Count Medici At Haleakala

South African Consul Enjoying
Visit to Maui—Would Return
If Possible.

Maui entertained a distinguished visitor last week, and the traveler declared himself delighted with his experiences on this island. Count Medici di Marignano, Consul for Italy in the Union of South Africa, was the visitor, and he did the Haleakala trip all alone. He also visited Iao Valley and all the other interesting sights of Maui. "Well, you have a lovely island here," he declared, "and I am glad that I was not dissuaded from making the trip. It nearly happened that way, owing to the manner in which my enquiries regarding Maui were answered in Honolulu."

Rev. Short Is Leaving

August 19 will be the last day that the Rev. Mr. Short will spend on Maui. He has received a call to St. Paul Church, Benicia, California, and will sail for the mainland on the date mentioned.

Bishop Moreland, who is a life-long friend of Mr. Short, has charge of the Diocese in which Mr. Short will labor, and for many years he has endeavored to persuade the well known Wailuku pastor to go back to the mainland.

Mr. Short is leaving Hawaii for purely family reasons. He has a son in the navy—or rather a cadet—and when the family settles in Benicia, there will be a re-union. Miss Short accompanies her father to the mainland. The call received by Mr. Short is not one to a better parish—as stipends go. The Maui pastor would not be influenced that way. As stated before, it is purely for family reasons that the well liked minister is leaving Maui.

Filipino Shot At Olowalu

On Sunday last there was a shooting scrap at Olowalu and one man, a Filipino, is in the hospital as a result of the affray. The man who did the shooting was also a Filipino, and he is under arrest, charged with carrying a concealed weapon. There is some doubt as to whether the shot was fired with intent, to kill, and the county attorney's department is looking into the matter.

It seems that the two Filipinos were the best of friends and that they lived in the same house. They had a holiday, of course, on Sunday and put in their time loafing around the house and talking to neighbors.

Some time after noon a shot was heard by some neighbors and a rush was made for the Filipinos' house. The crowd found one man on the floor with a bullet through his hip. The other Filipino was standing by with a revolver in his hand. From statements made by the wounded man, it would seem as if the shooting was an accident. The two are great friends, and their story is that they were fooling around when the gun went off in some way and shot the man. The wound is not a very serious one and the Filipino is expected to recover from it rapidly.

Tennis Finals Will Be Good

Dispute Over Match That Was Claimed By Default—Not Allowed.

Owing to some upsetting of the dates upon which the second round of the Harry Baldwin tennis tournament should have been finished, the committee, by a vote of two to one, decided to extend the time limit. The second round was to have been played yesterday, and the finals must be played off before July 31.

Regarding the split vote of the committee on the question of extending the time limit for the semi-finals, it is said that the reason is that Myers, who plays with Richardson, could not put in an appearance on the day set. Burns and Burns, who were to meet Myers and Richardson, claimed a default. E. R. Bevins, chairman of the committee voted that Burns and Burns be declared the winners. Richardson and W. S. Chillingworth voted the other way.

Took Poison While Angry

Last Monday a part Chinese woman attempted to commit suicide at Camp One, Puunene. She had some kind of a row with her husband and decided that life was not worth living.

The woman chose poison as the suicide dope and, not having anything else, drank about a third of a bottle of horse liniment. The only thing that saved her was the fact that she took too much of the stuff, and became sick. Even then she was unconscious for a couple of hours and had to be taken to the Puunene Hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Ferreira happened to be at Camp One, and as soon as he heard that the woman was poisoned he hurried down to give all the assistance he could. The woman was picked up and hurried to the hospital, where she was brought around after some strenuous work by the doctor. The woman has promised not to be so foolish again.

Test Case Being Tried

In the police court last Monday, a test case was put up to Judge McKay, who was invited to give a decision regarding the auto ordinance of the County of Maui. Antonino Garcia was the nominal defendant, and he agreed to the case going in on an agreed statement of fact.

It appears that although the auto ordinance says that fifteen miles an hour is the limit of speed in the towns, and twenty-five miles the limit, in outside districts, there are no defined town limits specified.

As it was felt by the county attorney's department that it would be hard to get a conviction against any speeder, the matter was passed up to the judge. He decided yesterday that Garcia was guilty and suspended sentence for thirteen months. The judge, however, would not define the town limits and that will go up to the supervisors.

GOVERNORSHIP SUBJECT OF MUCH DISCUSSION

Correspondence, Written Before Pinkham Was Nominated, Lets Some Light on Situation—Horner and the Sugar Status—Pineapple Price Cut.

