LEWIS' BONELESS BREAKFAST
Bacon is the finest in the world. Nothing equals it in mildness of cure and delicacy of flavor. When sliced to perfection, nicely cooked and daintily served it fairly "melts in the mouth," and is so much superior to other brands that there is absolutely no comparison. A moment's time and a chafing dish will convince you.

THIS BACON
being sliced thinner and more evenly than is possible in the ordinary household, giving more slices to the pound, and there being absolutely no waste, is really AN ECONOMY, AS WELL AS A LUXURY. In key-opening tins of one-half and one pound each.
Order a pound box from us, we guarantee you will be pleased with it.

England Again Changing the Map of Europe and Possibly Elsewhere.

In every diplomatic move made by the British Government it seems that there is always something of mystery—something that is withheld for the time and made public when least expected. This applies to Lord Salisbury's recent announcement that he has effected an arrangement with France by which England is to cede to that country the Channel Islands. The mystery not yet unfolded, is as to what England is to receive in compensation, because England makes no concessions or concessions without ample reimbursement.

The announcement has created as much surprise as that which preceded the surrender of the North Sea Island of Heligoland to Germany six years ago. But in that case, although Heligoland commanded the mouth of the River Elbe and therefore would have been a menace to Germany in event of war, the island was of practically no commercial value to England. Nevertheless England secured by the transfer valuable territorial concessions on the eastern coast of Africa, including the recognition of a British protectorate over the island of Zanzibar.

All sorts of conjectures are possible regarding England's compensation for the Channel Islands, but the popular belief is that in return for them France will recognize the English possession of Egypt. This, it is said, will enable Lord Salisbury to transform the Nile country into a de jure dependency of England. It is France that has prevented this in past times, just as Germany, before the Heligoland exchange, prevented England's protectorate over Zanzibar. Such recognition by France means practically that the time when British domain shall extend from Alexandria to Cape Town in one unbroken strip has been brought much nearer. Before this strip is complete, however, Great Britain will have to treat with Portugal for Delagoa Bay and the Portuguese possessions on the eastern coast of Africa.

As the Channel Islands have belonged to England for nearly a thousand years, since the Norman conquest, it is but natural that there should be a hue-and-cry when they are surrendered to France. But these islands, as was the case with Heligoland, are an expense to England instead of being of commercial value, and ethnologically and geographically they are French, just as Heligoland is German.

While France will doubtless be overjoyed at the acquisition, there will probably be many objections. Owing to the proximity of the islands to the French coast they have for years and years been the hastily sought resort of those who had offended the French Government. Victor Hugo, after being exiled by Napoleon III., there wrote some of his greatest works, and General Boulanger and other members of the Commune insurrection also sought shelter among the islands.

With the settlement of the transfer this will be the fourth surrender of British territory since Queen Victoria ascended the throne. The first was that of the Ionian Islands to Greece in 1862; the second, that of the Crown Colony, now known as the Transvaal, to the Boers in 1881 and 1883, and the third that of Heligoland. A recent writer has suggested the possibility of England's restoring Gibraltar to Spain in the near future in exchange for the more important strategic point on the other side of the straits.—The Illustrated American.

Residing in Honolulu.

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1896.

A REMINISCENCE.

It is a warm day, atmospherically, but it was a warmer one, politically seven years ago to-day, when Robert Wilcox and his corps of dissentients temporarily assumed control of the Government Building, and forcibly forbade the entrance to the Chief Justice, the Judges, the Ministers of the Kingdom and their clerical assistants to the building.

THE INDEPENDENT recalls the fact to prove that malcontents in armed revolution will be squelched by volunteers, and not by hired soldiery. Among the men who aided to suppress the mistaken rebellion were not only the President of the Republic of Hawaii but those politically in opposition to him. The President's rifle, it is asserted claimed two deaths out of the seven, eight or nine Hawaiians who fell.

Many suggestions were made at the time of the motives of the abortive insurrection, and subsequent investigations, carelessly conducted, never ascertained the truth. It has since been ascertained by those competent to express an opinion that the unfortunate experimenters in revolution possessed information that the hybrid-American element intended to carry out the program they have recently consummated.

For a year or two after the lamentable event the Hawaiians decorated the graves of their "Martyrs" It is understood that the custom has been discontinued.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Advertiser states that weddings are almost epidemic in Honolulu. Our contemporary forgets that this is leap year.

