

McBryde has also dropped, for the time being, a dollar and a quarter a share. No good reason exists for this. The plantation is in first class physical condition. It has not changed since Alexander & Baldwin took the agency, and indeed the floating of $500,000 of bonds of the Kaula railway carried through the last week further strengthens the property. This stock should go up and will when the season is well along.

Raw sugar prices have fallen as was expected. The Thursday quotation of 4.04 cents was followed by a further drop of ten cents a hundred in refined. Then followed another this morning to 4.04, making the greatest disparity between beets and centrifugals that has been recorded in the last ten years. Beets are 12s. 3/4d, or a parity of 4.50. This makes a difference between London beets and New York centrifugals of $11.20 per ton. Cuban sugars are now beginning to come into the market and the period of low prices is on. It is doubtful that the price will go below four cents.

One of the most important real estate features of the week was the sale of Walkiki property under direction of Cecil Brown. This property at auction sold to the Bishop Trust Company for one of its clients at $7,750. The bidding started at $5,000. This places a value of about $31,000 per acre on Walkiki property in that vicinity, as there were practically no improvements on the latted tract.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR JAPANESE

Kanagawa, Who Slew Servant Employed by Judge Lindsay, Must Die on the Scaffold for Revolting Crime.

Sentence of death was imposed yesterday afternoon upon Kanagawa, the Japanese convicted of killing a countrywoman, employed as a servant in the home of Judge Lindsay in Manoa Valley. Kanagawa broke into the quarters occupied by the woman early in the evening and when she returned from her work he attacked her and cut her throat. He then turned the weapon upon himself, making a determined effort to cut his own throat, but failing.

The Japanese did not betray the least sign of emotion when he heard the death sentence pronounced upon him yesterday afternoon. In response to the usual question as to whether he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be pronounced upon him Kanagawa replied in the negative.

Temporary insanity was the plea made by Attorney Larnach in defense of the man. Jealousy was the motive for the crime.

FREDERICK G. NOYES, for some time past a night inspector with the local customs, has been promoted to the day staff. Noyes recently passed a higher grade examination and he has been receiving the congratulations of his many friends upon the substantial boost in his status as an accommodating customs official.

OLD CHRISTMAS CAROL.

"Lo! Now is come our joyfulst feast!
Let every man be jolly.
Each room with yvie leaves is drest,
And every post with holly.
Now, all our neighbours' chimneys smoke,
And Christmas Blocks are burning;
Their ovens they with bak't-meats choke,
And all their spits are turning.
Without the door let sorrow lie;
And if, for cold, it hap to die,
We'll bury't in a Christmas pye,
And ever more be merry.

"Now every lad is wonderous trimm,
And no man minds his labour.
Our lasses have provided them
A bag-pipe and a tabor.
Rauke misers now doe sparing shun;
Their hall of musick soundeth;
And dogs thence with whole shoulders run,
So all things there aboundeth.
The country-folke themselves advance;
For Crowdy-Mutton's come out of France;
And Jack shall pipe and Jyll shall dance,
And all the town be merry.

"Now poore men to the justices
With capons make their arrants,
And, if they hap to faile of these,
They plague them with their warrants.

"Harke how the waggas abroad doe call
Each other forth to rambling;
Anou, you'll see them in the hall,
For nuts and apples scrambling.
The wenches with their wassell-bowles,
About the streets are singing;
The boyes are come to catch the owles
The wild mare in is bringing.
Our kitchen-boy hath broke his boxe,
And to the dealing of the oxe,
Our honest neighbours come by flocks,

"Now kings and queens poore sheep-cotes have,
And mate with every body;
The honest now may play the knave,
And wise men play at noddy.
Some youths will now a mumming goe;
Some others play at Rowland-hoe,
And twenty other gameboyes moe;
Because they will be merry."

—Wither.

Wishing you a very Merry Christmas, and of all that is good in this life, an abundance.

He is certain of being famous who will discover Dr. Cook.

Next thing we know Estrada will be moving on Washington and asking Knox why and what for.

Admiral Schley knows what it is to be near and yet so far. He just can't help siding in with Dr. Cook.

King Albert of Belgium will have to make a mighty miserable job of it to be any worse than his notorious predecessor.

All trading stamps need to make them popular is a little opposition.
They usually run their course when let alone.

Honolulu never had a Christmas like it, but there are more of the bigger and better variety coming as rapidly as each year rolls around.

What matters the weather on Christmas eve? The night before, when the buying was done, could not have been more nearly perfect.

If with all that is being done to discover forgotten children, anyone in Honolulu fails to have a Merry Christmas, it will be a mistake and an exception.

That battleship Utah is a pretty good Christmas present in these days when peace on earth has to be maintained with threatening blood and much frowning iron.

Canada's purchase of a cruiser is a good proposition. When the mother country is seriously threatened, everyone except the enemy likes to see the children coming to the aid of the old folks.

No one thinks much of public officials being on the delinquent tax list. Many—of them—believe they should be exempted because of the services they make in going into the service of the people.

Congressman Foss has the correct idea when he says the dry dock at Pearl Harbor should be big enough to last for all time. We don't want a dock that will be outgrown before it is hardly completed.

The Bulletin closes the Christmas season with the record of publishing the largest, the best and the most liberally patronized newspaper in town. It pays to be progressive and to believe in the future of Honolulu.

When you stop to think that Woodruff was in the Interior Department under Roosevelt, you can't help wondering whether there was not more than $20,000 of Pocahontas Coal behind his quick decision to head for the metropolis.

Uncle Joe Cannon is probably using the Christmas recess to go into training for that terrible tongue lashing he promised to give insurgents in general, and Congressman

Christmas Candies

The Alexander Young Cafe manufactures its candies daily. This is why they have that delicious "Home-Made" flavor so foreign to candy of mainland manufacture.
Cleanliness is our watchword, and we invite inspection

Fowler in particular. Joe wouldn't feel natural if he did not start the New Year with a war whoop and a cuss word.

It may be that Judge Woodruff wanted to be near the center of things so as to be in the thick of the fight while the Ballinger-Pinchot Investigation is on. He is, or was, one of the Pinchot supporters, and Honolulu is a long way off when things are happening in Washington.

Attorney General Wickersham's decision on the Prior lands of the Philippines will give those islands the greatest land boom they have ever experienced. We shall see how well able the President will be to keep the lands from falling into the control of corporations after the much disapproved system of Hawaii.

LONG LIFE TO YOU.

How pleasant it is on the approach of the happiest Christmas Hawaii has ever known to read the announcement of Yale's distinguished scientist, Prof.
Irving Fisher, that man's natural span of life is 150 years.

It may not be possible for the people of this generation to celebrate the 150th Merry Christmas, but Fisher agrees with the famous Metchnikoff and cholera. Consumption is being that the average length of human life in civilized communities is increasing fully one year in six, whereas 200 years ago the rate of gain was, but four years in a century.

This remarkable average gain of longevity is undoubtedly due in great measure to the decline in the rate of infant mortality which has been brought about within three decades last past by the discovery of serums and antitoxins which successfully combat diseases such as diphtheria, once considered almost mortal. Half a century ago it was roughly computed that only half of the persons born attained more than the age of five years.

Infant mortality remains, in fact, the principal cause of the seemingly low average duration of all human lives, which at this time is estimated at 38 years. It is probable that what the insurance actuaries term the "expectation of life" is now really greater at 10 years than at birth.

Modern sanitary science practically has eliminated from the list of scourges such diseases as yellow fever
and cholera. Consumption is being cured by the open-air treatment. We have learned that nourishment is the best medicine for most diseases, and cleanliness their greatest foe. The modern hospital is the highest achievement of man which looks to his physical preservation. Nowadays, if a man has the disposition to retire from exhausting fortune hunting while yet he enjoys his prime, and with a competence, devote himself to the maintenance of his health and his constitutional vigor, there is a long chance for him to grow old without becoming aged. Of this principle perhaps our own and only John D. Rockefeller, whose physician declares his charge will live to 100 years, is the most distinguished exponent.

To determine that the average present duration of human life is 38 years, by no means indicates that the strong man of 20 is not reasonably certain to attain 50 years. Since, then, we now are gaining one year of probability of existence with the passage of every six, and since the ratio of the latter figure to one is constantly decreasing, the arrival of the 150-year-old modern man is not so remote but that it may be observed before the New Zealander contemplative upon a broken arch of London bridge staring at the ruins of St. Paul.
And yet another noted Yale man has told how longevity may be attained. Henry P. Hodges of Bridgehampton, N. Y., is the oldest living graduate of Yale, class of 1838, and writes to the Alumni Weekly that he has always been an early riser, 5 o'clock in the summer and 6 o'clock in the winter—and it has ever been his custom to take a walk before breakfast. He adds these opinions as better than medicines:

"Long life may be inherited. No machine unused goes at its best, nor does it do so if overused.

"If asked to give reasons for attaining great age, I would name these:
Sleep eight hours, exercise enough to keep the machinery from rust, eat no more than what is easily digested; all overplus is an extra load to carry.
Cultivate peace of mind. Worry hinders and never helps. Abstain from all intoxicants as a beverage. Be an optimist if you can, and if you cannot, don't be a pessimist. Do good to your fellow men; that will do you good."

In other words, if you would live long, be merry not alone on Christmas Day but all the year round. Then you may be sure of many of 'em.

PLENTY OF RAIN.

There has been an abundance of rain along the Hamakua, Kona and Kau coasts during the past week, according to a report which has reached this city from the officers of the inter-island steamer Mauna Loa. The downpour was of sufficient density to prevent the working of cargo by the Mauna Loa at Punaluu on her inward trip.
The rain is said will do much good to growing cane.

HOLD WILDER IS STILL JUDGE

(Continued from Page 1.) of when Circuit Judge Robinson's term lapsed and it was held that he continued as Circuit Judge even though his time of appointment had ceased, there being no one else to exercise the duties of his office.

It is not probable that Wilder's status will come up in regular form, there being no emergency measure that can come before the Supreme Court and Associate Justice Perry being absent on the mainland.

Wilder has resumed the practice of law as a member of the firm of Thompson & Clemons and has severed all connection with his duties as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, of which it is now held by many he is still a member, whether he wants to be or not, until his successor, Circuit Judge De Bolt or Robbing B. Anderson, is nominated by President Taft and confirmed by the Senate.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmacological societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrup, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

WILL FAVOR KUHIO AS HOME RULER

do so, however, on the understanding that Kuhio will agree to stand for the principles which I have stood for in the past. These are in the main the advocacy of changes in our land laws, altering them so that the poor people will have a chance to get their share of the public lands, and so that they may be enabled to get rich from the lands. As a matter of fact, we ought to have the New Zealand land laws introduced here, and this is what I have been fighting for the past four years, but I have been preaching to deaf ears. But, as I say, if the Prince is willing to stand for these principles, I am willing to step aside in his favor.—Tribune.

HILLO, Dec. 21. — The Republican county committee held a meeting last Tuesday evening at which arrangements were made for the strengthening of the organization of the party in various ways. Chairman Beers presided, while Assistant Secretary B. H. Brown acted as secretary.

The chairman reported that he had appointed the provisional committee members as follows: Messrs. Ross, Austin, Patten, Swain, Capellas, Affonso and himself, and that all these gentlemen had expressed their willingness to serve.

Beers asked the county committee whether it had any suggestions to make for the provisional committee to act upon, as that organization would hold a meeting two weeks from the night of the meeting. He stated that the Republican members of the Board of Supervisors would be invited to be present at the meeting of the provisional committee.

A. M. Cabrinha raised an objection to the appointment of two members from the same outside precinct, namely of Ross and Capellas from Hakalau, on the provisional committee. He gave as his reason the fact that in cases where immediate action was required, for instance, for the making of endorsements for the filing of vacancies, these two members could not be depended upon to be at the meeting as soon as it would be required.

Chairman Beers ruled that at the meetings of the county committee, when the matter of the membership of the provisional committee had been brought up, the selection thereof had been left to him as chairman, and at that time the same objection had been raised and had been overruled by the vote of the majority. The membership would therefore remain unaltered.

