New York Financial Storm Clearing Up

Supt. Holloway Will Probably Leave Office Nov. 23

NUUANU DAM CONTRACT MAY BE CANCELLED

There is something about the Nuuanu dam matter. What it is Governor Frear will not divulge, saying that he is still waiting for the report being prepared by Secretary Mott-Smith. But there is little doubt out that the Governor has pretty much made up his mind what he will do.

The chances are that he will say nothing for some time to come. He expects to leave for Washington about the first of November, and it is probable that there will be a large stillness in regard to what will be done to the dam matter, so far as he is concerned, until after he leaves.

But there are rumors afloat which, while not authentic, bear the earmarks of being true.

The commission under which Superintendent Holloway holds office expires November 23, and rumor has long had it that after that date there will be a new Superintendent of Public Works, under whose supervision the dam will be completed. Who this new man will be is still the subject of conjecture. The general idea is, however, that he will be a competent business man rather than an engineer, the engineering work being left largely to his subordinates.

That both J. Hastings Howland and his brother will leave the department is regarded as practically certain. Although neither the Governor nor the Secretary will discuss their ideas in regard to the matter, there is a general atmosphere around the executive offices that does not promise to be favorable for the brothers. The criticism of the work already done on the dam has been so strong and so long-continued, and so much of it has been directed at J. Hastings Howland, that the general feeling is that it would be impossible to continue them in their jobs, even if the investigation had pointed to their efficiency.

And the contract with Whitehouse will be broken—so rumor has it. There has long been doubt as to the legality of this contract, many of the legal fraternity holding that it is far from sound and that the law would uphold the Territory in breaking it. Governor Carter was apparently afraid to take any steps in this direction, but it is now all up to Frear, Mott-Smith and Howland.

The dam will be completed—that is certain. But that it will be completed by the present contractor and under the present head of the Public Works Department is another question.

LUMBER COMPANY INCREASES CAPITAL

Improvements Needed To Fulfill Santa Fe Contract

At the request of the directors the stockholders of the Hawaiian Mahogany Lumber Co., Ltd., held a special meeting this forenoon at which it was decided to increase the capitalization of the company by $150,000, raising it from $100,000 to $250,000.

"We increased the capitalization of the company as a result of the contract we made with the Santa Fe railroad," said W. W. Harris, who is one of the leaders of the company, this noon. "We needed additional funds in order to place ourselves in a position to fulfill our part of the contract. We will have to deliver 500,000 shia this year, and as the forest where we will cut this timber is at an entirely different place from that where we are now operating, we will have to erect a new saw-mill there, and money will also be needed to furnish facilities for the transportation of the logs from the mill to the shipping point."

PRESIDENT PINKHAM NOT ASSASSINATED

Absurd Predictions Of Worm Wallach Fail Of Fulfillment

President Pinkham of the Board of Health returned yesterday from Kalaupapa, but has nothing to say of what took place there in regard to the Wallach agitation. He says that he wants to wait until he makes his report to the Board of Health before he talks.

But Worm Wallach's wild prophecies of what would happen to Pinkham if he dared to set foot in the settlement sound rather flat now, in view of the real attitude of the people there toward the President of the Board of Health. Although many of them have been misled by the mouthings of the worm doctor and the dishonest efforts of politicians to make capital out of Wallach's lies, they all realize that Pinkham and Jack McVeigh are the ones who are really doing all for them that can be done, and that conditions at Kalaupapa and Kalaupapa are much better now than they were before Pinkham became head of the Board.

At the meeting held to consider the Wallach matter, Pinkham was repeatedly cheered enthusiastically. After it was over, he was invited to go to the Bishop Home for Girls, where the inmates had prepared a special program in his honor.

When he left the girls were down at the landing to bid him good-bye.

And yet Worm Wallach prophesied that if Pinkham ever went to Molokai he would be mobbed or hanged by the angry lepers. Wallach even insisted that Pinkham would never dare to go to the settlement, but would go to some other place on the island and have Dr. Goodhue come out over the palm to meet him. This proved to be about as true as the female-rook doctor's assertion is that he can cure leprosy.

When Mr. Pinkham entered his office this morning he found that a decided change had taken place during his absence. A new roll-top desk had been provided in place of the old flat desk that Pinkham has been obliged to get along with. A new rug covers the freshly painted floor, and the whole room has been renovated and brightened up.

M'CANDLESS MAY BECOME SACRIFICIAL LAMB

"I shall probably make my first move towards the enforcement of the gutter ordinance today," said Sheriff Laukaia this morning. "I will issue a penal summons against some of the parties who are violating it by not having their buildings furnished. As far as I have at this time learned from those who intend to contest the legality of the ordinance, they wish L. L. McCandless and James Armstrong to be the defendants in the case. I am perfectly willing that they should be made the lamb, and the serving of the summons will probably be made this afternoon."

