THIS WAS NO "NIGHT MARE."

Hilo Treated to Good Sized Earthquake.

EARTH WAS RENT ASUNDER.

Severest Shock Since 1868—Bells Rang, Bottles and Dishes Tumbled from Shelves—Valuable Statuary Ruined in J. A. Scott's House—Drug Company's Suffers Loss.

News received from the Volcano is to the effect that the severest shock of earthquake since 1868 was felt there at one minute before 5 a. m. Sunday.
As near as can be ascertained the shock came from N. E. to S. W. light in the beginning and growing stronger during the ten seconds it lasted.

HILO DRUG CO.

Dishes were thrown from the shelves in private houses and bottles from the shelves and tables in the business section, the heaviest loss being that of the Hilo Drug Co. on Front street, the amount being estimated by Mr. Barthrop at more than $400. Here hundreds of bottles of patent medicines and valuable drugs were thrown to the floor, and smashed. One small show case was also broken by heavy articles falling upon it. Where the large drug jars were not thrown down they were turned half round on the shelves leaving the labels next the wall.

STATUARY BROKEN.

At John Scott's house, Wainaku, the loss was considerable; several pieces of valuable statuary and bric-a-brac which this gentleman had collected during his travels abroad were thrown from their places and smashed to pieces. Mr. Scott is now in Europe so that the exact amount of damage could not be ascertained.

In L. Turner's general store, and Theo. H. Davies branch, in the building next the drug store, goods were upset generally, but no serious damage resulted. C. E. Richardson suffered a small loss through broken bottles of liquors, but small amount will cover it. Much type in the Tribune office was "piled." Including the damage to effects in private houses, the entire loss will amount to, perhaps, a thousand dollars in the immediate vicinity of Hilo.

TOWN DIVIDED.

As an evidence of the shock a crack beginning at the sea and running north for a half mile is open for the inspection of the curious. In some places, too, the stone wall around the Catholic mission was thrown to the ground and one tree uprooted.

The atmosphere for a week previous to the shock had been of a character to lead one to expect such a demonstration unless clear and delightful weather in Hilo is an indication of internal disturbance. Saturday night was exceptionally cool and pleasant and so it was during and immediately after the shock.

News from the Volcano brought down by Col. Peter Lee is to the effect that there was no apparent change in the condition of the lake or the main crater. He says that from all accounts the shock at the crater was not as severe as the one felt in Hilo. Some of his children sleeping in the cottage adjoining did not feel the disturbance at all. Col. Lee considered the shock a good one, equal in every respect to the Kilauea quakes, but as he is hardened to such things, he may not be a competent judge.

VARIED EXPERIENCE.

Some amusing incidents are told as taking place in Hilo. As the disturbance began so near the hour for the first mass at the Catholic Church many persons who did not know the hour thought the changing of the church bell calling the religious ones to their devotion, was a warning that fire had broken out in the town and the assistance of the people was needed to extinguish it. Twenty minutes afterward, the sun rose over Mount Mauna and Front street was crowded with a heterogeneous mass of people, anxious to find out "where they were at."

At the Hilo Hotel, artist Rigo Fisher and Mr. Stacker, reporter for this paper were asleep in one of the rooms and were awakened by the rumbling noise. Neither was aware that the other was awake until a sound like the breaking of timber caused them to move. Fisher, expecting another shock and a tidal wave, shouted to his companion, "Good bye, we are going," and Stacker in his effort to get out of bed as quickly as possible, took the wrong side, and in the darkness went bang up against the wall. An attempt to turn on the electric lights failed as the night superintendent McDonald thoroughly alarmed at the danger which threatened the works turned out the lights and they were shut off for twenty minutes.

HE SLEPT THROUGH IT.

Up to the time the Kinau left the only person in Hilo known to have passed through the shock without knowing about it was C. J. Campbell, of C. E.
Richardson's store. This gentleman much resembles the lamented "Bill Nye" in appearance and his statement that he was not disturbed, may be a joke. As he was not on the streets, one of his friends repaired to his room directly over Richardson's store to find him. Repeated knocks on the door brought the young man from bed and when told that there had been a shock and goods in the store had been upset, he rubbed his eyes and remarked that he'd been dreaming that Hilo had a boom and the noise was made by dray loads of coffee passing along the streets. Mr. Campbell's statement is doubted by those who know that his knowledge of booms was acquired by a residence in the north west.

HOW THEY TOOK IT.

Artist Howard Hitchcock, who had just returned from a tour of Puna, where he had been making sketches, was rudely awakened by the shock.
He suffered no inconvenience beyond a surprise at running up against the wall in getting out the wrong side of the bed.

R. C. L. Perkins, the naturalist, was visiting T. J. Higgins in Oahu when the quake came, and was particularly delighted at being present. Mr. Perkins has been gathering birds and bugs and incidentally waiting for an earthquake on the islands for the past four years, and having secured every species of bird, has devoted his time and energies lately to locating earthquakes. In a conversation with a reporter for this paper after the arrival of the Kinau yesterday Mr. Perkins said:

"I was awakened the moment the shock began; my lamp was in danger of falling from the dresser, so I got up and placed it on the floor and then sat down alongside of it, merely to experience the thing in its fullest force, and I was quite successful. I was very sorry when it was over, but I hope when I am on Maui next week to have another try at it as it comes back. I would not have missed it for anything.
I can assure you."

H. C. Austin, the gentlemanly tax assessor of Hilo, who fixes land values for people to go to law over, said he thought he felt a shock Sunday evening. He estimates the time during which Hilo rattled Sunday morning at something over ten seconds, but he was too busy watching things falling over in his room to make any particular note of the time.

Eben Loat of Kohala says the shock was severe there and caused much consternation among his fat cattle. There was no damage from the shock anywhere in the vicinity of his home.

Maul was in harmony with Hawaii and Oahu in the sensation. Passengers from there state that it was the most severe shock experienced in many years.

GENERALLY FELT.

Telephone messages received in Hilo from all stations on Hawaii were to the effect that the shock was severely felt at every point but there was no disturbance of the sea on any part of the island. As Hilo is without its complement of scientific men no authentic information is obtainable as to the duration of the shock or the exact course.

MAY BE OPPOSITION.

Hilo May Ship Ice to Honolulu and Cut Down the Price.

L. C. Ables, formerly manager of the ice works here is in Hilo with a view to embarking in the business of manufacturing ice there in opposition to the company already established.

It is rumored, and Mr. Ables did not deny it when questioned in Hilo, that he intends securing land near the Walluku Falls, a magnificent water power in the town proper, and will erect a plant with a capacity of ten tons having ample storage premises on the land. He will charter schooners from Hilo to Honolulu, shipping ice to the latter port in fifty ton lots every ten days. This will be deposited in well adapted storage houses near the railroad depot in Honolulu and sold and delivered to customers from that point.

KATE FIELD'S WILL.

Document Found Among Her Effects in Washington.

Remains to Be Cremated and Ashes Deposited at Mount Auburn—Mr. Kohlhaas Administrator.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Kate Field's will has been found. At the time of her death in Hawaii a search was made in her personal effects for the will, which was known to exist, but without result. Today J. M. Devine, proprietor of the Shoreham hotel, remembered Miss Field had left a box of papers with him before she left for Honolulu. On the strength of Mr.
Devine's statement Registrar of Wills McGill was sent for and the box forced open in his presence.

Among many other documents was found a sealed envelope. On breaking the seal the will was found. Its text was not made public, but it is known that H. H. Kohlhaas, of Chicago, proprietor of the "Times-Herald," and J.
Sanford Beattie, a well-known society leader in Washington, are named as executors. Mr. Beattie is the principal beneficiary under the will. The estate consists principally of books, documents, a few pictures and many personal mementoes. Miss Field requests that her remains be brought back to this country and cremated.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—When Kate Field left for Hawaii, she advised H.
H. Kohlhaas, editor of the Times-Herald, that she had provided in her will for the disposition of her remains in the event of death. Diligent search failed to discover this will until Friday last. Meanwhile, the body has been lying in a vault at Hawaii. It appears from this will that Miss Field directed that her body be cremated and that her ashes, together with a plain gold ring worn by her, be placed in an urn and deposited above the coffins of her father and mother, in Mount Auburn cemetery, at Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. Kohlhaas has undertaken the immediate execution of these instructions, and has written to Consul-General Mills, at Honolulu, making provision for the expense and directing that the cremation shall take place there if practicable, but that if not, the remains shall be forwarded by steamer via San Francisco, and overland to Boston, where the desired disposition of them will be made.

ELECTIONS IN CHILE.

President is Not Yet Sure of His Position.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 30.—The latest reports from Chile are to the effect that the registrars and election officials have resolved to attend and take part in the meeting of Congress called for tomorrow for the purpose of determining who has been elected President. There is considerable anxiety as to the result.
The election recently held in Chile was one of the stormiest ever held in a country noted for stormy elections.
Senator Errazuriz, the editor of one of the leading newspapers of Chile, was the candidate of the Conservatives.
Senator Frederico Errazuriz has been a member of several Chilean Cabinets, and he is regarded as one of the most brilliant of the political leaders of South America. The candidate of the opposition was Senator Reyes.

It was reported that Senator Errazuriz expended more than $400,000 in his campaign. Senator Reyes, on the other hand announced that he would not spend one cent. Before the election Reyes issued an address to the electors, in which he said that what he had amassed he should save for his children. He said that he was unalterably opposed to wasting money to satisfy the personal vanity involved in a desire to become President. He announced that he objected to the use of large sums of money in the political campaign, because if the practice continued only wealthy men could hope to obtain the higher offices.

The election was very close and the result will probably depend upon the returns received and the members elected from some of the most remote provinces of Chile. On account of the closeness of the vote it is feared that a revolution may be attempted, no matter which candidate is triumphant.
There is little talk of a third or compromise candidate.

SAW CRACK PLAYERS.

S. G. Wilder Tells of Splendid Games of Tennis at Newport, R. I.

Exciting Contest Between Neel and Wrenn.
Some Sound Pointers For Honolulu Players to Follow.

In a letter from Samuel G. Wilder dated from Newport, R. I., and received recently were remarks bearing on tennis which will prove of great interest to players here since it gives an insight into the respective games of the Eastern cracks. Following are a few extracts:

"Mrs. Wilder, Jack Atkinson and myself are staying at the Aquidneck hotel. The 'Casino' which is a large club, is about a five minutes' walk away from the hotel. It is very large and a great many people here belong.
Upon the grounds are twelve of the finest tennis courts it has ever been my fortune to see. They are turf and as smooth as a billiard table. The grass is very short and you can see the clay underneath. A steam roller is used to keep these courts in such fine condition and they are marked by a machine once every day. The lines are 2 1/2 inches wide.

"I saw Neel and Wrenn play yesterday and I declare they did play tennis for all that was in it. In the first set Neel had Wrenn 5 to 2, but he lost his grip, Wrenn braced and won the set. The second was 14 to 12 in favor of Wrenn who won by simply tiring out his opponent.

"Both players advanced and retreated together. The service was easy and the runs up to the net frequent, during which times there was swift volleying back and forth. Neel was at the service line a great deal and it was very hard work for Wrenn to pass him. Neel wears glasses and has a handkerchief tied around his head while playing. Like George Carter at home. In the games between these two players I noticed that the server said nothing, but stood ready until his opponent nodded his head when he began service. In all the games there was very little swift service, but a lot of lobbing.

"Neel stands to receive a ball in the backhand position, but drops his thumb down to the forehead position if the ball comes on his right.

"Wrenn is left handed, but he can play like a breeze. He will play Larned tomorrow.

"Hovey is on the courts every day.
They say he has a sore wrist, but I have seen him put up a very stiff game with Campbell who by the way is out of form.

"It is rumored here that there are three or four men in Newport who can beat Hovey.

"While in Newport Mr. and Mrs. S.
G. Wilder and Jack Atkinson were the guests of Mr. McCaleb who was here several months ago."

NOXIOUS PLANTS.

What R. L. Stevenson Said of Samoa's Deadly Enemy.

People who understand the serious loss which has been caused the farmers of Oregon by the introduction of the wild oat from California, the "corn flower," "bachelor button," or French pink, and other noxious plants, will be interested in reading what Robert Louis Stevenson, the celebrated writer, whose pen threw a glorified halo of word painting around every subject it touched, wrote in regard to the "sensitive plant" in the Samoan islands, where it is called "tuitui." Mr. Stevenson, it will be remembered, settled on an elevated location above Apia, where the climate was found to be best adapted to his health, and where he built a home, cleared a tract of land, wrote a number of his books and stories, and finally died of consumption and was buried on the summit of the mountain. He used occasionally to work with his men at what he called "weeding," but which was really clearing his ground of trees, roots, weeds, etc., and preparing it for cultivation. He said that in going around to look over the work that had been done, he found the "tuitui" springing up at the heels of the men clearing the ground.

The sensitive plant is a low plant growing in thick masses, like wild clover, which, at a distance it resembles. Persons who have crossed the Isthmus of Panama may have seen it covering the embankments along the railway. When touched by the hand or by a switch passed over it, the leaves droop as if wilted by heat.

In writing to a friend of his experience in weeding on one occasion, Mr.
Stevenson says:

"I found a great deal of tuitui, our deadly enemy. A fool brought it to this island in a pot and used to lecture and sentimentalize over the tender thing. The tender thing has now taken charge of the island, and men fight it with torn hands for bread and life. A singular, wondrous thing shrinking and biting like a weasel, and clutching by its roots as a limpet clutches to a rock.