Mr. Bohnenberg moved that the secretary be instructed to write to the president and secretary of every precinct club on the island stating that their membership rolls were wanted in order that when any vacancy occurred in any office under a Republican administration, the same could be filled by picking out the most able men whose names were found on these rolls. This motion carried.

A. M. Cabrinha moved that the secretary be instructed to write to the provisional committee to the effect that it was the sense of the county committee that a fund should be procured in order that two good and able men could go around the island to organize precinct clubs. This motion carried.

Supervisor Fernandez suggested that immediate action be taken towards getting the members of the Board of Supervisors into harmony before the matter of the organization of precinct clubs be proceeded with, and this suggestion was unanimously adopted.

The secretary was also instructed to communicate with the executive committee in Honolulu, to ascertain whether that body would recognize the endorsements made by the county committee.—Tribune.

PAELE IN HONEST, BUT HE MAY LOSE HIS JOB

united in the declaration that Paele is unfitted for the work at hand. For many months reports have been coming across the Pail of the failure of Paele to make good. He is also charged with running his department under too great an expense. It is said that it cost him more money for the maintenance of his horses than any other road supervisor in the county of Oahu.

In defense of Paele, it is contended that he is under greater expense to feed his animals owing to the fact that all feed as well as material must be hauled a greater distance. He does not enjoy the advantages of using the plantation railways that falls to the lot of several of the other road supervisors.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that Paele must go. At least he must be replaced by a more efficient official and if he remains in the service of the city and county it will be in some minor capacity.

Mayor Fern, while non-committal, is believed will soon nominate another man to fill the position of road supervisor for Koolau-poko district.

LOCAL CONSULS MEET TODAY

Consuls of Three Powers Extend Christmas Aloha To Each Other

Hon. Leong Kok Ying, the new Chinese Consul in Honolulu, this morning received the consular representatives of foreign powers at his residence on Sheridan street. He was assisted in receiving the foreign consuls by the secretaries of the Consulate.

Hon. S. Uyeno, Consul General of Japan, called on the new Chinese Consul this morning, remaining with him a few minutes. British Consul Foster also paid his respects to Consul Leong Kok Ying this forenoon.

Although the new Chinese Consul does not speak the English language fluently it is said that while here he will try to master the language as fast as he can. His son is already a student in Oahu college.

Chang Hai, the former Chinese Consul, will leave on the Mongolia next Monday.

POLICE COURT NOTES

At the police court this morning there were only four cases set for trial. The first man to face the music was Okul, the Japanese, who yesterday confessed to robbing Admiral Beckley of the sum of $11.35.

Judge Andrade gave Okul a lecture about the benefits of keeping to the narrow path, and then sentenced him to 90 days at Asch's hotel. Okul will just reach the hospitable home for Andrade's proteges in time for Xmas dinner, which will be served at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

After Okul's case was disposed of three festive Xmas drunks faced the music. They were of mixed nationalities and had evidently partaken of mixed drinks also. Mike Kean, from the old country, was let off lightly as regards a fine. Four dollars was thought by Judge Andrade to be about sufficient—considering the head Mike was suffering with—to atone for the fall from sobriety.

Then John Darling—no relation to the famous Grace of that ilk—stood up, and as he is a well-known beer fighter, was quickly handed a Christmas box that entitles him to all the privileges of Asch's sanitarium for the next fifteen days.

It is said that Judge Andrade, who also fell from the participation of Xmas, was in charge of trying to absorb all the booze in sight at one attempt. Judge Andrade decided to give him a chance of being in the bosom of his family at the festive season and treated him to a suspended sentence of thirteen months.

The court then adjourned till Monday, when it is expected that a big list of cases will be on the calendar. Tonight should be avoided as a jag date, as, in the event of being run in, it means waiting in the cooler till Monday morning.

Former Chinese Consul Chang Hai will be a passenger on the Mongolia sailing for the Orient next Monday.

CHRISTMAS

represented Mary, the mother of Jesus. That she looked beautiful and made a fitting representation of the Madonna goes without saying. The shepherds were Ruth Farrington, Everett Brown, Roy Bush, Willard Ables and Reynold McGrew. The players were instructed by J. A. Wilder and the result was a tribute to his artistic temperament and the hard work that he has put in to make this carol the success that it was.

The orchestra, which had been especially swelled for the occasion by the addition of the best talent from the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra, was under the able direction of F. J. Vierra. This was a musical treat in itself and clearly shows that our local talent is the equal, if not the master, of any on the mainland. In all there were twenty-five pieces, and these responded to the excellent leadership of Mr. Vierra in a manner that was positively thrilling. Samuel Peck played the zither with great delicacy of touch and one could almost feel himself transported to Austria, amidst the green woods and pleasant valleys in the neighborhood of Vienna.

At St. Andrew's, in the Davies Memorial Hall, the children of the parish gave and received presents. In front of the Christmas tree stood a representation of the manger. Before the close of the evening this had been filled to overflowing with gifts for the orphan and poor children of Kakaako. There was no program but refreshments were served to all.

The entertainment by the children of the Susannah Wesley Home on King street was also much appreciated, and the way the young people drilled and went through their various exercises clearly shows with what care they had been coached by Mrs. O. H. Walker of the Palama school, Miss Saunders and Miss Edith Mack. The Christmas tree, which was the gift of Mr. Ludwizson of the Palm restaurant, was literally loaded with presents and profusely decorated. The members of the Korean church donated the candy and oranges, so that the hearts of all were made glad and a kindly spirit prevailed throughout the whole evening.

Songs, recitations, drills, etc., were given as only children can, when they have their hearts in what they are doing. Rev. C. M. Pond, W. A. Bowler and Rev. A. Jones were present and added in the various entertainments. Many of the children who participated at this home last evening will take part in the exercises to be given tonight at the Korean Methodist church.

It is not only in the churches and private homes that Christmas is to be celebrated, but in the prisons as well. Through the clemency of Acting Governor Mott-Smith pardons will be granted to some of the prisoners, who will thus be enabled to spend their Christmaside in the bosom of their family. Presents are being received at the goal for convicts serving a life sentence, and with an elaborate menu that is being prepared, these poor unfortunates will be made to realize that there are some warm-hearted people still left in this old world of ours, who care for the welfare of even convicts.

The big Malihini Christmas tree, of which the papers have been giving full details lately, will be seen in all its glory tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. A. E. Murphy and a corps of helpers will start to decorate the tree this afternoon. By the time tomorrow's sun is well overhead a staff of helpers under the direction of Mrs. Church will have arranged and sorted the thousands of packages and gifts of all kinds that are now awaiting distribution in the rooms of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

The distribution of tickets was begun yesterday, and though some 1200 were issued to the poorest children of Honolulu, there are many more waiting to be made happy by having a ticket given to them. The supply of dolls has long since been exhausted but toys galore have been requisitioned and the children are at a fever heat in anticipation of the crowning event of tomorrow. The boys from the Kalihi Home will be brought into town in a most luxurious style. Mr. J. Lewis having agreed to carry the boys in his trolley. This will be a treat in itself, as many of the boys have never been in an auto before.

The Rev. C. H. Min and his assistants have arranged a program for tonight at the Korean church. The exercises will commence at 7:30 o'clock and should prove an unusually unique and interesting entertainment. Korean customs and mannerisms will be vividly portrayed and should prove interesting to strangers who have never seen these people in their native state.

The McKenzie Mission, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, held its exercises last Tuesday evening. The event marked the close of a successful year as typified by the large attendance in the various classes.

The "Bumbees" Class of the Central Union Church, organized by Mrs. Royce D. Mead, gave its Christmas exercises last Tuesday. Many attended and spent a most enjoyable evening. Tonight is Christmas Eve, and the one night in the year when Honoluluans delight to give themselves over to riotous conduct. Past years have clearly shown that the throwing of powder, and other objectionable matter (together with the setting off of bombs and firecrackers, is now so long looked upon in the light of true carnival spirit, but an intolerable nuisance. Sheriff J. J. Lamm has issued explicit instructions to his men that anyone found throwing things about the public streets or annoying the public in any way, will be dealt with in a very summary manner. Headless drivers of vehicles and automobiles will be followed and arrested and the public will be protected in such a way as to insure perfect safety to pedestrians.

CHRISTMAS FOR CHINESE YOUTHS

Frank Damon looked radiantly happy last evening when seen surrounded by a surging mass of eager and excited little Chinese boys and girls at the Chinese Mission on Fort street, where Christmas was being celebrated. Helping him were A. M. Merrill and Miss Lawrence and a host of other kind-hearted people, who one and all gave themselves up to making some 800 little Oriental tots happy and contented.

It was a wonderful sight and one never to be forgotten. Just think of it! Eight hundred Chinese children, all speaking perfect English, assembled to honor the birth of our blessed Savior. Eight hundred eager little mites with hands firmly clasped, waiting for Santa Claus to make his appearance. Yes! Christmas is celebrated in Honolulu, and in a manner that would be considered even more beautiful than in Germany or England, where that special feast day is kept as only north country folk know how.

Most of the children are being educated at government schools. They all looked clean and healthy. The Chinese consul and his private secretary were present and sat in the seat of honor facing the immense Christmas tree. Both took much interest in all that was going on.

After an excellent program had been rendered, the great event of the evening was then ushered in. This took the form of a procession, headed by a life-size camel—"The wise men of the East had come from distant Arabia to bring gifts of incense and myrrh to the Christ Child that was born in a manger in Bethlehem." The costumes worn by these men were exact copies of those worn in the old biblical days, and to some extent worn by Bedouin tribes even to this day. Twice they circled around the church before proceeding to the platform, much to the delight of the immense congregation. The tiny little children had never seen a camel before, and it was indeed a revelation to them. With eyes almost popping out of their heads and with mouths wide open, they watched the procession and kept as quiet as mice during the singing of the carol that followed.

When the wise men had departed Alice Wong, Lan Yin and Yun Yuk were appointed a committee of three to wake Santa Claus up, who seemed most reluctant to leave his warm bed on such a cold night. After his attendants had tried in vain to send these three little girls away empty handed, Santa Claus was forced to appear, which he did by way of the proverbial chimney. Basket loads of toys, candy, popcorn and all manner of good things so dear to the hearts of young people were lavishly dispensed. So careful were the ushers to see that no child was overlooked that everyone was made the recipient of some gift.

The part taken by Santa Claus was worthy of the highest praise, and considering that Ah Hen Li is but a little boy, he kept his audience in roars of laughter the whole time by his excellent acting. Well possessed, and not in the least self-conscious, he acted his part with a vim and a naturalness that is too often lacking in some professionals of the stage. Ruth Ho was the Queen of the Fairies and looked daintily pretty in her snow white dress and gauzy wings. One of the wittiest things that Ah Hen Li said during the course of his act was that he had filled George Washington's stockings when he was a little boy and that he did not have to climb into a cherry tree to do it, either.

Special prizes were given to the following named pupils in recognition of their having been present at every Sunday school class during the past year: Ruth Ho, Lan Yin Yip, Ah Hen, Moo Jen Fong, Lu Duck Li, Ah Yu Kong, Ah Leong Kong, Ah Ho, Charles Ho, Ah Tai Moo, Willie Ho, Chua Lum, Ng Hen Kong, Yuen Nyuk, Len San Li and Lillie Moo.

Japanese and Santa.

The Nuuanu street Japanese Sunday school gave an entertainment at the Japanese Independence Church on Kukui street last evening which was a huge success. Long before the time came to open the doors, dense crowds surged around the entrance, so eager were they to pro-

We are using our very best judgment in selecting different makes of Automobiles to sell, in order that we may conscientiously back up the judgment with our very best selling efforts.

In selecting the various cars we now handle the following points, which nine years close association with the Automobile has shown are of paramount importance, have been the deciding ones.

First unquestionably comes day in and day out service with a minimum of expense and trouble. Second, the ability of a car to stand up to its work and after a year's service run as quietly as when new. Third, its riding qualities (which are co-related with freedom from the expense and trouble). Fourth, its ability to bring a good price at second-hand, which also depends on the first three points.

