THOUSANDS PASS BIER OF LATE PRINCE DAVID NEW SPEED RECORD FOR ST. LOUIS

St. Louis Makes New Speed Record; Milwaukee Coming

Records for the United States Navy were broken when the U. S. S. St. Louis yesterday evening steamed around Diamond Head. She has made the distance from Bremerton to this port at a speed which has not been kept up for the same length of time previously by any vessel of her class—14½ knots an hour. She is to be followed by the Milwaukee here on the 25th of July.

The St. Louis, first class armored cruiser, 10,000 tons, Captain Gleaves, was under orders to make a cruise to this port for trial purposes, when this was changed to definite orders to take Secretary Garfield back from this port to San Francisco, sailing June 25th, and to be back at Bremerton as soon before July 15th as possible. The cruise is a part of a plan of the government for a series of tests, and it is a highly successful test, so far as the St. Louis goes.

She left Bremerton at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, June 12th, and arrived here last night at 7 o'clock. This means that she made a speed of 14½ knots per hour, which is more than any ship of this class has ever made for the same length of time.

Fine weather was encountered, barring fog for the first two days out. The St. Louis has a number of officers, about 30 marines, and 316 sailors from the U. S. S. Charleston, The Milwaukee, the Charleston and the St. Louis are all very shorthanded, and so this way of shifting the crews around is adopted.

This is a part of a scheme of the Department, desiring to experiment with placing ships in reserve to be ready for sea at 24 hours' notice, and at opportune times to put aboard men from other ships, and go through with the test of getting to sea creditably.

In connection with these experiments, the cruiser Milwaukee is due to arrive in this port about the 25th of July.

On return to Bremerton yard of the St. Louis, her officers and men for the most part will be transferred in a body to the Milwaukee, and she will proceed at once to this port, due, as stated above, on the 25th.

What the St. Louis is to do here, definitely, is as yet known only tentatively. Captain Gleaves will have a conference with the Governor on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock when this matter will be settled.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis is to be coaled, taking on 1200 tons, the amount she consumed in the eight days she was on the run down.

This morning, Captain Gleaves exchanged calls with Captain Rees of the Naval Station, and in company with the Commandant, paid a call to Acting Governor Mott-Smith.

Captain Gleaves and four of his officers will attend the funeral of Prince David.

Last evening, off Diamond Head, the St. Louis was met by the Mauna Kea, bearing a crowd of excursionists. A. L. C. Atkinson, in charge of the Governor's party, knows Ensign Cooley, on board, and so he wirelessly to have the young man transferred to the Mauna Kea at sea. This was not done, as it was thought the cruiser did not have the time if it was to make port as scheduled. Though both ships maneuvered, the transfer was not made.

She probably will be in port until she goes out to Kaula Friday with the Governor and Secretary's party.

Officers on board are: Commander Albert Gleaves, Lieut. Comdr. Benjamin F. Hutchison, Lieut. Comdr. DeWitt Blamer, Lieutenant Carlos A. Gardner, Lieutenant Wilbur R. Van Aiken, Ensign A. C. Scott, Ensign Benjamin J. Steele, Ensign E. B. Woodworth, Ensign H. M. Cooley, Midshipman C. A. Dunn, Midshipman C. O. Bassett, Midshipman G. W. Kenyon, P. A. Surg. Robert A. Bachmann, P. A. Paymaster Arthur M. Pippen, Warrant Machinist H. W. Lenz, Boatswain Birney O. Halliwell, Gunner Leonard Roll, Chief Carpenter William H. Squire, Warrant Machinist Sutherland S. Neeley, Warrant Machinist Zenas A. Sherwin, 2nd Lieutenant W. L. Burchfield, U. S. M. C.; Pay Clerk James V. Fuller.

FAREWELL NAVAL DANCE AT THE SEASIDE TONIGHT

By almost unanimous request of the officers of the visiting squadron, the local army and navy folk, and the large number of patrons of the Seaside Hotel, the management has been prevailed upon to give a farewell dance in honor of the officers of the visiting warships at this popular hotel this evening.

The Kaula Glee Club will delight our visitors with its entrancing dance music. The usual cordial invitation is extended.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gould and family have moved to the von Holt cottage at Waikiki for the vacation months.

A better crowd than usual turned out to see the League baseball games this afternoon.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

St. Louis—En Sue, lf.; Bushnell, p.; Jim Williams, 2b.; Joy, c.; Aylett, lf.; Alf Williams, ss.; En Gee, rf.; Gleason, 1b.; Bruns, 3b.

Diamond Heads—Olmos, lf.; E. Fernandez, 1b.; Evers, ss.; Louis, rf.; Davis, c.; Leslie, p.; A. Fernandez, cf.; S. Chillingworth, 3b.; H. Chillingworth, 2b.

FIRST INNING

St. Louis up—En Sue out, pitcher to first. Bushnell out, second to first. J. Williams strikes out.

Diamond Heads—Olmos is out, pitcher to first. Ed Fernandez takes a walk. He steals second. Evers grounds to Bruns and makes first on a fielder's choice. Evers steals second, the ball being thrown to second and Fernandez comes home. Louis flies to first. Davis is hit by a pitched ball and is given his base. Leslie grounds to Alf Williams, and Williams catches Davis out at second.

SECOND INNING

Joy grounds to first and is out. Aylett flies out to right field. Alf Williams is out, shortstop to first.

J. Fernandez walks. Sam Chillingworth flies out to Joy. J. Fernandez steals second. H. Chillingworth flies out on a foul to third. Olmos flies out to right field.

THIRD INNING

En Gee bunts to pitcher and is thrown out at first. Gleason strikes out. Bruns is out shortstop to first. E. Fernandez is out shortstop to first. Evers flies out to Aylett. Louis flies out to En Sue.

FOURTH INNING

En Sue is out shortstop to first. Bushnell flies out to center field. Jim Williams walks. Joy gets a hit through shortstop. Everybody goes ahead one base on a passed ball. Aylett is out to first.

Davis strikes out. Leslie out short.

FAREWELL DANCE FOR SQUADRON

For the Battleships Alabama and Maine, as well as a welcome to the cruiser St. Louis. Ernest Kaul's best quintet club will play at the Moana. Next week several hops will be given for the commanding and other officers of the St. Louis. Local Army and Navy people, as well as the local public, are cordially invited to be present. The night before the St. Louis leaves a farewell dance will be given at the Moana to Secretary Garfield, who was an old schoolmate of Fred Church's. Let Honolulu turn out en masse and say an revoir to the officers of the battleships.

Prince David's Body Rests In State In Capital Throne Room

MANY PAY THEIR LAST RESPECTS

Surrounded and guarded by mourners, friends, relatives, and detachments from the National Guard of Hawaii, representatives of the various societies, the mortal remains of Prince David Kawanakoa have lain in state in the throne room of the old Palace since 1 o'clock this morning. The body of the late Prince will be kept there until tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the funeral procession will form, and walk to the cemetery.

All morning the Capitol grounds were filled with people who came seeking one last look at the face of Prince David. Most of them were Hawaiians, of all ranks and classes, but there was also a large number of others who came. The members of the Kaahumanu Society marched in the throne room shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in a body. Captain Rees of the Naval Station and others of prominence also were among those who came to pay their last respects to the royal dead.

The arrangement of the kahlils, kahlil-bearers, and drapings in the throne-room is said to be the most beautiful of any funeral since the olden days. Around the casket are eight kahlil bearers, four on each side, and at regular intervals the waving of royal emblems is continued over the body of the Prince. Behind the kahlil wavers, who are men, are the honorary mourners, composed of eight women. Behind them are placed the tall, beautiful feather kahlils, reaching almost to the ceiling of the throne room. In all, there are about 107 kahlils in the room. At the head and the foot of the casket are the two black kahlils which are used only at a royal funeral, and at the head also stands the tabu stick.

Just on the outside, his piercing wall coming in through an open window, an old blind retainer of the royal family chants the history of the dead Prince and his ancestors. At intervals he stops, choked by his own emotion, but the mele is immediately taken up by an old woman, also formerly connected as a retainer of the old royal line. The Royal Hawaiian band played funeral dirges and sacred music at short intervals.

The pillars in front of the Capitol are draped with black and white and the throne room is filled with the floral offerings.

The following is the list of officials who will attend the funeral services of Prince David Kawanakoa on Sunday: The Secretary of Hawaii, the Chief Justice, Associate Justice Balou, Associate Justice Wilder, the Attorney General, the Auditor, the Superintendent of Public Works, the Treasurer of Hawaii, the High Sheriff, the Commissioner of Public Lands, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the President of the Board of Health, the Surveyor, Major S. W. Dunning and Officers, 20th Infantry, U. S. A., Captain C. W. Otwell, Captain C. P. Rees, Commandant Naval Station, Honolulu, and Officers; Surgeon L. L. von Wedekind, U. S. Navy; Surgeon Middleton S. Elliott, U. S. N.

SPECIAL BULLETIN Wireless
HILO, Hawaii, June 20.—The Mauna Kea, with the Garfield party, aboard, arrived here at 10 o'clock this morning after a rough trip. In an interview with the Herald, Secretary Garfield said that he wanted particularly to familiarize himself with the conditions of the Federal work at present contemplated there. The party in automobiles in charge of C. C. Kennedy is touring the city and outlying districts. A special lunch was given at noon to the Secretary. A public reception was held at 1:30, the start for the volcano being made at 2:30.

The Secretary inspected the breakwater site early this morning with Captain Otwell.

WATERFRONT NOTES

ALTHOUGH THE FACT is not generally known, the battleships Maine and Alabama will, on their arrival on the Atlantic Coast, immediately go out of commission for a time. They will be placed in dry-dock and complete overhauling will be given to each vessel. This was so stated by an officer on the Alabama the other day.

THE BIG Japanese liner Tenyu Maru is due in this port on next Wednesday afternoon. She sailed from Yokohama on the 15th inst.

A ROOF is being put over Sorenson's wharf.

NEW ALAKEA WHARF SHED ORNAMENTAL

That the new Alakea street wharf shed will be a thing of beauty, which, contrary to the usual style of local waterfront architecture, will add instead of detracting, to the scenic effect of the front, was demonstrated this morning by Superintendent Marston Campbell of the Department of Public Works before a meeting of the trustees of the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber showed great interest in the new building; the plans for it were approved of by a unanimous vote, and the Harbor and Transportation Committee was delegated to keep in touch with the construction thereof.

"Feeling that the harbor works are of great interest to the commercial interests," said Campbell after he had been introduced by President Jan. F. Morgan, "and as they have taken such an interest in the matter of future construction work of the Department, I thought that it might be of interest to them to hear about the plans for this building, the Alakea street wharf structure, which will handle mail, freight, and all the passengers who arrive here, except those who come in the Oceanic boats."