Wrecked Crew Is Going Home

Among the passengers on board the steamship Asia, arriving this afternoon from the Orient, are the captain and shipwrecked crew of the whaling schooner "Carrie and Annie," well known in the Hawaiian shipping circles.

The "Carrie and Annie" dragged her anchors and went ashore during a storm off the Siberian Coast and was a total loss. The men who are being returned to their homes by the American Consul at Yokohama are: Captain F. J. Thomas (owner), First Officer J. Bertoncini, Second Officer C. H. Tinnath, Seamen—Antonio Fernandez, James Marshall, Joe Souza, Harry Smith, Frank Collwood, Jerry Mahoney, Fritz Schwarlander, A. L. Wade, J. H. Wade, Peter Powell.

ASIA IN PORT

The Occidental and Oriental steamship Asia, Captain Gaukroger, from the Orient, docked at Hackfield wharf at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. She carries 200 tons of freight and a large mail for this port. The trip over was uneventful. A sailing vessel was sighted yesterday and reported all well on board. The Asia brought 211 Japanese and one Chinaman for this port. They were being sent to quarantine for the usual period. The shore people, except the stevedores, were not allowed on board the ship, she being under quarantine.

She sails for San Francisco at 4 o'clock this evening.

JAPANESE UP FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Portuguese Boys Injured Rice Crop Near Punahou

Today was a bad day for a couple of Japanese who tried to monkey with the administration of justice in the Police Court, two separate offenses being committed in this line in which the offenders were quickly taken before Judge Andrade. One of these, a man named Horoku, tried the trick, which is commonly practiced by Chinese, namely of appearing instead of a friend who had been arrested, and who for reasons best known to himself preferred to pay a substitute to appear in court to galling there himself. Horoku's friend was one of a bunch of Japanese arrested for gambling, but when Horoku took his place in the line of defendants when the case was called, he was spotted by the officers who had made the raid, and it was brought out that he was not the man who was wanted. A charge of contempt of court was immediately preferred against him, on which he was fined $10 and costs, while his friend, the real defendant, will be brought before the court later on to answer to the gambling charge in person.

The other person arrested for contempt was a Japanese woman, whose name was entered on the calendar as Mrs. Hinn. She was the principal witness for the prosecution in a cheating game, and had failed to come to the court when this case was called in spite of the fact that she had been regularly subpoenaed. She explained to the judge that she had stayed away because she was busy minding her children, and she did not think that she was an important witness anyway, as she had done nothing wrong. The court gave her a severe lecture, and continued the case against her until the day on which the hearing of the case in which she is a witness has been set.

A couple of young Portuguese boys, named Joaquin Martin and Sonny Guerrero, were charged with malicious injury. Their arrest was caused by the complaint of a Chinese rice planter whose fields near Punahou had been invaded by a number of boys from the neighborhood, who were in the habit of throwing the harvested rice about and making play houses of the bundles. At times they would play the popular game of "firehouse," by setting fire to these houses, which was great sport for everyone concerned except the Chinese.

Judge Andrade sentenced the boys to the reform school for the rest of their minority, but admitted them to probation for eight weeks.

GRAND JURY WILL REPORT WEDNESDAY

The Federal Grand Jury will probably not make its report before next Wednesday morning, although it was expected that a report would be made either last Saturday or this morning.

The matters being investigated today are counterfeiting cases. There are several Koreans now under arrest, charged with making and shoving the queer, and as one of them has confessed and another has practically done the same, there is no doubt but that indictments will be returned against them.

MAY CHANGE PLANS OF PANAMA CANAL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Because of the fact that the plans of shipbuilding now include the building of much larger ships than have been formerly the case, it has been decided by Rear Admiral H. H. Rowan, C. E., of the bureau of Yards and Docks, that it will be necessary to widen the Panama Canal in order to accommodate the shipping that may want to pass through it. He arrived at Washington yesterday with the plans he had drawn up for the purpose of submitting them to the Government officials.

The projected widening of the canal will involve the expenditure of many millions in addition to the first estimated cost, and will require an extension of time for the work of completing the canal.

AH KUINI WANTS $1800 DAMAGES

Ah Kuini today filed an action in trespass quare clausum freit against Kaeha Kapahu, asking for damages in the sum of $1,800, with costs, attorney's commissions, etc., for certain unlawful acts alleged to have been committed by the defendant.

The complaint states that on July 9, 1900, the plaintiff leased from P. Mahanui, then guardian of the defendant, a piece of land at Waiakua for the term of seven years. During the term of the lease the plaintiff erected on the land buildings costing $1,186.50, it being agreed that at the expiration of the lease the plaintiff should have the right to remove any improvements made.

On March 12, 1907, the defendant wrongfully ousted the plaintiff from the premises, and although the rent was paid up to July 9, refused to refund any of it. Further, when the plaintiff tried to remove the buildings he and his agents were forcibly prevented from so doing and violent threats were made against them.