(Special Correspondence.)

HONOLULU, July 25.—There have been events during the past day or two that have a tendency to shatter the equilibrium which keeps the average Honolulu resident on an even keel. First there was the report that Pinkham is to get the appointment of Governor to succeed Frear. Knowing his love for the heads of some of the big interests in the islands and, with a belief that he will sacrifice any, and every interest in order to get at the men for whom he nourishes a hatred, the men most interested in sugar felt a scare to be compared only to that experienced by a person taking a first trip on the ocean.

The average man will tell you that Pinkham will never do, and the average is not confined to men interested directly in sugar. There are exceptions and they say Pinkham is a good man and one who will aid the sugar industry, regardless of the fact that many for whom he has no love, are deeply interested in it. It is pointed out that when he took a trip around the country some years ago as the head of a commission appointed by Governor Carter, he signed a report very favorable to the industry in spite of the fact that conditions were not as good then as now. Another thing against Pinkham, is the opposition he has expressed for the Japanese, a delicate subject for diplomatic differences just at this time, and which has been so often published that the Washington authorities seem to be well posted on the matter.

Pinkham, you will remember, was sent to the Philippines to recruit labor for the plantations. It was a good job and he made the best of it—for Pink. However it came to the ears of the planters that Mr. Pinkham was having a really joyous time in Manila; that he never went outside, and that the class of men he was sending

Pinkham Nominated As Governor

L. E. Pinkham has been nominated by President Wilson, as Governor of Hawaii. The news was cabled from Washington Thursday last and it caused a sensation throughout the islands.

When Pinkham's name was first mentioned in the dispatches from the mainland, everybody smiled and remarked it was a good joke. But the joke has come home to roost, and there is no getting around the fact that Pinkham has landed the plum.

It is said that the Democratic party in Hawaii is ready to flop. The leaders, who fondly imagined that they were in the running for the big territorial offices, have not yet recovered from the shock, and there is much weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Who Wants Port Job?

If any ambitious young man wishes to obtain a position as deputy collector of customs at the port of Kahului, now is the time for him to speak up and get busy. E. R. Bevins, who will step out of the office on July 31, is determined to give up the position for good. Twenty-five dollars per month is not thought to be sufficient salary for such a position, and the job is going begging.

When Tidwell from Washington toured the islands and looked into the affairs of the various ports of entry in the group, he sent in a report to the effect that Kahului should be reduced in status. This was done and the salary of $125 per month that was attached to the position, was cut to $25 per month. Since the reduction, it has been found impossible to secure a man for the position and, after July 31, it will be hard to say what will happen. If there is no deputy collector at Kahului, the steamers will have to be cleared and entered at Honolulu or Hilo. That would mean that a custom officer would have to travel on each vessel and that the cost of handling freight would be increased.

The twenty-five dollars a month does not appeal to anybody. The man who takes the job will have to board all vessels—Sundays or any other day—and there is a good deal of work and responsibility attached to the position. Now don't all speak at once.

Bluffer Had To Skin Out

Maui had several would-be smarties as visitors during the "race week" that ended on the evening of July Fourth. One man in particular, who posed as an attorney, and who had the impudence to appear in the Circuit Court, at Lahaina, has skipped the country. He found things too hot for him, it is said.

This particular bright youth posed as a Yale man, who had performed some wonderful feat on the classic diamond of the University. He tried to fill up quite a number of Wailuku people with his stories, but most of the sports were very careful of their dealings with him.

Now, it has come to light that the visitor had no legal standing as an attorney, and that he bunced a former Wailukan man who is sued by his ex-wife for alimony, out of $70. The "attorney" was supposed to represent the man in his appeal against the alimony allowed by the court. He stated to several people in Wailuku that he was appearing for his client without any hope of payment for his services. "I liked the look of the fellow and said I would represent him for nothing," was the "attorney's" statement in court. The facts are that he got $70 out of the easy one and then had a good time on Maui. From latest advices it is learned that the smart Alick has gone to pastures new.

Kahului Nine Going Strong

Doubleheader Attracted Large Crowd—Puunene Easily Beat Lahaina—Much Rooting.

Last Sunday there was the usual doubleheader on the Wailuku diamond, and a big crowd of fans rolled up to see the sport. The first game was a runaway affair, and the Puunene boys put it all over the team from the ancient capital. There was nothing to it, and the crowd could not get worked up to a state of much excitement. The Puunenes scored as they liked and ones, twos, threes and fours, to say nothing of a five, appeared in short order on the scoring board.