The "Woman in Black" is being worn threadbare. Give us a rest on that topic. Not many months ago one of the most notorious of the alleged male detectives of the Government assumed feminine garb to ply his vocation. He was detected by the simple trick of throwing him something to catch in his lap. He caught it as a man in such a garb does, and not as a woman would. His name thereafter was "Dennis Mud" among his associates and those he was attempting to spy upon.

Truly, this is a "funny little republic." Mr. Dole created a military establishment of the patriots of 1887 and 1893, then imports one of Uncle Sam's Colonels to take charge of them, then employs a detective to watch them. Is anybody else being watched?

The Advertiser's interview with Kauhai, an alleged opium smoker, bears internal evidence of the same vivid imagination that inspires too much of that papers news.

The Alalaua are in the harbor again and our rulers are wondering who of them is to be taken.

For wise public spirit commend us to Wm. G. Irwin and the Spreckels family. The rebuilding of the Opera House marks a desire in the owners of the building to do something for the community at large that is deserving of praise, and of emulation on the part of other men who have made their money in these islands. As an investment the returns in dollars and cents would not justify the expenditure; but as a means for increasing the enjoyment of all classes of people, it will be a grand success.

Another instance of a desire to create enjoyment is the refitting of the interior of the bank of Claus Spreckels & Co. The tired man of affairs who enters that place of business finds positive satisfaction in everything that the eye encounters, and has an incentive to improve his own surrounding both at home and in office.

In the new deal that is being passed around the governments of the world, it is not impossible that Hawaii may be affected in the course of a few years, unless it proves itself substantial enough to preserve its autonomy.

THE INDEPENDENT has received so many contributions in regard to the A. P. A. in Honolulu and elsewhere that it has decided to wait until the Mariposa arrives before publishing any of them. Having expressed the opinions of the writers of THE INDEPENDENT against the organization this paper will wait until it makes the attack a vital and fatal one.

On our first page we reprint an article from The Illustrated American, evidently rebashed from the PALL MALL GAZETTE and TRUTH. It is interesting enough to republish in this country as showing the progressive methods of the Salisbury, Balfour, and Chamberlain cabinets in dealing with Foreign Powers and aiming at Imperial federation in view of the Armageddon of battle that will most surely follow on the death of Queen Victoria.

But the statement must be accepted with reservations. The aim and ambition of Europe is to control the power of the United States, and afterwards to settle their own private disputes. It is not impossible that Russia and England may agree to arrange the Oriental and European questions between themselves irrespective of allies and surface disagreements. The world, now-a-days, is devoted to commercial not warlike movements and England's gold and Russian developments in the Orient will make the countries laved by the Pacific the future rulers of the world.

Japan will not be an unimportant factor in this contest, and England thoroughly appreciates this fact. In her schemes of consolidation and centralization she is again preparing to face the world in arms, and is sacrificing possibly useless outposts for more advantageous grounds. The control of Egypt is worth more than the Channel Islands. The cession of Gibraltar will take place when Constantinople passes into the hands of the Austrians or Greeks.

Perhaps our malihini contemporaries will remember that to-morrow is the anniversary of the Thomas Square episode of some fifty odd years ago. Hunt up, brethren of the press, the written labors of Alexander, Fornander, Gulick and Thrum and let our new-comers know something about a very memorable incident. To hide the past to obscure the present is not always advisable.

The large amount of cash realized at the auction sale of the Ehlers stock seems to indicate that the vital commodity is not so scarce as people represent it to be. The purchasers were to a great extent Hawaiians. Women are auction fiends and will buy any article needed or not needed if it can be had at a bargain. Where the cash came from will remain a mystery the solution of which would be of special interest to bill-collectors and store keepers.

It is refreshing to see the Advertiser praising the people of New York for sending corrupt politicians to jail. "There are plenty more at large who need the same treatment McKane has received," says the virtuous organ of the Castles. Where, by the way, would the Advertiser's friends in Honolulu have been, if, during the Legislature of 1892, the Hawaiian authorities had followed the praiseworthy example of New York? Oahu Jail would have more distinguished guests and several pews in the Central Union Church would be vacant. The Advertiser should avoid slippery topics in its editorial columns.

Mr. Lum Wing Yin has sent a petition endorsed by a number of prominent Chinese merchants to the president of the Board of Education asking permission to open a school for instruction in the Chinese language. The secretary of the Board has been instructed to inform Mr. Lum that he will not be allowed to open such a school unless the instruction is confined to children within the school age. The public is somewhat puzzled over this remarkable decision of Minister Cooper. If the schools which teach English to Asiatics were closed the Minister would deserve the credit and such an action would justly be commended by all who have the future of Hawaii at heart. To forbid a Chinaman to teach the Chinese language to his countrymen seems arbitrary, absurd and unjust to the ordinary man. We hope the Minister will see fit to explain.