"Tuitui is a truly strange beast and gives food for thought. I am nearly sure I cannot be quite—that even at the instant he shrivels up his leaves he sticks his pinchers downward so as to catch the uprooting finger. One thing that takes and holds me is to see the strange variation in the propagation of alarm among these rooted beasts; at times it spreads to a radius of six inches; at times only one individual plant is frightened at a time.
We knew how long it took one to recover; 'tis a sanguine creature, and it is all abroad again before two minutes.
It is odd how difficult in this world it is to be armed. The double armor of this plant betrays it. In a thick tuft, where the leaves disappear, I thrust in my hand and the bite of the thorns betrays the topmost stem. In the open, again, and when I hesitate if it be clover, a touch on the leaves, and its fine sense and retractile action betrays its identity at once. Yet it has one gift incomparable. Rome had virtue and knowledge; Rome perished.
The sensitive plant has indigestible seeds, and it will flourish forever. I have a strong root, a weak stem, and an indigestible seed; so you will outlast the Eternal City, and your progeny will clothe mountains, and the irascible planter will blaspheme in vain. The weak point of tuitui is that its stem is strong."

Talks a Little But Don't Say Much About Politics.

HIS TROUBLE WITH TIM HEALY.

Captain Dreyfus Escapes—Death of Commander Newell—Arrest of Tolon—More Trouble in Corea—Natives Want Their Opium—Li Hung Chang in Canada, Etc.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Some important business has followed Mr. Chamberlain to his retirement at Salem, Mass.
The most energetic of Cabinet Ministers could scarcely divest himself entirely of public affairs; nor has Mr.
Chamberlain attempted to make his holiday interfere with his ministerial work. His presence in the United States is expected to be associated with interviews bearing on Canadian relations to his zollverein proposals and the Pacific cable scheme. The change of Ministry in Canada has rendered it necessary to reopen the whole question of the Pacific cable. It is doubtful whether the Commission will continue to exist. It is still a question whether or not Mr.
Chamberlain will retain the Colonial Office. On the eve of his departure for the United States it was affirmed and denied that he desired to resign his present office. During the present week the balance of opinion tends to a conviction that he will not long remain at the Colonial Office. It is not because his zollverein scheme has met with rebuff from the Colonies, nor that he is tired of facing South African troubles. As a tenacious fighter, he would be more likely to stick to his post so long as any tension existed with the Transvaal. But he is and long has been dissatisfied with the measure of support accorded him within the Cabinet in his policy of thoroughness in dealing with the Boers, and dissatisfied also with the public attacks made upon him by inspired Conservative organs. If there be any changes in the Cabinet before Parliament resumes, Mr. Chamberlain, according to the best information, will vacate the Colonial Office.

Talks to New York Reporters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A special despatch to the "Herald from Danvers, Mass., says: "The Right Hon. Jos.
Chamberlain was seen this afternoon at the residence of former Secretary Wm. C. Endicott of this town. He was told that a cablegram had been received saying that his criticism of Healy was being quoted in England with ridicule.
"That's nonsense," he replied. "The English are not that sort of people.
The only thing I said of Mr. Healy was that he is the ablest Irishman of the day. This I repeat. It is not a question worthy discussion, but a simple fact. It is foolish to deny a man's ability because you do not agree with him. Mr. Healy is no friend of mine nor of the Government. I disagree with him on almost every point, but yet I believe him a very able man.
It is useless for the English people to deny it and compare such men as Mr.
Dillon with him."

Are you going to visit Secretary Olney? "I asked. "I am not."
"Are you going to Canada?" No, I am not. I have had an invitation to go to Toronto and visit the Exhibition there, but I have personal reasons for wishing to remain here during my short stay in this country. I shall go directly back to England."

"What of the Pacific cable?" "Well, there's been very little done about that.
A small committee has been appointed, who will report at a future session. It is proposed to lay a cable between Canada and Australia. I really do not know much about it."

LI TALKS RAILROAD.

Interested in Affairs of United States and Would Like to Copy.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—Li Hung Chang, with his suite, arrived in his private train from Niagara Falls. In front of the grand stand at the Industrial Fair he was introduced to Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. Mr.
Ross, Lieutenant Governor Kirkpatrick and others.

At the electric power house of the Niagara Falls Power Company the distinguished visitor had an experience with American electricity, the result being as startling as it was unexpected.
With his usual curiosity and desire to make a personal investigation of the machinery, he poked a switch board rule closed the circuit instantly and Li's stick was violently thrown from his grasp. He was naturally much astonished at the effect of the stick's contact with the switch board, but fortunately he suffered no damage beyond a good scare. However, he decided that he had seen enough, and went to his rooms, where he remained until bed time.

The deep interest he shows in railroad matters convinces those who paid attention to the subject that his princial object in visiting this country is to study American construction and management, with a view to adopt some of the features in a proposed extension of the Chinese railway system. In fact the Viceroy intimated that he is negotiating for the services of an American civil engineer, who, if he accepts the offer made him, will go to China in the near future and take charge of the railway extension scheme now being outlined. Li says there are only about 200 miles of single track railroad in China at present. Only three trains are run each day, and there is no traffic at night, the system being crude and the liability to accident a constant menace.

THE ARREST OF TOLON.

Occurred After He Had Boarded an American Steamer.

HAVANA, Sept. 6.—Samuel S. Tolon, a prominent merchant of Cardenas, and a naturalized American citizen, who was arrested Thursday as the Ward line steamer Seneca was on the point of sailing, was arrested after he had actually gone on board the Seneca. It is stated that his ticket was issued at the last moment, and outside the regular hours for issuing tickets, and a special passenger list was made up for him. Mr. Tolon, when arrested, was unwilling to go on shore, but the captain and consular of the Seneca persuaded him to make no violent opposition.

The steamer Colon has arrived here, having on board 45 officers and 1000 soldiers. They were landed at the wharves at Regia, and did not pass through the city. The great park in the city was decorated and illuminated at night, and a committee sent on board the Colon distributed cigars and tobacco among the newly arrived troops.

The insurgents having burned the tobacco plantations of Santa Isabel in Matanzas, the proprietor, Juan Nenniger, places his loss at $225,000.

The insurgent leaders, Bien Venido Sanchez and Acea, have had a conflict on the coast near Guira Melena, in Havana province. It is not known whether this collision was due to an error or to the rivalry between the two leaders.

Captain-General Weyler has prohibited the sale of the book, "Chronicles of the war in Cuba," the author of which is Rafael Guerrero, and which was published in Spain. The volumes sent to Cuba have been seized.

MORE TROUBLE IN COREA.

Natives Object to Being Refused Use of Opium.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 2.—Naval Lieutenants John M. Hawley, E. Lloyd and James T. Smith, lately detached from the Government armored cruiser Detroit, arrived in this city tonight from Vancouver, having been passengers across the Pacific on the steamship Empress of India. They are en route to their respective homes—Boston, Washington City and New York. Hawley is a lieutenant commander and was placed in command of the Detroit upon the departure of Commander Newell from this city, where the latter is now upon his deathbed. The lieutenant commander and his brother left the Detroit at Chemulpo, Corea.

The naval party had as a shipmate on the voyage across the Pacific the new Korean Minister to the United States, His Excellency Yi Pum Chin. Yi proceeded from Vancouver to the national capital. Lieutenant Hawley learned from the Korean Minister that there is more or less serious trouble brewing between the Chinese and Japanese governments over the matter of the use of opium in Formosa, to say nothing of native uprisings. It appears that Japan wants to at once abolish the use of opium, claiming that unless this is done her subjects will contract the habit from the natives, while by the latter it is contended that an abrupt prohibition of the use of the drug would result disastrously to those who have all their lives been addicted to the opium habit.

FOOD-BARRED SAILORS.

Will Try to Round Cape Horn in a Mite of a Boat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Charles Jensen and Charles Klein, two of the hardiest sailors that the Scandinavian peninsula ever produced, are preparing to attempt the daring feat of sailing around Cape Horn from San Francisco to New York in the smallest craft that ever attempted the passage. The vessel in which the trip is to be made is a sloop. She has a length of 23 feet over all, a water-line of 23 feet, beam 9 feet 6 inches, draft 3 feet, and a depth of 5 feet from the cabin roof. She has fore and aft compartments, besides the cabin, and her rail is six inches high. She carries a main sail and two jibs.

The trip which Jensen and Klein are preparing is about 8900 miles. They will keep the regular sailing course to make time, and will stop only at Valparaiso on this side and the Falkland Islands on the other. They will not take the Straits of Magellan, but will actually round the Horn and take chances with the dangers of the trip. They expect to start not later than October 15, and as much earlier as possible.

GAUDAUER IS CHAMPION.

Canadian Oarsman Plucks Laurels From Australia.

PUTNEY, Eng., Sept. 7.—Jake Gaudaur of Toronto, champion oarsman of America, after a most disappointing race today over the four-mile championship course from Putney to Mortlake, defeated James H. Stankbury of Australia, who recently beat "Wag" Harding in defence of the championship of the world. The race today was for the world's championship, $5,000 and the Sportsman cup. The weather was as dismal as could be. There was a foul—a protest which was disregarded—and Gaudaur won by 20 lengths in 23 minutes and 1 second.

DREYFUS ESCAPES.

His Wife Rescues Him From Exile Prison.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—In an interview, Captain Hunter of the British steamer Nonpareil, from Cayenne, French Guiana, is quoted as saying that Dreyfus, captain of the French military convict escaped on board an American schooner, and with the help of his wife, formerly Mdee. Hadmard, the daughter of wealthy parents. Madame Dreyfus, at the urgent request of the prisoner, received permission from the French government to join her husband in his place of imprisonment and in due course of time arrived at Cayenne well supplied with funds.

Madame Dreyfus was a firm believer in the innocence of her husband, and when she reached Cayenne the French authorities offered her the use of a steam launch to take her to the Grand Salut islands where her husband's prison was situated, but she declined, saying she wished to become accustomed to the climate before going to the island. Thereupon the steam launch left Cayenne.

According to Capt. Hunter Madame Dreyfus lost no time in perfecting plans for her husband's escape, or else she must have had assistance from persons who had reached Cayenne some time before her, for the same night, he says, an American schooner with Madame Dreyfus on board, appeared off Grand Salut island, sent a boat ashore and brought off not only the prisoner but several of the men who had been detailed to guard him, apparently proving conclusively that everything was arranged for the escape of Capt. Dreyfus before his wife reached Cayenne.

TOAST TO THE CZAR.

Emperor William Gives His "Const." Good Send Off.

CORLITZ, Sept. 8.—Emperor William, in proposing the toast of the Fifth army corps at last night's banquet, made a long speech, in which he expressed the thanks of himself, also in the name of his revered grandfather and never-to-be-forgotten father, for the splendid efficiency of the corps. The emperor continued: "Truly, a fine portion of Prussia history passes in view before us, with their regiments, their names and colors. Our hearts are stirred as the vision carries us back where so many of those who belonged to the regiments are laid at rest; who, with their blood and lives, helped to win and achieve that which causes us to rejoice today. It is my and your special satisfaction and your good fortune to appear in this state of high efficiency before the eyes of my beloved neighbor and cousin, His Majesty Czar Nicholas of Russia."

"We are still all under the fascination the youthful figure of that knightly emperor; we still see him as he rode past us at the head of his late father's regiment. His efforts are directed towards drawing together the people of Europe in order to unite them on grounds of common interests and for the protection of their most sacred possessions."

"May his army corps, pursuing its peaceful activity, give proof in the future of equally good results with that which it gave today. With this wish I drink to the Fifth Corps. Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!"

FREE CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Tuition Fees Considered an Obstacle to the Growth of the Schools.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—Archbishop Ireland has issued a letter announcing that hereafter at the Catholic parochial schools no tuition will be charged, such tuition being considered an obstacle to the growth of the schools. In the course of the letter he says: "Of course the expenses of maintaining the schools must be provided for in some way. The pastors will take the amount of these expenses from the regular church receipts of the parish, and will rely upon extraordinary measures which their own judgment may commend. Catholics will, we are sure, co-operate with their pastors in maintaining the parish schools. The proper view to be taken of the Catholic school is to regard it as a great religious work, in which all are concerned, whether they have or have not children attending it."

DEATH OF NEWELL.

Commander of United States Cruiser Detroit Succumbs.

SEATTLE, September 2.—Commander John Stark Newell, Captain of the United States armored cruiser Detroit, died in this city at the residence of ex-Mayor Frank D. Black at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon from anemic condition of the blood. His remains will be sent to New York City to-morrow evening, accompanied by Mrs. Newell, who has been in Seattle since her husband's condition became serious.

Captain Newell's illness was contracted while undergoing privations in connection with his labors as the representative of the United States in the investigation of the massacre of missionaries at Kiepsim, Central China, in the fall of 1895. Commander Newell was a lineal descendant of the Starks of Revolutionary fame.