Campbell then displayed a series of blue-print plans, showing various parts of the building from different points of view. The structure will be 561 feet long, 120 feet wide, running from one edge of the wharf to the other, and 60 feet in height. There will be three stories, the bottom one being destined for freight and for the offices of the Harbormaster and the Custom House officers employed on the examination of freight. From the ground stairways lead to the second story, on which passengers will be landed from the steamers by means of an open gable, through which the gang-planks of vessels of practically any height above the water can be passed to the floor. The passengers can then pass along to the street outside without coming in contact with the freight. The second story will also contain offices for the use of steamship company clerks and the Promotion Committee and comfort stations. On the third story the pilots will be located, as they will have from there a far more unobstructed view of the ocean than they have at their present location.

The facade plans showed by Campbell were very handsome, and in this connection he said that he would try to make the structure such architecturally that it would be an ornament to the waterfront instead of a blemish. It was hard to make such a structure anything but a barn-like shed, but in this case he thought that he had succeeded. Plans had been made for constructing the building of concrete and iron, but this would be far too expensive, and as a consequence wood would have to be used with staff for the ornamentation.

Some of the trustees expressed their regret at the fact that such a building could not be built of a permanent material, but Campbell assured them that, although he shared their regret, he had made the specifications so carefully that even the wooden structure would last for practically an indefinite period.

A motion was finally passed whereby the Chamber expressed its approval of the plans, and the Harbor and Transportation Committee was delegated to keep in touch with the matter of the construction of the building.

Those present at the meeting were President Jan. F. Morgan, Secretary H. P. Wood, W. M. Giffard, E. D. Tenney, E. I. Spalding, F. J. Lowrey, W. M. Campbell, A. W. T. Bottomley.

WON THE SUBURBAN

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 19.—The Suburban Handicap was won by Ballot, St. James second, and Fairplay third. The time was two minutes and three seconds.

The Suburban Handicap is one of the notable races of the year. It is a mile and a quarter, and is run at Sheepshead Bay track. The time in this year's race was the best that has been made in the last five years at least. In 1904 it was won by Hermis in 2:05, which was the best previous time in five years. In that year the race was worth $16,800, to the winner.

MARCH-LINE FOR FUNERAL PROCESSION

The procession will form at 2 o'clock in front of the Capitol grounds tomorrow afternoon, and the line preceding the catafalque will form on the mauka side of King street. All those who follow the catafalque will form at the Waikiki entrance to the Capitol grounds. The line of march will be from the Capitol grounds along King to Nuuanu avenue, and from there to the cemetery.

HAWAIIAN MIDWAY OPENS TONIGHT

There will be two great attractions at the prompt opening of the Hawaiian Midway at 8 o'clock this evening, the crowds being accommodated from both ends of the brilliantly lighted arcade running between Richards and Alakea streets, a little mauka of the old fishmarket. In the decorated hall, where a thousand cocoanut fronds, flags and bunting and red, white and blue electric lights will make it gay, there will be vaudeville and old time Hawaiian hula dances; also the much-talked of reproduction of the Volcano Kilauea in activity.

TO GREET FLEET WITH FIRE WORK

Japanese Preparing To Give Unique Display

Preparations are being made by the Japanese community here to receive the famous Atlantic Fleet with splendid fireworks on its arrival and departure. This was the gist of the report of Dr. T. Mitamura, at the meeting of the Entertainment Committee this morning. A detailed report as to the progress on this work will be submitted by the Doctor at the next meeting of the committee.

At the meeting of the Entertainment Committee this morning many matters of general interest were discussed. Wm. Hoogs of the Ball Committee reported progress. Abram Lewis, Jr., was authorized to look after the transportation by land of the officers to Pearl Harbor, he to work in conjunction with the Pearl Harbor Committee, of which John Guild is the chairman. It was decided that a quintet club be engaged for the Pearl Harbor trip. Dr. T. Mitamura and G. Nakamura were added to the Entertainment Committee.

The matter of providing excursion boats for Pearl Harbor came up for general discussion and F. L. Waldron was appointed to see Fred W. Macfarlane and others about securing boats.

A suggestion was made, though not acted upon, that a letter be sent to Admiral Sperry, asking him to furnish the committee with a list of names of the officers under him who have already seen Pearl Harbor, the idea of the Entertainment Committee being, if practicable, to take those officers only who have not seen it. In this connection John Guild stated that every officer, regardless of whether they had been there before or not, should be taken down there again. "This is a very important matter," said Guild. "Every officer is interested in Pearl Harbor from a professional point of view, and they should be taken down there without exception."

There being no other business on hand the meeting adjourned to reconvene at 8:30 o'clock next Saturday morning.

Present at the meeting were F. L. Waldron, Emil Berndt, M. Phillips, J. O. Lutted, Wm. Hoogs, John Guild, Dr. Mitamura, Abram Lewis, Jr., W. T. Lucas, Capt. Epton, Howard D. Bowen.

PRINCE DAVID'S BODY

of Oahu, the County Treasurer of Oahu, County Clerk of Oahu. Lucas Bros. finished the beautiful outer casket which will hold the body of Prince David this morning. It is built of koa and kou wood, the latter being a darker shade than the former, and it is said to be almost extinct now. At the head of the casket is the coat-of-arms of the dead Prince carved from kou wood, and on top is the crown and the inscription, which reads as follows:

His Royal Highness
Prince
David Kawananakoa,
Born at
Kaala, Oahu, February 19, 1868.
Died at San Francisco, California, June 2, 1908.
Commander Albert Gleaves, U. S. N.; Lt.-Com. B. F. Hutchinson, U. S. N.; Lt. W. R. Van Auken, Midshipman C. O. Bassett, Midshipman G. W. Kenyon.

The remains of Prince David Kawananakoa were moved from his home last night at midnight to the throne room in the old palace, where it will lie in state until the funeral tomorrow.

The scene at the home of the dead prince last evening was a solemn and impressive one. All of the old Hawaiian customs were carried out, the chanting of ancestral history, the wailing, the singing of dirges, the waving of kahilis, slowly moving back and forth over the beautiful casket of one of the last of a royal line—everything was carried out in accordance with the funeral laws of his race.

At midnight the kahili bearers and watchers by the dead formed in two lines outside the door leading to the room where the remains of Prince David lay, and the casket was borne outside to the waiting hearse, from

MERCHANTS AFTER THWING AND THEO.

But They Deny They Had Pay Of Sailors Held Up

A persistent rumor, which on the face of it appeared to be founded on some authority, had it yesterday and today that the fact that the men of the Maine and the Alabama were not being paid off at this port, and the order for the men to be on board the ships at midnight, were the results of a request made by Rev. Mr. Thwing and Theo. Richards to the officers of these vessels, asking them that these steps be taken.

The officers of the commercial organizations were approached by the business men who were interested in the matter, as they felt that their business was being injured, and they promised to take the matter up in case absolute facts were presented to them.

While Thwing has gone to the Volcano, and could therefore not be found, Richards yesterday denied absolutely that he had made any such request, or that he had had anything whatever to do with the warships, their officers or their men. He was considerably amused over the statement of the matter made to him, and said that he expected that he and Thwing were now being made the scapegoats for everything which occurred and which did not please the community.

On board the ships, general ignorance of the Thwing-Richards matter exists, according to statements from a number of responsible officers today.

KAHUKU STATION NEARLY COMPLETED

Great Long Distance Wireless Now Being Done.

Expert label came in from the Kahuku wireless station this morning somewhat under the weather but still very much in the ring.

The new wireless station at the Kahuku point is practically complete, the power alone lacking. The engines for furnishing the power to send dispatches will soon arrive and by the time the Fleet arrives the station is expected to be in perfect trim.

Mr. Isabel has been able to receive the long-distance messages from the where, preceded by a squad of police, the slow march to the Capitol building was begun.

The Princess was prostrated earlier in the evening, fainting and being forced to retire. Queen Liliuokalani did not remain at the home, leaving shortly before midnight. As soon as the casket was placed in the throne room, a guard of honor of officers of the National Guard was placed in attendance, as well as members of the various Hawaiian societies.

It was decided yesterday that the funeral would be recognized as official by the Navy Department, and marines and sailors from the battleships will march in the procession tomorrow.

The final decision as to the order of the carriages following the catafalque is as follows:

Princess Kawananakoa and Prince Kalaniana'ole, Princess Kaiulani and Mrs. Fairchild, Her Majesty ex-Queen Liliuokalani, Colonel and Mrs. Samuel Parker, Secretary of the Territory and Governor's staff, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, President of Senate, Speaker of House, Justices of Supreme Court, heads of Territorial Government, officers U. S. Army and Navy, Federal officers, members of Consular Corps, Circuit Judges, Territorial and County officials, and the public.

SATURDAY JUNE 20, 1908

One hundred thousand European immigrants and one hundred thousand tourists for Hawaii would solve the labor and the financial, and the moral and the civic and the international problems of Hawaii on the American plan, and no one's ox would be gored.

Secretary Garfield has furnished a very excellent response to the crowd that is doing its utmost to discredit the campaign for European labor: "We want constructive criticism, not destructive." Calling the European immigrants names doesn't fit the constructive-criticism plan at any stage of the proceedings.

HAWAII'S REPRESENTATION.

Hawaii won the only fight that had to make in the National Republican Convention, and thereby more firmly established its claim to be considered as every other Territory of the United States and treated as a part of the United States.

The struggle which the delegates this year brought to a successful conclusion was begun four years ago by Governor Carter and his associates. Although they were not then successful, they made a good start, and should be given credit. The incident also proves that it pays to keep up the fight when your cause is just.

The equality of Hawaii with the Territories of the mainland is firmly established and the first step toward Statehood has been made. Although many years may elapse before the next is taken, the advantage will not be lost as the years roll by and opportunities offer.

GARFIELD'S GREAT SPEECH.

Secretary Garfield has won the people of Hawaii more completely than any member of the Cabinet who has ever visited the Islands.

His address before the business men of the city at the Commercial Club on Friday was pithy with suggestion and, although he had to deal in generalities on many subjects, there was no doubt in the mind of his hearers as to what he is driving at. His words bore the impress of deep sincerity and his desire to get at the facts is not tempered by the personality of the medium by which they arrive—this is true in spite of the care with which he has been surrounded.

The very hasty trip which Mr. Garfield is making through the Islands will not enable him to get at the bottom of everything. In fact, he will see the outer edge only and must wait for further information and investigation before he can form a final, fair opinion. But he will obtain something of the atmosphere of Hawaii: a first-hand acquaintance with some of its people, and a long-distance knowledge of others.

It is pleasing to the people who have watched his rapid progress to have him frankly state that he does not consider his trip one of investigation and he does not wish to give the impression that he knows it all after touching so hastily on such a great variety of topics.

