Relates the Stories.ANGEL'S CAMP AND OTHER SCENESHow She Found a Lost Town in the Sierras and the Result.

MRS. Charles Bartlett Dyke of Kamehameha school gave an interesting twenty-minute talk yesterday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian Association on "Some Romances of Gold Mining," in which her personal observations of several of the old mining camps in California, Nevada and Colorado, made famous by Bret Harte and other writers, played the important part. She said the romantic side of mining camps has never been more aptly or picturesquely depicted than by Bret Harte. His "Luck of Roaring Camp," the one which brought him more fame than any other, nearly brought about a dissolution between him and his publishers, because the young lady proofreader almost refused to read the story, saying there were features in it which she thought were decidedly immoral. However, the story was published and the author made his mark. Mrs. Dyke told the story of Roaring Camp and read some of its best passages.

She then told of a visit she had made a few years ago to Calaveras county, where she found the people told of by Bret Harte still living there. She went to Angel's Camp. The stage coach still runs to the place, and the robber of old is still haunting the roads traversed by the characteristic vehicle of the Sierras. Even then the sheriff had just captured a highwayman who had terrorized the route. Angel's Camp, she said, exists to-day as it did forty years ago. The only marked difference is in the presence of several hundred European miners. There is the bar-room made famous by Mark Twain; it was near by that Truthful James lived and the story of Stanislaus had its foundation. The town center still parades the streets as in the old days, and shouts, for instance, "Social dance at Garvin's hall tonight." For some time the vein was lost, but it was recovered, and the great mining property is now owned by C. D. Lane. Every man, woman and child in the county again became interested in an undeveloped gold mine. They were always undeveloped. There was one woman whom she met, a woman who was 52 years of age, who told her seriously that when one of her mines began to pay she would take a college course, utterly oblivious to the fact that she had already put enough money into the mines to have obtained six college courses.

The most interesting romance she ever had anything to do with was when she went to Blue Canyon in the Sierras, where she found a man who had been a miner for sportsmen, anglers and tired people, who had been told by their physicians to seek the exhilarating atmosphere there. She had heard of a dead city which had once been a town of gold seekers, but her efforts to get information about it from any one there were unavailing. There was always a mystery connected with a lost mine or a lost city, and no one who has the slightest knowledge of the fact seems willing to talk. It was Castle City she wanted to find, on the borders of a lake, which had once had a population of 5000.

It was a lively town until suddenly the veins of ore seemed to give out and everybody departed, leaving their homes and stores as they were. She set out undaunted, however, accompanied by a friend, Miss Gertrude McRae, and a young man who wore a huge revolver, top boots and spurs, who had a maximum of wealth and a minimum of discretion, all with the appearance of one just escaped from the pages of a penny dreadful. They went horseback through mountain roads and at last had the satisfaction of striking a trail which led them to the ruined town. It seemed deserted. The houses and stores were there on two or three long streets, but most of them had broken in by the weight of the snows of 24 winters. The sign of a hotel was still to be seen above a doorway and in a saloon could be seen the traces of mirrors, and on shelves the glasses still rested. But the town was not entirely deserted, for they met one who had lived there since the day all others deserted it. His name was John Gray, and Mrs. Dyke said he was the handsomest man she had ever seen. He kept a daily diary for 24 years on the walls and doors of his abode, and she felt she too must have figured in that diary, as perhaps one of the first of two women who ever entered his cabin. He still delved into the mountains and under the hills found wealth there, for as an end of this romance of a lost mining town, Mrs. Dyke said she saw long ago on the passenger list of the China the names "John Gray and wife," and although she hastened to the wharf, the vessel was just leaving Honolulu harbor. She instinctively felt that the richly dressed lady who leaned over the rail waving her handkerchief was Mrs. John Gray, or as she knew her, Gertrude

HOME RULE IS TAKING A RESTThe Executive Committee Does Nothing But Will Await Events.

According to Senator Kalaupokalani a period of rest from politics is advisable, and whether from this opinion being the general one, or from the fact that there was only a small attendance upon the meeting of the executive committee of the Home Rulers last evening, there was nothing done, according to the same authority. The committee which has under consideration the matter of a platform for the Fourth District special campaign, has considered many points, but has not made any report, owing to the fact that it is deemed advisable to await the proclamation of the Governor. The announcement that the proclamation is about to issue, has been made more than once, and the result is that there is some skepticism about it.

The next meeting of the committee promises to be held early in next week, and the chairman will fix the day. There will be another mail by that time, and it is expected that there will be a letter from Wilcox which will be of interest, as showing what is proposed and likely to be done by Congress, as forecast by the delegate.

HAWAIIAN STAMPS SOLD.

Five-Cent Stamp Brought $60 at Auction.

A Hawaiian five-cent stamp with inverted surcharge recently brought $60 at a sale in Philadelphia, where seven hundred sets of rare stamps, comprising the balance of a private collection of about 10,000 stamps were sold. Nine Hawaiian stamps of the early issue, type-set variety, in a single sheet were bid up to $111. The Hawaiian lot of 119 stamps were sold for $350. At the same time three lots of stamps of the Portuguese India were sold for $35, $33.10 and $31.25 respectively. The lowest bid was five cents for 250 canceled United States stamped envelopes, and $600 canceled United States stamps brought only 15 cents. The sale was well attended by collectors, and about $5000 was realized on the collection. The prices were considered good.

McRae, Mrs. Dyke told of many interesting little incidents of the mines and was heartily applauded for the entertainment afforded the audience. Among those present were Mrs. U. Thompson, Oliver Walker, Miss Annette Lohry, Miss Madala, Miss Gunderson, Miss Verna Lyman, Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Harriet Needham, Mrs. Ormel, Gulk, Miss Snyder, Miss Edith Perkins, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Rasmussen, Miss Talcott, Mrs. Marr, Mrs. Simpson, Miss Mildred Simpson, Miss Zeiler, Miss Kaumane, Mrs. Edward Brown.

The next talk will be given next Thursday afternoon by Miss Emma of Kamehameha School on "First Aid to the Injured."

GOVERNOR DOLE'S PART IN HAWAII'S POLITICAL FIGHTSThe following letter appears in the Boston Transcript:

Your issue of Jan. 27 contained an article on "Hawaii's Political Broil," which, while painstaking and for the most part accurate, shows a misconception on the part of the writer of the part that Governor Dole himself has played. Born in the Islands, and for many years Judge, Mr. Dole is universally respected by the natives, and at the time of the revolution was looked to as the one man who could successfully lead the forces of reform, and more than any other man, reconcile the Hawaiians to the new regime. Doubtful at first of the immediate necessity of the revolutionary movement, he finally became convinced that it was his duty to accept the leadership.

The reform party was from the beginning actively antagonized by the English element, by the queen, and by many of her half-white and a few of her Hawaiian friends. The Hawaiian people took little part. As "annexation" drew near, there gradually grew up, within the ranks of the American or reform party, an opposition to Governor Dole and the men in power, the missionaries, as they were called. The turbulent times, as in the Southern reconstruction era, attracted numerous shady adventurers, eager to "Americanize" the Islands. Among these was Abram S. Humphreys, a keen lawyer, a practical and more or less successful politician, a man of personal bravery, as is evidenced by his sensational record with the shooting iron in Arizona, but a supreme egotist with the most selfish aims. Humphreys became a leader of the opposition to the "missionary" or "Dole" party, and did his best to prevent the appointment of Dole as governor.

This reference to the "Dole" party brings up the point I wish especially to enforce, that bitter as the quarrel has been between the "missionary" and the "anti-missionary" parties, Governor Dole has from the first kept out of the fight, and while about him have been going on squabbles and backbitings between the bitter opponents of his party and his perhaps equally bitter supporters, he has been doing the best he knew, day by day, for the good of Hawaii. When McKinley offered him the governorship of the new Territory, he had achieved the goal of annexation; he could have retired with pretty complete applause. His health, worn with the long strain of the presidency, was precarious, and he demanded rest. The salary of the governor was less than half what he had received as president. Every personal motive called him to retire to private life. It was, however, the opinion of many thoughtful men in the Islands, men outside of politics, that there was no available man so likely as Dole to steer the ship of state successfully through the well-foreseen shallows of bitter political dissension. Strong pressure was brought to bear on him, and he felt it his duty to accept, influenced perhaps by the fear that if he refused Hawaii would be subjected to the regime of Sewall.

As was expected, the era of reconstruction has not been smooth sailing. Give any governor a legislature of ignorant, childish Hawaiians, with two or three regular sessions thrown in, who at the regular session succeed in enacting only two laws, one appropriating salaries and the other removing the tax on dogs (for the benefit of the dog-eating section of the community), who refuse to pass a revenue measure, in order to draw the extra pay of an extra session, and even try to make necessary a third session, and smooth working of the wheels of government can hardly be expected. Furthermore, it has not been so easy to get efficient department heads for the less important Territory, as it was for the government of the independent republic.

Political conditions in the Islands are bad, but they might easily be worse, and the blame should be put where it belongs, on the political partisans and their emissaries, which are due largely to changed conditions, and not on Governor Dole, who, though looked upon by outsiders as the leader of a partisan ring, is the one man who, aloof from broils, has gone on, reserved and dignified, striving, on the whole successfully, to give the Territory a pure and honest government.