RAT INFECTION CAUSE OF PLAGUE

Dr. Ramus of the Marine Hospital service received a letter from Dr. W. C. Hobbs at San Francisco, dated October 9. It contained the death report of San Francisco up to that date. According to that report there were 58 plague cases in San Francisco, out of which 33 died. The rat infection along the waterfront was the original cause of those cases.

ISABELLA MISSING

There were a number of arraignments in Judge Dole's court this morning. Narcario J. Lewis and Isabella Salamea were charged with adultery, but Isabella, who was out on bond, failed to show up. Action will probably be taken on her bond. Lewis was arraigned and reserved his plea until tomorrow morning.

Lam Yip and Lau Shee, charged with peonage in having kept a Chinese girl virtually in a condition of slavery, were arraigned and plea reserved for a week. Lam Yip is also charged with adultery. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and the case was set for trial November 11.

Court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

WATERFRONT NOTES

The transport Buford, Captain Hall, arrived Saturday evening about 8 o'clock, coming quietly into the harbor and docking at the naval wharf. Weather of a nasty nature was experienced all the way across the Pacific. It was expected that the transport Warren would shortly follow the Buford, but orders have been issued from Washington to hold her in the Philippines for a while. The purpose of her detention there is to use her as a government freight boat between the islands. The McClellan and the Seaward are to be put to the same service. The government formerly had a contract with private parties to do the freighting between the islands but this contract has expired and no provision has been made for its renewal as yet so the transports named above will be converted into freighters for the time being.

News was brought by the last Alameda to the effect that the revenue cutter Manning, which is now at the Bremerton yards on the Sound undergoing extensive repairs, will be ordered back to Hawaii in the near future. It has not been settled yet as to who will command the Manning while in these waters. Captain Cantwell, who was in command of the Manning when she sailed for the North, has been ordered home on leave. Lieut. Joyes has also been ordered for a change of base to some eastern point, where he will be closer to his relatives. From what can be learned by letters from those on the Manning, all are anxious to get back to tropic waters.

There is some little uneasiness being felt among shipping circles regarding the Russian steamer Sungari, which has been due here since last Sunday. Theo. Davies & Co. received a cable some time ago that the Sungari would call here for coal as she was short of fuel on leaving Vladivostok but was thought to have enough to carry her to this port. It may be possible that the ship has run out of fuel and is drifting helplessly. The Sungari is of 2751 tons register.

Dr. S. J. Cull, the surgeon of the cutter Manning is on the sick list and is at present on his ranch near Hollister, Cal., building up his health. The doctor was not in favor of going North with the vessel on her recent change of stations as he has been sick before when on the northern district.

The transport Buford made an exceptionally short stay in this port. Water was about the only thing she required in the way of supplies. Of coal she had sufficient. She left a couple of bags of mail and left at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Major Dunning was an outgoing passenger on the Buford. He has been ordered to the Coast to take part in the horse-riding test that the Government has ordered.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

Mass Meeting Adopts Unanimously Wallach Resolution

HEALER PROMISES TO ABIDE BY IT

Had not the subject matter of the meeting at Ala Park last Saturday night been so pathetic the affair would have been an immense joke. It would certainly under other circumstances have been extremely amusing to see the acknowledged leaders of the political parties, the Government band and great masses of the people gathered to render their homage to the smirking, self-satisfied quack whose female-worm joke has set the entire Territory humming.

The meeting was ably managed by John C. Lane, who managed to steer his more enthusiastic brother politicians away from the temptation of bringing up party issues. His handling of Wallach was an especially good piece of work. He did not want the "doctor" to speak before the resolution was passed, but after this had been done Lane was determined that he should publicly admit that he considered himself bound by the terms expressed therein, so that there would be no loop-holes for him to sneak out of in the future.

Wallach, when he began his speech, had evidently intended to get off a lot of glittering generalities and let it go at that, but he had the watchful Lane at his elbow, reminding him in a stern whisper that he must acknowledge himself bound by the resolution, and Wallach swallowed the pill with fairly good grace.

People Have the Power

Senator John C. Lane officiated as chairman. He made a short speech relative to the leper question and asked the audience to support the resolution, which was read later in the evening. In his speech he said about as follows:

"Fellow-citizens:—You have been invited to come here tonight to listen to the views of some of our prominent Hawaiians about the leper question. There is in our midst today a man called Wallach. The Hawaiians have heard much of him as a healer of leprosy. We want this man to give us a cure—to heal our leprosy friends. I know that he is able to cure leprosy. The leaders of the political parties, including the Home Rule leaders, such as Notley, Poepe and others, have consented jointly to petition the Board of Health by means of resolutions to permit Wallach to cure the so-called lepers. The Board was created by the people through the Legislature. We, the people, are above the Board and if we are united in our effort we shall accomplish some good. If the Board refuse and turn down our resolution, then, I say, at the coming election let us take away that power from them. I believe we can do it. As the time is limited, I now take pleasure in introducing to you as the first speaker the leader of the Home Rule party, Chas. K. Notley.

