THE Daily Bulletin

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, But established for the benefit of all.

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 12, 1890.

Whoever instigated Hawaiian exclusion in Samoa, the pretext in all probability was precaution against leprosy. If King Malietoa was led to believe that there was danger of the scourge from this quarter, surely nobody here can find any fault with him for his action. As a matter of fact there is something like a panic about leprosy in Samoa, caused by the development of one fatal case and others reported.

SHAMEFUL NEGLECT.

One of the good results of the fire of April, 1886, which destroyed the greater part of Chinatown, was the opening of new streets, and the widening and extension of old ones. The Government of the day embraced the opportunity presented, and prohibited the erection of buildings in the devastated district until the new lines of streets had been marked. Bethel, Nuuanu, King, Maunakea, Smith, and Hotel streets were widened, and the latter two extended. A new street was opened parallel with Maunakea street, and about midway between it and the King street bridge. Another new street was opened from Smith street to the Nuuanu stream, at right angles with Beretania street. It has been recently extended at the east end, to connect with Nuuanu street, and Smith street has been widened at its upper end, near its junction with Beretania street.

All these widenings, extensions, and new streets are admitted to have been needed, and therefore the cost of the necessary land, etc., a proper expenditure. Not only was public convenience to be served thereby, but the public health was still more deeply concerned. That portion of the town, for the most part, was densely populated, and the openings were too few and narrow for a sufficient circulation of air to maintain a healthful condition. More lungs were needed, and the Government acted properly in providing them; but the Government has neglected to put them into a proper breathing condition and herein has failed of its duty.

Bethel, King, and Nuuanu streets, and a portion of Hotel street have had some attention; but all the others remain as they were. Old streets that have been widened still show the embankments towards the outer sides, where the old lines of building existed; and the new streets are full of pits and banks, dangerous to travel. There is no drainage, and it is next to impossible to maintain cleanliness in some places. The water stands in pools, and the masses of putrifying garbage emit pestilential malaria. That portion of street recently opened, between Nuuanu and Smith streets, is a quagmire and rubbish hole. Talk of such places as conveniences for travel and business, and auxiliaries to health! They are positively traps of danger and nurseries of disease—disease, the germs of which may be scattered from there to all parts of the town. Honolulu is better without such lungs as belch forth nothing but noxious odors, the seeds of death.

The part of the town of which we are speaking is a glaring shame, a visible disgrace to the department of government charged with the care of public thoroughfares. Not a single stroke, except the pulling down of shanties, has been done on those streets by the present Administration during its nearly three years of office. The land owners and dwellers in that neglected region have paid their taxes year after year, and walked patiently and dumbly until now for the Government to do something in return; and still they wait. What have they done that they should be so signally slighted? They are blamed for the filthy state of their streets, a state which they cannot help. How can thoroughfares with such uneven surfaces, and not the faintest apology for drainage, be otherwise?

It may not have been within the means of the Government to have thoroughly made and macadamized all the streets named. Nor was this expected. But what the BULLETIN suggested years ago could have been done then, as a beginning, and can be done now, at trifling cost. It is this: Grade: fill up the pits with the banks; round up the centre with earth from the outer sides, thus creating drainage from the centre and opening channels for the escape of water; pack with the steamroller. This would make good fair-weather roads, and obviate the principal disabilities that now exist. Macadamizing could follow at a more convenient season.

KING MALIETOA.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The acidity resulting from the reactionary bile of the recent ill-digested defeat of the party, whom the young "scrub" of the P. C. Advertiser could not pull through is seen once in a while. I am sorry that the life of one so young should be nipped in the bud, as it were, by such a "nightmare reminiscence" as a defeat after such heroic efforts on the part of said "scrub." I would suggest that the young "scrub" put himself "under heavy bonds" to give his mud-thrower a rest; as, at the rate he has been seavengering, he will bury his poor defunct party clean out of sight.

J. E. BISH.

JUSTICE.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Though only a recent arrival I cannot refrain from penning a few lines to you on the above subject. In a recent issue I notice the opinion of your police magistrate re the enormity of the offense of drunkenness compared to that of assault and battery. A "drunk" is fined $6 (this appears to be the usual fine) and another man for assaulting his wife only pays $3 and $2 costs or $5 in all. In my country (Australia), a "drunk" is fined probably $5, (or $1.25) for the first offense, while those concerned in assault are seldom allowed the option of a fine, but are sentenced to terms of imprisonment from one month to five years or more, according to the enormity of the offense. A "drunkard" is not always a criminal, but a man capable of committing assault and battery (especially on a female) is, I think, more entitled to the epithet, and should be dealt with accordingly.