TO FIGHT SALOONS ON THE BIG ISLAND

Superintendent W. H. Rice of the Anti-Saloon League leaves on the Kilauea next Tuesday for Hawaii on his campaign of education in temperance matters. Rev. W. D. Westervelt departed last Tuesday for the Rainy City, where he will arrange an itinerary for both through the big island. Superintendent Rice said yesterday that he fully expects to get away on Tuesday, but this is conditional on his receiving by the Alameda on Saturday his stereopticon apparatus, slides and line light paraphernalia from San Francisco. The stereopticon in temperance work, he says, has special advantages and the lecture tour will be greatly aided by it. He does not know just where the lectures will be given, but wherever a church, foreign or native can be secured, and wherever a meeting place can be found on any of the plantations, the two gentlemen will tell of the evils of intemperance. The Anti-Saloon League is now distributing a pamphlet entitled, "Summary of the Liquor Laws of the Territory of Hawaii in force January, 1902," compiled by Andrews, Peters and Andrade, counsel for the league. It contains forty-six pages devoted to a summary of all the laws relating to the liquor traffic.

To be baptized twenty times does not fall to the lot of most men. A Russian, however, who is living in Paris, has achieved this record. It appears that he followed the profession of a "convert," and rang the changes on Protestant, Catholic, Greek and Jew, making a very respectable income out of it.—Exchange.

TURKISH EFFECTS
IN BAND STANDOriental Scheme of Decoration and Coloring at Hawaiian Hotel.

The concert of the band at the Hawaiian Hotel last evening dedicated the band stand there in its new dress. Manager Lake has had carried out almost to its finality, his plan to make the stand thoroughly Turkish in its decorative effects. The roof has been painted in converging bands of red and yellow and blue, the standards in green, faced with bright red, the seats in yellow and deep green beneath.

The high shades are relieved by the studding of alternate hued lamps, and the color scheme culminates in the circle of bright red and blue lights which encircle the top of the conical roofing. When all the lamps are aglow the picturesque effects are excellent and the color scheme shows to its best. The work is that of a new decorator, and there is nothing lacking in the securing of a brilliant spectacle.

There is yet another feature to be added, however, which will eclipse anything in the oriental line ever attempted here. The minaret is to be crowned by a silver crescent, hanging from the tip of which there is to be a pendant silver star. The star is to be of glass and within is to shine an electric lamp, so that it will be typically a twinkling star when the attachments are complete. To add to the effect there will be fixed about the edge of the roof a series of stars which will be illuminated, as well.

The concert of last evening drew to the hotel lanais and grounds a very large crowd, there being represented the men from the English cruiser as well as the tourists now here and many townspeople.

JAP JEHUS RACE.

Beretania Street a Race Course
After Oriental Funerals.

The promiscuous use of Beretania avenue by Japanese hackmen as a race course is causing much grumbling on the part of cautious drivers. Almost every day a Japanese funeral procession goes slowly out Beretania street and then cuts off on a side street to the Japanese cemetery. The procession outward is dignified and no haste is apparent, but on the return to the city, each hackman vies with the other in his attempts to reach the hackstand first. It is not an uncommon sight to see three or four hacks in a bunch making use of both sides of the street, all scurrying helter-skelter toward Fort street, and driving with reckless disregard of the rights of others. That accidents have not occurred so far is not the fault of the Jap Jehus, but is due to the quick maneuvering of the drivers who managed to elude them. These Japs drive their horses at a rate of speed that is astonishing, whipping being freely used. The Japanese as a rule are the most irresponsible drivers of horse-flesh in the city.

Full Score.

AFTER the inevitable delay in arranging preliminaries, the cricket match hastily decided upon between teams from H. B. M. S. "Phaeton" and the Honolulu Cricket Club was played at Makiki yesterday afternoon under the most auspicious conditions in point of weather. Lieutenant Prentice captained the sailors, while R. A. Jordan ably led the landmen. There was a fair number of interested spectators, including the British consul, Hon. W. R. Hoare.

The toss was won by the visitors, who elected to go to the wicket first. They were all disposed of for 77 and were defeated before the fall of the fifth wicket of the Honoluluans, who, at the time of drawing stumps had achieved 142 runs, with one absent player. The score was kept by Viggo Jacobson, who gives the following report:

NOTES FROM THE PAVILION.

Place aux dames! The cordial thanks of the club and their friends are due to the ladies who so kindly provided the cups that cheer and do not inebriate, together with the complementary edibles. The unavoidable absence of Captain Field, commander of H. B. M. S. Phaeton, was generally regretted. This gallant officer is well known to local cricketers, having been formerly in charge of the Icarus.

It must be well nigh two years since Arthur Hatfield twirled a cricket ball, but he is still the most reliable bowler whom the H. C. C. can put to ward. Lieut. Prentice, who has crossed bats with Honoluluans before while attached to the Champion, has lost none of his old-time prowess, and had the distinction of making the highest individual score of the day.

In the fields of sport, as in those of war, the sons of Caledonia and Erin may always be depended upon to render Yeoman's service.

The element of chance, so provokingly dominant in one-innings matches, had an exemplification in the failures of several players. "Stonewall" Jordan retired with a "duck," and Rev. V. H. Kiteat, so frequently good for two figures, followed suit.

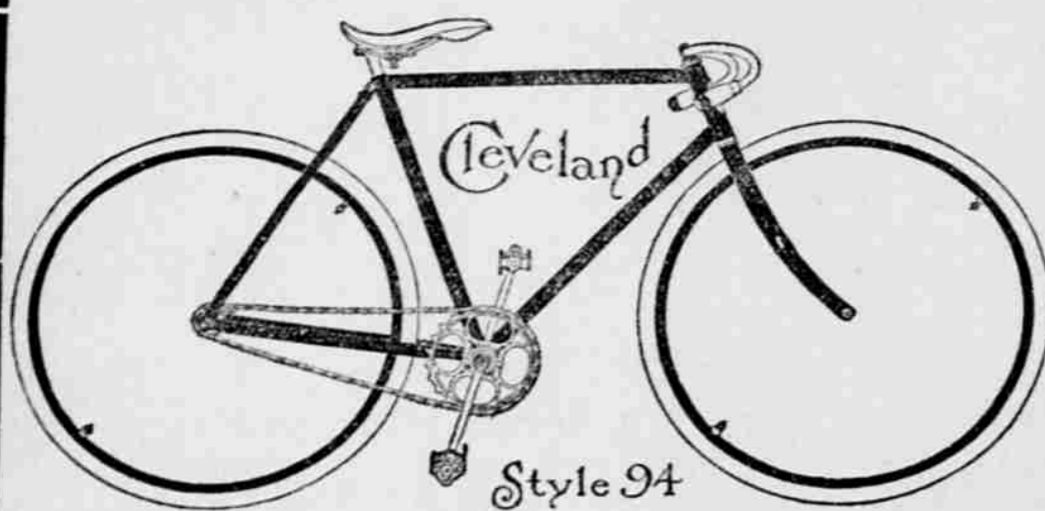

It should be understood that the Phaeton team was supposedly weakened by the non-participation of one or two very good players, who might have put a somewhat different complexion on the scoring sheet. Anderson, undaunted by the disadvantage of a lame foot—which necessitated a substitute to do the running—vied with the captain of the opposing team in driving the ball to the boundary. "Bob" is in the foremost rank of popular all-round athletes.

It seemed odd to see H. L. Herbert in the passive role of a spectator, owing to present physical infirmity. S. Beadmore gives promise of becoming an acquisition to the club.

A. M. Hewitt umpired the game to everybody's satisfaction.

Au reste, the figures must tell the story. "LONG STOP."

TO HONOR
WASHINGTON

The Kaahumanu School Celebrates Today.

Kaahumanu school will fittingly observe Washington's Birthday today with a long program of patriotic songs and recitations. There are twenty-five numbers to be given and nearly all tell something of Washington, or of events in the Revolutionary period. The assembly hall has been artistically decorated with flags and bunting by the Misses Clara Gurney, Nellie McLean and Daisy Lishman. One of the decorative features of which the school is proud is a series of patriotic photographs representing scenes of the revolutionary days.

Several weeks since James Blaisdell, manager of the Kaahumanu school paper, the "Maile Lehua," sent a copy of the paper to the Youth's Companion, whose editor showed his appreciation of the memento by sending to Kaahumanu school eight beautiful pictures, as follows: Battle of Princeton, Washington, Surrender of Cornwallis, Surrender of Burgoyne, Death of Montgomery, Battle of Bunker Hill and Washington Resigning his Commission. These are exhibited upon the assembly hall wall surrounded by the stars and stripes.

The teachers have not issued any invitations for outsiders to be present at the exercises, as the assembly hall is too small to accommodate many persons besides the pupils. There are now six hundred children enrolled in the school. The program is as follows:

Song, "Mount Vernon Bells" School
"Washington's Day" Irene Boyd
"George Washington" Vera Herbert
"General Washington" Albert Decker
Washington and the Flag Room 2
Song, "The Three Little Sisters"
..... Primary Grades

LEAGUE SOCKER
THIS AFTERNOON

The Association football league game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon will take place at Makiki this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The contesting teams will be the Wanderers and the Hackfeld-Davies eleven. This is the last time these two clubs will meet in the league series. When they met before the Hackfeld-Davies combination ran out winners and the Wanderers will exert every effort to turn the tables today. The line up will probably be as follows:

Wanderers—Goal, Nottley; fullbacks, Cockburn and Simpson; halfbacks, Halstead, Stokes and Judd; forwards, Williamson, Blackman, Waterhouse, A. Blackman and Kerr.
Hackfeld-Davies—Goal, Duisenberg; fullbacks, Guild, Beardmore; halfbacks, Isenberg, Sinclair, Churton; forwards, Byer, Brett, Morse, Davies, Stopp.