Notley for Wallach

"Dear Ladies and Fellow-Citizens, Aloha," said Notley. "The leper question is a very important one and is especially so to our Hawaiians. Such a petition today before the Board of Health, asking that Wallach be permitted to cure the so-called lepers. I know that he can cure leprosy. I have seen lepers cured by him. When he first came here I gave him the privilege of using my newspaper for the purpose of publishing what he wanted about the cure of leprosy. He is willing to cure the so-called lepers and that is why you are requested to endorse our resolution—in order that he may be permitted by the Board of Health to cure our poor and innocent friends at the settlement.

"Some of you here tonight are undoubtedly aware of the fact that he can cure leprosy. We want those people at the settlement cured. I am interested in this question because my brother is in the settlement. I would like to see Wallach allowed to cure my brother and those people there. ("Pololei!") While the cure is here let us try to get it. I ask of you all to give your support for the resolution which will be read to you."

Pinkham's Fat Salary
Representative Joseph Kalana was next introduced and spoke about as follows:
This leper question is a very important one. We ought to force our resolution ahead to get the consent of the Board of Health to permit Wallach to try his medicine on the lepers at Molokai. Personally, I am in favor of giving him a trial. The political differences which exist between our parties have no bearing on this matter. The leaders of these political parties are in mutual accord with each other so far as this question is concerned. The President of the Board of Health is responsible for the cure of leprosy. Why does he not try at least to find a remedy for those poor people at the settlement? He seems to be afraid of getting someone to cure them for they might be relieved of that dreadful disease. It is apparently probable that he wants to retain his position in order to draw his fat salary continuously. Should Wallach, after getting a permit from the Board, succeed in curing those lepers there at Molokai, it would be the greatest thing that he could do towards our fellow-men. In that event Pinkham would be ousted.

Board Would Poison Lepers

Abraham Fernandez followed Kalana and made a short address.

"This is not a question that pertains to one individual, but it pertains to all. It has been customary for the Board of Health to send people who are cross-eyed and whose swollen ears are hanging down low to the settlement. The physicians of today, performing an operation on a patient, can not altogether guarantee whether he or she will pull through successfully or not. Sometimes they make a failure and the patient dies in consequence. The Board, however, does not interfere with the physicians who make such failures. I admit that Wallach is not a licensed physician; but I know that he can cure leprosy. (Give us a trial," shouted a man in the crowd.) I don't believe in a Board which tries to interfere with our treatment or cure. I believe the sick would be poisoned if the Board of Health were permitted to interfere with the cure of leprosy. ("Pololei!") The trial is the first of all things and without it nothing that we see today would have been accomplished. Give Wallach a trial and we'll see something. (Applause.)

Leprosy vs. Consumption

H. J. Mossman said that he merely intended to place himself on record. The medical world had stated that the leprosy bacillus was one of the least to be feared in point of contagion. The disease of leprosy was prevalent among the Hawaiians, while the disease of consumption, which was one of the most contagious diseases known, was prevalent among the haoles. Lepers were segregated. Why not consumptives? The white race had not consented to segregate consumptives. The Hawaiian people were waiting for this to be done. It was to the credit of the Hawaiians that they had consented to the segregation of lepers as long as they had. In consumption you could take what cures you would. What the Hawaiians wanted was equal rights and special privileges to none.

Here a voice told Mossman to try if Wallach could cure him.

"One gentleman speaks in derision," he answered. "It is evident that he has been on Molokai and by the weakness of his voice it sounded like that of a consumptive."

The newspapers have been speaking in derision of our demands. Such conduct is un-American and, thank God, it is not Hawaiian. It does not sound like the Americanism which I heard on this platform a few months ago by Congressmen of the United States. It has been a great surprise to me to see the action of the Board of Health. I wish to place myself on record as being against its action in bucking the will of the Legislature, of which it is merely a creature. When the Hawaiian people are united, as they are to night, we will have our wish. We have fought and we will fight again on political matters, but on this question we are all united.

God Sent Wallach

Wm. White, Oily Bill, a humorous speaker from Maui, was next called to step forward.

"I was instructed by the chairman not to talk on politics, and I will not do so," he began. "What I want to see the lepers cured. There are many doctors in Honolulu now, but none of them can cure leprosy. Have faith in Wallach, friends, and everything will be all right. I know that God has heard our prayer, and for that reason He has sent down here in our midst a small man called Wallach. I know I can easily knock him down without the least trouble. (Laughter.) My name is not Oily Bill. (Laughter again.) I have almost forgotten my name. (Laughter.) As far as this leper question is concerned, the sentiment of the people, especially the Hawaiians, could be recognized through these great political parties represented by their leaders here tonight. Many marvelous things have been invented, not necessarily by scientific men but by non-scientific as well. Wallach is a marvel and that is why he claims that he could cure leprosy. I would like to ask you to support us in our effort. Endorse the resolution for the good of our unfortunate brethren."