Such a car is the Premier, which will shortly be on exhibition.

cure sitting accommodation. The chairman for the evening was I. Limura, the chief address being delivered by the Rev. T. Horl. There were songs in Japanese, recitations in English by members of the Japanese Sunday school classes, a tableau in which girls and boys participated, a dialogue by two Japanese boys, which was exceedingly pleasing, a solo by Miss McCormick and a speech by S. Saruhashi.

The most noticeable feature of the evening was the large attendance of Japanese mothers, who one and all had their arms full of plump little pieces of humanity. When Santa Claus was ushered in there was a murmur of excitement from all present, and as the handsome gifts were being dispensed exclamations of approval could be heard on all sides. It takes a Christian of the Anglo-Saxon or Caucasian races to see with what sincere enjoyment converted Orientals have accepted the custom of Christmaside and the good old fashioned Santa Claus.

STEAMING in fine weather and smooth seas, the American oil steamer Roscreans was reported by wireless last night as 23 miles off the port.

It has been decided to repeat J. A. Wilder's representation of the Nativity and Christmas Carol at 8:30 Monday evening in the Sunday School room of Central Union Church. This is done to give those unable to be present last evening an opportunity to see the very beautiful and impressive piece. There will be no admission fee but a collection will be taken to defray expenses.

S. S. VIRGINIAN IS FLOATING GRANERY

American-Hawaiian Liner
Filled With Flour
And Feed

The American-Hawaiian freighter Virginian, which arrived from Puget Sound this morning, was to all intents and purposes a floating granery in which vast quantities of flour, feed and grain were stored during its transit to the Hawaiian Islands.

The Virginian arrived off the harbor this morning. Owing to a mistake in the making out of her health papers, some delay was occasioned at this end of the line in getting practice to the vessel.

The Virginian brings a large amount of feed stuffs and other mainland commodities consigned to the Hawaiian Islands.

The big freighter brings cargo from New York via Tehuantepec and Salina Cruz and also picked up extensive lines of freight at San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Tacoma.

The steamer met with fair weather on the way down from the Sound, which accounts for her arrival at this port at an earlier date.

There is a shipment of 18,000 sacks of feed. Other lines include 2,000 sacks of bran, 7,000 sacks flour, 2,000 bales hay and 6,000 sacks oats.

Kerosene oil to the amount of 10,000 cases also arrived by this vessel, and in addition to this array of supplies there are 1,610 barrels of cement, 425 kegs of white lead, 150 kegs of paint and 500 cases of salmon and a big quantity of sundries ranging anywhere from cotton goods to steel rails.

The Virginian will discharge her cargo for Honolulu at the railway wharves, and will then proceed to Kahului and Kanapali. The Virginian will be supplied with a large shipment of sugar, a portion of this cargo being taken on here and the remainder at the other regular island ports of call. The steamer will get away soon after the first of the year for Salina Cruz.

"At the close of 1903 I took sick as the result of catching cold. I became very weak and could not do anything. I consulted a doctor, who had me take various kinds of medicine, but I did not find any relief from my suffering. At the advice of a friend, I wrote to you and you advised me.

"After I had taken two bottles of Peruna there was noticeable improvement. I combined the use of Peruna, Manalin and Lactopur and after taking several bottles of each I find myself entirely cured.

SACRED SONGS OF THE HULADR. EMERSON'S BOOK ON ANCIENT CUSTOM*Springfield Republican Review of Valuable Local Volume

The scope of the operations of the bureau of American ethnology was by act of Congress approved in 1906, extended so as to include the ethnology of the Hawaiian Islands. The appropriations of the bureau were, at the time of the change, devoted to certain investigations on subjects pertaining to American Indians, and it was considered advisable to continue these until their completion. Therefore, the opportune presentation of a memoir on the "Unwritten Literature of Hawaii," dealing specifically with the sacred songs of the hula, was gladly welcomed for publication and is now issued as number 38 of the series of bulletins. The author, Dr. Nathaniel B. Emerson, makes his home in Honolulu and was born in Wailua on the island of Oahu.

All peoples give expression to their emotions by song, and their songs are frequently accompanied by dancing and music. Among the aboriginal Hawaiians the "hula" was the most conspicuous means of accomplishing this purpose. Says the author: "The most telling record of a people's intimate life is the record which it unconsciously makes in its songs." In further explanation of the relation of the hula to the life of the Hawaiians, Dr. Emerson says: "When we ask what emotions stirred the heart of the old-time Hawaiian as he approached the great themes of life and death, of ambition and jealousy, of sexual passion, of romantic love, of conjugal love, and parental love, what his attitude toward Nature and the dread forces of earthquake and storm, and the mysteries of spirit and the hereafter, we shall find our answer in the songs and prayers and recitations of the hula."

In discussing the hula itself it may be further compared to "a religious service, in which poetry, music, pantomime, and the dance lend themselves, under the forms of dramatic art to the refreshment of men's minds." The hula or "halau" in which the hula was performed, was originally built by the native as a "temple to his god" and a formidable code governed the selection of the site: "There were omens to be heeded." In more recent times, with the passing of the strict tabu and rigorous etiquette, less care has been taken with the building of the halau. In every one of these there was in altar which was the visible temporary abode of the deity. The decoration and consecration of the halau and its contents were accomplished with elaborate ceremonies including adulatory prayers sung to the deity Laka:

In the forests, on the ridges
Of the mountains stands Laka:
Dwelling in the source of the mists.

Thine alone are the pillars of Kahiki,
Warm greeting, beloved one,
We hail thee!

There were many gods of hula, affecting each of whom were special decorations with plants and flowers, as well as special songs. One of these was Kapo, who was the sister of Pele and the daughter of Haumea. She was the divine patron of the hula and like Laka at times she was a sylvan deity. It was in the garb of woodland representations that she was most worshipped by the hula folk.

The ceremonials connected with the support and organization of the hula are of interest, and these find full description. The rules governing the selection of the performers—the agile ones for the dances and the sturdy ones for the handling of the instruments—as well as mention of the duties of the officers, receive adequate consideration. The ceremonies of entrance into the guild of hula dancers are elaborate. The prayer-song begins:

Oh wildwood bouquet, oh Laka!
Hers are the growths that stand here
Suppliants we to Laka.

Then as the neophyte approaches the altar a prayer is made which concludes with the supplication:

O Laka, incline to me!
Have compassion, let it be well

Well with me, well with us both.

Finally come the jubilant tones of the splendid song which marks the acceptance of the candidate. Sometimes it is a spirited picture of some noble sport, like surf-riding:

From Wakea's age on-rolling,
The roller plumes and ruffles its crest.

Here comes the champion surf-man,
While wave-ridden wave beats the island.

A fringe of mountain-high waves,
Spume lashes the Hikiau altar—
A surf this to ride at noontide.

Glossy the skin of the surf-man;
Undrenched the skin of the expert;
Wave-feathers fan the wave-rider.

Many are the songs which Dr. Emerson has collected and they illustrate many phases of life. Some pertain to the ceremonials, such as the anklet song, which describes part of the costume:

Fragrant the grasses of high Kanehoia,
Bind on the anklets, bind!
Bind with fingers deft as the wind
That cools the air of this bower.

Others are simply songs celebrating some individual or event:

From mountain retreat and root-woven ladder
Mine eye looks down on goddess Moana Lehua;
I beg of the sea, Be thou calm;

Or perhaps of some passion:

Love is a tree that blights in the cold,
But thrives in the woods of Mahiki.
Walks loves me like a sweetheart,
Dear as my heart Koolau's yellow eye.
For love—it is love.
Your love visits me even here,
Where has it been hiding till now?

Perhaps there may be those who will recall the Hawaiian singers who have visited the different expositions that have been held in this country, and remember with pleasure the beautiful minor chords of their fascinating music:

The weed-tangled water-way shines
Like a rope of pearls.

Dew-pearls that droop the coco leaf,
The hairs of the trees, their long locks—
Lo, they wilt in the heat of Kailua the deep.

With painstaking accuracy Dr. Emerson describes the original instruments used, in the hula—the pahu or drum, the u-uli, or rattle; the pulli, or bamboo rattle, and the shells of various forms with native names. Listen to the song of the tree-shells:

Trill afar, Trill a-near,
Wreath akolea,
A dainty song-wreath,
Kolea, Kolea,
Fetch me some dew,
Dew from pink akolea.

The dances are fully described also many games with accompanying songs. Among the games is Kilu, which Dr. Emerson describes as follows:

The game of kilu was played in an open matted space that lay between the two divisions of the audience—the women being on one side and the men on the other. Any chief of recognized rank in the papa all was permitted to join in the game; and kings and queens were not above participating in the pleasures of this sport. Once admitted to the hall or enclosure, all were peers and stood on an equal footing as to the privileges of the game. King nor queen could plead exemption from the forfeits incurred nor deny to another the full exercise of privileges acquired under the rules.

The modern Kul, the formal public appearance of which dates from the coronation ceremonies of King Kalakaua in 1883, is fully described. For that interesting ceremonial these were 39 performances of the hula kul, and 262 hula performances listed for exhibition. Of course not all of these can be described, but many of the songs are included, some of which are now frequently heard from school children who take them up and may be frequently seen foot- in their measures on the streets. Let us give one stanza from "The Water of Kane," which to the Hawaiian mind might most nearly approximate the legend and myth of the Hoid Grail:

One question I ask of you:
Where flows the water of Kane?
Deep in the ground, in the gushing spring
In the ducts of Kane and Loa,
A well-spring of water, to quaff,
A water of magic power—
The water of life!

Life! O give us this life!

Dr. Emerson sums up his study of this unwritten literature with the following words: "The poetry of ancient Hawaii evinces a deep and genuine love of Nature, and a minute, affectionate, and untiring observation of her moods, which it would be hard to find surpassed in any literature. Her poets never tired of depicting Nature; sometimes, indeed, their art seems heaven-born. The mystery, beauty, and magnificence of the island world appealed profoundly to their souls; in the them the ancient Hawaiian found the image of man the embodiment of deity; and their myriad moods and phases were for him an inexhaustible spring of joy, refreshment and delight."—The Springfield Sunday Republican, Nov. 28, 1909.

Finish—Hayes	2:26:54 3-5

Johnny Hayes proved the winner of the Marathon race held at the Ocean Shore Grounds yesterday afternoon says the Examiner, and the time announced by the official timers was 2 hours 26 minutes and 54 3-5 seconds. Jimmy Fitzgerald, the Canadian runner, took second place, half a mile behind Hayes, and trailing in for third place came Connolly, the hope of the local enthusiasts.

It was a great race and kept the crowd of 8,000 spectators interested from start to finish, but the wonderful times made left a doubt in the minds of those familiar with track records as to whether the distance was all it was supposed to be. After the race an unofficial measurer went over the track and found it to be 80 yards short to the mile, which would make the full distance of the race over a mile less than the Marathon distance of 26 miles and 385 yards.

It is a pity that the course was not properly measured. Hayes could have completed the full distance yesterday and hung up a mark that would have beaten the record, as he had plenty of time to spare and his condition at the finish was such that he appeared good for any further distance which he might have been called upon to run.

Hayes Showed Stamina.

The man who won the Olympic Marathon in London at the games held there in the summer of 1908 gave San Franciscans their first sample of what a high-class Marathon runner is. He showed good headwork. His stamina was phenomenal and the local enthusiasts who planned their faith to Connolly had to acknowledge the equality of the winner when they saw him lap their man time and again in the late stages of the race and eventually end the long grind more than a mile ahead of the best known of the local runners.

Hayes has wonderful leg power. His stride is almost perfect and in spite of his short legs—he is a short man—he gets over a good deal of ground every time he swings his stubby legs forward. There was not a moment throughout the long trial of endurance that Hayes showed a sign of being tired.

When he finished his hair was matted and his running clothes were soaked with perspiration, but he wore the same half-amused expression on his face that had comforted his backers all through the two hours and a half of running.