Tomorrow afternoon at Makiki the football team of H. M. S. Phaeton will play an eleven recruited from the league clubs. The time of the kick-off has not yet been decided. The Honolulu team will consist of:

Goal, Duisenberg (Hackfeld-Davies); fullbacks, McGill (Maile Hima), Beardmore (Hackfeld-Davies); halfbacks, Blackman, captain (Wanderers), Crik (Maile Hima), Harvey (Honolulu); forwards, Simpson (Wanderers), Morse (Hackfeld-Davies), Boyle (Maile Hima), Goudie (Honolulu), McWhirter (Honolulu).

Robert Anderson was asked to play back but was unable to do so and the position was accordingly given to Beardmore.

The Scottish Amateur Athletic Association will hold a meeting at the Scottish Thistle Club rooms on Monday night, at which business pertaining to the forthcoming field day will be brought forward.

THE PLAGUE IN INDIA

How Dread Disease Is Handled There.

IN BOMBAY a wonderful work is being done now to fight plague. The pest anti-toxin is being manufactured there by wholesale. In the great plague laboratory, occupying the old Government House, enough liquid is made at one time to dose 32,000 people. Hundreds of natives are engaged in packing the vials that contain it for shipment to all parts of the world. The place looks like a thriving factory, where something that is in vast demand commercially is being turned out in feverish haste.

A great goat stable is the first odd sight in the laboratory. Goats are used for mediums to propagate the microbe, because goats' flesh is not obnoxious to the religious prejudices of any of the many castes, religions and creeds in India, and, therefore, there is no danger that patients will refuse it on such grounds.

The goats' flesh is treated with acids, and then heated under enormous pressure for about six hours, until it gives forth a pitch black albuminous solution. This is practically the same as what can be found in the human stomach after it has digested the same material.

The liquid is passed through animal charcoal. This decolorizes it and renders it still further antiseptic. In an outhouse stands a mighty boiler, which is kept going day and night. Long lines of rails lead to it, and along these rails there come all day and all night long the little flasks with the prepared juice. They are dumped into the boiler, and there undergo two separate and complete cookings to sterilize the medium perfectly. Then they are loaded on other little cars, that whisk them into the great "poison room," where the most horrible malady and pest known to man is kept stored in tens of thousands of flasks.

The room where they are kept is the one in which, in the old days, the great governors of Bombay held their famous banquets, that were unequalled anywhere for splendor and luxury.

The banquet tables are filled as they were then—but their present load is a frightful one. In tube shoddering tube, there are penned millions on millions of pest bacilli.

The guide lights a candle (for the bacilli are kept in darkness, since they thrive better that way), and holds it behind a row of the deadly and frightening tubes. At once there is a fairy sight. In each vial hangs a stalactite—a fleecy wonder of a whiteness so dainty, so soft, that they look like the alabaster and purest snows that ever fell. The dark, rich wine color of the liquid in which they are kept makes them seem all the more magnificent and beautiful. The guide shakes a flask and the stalactite becomes dissolved and floats through the liquid in a filmy cloud that shimmers with a million points of light. Then the film collects in hundreds of tiny little balls and drifts down to the bottom of the flask in miniature dancing snowstorms. And all that purity, that fairness, is horrible, malignant, virulent plague, corruption untellable and frightful death.

As the flasks of prepared medium are brought into this poison room by the swift little cars they are taken by operators and opened with all precautions to preserve their sterility. Each operator has a curious instrument in one hand. It is the "Pasetur ballon," and consists of a glass bulb from which extend two long spouts. One of these spouts is plugged with cotton wool, and has a mouthpiece on the end of it. The other spout is long and thin, and sealed at the end. The flask containing the goats' flesh serum is placed in a larger flask and held in a sloping position. A Bunsen burner is applied to the spout with the mouthpiece, and particularly to those parts of the spout where the cotton wadding is, until the heat has been great enough to kill any microbes that may have come into it from the outside. Then the spout of the other spout is broken off and the burner is held to it long enough to kill off any extraneous matter that may have entered there. Then this end is dipped into the medium and the operator blows into the mouthpiece.

The chance visitor of whom there are not many, for they fear the microbes, will not understand what he is doing. When the guide explains it he will feel faint and sick. The spout of the "ballon" is enough plague-infected fluid to kill the population of all Asia. And the self-possessed and apparently not at all heroic operator who is blowing through the tube is blowing plague bacilli by the thousand into the goats' flesh serum.

He does not seem to be appalled by the thought of putting his mouth near the deadly mass. He blows as powerfully and as much at his ease as if he were blowing glass. With mechanical regularity and celerity he fills flask after flask with the plague germs. As soon as one is filled another operator seals it and labels it with date and all particulars, and off it goes to another room.

In this the flasks are placed in a boiler and heated for an hour, care being taken to keep the temperature even. Then they are cooled rapidly in troughs. In this way the microbe is killed. Then the toxin is added 15 per cent of pure carbolic acid, also sterilized.

The liquid after that is ready to be syphoned into bottles, a process in which again are manifest the wonderful care and exactitude necessary in all that pertains to bacteriological science. Again there is sterilizing with the Bunsen burner. A long tube, part glass, part rubber, is inserted in the toxin mixture, the rubber being used for the purpose of a sort of milking operation from the flask. The contents are drawn off, into heated medicine bottles, stoppered with sterilized cottonwood plugs. These plugs are removed, the necks of the bottles heated, and bottles closed with corks also sterilized in a solution of 4 per cent formalin and dipped into boiling paraffin to create a wall between the cork and the glass. In the stoppering the cork is only touched with heated forceps. Corks and neck are now covered with carbolized parchment, which in turn is fastened on with carbolized string. The whole is dipped again into the boiling oil, so that all crevices may be closed, and a label with particulars regarding brew and dose is affixed.

In the packing room below hundreds of the native women are kept busy, deftly arranging the bottles in cases ready for export, and neat boxes full of them, with all details stamped on, are sent to nearly every part of the world, of late particularly to South Africa and Australia.

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR.

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 22.

If the grand jury wants to look into public extravagances it might turn its discerning eye on the systematic waste of public funds by two of the judges of the Circuit Court. The figures in point have already appeared in these columns and have never been denied.

The latest freak of the Home Rulers is a scheme to exclude women from public offices, school teachers especially. Against women school teachers these aboriginal publicists have a standing grudge. "They are people," remarked an island statesman inherited from the old regime, "who are only waiting a chance to marry and who spend their pay in buying pretty dresses with which to attract men. Better let men teach who have families to support." It is not difficult to see from this what would happen to the schools if the passage of the Wilcox bill should put them at the mercy of a native voting majority.

HOME RULE INCONSISTENCY.

It is a remarkable fact that a man representing a distinctively Home Rule movement, as Delegate Wilcox is presumed to be doing, should frame a policy for Hawaii in Congress which utterly contravenes the Home Rule principle.

Home Rule, if it means anything here, stands for the control of the domestic affairs of Hawaii by the citizens of the Territory. Yet Mr. Wilcox is forever introducing bills that touch our most intimate concerns and which presuppose federal and not local control of island administration. Instead of waiting for the Legislature to pass and the Governor to sign a city and county bill, he tries to get one from Congress. He consults nobody here; instead, he accepts suggestions from strangers which would, if enacted into law, prove inoperative under our special conditions. All the people who want home rule can know when laws are proposed for their government, comes in the dispatches announcing their introduction by the Home Rule Delegate or in the text, arriving by mail, of the measures themselves.

The school bill is another instance wherein Wilcox has violated the Home Rule spirit, if not the letter of his own pledges. The people of Hawaii have not asked for changes in the school laws, and if they ever want any they are competent to get them from the Legislature, while that body, in turn, is competent to make such changes. But these facts count for nothing with the Home Rule delegate. Asking no advice here and having no special knowledge of our school system himself, he borrows an Illinois law, gives it an Hawaiian title and preamble and puts it into the Congressional hopper. That it contains clauses providing for the purchase of fuel for schoolhouses in a land of perpetual summer is only one of the absurdities which, in the name of Home Rule, Mr. Wilcox proposes to foist upon Hawaii by dint of the Federal authority.

Another instance is afforded by the leper bill. The care of the lepers is a Territorial matter, yet Wilcox wants to turn it over to the United States. Given an enacting power, the delegate would soon reduce Hawaii from the position of a Territory of the United States to that of an appanage of Congress, like the District of Columbia; and do it in the intervals of making pledges of fealty to the Home Rule party. What is more, the Home Rule party would applaud him in the act.

PLAYING FOR APPLAUSE.

From time immemorial there has been in almost every community one official, who by constant, though not always consistent, harping upon one subject or phase of conditions, has made himself the low comedian in the drama of government. This end has almost, if not quite, been reached by the Second Judge of the First Circuit, who awakes from his judicial slumbers occasionally to launch philippics against a bugaboo which has haunted his uneasy naps, the violation of a constitutional provision.