Tears in Every Home

"Leprosy is a question that causes every mother, father, child, and, in fact, everybody to shed tears when that dreadful disease visits their homes," said Judge Kaulukou. "It is said that leprosy is incurable, in the estimation of medical men. They have been unable to find a remedy. I believe that our Creator has sent to us a man that can cure leprosy. His name is Wallach and he sits here on the stand. I ask you to endorse the resolution that will be presented to the Board. I am in favor of giving him a trial."

Believes in Trial

"I am glad to stand before you tonight and say something about the leper question," said Supervisor Frank Harvey. "The leper question is a sad thing to us and no one can deny it. I believe in making a trial on every thing. It is the safest way to find out what is and what is not so. The story of a little child aged three years, which was afflicted with leprosy is a sad one. He was taken away from his mother to the settlement. The parents were powerless, as the law was above them. You can imagine right there what a sad day it was to them. Personally I have not seen anyone cured of leprosy, but I have heard that Wallach can cure leprosy. Such being the case, we must give him a trial in order to find out whether he is a faker or not. The Board of Health has absolute power on this leper question, but the people who created this Board can abolish that power if they only stand united. The Bible teaches us to love our neighbors, and that is what we are trying to do to those poor unfortunate at the settlement. ("Pololei!" yelled the audience.) I am in favor of giving Wallach a trial with hope of seeing him cure the lepers. The same good book teaches us 'Knock and it shall be opened unto you.' Today we are knocking at the door of the Board of Health to give us a trial with this man Wallach, but as yet no reply has been received. Let us endorse the resolution."

Poepe Is Radical

"This is the most important question that we are confronted with to day," said J. M. Poepe.

"This question does not affect the government, but it affects the public health. I am sorry to say that the resolution was not read first. We are talking on without acquainting you with the conditions and facts contained in it. The Legislature with all its power was turned down by the Board it was a supreme power but was ignored by the same Board, which still exists today. What we intend to do with the resolution is to present it to the Board with a request that Wallach be permitted to cure leprosy. I have repeatedly told you from this stand that the laws which govern lepers should be repealed and everybody be permitted to cure the afflicted. Pick out good men for the next Legislature so that good and less better some leprosy laws can be passed from the days of the monarchy down to the present time I never knew of such an enthusiastic meeting as this. The Board of Health was never before requested to permit an unlicensed man to cure leprosy. We want Wallach to try his medicine on the lepers. The Board has the power to turn us down and its decision in the deliberation of the leper question is final and unshakable. I have been with Dr. Thompson at Kohala for three years and during that time he told me that the now so-called leprosy is nothing but a blood poison. I know that J. Lor Wallach can cure this so-called leprosy, and that is why I want him permitted to treat the lepers at the settlement. The Board can do almost anything it wants with people, who, through some accident, might be only blood-poisoned. If through some accident you happen to have crippled hands and crooked mouths, you are liable to be pulled in and sent away to Molokai. In order to avoid this trouble, I urge upon you to send good, fearless and reliable men to the Legislature whose determination is to do away with these restrictions. United we stand, divided we fall is an old saying. It is proper that we live up to it at this time.

Wallach Like Columbus

John H. Wise made a short talk. He said: "Ladies and Gentlemen, Aloha. You will kindly come with me and recall the history of Columbus, the great discoverer of the new world. When he first said that the earth was round, the scientists of the age laughed and made fun of him. They called him crazy. The king of Italy to whom he made his plans known, furnished him a sailing vessel and on her he started out to discover the new world. Everyone at that time believed that the earth was flat. Columbus set sail on his vessel and of course for many days no land was sighted. The crew, thirsting of the voyage, mutinied, but Columbus assured them that land would soon be in sight. They sailed on and on and finally reached America. This is an instance where we could see that a so-called fool, sometimes knows more about a certain thing than the educated people. They are calling Wallach all sorts of names today. The doctors claim that this little man, Wallach, could not cure leprosy. They are making fun of him and are apparently trying to get rid of him. They are licensed physicians and yet they could not cure leprosy. What's the harm of giving Wallach a trial? I would like to see him given a fair trial in order to demonstrate his cure. If the Board of Health would not grant our request, fire them out at the next Legislative session. If any of my parents were sent to the settlement through the mistakes of doctors, I say, they ought to be shot. Give Wallach a trial, because he claims that he could cure these so-called lepers. I thank you for this opportunity.

Wallach, the Morning Star

"Ladies and gentlemen, there is a morning star in our midst," said Supervisor Fern, poetically. "Wallach is the one I refer to. We all admit that leprosy is a vitally important question. We ought to check that dreadful

WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong?