The second game was a beauty.

Taylor Goes To Hanapepe

W. W. Taylor, who, for the past nine years, has been Supervising Principal of the Hana district of public schools, and postmaster at Kipahulu, left for Kauai, via Oahu on Wednesday evening last. He is proceeding to take charge of the Hanapepe school on the Garden Island.

Mr. Taylor is considered one of the best teachers in the territory, and he will have an opportunity of showing what he can do at Hanapepe, where there are about a dozen teachers in the school. Principal Taylor will relish the change from an isolated place and will be able to spend every night at home, a thing that has been impossible for a long time past.

With Messrs. Copeland, Wade, Raymond and Taylor gone from Maui, a number of friends are missing their companionship, and the hope is expressed that some day the exiles may return to the happiest island in the group.

Well Known Athlete Here

J. S. B. MacKenzie, well known all over the big island as "Mac," and one of the best around athletes in the group, is now manager of the Puunene Store, at Kahului. "Mac" has had many years experience in plantation stores and he is considered to be a real live wire.

The new manager was the star athlete of the island of Hawaii till he injured his knee while playing soccer against a Honolulu team. He was a fine high jumper, pole vaulter and broad jumper. On the tennis courts he is in the first flight, although somewhat handicapped by the injured knee. Maui tennis players will be glad to hear that a good racquet wielder has come to reside here.

Former manager Walker, of the Puunene Store, is now located in the M. A. Co.'s Paia Store.

Direct Boats To San Pedro

Scheme Mooted to Start Line of Steamers From Southern California to Hawaii.

That there is a possibility of a new line of steamers connecting the Islands with the Coast, and especially, with Southern California, is the latest news to reach Wailuku through A. L. MacKaye, visitor from Los Angeles, now enjoying the beauties of the Valley Isle for the first time.

Last month a conference was held in the offices of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway, Los Angeles, to consider the advisability of operating one or more regular steamships directly between Honolulu, Kahului, Hilo and the harbor for Los Angeles at San Pedro.

Gen. F. A. Wann, general traffic manager for the railway; T. A. Peck, general passenger agent; Thomas Sloan, general freight agent, and James Steele, publicity

Grave Charge Against Man

Sheriff Crowell brought a prisoner back from Hana on Wednesday, and the man is a Hawaiian named Malamalama, who is charged with a very serious crime against a young girl, who is said to be twelve years of age.

The alleged offense is said to have occurred at Keanae, some time last week. The man is now confined in the Wailuku jail, to which place he was committed to await action by the Grand Jury in October next.

The details of the case are revolting and, if true, may result in the Hawaiian going to jail for many years.

T.B.M. Have Fine Sport

There was some great sport at the Wailuku gymnasium on Wednesday evening last. Fifteen members turned up and a try-out bowling tournament was started up. The idea was to get some notion of the respective ability of the bowlers and to then, upon the form shown, declare the handicaps for a tournament that is to be played in the near future.

The "T. B. M." Club is going strong, and much interest is being shown in the work at the gym. More people are becoming interested in the concern, and there is a boom just started that will place the gym, where it belongs.

On Wednesday evening Dan Carey showed great form and he came out ahead of everybody. Dan is as good at bowling as he is at driving trotters, and he is excellent at both sports. Manager Penhallow was in his element and a half-a-dozen or so plantation men were present also. Captain Penhallow did some good work on the alleys and he was applauded for a couple of strikes that he made. Dan Carey enjoyed himself and showed the bunch how they bowl in Kansas. The whole evening was enjoyable and all the business men of the district should join in and have a good time every evening.

Count Medici

"Yes, I am very glad I came to Maui and I will, upon meeting my friends at the Volcano House, explain to them that the Maui excursion is the best I've taken so far, and the whole party—there are eight persons—should come here before going back to Honolulu.

"The Haleakala trip was a beautiful one and the road is alright. The only thing that I would 'kick' about would be the shelter hut which, I must say, needs cleaning and doing up. Rubbish is dumped on the floor of the hut, and I could not sleep very comfortably with an empty sardine can in the small of my back.

"Haleakala is a wonderful sight and the scene from the summit is sublime. It was not cold the night I was there and, in the morning, there was no clouds at all. I could see the islands of the group and the two big mountains on Hawaii were especially clear.

"I have, of course seen Vesuvius—in eruption and at quiet periods. I was around there at the time of the big lava flow some seven years ago. I am personally acquainted with the plucky observer who stayed with his job right through the eruption.