Personal liberty seems the hobby of Judge Gear, and he has ridden so far and fast that the idea has taken possession of his brain that the detection of criminals must be absolutely open and above board, so that there can be no suspicion of scheming attached to the methods of those who will safeguard the public peace. Before any attempt is made to fasten crime upon a suspect then it would be proper to serve notice upon him, and permit him to protect himself by destroying evidence and preparing his alibi.

The latest outbreak of the somnolent jurist is an attack upon the men, who, believing that certain Porto Ricans had stolen goods, searched their quarters, and, it seems, found the articles, which resulted in a verdict of guilty when a jury heard the evidence. From the critical remarks of the Judge he seems unaware that the common practice of those who would punish crime is the immediate searching for evidence of thefts in the apartments of the accused. Thus in the case of the burglary of the store the men who were on the spot, without waiting for the arrival of a deputy sheriff, or the securing of a warrant, went after the men suspected, and found evidence upon their persons and in their apartments.

Now comes the judiciary and tells these volunteer detectives that they were violating to the last degree the constitution of the United States in thus finding a criminal; that they should have waited and followed the red tape course. Also that in the future there must be no evidence secured "unlawfully." It will be with great rejoicing that they have not jurists afflicted with libertomania, that the police of the great cities of the United States read, if they do read at all, of the utterances of this "most upright Judge." If they had to deal with his type on the bench there would be no more secret entering of the rooms of thieves to secure evidence; no more "third degree" experiences for suspected criminals, where the sudden exposure of blood-stained knives and mangled corpses draw from the guilty a confession or incriminating admissions; no more the "sweat box,"

FEDERAL AID FOR HAWAII.

There is an easy way, and one not without precedent, for Congress to provide the money that is needed to put Honolulu in as good sanitary shape as Havana, or Santiago, or Manila, or any of the other seaport cities which have been cleared of filth and the diseases of filth by Federal aid.

The way is to turn over the money derived from customs and internal revenue duties here to the United States health authorities and have them use it to cleanse this town and put it in the way of keeping clean.

The amount, representing one year's customs and internal revenue income, on account of Hawaii, would be about $1,500,000. If more were needed it might be had in the profits made from the Hawaiian postoffices.

What are the precedents for such a policy?

They are found in the enacted Porto Rican tariff and in the projected Philippine tariff.

The Porto Rican tariff provides that all duties collected at the custom houses and internal revenue offices of the island shall be returned to the Porto Rican treasury for domestic uses of a public character. It is provided further that all duties collected in the United States from Porto Rican goods shall be similarly bestowed and spent.

These concessions are also embraced in the Philippine tariff bill. Should a million or ten millions or any other sum be derived by the United States Treasury, after the bill has been enacted, from Philippine commerce and trade, the total amount will be remitted to the Philippine treasury.

Is there any reason why Honolulu should be debarred, because it is a seaport of a United States Territory, from benefits which are freely given to cities located in possessions or colonies of the United States? In all three cases, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, the principal revenues have been absorbed by the sovereign country, but in only one case, that of Hawaii, has the sovereign country failed to return them. Is there any good reason why Hawaii should be discriminated against in this way?

The bubonic plague threatens us. Any Congressman who reads these lines may learn from the bulletins of the United States Quarantine service just what the danger is. To deal with the plague of two years ago we went into debt about a million and a half of dollars to people whose houses we had to burn, besides spending all the surplus in the Hawaiian treasury. The surplus was derived from the customs and postal revenues which we no longer control. These have gone to Washington to swell the surplus in the United States treasury. The money is not needed there but it is vitally needed here. We should not expend it or have it expended as Porto Rico does her remitted payments, on roads, bridges, lighthouses and public edifices but on KEEPING THIS PORT FROM BECOMING A SOURCE OF INFECTION FOR THE PACIFIC COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES AND OF THE REST OF THE WORLD.

The only way this can be done is with the help of the Federal Government. The Territory of Hawaii, owing to the vicious refusal of an aboriginal Legislature to pass revenue bills—a refusal which was intended to coerce the Governor into appointing aborigines to offices which they would use for purposes of plunder—this refusal, we say, has left the Territory on the verge of bankruptcy. To call an extra session would be to simply repeat the old experience at a cost of not less than $50,000 in salaries and perquisites. So nothing is left but an appeal to Caesar.

New Orleans, when it had yellow fever, did not appeal in vain. Jacksonville, Florida, when in like extremity, asked but to receive. The United States Government is proud of the fact that it has redeemed Havana from yellow fever and freed other Spanish-American cities from filth and from zymotic diseases. Can it be that Honolulu, bereft of its principal sources of public income and in deadly peril of the pestilence, shall be compelled to take what may come to it simply because it is situated in an American Territory, when other threatened or afflicted seaports, not yet organized within the Union and one of them about to become the capital of a foreign republic, are redeemed from danger of the plague by Federal authority and at the cost of millions?

From time immemorial to now, under reform and ring rule, in every city of the United States there have been used all these methods to secure evidence which will convict. There have been men who rallied against the methods employed, good men, too, but never has there been from the bench, until here, a threat that the men who thus secured society against the operations of criminals would be made to suffer for their activity.

The constitution was based upon the protection of society from offenders, not framed to safeguard the criminal against the evidence which he gives of his misdeeds. The men who framed that great instrument were of the stripe who would themselves go to lengths to help convict the guilty, and not lightly would they have permitted to pass them any provision which could be construed to punish the detector of ill-doers. Even if the seeming letter of the fundamental law of the land might be construed as is done by the local "Solomon," the fact remains that in every civilized community the law-breaker is considered the outlaw, and every man's hand is against him. The pickpocket caught in the street is held by the men of the crowd and no one proceeds against his captors for "unwarranted seizures," they being civilians. Even if they search his pockets there is no cry of unlawful activity, society recognizes the necessity for quick and secret work, applauds the ready man who secures evidence before the thief can dispose of it, and it seems to be a stretching, almost to the breaking point of the endurance of a community, to see the men who guard against law breakers, dragged from the bench, under cover of the hard-worked constitution of the United States.

MOSQUITOES AND COLOR.

The Chicago Record-Herald has this to say on a subject of standing interest locally: Experiments that have been made by Italian, British and American scientists have proved beyond a doubt that the mosquito is a transmitter of fever germs, and both in this country and in Great Britain attention has been called to the predilection of the insect for certain colors. The subject is one of practical as well as of curious interest, and the results of the investigations that have gone into the color question may be indicated by the report of a very thorough test at Cambridge, England, which appears in the London Times.

The place selected for the observations was a photographic studio. There the mosquitoes were confined within a to a window through which the sunlight streamed. On the floor were pans for the insects to breed in, and they were kept in excellent health and spirits by a diet of fresh bananas.

When the roaming anopheles, as this fever mosquito is called, started out to gratify his esthetic taste for food he found a grand variety of color schemes. Seventeen boxes stood one on top of the other and open to the light, and within each box was a lining of some solid hue upon a rough surface. It is stated that the order of the boxes was changed each day of the experiment to equalize the exposure and that the count for seventeen days summed up as follows: One hundred and eight mosquitoes were found in the navy blue box, 90 in the dark red box, 81 in a reddish brown box, 59 in the scarlet box, 49 in the black box. There was at this point a sharp drop to 31 in a slate gray box and 24 in an olive green box. Violet, leaf green and full blue boxes had respectively 18, 17 and 14. Pearly gray had 9, pale green 4, light blue 3, ochre and white 2 each, orange 2, and pale yellow about the color of khaki none at all.

These results correspond quite closely with experiments and observations elsewhere. In India it has been found that the anopheles prefers black coats to white ones. In Madagascar it has been noticed that he takes to a black soil in preference to a red one, and that he will hardly touch a yellow dog when a black one is near by. The conclusion of the whole matter is that we may regulate our mosquitoes by our choice of colors, and that the yellow dog is a favorite of Providence, immune in his natural garb, independent of changing fashions, and so blessed above those who make a mock of him.

The motorman shrank back affrightedly, as if he had seen a ghost. "How did you manage to board my car?" he gasped. "Oh, I've boarded worse things than a New York street car!" laughed the Jersey City landlady, with not unhorrid unctiousness.—Puck.

INSINUATING.

"Lady," said Meandering Mike, "would you give a starvin' man something to eat?" "Perhaps. But you're not starving." "I know it, lady. But an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, ain't it?"—Washington Star.

PRIVATE AND PERSONAL.

Teacher—Suppose an irresistible force should meet an immovable body, what would happen? Little Girl—Please, sir, ma says I mustn't talk about our family affairs.—Puck.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." Mrs. K. T. SYDNER, Troy, Ohio.

BREWERS TO INVESTIGATE

May Take Up the Financing of Kona.

UPON the report of Manager Geo. H. Robertson of Brewer & Co. will depend whether or not the Kona Sugar Company's affairs will be cared for by that concern. The bond of Receiver Wundenberg was approved by the court yesterday, sureties qualifying in the sum of $75,000, the following names being on the bond: Allan Herbert, J. A. Magoon, S. C. Allen and J. A. McCandless.

Negotiations have proceeded so far that Mr. P. C. Jones and other directors of Brewer & Co., have agreed that upon a favorable report being made by Manager Robertson, the firm will become bankers for the receiver, and this will guarantee the taking care of the present crop, and if prospects are not deceptive, there will be a discharge of the receiver when this is accomplished. Should the estate come up to expectations the crop will amount to 3500 tons, which will net at the present prices $200,000. This, it is believed, will meet the obligations and keep up the work of planting so that there will be a wiping out of the debts, and the stockholders may resume management of the property.