Pacific Coast for McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Chairman Babcock, of the republican congressional committee, today received a telegram from Vice-Chairman Apsley, who with Representative Call is making a tour of political observation throughout the far Northwest and along the Pacific coast. Mr. Apsley's reports were not of the most rosy character while he was in the silver-producing section, but his dispatch today from Seattle gave much satisfaction to Mr. Babcock and associates. He said:

"McKinley will carry the Pacific coast by a great majority, sure. We had rousing meetings all along the line, at Portland and at San Francisco, and expect one tomorrow at Spokane. The outlook is of the best, and I will report in detail on the 15th."

Spanish Convoys Captured.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Herald from Havana says:

The Herald's correspondent on the Meron Juncaro trocha sends word that the insurgents have seized a Spanish convoy which left Ciego de Avila for Las Piedras August 23, killing, wounding or capturing the entire government force, consisting of 300 men, who were in charge of the convoy.

The Spanish commander, with eight members of his staff, was released, however, after being disarmed by the rebels.

Wheeling in Water.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Two water bicycles were received to day to be used to carry the War Department messages from the Battery to Governor's Island, where General Nelson A. Miles will be ready to receive them. The chain which operates the screw propeller of the boat is attached to the wheel of the bicycle. As the boats only draw three inches of water, there is no danger of their capsizing or sinking.

New Comet Discovered.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 5.—A cablegram received here from the European Union of Astronomers announces that a comet has been discovered by Giacobini, one of the assistants at the observatory at Nice. The position of the object at the ascension 17 hours, 10 minutes, 13 seconds, declination south 7 degrees, 29 minutes. The comet has a slight southeasterly motion.

To Enforce England's Demands.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—In official circles it is believed the Marquis of Salisbury has determined to pursue his own course in Constantinople in future, and has given to the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, precise and significant instructions, with greater powers, to command naval aid in enforcing the demands of Great Britain.

THANKS TO "AULD REEKIE."

Young Planter Also Asks for More Information.

MR. EDITOR:—Allow me, through you, to thank "Auld Reekie" for the able and instructive article on the handling of the coffee tree. I might say in passing that it is just such articles that make the Advertiser the valuable paper it is.

"Auld Reekie" agrees with R. Ross, Chas. D. Miller and many others that I might quote in the handling of the coffee tree. Therefore he gives me the greatest confidence in what he writes.

I shall await his next article with interest. As he seems willing to give us planters the benefit of his experience, I should like him to tell what is best to do with primaries that grow too great a length. Should secondaries be allowed to grow before a tree is topped? How long does it usually take new wood to bear a crop? Now, "Dear Auld Reekie," if you will kindly tell me what you would do when your Japanese go so slow that you have to set two stakes to see if they are moving, I think I will say: Aloha nui oe, Yours,

YOUNG PLANTER.

TRILBY LAST NIGHT.

Drill Shed Packed to Suffocation. An Excellent Performance.

The largest paid audience that has ever assembled in a theatre in Honolulu was at the Drill Shed last night to witness the performance of Trilby by A. M. Palmer's New York Company under the management of W. A. Brady.

Owing to the absence of programs it was impossible for the audience to know who composed the cast as a whole. Miss Crane, however, essayed Trilby in a very satisfactory and pleasing manner, and Jennie Reiffer did the French lady in her usual elegant manner. The character of the play was Syngalli, and whoever the actor happened to be, was, in the opinion of many who have seen Wilton Lackye, superior to him in many ways. The Laird, Billy and Tapp, familiar to those who have read the book, were what Du Maurier intended his characters should be.

The play ran smoothly and in the third act the death scene of Syngalli was, perhaps, the most realistic bit of acting ever seen on the Honolulu boards. It left an impression that will not soon wear off. In the last act Miss Crane had rare opportunities to display her fine talents as an actress. Her death scene was especially good.

A Warship Expected.

H. B. M. Ship Comur, Capt. Dyke, will leave Vancouver early in October, and may be expected to arrive here during the latter part of the month. After remaining in port about two weeks she will resume her voyage, homeward bound, touching at Starbuck Island, Tahiti, Pitcairn and Easter Islands, thence to Valparaiso and Coquimbo. This will be the first visit of a British war ship at this port for nearly two years.

The "Coronet."

Prof. Maxwell is informed by Prof. Todd from Yokohama that the Amherst College Astronomical Expedition aboard the "Coronet," will not return by way of Honolulu unless by reason of adverse weather. Mr. James, the owner of the "Coronet," returns directly to New York on account of the political and business situation.

GOLD BUGS BUZZ AMONG DEMOCRATS.

Palmer of Illinois and Buckner of Kentucky Named.

GROVER THOUGHT HE WOULDN'T.

New Ticket Will Strengthen McKinley-Bryan is Over-Confident—Senator Voorhees Dying. Republicans Did Well in Vermont—A Preacher Gives His Opinion on Politics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3.—John M. Palmer of Illinois and Simon Bolivar Buckner of Kentucky, two white-haired veterans of the war, rival commanders duty, and he could not do so now with such a cause at stake.

PALMER'S RECORD.

Career of Presidential Candidate of Gold Democrats.

John M. Palmer was born in Eagle Creek, Scott county, Kentucky, September 13, 1817. He moved to Illinois in 1832 and settled in Carlinville in 1839. He was admitted to the bar in 1849, and was a member of the State Senate in 1852-54. He was a delegate to the National Republican convention in a Presidential Elector on the Republican ticket in 1860, and a delegate to the peace convention in Washington on February 4, 1861.

He was elected Colonel of the Fourteenth Illinois Volunteers in April, 1861. He accompanied General John C. Fremont in his expedition to Springfield, Mo., and was commissioned Brigadier General of Volunteers, December 20, 1861. He was with General John Pope at the capture of New Madrid and Island No. 10, and afterwards commanded the First Brigade, First Division of the Army of the Mississippi. In November, 1862, he was with Gen-your personal wishes, and would consider it an honor to vote for your nomination. (Signed) "DANIEL G. GRIFFIN."

Cleveland at a late hour sent this answer: "Buzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 2.—Hon. Daniel G. Griffin, Chairman New York Delegation: My judgment and personal inclinations are so unalterably opposed that I cannot for one moment entertain the suggestion. (Signed) "GROVER CLEVELAND."

VERMONT ELECTION.

Republican Plurality of More Than Thirty-nine Thousand.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 2.—Revised returns of yesterday's election from the fourteen counties of the state give Josiah Grout, Rep., 53,976, and Jackson 13,983, a Republican plurality of 39,993.

The Democrats have elected seven representatives in the legislature.

Senator Voorhees Dying.

TERRE HAUTE, Sept. 6.—Senator Voorhees is very ill, and is failing so rapidly that his friends fear he will be unable to take part in the campaign.

JOHN M. PALMER AND SIMON B. BUCKNER, CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT OF THE GOLD DEMOCRACY.

of the blue and gray, were nominated today by the National Democratic Convention for President and Vice-President on a platform which repudiates the doctrine enunciated by the Chicago Convention. Indorses President Cleveland and his administration, declares for the gold standard, tariff for revenue only, liberal shipping laws, currency reform, civil service and economy in public expenditures.

The real work of the convention was soon transacted when it was reached, but the delay in reporting the platform gave opportunity for a series of speeches. The attendance was larger than yesterday. Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, De Witt C. Warner of New York, H. A. Hammond of Georgia, F. W. Lehman of Missouri, W. D. Byrum of Indiana and Comptroller of the Currency Eckels of Illinois were in turn called to the stand.

When the platform was at last brought in, shortly before 2 o'clock, after the convention had been in session three hours, it was read amid great applause, and was adopted unanimously without a word of debate. When the nominees for President were called for it was apparent that Palmer would be nominated over his protest, as the opposition to Bragg had concentrated upon him. These two names were the only ones presented to the convention. It was known that a message from President Cleveland had reached the convention announcing that he could not entertain for a moment the suggestion of his own nomination, and his decision was at once accepted as final.

Before the States were called for nominations Henry Watterson was taken out of the list by Mr. Carroll of Louisiana, who from the platform conveyed to the convention a message from the Kentucky editor in his retreat in the mountains of Switzerland. Mr. Watterson, Mr. Carroll said, four days after the Chicago Convention had called that other candidates must be named or the Democracy was lost. Later he said he did not want the honor, but that if no one else could be found to take command he would not ask others to go where he would not lead. Now that others were ready to accept he preferred to do battle in the ranks.

Illinois waited until all the other States had been called. Then Judge Moran of Chicago took the stage and said they had recognized from the first that Senator Palmer was the man to lead the fight. He was, he said, a platform in himself. All his life he had "fought flatism, greenbacks, free silver and other vagaries." But he sealed the delegates' lips. After seeing the temper of the convention, however, he said, Illinois was compelled to join hands with her sister States in urging his nomination.

The roll-call immediately developed an overwhelming majority in favor of Senator Palmer, but it proceeded to the end. Palmer receiving 757½ votes and Bragg 124½.

On motion of General Bragg the nomination was made unanimous. There was never any doubt about General Buckner's name formally in nomination and the nomination was forthwith made unanimous.

After the convention adjourned Senator Palmer succumbed. He said he would accept. He said he had never yet failed to respond to the call of eral Grant's army in temporary command of a division.

Subsequently he led a division at the battle of Stone River, and for his gallantry there was promoted to Major General of Volunteers, November 29, 1862. He took part in the battle of Chickamauga and led the Fourteenth Corps in the Atlanta campaign from May until September, 1864.

He was Governor of Illinois from 1869 until 1873. He is at present United States Senator from Illinois.

WILL STRENGTHEN M'KINLEY.

Senator Faulkner's Opinion of the Effect of the Ticket.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 3.—Two members of President Cleveland's cabinet, Secretary Carlisle and Secretary Francis, tonight expressed themselves in strong complimentary terms of the nominations of Messrs. Palmer and Buckner by the Indianapolis convention today, and Secretary Lamont incidentally remarked, as to the personality of the nominees, that they were good Democrats. These are the only members of the cabinet at present in Washington City.

Senator Faulkner, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, expressed his views of the nomination in the following words: "I know both gentlemen very well. Senator Palmer is a nice old gentleman. I am fond of him personally; and General Buckner represents the blue blood element, a very fine man in every respect. The only wisdom I can see that the bolting Democrats have exercised in their efforts to build up McKinley's strength, is in selecting two persons to lead a forlorn hope who, in the providence of God, cannot expect any future or present political preferment, or the gratifications of their ambitions."

Bryan Over-Confident.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Chronicle publishes a dispatch from Milwaukee containing an interview with Mr. Bryan, in which he says:

"I feel certain of carrying New York state, and I have never had a doubt about my own state."

Not Satisfactory to All.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The conference committee of democrats and populists, appointed to agree upon a plan of fusion for congressional nominees, finished its labors tonight.

The following nominees were indorsed: First District, Cutler (dem.); second, Devries (dem.); third, English (dem.); fourth, Maguire (dem.); fifth, E. B. Kinne (pop.); sixth, Barlow (pop.); seventh, Cutler (pop.).

Monteth, the populist nominee of the first district; McGlashan, populist of the second; Kelly, democrat of the fifth, and Maddox, democrat of the seventh, will not accept the verdict of the committee and will be independent candidates.

CLEVELAND WAS ASKED.

But Could Not Accept Nomination of Gold Friends.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3.—Daniel Griffin, chairman of the New York delegation last night, wired Mr. Cleveland at Buzzard's Bay as follows: "Hon. Grover Cleveland: There has been manifested an unmistakable desire upon the part of the convention to nominate you for president. The New York delegation is anxious to learn

Fur-bearing animals are becoming so scarce that the feasibility of breeding them is being discussed. It is conceded that Siberia would be the most desirable place for the establishment of farms for this purpose.

Mr. John Burns, M. P., was unintentionally the cause of much merriment in the House of Commons a few days ago when he said: "Since I came into the House, four years ago, the confidence of the public in it has much diminished."

A report emanating from the Department of Agriculture states that the cost of food, drink and drugs annually used by the people of the United States is $6,760,000,000. Of this sum $1,014,000,000 is paid for the frauds and cheats used in adulterations, and $136,000,000 worth of these foreign elements is of such a nature as to be injurious to health.

Insurance company statistics prove that electric lighting, when the wiring is done in accordance with the rules prepared by them, is the safest of all illuminants. They are placed free of charge, taken care of and kept working day and night for $1.00 per month. It's an innovation, but on scientific principles, and appeals to everyone of common sense. The idea is this: The distributor drops two drops a minute, day and night. Foul odors are killed, yet no disagreeable smell of carbolic acid or crude disinfectants takes its place. FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 18, 1896.

Honolulu friends will draw a long breath of satisfaction now that Miss Field's affairs are in a fair way to prompt settlement.

The shock Li Hung Chang experienced when he touched an electric switchboard with his cane, was typical of the shaking up his empire will receive when commercial expansion brings his people in closer contact with western civilization.

The news that there had been "a rent in Hilo" did not cause so much of a sensation as might at first thought be anticipated. Hilo is usually in a perpetual "rent asunder" condition, and it is not so surprising after all that the earth should catch the fever.

The Opposition is trying very hard to make its followers believe that the Minister of Foreign Affairs has not received a letter from Kaimuani accepting the pension voted her by the Legislature. The malcontents are disseminating, as usual, what they know to be untrue.

Miss Ella Hepworth Dixon says that cigarette smoking is greatly on the increase among the well-bred women of England. There might be some difference of opinion in the definition of the term well-bred. If it means good animals without common sense the cigarette smoking women are entitled to be numbered in that class, otherwise some other term should be used.