Mr. Garfield furthermore makes no effort to gloss over the responsibilities of our citizens in their relation with the international affairs of the country. His statements in this respect should not be forgotten in the glorification over the very happy manner in which he dressed the idea. He is direct without being blunt, and his suggestion should carry the effect of direction when so obviously expressing the sentiment of our fellow-citizens on the mainland.

The key-note of the address was his warning against destructive criticism and the personal bickering, the underlying purpose of which is to wreck institutions and reputations rather than work for the common good of the common people.

Mr. Garfield has no doubt seen enough of this to cause him to feel that the warning was timely, though the principle is a good one to expound on all occasions.

The benefits of better understanding is the main thing that our country can credit to its account as a result of Mr. Garfield's tour. This was the principal result of the Congressional tour.

When the people of this outpost understand the spirit of the mainlander, and they in turn know more of what we are driving at and how much we have to conquer, there will be more of real Americanism and less destructive criticism in Hawaii.

OUR NEW NAVAL POLICY.

In the general excitement of the contest for four battleships made during the last session of Congress, many of our people lost sight of the fact that, although the President was apparently defeated, the country has established a greater navy policy not likely to be overthrown, though the personnel and the politics of the Federal Administration change.

The President, representing the executive administration, did not get the four battleships but he secured immediate appropriation for two of the most modern type. This is a gain over former years when the warships have been authorized at one session and the appropriation made during the next.

The total appropriation of $123,115,659, for the navy is nearly five-sixths the cost of the British navy, almost twice the cost of any other navy in the world hitherto, and fifty per cent. more than any navy is expected to cost next year.

This, however, was not the fruit of the victory for a navy appropriate to the size and importance of the country. Before the vote was taken the Senate leaders practically pledged themselves to a permanent program of two battleships a year. It is the first time that anything like a systematic policy has ever been adopted.

If the pledge is carried out it will mean that we shall have forty battleships ready for service by the time the Panama Canal is completed, and that this number will be steadily maintained thereafter. This entire force will be available for service at three weeks' notice in either ocean.

This means a great Navy for a great country. More important than this, it means National ability to protect our interests, so that second-class Powers shall not be considered dangerous.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS DOES ITSELF CREDIT

The commencement exercises of the Honolulu High School were held last night at the Knights of Pythias hall, which was fittingly decorated for the occasion. The attendance was large and those who attended greatly enjoyed the program, which was conducted without a hitch.

The address by Judge S. B. Dole was especially instructive. Miss Marguerite Creighton, the valedictorian, carried her part well and was the recipient of many congratulations. One of the most interesting parts of the program was the reading of an essay on "What the Panama Canal Will Do for Honolulu," by Samuel Wilder Wright. It contained the following:

BY AUTHORITY

Sealed tenders will be received by the President of the Board of Regents, College of Hawaii, at his office in the Judd Building, to be opened at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, June 29th, 1908, for sale to the College of Hawaii of certain books and periodicals. Copies of the Schedules designating the books and periodicals required may be had of the President.

Bids must specify the edition and publisher's name. No bid will be received unless the same is for all the books required in accordance with some one Schedule. Bids must be figured in total sums for the books required by each Schedule.

"DO NOTHING" CONGRESS HAD LONG LIST OF RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED

There Was Much Done Despite the Idea To Contrary

GREAT APPROPRIATIONS AND MUCH NEW WORK

Legislation passed by the so-called "do-nothing" Congress is, on the face of it, far from bearing out the sobriquet. In one respect at least the first session of the 60th Congress has made a record in appropriating more money than any other Congress in times of peace. The grand total of appropriations is $1,008,804,894, including provisions for higher pay in the Army and Navy and establishing an immigrant station at Philadelphia at a cost of $250,000. This appropriation total includes also items for the construction of two giant war vessels and several smaller craft.

Some of the measures demanded by the President went through, including the currency law, which prolonged the session, and the employers' liability law, designed to meet the objection of the Supreme Court.

In the House there was also the arduous work of conducting an investigation into the print paper and wood pulp trade, and of threshing out thoroughly at hearings extending over two months the charges brought by Representative Lilley against the Naval Committee.

The Senate balanced this work with a ratification of man treaties, including 11 Hague conventions and 12 arbitration conventions. A treaty with Great Britain settled the vexed question of Canadian boundary.

The President contributed his share in the deliberations of Congress in the shape of 20 messages, 11 of which were special communications advocating the passage of some particular legislation.

Among the important legislative acts may be enumerated the following laws:

Important Laws Enacted
Financial law whereby banks in periods of financial stringency may issue currency to the amount of $500,000,000, depositing its security therefor bonds, commercial paper or other assets, such emergency currency being so taxed as to insure its retirement as soon as the stringency has passed.

Customs law changed so that importers must present all evidence in appeal before board of appraisers, simplifying procedure, increasing appraisers' salaries and making them removable only for cause.

Militia made integral part of the national military establishment, with additional appropriation of $2,000,000 for equipment, etc., making total annual appropriation for militia of $5,000,000.

Public buildings bill, authorizing many needed structures, purchase of sites, etc., including site for Department of State and Commerce and Labor, adjoining Treasury and White House grounds.

National monetary commission created to devise a sound monetary system for the Government.

Two new battleships at cost of $6,000,000 each, exclusive of armor and armament; ten torpedo boat destroyers, three steam colliers and eight submarines.

Consular service reorganized, abolishing unnecessary consularships and consular generalships and establishing those most needed.

Widows' pensions increased from $8 to $12 a month and certain unnecessary restrictions abolished.

Importation of impure tea, tea sittings, etc., prohibited.

"In God We Trust" restored to gold and silver coins.

Investigation of tariff, preliminary to revision, confined to Ways and Means and Finance Committees.

Model child labor law for District of Columbia.

Employers' liability bill enacted to replace that pronounced unconstitutional by Supreme Court.

Government liability law, providing compensation to all Federal employees for injuries received in line of duty.

Additional safeguards provided for regattas.

Provision for fortified naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, for Hawaiian drydock and the completion of coaling stations at San Diego and California City Point.

Efficiency of army medical corps increased by additional officers and creation of reserve medical corps.

Game in Alaska protected.

Increasing army pay, officers approximately $500 a year each and enlisted men about 40 per cent., increase applying to both retired and active lists.

Increasing navy pay, officers and enlisted men practically equalized with army. Enlisted force increased 6,000 men.

Marine corps increased approximately 600 officers and enlisted men. Restrictions on lands of the Five Civilized Tribes removed, adding $150,000,000 to taxable property of Oklahoma.

Addition of one member to Philippine Commission.

Numerous additional lights, light-houses and buoys.

Creation of rank of captain in Philippine scouts, companies having heretofore been commanded by lieutenants.

Enlarging the classification of employees to whom railroads may grant free transportation.

Provision that appeals from decisions of Federal Courts on habeas corpus proceedings shall be had only when such court or a justice of the Supreme Court decided there is ground for appeal.

Immigration station established at Philadelphia at cost of $250,000.

Efficiency of life saving service promoted by raising compensation and providing pensions.

Additional safeguards for passenger carrying ships provided.

Payment of damages of $400,000 for Catholic church property destroyed in Philippines.

Establishing thirty additional fish hatcheries and otherwise increasing efficiency of Fish Commission.

Granting 3,000 pensions to deserving veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars.

Repealing application of coastwise laws to the Philippine Islands.

Secretary of the Navy authorized to receive and care for gifts to naval vessels.

Creation of commission and appropriation of $1,500,000 for representation of the United States at the Tokyo Exposition.

Prohibiting desecration and improper use of the flag.

Revenue cutter service increased by transfer to that service of gunboat Vicksburg.

Salaries of assistants to Cabinet officers raised to $5,000 a year.

Appropriation of $14,500 to meet expenses of counting electoral vote.

Appropriation of $29,227,000 for the Panama Canal.

Appropriation of $20,000 for continuing survey and making boundary between the United States and Canada.

Female nurse corps established for navy hospitals and navy hospital ships.

Military bands must not compete with civilian musicians.

Drainage of public lands in Minnesota, including all unpatented lands.

Joint maneuvers of army and militia authorized, with $1,000,000 appropriation.

Remission of $10,800,000 of the Chinese indemnity resulting from Boxer uprising.

Anarchistic and seditious publications and intoxicants and cocaine excluded from the mails.

Attorney General directed to institute suits to compel forfeiture to the United States of certain lands granted to the Central Pacific, Oregon Short Line, etc., on ground of violation of contract.

Invitation extended to all nations to send delegates to the International Tuberculosis Congress, to be held at Washington, beginning Sept. 21, 1908.

Chippewa national forest reserve created in Minnesota.

Patent law amended so that all patents shall issue within three months after final fee is paid, and that in the event of the death of patentee any patent pending shall issue to his legal heirs.

Secretary of War authorized to expend $250,000 for the relief of sufferers from cyclone of April, 1908, in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

Interstate Commerce Commission authorized to prescribe regulations for the transportation by common carriers of explosives, to promote the safety of passengers and employees.

Penalty imposed on soldiers who sell their arms, uniforms or accoutrements mitigated.

Railroads engaged in interstate commerce prohibited after January 1, 1910, from using any locomotive equipped with an ashpan which necessitates an employee's getting under the engine.

Sixty-two laws authorizing construction of bridges over navigable streams.

Five laws authorizing construction of dams in navigable streams.

Nine laws affecting Federal Courts, judicial districts, etc.

Seven laws affecting customs, granting increase privileges to certain ports, etc.

Twenty-five laws affecting public lands, making special grants, etc.

Seven laws for the District of Columbia, including prohibition of all betting within the district and providing for free examination of sputum in suspected cases of tuberculosis.

Five laws authorizing the Secretary of War to donate obsolete ordnance to quasi-military organizations, including one of Confederate veterans and one erecting a Confederate monument.

Pediment for House front of Capitol provided for at cost of $75,000.

Resolutions condemning Representative Lilley and exonerating members of the House from implication of improper influences in connection with submarine boat appropriations.

Commission, consisting of Secretary of War, chairman both Committees on Public Buildings and one District Commissioner, to investigate Bleher land scandal and similar cases.

Investigation of wood pulp industry: House committee reported no warrant for altering tariff at this time and no conclusive evidence of a trust, but sufficient ground for further investigation.

One hundred and fifty-two public laws were enacted.

There were 2,300 invalid pension acts and about 700 private pension acts.

Bills introduced: In House, over 22,000; in Senate, over 7,000.

Measures Left Over:

Venezuelan reprisals, correspondence, etc., left in Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

Brownsville resolutions, providing for restoration to the army of certain soldiers discharged from the 25th Infantry.

Changes in administrative customs laws, in accordance with the agreement with Germany.

Parcels post reduction. No action by either House.

Provision for model battleship for each State for which such ship is named. Left in House committee.