"I am looking forward to the

Tennis Finals

From what can be learned it seems that Myers wirelessly Richardson that he would come over from Molokai in order to play on the afternoon of July 18. The Burns brothers were notified of this, and they were promptly on time at four-forty-five, which was the hour set for the beginning of the match. Richardson was on hand, but Myers did not show up. The match was claimed by Burns and Burns, and then the argument started.

Myers has written to the committee stating that he chartered a sampan to take him from Molokai to Lahaina, but that the boat became disabled and he could not make the trip that way. He, the fore, took passage on the Mikahala which steamer landed him at Olowalu late in the afternoon. An auto had to be obtained from Lahaina, and Myers only reached Kahului at 6:20—too late to play in the match. Myers claims that he tried to get Richardson on the 'phone but was unable to do so.

The whole trouble was threshed out and the committee decided by a two to one vote that the match be not forfeited to Burns and Burns.

There are now left in the tournament the following pairs: Engle and Collins, Burns and Burns, Myers and Richardson. The winners of the postponed match will play Engle and Collins in the finals.

Direct Boats

agent, were the high officials at the conference considering the matter. Reports were submitted showing the great opportunity the Salt Lake Route had of routing tourists directly from Chicago and the Middle West, to the Islands, with a stop-over at Los Angeles, which is one of the great tourist centers of the world.

Mr. MacKaye was present, and made an enthusiastic report regarding the prospects open in this territory for tourist travel and the growth of the traffic here during the past few years.

It was pointed out that such an arrangement would redound to the benefit of the Salt Lake line and Los Angeles, as well as the Islands, for in time thousands of travelers would pass through the great Southern California city en route to the Paradise of the Pacific.

It was finally decided to take up the question of establishing one or two five-day boats, possibly on the model of the S. S. Yale or Harvard, now being run by the Salt Lake Route between Los Angeles and San Francisco. These steamers could make the Los Angeles-Honolulu run in four-and-a-half days and carry 850 first-class passengers.

What that would mean to the Islands in added prosperity and the influx of new capital and energy can only be estimated.

Reports have been asked for regarding accommodations, rates, freight, transportation facilities, etc., which Mr. MacKaye has promised to send to Mr. Peck. When this line is in operation, as now appears probable, Hilo, Kahului and Honolulu will be the three ports of call, and the Volcano, from Hilo; Haleakala and Iao Valley from Kahului, will be the objective points of the visitors at regular intervals. The only drawback to the scheme, says Mr. MacKaye, seems to be the indifference of local men.

Base Ball

and is declared to be one of the best ever played on the local diamond. The Stars led by a score of 3 to 2 till the end of the sixth inning. The Kahuluis took a pull in the "lucky seventh" and got three men home. That cinched the game and neither team scored in the eighth or ninth.

There was some tall rooting during the game, and the Wailuku fans thought that their team had the game sewen up good and large. However, the Seasiders were too good, and the three runs in the seventh did the trick.

Heime Meyer pitched the game of his life and struck out sixteen men. His control was perfect and he did great work. W. Bal also pitched a good game and the men behind him gave him only fair support. The young twirler did great work and, if he can continue pitching as he did on Sunday, he will do a lot to help his team regain the lead in the second series. However, the Kahuluis were too strong, on the day, and the victory went to them by a score of 5 to 3.

There was only one umpire, Ad. Chislett, and he had a hard day's work. Twenty-two runs were scored in the first game, and eight in the second. That kept Ad. busy watching the play. A field umpire should be selected at once. Everybody regrets that George Cummings has thrown up his job as umpire. His fairness could never be doubted and he is a good umpire. The full scores of both games follow:

Honolulu News

here seemed better fitted for the jails than the plantations. Then Mr. Mead was dispatched to Manila to investigate. The result was a reasonably prompt recall of Mr. Pinkham and a cessation of labor recruiting in the South. Pinkham may have it in for the planters for the dismissal and may get even, or try to do so. (Since the above was written, the news of Pinkham's nomination has reached Maui.)

HORNER AND SUGAR.