VICTOR.

LET THE DEAD DOG LIE.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—In this morning's Advertiser X X utters another wail over the lost cause. There is so much of clerical cant about it that a fellow is almost impelled to throw Bible at him and say, "Verily, thou hast been weighed," etc.

Something always reminds the pious maworm of a "story," and this one is by X X:

"It has been said that in the early days of the mission in these Islands, a Chinaman who had picked up a little English in the course of his migrations, called upon a missionary who asked him if he had ever heard of God, and his claims on mankind. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'worship God, worship devil, allee same.'"

If ever a Chinaman was in this yarn, it would prove him to have been a keen observer: that is, provided that the elect of the "early days of the mission" were anything like some of them are in these latter days. Paul, the great apostle, once wrote of a certain set of professed believers and said, "their god is their belly." Possibly this was an exaggerated expression; and the Chinaman, who was probably ignorant of the Westminster Confession or even the Shorter Catechism, might have intended to convey his impression of the relative moral value—in practice—of the gods of China and Boston.

"And lo! Like a lot of unreasoning sheep, the Hawaiian again turns to and elects the teacher of perjury and some of the very men whose corruption led to the Reform movement which they so substantially endorsed but two years previously."

Rather over two years, brother! long enough as a political courtship to see if we could "hitch." "And lo," we did ascend by the Boulevard Thurlston to the top of Mount Punchbowl and whiteman and kanaka did look down and behold doings not expected at the period of conjunction in 1887. And lo! some of the Reform family have built them a new house. And lo! what are you going to do about it? And lo! why art thou troubled, X X? Hast thou not read the Friend, and found thyself in a majority? Or lo! art thou convinced that thy Friend has lied unto thee? Oh, lie upon the thought!

Here comes the cloven foot:

"Should people of so little ability to discriminate between good and evil be trusted with the franchise?"

Just you try it. And lo! thou shalt see what thou shalt see.

CIVIS.

THE KAHI MATTER.

A complaint was filed by Mahoe (w.) and C. B. Kanakani, her husband, vs. Anakalea Kahi and Keahi in the Supreme Court, October 19, 1889. The complaint recites that Mahoe and her brother Keahi are entitled to undivided interest in a portion of Land Commission No. 9327, Royal Patent No. 174. A dispute had long existed between them and L. Kaina concerning the validity of a deed made by the ancestor of Mahoe and Keahi to Kaina, the brother and sister alleging the conveyance to be fraudulent and void, and Kaina contending for its genuineness.

Kahi was retained by Mahoe and Keahi to effect a compromise with Kaina and to obtain a release of his claim to the property. The complaint recites that defendant while acting in the capacity of attorney subsequently acquired possession of the land for a mentioned consideration of $220. The complainants aver that the amount paid could not have exceeded $160. Kahi has since steadily refused to transfer the property to his client although tendered the full amount of $220. But not only did Kahi get possession of the coveted premises but he seems to have got hold of Keahi, who is accordingly made a party to this suit.

The prayer urges the propriety of changing the role of Kahi from one of ownership to one of trustee in trust for benefit of Keahi and Mahoe. On the 19th of December, 1889, Justice Preston filed his decree ordering the defendant Kahi within ten days to convey the property to plaintiffs on the payment of $220, it appearing that Keahi disclaimed any interest therein. The decree was appealed from to the Supreme Court in banco and confirmed Feb. 10, 1890. Feb. 28, 1890, Mr. Kahi came before the Court on a charge of contempt in refusing to execute the instrument of conveyance. After various delays Mr. Kahi was ordered to take up his residence in Oahu Jail till such time as he evinced a willingness to comply with the terms of the decree requiring him to convey his title in disputed land to plaintiffs.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

Great mortality is reported in the Sudan.

Brigands are increasing in numbers around Puerto Principe.

Emin Pasha will lead a German expedition to reconquer Wadai.

The King of Dahomey's forces have been routed by the French.

The Batavia Railway Station in Cebu was blown up with dynamite and many people injured.

It is again said that Dr. Peters and his party have been massacred. The man seen by French missionaries was Bochart, Peters' lieutenant, who was mistaken for Peters. Bochart first reported the massacre of the Peters party.