Carried Off the Course.

From his lips protruded a quill toothpick, which he held between his teeth from start to finish of the race, and there was not a spectator on the ground who did not at some time during the contest remark on this strange substitute for chewing gum. When the London winner finished the phenomenal sprint which carried him around the last two laps at a quarter-mile gait the crowd surged on the field, lifted him shoulder-high and carried him in triumph to the dressing room.

With two more laps to go when the winner finished Jimmy Fitzgerald, the Canadian runner, plugged along and took second place. The spectators, packed along the track with only running space left clear, waited for the final lap of Connolly, and gave the plucky Irish runner a cheer as he finished the distance.

Connolly is not the man he was. For sixteen miles he ran with the strength and style that have won him so many races at all distances hereabouts, but when he started to sag he sagged all over, and in spite of the fighting Irish blood in him, which would not let him give up, he could not muster the strength to hold on to his younger rival.

Connolly Too Old.

In the last three miles he was so much fatigued that Fitzgerald had no trouble in picking him up and passing him several times. The local man was a great runner in his day—he is yet—but time will tell and Connolly has passed the age when improvement ceases and deterioration sets in.

The afternoon's sport had a decided Irish flavor to it. Hayes, the American runner who won the race, takes pride in his Irish ancestry. Connolly is a native of the Emerald Isle; Fitzgerald can hardly deny his name, though he wore the British flag as a native of Canada, and King although a soldier in Uncle Sam's army, never runs without some green in his costume to show where his forbears had their birth.

Tim McGrath, the promoter, is the most enthusiastic Irishman on Pacific street, and with Mayor-elect McCarthy shooting the starting pistol the Celtic picture was complete.

King Made the Pace.

Soldier King was the fourth man in the race and the military man indulged his fancy for making the pace by leading most of the way for the first fifteen miles. Fitzgerald kept out in front when the pace set off, but the local runner did not follow him so well that he could not make any ground and the first mile was covered in 4:50, with Connolly in front.

King took the lead at the end of the second mile, but while the band was playing the "Wearing of the Green" in honor of the soldier, Fitzgerald started a sprint and took the lead away from King. Fitzgerald led for a lap or two and then King went out in front and gradually drew away from the bunch. Connolly passed the Easterners and followed King, while Hayes dropped back, evidently content with the pace he was making.

In the sixth mile King lapped Hayes and in the next mile he passed Fitzgerald. Connolly caught Hayes and Fitzgerald just before the completion of the eighth mile and the three ran together, King being a hundred yards ahead. This order was maintained until the eleventh mile, when Hayes tried Connolly out with a few well-timed sprints.

The local man was still full of running and held on, but the continued tests between the men who were reckoned as the real contenders brought them up close to King.

At this stage of the game King was beginning to show the signs of fatigue, which finally caused him to drop out of the race, and the spectators were watching Connolly and Hayes, who were running together, the local man having an advantage of one lap on his opponent. Fitzgerald was running lame, his ankle having struck one of the wooden stakes which marked the inside of the track, and there were few who considered him a contender at this stage of the game.

The trouble with the Canadian runner, however, was a blistered foot and when he stopped in the fourteenth mile and changed his shoe his chances were considered so slim that one of the spectators raised a laugh by calling to him, "You'll have to hurry."

The change in his footwear lost the Canadian two laps, but when he got on the track again he showed a lot of speed and carried a cheer with him all around the ring as he gamely sprinted and crept up on his adversaries.

Connolly Finally Weakens.

In the fourteenth mile Connolly and Hayes drew ahead of King and it was evident that the soldier had shot his bolt. Fitzgerald kept up his fast pace and regained one of the laps that he had lost and went out ahead of the others in an endeavor to regain the other.

About this time Hayes began to sprint at intervals, but could not shake Connolly, who was tenaciously holding on to his one lap lead. When Connolly had completed his sixteenth mile Hayes made another effort and this time the local man failed to respond. The winner of the London Marathon drew away from Connolly and the sprint was the beginning of the Easterner kept up his steady clip while Connolly wilted, and at seventeenth miles and a half Hayes got a big cheer from the crowd as he caught Connolly and placed himself on even terms with his rival.

Hayes sprinted again and Connolly failed to respond. Fitzgerald, however, followed the fast clip of the London champion, and in turning the corner fell heavily to the ground. He jumped to his feet immediately and kept on after his opponent. Hayes lapped Connolly in the stretch at the end of eighteen miles and a half and in the middle of the twentieth mile Hayes gained another lap on Connolly.

Hayes Sprints at End.

With nineteen miles and a half under his belt King decided to get out of the race, Hayes being then a mile and a half ahead of him. From this point it was only a question of how far Hayes would win.

In the twenty-first mile Hayes again lapped Connolly and in the twenty-second he put a second lap between himself and Fitzgerald. In the twenty-third mile Hayes made it four laps on Connolly. In the twenty-fourth he made it five and in the twenty-fifth he passed the local man for the sixth time.

Then came the finish. Hayes was running so strongly that there seemed no possibility of anything changing the result of the race, but there were few who realized the amount of reserve which the youngster had left. In the final mile he overtook Connolly for the last time and playfully patted the veteran on the back as he speeded past. With two laps to go Hayes showed his mettle by sprinting and the course of spectators went wild as he dashed around the track and finished the allotted distance apparently full of run and certainly not distressed.

The crowd had broken through the ropes and the cordon of police and swarmed over the track, and the inside enclosure. It was only by main force that the police could clear the narrowest of paths for Fitzgerald and Connolly to complete the remaining distance.

Two Soccer Games For Christmas Day

Tomorrow afternoon at the league grounds there will be two games of soccer, and both promise to be good ones. In the first struggle the Iron Works and the High School will meet, and the second game will be between the Punahou and Malles. Play will start at 1:30 o'clock, and by that time there should be a fair-sized crowd of spectators present. Punahou and Malles are leading in the competition, and whichever team wins tomorrow will take the lead in the series.

The Punahou are playing good soccer football, and although the Malles appear to be the favorites as far as chances of winning go, the Puns should make them extend

The boys from the H. L. W. are going to do things tomorrow, and the High School will be up against a strong bunch of players. The Iron Workers are very popular with the fans and the players are always cheered on to victory by the men who crowd the side lines.

It being a holiday tomorrow, a large crowd is expected to travel out to the league grounds and take in the games. Outside of the Y. M. C. People who are all the time talking temperance are usually people who use the most intemperate language. In answer to a letter recently written by one of these, "Harper's Weekly," the great American newspaper, replied as follows:

"Harper's Weekly is by no means as much opposed to beer as you are. It believes that pure beer, properly made and aged, is a much less hurtful beverage for the common run of people than spirits of any kind. We think of beer as an article of diet; you seem to think of it only as an article of riot. Of course it is more dangerous than bread or cheese, or even than meat, but it is not the horror that you think it is. We have known, intimately, persons who drank a little beer at times, who did not seem to be useless. We do not recommend beer as a beverage to anybody. The doctors do, sometimes; that is their office, not ours. But we think that for the common run of people who are not abstainers a little beer is a safer drink than a little whiskey, and a great deal of beer somewhat less dangerous and destructive than a great deal of whiskey. We have always favored the army canteen where beer and light wines were sold in limited quantities as being far less destructive than the bad drinks that soldiers have been getting in bad places, since people who feel as you do got the canteen closed. The results of that action has been to give our army the worst hospital record of any civilized army in the world.—Editor."

While the views of the editor of "Harper's Weekly" are not entirely our own they undoubtedly represent the sane views of a temperance man.

When it comes to good beer there is strength and health in every drop and not a bit of harm in a barrel. The beer to drink in Hawaii is

SPORTS

BY V. L. STEVENSON.

Scully To Manage Sports Meeting

Now that Jack Scully has taken hold of the proposition of managing the sports meeting to be held at the Athletic Park on New Year's Day, everything is sure to be run in proper style.

Scully has rented the park from the proprietors and will be in full charge of the whole show. The ten mile championship race will be the main event, and the walking race between Ayres and Sullivan will also be an exciting event.

Antone Kaoo is in strict training, and the old "Wailua Horse" will surely do as well, if not better, than he did in the memorable ten mile race at the Athletic Park some months ago. The old fellow has the sprint for sure, and if he and Tsukamoto are close to one another a mile from the finish the result will be another win for the Hawaiian.

The Japanese, however, will, it is said, run a different race this time, and he intends to try to run Kaoo off his feet in the early stages of the contest. In every other race Tsukamoto has contented himself with allowing the other men to make the pace all the time; that would be very sensible as long as a sound pace was maintained, but in one or two of the events the leading man slowed down so much that if Tsukamoto had used a little judgment, he would have at once gone to the front and made the pace to suit himself.

Tsukamoto should make the pace as hot as possible from the crack of the pistol, and then if he can last the distance he should go close to winning. The Japanese has no other chance of winning, as Kaoo has the foot on him in a sprint, and if the men are close together anywhere near the finish Kaoo's number will surely be hoisted as the winner.

Ayres and Sullivan are in fine condition for the walking race, and both are confident that the prize is coming their way. The distance should suit Ayres better than that of the Kalakaua avenue race, and, judging by the time he has put up over a mile, he should push Sullivan very closely.

There should be a big crowd of spectators at the Athletic Park on New Year's Day, and as all the Japanese in the city will roll up to see their champion perform, there should be an exciting time all around.

Jewels And J. A. C. Meet On Sunday

On Sunday afternoon when the Diamond Head and J. A. C. nines step onto the diamond at the Athletic Park, there should not be a vacant seat in the grandstand or on the bleachers.

Everybody has been talking about the coming series, and the greatest interest is being shown in the selection of the teams. The Diamond Heads will be represented by the best bunch of players that can be gotten together, and the Japs have also named a fine nine.

Leslie will do the twirling, for the Jewels, and will be caught by Winne. This battery is a good one, and the J. A. C. will be up against the real thing on Sunday. For the Japanese Espinda and Gibson will do the pitching, and Brilo will be on the receiving end. The work of Espinda against the senior players will be watched with interest, and he will have a fine chance to make good in first-class company.

Gibson, who generally pitches for the Marines, is in good shape, and he and Espinda, properly changed, should make the Jewels sit up and take notice.

There will be two games on Sunday, and in the first the Mu Hocks and Asahis will hitch up. These minor league players are improving fast, and they put up a good exciting game at times. The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock and the second at 3; the class of ball put up should be as good as any we have seen for a long time.

Wail Cup Play This Afternoon

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Gee and Castle will meet on the Beretania courts and fight out the best three out of five sets for the possession of the Wail cup.

The match should be a very exciting one, and everything points to a close contest. Gee has recovered from his indisposition and has had some practice that should fit him for the struggle. The champion knows he is going up against a tough proposition in Castle, and he realizes that he will have to play his very best in order to win.

Castle is playing in fine form and his strokes all around have improved a lot. His service is good and he rarely fails to make his first good; he should give the present champion a close run for the cup.

The championship of the islands is in no way involved this afternoon, but still if Castle should win he will be looked upon as about the best player in the Territory. The real championship is only played for once a year, whereas the Wail cup is contested every six months.

There are lots of people who wish Will Roth would get busy and start practicing properly. He is a first-class man on the courts, and has a variety of strokes not possessed by any other player in Hawaii. Roth should get into condition and have a go for the championship again; he would stand an excellent chance of defeating the present holder of the title.

If the rain holds off this afternoon there should be a big crowd of tennis enthusiasts at the Beretania courts, and those present should be rewarded by being able to watch a really first-class match that will be fought out to the bitter end.

Cast And Local Auto News

The von Hamm-Young Company have taken the agency of the Overland make of automobile. The Overland is a splendid type of car and is fitted with sliding gear transmission. The cars will rapidly become very popular in this city as soon as they are known.

H. P. Baldwin of Puunene, Maui, has purchased a seven-seated Peerless car. It was shipped to him yesterday. The Peerless is a beautifully finished machine and can get up a tremendous speed over any sort of roads. The von Hamm-Young people also shipped a Buick to John Louiz of Hawaii. The car is 49 h. p. and is of the touring car type.