The second sensational spasm was precipitated by Albert Horner shortly after he got ashore from the steamer Sierra, and it came in the form of a published interview on the tariff situation. So far as is known, Albert is the only specimen of man in captivity, who has had the gall to admit that Wilson is the genuine article in the presidential line, and that free sugar will be a benefit to the islands! Most persons here are of the opinion that it is going to send the country and the people to Hades. Those who know Albert, have no trouble to find the fly in the amber in his case, and they marvel at the limitless vindictiveness he shows toward men who have grown well to do, some of them wealthy, in a business that brought him, after many years hard work, nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

But in Horner's case the trouble is that it came to him against his will; he wanted to stick around and add to the business of piling up dollars, and let me say to you that all of the Wilsons and Underwoods for the next thirty generations could not convince some people of the benefits of free sugar, if he were back in the business. But he is not, and those who forced him out of the plantation, and gave him in exchange much fine gold, are in it, and the more money they can lose through the obstinacy of the president of the United States, the more will he be pleased. Saying that slowly, rather jars the nerves but, what are you to think? There are some mighty bright minds here obsessed by the idea that plantations cannot make money in competition with countries where the cost of labor is so much lower.

PINEAPPLES.

Mr. Horner has become interested in a plantation for the growing of pineapples on Kauai, in fact he bought into it before he went to the coast.

At this writing the pineapple business is rather precarious; no one knows what is to be done since Dole took fifty cents a case off the product without saying anything to the other growers. Since then anathemas have been plucked and thrown at the young pineapple King by all of the other men in the business. It is said the Dole company will sink, or rather reduce their sales, four hundred thousand dollars this crop. The Tropic Fruit Co.—I think that is the name of the one at Pearl City—having sold their crop, will have to rebate fifty cents a case, or something like a hundred thousand dollars. Eames and Thomas will dig up fifty thousand dollars each.

One of the growers was asked why Dole took such an unnecessarily foolish step, and the answer was: "To get even with Castle and Libby, McNeill and Libby." But take the Dole side of the business. From a man close to him in executive management of the great cannery, comes the statement that for months the product of other canneries has found ready sale on the mainland markets and, as the fruit is considered as good as any put up, the company wondered at the falling off of the demand. A still hunt showed that other canners were selling at cut prices and, when charged with it, they said it must be their agents, for they were innocent of any deal. For a time it looked like as if things were settled amicably. But the selling went on, and it was again found that a cut was being made in the price. Again the producers blamed it on the agents on the coast. Dole said nothing but his woodpile grew. Then came the bolt from the blue that set all of the island canners on edge; he had made a direct cut of fifty cents a case, and said to the other fellows. "I did it because of the over production and the falling off in a demand for Hawaiian pines." Then the other canners came back with figures to show that there is no canned fruit on the market that is in so much demand as the Hawaiian pineapple, adding that the present crop is more than three-fourths sold—consequently there was no demand for a cut in price. Now it appears there is to be a reduction in the area of pines planted in the islands, in the hope that the cost of production will be less, and the product not too great for the demand. Horner is going into the business in spite of it.

RIDING SCHOOL?

Once again Honolulu has been stung. This time it was by a "Baron," who claimed to be a German, and who used French dressing in the preparation of his advertisements, which announced his intention to open a riding school on King street, on the site of the old McCully mansion of years gone by.

The baron had large ideas, but a small purse. He employed an architect to make the plans for a building to cost one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and then gave him a note in payment, fixing the due date on the arrival of the Sierra, on which steamer he was to receive thirty-five thousand dollars. Some of the town folk who had given him credit became suspicious, and importuned him for coin whereat he felt insulted, and called upon Count von Donckerwitz to bear him out in his statement that he had money to get. Even the Count could not bore through the adamantine hearts of the creditors who wanted coin. Then he bought an automobile and gave a check for it, the check subsequently being returned to the sellers marked no funds. Other checks were given and returned and then the baron's light went out. There were warrants sworn out for him, and McDuffie attempted to serve them but failed to locate the man—he is supposed to have skipped to pastures new on the S. S. Honolulu. Plans for the great building, with its entire lower floor, panelled on the sides with plate glass mirrors may be had at a bargain, if there is anyone on Maui with a desire to invest.

The report of the sinking of the wharf at Hilo must come to the ambitious residents of the second city as a blow. Some weeks ago one of the leading non-believers in Thurstonian progress, made the remark that the wharf would not be ready for three or four years while Mr. Thurston was sure the next crop of Olaa sugar would be shipped from it. Of course the man who picked four years had nothing to go by except his opposition—the sinking of the wharf was beyond his control. Unless all signs fail, work on reviving the structure will begin at once, and the enterprise will be carried through by the government.

Road Work Is Taught

A new era of road building in the United States began about 1905. The old type of road which had only to withstand the horse drawn traffic of the earlier period, failed under the new traffic conditions, i. e. that of a rapid moving automobile and the consequent shearing action under the rear wheels. The automobile also increased the interest of the general public in the cause of good roads.