Federal injunctions against State statutes to be issued only by majority of three Federal Judges; left in House Judiciary Committee.

Anti-injunction legislation. Left in House Judiciary Committee.

Federal grain inspection. Left in Inter-State Commerce Committee.

Amendments to Sherman anti-trust law. Left in House Judiciary Committee.

Campaign publicity legislation. Left in Senate committee.

Creation of public utilities commission for District of Columbia.

Amendment of interstate commerce law to give States jurisdiction over intoxicating liquors brought within their boundaries.

Naturalization law, increasing the fees for complete naturalization, from $5 to $10 and providing for additional clerks of courts authorized to grant naturalization.

Treaties Ratified by Senate

Eleven Hague conventions—rights of neutrals, laws of war on land, hospital ships, naval bombardments, rights of capture in naval war, restriction of submarine mines, prohibiting discharge of projectiles and explosives from balloons, pacific settlement, international controversies, limiting employment of force for collection of contractual debts, governing opening of hostilities and adapting Geneva convention to maritime warfare.

Establishment of international health office.

Pan-American copyright and code of international law.

Twelve arbitration conventions—Denmark, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

With Great Britain—Canadian boundary, Canadian fisheries, wreck age and salvage and conveyance of prisoners in United States and Canadian territory.

Extradition with Spain, San Marino and Portugal and Uruguay.

Protection of trade marks in China and Korea with Japan.

Naturalization with Peru, Portugal and Salvador.

Treaties Considered

Three Hague conventions—creation of international prize court, affecting status of merchant ships at outbreak of war and conversion of merchant ships into warships. Disapproved by committee.

Wireless convention—international treaty defining duties of wireless telegraph companies, etc.

Presidential Messages

The President sent to Congress 20 messages, including nine transmitting reports of Federal officers, in response to resolutions, etc. Eleven special messages recommended general or special legislation. The most important executive communications were the annual message of Dec. 3, 1907, and special messages, as follows:

Dec. 21, asking continuance of biological survey.

Jan. 6, urging that additional census employees be subject to Civil Service regulations.

Jan. 28, urging pensions, etc., for life-saving service.

March 25, urging general legislation.

April 14, urging authorization of four battleships.

April 27, urging general legislation. The President also sent to Congress one veto message, in which he disapproved a bill granting an extension of time to a company previously authorized to dam the Rainy River, in Minnesota, but, with his consent, it was later passed over his veto.

SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

SOCIETY HAS BEEN RESTING this week preparatory to entertaining the Fleet. There have been several small teas and luncheons, but the gloom which is cast over the town by the death of Prince David extends to matters social.

The mortal remains of the dead Prince were taken at once to the Pensacola street residence, escorted by Captain Parker and a squad of police, the Hon. E. K. Lillikalan taking charge. The reception room had been prepared for the event, and a pathetic and impressive sight it was to see the room—of so many social memories—dedicated to such sad service. The pictures of the Prince and Princess, painted by Sandona, startlingly lifelike, were the only ones on the wall. They seemed to dominate the room. The coffin was covered with choice flowers, it being a Hawaiian custom to have them constantly renewed, and Her Majesty the Queen, Princess Kawananakoa, and Prince Kalaniana'ole, with other members of the family, viewed the earthly body of Prince David. Watch has been kept over the body throughout the week by the old Royal societies and the old retainers. To enter the room and listen to the chanting, which is always going on, is to be transported to Old Hawaii. The weirdness of the scene, the tall, dignified Hawaiians waving kahilis constantly, the chairs occupied by the close friends of the family, listening to the solemn chanting of the ancient mele, the strong perfume of flowers, and, at the head of the bier, the pale, beautiful Princess, a pathetic figure in her black frock, — she does not seem to see the friends who walk around the bier, but, with eyes downcast, appears wrapped in memories of the past. Her Majesty, the Queen, has been present during the week and the adoration of the Hawaiians for their Queen has never been so manifest. At the Pensacola street residence the quietest clubbing in the evening the quaint and sad strains, lasting far into the night. Always friends are occupying chairs in the room listening to the music. The floral decorations are in charge of Mrs. Tenney, Mrs. Noonan, Mrs. A. P. Taylor, Mrs. Herbert, and Ernest Parker. Flowers are constantly arriving, and the grief of the populace is shown by the letters, cards, and leis which have been sent. Mrs. Purdy has had charge of the children and it has been so terrible to listen to their innocent questionings about "Papa Koa."

The body is now lying in state at the Capitol and has been viewed by thousands. The state funeral will be tomorrow.

The Washington News has the following item of interest, as the bride is well known here. Joe Leiter has always been a picturesque member of society and his engagement was quite a surprise except to those "in the know."

The gowns and the gifts which have come to Miss Juliette, daughter of Major and Mrs. John R. Williams, who is to marry Joseph Leiter June 19, are giving everybody a chance to exclaim ecstatically.

Mrs. Williams and Miss Juliette have just returned from a two weeks' shopping trip to New York and the marvels of the trousseau are gradually being unfolded.

The wedding gown of heavy white satin is to be made director and its only ornamentation will be quantities of fine old lace which once belonged to the bride's maternal grandmother. Save for a ball gown of black chiffon, which is said to be a wonder and a dinner frock of peach blow pink satin made empire, the gowns are all of the lingerie order, all elaborately embroidered and inset with lace.

Mr. Leiter and his bride will sail for Europe August 20 and at Paris the bride intends to lay in a supply of gowns sufficient to carry her through her first season at a chateau of one of the notable houses of the city and her second in society. Aside from the frocks there are half a score of hats and not a merry widow in the lot. For these hats a wonderful hat trunk costing $85 has been purchased. True to her spirit as an innovator, Miss Juliette has declared her intention of wearing each of her trousseau hats once before she does it as a bride.

As for underwear, everything comes en suite and the entire wardrobe is made of the finest handkerchief linen. Save for the bride's initials in hand embroidery, there is no trimming aside from the thread lace which finished the edges of the several garments. One garment, a night robe, made of lace and a marvel of hand embroidery, came as a gift from Mrs. William Bishop of New York, and is said to have cost $100.

Mrs. George Summerlin, wife of Captain Summerlin, U. S. A., who "matronized" Leiter and his fiancée during the courtship, presented the prospective bride with an ostrich feather fan mounted on tortoise shell. Embossed on the shell are the bride's initials in diamonds. Miss Grace Jarvis, granddaughter of the late Senator from Michigan, has given Miss Williams a magnificent brooch with her initials in diamonds. Leiter has presented his bride-to-be with a strand of matched pearls. With the check for $1,000 given her by her father, Major Williams, Miss Juliette bought a brooch of diamonds and sapphires to match her betrothal ring.

Finally Mrs. Leiter, who is delighted with her only son's choice, has signified her intention of passing over to her son's wife on the marriage morning the Leiter house in this city with all its furnishings and the Leiter silver and china and jewels to boot. Immediately after the service, which is to take place at 1 o'clock, Mr. Leiter and his bride will journey on auto to the Leiter country place at Manchester by the Sea. Here they will remain until they sail for Europe, their return trip being booked for September. With the old Leiter house in the possession of a sprightly, clever, and youthful mis-stress, everybody is taking a renewed interest in the home, which was the first in the constantly enlarging list of houses put up at the capital by persons of wealth and social aspirations, to whom, moreover, the city owes much of its prestige as a social center. That Miss Williams as Mrs. Leiter will keep the social ball in a merry whirl goes without saying and as an earnest of what will be "doing" next year in the mansion in Dupont circle it is given out among the intimates of the family that the bride is to make her first essay as a hostess at a ball which she will give early in the Fall to introduce her schoolgirl sister, Miss Dorothy.

With Wandering Honolulu

A Honolulu friend whom we all know is now at Lac de Como and writes as follows: I was awakened this morning by band music which came floating across the water of this exquisite lake. A few moments later we heard a beautiful chorus of men's voices in song. Germans they were who, I suppose, are making a tour of the two lakes, Lecco and Como. I jumped up to go to the window and looked out, and saw a beautiful lot of shadows and colors on mountain and water which I shall not soon forget. The singing was lovely, too. Along came a Northern Italian girl dressed in a rose-pink skirt with velvet ribbon put on in zigzag fashion around the bottom and a black velvet bodice and white jumper, lace cap, and lace apron. Sweet she was, really. One sees here so many pretty little things which help to make the surroundings picturesque. We seem to be far too practical and easy in the States to care for the little things. This place and, in fact, all the Italian lake region, is exquisite. The mountains around it range from five to eight thousand feet high and many of the highest ones have still snow on the tops. Imagine the splendid variety of the coloring—the greens of early spring, the gray-greens of the olives in profusion, with grape vines trained in lattice-work, the purple haze which lies over much of it, and the beautiful greens in the water, with the Italian skies, so well known for their azure blues. We have seen such a variety of gorgeous things that one in the end fairly froths at the mouth in excitement to try to express one's self, but the lake region is exquisite. The side, for instance, from Florence to Bologna (savagely fumes; spare the word, please, and perish the thought! It was good, though, there!), where we gradually made a climb of between three and four thousand feet, was a prolonged view which was most grand. When we reached the summit, there lay yonder the beautiful blue Apennines with greens, grays, pinks, purples, and browns all scattered over themselves with occasional snow-capped peaks. Oh, it was to roar wild and long for enjoyment! We looked back and saw our road behind us like a long box constrictor, winding around the mountains and down deep in the valleys, the streams and fertile growths. In spite of the fact that I thought I wanted to "wallow in art and such" I believe I have enjoyed the auto rides more. For all we have lived so many years where nature has given us so much beauty, that we miss it in the big cities, and I'm not so sure that art is more satisfying than Nature. Of course, I do not want to appear biased, and I do not want to become so, either, for Rome was a revelation and the keenest kind of enjoyment. So was Florence, but in Florence there is so much stuff (yes, I will use the word, for that is what it is), that where one knows exactly what one wants to see and just where to go to find it, one is weary with the strife hunting for it, and one's eyes rest upon so much that one shouldn't bother to look at that finally one's brain is in a whirl. Luckily, I wouldn't look at only those things I wanted most to see. I may have missed much perhaps which I should have seen from Symond's, Ruskin's, or Vesari's standpoint, but I am perfectly willing to let it go at this and see what I haven't seen this time at some future visit. What is the use to try to digest more than the brain can "digest" (as the Dr. persists in saying, and I have never corrected him) for then everything is in a muddle, and you don't know whether you have seen Fra Lippo Lippi's Madonna or Botticelli's, or which was which, or whether Donatello or David was the one Verrocchio did or vice versa, and when you see Montegno's St. George done in Venice on a piece of canvas twelve inches by eight perhaps you wonder why Donatello insisted on making his the size he did, and then you remember what you are here in Italy for, and the whole thing dawns on you! It is a sort of "small-coming-out-of-the-shell" process in Art!