Le Gaulois of Paris publishes a despatch from a correspondent who accompanied the Panama Commission. He says the experts have decided it is possible to construct the canal only with locks. Some engineers favor a plan of operations embodying two locks, which might possibly be completed in four years at a cost of $28,000,000. He also states that seven-tenths of the work remains to be done, and that the canal is beginning to fill with sand. He thinks the commission will more likely advise the company that from six to eight locks will be necessary.

The commission reached New York on their way home Feb. 18 but declined to say anything.

In the Canadian House of Commons an amendment to kill the bill abolishing the French as one of the official languages in the Northwest was lost, 63 to 187, four English members voting for the amendment. The French are greatly excited over the debate and talk of disruption of Confederation and annexation. Sir John Macdonald threatens to dissolve Parliament and appeal to the country on the question, as he is between the two fires of Ontario Orangism and Quebec Ultramontanism.

The Mexican-Guatemalan question is very unsettled. The aggressive policy of Mexico is fast approaching a climax. Mexican troops are being massed on the Guatemalan frontier.

The commission appointed to investigate the condition of the army and navy recommends revolutionizing the army and indirectly condemns the Duke of Cambridge for incompetency.

An advertisement in a paper is a very simple thing.
Be it round or square or tapering, it has the same clear ring.
At first it seems to pass you by,
Or draws but slight attention, The next you know you have to try To keep from making mention Of what it says. Then it comes A little nearer to you, And you are forced to recognize It's trying hard to do you.
But when for business it starts out No mercy does it give!
It simply plays with you a while,
Then hits you where you live.

And then blew out the gas.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

At the inquest held yesterday over the body of Sam'l Kawehiwa who was run over by the water cart of the Tramways Co. on Sunday, Uana, W. C. Landsberry, J. H.
Nye, Mrs. Kibbling, Mrs. Naiapakai, Deputy Marshal Creighton, and L. Ward were examined. The testimony showed that the boy was in the habit of jumping on the cart to drive, and the evidence of Mr.
Ward established the fact that he had been forbidden to do so. No negligence on the part of the company being apparent the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated, that the boy came to his death accidentally on March 9, 1890, by being run over by the water cart of the Tramways Co.

NAVAL NEWS.

Interesting Items About the British and American Fleets.

The following is from the London Daily News of Feb. 12:
Rear-Admiral Charles Frederick Hotham, C. B., the youngest flag-officer in the navy, has been appointed to succeed Vice-Admiral Henage as commander-in-chief on the Pacific station, where he will fly his flag in the Warspite. Born in 1843, Admiral Hotham entered the service in 1856, and became a lieutenant at twenty, a commander at twenty-two, a captain at twenty-eight, and a rear-admiral at five-and-forty. Such rapidity of promotion is almost without parallel in recent years. He distinguished himself in the New Zealand war, was flag-captain of the Alexandria at the bombardment of Alexandria, was aide-de-camp to the Queen from 1886 to 1888, served in 1886 on the Royal Commission on the system of purchase and contract for the navy, and became a Lord of the Admiralty in January, 1888. Captain the Hon.
Hedworth Lambton, who was flag-lieutenant in the Alexandria at the bombardment of Alexandria, and who is an almost equally fortunate officer, takes command of the armored cruiser Warspite on the 4th inst., and will thus again serve with Admiral Hotham. The ship is expected to sail for the Pacific towards the middle of the month, and upon her arrival there the present flagship, the Swiftsure, will come home and be refitted.

The Illustrated London News says the Warspite will have the distinction of counting among her officers the youngest Admiral, the youngest Captain, and the youngest paymaster in the navy. The same journal says that the Goldfinch's distinction is that eighteen months ago her construction had not been commenced.
The Goldfinch is going on the Australian station, under command of Lieut. Commander Kingsmill formerly here in the Cormorant.

The Washington Post of Feb. 22 says: Rear-Admiral Kimberly, who had such a terrible experience in the harbor of Apia about one year ago, is in the city and has established himself at the Ebbitt House. As soon as the news spread that the gallant officer was in Washington he was besieged with cards and invitations until he was compelled in self-defense to seek refuge at a friend's house for the evening. This is the first time that Rear-Admiral Kimberly has visited Washington since his return to the United States. He has been content, meanwhile, to remain quietly at home in West Newton, Mass.

Admiral Kimberly had a long talk with the Secretary of the Treasury, Feb. 23, as to his next assignment.
He declined, as his rule has hitherto been when requested, to express any preference of duty. It is likely that he will succeed Rear-Admiral Jouett on the board of inspection. The latter retired Feb. 27, after 48 years' service. Admiral Kimberly is now at the head of the Rear-Admirals on the active list.