With Bryan shouting against British gold, and McKinley warning his countrymen against British manufactures, John Bull stands a good chance of being in disfavor wherever the next President of the United States may be. The only thing that seems to be unprotected is the American heiress with millions to exchange for a title. Bryan ought to let Mary Lease loose on this subject and then the jingo policy will be complete.

French journals are loudly proclaiming that Sultan of Turkey has French blood in his veins and is distinctly connected with the Bonaparte family. It is strange that the French should spread this discovery abroad just at this time, although it is reasonable to suppose that they will claim the Sultan got all his blood thirsty traits from his Turkish ancestors. But like Napoleon he stands a good chance of losing his hold upon his empire.

One of the Li Hung Chang's widely copied statements is: "China, Japan and America must settle the bimetallic question." If the United States adopts the silver basis it will be forced into closer friendship for the Orient, notwithstanding Candidate Bryan would probably denounce the suggestion that birds of a feather flock together. The prosperity he proposes to bring to the United States is very much upon the Chinese order of affairs.

In another column is given a scheme for obtaining labor on the coffee plantations, which is now being tried by one of the most enthusiastic and progressive coffee planters on the Islands. We understand that the plan has not gone beyond the experimental stage, but it is sound in the essential features and gives every promise of success. It should be hailed with particular favor, since it contemplates doing away with the contract system and gives the laborers a direct interest in the successful management of the entire plantation. It forecasts a small settlement of sturdy, hardworking families, of which this country stands in need. Let every plantation deal out its lands on this proposition and the coffee planters will come so much nearer the solution of the vexed labor problem.

A writer in the Cornhill Magazine endeavors to create sympathy for the millionaires of the United States by suggesting that the founders of the great fortunes of today started out as poor boys, and the succeeding generations are really not so much to be blamed for the wealth bestowed upon them. Commodore Vanderbilt started as a poor, barefooted boy; the first John Jacob Astor was a common butcher's son; Leland Stanford, Chas. Crocker, Mark Hopkins and Collis P. Huntington were penniless in 1850; Rockefeller and his associates started out comparatively poor, and Jay Gould was a farmer boy and later a dry goods clerk. So far as the early history of these men is concerned it is all right. The simple fact that a man has become wealthy is no sin. The evil rests in the misuse, often criminal misuse, of the power which his millions give him. With few exceptions, the amassing of great wealth leads to a heartless disregard for the welfare of those less fortunate; the crowding out of men of equal ability in order that greater sums may roll into the pockets already overloaded.

Bishop Willis says he didn't know what his pupil, Lytton, had been writing about until the West Plains article was published here, but he remarks by the way that he was surprised that "Mr. Lytton was so accurately posted on Hawaiian history." In other words the Political Bishop puts his pupil on the back and expresses surprise that he should have gained so much from their casual conversations. It seems that the Bishop considers his pupil a very bright boy, and indeed he must be if it was only through casual conversations that he gained such an excellent idea of the opinions held by his teacher. All signs point to the Bishop being the great and only Hawaiian Svengeli, with Pupil Lytton as his Trilby.

While the rumor of the bombardment of Constantinople was like all rumors for which Honolulu is deservedly noted, Lord Salisbury has come to the point where he will demand that the Turkish ruler shall govern his empire with some degree of decency. Late dispatches give promise that the British government will act whether the Powers like it or not, and should this promise be carried out Lord Salisbury will have the support of every man in whose veins runs civilized Anglo-Saxon blood. If interference with the blood thirsty Turk means European war, it is about time the war came on. If the problem were merely one of possession or outlining boundaries the proposition would be quite different, but even bloodshed can excused when it is required to wipe out barbarism of the worst type.

There are many people in Honolulu who will sincerely regret the departure of Rev. T. D. Garvin and wife, notwithstanding they promise to return to their home here in the not far distant future. During his two years' stay in the country Mr. Garvin has shown himself to be a man of ability, and above all a true Christian worker. He came as an evangelist and by quiet, persistent toil has built up a church, which though small now has every promise of continuing its healthy growth until it becomes one of the strong powers for good in Hawaii. In the advocacy of his particular creed, he has not been without some opposition which might have led less conservative men to enter upon a disagreeable religious wrangle. He has pursued the even tenor of his way and gained the high esteem of the whole community.

H. W. Wilson, writing on "The Human Animal in Battle," gives a peculiar twist to the effect which the increased skepticism on the conditions of the hereafter will have upon the future soldier. He says:

"The decay of religion, which is so widespread a feature of our times, has contributed to the downward progress of the individual, by making death more horrible because of the greater uncertainty of the future beyond the grave. The problem is how to implant courage and avoid panic. Courage is simply control of the nerves, and is largely due to the habit of confronting danger. This much is certain, that the future battle will be a severer trial to the nerves than any past encounter. To meet that trial the nerves of the modern civilized man are less fit than they were in the past."

This is certainly a unique proposition.

REGATTA DAY.

It is indeed quite unusual for a people to set apart a national holiday for the athletic fraternity, but the departure which Hawaii has made is at the same time a good one and will have a healthy effect upon the people, who need a little breathing spell after the summer season. When the day was set apart by the Legislature it was hoped the schools would take advantage of the opportunity to inaugurate exercises somewhat similar to those in vogue on Arbor Day in the United States. The schoolmasters in Honolulu, however, seem to be satisfied to give the day over entirely to the boat clubs, who on Saturday—the christening day—will offer the principal attractions. This is all right so far as it goes, but it would be more satisfactory if the teachers would take the same active interest as the athletic clubs.

There can be nothing better for the youth than for the grinding wheels of business to stop once in the year for the particular benefit of the young men who occupy their leisure time in cultivating good, healthy muscle and brawn; and besides, Hawaii needs something to stir up the young blood of the country and keep it out of the ruts into which it too often finds its way. Old and young alike always gain something refreshing and enlivening from honest sporting contests, and although we have no "varsity" crews and record-breaking "phenoms," the country has a sturdy lot of young men of whom it may well be proud, and whose ability should be rewarded by liberal public patronage. The fact that the contestants come from the business houses, where their noses are held to the proverbial grindstone for a good portion of the year, is one of the very good reasons why there should be a "let-up" once in the year for their particular benefit. Then, too, the social life of the community gets shaken out of the conventional ruts which result from isolation and the absence of the diversions other countries offer to avert social and physical stagnation. By giving up one day in the year to the boat club contingent alone nothing is lost, and a great deal may be gained.

REFORM SCHOOL PUNISHMENT.

The disposition of some members of the Board of Education to call for the resignation of Superintendent Needham of the reform school seems altogether ill-advised, unless they are in possession of facts not yet made public. All signs point to gross insubordination on the part of the boys at the school, and the principal complaint appears to be that one of the boys has a blister on his back as the result of a blow from a strap. The blister may be a source of regret for the boy, but when the inmates of an institution attack an officer it is time a blister was raised somewhere. A great many people forget that although reform school boys are little fellows and oftentimes innocent looking creatures, they are by no means angelic in their general demeanor. Moral suasion can be practiced to a certain extent, and should be favored so far as possible. When, however, the best boys in the land are treated to sound spankings as a last resort to curb their superfluous spirit, it is not reasonable to expect that the inmates of a reformatory can be governed without occasional use of the rod.

A system used in many of the reformatories in the States is to allow only the superintendent or his first assistant to administer corporal punishment. This scheme has worked very well in institutions where the inmates do not number over one hundred and fifty to two hundred; if it were in vogue in the larger reformatories the superintendent would degenerate into a spanking machine. When any case of insubordination occurs, the officer in charge reports the matter to the superintendent, who decides upon the punishment and administers it. This prevents any possibility of the abuse of power on the part of the officers directly in charge of the boys. The use of straps is usually forbidden, and the old fashioned schoolmaster's ferrule is deemed sufficient to quell the insubordinate youngster.

In case of an attack upon an officer, similar to that which occurred at the school recently, close confinement and a sound whipping would be the usual treatment. To the thoughtlessly kind hearted this might seem severe; yet if the punishment is given under the direction of a superintendent who is somewhat of a disciplinarian, the result has always proved beneficial.

COFFEE GROWERS SHOULD ORGANIZE.

The Hilo Tribune has come forward with the recommendation for "the organization of the coffee growers" of the Islands for the purpose of grading the coffee through an authorized agent, and putting it on the market in such a way that dealers all over the world will be able to order coffee of a designated grade, and be sure of the quality they will receive." This subject was broached by this paper some time ago, and is certainly a proposition on which all the coffee producers ought to unite in carrying out. Although the industry is quite in its infancy, the time will soon come when the question of marketing the crop will be a live issue. That "there is always a good market for coffee" ought not to produce such a feeling of confidence that the planters will fail to organize and be fully prepared to place the Hawaiian product on the market to the best possible advantage. For every planter to "paddle his own canoe" and let the other fellow take care of himself, the inevitable result must be a gradual loss of prestige which the Hawaiian product now has. Brands of coffee, good, bad and indifferent, may be forced upon the market and the purchaser have comparatively little assurance as to the quality of the coffee he obtains.

Whatever may be the success of the plantations, the time has come when there ought to be an active, healthy national association of coffee planters. A good portion of the men now in the business are learning the lesson as they go. There is comparatively little "coffee literature" obtainable, and it would be a boon to the small pioneer planters for a national association to be formed and its meetings held on somewhat the same plan as the Farmers' Institutes in the United States. An exchange of ideas, an opportunity for those inexperienced in the ways and means of handling the crop and the tree to gain a hint here and there that can be used to practical advantage; all this many planters already feel the need of, and the necessity will become more pressing when the problem becomes not "Will coffee grow?" but "How can the best returns be obtained?"

OLD LINE DEMOCRATS.

The principles of the Gold Democrats have been published to the world, their Presidential candidates named, and the rank and file of the old line Democracy enlisted under the banner of—William McKinley. This is about the manner in which the practical politician will size up the result of the deliberations of the Indianapolis convention. A vote for Palmer and Buckner in the forthcoming election will count for the Republican party, and the selection of the two candidates from the heart of the doubtful Republican section indicates a malice of careful forethought on the part of the campaign managers.

The platform adopted is typical of the Democracy of the past quarter of a century. It condemns Populistic free coinage and the Republican tariff; it stands by the principles of the American constitution and defends time-honored principles of the party; it declares for the gold standard and a reformation in the system of banking. About the only declaration which was anticipated and not made was a plank favoring the submission of the income tax proposition to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment.

The most striking feature about this coterie of men who have organized to fight on principle, but with no hope of winning, is the personality of the two men selected as leaders—John M. Palmer, for four years an officer in the Union army, and Simon B. Buckner, for four years an officer and hard fighter in the Confederate army. They are both old men, the former having just celebrated his 79th birthday, and the latter beyond the three score years and ten limit; yet they are both active men and still prominent in the political life of their respective States and of the nation. It has often been said that if the United States were threatened with foes from without or disaffection within, the men of the North and the South would join hands in the protection of the national honor, and it has remained for the National Democrats to prove it to be true.

There is no possible hope for the election of either of the candidates, although they will undoubtedly poll a large vote. Buckner will draw the Bourbon vote of the South, and Palmer the anti-machine vote of Illinois, thereby increasing the chances for Republican success in Kentucky and Louisiana and giving McKinley good odds on the probability of securing the electoral vote of Illinois. When Buckner headed the Democratic State ticket of Kentucky in 1887 he was elected Governor by 17,000 plurality. This figure was several thousand lower than that usually polled by Democratic candidates, but '87 was classed as an "off year" and the total vote was correspondingly small. Palmer's record in Illinois has been a good one, and in his own State his managers can count more on the complimentary vote and influence of friends who refuse to train with the free silver wing. At either of the candidates will secure a vote in the electoral college is extremely doubtful.

POLITICAL POT BUBBLES.

McKinley seems to be making about as many speeches as Bryan. The only difference is that Bryan has to go about the country hunting audiences, while McKinley's audiences go about the country hunting him.—Oregonian.

A friend informs us that he heard two men discussing the financial question on one of our streets yesterday, and one of them said: "I won't vote for this gold standard. If it wins what will we do for small change?"—Dayton Herald.

One of the best humorous campaign songs yet issued is the following to the tune of "Swim Out, O'Grady":

I am a wondrous craft upon The sea of politics,
And for the sawed-off dollar, sure, I'm putting in big ticks.
My voice is my protector, and The foe I never fear;
For every day my friends all stop To whisper in my ear:

"Swim out, oh Brian!
Swim out, and don't you care; Your metaphors will put you in The Presidential chair.
Just chase the vicious goldbugs, And grab 'em by the hair;
So, swim out, oh, Bryan, Swim out!"

SLOW BUSINESS IN HEALTH BOARD.

Report That Plague Has Abated at Hongkong.

CLEAN BILLS OF HEALTH ISSUED.

Complaints Against Quality of Paial Furnished Settlement—R. A. Lyman of Hilo Resigns an Office—No Action Taken in Hennessy's Resignation—The Usual Reports Filed.

The regular weekly session of the Board of Health yesterday was attended by President Smith, Drs. Wood, Day and Emerson and Messrs. Lansing, Kellipio, Reynolds and Dr. Monsarrat.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Dr. Monsarrat's report on beef cattle was read, as was Fish Inspector Kellipio's on fish, the latter showing 53,000 inspected during the week. Under the Act to Mitigate, the usual number of women were examined. Several withdrew and others were added to the list since last report.