On the other hand, I believe that one should live in Italy if he expects to get out of the rut he was in when drawing at home. It has been all vastly different in the galleries there. Perhaps the real joy and pleasure will come to me after I reach home and think it over. Up to now the country life and small towns have fascinated me in the extreme. Venice was so unique, too, with its gondola life, narrow streets, curved bridges every few feet, winding around the town like a labyrinth until you find yourself perfectly lost and you would turn up exactly where you wanted to go without ever knowing it. We went out on the lagoons and Grand Canal in the evening, where we heard the singing from the different boats, all lit up with colored lights. It was very fascinating, indeed. We are wending our way on, after the Italian like region is over, to Milan, the Genoa and San Remo into France and then on to Heidelberg, where Mr. Bishop wants to see a physician. After that I do not know our plans, for I suppose it will depend on what the Dr. tells Mr. —, as to what Mr. — will do. The Dr. has been in many hospitals since he arrived here. In Rome for two weeks all the "morals" in Florence" he spent with Dr. Burel (not Ruskin) and in Bologna visited the largest hospital for bone-work in the world, a splendid institution, the Dr. said. He won't bother with medicine any more now till he reaches Heidelberg. Resting seems to go very hard with him. He was far happier when he spent his mornings in the hospitals and his afternoons sightseeing. I fancy we will be home earlier than we thought.

We went across the lake yesterday to visit the "Villa Carlotta," belonging to the Duke of Saxon Meiningen, and such millions of azaleas of every color on earth banked up against each other, I never did see! It was a gorgeous wealth of color, I never thought existed. It made me quite jealous, for I thought nowhere were more vivid colors in verdure than in the islands, so with the joy came a regret that we didn't have all these at home! There all over the walls, etc., were dear little yellow and white roses, Baruvilla, the Governor called them, dainty things, and so graceful and lithesome, — rhododendrons thirty-five feet high! brilliant crimson magnolias, feet in diameter; yellow roses in profusion, and many things too which we have at home, and many which we have at home were not here, I might add. The blue of the water here and at Lago da Garda is a peculiar blue, not turquoise nor indigo, but a cold cobalt blue which covers the mountains, too, after the sun goes down. How lovely it is! The auto acts like a charm.

In all our goings we have been delayed only once and that was last Friday, coming from Bresler to Lago di Lecco to get the boat for Bellagio. Mrs. — thought she "smelled a smell" and asked her husband to stop, and when he did so, naturally we got some of our own smoke and we all noticed it. Mr. — called out "Jump!" and we jumped. The men located the place and found the asbestos in the right hand wheel burning! I am no automobile connoisseur, but something about the brake got partially plugged, and it pressed against the "inner" of the wheel workings and created too much heat, so burned. We soon fixed it up, — I say we; that means the chas. Sabelli, the Dr., and Mr. — Mrs. — and I got into conversation with the countrywomen along the road, one of whom said she was the mother of fourteen children. I may have been mistaken in the number, for they spoke a patois rather difficult. This was our first delay—or our first stop—ever since we've been out, and we have had one solitary puncture, and that only happened as we drove into the court of Hotel Brun at Bologna, so did not delay us. You couldn't imagine such roads as they have over here, and in spite of the fact that everybody says we will find better ones in France I can't believe it, for these roads in Italy are just like a table—they are so smooth—and the scenery is perfectly fascinating. Mr. — is a very careful driver and we all enjoy it immensely. No more railroading for me if I can help it.

Niblicks Entertain

Capt. and Mrs. Niblick have entertained quite a house-party. Among the guests were Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Weeks, daughter of Representative Weeks; Miss Newberry, daughter of Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry; Miss McAdoo, daughter of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy; and Miss Townsend of Washington. The Niblicks had something going on every day and evening for their guests, ending with a farewell ball on Friday night. The baseball game between the Army and Navy at Annapolis was one of the events of the season, and it was witnessed by thousands.

Children's parties are always pretty affairs and the one given on Monday afternoon by Mrs. R. L. C. Perkins in honor of the birthday of her eldest boy, Richard, was an unusually attractive one. About thirty-five children amused themselves on the lawn, and the refreshments dear to the children were served on the lawn. The mothers and sisters were treated to a delicious tea and the picture charges made a picture not soon forgotten. Among those present were Babes Weight, Kiehn, Lewton-Brain, Phillips, Smith, Walker, Jackie Walker, Brown, Wilder, Waterman, Judd, Swezey, Kirkaldy. Among the older girls were Misses Waldron and Ahrens.

Miss Nora Sturgeon's tea in honor of the Misses Marion and Eleanor Waterhouse on Thursday afternoon at the residence of her mother on Nuuanu avenue was attended by a bevy of pretty girls, who looked sweet and dainty in their light summer frocks. Mrs. Andrew Fuller presided over the coffee urn and Mrs. Arthur Wood poured tea. Miss Sturgeon looked very attractive and the Misses Waterhouse were charmingly dressed, and were much admired. Among those present were Misses Irene Fisher, Carmen Clowe, Violet Damon, Perrine, Towle, Alice Cooke, Alice Hedemann, Ethel Spalding, Alice Spalding, Eames, Atherton (2), Achilles, Powell, Katherine Cooke, Walker (2), Imgard Schaefer, Charlotte Hall, Gilman, Helen Alexander, Bland (2), Ella Wight, Green, Sara Lucas, Helen Garvin, Gertrude Brown, Robinson, Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. Malcolm MacIntyre, and others.

Guests at the Pleasanton: Capt. and Mrs. C. P. Rees, Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Galges, Mrs. F. Weber from Lihue, Kauai; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Olsen, Dr. E. F. Wilcox, who is to be successor to Dr. Smith at the Government Experimental Station; Mrs. F. G. Bland and the Misses Bland of Pasadena, who are to be here until September, when they will go to the Orient for the winter; Miss Davies and Miss Roycroft, who are returning from a two years' tour of the world; Mr. Reynolds, Mrs. Dodd, and Mr. Milverton and Mr. Dunsenberg.

Captain and Mrs. Rees gave a delightful dinner at the Pleasanton on Friday evening in honor of Captain T. E. D. Veeder, U. S. N., and Captain Harber, U. S. N. Covers were laid for ten. The private dining-room was used for the occasion.

There will be a doll and fancy work sale for the benefit of the Castle Home for children during the middle of November. This worthy and noble work will surely bring out full purses. More anon.

On Monday night the Lumby Company, brought out by Mr. Cohen, will open in the well known drama "The Spenders."

Judge and Mrs. Sidney Ballou gave a beautiful dinner on Thursday evening at their Judd street residence.

Fleet Poems

The poet laureate of the big Fleet is said to be Lieut. Lloyd H. Chandler, Flag Secretary. Among the collection of twenty-four the following are selected:

A SONG OF THE CONNECTICUT.

A mess there was of knockers gay
(Even as you and I)
Who kicked and bucked the livelong day,
(Of course they knew that it did no good,
But they kicked and squabbled about the food,
Even as you and I).
Oh, the squabbles loud
Of this windy crowd,
Of their caterer sad, an Irish lad,
Who loves his messmates, good and bad,
Are mighty hard to stand.
(Even as you and I).
And as the days went by the wonder grew
(For every one looked for a fight each day)
Except those who knew it was all horse play,
Even as you and I).
Oh, the way some worked,
Oh, the work some shirked
In this crowd of hustlers (?) grand!
For those who love them despite their sin.

The honors that each of these laddies wins
Are easy to understand.
The surgeon of the Fleet, Dr. L. W. Curtis, prompts Chandler to take individual and vicarious revenge for pills and other nostrums shot into the intestines of officers and crew. Here is how he does it:

FLEET SURGEON

Who pumps the drugs into you?
The senior surgeon, he,
Who pours it out in goblets,
And hands it out to me.
Twist health and health's returning,
He gets us in his grip;
And, gods, what we will suffer
On that new hospital ship!

What germs are in the sick bay?
The largest mump on earth.
How would he treat me for one?
He'd sure reduce my girth.
By day with sedlitz powders,
By night with sleepy dope,
Creeps up the senior surgeon,
If you only give him rope.

What right has he to dope us?
The right might gives to all.
How dars he chop us open?
It's just his bloom 'n' gall.
And kin of those he's doctored,
Whose forms he gaily dents,
He monthly for his labor
Deducts his twenty cents.

Trust ye the senior surgeon.
Trust ye his running mates.
Don't cavil at their treatment.
You're forgotten by the Fates.
Or if you dare not risk it,
You'd better not get sick.
For if you do they'll get you,
And pounce upon you quick.

"High Jinks"
Mrs. Frederic Lowrey's "High Jinks" on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Arthur Wood, was screamingly funny. Everything was in burlesque, and the musical program was listened to with the greatest attention for the words as well as the melody were often off the key. It was an afternoon of innocent fun thoroughly enjoyed by the forty guests. The rooms were beautifully decorated with white ascension lilies, asters, palms and ferns. A delicious tea was partaken of from little tables. Among the guests were Mrs. B. L. Marx, Mrs. Vida Thrum, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse, Mrs. John Waterhouse, Mrs. A. Wall, Mrs. Love, Mrs. S. Rickard, Mrs. F. Atherton, Mrs. A. Gartley, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. W. Whitney, Miss Moore, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. R. Cooke, Mrs. A. Cooke, Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. H. Waterhouse, Mrs. F. Waterhouse, Mrs. Clarence Cooke, Mrs. Montague Cooke, Mrs. Philip Weaver, Miss Clark, Mrs. H. Hitchcock, Mrs. Z. K. Myers, Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, Mrs. Weight, Miss Paty, Mrs. Mackall, Mrs. M. McIntyre, Mrs. Mott-Smith, Mrs. F. Damon, Mrs. Albert Judd, Mrs. James Judd, Miss Charlotte Hall.

On Wednesday Mrs. Moore was the hostess of a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Arthur Wood. The guests were seated at little tables, which were adorned with red carnations and maidenhair ferns. Among those present were Mrs. B. F. Marx, Mrs. A. Gartley, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Gilman, Mrs. H. Waterhouse, Mrs. Brinckerhoff, Mrs. A. Wall, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. F. Lowrey, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. Philip Weaver, Mrs. Z. K. Myers.

Miss Louise Stacey, who is stopping at the Hawaiian hotel, will give her first lecture at the Kiloahana Art League rooms beginning June 20th at 10 a. m. The following program gives a complete synopsis of her plans. She comes very highly vouchered for: "Miss Louise Stacey, from the 'Higher Thought Centre,' London, England. On her second tour around the world, will give the following lectures on Tuesday and Saturday morning at 10 a. m. at Kiloahana Art League, commencing June 20: 1. How Thoughts Become Things. 2. Miracle of Bodily Health. 3. Perpetual Youth a Science.