The altered prospects of Kona came yesterday morning, when the members of the Brewer directorate decided that there might be made a trial of the plan of financing the project. The representations made were such as to give promise of some good business for the house, for in addition to the business as bankers for the estate there would be other matters such as shipping freight and commissions which would make the venture profitable. A meeting was arranged with the court and the discussion was had in chambers. Mr. P. C. Jones representing the company. It was then arranged that the receiver should qualify and take up the work. The house agreed to make an immediate investigation of the affairs of the plantation and then decide as to what should be done.

In pursuance of this determination Receiver Wundenberg and Manager Robertson will leave in the Mauna Loa this afternoon for a visit to Kona to go over the estate and determine the status of the affairs of the plantation. They will be gone a week or more and will look carefully into the progress of the crop which is ready to be harvested, and as well into the condition of the crops which are in prospect for future campaigns. There will be also a trip over the railroad, which is still in the hands of the contractor and his bondsmen, and when the report is made it will convey absolute information as to what may be expected from the estate and what will be needed in the way of cash to carry through the present crop.

From interested persons the estimate is made that the least amount of money which would bring the crop to market is $125,000, and there may be an increase over this, if the labor refuses to go on with the work without being paid in full for work already performed. The railroad is now extended seven miles from the mill, and this leaves only one more mile to be completed. The contractor, Whitehouse, holds the line for his bills, which amount to $40,000. There is also a series of bills for the fitting of the mill, which brings it up to a capacity of fifty tons a day. These will amount to $15,000. Another item of expense which must be met at once by the receiver is that for ten miles of wire rope conveyors, which is to be used for the delivering of cane at the railroad. There is now seven miles of the conveyor at work, and the amount ordered will complete this end of the business.

The deduction of this amount of cash from the estimate sum would leave some $60,000, to be applied to wages and to take care of store, and similar features of the plantation work. The payroll of the plantation is $15,000, averaging up the various branches of work, and by reason of the longer period of grinding, on account of the fact that there being no irrigation the cane matures naturally and without any rushing, which would necessitate the grinding within a short space of time. It is estimated that there would be seven months for the grinding season if it were needed.

MAILE ILIMA BALL TONIGHT

The reception and ball of the Maile Ilima Club will take place this evening in Progress Hall, the dancing to commence at 8:30 o'clock and continue until everybody, including the musicians, is tired. As tomorrow is a holiday, there will be no great haste in bringing the ball to an early end. A delegation spent yesterday afternoon in the hall, decorating it with the green and gold colors of the club, and today they will finish with palms, ferns and a multitude of green things. No efforts have been spared by the athletes to prepare for a large attendance and a good time. The following committees have charge of the affair:

Floor Manager—Frank Rowland.
Reception Committee—P. Jarrett, J. J. Belser, D. L. Conkling.
Finance Committee—R. D. King, W. W. Wright, S. F. Chillingworth Jr.
Refreshment Committee—F. Rowland, S. A. Crook, Otto Berndt.
Music Committee—P. Jarrett, Charles Osborne, W. Jordan.
Decorating Committee—W. Rowland, A. S. Robertson, George Lucas, George Clark, William Stone.

A list of names of officers of the Kahului Railroad Company, who were elected at the adjourned annual meeting held yesterday, is published elsewhere.

MANOA VALLEY A GARDEN SPOT

Thousands of garden plants, slips for hedges and young trees have been taken to Manoa valley in the past two or three weeks, and planted among the rocks and ledges in College Hills, and upon the hills above the original Manoa road. Despite the great number of plants which have been put into the ground there is apparently little to show for it. They have been planted in a large area, which takes in practically the entire College Hills tract, as far as Puuopeo, and indicate that the owners of the building lots are determined that their suburb will be the first in Honolulu. Several of the knolls in the tract bristle with outcropping ledges and the ground is strewn with moss covered rocks. Wherever there is earth enough between the boulders plants have been placed. There are var-colored crotons, hibiscus, palms, cocoanuts, ferns and young trees. When these attain a respectable growth the entire appearance of College Hills will be changed until it resembles a tropical garden.

ONE EVENING OF TEMPERANCE

The Young Men's Research Club will devote one evening to temperance matters. The meeting will be held Friday evening, February 28th, at some house not yet selected. The scope which will be given to the discussion is indicated by the following list of subjects which will form the basis of the evening's work: Prohibition in Kansas, D. H. Case; The Wide-Open Saloon, C. S. Rhodes; South Carolina's Dispensary System, L. D. Timmons; Phases of the Temperance Problem, Temperance Saloons, Railroad Regulations, etc., E. Towse; The Local Problem, Deputy High Sheriff Charles F. Chillingworth. The general debate will follow.

BUSINESS LOCALS

Hay and brick, and a fine assortment of koea and koea furniture will be sold today at Morgan's salesrooms, at 10 o'clock.

The furniture of a five-room cottage, at 7 McLeod Lane, is offered for sale. Purchaser has also the privilege of renting the cottage.

Wheat and oat hay, also bran, are to be sold in lots to suit, at public auction, by Will E. Fisher, at his salesrooms, tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Tomorrow Lewis & Co., the grocers, will close at noon. There will be only one delivery, and customers are asked to send in their orders early.

Holders of safe deposit vaults will please take notice that the Hawaiian Trust Co., Ltd., will be closed all day Saturday, Washington's birthday.

Large new importation of advance stock of spring goods received by N. S. Sachs Dry Goods Company. Goods all plainly marked and displayed in window.

The furniture and piano of an eight-room cottage, 1255 Lunalilo street, are offered for sale at a bargain. Same can be seen by calling at the premises at any time.

A large quantity of galvanized corrugated iron, put up in bundles of all sizes, will be sold today at Haelefeld's, by James F. Morgan, the auctioneer. Sale will take place at 10 o'clock.

Next Wednesday, at the Honolulu Sanitarium, 1094 King street, Will E. Fisher will hold a grand auction sale. All of the household effects of this institution are to be sold, regardless of cost.

There are some pretty pieces of drawn work, embroideries, embroidered pillows and other articles, now being displayed at the new store of Mrs. Hanna, on Union street. Drop in and see them.

If you wish to have your lawn look green and beautiful, or the plants and shrubs healthy and vigorous, try Hawaiian Fertilizer Company's special fertilizer for that purpose. You will be astonished at the improvement. It is worth trying.

A valuable lot, suitable for residence purposes, situated on the continuation of Vineyard street, near Liliha, will be sold today at auction, on the premises, by Will E. Fisher, at noon. For further particulars, see description of land published elsewhere under Fisher's flag.

Liquor Licenses.

Liquor licenses formed the principal topic for discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Executive Council. The status of the Prime beer saloons came in for a considerable share of attention, and Treasurer Wright proposed an extension of the liquor limits to take in a part of the beer district. His extension would take in Queen street, between South and Cooke street.

King street, between Aala lane and Beretania street junction with King.

Beretania street, between Aala lane and a point 300 feet from Liliha street on the town side.

License was issued yesterday to D. H. Davis for a saloon on Hotel street near Bethel, and to H. N. Crabbe for his place on King and Nuuanu streets.

The application of J. K. Koppa for a light wine license at Koloa, Kauai, was denied, upon the adverse report of Sheriff Coffey.

The application of A. K. Nawahi for a license at Pahoa, Puna, Hawaii, was referred back to Sheriff Andrews for a further report.

The application of Manuel Freitas for a license at Kapala Lane was referred to the high sheriff.

Philharmonic Society Rehearsals.

The regular weekly rehearsals of the Philharmonic Society have been changed from Thursday evenings at 7:30, to Fridays at 8 p. m., the change to take place next week. There is some talk of a reproduction of Handel's "Messiah," with Madame Johnstone Bishop as the leading singer, for the benefit of some local charitable institution, to be announced later.

The society will commence increasing its membership, and an effort will be made to bring in more of the singing population. A fine opportunity is given to take up the best music with good instruction. The society feels the need of new blood before taking up new work which is being planned.

Denver Ed's Snow.

"Denver" Ed Smith has arranged a fine program for his entertainment at the Orpheum tomorrow night. There are over a dozen first class turns on the bill and the show should be well worth seeing. Special features of the evening will be singing and dancing by the men of H. M. S. Phaeton, juggling by Mahomet Khan, entire act by an ex-member of Prince and West's minstrel, and songs by Miss J. Keliha and Mrs. N. Alapai.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Vaudeville at the Orpheum Saturday night.

Mr. A. L. Wyman is no longer employed by the Pacific Club.

The first session of the Builders' Exchange, held yesterday, was quite largely attended.

A wedding dinner was given Wednesday evening at the Grill in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Drake.

A vaudeville bill is announced for Saturday night at the Orpheum. Tickets, 25, 50 and 75 cents, now on sale at the Orpheum box office.

Owing to Saturday being a holiday, the regular meeting of the Agricultural Seminar will be postponed until the following Saturday, March 1.

The Young Women's Christian Association will give a Washington's birthday social this evening, the third and last of the series for this month.

The annual meeting of the Flower Mission, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon at the Young Men's Christian Association, did not materialize.

W. A. Wall, accompanied by his wife and daughter, will leave today for Napoosoo, Kona, where Mr. Wall will be engaged in surveying work for the next three months.