Our essentially American contemporaries are very unkind to their co-citizens. Perhaps they tell the truth from experience. We pass by the P. C. A. and quote from the Star. "The American heart and soul have changed. They have become sordid and elodded." Perhaps the kindest remarks on Kate Field came from THE INDEPENDENT which felt that she died in a sense of duty for a lost cause. Had she lived to write her book, after her paid engagement to the syndicate had been discharged, our Hawaiians would have loved her and revered her memory. Upon the honor and integrity of the persons who possess her later manuscript will remain Kate Field's reputation.

Dr. McLennan Honored.

On Tuesday evening, the members of Court Camoes, Ancient Order of Foresters, bid farewell and God-speed to Dr. Donald McLennan a charter member of the lodge for which he has acted as a physician in a most satisfactory manner.

The doctor will shortly leave for Rarotonga where he will make his home and the Foresters desired to show their appreciation of his services, both as a physician and a brother, before the genial doctor embarks for the South Sea. The hall of the lodge was beautifully decorated with greens and flags and after the arrival of the guest of honor, Mr. J. Collaco, on behalf of a committee appointed for the purpose presented the doctor with a handsome cane of kou wood headed with a gold mounted boar's tusk. The cane bears the following inscription: "Presented to Dr. D. McLennan by members of Camoes Lodge, No. 8110, A. O. F., Honolulu, July 28th, 1896."

In presenting the cane Mr. Collaco made the following address:

To DR. DONALD McLENNAN,

Dear Sir and Brother:—We, members of Court Camoes, take this opportunity to express our deep regret at your early departure from Honolulu, and at the same time we wish to convey to you our heartiest good wishes for your future happiness and prosperity in your new home. In doing so we would like to assure you that it is not only as a member of the Court that you will be missed by us, but as a friend also. By your unfailing kindness and geniality you have won the hearts of all of us. As member and physician of this Court, you have been untiring and attentive; as a friend, always kind and charitable. It is our wish to present you with a memento and we hope you will accept this gold-headed cane of local workmanship, as a souvenir of our friendship and brotherhood. In bidding you farewell we would join the names of Mrs. McLennan and the other members of your family in this Godspeed. Respectfully ours in U. B. and C.

J. P. P. COLLACO,
A. H. R. VIEIRA, } Com.
J. P. DIAS,

The doctor responded in appropriate language and later in the evening joined the brethren in a sumptuous spread.

Curious Coincidence.

The decision of a Courtmartial at Chatham, England, with reference to a charge of desertion against two R. Engineers named Butchart was promulgated recently. They were each sentenced to 28 days' hard labour. It was stated at the inquiry that prisoners were born on the same day, commenced going to school together, started work together, enlisted in the Army together, deserted together, were arrested together, and tried by Courtmartial together.

Horrible Accident.

Whilst the fourth heat of the half-mile cycle handicap was being run at Grimsby Cyclists' Club Sports, one of the riders fell and brought down 3 others, including Mat. Brown the local champion. The latter was fearfully mangled, and his skull fractured, death being almost instantaneous. The terrible tragedy created widespread sorrow, and the sports were at once stopped.

At a recent wedding in America, the "Wedding March" was whistled by 12 girl friends of the bride.

Timely Topics.

Honolulu, July 27, 1896.

When the wonderful New Process Blue Flame Oil Stove was introduced to your notice by us, we scarcely anticipated the success that has followed its introduction.

We felt assured, most undoubtedly, that the public trials by ladies of repute, had attracted the attention of economical housewives and the friends of pure and perfect cooking through an odorless burner, with a maximum of heat and a minimum of danger.

We did not expect, however, that our stock would have been sold out so soon in the view of the competition of business rivals, but that is the fact.

But merit speaks for itself, and people must have clean food, irrespective of religious and political debates. Fortunately for you—to us it is almost a matter of indifference—our principals have sent us just what you want.

We can now offer you just what you require, No. 106 with the oven arrangement for $25; or there is No. 105, including the oven for $22.50. These are perfect stoves. There is ten pounds difference in the weight, the one being 140 lbs., and the other 130lbs., but for the "cooking made easy," there is very little choice between them except in details of neatness, convenience and embellishment.