Fact. 4. How Healing Takes Place. 5. Some Reasons Why We Disagree. 6. No Law of Heredity as We Now Understand It. The Law That Is. Miss Stacey can be seen by appointment at Royal Hawaiian Hotel."

Mr. Charles Desky has purchased the Bickerton place at Waikiki. Miss Florence Desky returned with her father from Denver, where she has been studying music. They are at present located at the Seaside hotel. Miss Desky is a very talented young girl. Not only does she play the piano unusually well, but composes music, which has been much noticed in circles musical.

Princess Kalaniana'ole, who returned from Washington with her husband, the Prince, has made a most delightful impression in society there. Her dignified and charming manner, her voice of gold, combined with perfect toilettes, greatly pleased the society women. The Prince made an excellent speech which attracted general attention.

Angelos and Directoire.
LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 8. Adorning the pretty person of Miss Dolie Graham, an actress in a local theater, the new directoire gown made its initial appearance on the streets today. As Miss Graham, in a stunning outer creation of gray, glove-fitting, with another garment of the same color, partially visible now and then, promenaded Broadway she attracted a crowd that became almost a mob at times. Patrolmen had to protect her in the crush. From the male point of view, the dress seemed to be a decided success, the general sentiment of the men except their wives and daughters and sisters.

Feminine modesty was outraged, however, and before Miss Graham had been five minutes on her way club-women and others began ringing up the City Prosecutor's office to protest and a committee called to ask for a complaint and the actress' arrest on the ground that her clothing was indecent. Prosecutor Eddie rushed out to get a view of the sight and appeared pleased with it, declaring it pretty, coy and fetching. He said a special ordinance would have to be passed before the wearer could be prosecuted. Eddie expressed the unofficial opinion that the directoire will thrive here.

Miss Dorothy Muriel Freeth, whose engagement was announced in this column last week, to Mr. Campbell of the First National Bank, is barely seventeen years old, and is quite celebrated as a local beauty. Her portrait, painted by Mr. Theodore Wores, created quite a furore in San Francisco art circles. Mrs. Freeth thinks her charming daughter too young to marry at present and the engaged pair will wait a few years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson, who were guests at the Moana hotel not long since and enjoyed themselves hugely at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, where they are catching the wary fish. Catalina is famous for its fishing and marine gardens.

William G. Irwin leaves town today for the East, where he will join Mrs. Irwin and Miss Helene, who expect to arrive in the eastern city from Europe in a week or two. They will spend several weeks on the Atlantic coast and may cross again to the continent before returning to California.

Mr. Howard Hedemann, who has been away for a six weeks' trip, returned in the Alameda.

Miss Fox, a daughter of Sir Douglas Fox, is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. Clive Davies at Craigside. Miss Fox recently came from the Orient.

Now that the dog catchers are pervading the town it would be a very good plan to notify the police department, or better still, visit the dog pound, which is on the road behind the prison, if one's pet is missing some fine day. Many a good dog has been seen in the pound wagon, noticeably a fine collie the other day, and dogs with collars are constantly being snatched from the pavements and deposited in the wagon willy nilly. They are not in the least particular to notice whether a dog wears a collar or not.

Mrs. Olsen's thimble tea at the Pleasanton on Friday afternoon went off well, the tongues of the fifteen fair guests vying with the needles. When tea was served it was greatly appreciated by the industrious guests.

Do not forget the recital of the Morning Music Club of Miss Julia Klumpke this evening at the Alexander Young hotel.

The Manoa Improvement Club, which met with Judge Cooper on

MISS MAE KEENE

The sale of seats for the summer season of the Lumley Company and Richard Buhler, which starts at the Orpheum next Monday evening, with the presentation of the society comedy, "The Climbers," opened yesterday with a brisk demand. Great interest is being shown by the theater-going public of Honolulu in the engagement of this organization and the advance sale assumes a most auspicious opening for the company. The opportunity to see what is practically an all-star aggregation of players in the best modern American plays at popular prices. Mr. Richard Buhler, Mr. Frank E. Montgomery, Miss Mae Keene, and Miss Virginia Thornton will assume the leading roles, supported by the full strength of the Lumley Company. For the second half of the first week's engagement "Soldiers of Fortune" will be the bill. It is of the romantic costume order and never fails to awaken interest. Seats are now on sale for all performances at Orpheum box office.

Monday evening, had a most interesting meeting. Many important matters were discussed and the results will soon appear. The officers include H. E. Cooper, president; C. H. Hemenway, vice president; John K. Klinger, secretary; Malcolm MacIntyre, treasurer; F. L. Waldron, delegate; A. H. Tarleton, alternate, central committee.

The Call says that one of the largest ceremonies of the season will be the wedding of Paul Dinsmore and Miss Marietta Havens, which will take place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in the presence of several hundred guests Wednesday evening, June 24. The bride party will be a notable one, including several attractive girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lowrey will spend the summer at "Ninika," their country place, but will remain at the town house until after the departure of the Fleet. Their two sons, Frederick and Sherwood, will arrive from Harvard College in the Korea, and a college friend, Mr. Rene Haguet, will accompany them. The Korea is expected the 29th of July.

A most attractive luncheon was given by Mrs. Dickey, of Nuuanu avenue, on Tuesday, in honor of Mrs. Aiken, of Hawaii. Crimson carnations and maidenhair ferns formed the centerpiece. The guests included Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. Restarick, Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. Atherton, Miss Anna Paris, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. J. P. Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hedemann gave a pleasant little dinner on Thursday evening at their Waikiki bungalow in honor of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Marx, who soon depart for a two years' trip abroad and Mr. and Mrs. George Davis. Music occupied the attention of the guests throughout the evening.

Mrs. William E. Taylor, who has been ill at the hospital, returned to her Bates street residence on Wednesday. She will sail for the Coast very soon for her health, returning probably in six months.

One of the jolly picnic suppers of last week Saturday was given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers at Maunawili, across the Pali. Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder.

Secretary Garfield is making an excellent impression with everybody. He is a handsome man with a wonderful address. His remarks are always to the point and it was especially noticeable at the Commercial Club luncheon on Friday that he never deviated from the point in view. His speech was clever in every respect. He must have a constitution of iron to be able to attend so many strenuous entertainments given in his honor.

The Seamen's Institute gave an excellent concert last evening under the management of Mrs. Harry Macfarlane. A quartet, consisting of Mr. and

FREAK IN BOSTON

The Boston Journal says of Governor Frear's trip to Boston:

In honor of Governor W. F. Frear, of the Hawaiian Islands, Governor D. H. Mann of Boston gave a luncheon at Young's Hotel yesterday. It was very interesting on account of the association of a number of the guests with the islands of the Pacific. J. P. Hunsell, president of the Bostonian Society, who was present, is the son of the chief officer on the vessel that carried the first missionaries from Boston around the Cape to the islands. That seaman afterward founded the first mercantile house to carry on business with Hawaii. F. M. Brewster, another guest, represented the branch of the direct successor of that original mercantile house; he is an American born on the Hawaiian Islands. Lawrence Bond had also the distinction of having been born on the islands.

Mr. Gilman, the host, was for many years United States Consul General of Hawaii, and for the last half century has been closely interested in the progress of these Pacific islands. S. B. Capen, president of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and the Rev. E. J. Burnham of the Congregationalist have been prominent in good work for the missionary movement in Hawaii. Clifford Kimball of Honolulu, V. B. Sweet and representatives from the Boston press were also present.

Lieutenant Governor Draper extended a pleasant greeting to his brother Governor, while Postmaster Mansfield represented the Federal welcome and Mayor Hibbard the municipal.

Governor Frear possesses an interesting personality. He has the typical modern American build of light but apparently wiry frame, with a face showing the strength of character and alertness of mind that have already won for him honors in the legal profession, and with eyes that shine kindly behind the gold-bowed spectacles appropriate for a scholar who is also a statesman. At the luncheon he discussed informally the affairs of Hawaii, dwelling particularly upon the strategic importance of the islands to the United States, not as a menace in war but as a protection for peace, inasmuch as no foreign power could send its ships of war across the Pacific and back with a single sailing, and Hawaii is the only stopping place on the way. It is for this reason, he urged, that a government naval station will be of pronounced value. He spoke also of the steady upward development of the people and of the growth of Americanism in the islands, and brought out clearly the commercial value of Hawaii to the United States.

During the month of March last, a merchant of Honolulu died. The family selected a burial service exactly similar to that given to the members of the Harrison Mutual Association, and the cost to them was $125.00.

In May, another Honolulu citizen died who had been a member of the Harrison Association for more than three years. He received the same service and goods as the first man, but the cost to him was only $10.50.

FROM THE NEWSMAN'S NOTES

Is Honolulu going to be boycotted by the fleet? If so, why? That question has been flying around the streets of this city pretty frequently since it became known that the sailors were not to be paid off here, nor were they allowed all-night privileges on shore. It has indeed been rumored that the jacks on the big fleet, when it arrives here, would not be given any special shore privileges on account of an alleged peculiar attitude assumed by the people of this city towards the common sailor, but this is all tommyrot. Why should Honolulu be singled out for such action any more than San Francisco, or Los Angeles, or Seattle? Honolulu wants the sailors to spend some money here, just as did the above-mentioned cities, and it cannot be said that Honolulu is preventing an entertainment for the fleet with a purpose entirely mercenary any more than it can be said relative to other places visited. Other silly yarns are started as to the why and the wherefore concerning the treatment Honolulu is going to get from the fleet, but these are usually sprung on an unsuspecting public by a meddler who has time to attend to other people's business because he has none of his own. Honolulu is not, I believe, going to be discriminated against—and why should she be? When you hear one of these serene rocking-birds chirping out a gentle knock,—hand 'em a bunch of flies if they won't quiet down.

So many rude, lewd, or stewed jokes have been made about Thwing that I hesitate to print anything that is legitimate. However, a stranger to me recited the following one evening in a public place, and I was fortunate enough to secure a copy. It seems to me that it hits the "nail on the head," and there is no doubt it expresses the feeling of many people who think Mr. Thwing is very much mistaken though honest.

Thwing! Oh, Thwing!
If time be heavy on your hands,
Is there no sickness at our gates?
Nor any poor about our Lands?

Go teach the orphan boy to read
Of human kindness make at least a show;

Pray heaven for a Christlike heart,
And let other people's business go.

It is not Barney Joy who will pitch for the locals when the Santa Clara bunch arrives. It is Barney Poi. The two are the same person. It is true, but the southpaw is known to the Santa Clarans only by the pet name which the staple article of Hawaiian diet earned for him on the Coast. Barney Poi to bat!

WATER FOR HANA PURE AND BRIGHT

Now Has Plenty Through Kindness of Manager Chalmers—Hana Court House Improved.