Memorial services will be held over the remains of the late Dr. George M. Saul Jr., at the residence of Mrs. Weir, 319 South Vineyard street, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The proclamation for an election in the Fourth District for Representative to succeed Archie Gillilan will be issued in a day or two. The election will be held early in April.

Coffee growers of the Islands are planning to send a representative to Washington to work for a duty on South American coffee in order to protect the Hawaiian product.

The Hawaiian Band will play at Kalih Park pavilion on Washington's birthday, and for the evening a string band has been engaged for dancing. Tickets to the grounds are $1.

Mrs. Walter F. Frear will give her third lecture on Emerson this afternoon at the Young Women's Christian Association, at 4 o'clock, her subject being, "Man, in Relation to Himself."

Mme. Small's regular social will take place tomorrow evening at Elks' Hall. The announcement made last Wednesday that she was to have charge of the dancing at Kalih Park picnic was an error.

The condition of Madame Geneva Johnston Bishop, who broke an arm a few days ago, is much improved and she has almost recovered from the shock. Mrs. Bishop expects to leave March 15th.

The Young Men's Christian Association invites young men to don their oldest clothes for an all-day celebration of Washington's birthday on the 3,000-foot peak to the right of Nuuanu Pali. Mr. P. J. Travens will be chief guide. The start will be made promptly at 8 o'clock, and the route will probably be up Pauoa Valley going, and over Tantalus returning.

In the Police Court yesterday the following defendants were committed for trial: J. Merseberg, Ah Kan, larceny, second degree; Nishiyama, Ah Wa, robbery, first degree; Heinrich Sasse, investigation; Pinchaka, Kullmoku Kanio, larceny, second degree; Ah Kim, investigation; Noguchi, che fa tickets in possession; Antonio, profanity; C. Horn, Smith, drunkenness.

The crew of H. M. S. Phaeton will be entertained at a concert at the Young Men's Christian Association hall at 8 o'clock this evening, to which members of the Young Men's Christian Association and their friends are also cordially invited. The first part of the program will be provided from the shore, the second part from the ship, after which refreshments will be served.

There was a sort of rehearsal yesterday by Messrs. Morris and Paton of the many views which they propose to show in the course of their lectures upon Hawaii, in their contemplated tour of the States. The views are excellent ones, and many are seldom seen even by Honolulu people. If it can be arranged there will be a display of the pictures made at the Orpheum on Tuesday evening next, before the departure of the lecturers for San Francisco.

An Ambiguous Compliment.

Today is the birthday anniversary of Prince David Kawanakoa. Although absent from home, we nevertheless extend to him the compliments of the day. Now that he has taken himself a partner in life, in whom the Hawaiian people are well pleased, it is earnestly hoped that he will live up to the royal motto of the Kalakaua regime and furnish evidence whereby the people may be further enabled to rejoice with him in the blessings of the future. Many happy returns of the day.—Independent.

NEW MOVE
IN PRIMOMotion to Vacate
Judge Estee's
Decree.WILL BE HEARD
ON MONDAYDefendant Cites Objections to the Order Declaring Beer License
Law Unconstitutional.

A motion to set aside the decree in the liquor case is the latest move in the local beer fight. The motion was filed in the United States court yesterday and will be heard by Judge Estee Monday morning. In the meantime nothing further is being done as regards the Primo beer saloons in operation, though some action will probably be taken very soon. There was a conference yesterday between Judges Es-tee, Humphreys and Gear, and it is possible that it may have to do with the status and force of Judge Estee's decision declaring the $250 beer license law unconstitutional.

The following are the objections made by the defendants to the decree filed in federal court yesterday, and which will be presented upon a motion to set aside the decree:

1. That the court ought not to have entered a decree in the above entitled cause because it was clear upon pleadings and proofs that the plaintiffs had an adequate and complete remedy at law if they were suffering any injury by reason of the matters complained of.
2. That the court ought not to have entered a decree in the above entitled cause because upon the pleadings and proof the plaintiffs were not shown to have suffered any injury by reason of the matters complained of.
3. That the court ought not to have entered a decree in the above entitled cause because upon the pleadings and proof the plaintiffs did not appear to have any interest in the matters complained of.
4. That the court ought not to have entered a decree in the above entitled cause because as in such as upon the pleadings and proof the plaintiffs did not appear to have suffered any loss or damage by reason of the matters complained of.
5. That the court ought not to have entered a decree adjudging that Chapter 46 of the Session Laws of 1898, now part 4, sections 470-485 inclusive, of Chapter 41 of the Penal Laws of the Hawaiian Islands, 1897, and every part and section thereof, are wholly unconstitutional, null, void, inasmuch as the court has no jurisdiction to repeal or annul by a decree any law or portion of a law.

7. That the court ought not to have entered a decree enjoining and restraining the defendant as Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii, and his successors, in office, from doing any thing or act under Chapter 46 of the Session Laws of 1898, in that the court has no jurisdiction over the Territory of Hawaii or any of the duly appointed officers thereof and their successors in office.

8. That the court ought not in any event to have entered a decree on the basis that the law was unconstitutional and void, and that in no event were the plaintiffs entitled to a decree based upon any more favorable or far reaching finding than that certain portions of the law were in conflict with the provisions of the Act to provide a government for the Territory of Hawaii and therefore inoperative.

9. That the court ought not to have entered a decree in this cause awarding judgment against the defendant as Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii, and therefore in effect against said Territory of Hawaii, for the costs of the suit.

HATCH & SULLIVAN,
Attorneys for Defendant.

FATHER O'NEILL
VISITING HONOLULU

Father O'Neill, a Dominican priest from San Francisco, is in the city enjoying a vacation for a few weeks, having arrived here on the Sierra in company with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spear of San Francisco, who are now on their honeymoon. He has not come in an ecclesiastical capacity, although he has been given the opportunity to officiate at services in the Catholic cathedral.

Father O'Neill has never been in the Islands before, and is ready to praise everything he has seen. The progressive spirit manifest in most public and private works has struck Father O'Neill as being quite wonderful and far exceeded even his most advanced ideas as to the status of the metropolis of the Pacific.

"Your system of rapid transit shows me one thing, and that is, Honolulu is progressive. The wide range of the Rapid Transit street car system is attractive to a tourist like myself, and gives one the best opportunity to see what there is worth seeing."

The scenery around the city is quite wonderful, and the Islands can well lay claim to the title of "Paradise of the Pacific." I am only here on a visit for recreation and am very glad I came as everything here is restful.

The reverend father is the editor of a Catholic monthly magazine printed in San Francisco, called "Dominicana," which enjoys a large circulation up and down the Pacific slope. He will give an interesting lecture on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the Roman Catholic cathedral, a cordial invitation being extended to the public to attend.

After the Crimean war, Mr. Pinnock went to the west coast of Africa as a representative of the Lloyd Steamship Company, and later started out as a trader there on his own account. He was one of the earliest explorers of the Jamieson, Ethiopia and Niger rivers.

He traded on the Niger before any form of government had been established in that inhospitable region. He was also the first white man to enter the Porcades river, which is now one of the greatest highways of trade tributary to the Niger and Warri. This unique Englishman is also thoroughly acquainted with the highways and byways of Uruguay, Paraguay and the Argentine Republic.

Mr. Pinnock is a friend of the widow of Robert Louis Stevenson, and at the conclusion of his visit to Los Angeles, will visit Honolulu, Samoa and the old Stevenson home.

New Court Stenographer.

Miss Pauline Neumann is acting temporarily as court stenographer for Judge Gear. Col. Jones has been detailed to Judge Robinson's court, and Miss De Cew is acting for Judge Humphreys. There is no provision for a third stenographer and payment will have to be made from the general expense fund.

SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION TO CELEBRATE

THE Hawaiian Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will celebrate Washington's birthday tomorrow evening at the residence of President W. R. Castle, Kinau street, with appropriate patriotic exercises. A program has been arranged which will include two addresses by prominent members of the society. The program is as follows:

Music.
Roll Call.
Reading of Constitution.
Music.
Address by Major Davis, U. S. A., "Washington, the Statesman."
Music.
Address by W. N. Armstrong, "Battle of Moor's Creek."

The Hawaiian Society of the Sons of the Revolution was organized June 17, 1895, on the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, with only eighteen members. A constitution based upon the Massachusetts State Society was adopted, and the following officers chosen: Peter Cushman Jones, president; Albert Francis Judd, vice president; John Edinger, secretary; William De Witt Alexander, registrar; William Joseph Forbes, treasurer; Rev. Douglas Putnam Birnie, John Walter Jones and Harry Weld Severance, members of the board of managers.

The annual business meetings of the society have been held ever since, on June 17, Washington's birthday, which was celebrated for the first time on February 22, 1896, at the residence of the president, where historical and genealogical papers were read by a number of the members. The society has done much in a patriotic way since its organization, and was, naturally, an advocate of annexation. A committee was appointed to provide entertainment for the United States soldiers en route to Manila during the early part of the first year of the war, the society had the pleasure of meeting a number of compatriots, who have since emulated the courage and devotion of their forefathers in upholding the honor of the flag in the distant Philippines.

The present officers are: W. R. Castle, president; Frank S. Dodge, vice president; William Olmsted Atwater, secretary; William Joseph Forbes, treasurer; W. D. Alexander, registrar.