The cause may be traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 228 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female ills which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

Speaking of the first Mayor of Ho-lulu: "Take note from the experience of San Francisco, of how important it is that the Mayor should be

first, an honest man."

Kona, the great sanitation of the Pacific, sounds good. And it rings true. But even a great sanitation must have passenger steamers available to enable people to make use of it.

All America is plotting against the rule of the Czar of Russia. Ever since the Republic was founded it has been a living protest against the absolutism

of Russia, which is a fast crumbling

type.

It would be remarkable for a month

to pass without someone appearing

with a new proposal on the Panama

Canal, or absolute proof that it either cannot be built, or will be useless if it is.

Schwab says he will spend a million dollars improving the Union Iron Works. Harbison says his confidence in the supremacy of San Francisco is unshaken. All our sister city needs to put it completely in line with all the good things of this life is the election of Taylor and an honest city government.

According to the latest cable dispatch, President Roosevelt shot three hens, six deer, one wild turkey,

twelve squirrels, a "possum, and a wildcat. "All were eaten, except the wildcat." Think of Teddy undertaking such a task in so few days! But we all know that he is strenuous and does many unusual things.

The latest crash in Wall Street appears to have caused more distress

in Germany than in other financial centers of America. This may be an incident of a particular failure or an evidence that Wall Street frenzied

financiers have lost some of their ability to hold an absolute sway over the country. With the crop returns fair and the prices high enough to make up the difference, the large cities of the West and South ought to have strength

beyond the ability of the Eastern gambler to overthrow.

The New York World voices a very general query when it asks how much longer the America cup defenders will be freak creatures that can go, but absolutely of no practical use after the race is run. "Arguing from past ten-decades," says the World, "the defender, while only 50 feet on the waterline, might be 140 or 145 feet over all,
and when she heeled to a fair breeze
would dip from 125 to 130 feet of her length in the brine. Her boom would be 20 feet longer than her water-line;
when close-hauled her sail plan would be the length of a "short block" in New York streets, and when running before a light wind with spinnaker boom out its width would be about the same;
her topmast would rise to the height of a four-story house above the loftiest
point of the Brooklyn Bridge roadway.
Her body would be in midship section not unlike the old Puritan's, but with the weight of a hundred-ton locomotive carried twenty feet below the waterline on her keel, and this deep ballast would be two-thirds of her entire tonnage. Her rudder would have the height of a two-story house and weigh 2800 pounds. She would own eight or ten tons of sails; say two acres, or enough to carpet Madison Square Garden, galleries and all. She would use at times a half-acre of sails at once.

She would have no deck rail to speak of. Below she would be a huge, dim cavern, practically without port holes, decks, berths, fittings, without anything that has weight. Her crew would not think of living upon her for a day."

THE AALA MEETING.

The assembly of Hawaiian-Americans at Aala Park on Saturday night shows how deeply anything that has to do with the care and treatment of leprosy enters into the hearts of these citizens.

There was not lacking, also, the exhibition of scheming politicians taking advantage of this fact, and playing on it, not for the good that may be done
the suffering but to gain personal political ends.

Wallach can do nothing if given a
"fair trial" but further prove himself
the quick and provocative that he is.
Many of our citizens are disgusted that the community could be and should be ridden down and over by the outrageous pretensions of this person. The same citizens, however, cannot fail to have a deep and sincere sympathy for the kindly, though misguided and honest, ones seeking some means of relief.

The condemnation of Pinkham, who has worked early and late and given of his own funds without stint, that the condition of the people at the settlement might be improved and the feelings of friends saved as much as possible, may lead some to say that people so ungrateful and unappreciative are not worth the attention. This is a natural spirit but not a right one.
The irresponsible statements of a few ingrates should not turn the sober sentiment of the community from the path of right action.

A cure and a relief is what the majority of the people who assembled at Aala want. It cannot be gained through Wallach. It may be gained through the work done by the Federal and Territorial Governments. The delay of Federal work, which promised much at the time it was started, has undoubtedly assisted in making possible at the present Wallach situation.
When the Federal appropriation was first made, the promise of rapid work in investigation was most liberal. It has not been fulfilled for reasons which reflect on special discredit on anyone. It has apparently been allowed to lag because there is no constant loud-voiced Hawaii demand hammering at the door of the department.
Those who wish to do something of real benefit to the people will interest themselves in urging forward the Federal work—the construction of the hospital at the settlement and the es-

They are cheaper. Five cents per

They are better situated. Almost every lot has a marine as well as a

They offer a better choice to pur-

That is not a matter of politics—in

MASS MEETING

"If we could do it, Wallach
claims that he can heal the lepers.
Give him a trial regardless of whether he has a license to practice or not.
The Board has the power to grant him a permit if it wishes to. Norway and our little Hawaii are the countries
where leprosy is especially prevalent.
There are some lepers in England. In our petition to the Board, requesting that Wallach be permitted to cure lepers, we must ask our Heavenly Father
to help us in our efforts.