A new field of investigation was opened for the engineer. The U. S. Government established the Office of Public Roads under the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The field was new and many trials were needed before the necessary equipment for a laboratory had arrived at such a period of perfection that the testing machinery manufacturers felt justified in placing their machines on the market.

The Engineering Department at Columbia University was the first engineering school to establish a course in Highway Engineering. In 1911, Prof. Blanchard was called to take charge of this work.

The College of Hawaii has always included in its regular engineering course a two hour one semester recitation course on Roads Pavements. Beginning next fall, a full laboratory period, each week during the entire school year, will be devoted to the methods of testing road materials. In order to properly conduct this work, the latest road testing machines manufactured by T. Olsen & Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., have been added to the present laboratory equipment. The last legislature appropriated sufficient money so that a small temporary structure can be built to house this and additional electrical machinery.

The road testing machines already on hand are a Two Gang Deval Abrasion Machine a Page Briquette forming machine, a Page Cementing value machine, and a Pentimeter, while in the near future a two Ball Mill, Grinding Lap, Core Drill, and Impact Machine will be added, making, with the other testing machines already installed, a completely equipped road laboratory.

The wearing qualities of the road metals are of particular interest to the builder of highways. By means of the Abrasion Cylinders this property can be thoroughly investigated, a poor rock discarded, and a more suitable one used.

In the earlier types of macadam road the binding properties depended upon the keying of the stones, the complete filling of voids by the fine rock, and the cementing value of the fine rock itself. The preservation of a macadam road is dependent upon its bond. Bituminous binders are now frequently added in order to withstand the added disruptive effect of automobile traffic.

The Page Cementing machine is used to investigate the cementing qualities of the fine stone itself which for this purpose, is formed into small cylinders by the Briquette forming machine. The Pentimeter is one of the many pieces of apparatus needed for the investigation of bituminous binders. Most of the other tests of bituminous binders are chemical, the necessary apparatus for performing these latter tests being already in the chemical laboratory of the College of Hawaii.

While this road laboratory is primarily for the instruction of students attending the College of Hawaii still, at all times, its facilities are open to any individual or municipality which may desire information in regard to local materials or comparisons or tests of various local products with a view of ascertaining their suitability for the work in hand.

Turkey Trot Is Barred

"American girls essaying to glide the ballroom floors of European capitals with foreign army officers are responsible for the Boston, now a popular and fashionable dance," says a leading instructor of the terpsichore in New York.

"It was evolved in a peculiar manner and has been popular under several names.

"American girls, finding it was impossible for them to dance with the army officers, as the American style is a glide and the European style about eight years ago was a pronounced hop, adopted this hop movement. The same summer of that year these girls were stopping at Bar Harbor, and they practiced what was their conception of the European waltz and the hop Boston was the result.

"In the fall a New York teacher visiting our school, as she had been doing for several years, to get the new dances to teach to her classes during the winter, asked for the dance she had seen at Bar Harbor. She said they called it the Boston, and after several inquiries we finally learned of the dance and taught it.

"It did not become a craze until the succeeding winter, and then our teachers were so exhausted by teaching this strenuous hopping dance that we decided if possible to change the fashion somewhat, but still keep the essentials of the dance.

"The dance that was evolved from this hop Boston was first tried at the Knickerbocker dance at the Plaza Hotel, and at that dance received its name. It then was called the long Boston, which is the dance of to-day, the hop having been taken out and a long gliding step, better suited to the American people, substituted.

HOW MANY VARIATIONS.

"This dance has been popular for several years, and constantly new variations have been added to it. It is now quite an elaborate dance. The dancers can keep time to the music, getting on the right accented count, as it lends itself to this admirably; it is about the only dance to-day in which the general public keep with the actual count of the music.

"They may put the variations in without having the exact phrasing of the music, but that is a very difficult matter, except for a person versed in music. Music is divided into phrases and sentences, and they should not begin to dance in the middle of a phrase any more than they should begin to talk in the middle of a sentence.

"The Boston is really a one-step dance. There is one-step to the measure with a pointing movement of the other foot to the side, which, with a raising up on the toes and a lowering again on the heels, occupies the other to counts. There are three counts in the measure, the dance being in waltz time.

"The one-step which is now superseding the turkey trot to some extent, is undoubtedly the most popular dance of society, although it may be interesting to know that while society is dancing it, the lowest strata of society from which it came, have entirely abandoned it.