A model X Stevens has also been sold to a well-known business man of this city. The Stevens is a peach of a car and looks as well as any machine that is to be seen in Honolulu. A Baker Electric has also been sold to arrive. These cars are catching on a lot, and the owners of those now in use in the city swear by them.

Four Cadillacs which were expected on the last Hilo ship just missed the steamer, and the von Hamm-Young garage expect them to arrive on the next boat.

Down at the Associated Garage the Hudson is still the center of attraction. The pretty little car has done some fine work, and Mr. Odell, who took his demonstrating car to Maui last week, reports that the greatest interest was taken in the machine on the Valley Island.

Odell traveled all over central Maui, and the car behaved in fine style. Some of the hills up Kula way were negotiated in fast time, and the doings of some much larger cars were discounted a lot by the "Twenty."

Some time next month Odell will attempt a record run from Haleiwa and he feels confident that the Hudson can put up figures that will surprise most people. Odell went from Lahaina to Waikuku in 52 minutes 30 seconds, and did it in the mud, too.

Three Hudsons are on the way from the factory now and should arrive in the near future. They have all been sold to arrive, but there are twenty-five more to come along within a few months. A shipment of Chalmers-Detroit is expected soon, too. These cars are very popular in these islands now, and the supply cannot keep up with the demand.

The Schuman garage will be the center of interest as soon as the Studebaker Planders arrive. The low-priced, first-class car should reach Honolulu next month, and it will astonish even the most blasé auto fiend. Mr. Schuman considers that for the money it costs, the Planders is a wonderful machine and that there will be a big demand for them.

The popular E. M. P. is holding its own on the local market, and the Locomobile is looked upon as about the most up-to-date machine handed by any of the Honolulu firms.

Studebaker is a name to remember when automobiles are mentioned, and the well-known old firm is turning out some fine samples of machines at present.

SHORT SPORTS.

The boys at Fort De Russy certainly had a fine time last night, and all those fortunate ones who got invitations had the time of their lives. Early in the evening a balloon was liberated, and it formed a conspicuous sight in the heavens for some time.

The show was simply splendid, and all the artists who took part were applauded to the echo. A large number of service men were present, and they all enjoyed themselves to the limit.

Refreshments were in order and nothing was overlooked in that line; the theater was decorated in catching style, and the lights so arranged that the stage was always well lit up.

Tomorrow being Christmas Day, there will be no issue of the Bulletin. Therefore, a day in advance, the writer would wish all Bulletin readers—and everybody else—a very Merry Xmas and a prosperous New Year.

Trustees of the Y. M. C. A. Decide to Accept the $27,000 Proposition Made by the Library Association.

Unless present expectations are not realized the beginning of work on the new Y. M. C. A. building will date from about March 1. At the meeting held yesterday afternoon the directors and trustees of the association came to the conclusion that they will accept the offer made by the library association and that the Y. M. C. A. will acquire the mauka-Ewa corner of Hotel and Alakea streets for $27,000. The vote to accept the library's figure of $27,000 was carried unanimously and there is a unanimity of sentiment that means the speedy conclusion of the necessary negotiations.

The method of securing the $27,000 necessary for the purchase of the site has not been determined upon and no

At the present time the Y. M. C. A. has $50,000 and the $50,000 given by the late C. M. Cooke. The latter amount can only be used for building and to secure the land just Ewa of the library $30,000 will be needed. This leaves but $20,000 for the purchase of land but it is hoped that further subscriptions will come in after the first of the year.

CANADIANS ARE PLEASED WITH TAIT'S TARIFF VIEW

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 23. — President Tait's message may have a certain bearing on the budget this year, to be out next week. With the message, insofar as it relates to affairs between Canada and the United States, satisfaction is expressed in political circles here. It is felt there is nothing in it which justifies the assumption that there is to be a tariff war, and it is said authoritatively that the government is gratified at what it considers to be the broad manner in which the President has discussed the administration of the maximum clause of the American tariff.

VERSEAS. The Nuuanu Valley residence of Judge and Mrs. Sidney Ballou, was the scene of a beautifully arranged reception, Monday evening, given in honor of Mrs. Harry Turner of Los Angeles, a sister of the hostess. Mrs. Walter Dillingham lead in masterly style, and was ably assisted by the guest of honor. Most of the favors, and figures of the cotillion pertained to the approaching Christmas and holiday season. In the bay window of the drawing room, an artistic Xmas tree, glittering with Christmas ornaments, and tinsel was placed. This beautiful tree was lighted by myriads of tiny electric lights. During several of the figures, when the time arrived to bestow the favors, these dainty trinkets were taken from the Xmas tree. In one figure a bevy of young maids and young gallants circled around the tree. One of the prettiest figures was the one arranged where each couple was lead up to the mantle piece, where miniature gauze stockings were hanging with a tiny card protruding from the top; on investigation the card with "Overseas" embossed in gold in the corner, and bearing the name of their partner for the rest of the figure was found. One of the most effective figures, was the one where ribbon confetti was thrown. This ribbon was in all colors, and when it was thrown in the air, produced a rainbow effect. The house was elaborately decorated in holly berries and green, and red bells. At eleven o'clock the buffet supper was served on the mauka lanai, which had been canvassed in for the occasion. Just before supper Judge Ballou carried in a large plum pudding which had been surrounded by brandy, and when lighted, gave a holiday effect, the lighted pudding was placed in a wreath of holly on the table, all the guests followed the host to the lanai where a jolly supper was enjoyed. This affair was small, and while planned as far as favors, refreshments, and decorations were concerned on an elaborate scale—the keynote of the evening was informality, which lent added enjoyment to the guests. Many beautiful gowns were worn on this occasion, Mrs. Sidney Ballou, was extremely pretty in one of Terrill's famous creations, Mrs. Turner was stunning in yellow chiffon cloth over sea foam green, with gold trimming, with draped skirt. Mrs. George Davies wore blue chiffon with crystal trimmings, Miss Hedemann wore a pink embroidered chiffon, tunic effect, Miss Josephine McClellan was much admired in blue satin, this young debutante carried long stemmed American beauty roses, Miss White wore black satin, embroidered in gold, Miss Cox of St. Louis, wore a princess frock of white chiffon, Miss Beatrice Castle wore a sea foam green, Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper looked regal in a Paris model of black and gold, Miss Rose McClellan was clad in white satin, Miss May Damon looked stunning in a princess gown of cloth of gold, Mrs. Ralph Forster wore a maize colored satin with embellishments of lace; Miss Turner was clad in white satin. After supper the guests participated in an assemblage dance. Among those present were: Hon. and Mrs. George R. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilder, Mrs. Harry Turner, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. William Love, Captain and Mrs. Low, Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Doctor and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Captain and Mrs. Marix, Doctor and Mrs. James Judd, Consul and Mrs. Foster, Miss Beatrice Castle, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Mae Damon, Miss Nora Sturgeon, Miss Rose McClellan, Miss Josephine McClellan, Miss Alice Hedemann, Miss White, Miss Cox, Miss Thatcher, Miss Daisy Gras, Mrs. M. F. Prosser, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Mr. James Page, Lt. Chilton, U. S. A.; Lt. Pardee, U. S. A.; Lt. Rogers, U. S. A.; Capt. Kington U. S. A.; Lt. Burrell, U. S. N.; Mr. William Roth, Mr. William Williamson, Mr. Harold Castle, Mr. Lymer, Mr. Anderson, Doctor Armstrong Smith, Doctor Hedemann, Mr. Bruce Cartwright Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop's Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop entertained Saturday evening, at dinner in honor of Miss Elise Schaefer, the bride-elect of Mr. J. W. Waldron. The decorations for this affair were exquisite, the dining room in which the dinner was served was one mass of American beauty roses. A superb tall cut glass vase, filled with these flowers ornamented the center of the table, while dainty place cards to match the decorations were found at each place. Candelabra with delicate pink silk shades, lent added beauty to the table, the soft glow from the candles proving most becoming to the fair sex. Among Mr. and Mrs. Bishop's guests were: Miss Elise Schaefer, Miss Beatrice Hedemann, Miss Alice Hedemann, Miss Daisy Gras, Miss Ingrid Schaefer, Miss Ella Wight, Mr. J. W. Waldron, Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Arthur Mackintosh, Mr. Frank Armstrong, Mr. Harold Castle, Mr. Jack MacKinnon, Miss Violet Makee's Luncheon. Miss Elise Schaefer was the complimentary guest at a luncheon Tuesday, given by Miss Violet Makee. Ten pretty and attractive young girls and matrons were seated around the circular table, the dainty luncheon being served at one o'clock. Pink roses were the flowers chosen as a decoration, and they proved a beautiful decoration, combined with pink tulle and maiden hair, hand-painted place cards tied with pink ribbon, gave an added touch to the color scheme of pink. After the repast Miss Elise Schaefer, who is a talented musician contributed several numbers to the musical program that had been arranged. Among those present were: Miss Violet Makee, Miss Elise Schaefer, Miss Alice Hedemann, Miss Tenny, Miss Marjorie Freeth, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Mrs. Samuel Baldwin, Miss Lil Patty, Miss Cummins and Miss Helen Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanz Dinner. The most elaborate dinner of the week was the one given in honor of Miss Elise Schaefer, Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Lanz. The table was decorated in green and red. In the center of the table was arranged a miniature Christmas tree, which twinkled with myriads of tiny candles, Xmas ornaments and tinsel. Attached to the tree were 10 streamers of red satin ribbon, which were drawn from the center and fastened at each place, by a smiling little cupid with his bow and arrow in readiness. Each guest was requested at the close of the dinner to pull the ribbon, and found that a dainty little gift had been prepared for them. The guests who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Lanz hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. Kiehn, Miss Elise Schaefer, Major and Mrs. George Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer and Mr. J. W. Waldron.

Hotel Manager. Albert J. Arroll, associate manager of Hotel Manx, San Francisco is in Honolulu for a month and registered at the Alexander Young Hotel. Mr. Arroll is the husband of the late Helen Higginson Mallory, author of "The Mississippi Reckoning" and "The Halcyon Days of Edgar West" and other books, and who was formerly a winter resident of Honolulu; and who came into the public eye in 1905, by writing a scathing article about Mrs. Colonel Atherton of the British Army for an eastern magazine.

children, of which, when summed up, Honolulu has its full measure. On this Christmas of the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and nine, a tree as large, and on the same pretty little park will be a feature of Christmas. The little folk will not be disappointed, for the tree is standing, read for the ornaments and gifts to be put upon it, all for the crowd of little children, irrespective of creed, or color, gazing with eyes of wonder on the beautiful tree, and the good "Saint Nick" who presents himself, and distributes, oh! such gifts of candy and toys, of which they have feasted their eyes upon, as they were so tantalizingly displayed in the shop windows, and to think some of the things they so longed for, is their very own. This act of giving a Christmas to the indigent children, must give the ones who undertook this work, unpeakable pleasure. Their appeal to the Honolulu people for the means to give this treat, and the generous, and ready response—for it was an after thought on the part of those projecting the treat, so that a very limited time was given to raise the funds necessary for this object. The large hearted contributors, are always ready, their hearts want of an association building, is conclusive proof, that the people of Honolulu, are ever ready and willing to give out of their abundance, and those with lighter purses, and no bank account, give in proportion. When the wise men of old brought their gifts to our Savior, lying in His lowly bed, they brought the best they had, and what has been done for these children before, and is being repeated this Christmas is but a carrying out of that custom. May it be a custom established for each year. "A blessed preparatory festival."

Twenty happy children, responded to the invitation of Mrs. William R. Castle, on Saturday afternoon, December eighteen, from three o'clock till six. The event was to celebrate the tenth birthday of her small niece, Alice Moore, oldest child of Doctor Moore. The members of the younger set, arrived promptly and were received on the spacious lanai of the beautiful Castle home. The children had a merry time, romping on the large lawn, and playing games suitable to their childhood, and the joyous laugh and happy games, were a source of pleasure to the "grown up" people, who watched the gambols of the merry children. Refreshments were served in the dining room, where the guests were seated at a long table, beautifully decorated with red carnations and maiden hair fern. A large white birthday cake with ten green candles, indicating the age of the guest of honor, was in the center of the table; a small Japanese lantern was at each place, and a number of small articles, surrounding the places at table, created much merriment. A most delightful afternoon was spent by the two score "tots" who were bidden to the party.