Has Seen Wallach Cure

"I know that Wallach can cure lepers," said Editor Like of the Aloha Anna. "I am intimately acquainted with Wallach. I have been with him day and night, rain or shine. I know he could cure lepers, because I have seen him cure them. I know there are some lepers who are dying at the Day View Home and it is nothing but fight that Wallach be permitted to deal them before human skill fails to reach them. Give them every possible chance at least to relieve them of their great plikin."

Wallach's Natural Talent

"We are in the midst of a battlefield," said M. A. Silva, "and a stranger so far as speech-making is concerned. A man asked me the other day how I could tell whether a man is afflicted with leprosy or not. That was a foolish question. Every Hawa-ian could tell by sight whether he is a leper or not. I believe that God gives in his mercy sent to us a man that can cure lepers. His name is Wallach.
I know he has cured lepers. The educated call him all kinds of improper names. He may be a fool in their estimation, but that does not necessarily mean that he could not cure lepers.
Every man born in this world has some natural gifts and talents from God.
Every man who is afflicted with leprosy would not come out in public, for fear that he might be pulled in. The Board, I understand, wants Wallach to produce all those who have been cured of leprosy for inspection. Why should he do so? The Board simply wants to get hold of them. In order to stop all this howling, it is best to give Wallach a trial. That will settle the doubt."

BAZAARS ON MAUI

(Special to the Bulletin.)

Waikuku, Maui, Oct. 19.—A bazaar
and dance was held at the Lahaina
court house grounds Saturday, October 20th, for the benefit of the Protestant Episcopal church there. Those in charge of the affair were more than satisfied with the success of their efforts.

Last evening, the Makawao Ladies'
Aid Society gave a bazaar at the Paunene residence of Mrs. H. P. Baldwin and the affair was very largely attended and quite handsome returns were repaid by the hardworking, faithful ladies of the society. Trains were sent to take people to the scene of the fair.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening
Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

EDGAR MORTON MARRIED

(Special to the Bulletin.)

Waikuku, Maui, Oct. 19.—Edgar Morton, deputy sheriff of Makawao, was married at Lahaina this week to Mrs.
Minnie Crawford, of Kala. Both bride and groom were attracted to the breadfruit town by the gaieties at the old royal seat during the jury term, but cupid was there too, and greatly facilitated the groom in winning the fair bride. Mr. Morton is a well-to-do Hawaiian and his friends throughout the Territory all unite in wishing him
all happiness.

Bulletin gives a complete summary of
the news of the day.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

A gentleman residing at Dunedin, N. Z., writes under date Jan. 7, 1907:

"It is with gratitude I write you that I have now a splendid head of hair, both thick and very soft, all owing to my having used your wonderful Hair Vigor. I was almost bald headed before I used the Hair Vigor. I still use it once a day, rubbing it well into the roots of the hair. I used to wear a skull-cap, and I am very grateful to Ayer's Hair Vigor for the improvement it has made in my locks."

Be warned in time. Use Ayer's Hair Vigor and preserve your youth.

SECRETARY WOOD WANTS SANATORIUM

Suggests Incorporation Of $100,000 Stock Company

H. P. Wood, secretary of the Promotion Committee, has returned from North and South Kona, and expresses himself as being much impressed with the possibilities of a sanatorium in that part of the Territory, which he thinks, is the ideal place for an institution of the kind mentioned.

Mr. Wood is sending out to the members of the medical fraternity a circular letter, suggesting that each of them subscribe for one or more shares of stock, the balance needed to be secured from the business men of the islands. He suggests the incorporation of a company for $100,000, in shares of $100 each, enough of the stock to be sold to purchase land, erect the necessary buildings, provide maintenance, etc.

KALAUAO KEEPS AT LAND OFFICE

WATCH AND WARD

HILO, Hawaii, Oct. 17.—From September 19 to October 21, a period of thirty-two days and nights, Kalaauao, a Hawaiian, will have been sitting outside the Territorial Land Office in Hiloe when he files his claim to Lot No. 68, in the Olao homestead reservation, at 9 o'clock on Monday next.

Kalaauao used to live on Maui, but he came to Hawaii eleven years ago, in 1896, to be near his daughter, his son-in-law and his grandchildren. He is not a young man; he will be 49 years of age next month, but he feels young enough to take up a ten-acre lot, when it is appraised at only $15 an acre and is the kind of land he wants. There are several others who want it, too, among them Charlie King, inspector of schools on Hawaii. But they can't get it because Kalaauao came first, and this is a case where the first claimant gets the land, not an auction sale when it goes to the highest bidder.