The following are the days which the society celebrates here:

February 22—Anniversary of the birth of Washington.
May 19, 1775—Surrender of Ticonderoga.
June 14, 1777—Adoption of the American flag.
June 17, 1775—Battle of Bunker Hill.
June 17, 1895—Anniversary of the Hawaiian Society.

June 28, 1776—Anniversary, Fort Moultrie.

July 4, 1776—Declaration of Independence.

Aug. 16, 1777—Battle of Bennington.

Oct. 7, 1780—Battle of King's Mountain.

Oct. 17, 1777—Surrender of Burgoyne.

Oct. 19, 1774—The Annapolis Tea Party.

Oct. 19, 1781—Surrender of Cornwallis.

Nov. 25, 1783—Evacuation of New York.

Dec. 16, 1773—The Boston Tea Party.

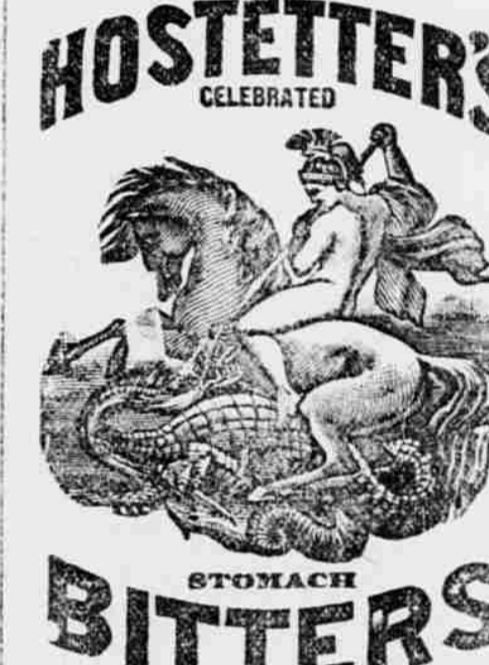

Dec. 26, 1776—Battle of Trenton.

Following is the list of members of the local society:

Can Be Cured

Some people have had catarrh as long as they can remember—to cough, choke and constantly gurgle, and expectorate a regular habit—sort of a second nature but vile and annoying.

Catarrh in the head is an inflamed condition of the mucous membranes in the nasal passages often caused by a cold. Now, unless this inflammation is drawn out the catarrh will continue to do endless damage. It will rot the bones in the nose, cause deafness, rupture the sight, cause a foul breath.

Indigestion will also follow for the stomach has work of its own with out trying to digest the foul chum of decayed matter that slide down the throat from the head while the sufferer is asleep.

Helpman's Wonderful Medicine cures catarrh, drives the inflammation out of the body, purifies the blood, gives the eye and vigor to the nerves and he fits to the whole system. It is a short time at very small cost.

NEWS OF THE WATERFRONT.

CAPTAIN NEWHALL TELLS HIS STORY

But There is a Big Discrepancy Between His Version and a Coast Dispatch.

Editor Advertiser—Reports of the arrival of the Tanner are misleading and calculated to injure the standing of that vessel with the underwriters. We put into San Francisco to purchase some spare plunger boxes for the windmill pump, and diaphragms for our Edison main deck pumps.

The vessel is not leaking any more than usual, and the fact that she made a safe trip after encountering the worst weather I ever experienced in the Pacific Ocean should convince any one acquainted with maritime affairs that the report is a gross exaggeration.

Sleep has not been at a premium, as the watch below has never been called but once since leaving Port Blakeley, and that was to shorten sail, and not to pump ship. With the deckload off the leak has practically ceased.

WILLIAM NEWHALL.

Master and Owner of the Brig Tanner.

Honolulu, February 20.

PUT IN LEAKING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Leaking and with her pumps refusing to work, the brig Tanner put into port today in distress. The brig left Port Blakeley fourteen days ago with a cargo of lumber for Honolulu. When but a few days out the Tanner encountered stormy weather. She labored hard in the heavy seas, and being an old vessel, sprung a leak. At first Captain Newhall was alarmed, fearing that the leak was serious. The men were ordered to man the pumps, but after a few minutes' work the pumps broke down. For a time the water poured in fast. When the seas subsided, however, an investigation showed that the old brig was making water slowly.

Captain Newhall decided to bring his vessel into this port. She will be repaired and will then proceed to Honolulu. Captain Newhall is the oldest skipper on this Coast, having come out in the bark Florida in 1850, when he was nineteen years of age.

Shipbuilding Returns.

The Bureau of Navigation reports 74 vessels of 22,796 gross tons were built in the United States and officially numbered during the month of January, as follows: 27 wooden sailing vessels, gross, 9847; 23 wooden steam vessels, gross, 2422; 1 steel sailing vessel, gross, 1651; 7 steel steam vessels, gross, 8876. Of these, 53 were built on the Atlantic Coast and Gulf, 14 on the Pacific Coast, and 7 on the Great Lakes and Western rivers. The largest steel steam vessels included in these figures are: El Alba, 4614 gross tons, built at Newport News, Va., for the Southern Pacific Co., and Spokane, 2936 gross tons, built at San Francisco, for the Pacific Coast Company.

LAUNCH OF HAWAIIAN LINE STEAMER NEVADA.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The bark Ceylon will sail for Laysan Island next Tuesday.

The U. S. collier Alexander is discharging at naval wharf No. 1.

Lewis and Turk's sailor shop is now running full blast and overtime.

The transport Grant left for Manila at 7 a. m. yesterday. She will not touch at Guam.

The crew of H. M. S. Phaeton will attend a concert at the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

The bark Edward May dragged her anchors in Kahului harbor last Sunday and had a narrow escape of going ashore.

Captain Kelly of the bark Mohican played on the Honolulu cricket team yesterday in the game against the eleven of H. M. S. Phaeton.

The palud which was brought back on the schooner Brothers was sold by auction on the Fishmarket wharf yesterday.

The lot of 85 bags brought $50.

Clark and Henry's scow was towed to Pearl Harbor by the tug Kaena yesterday.

The dredger has had a trial at Pearl Harbor and works satisfactorily.

The schooner James Rolph was expected to sail from Kahului for San Francisco yesterday. The bark Edward May has already left Kahului for San Francisco.

The following boats are expected to take part in the cruise of the Hawaii Yacht Club to Pearl Harbor tomorrow: Dewey, Abbey M., Myrtle, Gladys, Skip, Princess, Kaumana, Kahuna, Vi-ke, Marion, Mary L., Pirate, Wai-Wiki, Malihini, Columbia and Olo.

On account of the failure of Young Brothers to deliver palud at the leper settlement last week, the natives at the settlement are probably suffering. It is likely that the contract will be allowed to lapse, as it has been clearly shown that the Mohican coast is exceedingly dangerous for such small boats as Young Brothers own.

Jettisoned Cargo.

The gasoline schooner Brothers, which returned from Maui and Molokai on Wednesday afternoon, had a very rough time of it trying to make Kalaupapa.

The schooner with three men on board left Kahului on Friday afternoon with 150 bags of palud for the leper settlement. On Kalaupapa the weather got so bad that Herbert Young, rather than take chances of losing his vessel, abandoned his ship's boat and threw overboard all the palud but 85 bags. After standing off Molokai until the next morning he despaired of being able to effect a landing, and returned to Kahului. On Monday Young made another attempt to land at Molokai, but the waves were too big for his little boat, and he ran down to Kaunakakai, where he lay to until the storm abated. He got back to Honolulu Wednesday afternoon.

Broke His Head.

Captain Harris, of the schooner Charles Levi Woodbury, which returned from Hilo on Wednesday afternoon, reports an unusually rough trip. One night after leaving Hilo, one of the crew, a Japanese, got hit on the head by the forward boom. The wound bled freely and yesterday the man, whose name is Owe, consulted a doctor in town. Examination of the skull revealed a fracture, which will incapacitate Owe from working for a long time to come. The Woodbury brought a cargo of firewood, which is being discharged at the fishmarket wharf. The officers of the Woodbury say that the trip was one of the most unpleasant in their experience.

Skippers Change.

Captain Gibbs of the bark Olympic, now in San Francisco, has been appointed agent of the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters for Puget Sound ports. The appointment takes effect on March 1. Captain Gibbs will be succeeded by Captain Evans, formerly first officer of the bark Katulani. Captain Gibbs has been master of the Olympic for eight years, ever since she was built.

On the arrival of the barkentine S. N. Castle in San Francisco, Captain Nelson will resign as master and will be succeeded by H. G. Morse, first mate of the Olympic, and brother of Percy Morse of this city.

The Nevada.

The Nevada is the second ship to be built for the American-Hawaiian Company at the Camden yards. The first, the R. S. Dollar, was sold to the J. M. Gaffey Oil Company, and has been converted into a tank steamer to run between Philadelphia and Galveston.

The new steamer has a carrying capacity of 5500 tons and a displacement of about 8000 tons. Her length is 371 feet over all, and she has a 45 feet beam and 35 feet depth of hold. She will be equipped with triple expansion engines of 2000 horse power, and is built for a a speed of 14 knots. She is so constructed that she can use either coal or oil as fuel. Her boilers, machinery and heating apparatus were installed before she was launched.

The Nevada will ply between San Francisco and Honolulu. She is being rushed to completion as she is much needed on the line. The ship cost about $500,000. The Texan and Nebraskan, sister ships, also under construction at the same yards, will be ready for launching early in March.

THE DAY IN COURTS

Three Judges But Very Little Work.