An announcement of exceptional interest to all music lovers is made today regarding three recitals to be given the last three Thursdays in January by Mrs. Mackall, soprano, Mrs. Bannerman, contralto, and Miss Clarke, pianist. Mrs. Mackall and Miss Clarke are too well known to need an introduction, as they have appeared in public recitals on several occasions. One is assured of a well arranged and artistically performed program when they have planned it. Mrs. Bannerman is the most decided acquisition to Honolulu musical circles in a long time. She is a professional singer well known in New York and on the Pacific Coast. Possessing a rich, beautiful contralto voice and much temperament, it is certain she will be warmly welcomed. No finer or more interesting group of performers could be gotten together in one concert in Honolulu. The first recital will be given in the Alexander Young Hotel ball room on January 13, 1910, the other two in the drawing rooms of Mrs. J. A. McCandless and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham.

The Musical Circle of Kilohean Art League are giving a Schubert evening at Bishop Hall, Punahou, Tuesday evening, December 28th. The League is noted for its excellent entertainment, and this one promises to be equal to any in the past. Pursey; after the ceremony only the bridal party and the immediate family will be entertained at a wedding breakfast. The following invitation has been received: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schaefer request the pleasure of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Elise to Mr. J. W. Waldron on Tuesday the fourth of January nineteen hundred and ten at twelve o'clock noon St. Andrew's Cathedral Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Jack Hawes had been planning to come over from Hawaii and spend the holidays with his wife and mother, but they received a wireless message that it would be impossible for him to leave. A number of dinners had been planned in his honor for the coming week, so a number of prospective hosts will be disappointed.

Miss Grace Robertson, who is visiting her sister Mrs. James Dougherty on Kinau street entertained at luncheon, Tuesday, in honor of Major and Mrs. Raymond and Miss Raymond who were passengers on the transport Logan. A Christmas present, which must give satisfaction was received on the last mail—the commission of Lieutenant-Commander Victor S. Houston, U. S. N. The promotion of this young officer was welcome news to his relatives and friends, who are very proud of his advancement. His father rose rapidly in the Navy, and at his death some years ago, was an Admiral.

The rumored disturbance between the United States and Nicaragua, has added interest to both San Francisco and Honolulu, from the fact that Captain Albert P. Niblack is to command the United States cruiser Tacoma, in case things come to an issue. Captain Niblack's wife was Miss Mary Harrington, one of San Francisco's popular society girls. Her accomplishments and beautiful manners, as well as her lovely disposition made her a general favorite. Captain Niblack was stationed here, until a short time ago, when he was ordered to Annapolis. Captain Niblack is not only a social favorite, but in the Navy his position is well assured.

Major Ray and Mrs. Ray left on the Korea, December twentieth for the mainland. Their departure is regretted by their hosts of friends especially on account of the continued indisposition of Mrs. Ray, as her serious illness, makes a decided change of climate, necessary to make any improvement in her condition but a hope for her restoration to health and an early return to Honolulu, is the fervent wish, of those who will be deprived of her pleasant companionship.

Doctor John S. McGrew, celebrated on Thursday, December, twenty-third another birthday and is hale and hearty at the age of eighty-nine. A good conscience and a good digestion must have some influence upon the wonderful vitality which the doctor possesses and his cheerful disposition is another source, from which he draws the fountain of youth. His many friends and admirers, wish him many returns of the day, and that they may be replete with all the good things life can hold.

Between fifty and seventy-five guests of the Moana. Young and Hawaiian hotels will be entertained at a Christmas tree this evening in the lounge room of the Young. Manager Hertche, who is always so thoughtful of the welfare of his guests, telephoned Santa Claus to bring a tree, decorate it, and be there in person, in order to give the glad hand to the guests. During the evening the new Oxetophone will be heard, Mr. Hertche having purchased a number of new records.

The Officers of Fort Ruger and their wives will give a Christmas eve party, this evening. The Christmas tree will be placed in Lieut. Vaughn's quarters. Many funny "take offs" will be placed on the tree, which will help to promote merriment during the evening.

Mrs. James Robert Pourle's tea which will be given January 10th at Fort Ruger, will be an elaborate affair. The invitations have not been issued, but will be sent out about the first of next week. The decorations will be Christmas berries, holly and smilax, with palms and maiden hair fern. Mrs. Pourle, who was one of the leaders in the smart set, of San Francisco, is proving an acquisition to Honolulu society.

Mrs. Frederic Klamp is given a Christmas party this afternoon in honor of a number of children ranging in age from eight to ten. Tuesday Mrs. Klamp will entertain the younger children who are near her own little daughter's age. A number of novelties and favors have been planned for both occasions to bring added happiness to the little ones' hearts.

Our Delegate to Congress, Prince Cappel and Princess Kalaniana'ole called for San Francisco on the Korea, December the twentieth, where they will join the ex-Queen Liliuokalani. After a short stay in that city they will resume their journey to our National Capital, and take up their residence, and remain until the Prince's official duties are ended for the season.

Miss Agnes Cassidy will wed Mr. Spencer Bickerton on January first. The wedding will be very quiet, only the young people's relatives will be present. The ceremony owing to Bishop Restarick's illness will be performed by the Rev. Mr. Bliss.

Captain and Mrs. Marix will act as host and hostess at a Christmas dinner on the morrow. About a dozen guests will be present, most of the guests belong to the service.

SILVA'S TOGGERY OPEN UNTIL LATE

"Ladies read advertisements," said A. C. Silva, proprietor of Silva's Toggery, to a Bulletin man this morning. "That is very evident to me from the large number of ladies calling here in answer to our advertisement of holiday goods."

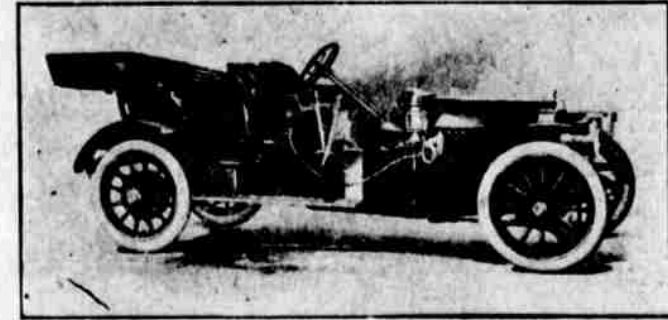

Silva's Toggery undoubtedly has the most brilliant showing of Christmas goods for men ever displayed in this city. The store is the center of attraction and has been filled with customers all day long throughout the holiday season. Ladies make up the majority of purchasers—ladies selecting suitable gift things for those of the opposite sex—and the Toggery offers them a fine and large selection.

Among the most attractive goods offered is the beautiful line of neckwear. This neckwear is really elegant and embraces ties of all shapes and styles that are now in vogue. Combination sets of shirts, hose, handkerchiefs, neckties and suspenders and more simple combinations of hosiery, neckties and handkerchiefs are wrapped in holiday boxes, and these make most acceptable gifts.

It would be almost impossible to give a description of the remarkable stock displayed at the Toggery, but this can be seen by a visit to the store. The Toggery extends a cordial invitation and will be open until late tonight.

The trusts never had so much trouble since they were born.

PORT SHAFER NEWS FIELD AND BARRACKS.

A number of trees and vines have been planted around officers' quarters Nos. 5 and 6 in the past few days.

Private Gordon, Co. H, will be placed on special duty for a short time as painter.

A few of the members of the B. A. Glee Club met Wednesday night for an hour of practice.

Regardless of the rain, many of the boys from Port Shafter visited Fort De Russy Thursday night. All report a very pleasant evening and complimented the engineers on their ability to entertain.

Owing to delays the installation of the heaters for the bath houses of Companies E and G was not finished on Wednesday afternoon. Both companies now have convenient hot water for the first time since moving into the new barracks last August.

New Member. One more man joined the Port Shafter bowling team Thursday. This almost completes the team.

One man only being lacking. A number of good games were rolled, and some good scores made, the best being 217.

Owing to the department commander visiting the post about Dec. 28, duty will not be suspended as expected, except on Christmas and New Years Day. This is a disappointment to the boys, as it is customary to suspend all duty except necessary police and guard during Christmas week. Sometimes duty is suspended for ten days or two weeks.

The boys were required to turn out for the purpose of a general police again Friday. It is necessary to have the post in first-class condition upon the arrival of the Mongolla from San Francisco Dec. 27. This is a short notice, and it is somewhat rushing to police the post in that time.

HILEA'S SCHOOL FOR PRACTICAL THINGS

Where Children Are Taught To Work

An dMake Their Surroundings More Attractive---Grounds Improved---Seismograph and Sun Dial Instruct and Entertain

If you would know of some of the best work that has been done by any public school of the Territory, Superintendent Babbitt would very likely call your attention to the exhibit of the Hilea school in the improvement of its grounds.

A few days ago Mr. Babbitt received a letter from the principal of the school enclosing photographs of the school grounds as they were a year ago, and now. The photo of the grounds today is produced but unfortunately that of the old rock-ribbed areas was too dim to reproduce. Mr. Babbitt says it is the greatest transformation he has ever seen. The pupils have done wonders.

But the grounds are not the only field of activity. A home-made seismograph records the tremors of the earth, a sun dial marks the time and an anemometer records the speed of the wind. If these instruments are not scientifically accurate, they are at least a splendid education for the children both in the making and the use.

The letter accompanying the photographs follows:

Honolulu, Hawaii, Dec. 6, 1909.
Mr. W. H. Babbitt,
Superintendent of Public Instruction,
Honolulu.

Dear Sir:—I am sending you by this mail, under separate cover, a few photos showing changes made on the Hilea school grounds during the past few years. Much of the manual work done here makes little or no showing on the Principal's monthly report, hence the photographs as proof that we are not asleep, though we are in "Sleepy Hollow." I will also, for once, trespass on your time to give a few details concerning the work done.

Three of the prints show the grounds in 1905, 1907 and 1909. With the exceptions of moving the smaller school building over to adjoin the teacher's cottage and erecting the new school house, all of the changes shown in the photographs were made by our boys, with no expense to the Department but for tools and a little lumber.

The carpenter shop, built with the lumber from the old school house, and just started when you were here, was completed that year and is quite an addition to the appearance of the yard as well as very useful. The building is 20 by 30 feet and in erecting it only the best of the lumber from the old house was used. The door and window casings are all new and were made by the boys. The outside is whitewashed, but tinted to correspond with the paint on the new school house, while the trimmings are painted to match.

All the rock has been removed from the high places in the yard by means of sledge hammer and wedges, and as it was solid pahoehoe, the work was hard and slow. As the stone was removed the spots were covered with soil and grass planted. Now, there is not a bare spot in the yard, and the saving in baked skins makes it well worth while.

The terrace, (our particular pride) is half of an eclipse in outline, its axis major measuring 130 feet and its semi-axis minor 36 feet. Building it, and filling in and leveling behind it took us a little over a year. Some of the soil used in covering it had to be taken from the lower lot, making a very long haul for the wheel barrows. Some of the soil came from a gully in back of our cottage, and when the terrace was completed, we had the gully to fill up again, for which we used a-a from the adjoining flow. The front of the terrace has been planted with ivy, and the top with Lemon Grass for a border.

The mold for the pedestal of the sun dial was made in the shop by the boys, and they also brought up from the beach, a few pounds each morning, the sand used in mixing the concrete. The Department supplied the cement, the gnomon was cast for us free of charge at the Pahala Mill, and the dial, a slab of slate one inch thick and twenty-two inches square, I bought and laid out.

Seismograph Home-Made by Pupils of Hilea School.