It is well to remember that there are three desiderata in these stoves, a pure blue odorless flame, perfect safety and the use of the ordinary kerosene oil. We can add to these the cleanliness of the stove and the small amount of labor required to keep it in perfect order.

There are two little incidents attached to these stoves that will attract the attention of domestic cooks, and one is the "New Process" toaster. Even if you don't possess one of our stoves it will be found extremely useful to toast or broil. The other is the "New Process" Ventilated broiler, which retains all the juices in the meat and will change a tough steak or outlet into a tender one without the hatchet or the rolling pin.

Call and examine these things for yourself. Perhaps, we have other matters that we can whisper to you about.

After a wild goose chase he was located and late last night turned over to Superintendent Cutler and returned to the Asylum.

The Board of Health.

The Board met yesterday and cleared up certain routine business. President Smith was present.

The Loper Settlement is to have a bath house and a shed at the landing, and the details were left to Mr. Meyers and Dr. Oliver.

On the subject of vaccination Dr. Howard wanted explicit instructions as to how far he should go in the matter of examination of the children. The doctor described his method, and it was suggested that under the circumstances it might be well to have a lady physician to examine the girls. Dr. Howard said that the certificate he was asked to sign regarding the health of the children made it necessary for him to give a closer examination of the bodies of children than he was allowed to give by the parents and teachers.

President Smith thought it was getting off the track to talk about health certificates when the subject of discussion was really vaccination. He believed from what he saw while away that dependence could be placed in vaccination, and that the children should all be treated.

Dr. Wood suggested that as vaccination was not compulsory under the law, the only way to reach the children was to keep them out of school unless they were vaccinated. There is no way to compel adults to be vaccinated except by making a law to that effect, but he doubted the constitutionality of such a law.

The Board of Education.

The Board met in open session yesterday afternoon, there being present Minister of Public Instruction H. E. Cooper, president; Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. Jordan, H. S. Townsend, J. F. Scott and Wm. A. Bowen, and the Secretary Dr. Rodgers.

Upon the suggestion of the Inspector-General it was decided to reopen the Government School at Halawa, and also to open a school at Mauna.

The Board considered the application of Lum Wing Ying to start a school for Chinese to be educated in the Chinese language, and decided that permission could not be granted to him unless he desired to educate children who were within the school age fixed by the Board.

Applications for positions as teachers were received from Mrs. M. S. Goddard, Miss M. S. Venight and Miss Rosalie Rasmussen. Referred to the Committee on Teachers.

It was announced that the contract to build the four-room school house in Honolulu had been awarded to Mr. Heuss for the sum of $2,885.

Fire at Lucas' Mill

Lucas' Mill had a narrow escape last night. Mr. Keech happening to pass by the business portion of the building about mid-night noticed something that made him think there was a fire inside. He investigated and called the night watchman of Wilder & Co. to see if he was right in his suspicions, and the alarm was promptly turned in and as promptly responded to by the Fire Department. The fire which was in the rear portion of the business office was quickly extinguished, and the damage done is practically nominal. Except for its early and accidental discovery the fire might have been much more serious.

Married Last Night.

Miss Akana Jones was married to Captain Peterson, the genial commander of the James Makee, last evening at the residence of her father at Robello Lane, Rev. H. H. Parker officiated. A Distillery Broken Up.

Detective Kaspa and several other officers made their sudden appearance in Palolo valley yesterday and succeeded in surprising the notorious moonshiner, Kaeha, who was found asleep and promptly arrested.

Kaeha has been "wanted" by the police for some time, but he has so far been able to avoid falling into their hands. Finally his vigilance was slackened and his capture was the result.

Nine hogsheds of okolehao made from ti root and ten demijohns were found by the detectives.

Kaeha has evidently been doing his business on a large scale and the closing of his distillery will probably cause a rise in the price of the natives' favorite beverage.

The "manufacturer" was sleeping with a loaded rifle in his right hand, and was undoubtedly prepared to resist arrest.

He was arraigned before Judge Wilcox this morning and plead guilty to a charge of distilling alcoholic liquors. The Judge sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 and to be imprisoned for three months.

The Birthplace of Wilberforce.

The house in which W. Wilberforce, the slave emancipator, was born, at Hull, in 1759, was this week sold by auction for $10,000. The mansion, a quaint Dutch-looking house, with a coped wall in front and a central gateway, is visited annually by thousands of visitors, especially Americans; and it is no unusual sight to see bands of negroes travelling via Hull to visit the place. Efforts were made to secure it to the town by means of public subscriptions, but the scheme fell through, and the premises will now be utilized as warehouses.