The matter of selling dried fish was discussed from various points of view, and it was decided that Dr. Emerson visit the fish market and investigate the matter with Mr. Kellipio.

The report of the treasurer of the Kapiolani Maternity Home, showing the excellent condition of affairs in the home, was read and filed.

A letter from Medical Examiner Jordan at Hong Kong was read. The doctor stated that owing to the abatement of the plague there he was issuing clean bills of health to vessels departing from that port.

A letter from Superintendent Meyers regarding the quality of paial was read. The complaints, he said, were exaggerated and should be considered with some allowance. The article had not been good, but it had improved since the last report. E. H. Bally, manager of the Hawaiian Fruit and Taro Company, contractors for furnishing the paial, wrote to deny that it was bad, and requested permission to visit the settlement and investigate the complaints. Granted.

The resignation of R. A. Lyman as registrar of births and marriages for South Hilo was read, together with a request that Dr. R. B. Williams be appointed in his place. No action was taken beyond the recommendation that the clerk to the sheriff be given the appointment.

The resignation of Thomas W. Hennessy, clerk to the Board of Health, was read, but no action was taken.

Dr. Campbell of Kanae reported having examined the school children in his district and issued certificates except in two cases.

At the request of Mr. Lansing, chairman of the Insane Asylum Committee, the sum of $300 was appropriated for wiring the asylum building for electric lights.

MR. WHITNEY'S VIEWS.

He Talks on Hawaiian Situation for American Papers.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—H. M. Whitney, for ten years during the Royalist Government Postmaster-General of the Hawaiian Islands, arrived in Seattle tonight from Vancouver, having been a passenger on the steamship Miowera. He reports a strong revival of the annexation feeling on the Islands, and says it is greatly intensified through the belief that should Hawaii be annexed to the United States the threatened Japanese trouble would be entirely wiped out by the abrogation of all existing treaties.

By what is known as the Gibson treaty, entered into with Japan about thirteen years ago, Japanese may pour into the Islands in unlimited numbers. They now number 25,000, and are coming, Whitney stated, at the alarming rate of 2000 a year. He thinks it is only a question of a few years until the Japanese will outnumber the natives and naturalized population, and in that case would cause serious trouble. They are already demanding the right of franchise, which by treaty is conferred upon them as soon as they can read and write the English language. This accomplishment, Whitney says, the wily Japs are rapidly acquiring.

Mr. Whitney resides at Honolulu. He is publisher of the Planters' Monthly, and is also part owner of the Honolulu Gazette and Advertiser.

"Whoever is elected, Bryan or McKinley," Whitney said in conclusion, "the movement to have Hawaii annexed to the United States will be at once renewed in earnest."

MIKE MARU AT SEATTLE.

[Seattle Times.]
With 1,820 tons of flower, 300,000 feet of big stick lumber, several tons of sundry merchandise, consisting of electric machinery, mills and hardware, twenty crates of bicycles and four cabin and twenty steamer passengers, the steamship Mike-Maru sails tomorrow afternoon, Sept. 6, for Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai and Hong Kong. The steamship will be back here for another cargo about the last of November. All was bustle and hurry aboard ship this afternoon. The last of the cargo was going aboard, the ship was taking on fresh water, and there was a general hurrying and scurrying of the crew consequent upon departure. Captain Young was good humored enough to allow visitors aboard, and the crowd persistently kept in the way amidst the hurry and preparation, and at times was in imminent danger of being crushed by the big timbers if the tackle or gearing should give way.

The steamship will not stop at Honolulu on her way home. She made that port on her way over here, and Captain Young said he had 270 passengers, free labor immigrants, and 300 tons of freight for that port. Thirty-five of the passengers were under a three-year contract, but all others were free.

Captain Young says a good many ship's stores were brought here and on the next trip they will buy very largely of flour, canned goods, etc., for the company's stores at Yokohama. The next vessel to come is 50 feet longer than the Mike-Maru, but is withal a smaller vessel.

Mr. James Griffith said today that he did not think he would give out a list of consignors or consignees, because it was giving away the company's business to their competitors. It is already known, though Mr. Griffith did not say so, that agents of the opposition steamship line have already been in Seattle trying to get the facts and figures of the steamship company's first business.

CAMPBELL STANDS FIRM.

Cross Examination Fails to Break His Testimony.

Nothing particularly sensational was developed yesterday in the Winthrop trial, says the Examiner of September 4th. The complaining witness emerged at noon from the cross-fire of Attorney Bell unhurt, and in the afternoon half a dozen witnesses for the prosecution took the stand.

The chief one of these was D. A. Urquhart, the man to whom Winthrop first unfolded his kidnapping scheme. He persistently refused to aid in the abduction of Mr. Campbell, and upon learning that the Hawaiian capitalist was missing, Urquhart immediately told the police of Winthrop's ambition. He saw the prisoner and Campbell together on the afternoon of August 3d. When the old man was reported missing next morning Urquhart called on Detective Curtin and exposed the plot to kidnap.

Attorney Bell devoted the forenoon to the cross-examination of Campbell, using the ropes and chains and some plush furniture from the cottage by way of accessories. Once or twice the lawyer came near tangling the witness, but the man who was kidnapped stood firm on the main points. Witness said he did not see Winthrop and Urquhart together in the Occidental Hotel on Monday, August 3d.

A. A. Brown, a broker living at 2008 Devisadero street, knew Winthrop. On July 28th he loaned the defendant $35 for a period of ten days without interest. Winthrop said he had a scheme to buy a cemetery lot from a man in San Jose and sell it and make some money. The alleged lot was located in San Francisco, but Winthrop had to visit San Jose to make the deal. He had $90 but needed more.

Then Donald Archie Urquhart told what he knew. He had been acquainted with James Campbell for a few months, having met him at the Occidental Hotel. He and Winthrop have been friends for fifteen months.

FOR TRADE WITH HAWAII.

TACOMA, Sept. 2.—The Tacoma Chamber of Commerce will investigate the feasibility of building up a trade with Hawaii through the new Japanese steamship line which has Seattle as its Eastern terminus. The trustees will appoint a committee to investigate the question. It is the intention to bestow as much Hawaiian business upon the Nippon Yusen Kaisha as possible, in return for the favors shown this city by the Japanese Government.

ELEVEN FIREMEN DEAD.

Horrors Resulting From Opera House Conflagration.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 6.—The most horrible holocaust, with the greatest loss of life, known in this part of the State occurred last night, when Yore's Opera House took fire and in the fight to save the building and other blocks adjoining eleven firemen, one a volunteer, met their fate at one time, the deaths being instantaneous with five of them. Six lived only a few hours in awful agony, while several others met with severe injuries.

During the evening the play "A Factory Girl" had been given by local talent, and the theater had closed but a half hour before the fire was discovered. The building was filled from the basement to the fourth story with a suffocating smoke, which burst into sheets of flame throughout the entire audience room, before the fire department could respond with a single stream of water, there being some confusion at the outset owing to the lack of hook and ladder facilities, although the local fire department had closed a two days' tournament, exhibiting great skill in their work.

The St. Joseph department was called on for assistance. They approached the building through an alley, unloading ladders in the rear of the building, and while hoisting them the upper walls fell over without warning, covering the men. This was witnessed by hundreds of spectators.

Explosion at S. A.

MADRID, Sept. 6.—An explosion, heard off the coast near the town of Muros, in the province of Corruana, during the night, is the cause of much excitement and speculation among the inhabitants. It seems evident that a disaster has occurred, as much wreckage is strewn along the coast. It is supposed two vessels collided during the night and foundered. Nothing has been discovered to show the identity of the vessels, nor is it known how great was the loss of life accompanying the catastrophe.

COFFEE GROWING IN OLAH DISTRICT.

Some Doubts as to Results in Higher Altitudes.

TOO MUCH RAIN A DRAWBACK.

Cost of Clearing Land—The Soil of Olah Will Grow Anything Satisfactory Results of Experiments Near Hilo—Sunshine Is Necessary to Get Abundant Crops in Olah.

Ask five men in Olah above seventeen miles about the coffee prospects and three of them will shrug their shoulders and say: "We can't tell much about it; if the crop turns out well we are all right, if not there will be a lot of broken men in the district." The other two will tell you they are on the road to fortune and point over their shoulders to a coffee patch to indicate the way.

As a matter of fact coffee above 12 miles is an experiment. Every authority has been consulted and out of the twenty-five or thirty men who have embarked in the enterprise more than half the number have separate and distinct ways of planting and handling.
A majority of the growers will establish a nursery as soon as sufficient land has been cleared, others consider it a waste of labor and plant direct.
Two years from now the public will be able to judge who made the right guess.

Whether the men who have gone there to cast their lots are successful or not they are entitled to credit and monuments for their abiding faith in a section of country which, to one who is not familiar with the conditions necessary to growing coffee, is dismal beyond expression when it rains. And just here let it be said that dampness prevails in any locality where the average yearly rainfall is 200 inches.
Where land is at all times full of moisture anything will grow and this includes weeds, the bete noir to a coffee plantation owing to the fact that it costs money to keep a tract free from them.

If you ask the owner of a plantation in Olah to permit you to go over his plantation his answer will begin with an anxious gaze at the bottoms of your trousers and the space between the soles and uppers of your shoes. If he detects the slightest trace of seeds on your shoes or clothing he will hand you a whisk broom or shoe brush and tell you to use them. Every seed you carry into his plantation means expense to him in eradicating weeds after the seeds have taken root.

As an owner or overseer leads the way between or across the rows of trees his eye is keen on the lookout for some stray thing that pokes its way up through the earth. When found he pulls it, shakes the earth from the roots and puts the weed into his pocket.
On the return trip he takes you on another course leading past a little spot grown up with the weeds. Here he stops and deposits those he has found, and when after a week or a month the hole is filled with weeds, it is covered with earth and their growth killed.

In some places in Olah the cost of clearing the virgin forest varies, according to the condition of the land, from thirty to fifty dollars an acre, add to this the cost of caring for the trees, keeping them free from "gormandizers," topping and pruning, and it will require a heavy crop to make the investment profitable.

If you suggest to a grower that the soil is too constantly moist to bring forth a good crop he will meet your suggestion by saying that it will produce a luxuriant growth of anything else, consequently it must produce coffee. But few of the people will deny that the soil becomes sour through constant rainfalls and not one will you find, but will admit that it might be better if the land was exposed to a greater amount of sun.

At Mason's plantation, where there are 150 of acres already planted the coffee looks well and the chances of success are as great as anywhere, but even there where the open covers a greater area than anywhere else the sun does not penetrate as much as the average farmer in the United States would ask for his corn. This place is at the 17 mile post; one mile above the point where scientific men will tell you coffee growing can be made profitable. Potatoes grow in abundance in Olah, some of them weigh two or three pounds, but they are not potatoes such as you could recommend to your friends, because they are soggy. Pumpkins and corn grow to an alarming extent. At Pulchers pumpkins weighing eighty and ninety pounds are common but they do not size up well in a Thanksgiving pie. So with the corn.

Ears of corn will measure fourteen inches in length and two inches in diameter but the kernels do not fill out as well as a farmer would wish.
If the coffee men in Olah would make clearings of a dozen acres and grow corn and pumpkins to feed to hogs which they could raise economically, they would run better chances of becoming wealthy than by putting all their eggs in one basket.

Go down below fourteen miles and the enthusiastic coffee grower has the same chance as his Olah neighbor in side speculations and a better one in raising coffee for the simple reason that the average precipitation and rainfall is less than at a higher elevation. The plantation of Eldard, Sr. neglected though it may appear is filled with stocky trees well loaded with berries. A little higher up Wm. Shipman has a place entirely in the open that looks like a garden, inviting in appearance and with good indications for the future. The cost of clearing the land here must certainly be less than further up the road and if properly started, the expense of keeping clean will not be more than half what it is in Olah.

At eleven miles, and adjoining the plantation of Mr. Shipman, is the small plot of Peter Lee of Volcano House fame. This gentleman has 27 acres planted in the open and in a measure exposed to the wind, and objection which may be overcome at any time by making a windbreak of strawberry guava or banana trees. The owner paid, by contract, $21.30 per acre for clearing, holing, filling and planting and the holes were 18 inches wide and the same number deep. He has today three men taking care of the 27 acres and this includes weeding, and whatever else may be necessary, at a cost of $2 per acre per month.

Mr. Lee has adopted different methods from most coffee men in that he uses a Planet Jr. cultivator, treating his field in exactly the same manner as the Eastern farmer does his field of corn. The character of his soil is adapted to it and without the cultivator the expense would have been much greater and with less satisfactory results. The average days work in hand weeding is one hundred trees, with a cultivator Mr. Lee has cleaned five rows on land never before cultivated.
This shows that he may do in five hours with his cultivator what would require 15 men one entire day to accomplish.

There seems to be no doubt that the constant stirring of the soil, exposing it to sunlight must be conducive to good results. It keeps it free from weeds and adds strength and life to the trees. As a protection to the lateral roots, Mr. Lee has placed around each tree three or four pieces of fern trunks, the action of the weather during the first three years will cause these to rot and become capital fertilizer, and at the end of that time the weeds will be killed off.