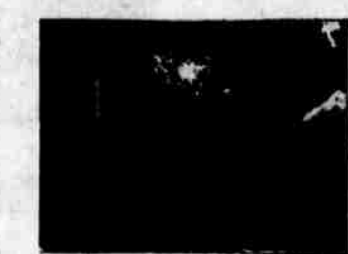

The meteorological instruments are home made of course. The "Robinson's Anemometer" was made with telephone bells as the hemispherical cups we could neither make nor buy. The revolutions per minute of the hand on its dial gives (or rather, is supposed to give) the velocity of the wind in miles per hour. The rain gauge is only a glass bottle with hard rubber funnel and a straight lamp chimney, plugged on one end, for a measuring glass. The combined weather vane and pendulum anemometer is mounted over a large painted compass dial, and gives at a glance both the direction and force of the wind.

The "thornless" algaroba tree shown is one of three hundred cuttings set out on Arbor Day of last year. They started and grew well at first, but the long drought killed all but eighteen. This year, on Arbor Day, we set out two hundred

SCHOOL HOUSE AND GROUNDS OF HILEA PUBLIC SCHOOL.
Only a few months ago the grounds of this school consisted mainly of coral and lava rock with a few patches of soil. The Principal with the cooperation of his pupils has had earth brought in and a splendid turf now covers what was formerly a rough and barren site.

cuttings again and hope for better results. These "cuttings" are simply small branches taken from two thornless trees near here, and cut up in fourteen inch lengths. The upper end of these is disposed in grafting wax to check evaporation, and planted. We hope in time, to have several hundred of these thornless trees growing here and besides acting as wind breaks and furnishing shade, they will supply fuel and horse feed for my successors. We have tried planting the seeds from these thornless trees, but found that nearly all of the young plants reverted to the original type and had thorns.

Five Years ago, the Hilea school lot was the least attractive of any in the district, as former teachers were handicapped by lack of tools. Our improvements (parlor the concelt) have enabled us to catch up with the others one by one, till now our yard is as pretty as any. In time, we hope to have it a place that will be noted and remembered by every passing traveler.

Record of Seismograph Made by Pupils of Hilea School.

As a matter of possible personal interest to yourself, I am sending also a few photos and records of a seismograph, which is as far as I know, the first and only one on the island. My desire was to build an instrument which would record on a revolving cylinder both of the horizontal as well as the vertical component, but the lack of a lathe compelled me to abandon that idea and construct the simpler one shown. If its records have no scientific value, they are at least of interest.

I find that this has run to an undue length but must plead in extenuation both its subject, and the fact that this is a first offense.

Respectfully yours,
H. E. WILSON,
Prin. Hilea School.

RECREATIONS

The principal amusement houses of Honolulu have arranged special Christmas eve programs. The merry makers who tire of throwing confetti on the streets will find the vaudeville and picture shows splendid places to visit during the evening, as they will offer a place for both rest and entertainment. The different houses having special Christmas Eve programs are the Empire, Art, Bonine, Park, Novelty and the New Dance Hall.

PARK THEATER.

The program at the Park Theater, this evening promises to be an especially good one. The orchestra, under the direction of F. J. Vierra, will render the following selections:

Selection from San Toy—Sidney Jones
Waltz—A Dream of Pearls Hall
Sacred Song—The Holy City ... Adams
Cornet solo by G. J. Boisse.
Entre Acte 2A—Garden Matinee. Frind
Luna Waltz Paul Linke
Ave Maria Gounod
Cornet solo by G. J. Boisse.
March—Algeria Victor Herbert
Sig. Travato will sing "The New-Born King," sacred song.

The Dramatic Mirror, in reviewing "Won in the Desert," the feature film for this evening, says: Great care has been taken in making it as elaborate as possible. The scenic effects are in most part worthy of praise and the prodigal use of camels, horses and lions gives the picture a strong and unexpected realism. A young Chicago girl is travelling with her parents in Europe and upon arriving at one of the seaports on the Red Sea meets an old acquaintance stationed there as officer on the U. S. S. Panther. An Arabic sheikh, King of the Desert, becomes enamored with the girl and abducts her. The kidnapping is discovered and the officer and marines follow. A fight ensues and the girl and rescuing party retreat. They are in turn followed until the destruction of a bridge by the marines prevents further bloodshed. The girl is safely returned to her parents, but the ship is ordered back home immediately and the young couple parted at the beginning of their interesting romance. On board ship the officer receives a wireless message from the girl advising him of her father's consent to their marriage and telling him to resign at once and meet them in Chicago. Such a procedure is rather improbable, but is, of course, possible. The fight over the bride and its destruction might have been more vivid and thrilling, had they been able to secure real outdoor scenic surroundings. Much deserving praise and comment from the audience was heard on all sides, proving to be a subject of uncommon interest.

EMPIRE THEATER.

After a long illness May Wallace is to return to the Empire tonight to delight once more the audiences there. The Kahului twins retire and Miss Galloway holds over. Midwinter Sports in Michigan will be shown in motion pictures just to let the people of Honolulu see the difference between Christmas in the Middle West and in Paradise. There are races on skates and races with dogs drawing sledges. The Tom Boy discards straight-laced formality of her home town and goes to the city where she has the time of her life. It is a new world to her and she is making the best of it. Sweet and Twenty is a pretty little comedy where love's young dream is presented in a dainty manner. The show is a good one and the business has vastly improved of late.

THE BONINE.

There will be another change tonight in the fascinating list of animated scenes that has been on at The Bonine for the past several days, and another still greater change planned for tomorrow evening, when an interesting lot of new local scenes will be put on for the first time. Catching the man-eating shark will be one of more than ordinary interest wherever exhibited, as will also the hula or native Hawaiian dance, and many other very interesting scenes now in various stages of completion. A number of interesting Hawaiian ranch scenes will soon be in readiness, and will undoubtedly be of great interest here in the islands, and a surprise to people of other parts of the world.

NOVELTY THEATER.

The "Arrival of Santa Claus," is the sketch at the Novelty tonight and tomorrow night and the title is certainly suggestive enough of Christmas. The sketch was written by Happy Jack Walker, the versatile comedian who is filling an engagement at this theater. Miss Jeanette Cooper will dance as usual and the picture program will be good.

CHRISTMAS EVE DANCE.

When you are tired of walking the streets tonight with the Christmas eve carnival throng, pay a visit to the New Dance Hall on Kukui street. You will find the floor and music excellent and even if you do not wish to dance you will enjoy watching the dancers. While this is a public dance, good order is always maintained and you and your friends will be welcomed.

A COLLECTION OF AEROPLANES.

Who in town has seen an aeroplane meet, i. e., as we know a bicycle meet, or an athletic meet, an automobile meet—few indeed probably. Well the Art has a film on for today and tomorrow describing such a thing in aeroplanes. Imagine if you can a large enclosure where these giant ships of space are confined, pending their flight into the upper regions. Great huge skeletons, half bird, half balloon, or boat as the case may be. After due inspection these creations of human mind are unloosed, and away they go, off and up into space, at the sweet will of the operator as to direction and speed. A comparatively few years ago and one would have deemed fit for the lunatic asylum who would have dared advance any such suggestion even. Yet today these machines are an accomplished fact and of more or less practicability. This display of aeroplanes and their aerial stunts are well worth seeing and as the old time "side-show" barker used to say, "worth double the price of admission."

There is no reason why they should not have no-legged politicians to make stump speeches. — Philadelphia Bulletin.

OPENING MAUI TO TOURISTS

The island of Maui from now on will figure with much prominence in the itinerary of the army of tourists who each year make pleasing pilgrimages to Hawaii.

The Inter-Island Steam Navigation company has taken cognizance of the charms that this island has to offer to the visitor and it is only a week or ten days ago, that they completed the mass of detail in the perfection of a schedule of tours on Maui.

In many respects Maui is the most interesting island of the Hawaiian group to the traveler. It combines in probably greater degree the natural characteristics and attractions of all of the islands, than any other single one. Next to the island of Hawaii, it is the largest in size; as it is also second to Hawaii in the height of its mountains. With an area of 728 square miles, it has a population of only about 25,000. As elsewhere in the Territory, sugar is the main industry. Here is located at Paunene the largest sugar mill in the world, with a capacity of 500 tons per day. The new and extensive rubber industry on the northeast side of the island is of considerable interest to many; while pineapples in the Hailu district, and other crops of diversified character, which are making promising headway, augur important development for the future. The wide range of climate on Maui, caused by varying conditions of rainfall and by altitude rising gradually from the sea to over 10,000 feet, makes it one of the most delightful places in the world to live.

President and General manager J. A. Kennedy of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company has but recently returned after having devised a series of four excursion trips on the island of Maui. He appeared much impressed with the scenic grandeur of Iao Valley (a second Yosemite), Keenae Valley, the rugged gorges in Waieho Valley and other interesting and picturesque points.

There is a pretty lively bunch of boosters on Maui. They presented the matter before the steamship in a light that must have been extremely favorable and the issuance of coupon tickets from the office of the local steamship company is now assured.

There is a series of four coupon tickets now available for tours of this island covering anywhere from two or three days to ten or even twenty days. Intending travelers have their choice of the new steamer Mauna Kea or the commodious liner Claudine in going to and from Honolulu.

In leaving Honolulu by the Claudine on Friday afternoon the visitor can return the following week by the Mauna Kea on Saturday morning. To cover the distance as mapped out by the new itineraries, the traveler employs steamers, automobile and the saddle. Good accommodations have been arranged at the Maui hotels, the Kahului Club and the Puuomai Farm. There are seven coupons attached to a ticket which entitles the traveler to about two weeks trip. The Haleakala trip is one that has been featured in the new schedules.

Haleakala, the largest extinct crater on earth, is the object of chief interest to the tourist and scientist alike. Its elevation of 10,000 feet puts it well above the usual cloud belt and from this magnificent vantage point, the entire island spreads out below the observer like a great colored map; while all of the islands of the group with the exception of Kauai, may be seen easily in clear weather. The great snow-capped peaks of Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa on Hawaii loom up in the south as though scarcely a dozen miles away, while the actual distance is upwards of one hundred miles. The trip to the edge of the crater is usually made in the evening or by moonlight, in order to witness the sunrise, which is probably unexcelled in gorgeousness anywhere else. The ascent is best made starting from Paia, and requires one night and a part of two days.

A few years ago by the opening of a great irrigation ditch some forty miles in length along the windward side of Haleakala, a section of country which is scarcely exceeded in grandeur and beauty by any other part of the Territory, was made easily accessible. Before the opening of the ditch, together with the well paved pack trail which follows its entire length it was difficult for the traveler to penetrate the dense jungle which covers the rugged flank of the mountain on this excessively wet side of the island. Winding with the contour of the gulches which scar the mountain's side, at an elevation of between one and two thousand feet above the sea, the canal gathers in a part of the water which dashes down in numberless cascades of striking beauty, and conveys it to the sugar lands on the great central plains of Maui. Below the line of the ditch, one often gazes down a sheer thousand feet from the narrow ledge blasted out of the cliff on which the great flume is supported. A few miles further away the ocean, like a wall, rises from its rock lined shore to the horizon, with its marvels of coloring in blues and greens. One starts on this trip either from Haon the extreme east of the island, and works back to Paia, and Kahului, or reverses the process. The distance from Paia to Haana is 37 miles, and not less than two days should be spent in traversing it. If desired arrangement can be made for carriage or automobile for the 14 miles between Paia and Haalei, which is through an open country, and has good road. The balance of the trip on horseback or on foot, either of which is delightful if one is prepared for a day or two of "roughing it," is an experience that will live with one as a pleasant memory all the rest of his life.

UNCLE SAM MAY TAKE HAND IN STRIKE

DELAY AT LOADING TRANSPORT DIX AT SEATTLE MAY DELAY PLANS IN PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, December 11.—The withdrawal of the strike situation in the Northwest is becoming embarrassing to the War Department, and as a result the United States Army at Seattle has been conferred with by Army officers with a view to obtaining relief. By reason of this strike the Government transport Dix, which was scheduled to sail from Seattle to Manila last Tuesday, stands about three-fourths loaded with force and animals for the Army in the Philippines.