(Special to the Bulletin)

HANA, Maui, June 17. — The dreaming of Hana for water for ages gone by is now of the past. Old people did with those dreams, and did not know whether it would come true or not, but surely it came; and their children are getting the benefit of their dreams. Good and pure water now comes from the mountains back of Makena and Kaula, carried up and gathered into a big reservoir at Kahuakala, back of Kaeleku plantation, by means of flume and conduit, and from there flowing into the pipe through the mill, and then into a 1 1/2-inch pipe laid along the Government road, and from there into the homes of those who need water, paying a rental of $1 per month.

Talking with Charles Chalmers, manager of Kaeleku plantation, he said, "I give you water from now until the end of the present month free of charges, because we have had two months of dry weather." This community very much appreciates this, and thanks the manager of Kaeleku plantation.

The Hana court house is very much improved. Travelers coming to Hana and stopping over for awhile, say: "This is a neat little court house, well arranged and well furnished." Of course, the improvement this court house received is through the kindness and prompt action of our Superintendent of Public Works.

The Kaula lighthouse station is giving its warning of dangerous reef to the vessels passing by in the night, without giving a little speck of its light to the Kaula harbor and the little town of Hana lying at its background nearby.

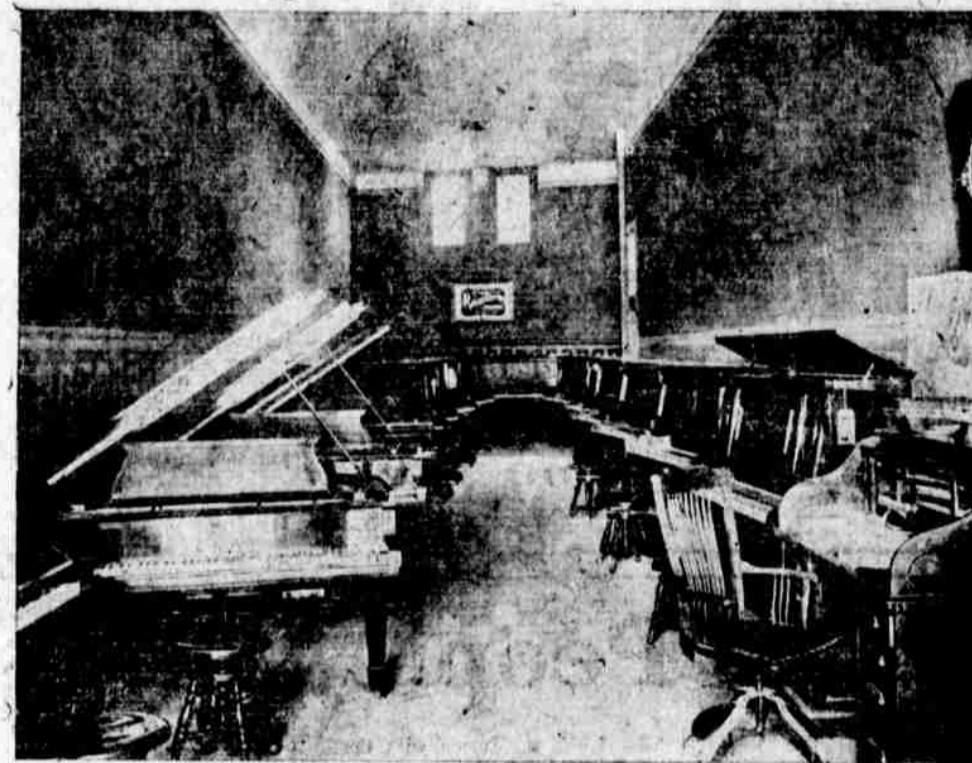

A few yards of the Government road in this little town is lighted at night with the County lights, leaving a large part of it in darkness.

STEINWAY & SONS PIANO

ALSO THE STARR AND OTHER GOOD PIANOS

There have been four generations of STEINWAY pianomakers—WILLIAM STEINWAY, the first; THEODORE and WILLIAM, the second; CHARLES, who is president of the Company; and five other STEINWAYS, who are heads of the different departments. Several young STEINWAYS are in the business, being instructed to take up the work later. THEODORE STEINWAY was the world's greatest genius in Piano construction.

The result is that the STEINWAY PIANO has no peer.

We sell them and our other Pianos at an honest price and easy terms.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM IS WHAT GARFIELD ASKS FOR

Complete Speech That Won Business Men To Garfield

Secretary Garfield's speech at the Commercial Club was the hit of the year with the business men of the city. It was the subject of favorable comment among all those who heard it. The rugged sincerity of the speaker was very much to the liking of the business men.

Owing to limitations of time and space, the Bulletin did not publish the speech in full in Friday afternoon's issue, but today gives it practically complete, the Bulletin being the only paper to take practically a stenographic report of the address:

"Gentlemen of the Commercial Club, it is true that the Territory does come into close contact with the Secretary of the Interior, and I for one want to bring it into still closer contact. My purpose is to secure at first hand information of conditions here. While the Department of the Interior is perhaps not in direct control of many matters of the Territory, they come through the Secretary, and go to other departments, so that he is the medium of exchange. Therefore, my intention is to get as much information as possible upon conditions in the Islands.

"It is gratifying to find conditions of harmony among the various associations and bodies of the Islands. It is easy to see that you are working with co-operation, and that is what we want. Any lack of co-operation on your part will certainly be felt in the way your interests fare at Washington.

"During these quiet days which I have spent here, there have been a great number of things which have interested me greatly. I have been collecting information on schools, your racial problems, the questions which arise in connection with your harbors, and the like.

"I shall not say that I am going on a tour of inspection—it is too cursory for that—but I am now starting on a tour to inform myself in a general way on the conditions in other Islands. Already I have seen much on Oahu. Not only have I met and want to meet men with large interests, large holdings of lands, large moneyed enterprises, but also men who are doing business in a small way, and making homes. We must recognize that no set of men confine to control things indefinitely without trouble. The most good to the greatest number must be considered. The many must be considered, and not any smaller number. But I don't say for this reason that any attack must be made on the men who hold the most land, the largest interests. In every country, some men must succeed, and others fail, but it doesn't follow, because these things exist, that those who have little must make an unwarranted attack on those who have much.

"In fact, those who have much have a duty toward others. We have now reached a stage in our development when we realize that wealth is not for the individual's benefit, but must be used for the public benefit. This is the very meat and substance of the industrial problems which we face today.

"On the mainland, we hear much of antagonism; between the capitalist and his employee, the railroad magnate and his employee and the public. I find much in this to study. I have given this careful thought. It is said that there is a chasm, an impassable barrier between the classes. But it has been found that the chasm can be bridged, and that the barrier may be passed by divers ways.

"Men of conflicting interests meet there in their clubs; they talk the matters over, interchange opinions, and find the solution, much as you gentlemen do who meet here at luncheon in this club.

"I am here to learn real facts. I want real facts, whichever way they cut.

"It appears that you have problems down here of an industrial nature which we don't have on the mainland. And they cause a great many misunderstandings.

"I have read much of Hawaii before I came here, and find when I get here that I knew but little. A man must be in touch to know what conditions are.

"That is why Mr. Straus came down here last year, and why I came, and I hope that there will be closer touch between your officials and those of the Government. I have had the pleasure to know all three of your Governors. The three who have served in this capacity have been three who have done their utmost to put the Territory in the right light before the Federal Government. The difficulty they and your Representative have faced has been because of the failure of the majority of people to understand.

"You people down here have been misunderstood and misjudged, and the people on the mainland have been misjudged, too. No doubt about that. The knife cuts both ways. Your Executives have been wise in using that knife. Year in and year out they have been trying to reach this understanding between the people.

"I have never heard any question regarding their integrity. They are people of whom you down here are proud, and of whom we on the mainland are certainly very proud.

"I do not care at this time to go into any particular phase of any public question. I am here to learn; not to teach. I am here to hear not peevish complaints but to hear radical wrongs.

"It is no use to tear down a character or an institution unless you have something better to put in its place. Criticism destructive leads to tearing down and anarchy. Constructive criticism is a benefit. This is what you want here.

"If we in the executive department have taken steps you think wrong, we want to hear it. We don't care, to have a mere personal attack made because someone doesn't like the man who happens to come out. I don't say this because the attack has been made here, but judge from what I know to have been the case in other Territories on the mainland. I have no doubt you will be free from them here.

"In the executive department we are endeavoring to build up a system of executive officers in which the man shall be well qualified for the place he is to fill. We are trying to send here men who are familiar here, not men who come down here with preconceived notions of what conditions ought to be.

"If the Executive has to be deceived by petitions for the appointment of improper men, the community is the one to suffer by it. Such an appointment will not be made if you show your honest opinions of the man. And no man who is a ne'er-do-well at home ought to be shoved off and saddled on the Government to support.

"We want to make this Territory not only in name a part of the United States, but to make you people feel that all the United States can do for any Territory it will do for this Territory. We want you to know that every appropriation made for the Department of the Interior, to be used for experiment stations, and other purposes of the sort, shall be used for this Territory in proportion to its needs, and the needs of others. We want you to know that you can call on the United States as readily as the Old Buckeye State, and they will give you a fair deal. Since I have been here I have met a number of people from the Old Buckeye State, and have found out that they can call very well indeed.

"I thank you for the reception and entertainment which I have gotten here. It has made it possible for me to do a great deal of work, find out many facts, and meet a great many people.

"All problems of race, questions of lands, all will receive my most careful attention and consideration. I have this morning heard delegations on these various subjects. One gentleman said that you want here the land laws of the United States. I happen to know something about the land laws of the United States, and know they have not been a complete success, especially in the West. They have serious defects, and I would not for a moment be willing to recommend for this Territory these laws without amendments which should conform to the conditions of this Territory.

"I don't mean to say that your land laws are now perfect. They are far from it, and need changes and amendment.

"The same is true of your labor conditions here. Changes should be made, but what changes should be made is a question not lightly to be taken up.

"We must realize that not only national but international questions have a part in it. Conditions in the Orient make a great difference now, and things which were good for you a few years ago are perhaps not good for you now."

Mr. Garfield made a few complimentary remarks on the occasion, and the entertainment which he has received here.

"I hope, by the assistance of your Governor and your Delegate to Congress, who has made his position in Washington a great and honorable one, to obtain from Congress such laws as we shall all agree are the wise ones."

"If I do not get one hour's sleep during the rest of my trip, I will feel that I have been repaid for my visit. Gentlemen, I thank you."

The funeral of Mrs. Geo. P. Ross will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Williams undertaking parlors.