If by any chance, however, occasional weeds should spring up after the trees have assumed a growth that will interfere with the working of the cultivator they may be easily removed by hand at a comparatively slight cost.
Mr. Lee's coffee trees average 14 months since planting and range in height from 4 feet to 5 feet 6 inches the lowest and poorest being in a patch of an acre where he adopted the Kona method of ferning between the trees, a plan which is satisfactory in Kona where bright sunshine is the rule rather than the exception and where artificial means are necessary to retain the moisture around the trees.

At the present rate Mr. Lee estimates the cost of his trees at the expiration of five years to be $33.20 per acre. For the same period in certain parts of Olah the cost may run fifty per cent. above this for reason that the soil is not adapted to the use of the cultivator and weeding must be done entirely by hand.

A PREACHER'S VIEW.

Rev. J. Q. A. Henry Says Bryan Should be Buried Deep.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—The Rev. J. Q.
A. Henry, pastor of the La Salle-avenue Baptist Church, and formerly of San Francisco, will inaugurate next Sunday evening a series of sermons on the issues of the Presidential campaign. Dr. Henry says he is alive to the serious nature of the Populist free-silver frenzy which threatens national honor and credit, and considers it the plain duty of ministers of the gospel, as Christian patriots to present to their congregations the truth as they see it after a careful study of the financial questions which are agitating the public.

"I believe that the surest way to bury Bryan so deep that he will never be heard of again is for the 140,000 ministers of the country to preach from the pulpits their convictions on this great issue," said the Rev. Mr.
Henry today.

"I have been in California, in Colorado, and but lately through the East, where I have conferred with many ministers on this subject, and I have yet to find the first one not in favor of sound money."

LI HUNG CHANG TALKS RELIGION.

The Golden Rule Practically the Same in China.

FINDING OF DOCTOR NANSEN.

Discovered on an Ice Floe by Mr. Jackson—Is Now on North Coast of Norway—Salinas Best Sugar Factory—Site Selected There.
Record of a Gold Democrat in Brief.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—At the conclusion of the dinner given in honor of Li Hung Chang last evening, Mr.
Foster made a few remarks expressing the great pleasure of the company at Li's visit to the United States and regretting that his public and urgent duties made his stay so short. The viceroys responded as follows:

"In acknowledging the hospitality extended to me by my old friends, the Hon. J. W. Foster, I have to thank him for according me an opportunity before my departure from the capital of this country to renew once more the sincere expression of my gratitude and thankfulness to the American government and citizens for the welcome and reception offered to me as the representative of my august master, the emperor of China, and the personification of the Chinese empire. Since the establishment of our treaty relations there have been evidences of good fellowship between our countries, but all the evidences, I dare say, have now been eclipsed by the cordiality and warmth displayed by the American government and citizens in my welcome."

"Though I regret that my time does not allow me to make as long a sojourn in this country as I wish, in order to appreciate more fully the accomplishment and the progress of the United States of America as a nation, I cannot help, during my brief visit here, being struck and impressed by the liberty and freedom enjoyed by the people; by the welfare and prosperity in the agricultural, industrial and commercial pursuits, by the characteristics of their classical, historical, philosophical and poetical literature; by the manner of application of the scientific discoveries and inventions for promoting the happiness of mankind, and by the display of their artistic taste in the architecture of the buildings, the sculpture and painting of historical figures and facts which my old friend, Hon.
John W. Foster, has been kind enough to show me. These impressions I will carry home, not only as augmentations to my store of knowledge of the fruits of western modern civilization, but as the means of enlightening the millions I represent, facilitating the introduction of these very means and ends of civilization into China, and amalgamating the old civilization of the extreme west."

"I have only one word to add, that the Hon. J. W. Foster, in his manifold abilities, has to me rendered most valuable assistance in China's most critical moments. America, whether as a government or as an individual, is to China a friend in need, so he is to her a friend indeed. So, gentlemen, I propose a toast to a friend to China—John W. Foster."

Practically Li Hung Chang took his leave of the western republic as the sun set this evening. The party left the Arlington hotel at about half past five o'clock under an escort of cavalry, and went directly to the Pennsylvania depot. Ex-Secretary Foster accompanied Li Hung Chang to the train, where he said farewell. Gen. Ruger, with his staff, will escort the viceroys to the limits of the United States. At six o'clock a start was made for Niagara Falls, where the Canadian representatives will meet them.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—Sir Henri Joly left last night to meet Li Hung Chang at Niagara Falls. The Chinese envoy is expected to reach there on Monday.
He will be received by a salute of nineteen guns and a guard of honor. Sir Henri will accompany the Chinese viceroys as far as North Bay, and Dr.
Horsely will from that point represent the government, seeing Li Hung Chang on board the steamer at Vancouver.
No. 4 battery of Hamilton, under the command of Maj. Hendri, has been ordered to Niagara Falls to salute Li Hung Chang on his arrival. The battery will be accompanied by 100 men from the Thirteenth regiment, who will act as a guard of honor. The regimental band will accompany the detail.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 7.— Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning the Chinese ambassador, Li Hung Chang, left the United States through the door by which so many of his countrymen legally and illegally enter the country—the suspension bridge. He raveled on a special Canadian Pacific train which had been brought to this side (the first ever brought into the United States in this way) especially for Earl Li's convenience. The train will arrive at Toronto this afternoon, where an attempt will be made to induce Li to appear at the Toronto exhibition, but the wily old diplomat, who avoids crowds when he can, is not likely to accept the invitation. As his purpose now is to get to the Pacific coast as rapidly as is consistent with safety, he will make most of his inspection of Canada from the car windows.

LI AND MISSIONARIES.

Compares Christianity Favorably With Confucianism.

In reply to the address from the American Missionary Society, Viceroy Li Hung Chang said:

"In the name of my august master, the Emperor of China, I beg to tender you his best thanks for your approval and appreciation of the protection afforded to the American missionaries in China."

"What we have done, and the little we have done on our part, is nothing but the duties of our Government, while the missionaries, as you have so ably expressed it, have not sought for pecuniary gains at the hands of our people.
They have not been secret emmissaries of diplomatic schemes; their insults have no political significance. And last but not least, if I might be permitted to add, they have not interfered with our usurped rights to the territorial authorities."

"In a philosophical point of view, as far as I have been enabled to appreciate, Christianity does not differ much from Confucianism, as the Golden Rule is expressed in a positive form in one, while it is expressed in the negative form in the other. Logically speaking, whether these two forms of expressing the same truth cover exactly the same ground or not, I leave to the investigation of those who have more philosophical tastes."

"It is at present enough to conclude that there exists not much difference between the wise sayings of the two greatest teachers in the foundations of which the whole structure of the two systems of morality are built."

EXPLORER NANSEN.

Rusticating on an Ice Floe, When Found by Explorer Jackson.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Mr. Henry Fisher, botanical curator to University College museum, Nottingham, and botanist of the F. J. Jackson and A. C. W.
Farnsworth Arctic expedition, now entering upon its second winter upon Franz Josef land, reached Gravesend, England, on Saturday with four companions, by the expedition supply steamer Windward, which landed Dr.
Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, at Vardo Island in the extreme northern part of Norway on August 13. In an interview today Mr. Fisher furnished further details of the two parties in the ice, and a letter from Mr. Jackson just received throws additional light upon this interesting chapter in Northern exploration.

Mr. Fisher said: On June 17, we had just finished dinner in our quarters at Cape Flora when suddenly Lt. Albert Armitage, our astronomer, put his head in the window and shouted: "How many of you are here? I see a man on the ice floe."

Mr. Jackson arose and said: "Whoever it is I am off." We then scrambled for our telescopes and Lieut. Armitage and I, who had good glasses, suggested that the stranger was Dr. Nansen. By the time Mr. Jackson met the stranger they looked like two specks in the distance. After watching the stranger still more carefully we definitely concluded that he must be Dr. Nansen.

Mr. Jackson's letter is addressed to Mr. Farnsworth and continues: Hearing that someone had been seen on the ice, I started to meet him. I saw a man on the pack ice southeast of Cape Flora, and a second person further off.
I fired several shots to attract their attention and, after an hour's wait, we met the man on a ski and concluded he was a Norwegian walrus hunter who had come to grief somewhere.
Approaching nearer we noticed that he was as black as a stoker, and that from head to foot his clothes were covered with grease. We shook hands warmly, and then the following conversation ensued:

Mr. Jackson: "I am awfully glad to see you."

The Stranger: "So I am to see you."

Mr. Jackson: "Have you a ship here?"

Stranger: "No, my ship is not here."

Mr. Jackson: "How many are there?"

Stranger: "I have one companion in the distance, there."

Turning this time, I was looking steadily in his face, and in spite of his long black hair and smoky black skin I thought he was Dr. Nansen whom I had known in London. So I exclaimed:
"Are you not Dr. Nansen?"

"Yes, I am Nansen," was the reply.

"By Jove, I am really awfully glad to see you."

Then we shook hands still more heartily. "I thank you very much," said Dr. Nansen; "it is very kind of you."

When we reached headquarters it was midnight, but as light as noon.
After Dr. Nansen and his companion (Lieut. Schott-Nansen) had a bath, were shaved and had their hair cut, our photographer took their pictures and they dined with us. Our dinner was a great success. To Dr. Nansen's astonishment we had roast loon, peas and other vegetables, jam tart, cheese, preserves and port, sherry and whisky.

Mr. Jackson also sent by the Windward a resume of his diary, kept during the past year, and maps of his which entirely alter the geography of Franz Josef land. He has discovered a great sea where the map of Payer, the Austrian explorer, shows land.

This sea which Mr. Jackson has named Queen Victoria sea, he thinks extends without a break from about seventy miles north of his winter quarters to within three degrees of the Pole, and is considered by far the most important body of water yet discovered in these parts. Mr. Jackson also writes:

"A long channel through which we passed from Tiso to Queen Victoria sea I named the British channel. Its chief arms are Clements and Markham channels, Allen Young sound and Robert Peel sound. To this sea I look as my most favorable route in 1897, when the sun returns in the spring."

"The mapping of Franz Josef land is practically complete and nothing should prevent my attempting its open water, or crust of ice, as the case may be."

"I gave Mr. Nansen tracings of my maps and his route south as his watches ran down and he was unable to establish his position correctly. Until he saw my map of last year he supposed that no one had been there before him."

SIMON BOLIVAR BUCKNER.

Sketch of Life of Gold Democrat Nominee for Vice-President.

Simon Bolivar Buckner, the nominee of the gold wing of the Democratic party for Vice President of the United States, is by birth a Kentuckian and is now in his seventy-fourth year. He is one of the most prominent and most respected sons of the South. His career has been an eventful one. Being graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1844, he entered the Second United States Infantry and from August, 1845 until May, 1846, was assistant professor of ethics at West Point. He made a gallant record in the Mexican war, being brevetted first lieutenant for heroic conduct at Contreras and Churubusco, where he was wounded, and captain for his bravery at Molino del Rey. From August, 1848, until March, 1855, he was assistant instructor of infantry tactics at West Point, resigning to become superintendent of construction of the Chicago custom house. In the same year, 1855, he was chosen as colonel of an expedition against Mormons and Indians in Utah, but not mustered into service.
He then practiced law and became one of the most prominent of the Knights of the Golden Circle in Kentucky.

After the Civil War began he was made commander of the State Guard of Kentucky and adjutant general of the State. September 12, 1861, he issued an address to the people of the Blue Grass State, calling upon them to take up arms against what he called the "usurpation" of Abraham Lincoln, and immediately afterwards he occupied Bowling Green. After the capture of Fort Henry he evacuated the place and withdrew to Fort Donelson, where he commanded a brigade in the battles of February 13, 14 and 15, 1862. He remained here after his superior officers, Generals Floyd and Pillow, had fled, and on February 16 surrendered to General Grant with 16,000 prisoners and vast stores.

He was imprisoned at Fort Warren, Boston, until exchange in August, 1862. He subsequently commanded the first division of General Hardee's corps in Bragg's army in Tennessee.
Later he was made a major-general, and was in the battle of Murfreesboro and Chickamauga, surrendering with Kirby Smith's army to Osterhaus, at Baton Rouge, May 26, 1865. General Buckner's first wife was a daughter of Major Kingsbury.

General Buckner was one of the pallbearers at the funeral of General Ulysses S. Grant, the man to whom he surrendered his sword at Fort Donel-son. In 1884, when Grant's fortune was wiped out through the infamous schemes of Ferdinand Ward in a New York banking-house, Buckner was one of the first to proffer aid. Grant was bankrupt, and Buckner without delay telegraphed the famous old commander to draw on him for $20,000 without security. As $20,000 was the extent of Buckner's fortune at the time, the sacrifice he was willing to make bespoke him every inch a man worthy of Grant's friendship and honor. During the war Buckner was regarded as a hard fighter, a strict disciplinarian and an honorable, conscientious man. He was moved always by his sense of right and justice.
No one questioned his sincerity of purpose, and if he erred it was an error of judgment.

In 1887 Buckner was elected Governor of Kentucky. In the convention that nominated him a question arose as to his age and vigor. While these matters were being discussed General Buckner arose, and the assemblage gave ear to him.

"Gentlemen of the convention," said the veteran of the lost cause, "I desire to be excused for a while. My object is domestic; I want to run down to the house and see the wife and the new babies."

That brought down the house. The discussion was killed right there. The storm of enthusiasm which buried the opposition swept General Buckner into the nomination, and nomination then on the Democratic ticket in Kentucky meant election.