"I visited some of the East Side schools in Grand street recently and found the orchestras playing nothing but waltzes. Not another dance was permitted the entire evening, except possibly a square dance. I also visited in other sections of the city, but found absolutely no evidence of the turkey trot or one-step. Waltzes and two-steps and kindred dances were the only ones allowed. When I say allowed, I mean that there were, in most places, signs to the effect these dances were barred as unrespectable.

May Have Big Opening

When the new Paia tennis courts are ready for play there will probably be a grand opening day. Regatta Day has been suggested and that day should be set aside for a big opening tournament and gala celebration.

One court is already finished and the other will be ready in a month or so. The courts are expected to be the very best of their kind in Hawaii. The space around the sidelines and at the back of the courts is ample, and that is a great thing in the construction of tennis courts.

There are some fine tennis players at Paia, and the game is very popular among the plantation employees. The opening day of the new courts is being anxiously awaited by all the racket wielders of Maui.

Church Notes

The program of the organ recital at the Union Church on Sunday evening is as follows:

 2. Intermezzo—Steane.
 3. Pilgrim's Chorus—Wagner.
 4. Angel's Serenade—Braga.
 5. Ein' Feste Burg—Luther.
 6. Traumerlied—Schumann.
 7. Evening Song—Armstrong.

Locals

W. F. Crockett is doing as well as can be expected and his broken leg is setting well.

W. J. Dyer, of Honolulu, was on Maui this week. He registered at the Maui Hotel.

A Chinese was fined $25 and costs at the police court for selling opium without a license.

Mr. F. E. Elliott, of the Pananene Store, is in the Paia Hospital, suffering from an attack of malaria.

The Paia bank building is being rushed along and the structure is assuming the look of a finished concern.

The prisoners are engaged cutting the grass around the Town Hall and the place looks much better for the work.

H. J. Meyer, the well known Kahului man, is the proud father of a little son who arrived on Wednesday evening last.

Richardson and Meyers beat Burns and Burns three sets straight in the Harry Baldwin cup tournament semifinals.

The little Logan boy who was so badly injured by being run down by a wagon at Kahului, is recovering slowly but is still in the hospital.

Sheriff Crowell paid a flying visit to Hana during the week. He went over to investigate several matters pertaining to the police department.

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd will hold their regular monthly meeting at Mrs. Aiken's, Kahului, on Tuesday July 29.

Ralph S. Hosmer, superintendent of forestry was in Wailuku during the week. He came up to look into certain matters pertaining to his department.

The Makawao Theatre was opened last night by Joe Leal, the well known manager of "movie" shows. There was a good house and the pictures were excellent.

Enos Vincent put up a great score at duck pins the other night. He scored 151, and nearly equalled the 158 record of Paul Schmidt, that was established some time ago.

Miss Ruth Benedict, secretary to the Central Union Church, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, of Wailuku. Miss Benedict may do the Haleakala trip next week.

W. H. Field has been confined to bed for a few days with a very bad cold that would persist in clinging to him. Mrs. Field has also been under the weather with a cold.

W. A. Bailey, well known on Maui, where he resided for many years, is a visitor to Wailuku. He is registered at the Maui Hotel where he intends to stay for a few days.

The S. S. Hyades came into Kahului on Sunday and left again for Kaaunapali.

on Monday. She brought in a general freight and took away a large shipment of canned pineapples.

A fine lawn is being laid out at the new park at the junction of Main and Mill streets. The grass is taking root in fine shape and the place will look very attractive in a few weeks.

There was a collision between the Wailuku plantation auto-truck and a White automobile, on Market street, last Wednesday. The automobile got much the worst of the deal.

A little stranger arrived at the home of Alexander McNicoll on Wednesday evening. The youngster is already thinking of entering for the next Kahului tennis tournament!

Mrs. Mary J. Hall and Miss Sarah R. Hall, of Honolulu, have been guests during the past week of the Rev. and Mr. A. Craig Bowditch, of Makawao, and of Mrs. Will J. Cooper of Haiku.

Jack Grace is going strong at the gymnasium with his physical culture class. He gave an exhibition of bag punching the other night, and showed that he is a pastmaster at the game.

On Wednesday next the Japanese of Wailuku will commemorate the first anniversary of the death of their Emperor. Appropriate exercises will be given and the men will take a day off from work.

There was a collision between a motorcycle and an auto truck on Wednesday last. The accident happened at the corner of the Punene Avenue and the cyclist—a Catholic Brother—was slightly injured.

A. L. Mackaye, former city editor of The Advertiser, and now interested in other concerns, is a visitor to Wailuku. He is accompanied by Mrs. Mackaye and they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Stevenson.