W.W. DIMOND'S

This is hot weather, food spoiling weather, unless the proper attention is given to refrigerator suggestions. There's all sorts of devices for keeping food fresh, good, bad or indifferent. Some of the named refrigerators are no better than dry goods boxes; the lining is not right and the system of draught and air circulation is defective.

In the United States there were complaints against the Gurney, complaints we had not heard of here. When we were at the Coast a few weeks ago, we took the trouble to investigate and learned that the objections were all right, but they were against the Gurney Challenge refrigerator and not the Gurney Cleanable.

We sell the Cleanable, were appointed sole agents for the Hawaiian Islands and we don't sell any other. The Gurney Cleanable is lined with mineral wool, the greatest non-conductor known to science; the Gurney Challenge is lined with charcoal and is a cheap combination that is unserviceable.

Foods are easily kept sweet and appetizing with a right refrigerator to help your Summer health which is easier kept than regained. There are many refrigerators, some excellent ones but none equal the Gurney Cleanable. Profits are forgotten when we sell them.

DON'T FORGET.

DON'T forget that the quality of the leather in a harness regulates more than anything else its wearing properties. You cannot expect poor leather to wear well. Harnesses made from the best leather will look well and wear well, as only the best leather can wear. A harness that always looks well, without much attention, and does not need frequent repairs

IS THE HARNESS.

A Curious Custom.

A curious custom was observed at Leighton Buzzard this week, in accordance with the will of Mr. Edward Wilkes, a London merchant, who died in 1646, and was the founder of ten almshouses, and the giver of other public benefactions. The trustees of the charity annually on Rogation Monday meet in the morning and, accompanied by the town crier and a band of boys carrying green boughs, beat the boundaries of the parish at various points, on their way halting at the various properties from which the almshouse endowment fund is derived, and at these spots, as required by the eccentric founder, the will of Mr. Wilkes is read, while one of the boys

STANDING ON HIS HEAD.

The perambulation over, plum-rolls are given to the boys. Until recent years these rolls, with a half-pint of beer to each recipient, used to be given in front of the chief hotel in the town. The trustees of the charity, the widow occupants of the almshouses, and the town crier in the evening dined together. A special fee is awarded to ensure that a sermon in memory of Mr. Wilkes is preached by the vicar in the parish church each year.

Revolting Brutality.
SCENE AT AN EXECUTION.

A scene of revolting brutality occurred at Constantine (Algeria) at the execution of an Arab, named Ahmed, who was sentenced to death for the murder of a small shopkeeper at Biskra. Just before arriving at the scaffold, the convict threw himself on the ground, and then struggled as violently as his bonds would permit to prevent the executioners from raising him again. At last with the help of several soldiers, they lifted him up and threw him on to the sliding panel, and fixed his neck with the collar ready for the fall of the knife. By a great effort, he wriggled himself free, and shrieked with horror as the attendants endeavored to force his head into position again. He struggled like a madman to release his body, but his strength soon gave out, and he was rendered almost unconscious by a violent blow in the face. This stopped his resistance, and his head was quickly got into the collar by pulling at his ears. The knife then fell, and he was beheaded.

A Cry for Free Bread.

The latest cry of the Parisian Socialists is for free bread. The Municipal Council of the gay city has already acquired a reputation for sham altruism and hair-brained collectivism, and it is not safe, therefore, to predict that this newest socialistic chimera will not receive its support. One of the members of this rapidly "advanced" body has initiated the "reform." He and his followers demand that the State should undertake to supply bread in the same way as it supplies primary education. A subsidized Workman's Association is first to be formed, the duty of which will be to undertake the supply and distribution of the necessary crust, and by and by, when public opinion become educated up to the Socialist level, the business is to be conducted by a regular Department of State. Such is the scheme put forward by M. Brousse, which will, in due course, be discussed by the Municipal Council. The result will be interesting.

Terrible Explosion in W. Africa.

Mail advices from the Niger concerning the terrible explosion at Bida state that it was caused by gunpowder, some 1000 kegs of which were stored in the arsenal of the Emir of Nupe. The Emir is a powerful ruler, who has recently succeeded the late Emir Malaki. The arsenal was an iron building close to the palace. The reports received at the seaboard estimated the number of lives lost by the disaster at 1000, but this figure coming from native sources is probably much exaggerated. The Emir escaped. He is well-disposed towards Great Britain, and gave a cordial reception to Bishop Tugwell, when he visited Bida recently.