SALINA'S BEET-SUGAR FACTORY Claus Spreckels selects site for Big Establishment.

SALINAS, Cal., Sept. 3.—Claus Spreckels has been in town several days trying to select suitable grounds for the beet-sugar factory which he intends to erect here. W. Jonas of San Jose accompanies him. Many tracts of land were looked at and a decision made, but the site will not be made public for several days. The acreage, which had to be pledged to Mr. Spreckels for the raising of suga-rbeets is all contracted for and the plant will soon be commenced.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.

"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then scores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." Mrs.

COOPERATION IN COFFEE FIELDS.

Progressive Planter Presents a New Scheme.

HIS FORM OF AGREEMENT.

Portuguese Families to be Employed—Lots Apportioned Out to Them—Children Can Work and go to School—Share in Profits.
Land for Raising Vegetables for Family.

(Communicated.)

After the coffee planter has cleared and planted his land, the subsequent work of weeding and picking is so light and simple in character that it can be performed by women and children. The writer has already two families employed, consisting of two men, two women and four children. A saving in the cost of weeding of about 30 per cent has been effected thereby.

These families were contracted for in Japan through Messrs. H. Hackfeld & Co. As the time for engaging them was limited, small families only could be secured, but a much larger number of children per family can be engaged without trouble. As these children will attend school, the contract should specify the number of hours of labor per week that the children are to perform, and the wages should be proportionate to the age of the children; boys should be paid more than girls. At first sight the absence of children at school seems a disadvantage, but it is quite the contrary, for vacations can be arranged so that the children can work longer hours during the picking season, work being provided thus at other times for twice the number of children than would be required if they did not attend school. The contract should specify that days when there is no school the children should remain longer hours in the field.

Another advantage to the planter will be that families once established will be less inclined to leave the plantation, after their contracts have expired, than single men would be under the same circumstances.

A plan, however, which embodies the co-operative system of work, and that seems superior to the above, is about being instituted by the writer on the following lines: It is proposed to divide the plantation into two equal portions, one portion to be cultivated by the planter, one portion to be subdivided into tracts of eleven acres each, and on each of these tracts a Portuguese family to be established. After consulting with some of the more prominent Portuguese of Honolulu, as well as with families who were anxious to establish themselves in the country, the following memorandum of agreement was drawn up as a basis for a contract:

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT.

For the sake of brevity we will speak of the owner of the land as A and the tenant as B.

A will make a contract with B for 20 years, B to have the privilege of renewing the contract for 10 years more at the same rates.

A will furnish B with 10 acres of good coffee land, will build a good packing trail to same, and will construct a house on same, 16x16, iron roof, grass sides, board floor, two windows, one door.

In addition A will give to B without charge the use of such land as he may require for the cultivation of vegetables and feed for cow and pig, not to exceed one acre; B to agree to keep such land free from weeds at all times.

A will advance to B money at the rate of $10 for 26 days' work, advances to be made monthly, B to repay the same to A with interest at 8 per cent as soon as the coffee pays more than $20 per acre per annum.

B and family to labor diligently until all 10 acres are planted with coffee, and this coffee must be kept clear from weeds at all times. Coffee to be planted 5x6 feet, topped at 4 feet. Said coffee must also be pruned and cultivated in such manner as A may direct, it being understood that such methods of cultivation are such as the best practice demands.

A to furnish B with puerary plants for 2 acres and to furnish seed coffee for nursery to plant balance of 8 acres. All without charge.

B may keep 1 cow, 1 pig and chickens and ducks, but no other live stock. The same shall at all times be kept in an enclosure not to exceed 40x40. Such other live stock as B may own to be pastured on land that does not belong to A.

B not to enter upon or disturb land other than that before mentioned that he cultivates.

B to provide his own tools excepting 1 6-foot saw, which A will loan without charge, B to pay for the same if it be lost or broken.

B to gather crop and deliver one-fourth of the same in the cherry to A the day that it is picked, at some point that A may designate, not more than one mile from house of B. Should the share of A be worth more than $25 after it is cleaned, for each acre, ($250 for 10 acres), then such excess in value shall be returned to B.

B's interest not to be assignable, except by A's permission; in case of B's death, B's interest to revert to B's wife.

If B neglects to cultivate his holding properly, then A shall have the cultivation done at B's expense. Any deliberate neglect on the part of B to cultivate his land to render this contract null and void.

Should B desire to work on plantation of A, A will furnish work for B by contract at a fair price, to be mutually agreed upon. And provided B agrees to work for A a stated number of days each week, then B shall have the preference, for any work that A may have.

If B is unable to agree to work a stated number of days per week, A will, so far as he is able, furnish B with work on the plantation of A.

Should A desire the services of B, A is to have the preference, provided that A pays as high wages as B can obtain for a similar class of work elsewhere.

All tenants must be married, must have at least three children, and must come recommended by the Portuguese Benevolent Society, the recommendation to be countersigned by the Portuguese Minister.

By B is meant not only the tenant but all members of his family that may reside with him, excepting clause in which possibility of death of B is considered.

Through a contract of this kind the coffee planter will have at hand a large force of labor of the highest class. The Portuguese are natural agriculturists. All of the products of their homes in the Azores proves this; and one has but to visit their homes on the suburbs of Honolulu to have a practical demonstration of this fact. The proposition is an equitable one, even if the coffee planter were to cultivate his entire acreage under a contract of this kind. But this plan gives him an abundance of cheap child labor that will be available at all times. The pruning and handling of the trees, the carpenter and mason work, the teaming and mill work can be done by the men. Every employee will do his utmost to bring the plantation to the highest state of bearing; he will study the experiments of his employer with interest, and he will give to his employer the benefit of his experience on his own place. Should this country be annexed to the United States there will be no disturbance through the abolishment of the contract labor system, for the laborers would be bound to the planter by the strongest tie, viz., that of self-interest.

It is not within the province of this article to discuss this question from the standpoint of the political economist, but it means the establishment, on the soil for all time, of a class of intelligent, law-abiding tillers of the soil, who can earn sufficient to support themselves in comfort.

This is not a scheme that will work itself out without considerable effort on the part of the coffee planter. He must see to it himself that his people are well housed, well cared for and that they be made comfortable in every respect. He must look for some ingratitude, some discontent and some idleness on the part of his tenants. If, however, he uses great care in selecting his employees, and if he demonstrates to them that he considers them something else other than animals, he will find his interest reciprocated, and a feeling of good will towards him will be established that will go far toward increasing the profits of his business.

ONLY LITTLE AT A TIME.

There are sound objections to one's knowing too much of his own body. I am going to tell you what they are; not to-day, but soon. To make sure of them you will have to watch these articles sharply in the newspapers. Yet we should know a little; and a fraction of that little I will serve up now. Please favour me with your attention.

Right across the middle of the body is a large, thin, flat muscle, stretched like a canvas awning—the diaphragm. By it you are divided into two large storeys or compartments. The upper one contains the heart and lungs, the lower one contains (chiefly) the stomach, the intestines, and the liver. The most painful (internal) diseases occur downstairs, the least painful upstairs.

The entire right side of the lower compartment, from the top down to the short ribs, is filled by the liver, which is suspended to a mere point of the diaphragm and shakes about with every movement you make.

Now, from the location of the liver we have a word used for ages to express one of the most unhappy conditions a human being can fall into—the word hypochondria (often abbreviated to "hypo"), the word meaning under the cartilages.

"For seven years," writes a correspondent, "I suffered from complaint of the liver. I was very bilious, my skin was sallow and dry, and the whites of my eyes yellow. I had much pain and weight at my right side, and was constantly depressed and melancholy. It seemed to be out of my power to take a hopeful or cheerful view of anything. The effect of this complaint on the mind was one of the aspects of it hardest to bear."

"I had lost my natural appetite and ate to support life; but there was no more any genuine relish for food or drink. The bad taste in my mouth made all that I took taste bad. Sometimes I would be taken sick and throw up all I had eaten; and after a meal, no matter how slender and simple, I was troubled with fullness and pain at the chest. I used many kinds of medicines, and while some of them may have relieved me for the moment, none conferred any lasting benefit, and I was soon as bad as ever."

"In March, 1892, I read in a small book of what Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup had done in cases similar to mine, and was especially interested in the account given in the book of the nature and duties of the liver, and its disorders. I got a bottle of the Syrup from Boots' Drug Stores, and after taking it a few days I felt quite like a new man. It seemed to correct my stomach and liver and clear my system of all bile; and I felt as in capital health. Since that time I have kept Mother Seigel's Syrup in the house as a family medicine and have recommended it to all my friends as the best known cure for ailments like the one from which I suffered so miserably and so long. You can use this statement as you like. (Signed) John Gent, 59 Coventry road, Bulwell, Nottingham, March 21, 1895."

"In the spring of 1891," writes another, "I found myself in bad health. I had no appetite, and the little I did eat did me no good, gave me no strength. I had great pain and weight at the chest and right side, and my skin turned sallow and dry. My kidneys also acted badly, and from time to time I had attacks of gravel, and cold, clammy, weakening sweats broke out all over me. Being only seventeen years old when the trouble began, I was greatly alarmed and anxious. No doctor was able to help me, and I continued thus for over three years. In June, 1894, I began to use Mother Seigel's Syrup and soon felt better, lighter and more cheerful. And by taking it a few weeks longer I recovered my health and strength. Since then, when I have any stomach, liver or kidney symptoms I resort to Mother Seigel's Syrup, and it never fails to set me right. You can publish this letter. (Signed) C. Hanson, 6 New Inn Lane, Gloucester, May 31st, 1895."

The stomach, the liver and the kidneys are all connected parts of the food and digestive system. When disordered (usually through torpidity of the stomach) they cripple the body and throw a gloom as of night over the mind. On the earliest signs of anything wrong with them use Mother Seigel's Syrup at once.

Superintendent Needham of the Reform School Explains.

WHY A REFORM BOY WAS WHIPPED

Naughty Little Boys are Trounced With Straps and Buckles—No Blame Attached—The Board Suggested—Teachers' Salaries Will be Increased—Inspectors' Report.

The Board of Education met in regular weekly session yesterday afternoon with the following present: President H. E. Cooper, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. E. W. Jordan, H. S. Townsend, J. F. Scott, Professor Alexander and W. A. Bowen.

Inspector General Townsend reported that he had received complaints from the Reform School relating to the mistreatment of a Portuguese boy, Ah Foo, now at that institution. The boy had been brought up by a Chinaman and had been put into the Reform School for truancy. Kaiolo, one of the native guards, had beaten the boy with a strap, and a suppurated sore was the result. Mr. Townsend recommended that Kaiolo be dismissed at once.

Principal Needham, who had been invited before the Board, was asked to make a statement regarding the matter.

"I am only too glad," said Mr. Needham, "to have a chance to address the Board. I must say in beginning my remarks that Ah Foo is a tough character. Several times he has been known to show defiance to the regulations of the institution. The other day Ah Foo and two other boys were caught throwing balls against the wall. Now this is against the regulations, on account of the great number of window panes that have been broken. The boys showed defiance to Kaiolo when told to desist, and each received one blow apiece."

"I want to say right here that there is no other way to control those boys at the institution. They will set themselves together and defy authority. They must be punished on the spot and no other way will do. I have put them on bread and water and have had them in irons and shackles until they have begged to get out, but none of these modes of punishment have done any good. It is very seldom we have to strike a boy. Kaiolo has orders to make the boys mind."

"You must remember that the roughs of all the islands are at the Reform School, and the same methods that are used to control boys in an ordinary school cannot be brought into play. They would have no effect at all."

Mr. Needham then told of the trouble Mr. Brightwell, the new teacher, had had with the boys. The latter had been out for drill and when this was over Mr. Brightwell told some of the boys to take the drum in, but did not remain to see that his instructions were carried out, as should be done in every case.

There was soon a great noise on the outside, and upon Mr. Brightwell going out upon the veranda of the school room he saw the boys wrangling over the drum and kicking it about over the grounds. Kaiolo was called on to stop the noise, but would not, saying that he was afraid to use the strap, he having understood from Mr. Townsend that that mode of punishment would not be allowed. Mahakoa, another guard, was also standing in the gateway, but he likewise refused to obey.

Another instance was given. It was during reading class, and one of the boys had refused to read. Mr. Brightwell used the strap and the boy began. When he got as far as the teacher wanted him to go, and when the boy was told to stop, he would not. He was given the strap again. At this stage of the game one of the larger boys, who had been there but a few days, jumped up and clinched with Mr. Brightwell. A general scramble and the room was vacated. The boys climbed over the fence and began to throw slates and other articles at Mr. Brightwell. I telephoned to the Marshal for an officer, and now it remains to be seen what the Marshal will do about the matter.

There are many things that crop up at the Reform School that no one except a person who has lived right there can know anything about. I would be continually fighting if I were to haul up every boy for every offense committed.

"As to the question of punishing Ah Foo, I think the action of Kaiolo was perfectly right. Yes, there was a blister, but there was no mauling. No one has been hurt out there, and the hurt in this case was only skin-deep. The kind of punishment that Kaiolo administered was necessary."

J. F. Scott—I have nothing against the necessity of corporal punishment, but I do object to cruelty such as Kaiolo was guilty of.

Mr. Needham—I don't think so; I think it was necessary.