There is a story going the rounds that some "sportsmen" are shooting the Japanese pheasants that have been liberated on Maui. The authorities should watch closely and see that such poaching is stopped at once.

Judge McKay did not define any town limits when he found A. Garcia guilty of speeding along the road near the power house. As other summons are out, it is thought that the magistrate's decision will be appealed against.

All those who have received bills for subscription to the MAUI NEWS are requested to settle same at once. The law states that newspaper companies have to discontinue sending papers to people who are delinquent in their subscriptions.

Louis Henning was appointed to fill the position of county sanitary inspector at Lahaina. He will be trained by Chief Inspector Osmer, and it is thought that there will be soon noted an improvement as regards sanitation in Lahaina.

Mrs. Mary G. Daniels, of Paia, died last week at the good old age of 87 years. The old lady had a fall a few days previous to her death and sustained a fracture of the hip. The injury was too great a shock and death came a day or so afterwards.

The Kahului Young Men's Club is branching out in the entertaining line and the members have a dance at the Lyceum hall every Thursday evening. The dances are most enjoyable affairs, and that of Thursday last was attended by a big crowd of ladies and their partners.

The M. A. C. Tennis Club is working on its semi-annual handicap singles for men. The Paia Cup is the trophy and the tournament is played in February and September of each year. The date for the receiving of entries will be announced soon, and it is expected that a large list of players will be the result.

Dr. Russell left on the Claudine Saturday for Honolulu where he will make his home in the future. While locating in Honolulu, Dr. Russell will not abandon his practice on Maui and the other islands, as he plans to spend twelve weeks each year on Maui, Kauai and Hawaii, and the balance of the year in Honolulu. His headquarters in the latter city will be in the Boston Building.

On Dit

A. L. MACKAYE—I always longed to visit Maui and now that I am here for a few days, I am taking in all the sights. Maui is everything that I was lead to believe and you have a nice little town in Wailuku.

MEYER—July 23, at Kahului, to the wife of H. J. Meyer, a son.

Auto Notes.

Following its official non-stop run of 300 hours at the Automobile Club of America, the Packard "38" motor which established this world's record, is prolonging its endurance test by additional mileage on the road.

After the completion of the block test, which more than doubles the previous world's record of 132 hours, the motor was sealed under the observances of the technical committee of the Automobile Club, and replaced in the chassis from which it had been taken. It was then run at full speed on the Long Island speedway.

From the metropolis, the car containing the motor was driven at a high rate of speed to Philadelphia, where it is now the center of much interest occasioned by its endurance record. It still carries the seals which show it has undergone no adjustments.

During the 300 hours of continuous running on the test rack, the motor made 21,000,000 revolutions at a constant speed of 1200 per minute. This represents 11,238 miles, a distance greater than a non-stop run from New York to Shanghai.

Permanent headquarters have been opened in Detroit for the Lincoln Highway Association, which has been formed to secure the establishment of the Ocean-to-Ocean highway, a project started two years ago by Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis.

Plans for the highway are rapidly nearing completion. Approximately $4,200,000 of the necessary $10,000,000 already has been subscribed.

H. B. Joy, President of the Packard Motor Car Company, who has been elected president of the association, is on his way to the Pacific Coast in his Packard "prairie schooner", making a preliminary survey for the cross-country route west of the Mississippi river. Mr. Joy has been prominently identified with the movement since its inception and $150,000 has been subscribed by the Packard Motor Car Company.

Final plans for the trans continental highway call for a concrete road wherever practical. Permanent improvements will be made on fully 2,000 miles of roadway.

The association proposes to co-operate with local communities in procuring the establishment of the highway or in the improvement or reconstruction of existing highways which will constitute part of the route. Several states have taken steps looking to the construction of improved highways from east to west which are to connect with the Coast-to-Coast route and constitute part of it.

A rapid-fire national campaign for securing popular subscriptions has been started and individuals and manufacturing concerns in all parts of the country are pledging their support to the movement. Negotiations have been opened with state, county and city governments.

Upon returning from his western trip Mr. Joy will leave for New York where he will hold conferences with a number of prominent financiers, many of whom have offered to act as sponsors for the project.

The highway is to be a memorial to Abraham Lincoln. The name was adopted after the plan for a Lincoln memorial highway from Washington, D. C. to Gettysburg, had been abandoned. The organization committee of the association consists of: Paul H. Deming, Carl G. Fisher, Russell A. Alger, Emory W. Clark, Roy D. Chapin, A. Y. Govan, A. R. Sieberling.