Thus the Army has been placed in an awkward position not only as to needed supplies for the Philippine Army, but also because of the fact that the Dix is greatly needed at Manila not later than January 10th for the transportation of troops and animals to the maneuvers on the island of Luzon.

Many cars loaded with Government supplies are now sidetracked in the Seattle yards and while some little progress is being made in the way of unloading, yet the situation is altogether unsatisfactory.

Quartermaster Miller at that port has appealed to the United States Army for assistance in getting Army supplies aboard the transport in time for it to meet its engagements at Manila in January. Whether the Government will take further energetic steps to obtain relief will depend largely upon the nature of a full report, which it has telegraphed for. It may be possible that Government troops will be utilized in moving this freight.

GERMAN NAVY PLANS WORRY LONDON

ENGLAND LOOKS WITH FEAR ON GERMANY'S INTENT TO BUILD FOUR BATTLESHIPS A YEAR TILL 1917.

LONDON, December 11.—The new German Navy estimates are pretty much what they were expected to be, although the inclination in some British quarters is to magnify the increase they show. Personnel, stores and maintenance of ships and dockyards can easily absorb a lot of money, especially if the estimating is for growing demands. The larger recurring and non-recurring expenditure may not, however, be as great as it seems to be, because all the comparisons are with last year's main estimates, plus the supplementary estimates. But the greater provision for gunnery practice reflects a disposition on the part of Germany to follow the English example in the matter of training. There is very likely a large increase here, though the gross increase does not show it.

The addition of $3,450,000 in the non-recurring expenditure is obviously due to the greater headway now possible in naval construction. The fact of most importance to Englishmen in the estimates is that the Germans are to lay down four armored ships a year. From 1911 onward to 1917 the existing provision is for only two armored ships a year, but this rate of construction will almost certainly be exceeded. However, the fact that Germany will definitely lay down four ships next year is made the basis by the "wild men" on this side of the North sea of an argument in favor of the laying down of eight British ships next year. The view of reasonable men is that six will suffice. There is a feeling, however, that apart from the Australian and New Zealand armored cruisers there will be none. Consequently the British need of capital ships by suggesting that the Minas Geraes and her sisters now being constructed may not be for Brazil at all, but for Germany. The view is also expressed that the British Government ought not to allow the contracts for Argentine ships to go to Germany. How it can prevent the Argentine people placing their orders where they choose is not easy to see.

It is understood in official quarters that the British Government has provisionally approved the building at Chatham and Portsmouth, of works for the rolling of armor plates. The idea was first suggested about twelve months ago, but its execution was postponed for financial reasons. Even now there is a division of opinion upon the subject among the higher officials at the Admiralty, it being contended that the scheme if carried out would prove unfair to contractors, while offering little, if any, advantage on the score of either efficiency or economy.

THAT REMINDS ME

That my friend Adams is generally up to snuff on most everything connected with the talking machine in every form and shape goes without saying. As far as new ideas, along the talking machine line are concerned, he is certainly climbing the liberty pole about six feet above the top, but at the same time I was put wise a few days ago to a new use for the talking machine that may be just a little ahead of my friend Adams, and here it is:

A lady in one of the eastern cities, who has a most charming baby, perfect in every respect save one and that is that she will not go to sleep except to the voice of its mother, and then only one certain lullaby has the charm to close the little eyelids. As a labor saver her husband purchased an automatic rocking cradle. There seemed to be nothing more to be desired but there was, and the lady herself supplied it. She went to a place where records for talking machines were made and had them take a record of the particular lullaby that acted as a sleeping poison on her baby. The rest is easily told. She wound up the spring of the cradle and the spring of the talking machine, places the baby in the one and the lullaby record on the other and turns them loose. She says that it has never failed yet.

Any story about a gas or electric meter is always most interesting as there is always a weirdness about it, a sort of "the lady or the tiger" feeling that seems to be as if there was still something untold, and I guess there is. If you are not capable of making both ends meet on eight dollars a week for Heaven's sake don't ever try to figure out a gas or electric meter. You would stand a better chance of getting inspiration out of the sphinx and be in a more normal condition in the end. But putting all joking aside, I heard a meter story the other day that made me turn clear around. I took more than a passing interest in it for the reason that my own meter has been acting funny lately or something connected with it has. A friend of mine, who does not live a thousand miles up one of the beautiful valleys back of Honolulu found that his electric bill for two months running was exactly the same for each month. That is where they, whoever "they" are, made the fatal mistake. I know that my own electric bill has been going up every month till it is now exactly three times as much as it was the first month I lived in the house, and I have not added another light nor burned a bit more current than I did a year ago. But this is not my story. I am telling of my friend's experience. He knew that there must be a difference in the two months' bill from the fact that there was an absence from the house for a certain period although he did not state which month it was. The boy who read the meter the first month stated that he had read it the second month also. This was flatly contradicted by the lady of the house by a statement that the house was locked up and as the meter was inside the house the reading of it could not have taken place on the date named. My friend received no more satisfaction as a result of his "klick" than anyone else ever does who goes to the office with a klick on their meter. My friend came to the conclusion that as they could not read the meter, and the previous months bill looked pretty good that amount was entered up.

There is considerable agitation and plain talk going on here regarding the raising of eucalyptus trees in these islands. The many uses to which the wood of the eucalyptus can be put as well as the valuable oil from its leaves, and I may add that which I have never seen stated in its favor here before, that its bark is one of the best fire kindlers in the world. This is all very well for what is going on above ground in regard to the eucalyptus but what of the condition of affairs below ground? Far from it that I say one word that would discourage any industry that might be of benefit to these islands, but I do know that as a soil killer the eucalyptus is universally hated throughout California. As has been stated here by those versed in forestry that the eucalyptus is a heavy water drinker, and as such its roots will absorb all of the moisture in the ground. This would not be so bad if the roots would confine themselves to any respectable radius like a well behaved tree, but they do not. The roots of a well developed eucalyptus tree will spread from fifteen to forty feet in every direction and nothing that has to send its roots down for nourishment will live, much less thrive. This statement can be verified by examining the ground about the foot of any eucalyptus tree now growing in these islands.

Hawaii is not blessed with an over loading of good soil and there are quite a number of us living from what is produced and it would be well to "look before you leap" in regard to the planting of any more eucalyptus than there are here now.

For a city the size of Honolulu, and where competition is so keen between the various houses dealing in the same lines of goods, and this lacked up by the opposition they must encounter from Japanese merchants, the amount of don't-care-whether-you-trade-here-or-not attention to customers certainly takes the cake.

Don't confound me with a "knocker." I am only, so far as I can do so, trying to correct an evil that probably looks bigger to the person outside the counter than it does to the person behind the counter. It is no wonder that trade is going to the Japanese and a good part of it is caused by inattention on the part of store employees toward customers who are willing to spend their money with a white man but do not propose to go down on their knees to have him take it. It is no use going into extreme details. Probably a good many others have had the same experience as the writer. One or two will be sufficient. Some little while ago I entered a store to make a purchase for a lady which would have come to about six dollars. I stood for some five minutes, the only prospective purchaser as the store was empty except for two clerks who lounged on the end of a counter a short distance from me. I had the money to spend and I concluded to spend it at some store where they would wait on me. That store lost six dollars. It was not long after that I had occasion to enter another store to make a purchase. The proprietor was talking with a friend not fifteen feet from me. After waiting a few moments I attracted his attention, by rapping on the glass show case. He answered: "In a minute" and went on talking to his friend. I didn't happen to be in a "wait a minute" mood and I left the store. That store lost the sale of a diamond ring.

I can assure the store keepers of this city that I am acquainted with ladies in this city who will not go into certain stores on account of the fact that they do not receive prompt attention to their wants when there is nothing to prevent.

I did not intend to tell this story but seeing that there has been some talk in the papers lately in regard to liquor that was not up to the standard and was being sold against the law as not being the pure article I might as well let her loose.

Some time ago a Portuguese friend of mine invited me to visit his home on the outskirts of the city; he also promised to give me a drink of some wine that he had made himself. Those prospects seemed to be pretty bright and so I made the visit, having to hike it for quite a ways after leaving the carline which certainly made my mouth water for some of that home-made wine. My Portuguese friend started in talking about the wine as soon as I arrived and kept talking about it till I was in a condition to commit murder. He finally brought on some of the home-made wine. I looked good to me, as the color was just the right shade, but—any—did you ever ride along the country road in a buggy and see a rock ahead that you knew the wheel was going to hit and you got already for the bump and then have the wheel miss it? Well, that's just the way I felt when I tasted that home-made wine. If my Portuguese friend had another bunch of grapes he could have made another barrel of wine.

TALES IN TAPA

"Tales in Tapa" is the caption of a new book of Hawaiian and Samoan tales and short stories written by Eleanor Rivenburgh of Honolulu. As the name suggests, the little volume is pieces of the picturesque Samoan tapa with its rich browns and creams, and is tied with tapa thongs, the title being attractively printed in brown upon the cover. The letter plate is in harmony, in soft brown, and the several half tones illustrations are printed in sepia tones.

The little book contains a half dozen sketches and several bits of attractive verse, the first of which, "Hawaii," is the most typically Hawaiian. The first story, "Lailoha," attracts the reader at once because of its quaint name formed of the word which typifies the floral greeting combined with the native word of greeting and farewell. Familiar names and types appear in the text, and the names of places with which all Honolulu readers are familiar constantly appear.

Coming out just at the yuletide season the book will doubtless find ready sale as a gift book for Christmas and New Years and will be bought by tourist and kamaaina impartially.

The stories contained in the book are "Lailoha" (Hawaiian), "The Widow McPryde" (Hawaiian), "The Heart of Nona" (Samoa), "A Quiet Game of Whist" (an incident in one of the South Sea Islands), "Pineana" (Samoa), and "Love's Price," a story of the "Madam Butterfly" motif, with the scene laid in Samoa instead of the Fowery Kingdom.

Photographs of the 161 sellers on the street, Haleiwa, familiar Hawaiian types, a marine or two and picturesque groups of coconut trees intersperse the letter plate and add interest to the book.

DANGEROUS

The stranger in the public playgrounds noticed that the little boys were giving the little girls a wide berth on this particular morning.

"That's queer," he mused. "Say, sonny, I thought you little boys and girls played together?"
"We do sometimes," answered the youngster on the sand pile, "but not today."
"And why not?"
"Cause it is as much as we can do to keep out of their way. They are playing saffragettes and making believe we are policemen."

CARE OF AEROPLANES

Difficulty Sometimes Experienced in Making All Wings Take Hold of Air When Ascending for Flight.

Aeroplanes require a great deal of grooming, careful handling and housing, and the services of attentive mechanics in order to make and keep them fit for flight when the occasion offers. Their delicate motor mechs-anism makes necessary frequent tests to ascertain if all parts are running smoothly and inspections to see that no part has become loose-end or deranged. The housing of these great machines with their spread of sail is an expensive matter. At the recent aviation contests at Blackpool, Eng., a row of round roofed sheds tightly boarded and partitioned off one from the other and with the front of each apartment covered with a canvas curtain, served as the stables for the aerial racers.

Although so swift of motion and so delicately adjustable when in flight, the aeroplanes do not seem to be at home on the ground and are generally moved about the fields by other than their own means of propulsion. Frequently a horse is used to haul them about. The crews that aid in handling the flyers on the ground are required to be deft, expedient and resourceful, else frequently a minor leakage of some part might keep the machine from participating in an important contest. Then their aid is material in the trying moment of getting the protruding tail of a machine, on which the steering planes are located, may prove unwieldy and require that an active man or two bear a hand to steady it until the contrivance gets fairly started aloft, when the planes will all respond to the pressure of the air and address themselves to flight. It is not always a foregoing conclusion that a machine will rise after it has been started on its preparatory run along the ground, and the aeronaut needs the presence of quick-witted and sensible men who can grasp at once the needs of the situation and give just the right impulse at the proper moment.