Mr. Scott went on to say that when Mr. Abernathy was taking the place of Mr. Needham during the latter's absence he made a complaint against Kaiolo, saying that he was a brutal old chap. Mr. Scott furthermore stated that Kaiolo in the case of Ah Foo had used the buckle end of the strap, and that the buckle had raised the blister.

Mr. Needham—It seems to me that if the boys had been hurt by Kaiolo they would have reported the matter to me. I have never seen or heard anything of it.

Minister Cooper—Three boys were treated to the strap at the same time by Kaiolo, and only one got a blister. It seems to me that that is a point in the luna's favor.

Mr. Needham—I will say this for the boys at the Reform School: They are better than the same class of white boys at other institutions of the kind.

Mrs. Dillingham—Would the solution of the problem not be in furnishing the boys with more work?

Mr. Needham—That is just what I have been fighting for ever since I have been at the institution. A small shed with tools for the manufacture of shoes or other articles would accomplish a vast amount of good.

Just here Minister Cooper said that he thought it would be a very short time before work of some kind would be furnished the boys.

After this Mr. Needham retired, and there was immediately a colloquy on the use of the rod, or more properly speaking, the strap.

Action on the matter was deferred until investigation had been made. Minister Cooper will act with the Inspector and Deputy Inspector Generals. Inspector General Townsend then made the following report on proposed increase of salaries:

"The average aggregate of monthly salaries for the first eight months of the current year has been $14,760.69. But it is evident that this is smaller than the average for the whole period would have been without changing the teaching force at all, since many truant officers, janitors and night-school teachers have drawn no salaries during one-fourth of the time elapsed."

"I think it would be barely safe to take $15,000 a month as a basis for calculation. Reducing this to an annual aggregate, as nearly all salaries are annual, we have $180,000 as the approximate annual expenditure with the old force at the old salaries."

"But changes and increases of salaries thus far made have increased the pay roll at the rate of $7,640, making the total annual pay roll approximately $187,640. The unexpended balance of the appropriation for this purpose is $265,496.46, or $159,459.84 a year."

"Deducting the present pay roll, we have $11,819.84. From this sum the following teachers must be paid: An assistant at Alae, one at Honaunau, one at Kealahou, one at Waipio, one at Hilo Select School, one teacher at Kamao, two at Makaweli, two at Kahuku, two in the practice school, and one assistant in the training school."

"A safe estimate of these salaries is $7,780. Deducting this from the annual balance of the appropriation above present pay roll, we have $4,039 available for the payment of any additional teachers required, and for possible increases in salaries. As this is only a little over 2 per cent of the annual pay roll, it is evident that the utmost care must be exercised in its expenditure."

"At present there are six teachers in the employ of the Department whose salaries do not equal the rate established for beginners. These, it would seem, ought to be dealt with first. Two of these are engaged in very small schools."

"The other desirable and possible increases of salaries are less easy to determine. It is evident that only a few of the most urgent cases can be acted upon at present."

"It should be borne in mind that other members of the force will probably receive better certificates than they now have, and should accordingly receive advances in salaries. But on the other hand, a number of teachers here provided for will not be on the pay roll for some months yet, thus reducing the expenditure."

This report was accepted by the Board with the raises in salary of each of the individual cases mentioned therein.

J. F. Scott reported that there had been 108 people who took the recent examinations. Of this number 62 passed for primary grade certificates and 9 for grammar school certificates. This is an unusually large number.

Saw Ghosts.

"Immediately after the earthquake a woman was seen to run across the courtyard yard and disappear while running. Whether she was a ghost or some other kind of mystery, no one seems to know. Just as she got about the middle of the yard three more dressed in the same manner were seen running in the opposite direction along Front street. This remarkable occurrence was witnessed by many people. It may be that these apparitions were some of Pele's delegates."

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Before many days have passed Paris will possess yet another market, a market for bicycles to be inaugurated. The place which has been chosen for it is the present horse market. An order from M. De Selves, the prefect of police, was posted in the horse market authorizing the holding there of a public market of bicycles. It would be curious to know the opinion of the horse dealers on the subject. A track will be put at the service of those who may wish to try the machines. Perhaps before many years have passed the horse market days will be surrendered to autocrats. At any rate the present innovation seems a step toward it.

CONTRACT FOR NEW CHURCH.

Social Club Gives Pleasant Evening's Amusement—Schools Opened With Full Attendance Pledge to Stop Fast Riding—Dr. Wetmore Leaves for a Vacation—Personal Notes.

HILO (Hawaii), Sept. 14.—Precisely at 5 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) morning the slumberers throughout the island of Hawaii were suddenly aroused by a most severe cradling, caused by such a quaking of the earth as has not been experienced here for many years—some say not since the terrific shocks of '68. The oscillation seemed almost north and south and the shock was greater toward Hamakua than in the direction of Kilauea. In Kona the shake was steady and severe, but no damage resulted. There was no perceptible disturbance in the crater, and at the Volcano House the shock was less severe than at Hilo. On the premises of H. C. Austin and on Jail and Front streets earth cracks are gaping open an inch or more. Probably the greatest damage resulted in the Hilo drug store on Front street. Dozens of bottles of patent medicines were precipitated to the floor and emptied of their contents. Other losses make the damage from $150 to $200 there. At the Laupahoehoe water works there was considerable damage caused by land slides, and the water supply was cut off. Necessary repairs were affected during the day. The roads throughout North Hilo are partly blocked, owing to numerous land slides, and on many bluffs great rocks stand ready to fall off. For two or three days past the weather has indicated the coming of earthquakes, and until yesterday afternoon no rain had fallen for several days.

Saturday was an ideal day for a beach picnic, and a large number of Hiloites, together with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. King of Honolulu, Mrs. Julian Monsarrat of Kapaala Ranch, and others, enjoyed an outing on Coconut Island and at Kanehe.

The Hilo Social Club was entertained in a most unique and charming manner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Baldwin on Thursday evening, the 2d inst. The young men were inveigled into a mending and sewing contest and were kept busily at it under the vigilant inspection of the ladies present until it was decided that none of them could trim ladies' hats, and that all would be better off if they had some one to do their mending and sewing. Guessing the representative figures as they sat, squatted or lay around with only eyes and tips of noses exposed, engaged the young folks for some time. Mr. Rowland and Dr. Elliot won first prizes for having guessed the greatest number correctly.

Miss Helen Severance gave a picnic on Coconut Island on Saturday last, complimentary to Miss Guild. Only a few friends were invited.

All the schools reopened on Monday morning with a full attendance. The select school under Mrs. McStay numbers about thirty pupils. The German Kindergarten under Miss Byer opens tomorrow in the new building on Church street.

Now that the schools have begun, and in consequence the children are up and down Waiianue street several times a day, the police should exercise more surveillance over the furious riders on that thoroughfare. There are boys who ride to and from school at the hours when most of the children are on the way, who make it a practice to spur their horses just after passing the Court House, and everything must fly before them. There is altogether too much fast riding around town. Not two weeks ago a little girl sent on an errand was badly hurt by a "fery" steed that could not be stopped before prancing on the little girl's foot. The young man kindly carried the little sufferer home and offered the doctor's services for the child.

Mr. Helbush, the "Hilo Express" man, was seriously injured a few days ago by a kick from an untrained horse which he was driving. His right leg was fractured in two places and he was otherwise hurt, so that it will be some time before he will be able to serve his patrons.

While Superintendent Grant of the electric light works was superintending the erection of a pole on Front street one of his laborers weakened and the pole fell to earth, striking a donkey on the head and killing it instantly.

The Riverside blacksmith shop is undergoing a complete change in appearance, the old building disappearing and a new one 75 feet deep with a 40-foot frontage taking its place. This is to accommodate the wagon making department as well as the blacksmithing. Mr. Vauvatta has renovated and rebuilt the old Dunn residence on King street for occupancy of his family shortly.

The base ball game of the week was played Saturday afternoon, and resulted in the Hilos defeating the Holomuaas—the game standing 25 to 9.

A meeting of the trustees of the First Foreign Church was held last week to consider bids presented for the erection of the new church. The bids were as follows: G. W. Lincoln, $11,975; H. S.

Pratt, $9,475; Robert Howie, $8,437. Mr. Pratt's bid was accepted. A clock tower, sacred to the memory of the donor's deceased wife, will be added to the building through the generosity of Dr. J. H. Wetmore. It is to have four dials, properly lighted at night, and arranged to strike the hours.

Mail service has been excellent this week. The Coptic's mail arrived by the Hall and came overland so as to reach Hilo within a few days after arrival in Honolulu. The Australia's mail of the 4th, and the Rio Janeiro's mail of the 10th did not delay a day in Honolulu, but were dispatched as quickly as possible.

G. W. A. Hapia has received his re-appointment as district judge for Hilo. E. N. Holmes has been confined to his home for several days with an attack of grippe.

The schooner Allen A. Schaaq master, left port in ballast for Puget Sound last Sunday morning.

The police court has been extremely busy for the past two weeks, more particularly with trying opium cases. Several large hauls have been made and the fines paid aggregate a considerable sum.

Mrs. Reed, who has been visiting Mrs. Lydgate at Laupahoehoe and Mrs. Forbes at Kukuhihale, for some months, returned on the last Kinau.

Mrs. Foster Davis of Honolulu is the guest of Mrs. Frank Smith at the home of Sheriff Hitchcock.

Miss McGregor, sister of Mrs. J. R. Wilson, returns to Honolulu today. J. A. Martin, an old and respected kamaaina of Hilo, goes to Honolulu to enter the Queen's Hospital. His health has been failing for some time.

Mrs. N. C. Willifong and child spent a week at the Volcano House.

Dr. Moore, Dr. Hutchinson and Howard Hitchcock returned from a two week's trip through Puna.

Dr. Francis Wetmore leaves today en route to San Francisco and the Eastern States for a much needed vacation, not having been away for nine years, during which time she has been active in practice constantly.

NEW STEAMER OF THE INTER-ISLAND COMPANY.

(Reproduced from the San Francisco Call.)

The hull of another steamer for the Hawaiian Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company arrived from Port Blakeley last Wednesday, says the San Francisco Call of September 4. When completed she will run between Honolulu and the volcano on the island of Hawaii, and should the expectations of her builder be realized her speed will exceed thirteen knots.

The new steamer is schooner-rigged and is named James Spiers, after the well-known member of the firm of Hinckley, Spiers & Hayes (the Fulton Iron Works), which is now completing the vessel's machinery. The name is only a temporary one, however, and was given because she was built in America, flew the American flag, and had to be named before she could make a voyage. Once she arrives at Honolulu the name will be changed, and, like all the Inter-Island boats, she will probably receive a Kanaka name.

The James Spiers, as she lies off the China basin, presents a very pretty model. She carries very little sail, but, nevertheless, she was able to more than hold her own with the schooner Oceania Vance in the run from the Sound. She is 195 feet over all, 34 feet beam and 15 feet deep. She will be fitted out at the Fulton Iron Works, and when completed will be a credit to San Francisco workmanship. There will be accommodations for seventy-five cabin passengers, and the quarters will be on the upper deck. The cabins will be finished in white enamel, and the cabin furnishings will be luxurious.

Captain McAllister, who brought the Spiers from Puget Sound, says she is one of the smartest vessels he ever sailed in. He is confident that under steam she will beat thirteen knots.

Captain Godfrey, the president, and A. W. Keech, the engineer, of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, are both in San Francisco and will take the James Spiers to Honolulu. This makes the eighth vessel that Hall Bros. have built for the island company, and another is now on the ways. The last one sent to the islands was the Ke Au Hou, which has proved to be a splendid sea boat and a fast one.

When the Spiers is completed, under the personal supervision of Messrs. Godfrey and Keech, she will have her trial trip, and if successful she will at once start for the Paradise of the Pacific with a party of Hawaiians.

The only other member of her crew that has as yet been engaged is Captain Duncan, late of the missionary schooner Morning Star. He will go to the islands on her as first mate.

Captain Hall of Hall Bros. is quite proud of the new vessel, and he should be, as she is as pretty a model as has passed through the Golden Gate in many a day.

COURT NOTES.

New Trial Ordered in the Case of Woodward.

A unanimous decision by the Supreme Court in the appeal of Eddie Woodward from the conviction in the Circuit Court was handed down yesterday, ordering the case back to the Circuit Court for retrial. This is done owing to the erroneous instructions by ex-Judge Magoon, who was at that time on the bench.

Friday, October 16, is set for proving the will of the late Juliette M. Cooke. The estate is valued at $91,246. Of this amount $24,200 is in real estate.

Hoshina's motion for a new trial has been overruled by Judge Perry. Attorney Robertson filed exceptions to the ruling and the case will be argued before the Supreme Court.

Dr. D. McLennan, by his attorneys, Thurston & Stanley, has filed an answer denying every allegation made by H. Leonard in a damage suit.

J. K. Smith et al., defendants in equity suit brought by Kaloa Sugar Company, have been given until September 1 to plead, answer or demur.

From Pitcairn.

Miss Rosalind Young, of Pitcairn Island, arrived on the Mariposa from Samoa, and will spend about two weeks in town. Miss Young is a descendant of the mutineers of the Bounty, who settled on Pitcairn Island 106 years ago, and is the author of a little work, "The Story of Pitcairn," which has been circulated to some extent in this city. She is in poor health, and goes to America to take medical treatment.