Three of Admiral Kimberly's associates on the Pacific station have been assigned to duty. Lieutenant Robert M. C. Brown, whose novel tactics of filling the rigging with men cleared the Trenton of the reef at Apia and saved 450 lives, is on duty in the Judge Advocate-General's office at the department. Lieutenant H. O. Rittenhouse, who was Admiral Kimberly's Flag Lieutenant at Apia, will go on duty at the Naval Academy as head of the department of drawing. Lieutenant G. A. Merriam, who was Admiral Kimberly's secretary on the Pacific station, is also on duty at Annapolis.

The Senate naval affairs committee has reported favorably on the request of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, to be relieved of the penalties accruing by the reason of the horse power developed by the cruiser Charleston falling below the contract requirement. A bill will be reported relieving the company of the $33,000 penalty.

Edward Walsh, Sergeant of the Marine Corps, died very suddenly of heart disease at the Marine bar-acks on Mare Island, Feb. 26. He had served in India with the famous Sir Colin Campbell for ten years; sailed with Farragut, and for eight years had been Orderly Sergeant at the yard. He was distinguished for his liberality, his efficiency as an officer and his superior education.

Senator Chandler has introduced a bill to authorize the voluntary retirement of naval officers over 43 years of age who have served at least twenty-five years and belong to a grade whose numbers were reduced by the act of August 5, 1882, limiting the personnel of the navy.

SUPREME COURT.

In the matter of proof of will of Julia L. Rawson deceased, hearing was postponed to a date to be hereafter determined. The petition for probate is made by Jno. S. Walker. The postponement is necessitated by the absence of Cecil Brown and the sickness of J. Lazarus, attesting witnesses to the will.

POLICE COURT.

Two men paid six dollars each for drunkenness.
Ah Mo for larceny of $1.10 was partially tried and remanded to tomorrow.
Other cases are still on trial.

BEE HIVE HONEYCOMBED.

Till Tapped—Treasure Taken—Bottles Burst.

The Bee Hive Saloon on Nuuanu street was entered last night by burglars. On the left side of the building there is a closed entrance to an alley. At a right angle to this alley there is a rectangular yard at the back. This yard contains a long shed in the corner where the alley meets it. The remainder of the space is separated from the adjoining premises by a corrugated iron fence. Beyond doubt the robbers climbed this fence near the shed, as muddy traces of feet abound in profusion. They tried both rear doors and then endeavored to pry up a window on the alley side. A piece of broken file records the futurity of this attempt. The midnight marauders then knocked out a pane of glass but had their trouble for their pains as the window spring proved to be on the opposite side.
The proper pane was then knocked out, the sash raised and the crib crackers ushered themselves into the room.

Wasting no time they proceeded at once to business. Opening the till they appropriated two dollars.
There was a box in the back part of the drawer containing untold wealth which escaped their observation.
Lighting a candle and lamp, they proceeded to console themselves for their oversight, by sampling seven or eight bottles of liquor. This pastime was of such a satisfactory nature that they improvised an extempore table out of a box and went into hasty consumption. Four empty beer bottles tell the sad disappearance of its contents. One bottle each of beer and sour mash shows that the intruders were no hogs.
After the diversion of jerking off one of the front door locks they advanced side die through the window by which they had entered, leaving very faithful impressions of their feet on a bundle of Manila paper.
This narrative is due to the traces left by the till tappers themselves.
It only needs a description of their personal characteristics to make the thing complete.

R. M. S. ALAMEDA.

The R. M. S. Alameda of the Oceanic line entered port about half-past one o'clock Saturday afternoon, after lying off and on for twenty-four hours.

Purser Sutton furnished the following memoranda: Discharged Sydney pilot Feb. 19th, at 4:45 p. m., received Auckland pilot Feb. 23d, at 6:09 p. m.; discharged Auckland pilot Feb. 24th, at 3:45 p. m.; stopped off Tutuila Feb. 28th, at 10:43 a. m.; sailed from Tutuila Feb. 28th, at 11:13 a. m.; stopped for Honolulu pilot March 7th, at 12:50 p. m. Time 16 days, 15 hours and 22 minutes from Sydney; 12 days and 44 minutes from Auckland. Strong easterly winds between Sydney and Auckland with rain. From Auckland to the Equator northerly winds, from the Equator to port S. E. and southerly winds with passing showers.

The Alameda proceeded on her voyage to San Francisco about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Lists of passengers hither and hence will be found in the shipping column.