JEWELS EASILY TAKE HONORS FROM SAILORS

Considerable injustice has been done the boys of the U. S. S. Maine by statements made in regard to their game of baseball yesterday with the Diamond Heads. The latter won by a score of 5 to 2, but there was no landslide, and no batting of navy pitchers out of the box. The Jewels bunched three hits in the first and three in the third inning, scoring 5. The Navy boys netted their two runs from three hits.

H. Chillingworth, who held down second bag, made a fine impression on the Navy boys, with his work, though this is his second time in a D. H. A. C. uniform.

The score by innings:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

D. Heads 3 0 5 0 0 0 0 0 0

Maine 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 2

The lineup:

Maine—Bruff, c; Hillman, Hefner, p; Kittle, 1b; O'Brien, 2b; Keely, 3b; Kennelick, ss; Barker, rf; McCormick, cf; Hefner, Leegron, lf.

Diamond Heads—Davis, c; Leslie, p; E. Fernandez, 1b; H. Chillingworth, 2b; S. Chillingworth, 3b; Costello, ss; B. Joy, rf; Louis, cf; Olmon, lf.

Umpire—W. Vannatta.

No baseball will be played by the Newspaper League tomorrow, out of respect for the late Prince David Kawanakoa. This also puts the dates of games for this league back where originally scheduled.

MARKED FOR THE REAPER

About three years ago Mrs. L. Hetkes of 819 Kirkham street, Oakland, Cal., called at our office with a girl thirteen years old, the latter weak and listless. She stated that she had lost a daughter through kidney disease and the doctors now told her this one was in the same way and that she could live but a short while.

The mother was nearly distracted. We told her that kidney disease was really inflammation of the kidneys and that it was in fact incurable under the old diuretics, all of which were kidney excitants, but that an emollient for kidney inflammation had been discovered and that the child would probably recover. The mother took the treatment with her.

We skip three years. A few months ago Mrs. Hetkes called with a beautiful young girl. Who was the very picture of health. She introduced her as the dying patient of three years ago, and told us to refer anybody in the world to her. She stated the recovery was complete about the eleventh week.

For the only emollient for inflammation of the kidneys, the world has ever seen, ask for Fulton's Renal Compound. Literature mailed free.

SHE WASN'T POSTED

She wished a rest and sunshine, For nerves so overwrought, Pursuing which idea A gay resort she sought.

She got a little bedroom Devoid of sun or ray, The size was nine by seven The cost ten plunks a day!

And that is just where she made a mistake, for she could have enjoyed the comforts of a large sunny room at the Volcano House, basked in the mountain sunshine, tramped through ferns and forest, and returned to her city home refreshed and invigorated, for half the money. HOUSEHOLD HINTS

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Hang oranges and lemons in wire baskets and they will keep fresh much longer.

The secret of cooking game is constant basting. It should be underdone and full of gravy.

Pure potatoes and cover with cold water for an hour before cooking, and they will be less liable to turn dark after they are boiled.

A tablespoonful of vinegar added to a quart of lamp oil will destroy the unpleasant odor if it is not caused by a burner in need of a thorough cleaning.

When boiling old potatoes, which are apt to go to a very dark color, put a tablespoonful of milk in the water in which they are boiled and you will find they will be beautifully white when cooked.

New walking shoes are sometimes inclined to "slip" at the heels and a nasty blister is the result. A simple preventive is to rub the inside of the shoes with a little soap at the heel before putting them on.

A quick method of making bread crumbs is to put the crumbs from a stale loaf into a muslin bag, tie at the top and rub it gently with both hands for a few minutes. The bread will then be fine enough for any purpose.

If you have a fern that does not grow fast enough try putting the pot in hot water—not boiling, but too hot to bear the hand. This is especially good for the beautiful large fern that resembles the wild fern that grows on some shady hillside.

One often hears complaints that the boiler rusts and ironmolds the clothes. To prevent this, as soon as the boiler is emptied rub well over with soap. This will not only prevent rust, it will also help to make aids for the next boiling.

For easy boot cleaning brush the boots free from dust, then with a bit of rag rub a little glycerin well into the leather. Let nearly dry, then rub with a soft brush. If rubbed after wearing with a velvet-covered pad or duster they will retain their polish for days and the glycerin helps to keep the leather a good color and to make it soft and comfortable to wear.

Even when the oven is quite right and the pastry has been made moderately rich, a woman will feel dissatisfied at the appearance of a pie, because she misses the rich brown gloss that she has seen up pastry made by practical cooks. To obtain this gloss she needs a wrinkle. It is produced by egg wash. An egg is beaten up with a little sugar and a small quantity of milk is added. With this wash, the pie is brushed over after the pastry has been finished.

Dresses, carpets and rugs and all sorts of woollen fabrics may be cleaned with potato water without injury to their color. Put a pint of water in a basin and into it grate two raw potatoes. Then strain this through a sieve, allowing the liquid to run into another bowl containing another pint of cold water. Let this settle, then pour off the clear part into a bottle for future use. Dip a sponge into the potato water, with it rub the soiled garment carefully and then wash it with clear water.

FOR THE WAIST.

Now that the lingerie waist is so very generally worn in all seasons, the girl who travels likes to know of some way in which she can keep her supply clean and fresh.

It is always better to carry one's waists in the top of the dress-suit case, where they will not become so badly crushed and can be held in place by straps.

A very dainty case in which to carry them can be made of some fancy cretonne cut something like an oblong envelope, excepting that the ends should be long enough so that when folded over they will overlap at the center; then bring up the sides, cut to a point so that they will meet at the center just like an ordinary envelope, and tie.

The case should be bound all around with satin ribbon, with ties on the points, and when closed should be just large enough to fit into the suitcase.

BOXING BOUTS BEST SEEN IN MANY MOONS

"Chief wasn't it great sport!" said the fight fan as he left Independence Hall last night. He spoke with reference to the boxing bouts, at which he had just yelled and howled, and from which he had gotten about the most fun which has ever been furnished by such an entertainment in this city.

And the fan was right. It was sport—clean, good sport, all of it.

This marks the inauguration of what is probably to be a series of good bouts to be held in this city, especially while the ships are here. The first preliminary was only less good than the main event, in which Young Nelson and Rafferty went ten rounds to a draw. If the second preliminary was too easy for the sailor, it went almost three rounds, all the same, and served to get the jack-tar representation on edge for the main event.

Joe Cabral and Ernie Heine stepped through the ropes first. The boys showed up well, and the bout went four fast and clean rounds. In the initial round Heine found Joe's jaw with a haymaker, and down went the little fellow, who seemed to have about eight pounds the short end of the weight. He was up again like a rubber ball, and there is where he made his mistake. Heine was waiting for him, and caught him again on the jaw, sending him to the floor. He coolly took the count this time, and finished off the round as fresh as a daisy. Heine loosened out in the second with some swift swings, but Cabral rushed, and was inside most of them. The men fought continually to a clinch. Cabral had the best of it. The mixing was not in the cleanest form.

In the third, Joe came ahead. He found his man again and again on the jaw with his right, and Heine was on the back-up most of the time. Joe also got him angry.

The men mixed it from almost the first of the fourth. Heine by the instruction of his seconds covering his jaw more carefully. But both men landed continually. Joe having all the best of it, and forcing the fighting all around.

The crowd cheered the decision when Joe was led forward and declared a winner.

O'Brien and Kupa
The second preliminary, scheduled as a 6-round contest at 140 pounds, was ended in the third round, when O'Brien of the Maine felled Kupa, a local man, and was given the decision by the referee. In the first round, the superiority of the jackie was very apparent. He was faster than his opponent, and had the punch with him. O'Brien pursued the rushing tactics during the second, and frequently had Kupa in the ropes. Early in the round he landed with a stiff left to the jaw, and had the local boy groggy. Then he followed up and sent Kupa through the ropes with a speedy right. Kupa took the count, and crawled into the ring just in time. O'Brien had turned away, thinking the fight was his, and was not able to get at his man again before the gong sounded, and saved Kupa from certain defeat then and there.

In the third the thing was soon over. Kupa was winded, and seemed to have no strength at all. The lightest punch upset him, and he took the count of 9, then of 7, and of 8, as fast as he got up. At last O'Brien shoved him with his hands, and Kupa toppled over, evidently as exhausted as if he had run a mile, but still clear in the head. The decision was given at once to O'Brien by the referee, who led Kupa to his corner. The loser looked fresh enough when he left the ring, and his trouble was evidently nothing more than bad condition.

That 10-Round Draw

The main event, a 10-round go between Young Nelson of local fame and Frank Rafferty of the Alabama, lightweight champion of the Atlantic Fleet, at 126 pounds, was a draw, by the decision of Referee Mike Patton, and that the decision was a good one there is little doubt. Rafferty had the best of the clean hitting, but Nelson forced the fighting most of the time, and got there when the men were at close range.

Before the fight, after a protest from Nelson's seconds, it was agreed to fight clean-break rules, under command of the referee. This was where Nelson lost his fight. He would have won inside of five rounds with the Marquis of Queensberry straight rules. He is clever at the infighting, has it on Rafferty in a dozen ways when it comes to steam and stamina, and also had the advantage of the weight last night. The men were supposed to go into the ring at 126 pounds, but Rafferty weighed about 120.

All through the opening rounds, Rafferty kept up the range work, and had it on points. Nelson was boring in all the time, trying to get close to his man, but could not manage it. He became more and more nervous at the holding tactics of Rafferty, and hit out viciously at close range every chance he got.

Rafferty had a left jab which bothered Nelson a good deal, but it lacked punishing power.

In the eighth, Nelson began to get there, and had the best of it right through from that time on. Rafferty came back with some good ones, but could not stop the slaughter. Still, both boys fought well, and the ninth round found Nelson complaining to his seconds when the gong sounded that he could not make Rafferty fight at close quarters.

At the end of a hard-fought tenth, Referee Patton threw up his hands and called "Draw!"

The decision was popular, except among the men who were intense partisans.

Tonight's card will be as follows:
Dennis Tighe (U. S. S. Alabama) vs. Murphy, 10 rounds, 150 pounds.
Hart (U. S. S. Maine) vs. Kahaulelio, 6 rounds, 160 pounds.
Wahlant vs. Young Sharkey, 4 rounds, 142 pounds.

The promoter of the bouts is Jack Scully, one of the most popular of sports in town, and the proprietor of the Fashion Saloon. Jack has been working hard to give some clean sport here, and pleasure is expressed that he is the man who has the place where fights can now be held.

NO RACE ON TODAY

There will be no race today between Makala and Leahli Girl, as stated yesterday in the Bulletin.

Abe Attell and Owen Moran will meet in a bout for featherweight championship in September.

New York authorities have arrested violators of the new anti-racetrack gambling law at Gravesend.

Armiak easily won the Hanover stake at Gravesend and Big chief takes the handicap.

Detroit Tigers beat the Yankees as the championship flag is unfurled.

Andrew Glarner is entered for the Olympic games in England.