The Circuit Courts were unusually dull yesterday, notwithstanding the fact that all three judges were in session.

Judge Gear created some little interest in the morning by his sentence in the case of the three Porto Ricans found guilty of burglarizing the store of the Wailua Agricultural Company.
The poor old constitution was again brought into play for a tirade against the plantation men, and an implied attack upon the Attorney General's Department, and the court was so overcome by the ordeal that he postponed sentence until afternoon, announcing that he wished to first confer with his colleagues, Judge Humphreys, before final action. Each of the three defendants were given a sentence of three years in Oahu prison, the court stating that he could, under the statute, have sent them up for life.

The three defendants were called up the first thing yesterday morning, and Judge Gear immediately launched upon his exposition of the constitution and the fifth amendment. The court stated that he should not have allowed the evidence so obtained in violation of the constitution to go to the jury, but no objection was made, and it was his duty under a United States Supreme Court decision to protect the interests of the defendants.

"The evidence was clearly not admissible," said the court, "and the ruling of my colleagues, Judge Humphreys, these witnesses for the prosecution, the plantation manager, lunas and others, according to their own testimony, entered the rooms of these defendants, without search warrant, or right to do so, to find evidence, and was introduced at this hearing, Judge Humphreys has held in a number of cases that where a man's house is invaded without a search warrant, the evidence so obtained is not evidence which can be used against him. The evidence here shows the most glaring and unrighteous acts on the part of the witnesses for the prosecution. The manager, lunas and other employees, without calling in a police officer, or without first getting a search warrant, entered the room of these defendants and put their hands in the pockets of the men, compelled them to strip and searched the room. They went as far as it was possible for them to go in contravention of the fifth amendment to the constitution, and their whole evidence comes from this illegal act. These plantation managers evidently believe they have the same rights as they did under the Republic, when we had slavery here. The constitution gives no right to the manager of Wailua Agricultural Company to go to a man's room, strip him of his clothes, search his trunks and valise, dismantle the bed, or do as was done in this case. There is a proper way to do this—by the use of a police magistrate's search warrant. He had no more right to do this than has an unauthorized police power to break into a private house."

The court referred also to the old acts of the police in obtaining evidence as to opium smuggling as illegal, and also to the statement of the manager, who "unblushingly admitted he did all these things. No man, even the President of the United States, has a right to search a place without the proper papers." The court further stated that he should not have allowed the evidence to be admitted, but the jury had found them guilty, and it was only for him to sentence them. "I am not determined to release these defendants," said the court, "but I am somewhat worried as to their punishment. I shall confer with the Attorney General and my colleagues before passing sentence.
I do not wish to criticize the jury, for under the evidence a verdict of guilty was justified, when taking into consideration the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution, which was unwarranted and outrageous in free America.
The plantation managers will have to learn that they are past living as kings over those under them, and they are here given notice that their employees have all the rights which the constitution of the United States gives all of us."

In the afternoon the court went over the same matter in sentencing each of the defendants to three years at Oahu prison.

CRIMINAL CASES.

Ab Nee was acquitted by a jury on the charge of stealing a bicycle. The prisoner, who was defended by F. M.
Brooks, claimed that he bought the wheel for $4, and showed a receipt for the money. He is a boy of but fourteen. The prosecuting witness rode off with the machine.

Jos. Meranda, charged with the larceny of sundry spoons and cash, was acquitted by a jury before Judge Gear yesterday afternoon.

BEFORE HUMPHREYS.

Judge Humphreys is occupied in hearing the case of Wong But Nam vs.
"Chock Sing, an action in assumpsit. A jury was secured yesterday afternoon and the trial will continue with the taking of evidence today.

BEFORE ROBINSON.

The case of Chung Man Sing vs. M.
C. Amara was set for trial before Judge Robinson, but was discontinued just a few minutes before it was to be called for trial.

A deamur in the case of J. Alfred Magoon, trustee, vs. C. Lai Young, was taken under advisement by Judge Robinson.

Judge Robinson will hear case No.
95 on the civil calendar this morning.
It is entitled David Kaulapoko vs. K.
L. Kaiel.

DAVIS IN TROUBLE.
George Davis came near getting into trouble again yesterday. He was in Gear's courtroom and amused himself by tickling Mr. Atkinson in the neck with a handkerchief, while the latter was at the clerk's desk. The court saw the up-play and asked Davis if he knew of any good reason why he shouldn't be punished for contempt.
Davis replied that he didn't think, or he wouldn't have done it, to which Gear replied that he would impose a fine but for the fact that he knew Davis had no money.

FISHING RIGHTS SUIT.

The case of Wendenberg vs. Territory of Hawaii to establish fishing rights at Kaneohe, District of Koolau, is on this island.

Paragraph 2 says, "That the fishery to which the plaintiff claims to be entitled consists of the right each year to set apart for himself for his sole use, within the fishing grounds within the metes and bounds above set out, one given species or variety of fish natural to said fishery, giving public notice of the kind and description of the fish so chosen, and also the right, in lieu of setting apart some particular fish for his exclusive use, to prohibit, upon consultation with the tenants of his lands, all fishing upon the fishing grounds during certain months of the year, and during the fishing season, to exact from each fisherman one-third of all the fish taken upon said fishing ground."

The plaintiff also claims a vested right as owner in fee simple of the sea fishery within the reef.

WUNDENBERG GIVES BOND.

Fred Wundenberg yesterday filed his bond of $75,000 as receiver for the Kona Sugar Company. His sureties are Allan Herbert, J. Alfred Magoon, S. C.
Allen and J. A. McCandless. The bond was approved by Judge Humphreys.

COURT NOTES.

P. J. Farley, as master, filed his report yesterday upon the accounts of the administrator of the John de Costa estate. The master recommends that the administrator be ordered to file a statement of the real property of the estate for which he received $130 in rents. An unexpended balance of $1-223.28 is shown.

In the suit of Gehring and Butzke vs.
W. W. Ahana, yesterday, a stipulation was filed allowing judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $2,983.

Decrees were signed by Judge Humphreys yesterday in the Fernandez and Arraial divorce cases.

C. A. Long, as master, approves the bond of F. A. Schaefer, administrator of the estate of Samuel Johanwitz.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair,
No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face,
the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair and cures baldness.

STUDYING TARO PLANT

The Investigations
Now Being Made.

The United States Agricultural Experiment Department is now engaged in an exhaustive investigation into taro and its diseases. The work has been in progress for a long time, and it will be still many months before it is completed. Taro forms the principal food staple of the Hawaiians, and the ravages of the blight have so curtailed the supply that there has been actual suffering in some places because of the shortage. At present the experiments are being confined to the low-land taro and an effort is being made to find some remedy for the disease that attacks the roots. Dry land taro does not suffer to such a great extent, though it will be looked into also.

This study is being made with a view of ascertaining the best fertilizer for the plant, as well as to find a cure for the disease, and the investigations once completed will be of untold value to Hawaii.

In furtherance of this study reports are being collected from the various taro planters in the islands with a view to getting their ideas as to the best methods of cultivation. Mr. Sedgwick, assistant at the agricultural station, requests that the taro growers on the various islands write to the department here and explain the methods used by them, and by comparing notes some valuable data may be obtained for the benefit of all the planters.

L. C. Lyman of Hilo, who is largely interested in taro, has written for the Agricultural Department a brief resume of the methods in use by the taro planters of Hawaii and it is given here with in part as follows:

As to our methods of cultivating taro I will gladly compare notes with you and feel that it will be a great advantage to us to do so. Our conditions are quite different from yours. The taro we raise is entirely upland, or dry land as some times called, in contrast to that grown in the water. We use several methods of planting: First, the Hawaiian way of using the "hooi bar" or crow bar to loosen up the soil, and make a hole in which the hooi is placed. Before planting the hooi we put in a little artificial fertilizer which we have secured from the Hackfeld works in Honolulu, manufactured for taro. After planting we apply stable manure and cover lightly. In about three months we give the young plants a second dose of either artificial fertilizer or stable manure, and hill up a little. We weed about once a month for ten or twelve months, or until the leaves begin to die down, which is the sign of ripening; then we let the weeds grow until we are ready to harvest. This is done by simply taking all the leaves together in the bunch and pulling the whole thing right out of the ground. The roots and adhering soil are then pulled off, the leaves cut off, leaving a stub about a foot long, and a sharp knife inserted just at the top of the taro to sever the "hooi," or seed for replanting. These we try to plant again within a week from the time of pulling.

Second method is to plow the land, but not deep enough to stir up the subsoil, then run furrows just as is done for cane. Then apply fertilizer and plant hooi covering with stable manure and a light coating of soil. After plants start well we run the cultivator through about once a week. Our rows are about four feet apart and plants set about one foot apart in the rows. The second coating of fertilizer put on as described in first method. After taking off two or three crops we let land lie fallow for a year or so. Our great difficulty is that the soil has been cultivated so long to taro that even with the use of fertilizers we do not get as good crops as we should. Another difficulty is the tendency of taro to ripen as soon as a dry spell comes on, say for a month or two. In which case it dies down, and unless pulled shortly, it will start to grow up again as soon as the rains come, when the bulb will rot away. This we hope to obviate in a measure by cultivation, keeping a loose surface mulch. We will be glad of any suggestions, or to give any information that we may have on the subject. Thanking you again for your kindness, I remain,

Yours very truly,

L. C. LYMAN.