So, unless Kalaauao should die or be shanghaied before next Monday morning the land will be his as soon as he pays down 8 per cent. interest on the appraised value for one year. The principal he can pay in three instalments at the end of the first, second and third years. Then he will get his patent. When asked by the Herald what he proposed to do with the land, Kalaauao, through an interpreter, said:

"It is now in forest. The timber is worth something. It is good cane land. I will clear a little and plant that in cane. If I clear the underbrush the trees will die out in time. I can hire a little labor to help me. In a few months I will have cane planted. It is good cane land; there is no better."

Kalaauao sits by day and by night at the door of the Hiloe Land Office. He has two grandchildren and they take his meals to him. Sometimes the firemen from the station just above take him a bench at night and he puts that in front of the office door and gets what rest is coming to him. He owns a little home in Hiloe, so is better off than many Hawaiians. But he is determined to own those ten acres of cane land.

The Biblical story tells us of forty days and forty nights of wandering in the wilderness. The Hawaiian story is only of thirty-two days and thirty-two nights, but there is not even the pleasure afforded by the wandering, no change of scene, only an empty lot, an office building, across the road. The door to the ten acres open or closed by his side, safer when closed because then nobody can usurp Kalaauao's place, which he is always afraid might be done by one of those whose business calls them to the land office by day.

Only four days more, Kalaauao, only four days more, and then the 768 hours of weary waiting will be of the past.

GREAT PINE YIELD

The Haiku Fruit & Packing Company have about completed their summer canning of pines.

The yield has been more than satisfactory. One ten-acre tract of ratoon has produced two hundred and fifty tons of pines, or an average of twenty-five tons of rattoons per acre. This is claimed to be the largest ratoon crop produced in the Territory. Haiku is noted for the phenomenal yield of pines per acre. While other sections produce individual pines as large or larger than Haiku, it is claimed that no section of the Territory can compare with Haiku in the yield per acre as a whole.

CHAPTER XV.—CONCLUDED

"Yes," she replied. So he ascended to find Stillman in the hall, half clothed and covering, while by the light from the front chamber he saw her finishing her toilet.

"Won't you come with me? It's our last chance," she only shook her head. "Well, then, put out the light. I'll stand at that front window, and when my eyes get used to the darkness I'll be able to see them before they reach the gate."

She did as directed, taking her place beside him at the opening, while the judge crept in and sat upon the bed, his heavy breathing the only sound in the room. The two young people stood so close to each other that the sweet scent of her person awoke in him an almost irresistible longing. He forgot her treachery again, forgot that she was another's, forgot all save that she loved him truly and purely, with a love which was like an agony to him. Her shoulder brushed his arm; he heard the soft rustling of her garment at her breast as she breathed. Some one passed in the street and she laid a hand upon him fearfully. It was very cold, very tiny and very soft, but he made no move to take it. The moments dragged along, still, tense, interminable. Occasionally she leaned toward him, and he stooped to catch her whispered words. At such times her breath beat warm against his cheek, and he closed his teeth stubbornly. Out in the night a wolf dog barked, the air then came the sound of others wrangling and snarling in a nearby corral. This is a chickenless land and no cock crow breaks the midnight peace. The suspense culminated in the judge's perturbation till his chattering teeth sounded like castanets. Now and then he groaned.

The watchers had lost track of time when their strained eyes detected dark blotches materializing out of the shadows. "There they come," whispered Glenister, forcing her back from the aperture; but she would not be denied, and returned to his side.

As the foremost figure reached the gate Roy leaped forth and spoke, not loudly, but in tones that sliced through the silence, sharp, clean and without warning.

"Halt! Don't come inside the fence." There was an instant's confusion; then, before the men beneath had time to answer or take action, he continued: "This is Roy Glenister talking. I told you not to molest these people, and I warn you again. We're ready for you."

The leader spoke. "You're a traitor, Glenister."

He winced. "Perhaps I am. You betrayed me first, though, and traitor or not, you can't come into this house." There was a murmur at this, and some one said:

"Miss Chester is safe. All we want is the judge. We won't hang him, not if he'll wear this suit we brought along. He needn't be afraid. Tar is good for the skin."

"Oh, my God!" groaned the limb of the law.

Suddenly a man came running down the plank pavement and into the group.

"McNamara's gone and so's the marshal and the rest," he panted. There was a moment's silence, and then the leader growled to his men, "Scatter out and rush the house, boys." He raised his voice to the man in the window. "This is your work, you damned turncoat." His followers melted away to right and left, vaulted the fence and dodged into the shelter of the walls. The click, click of Glenister's Winchester sounded through the room, while the sweet stood out on him. He wondered if he could do this deed, if he could really fire on these people. He wondered if his muscles would not wither and paralyze before they obeyed his command.

Helen crowded past him and, leaning half out of the opening, called loudly, her voice ringing clear and true:

"Wait! Wait a moment! I have something to say. Mr. Glenister did not warn them. They thought you were going to attack the mines, and so they rode out there before midnight. I am telling you the truth, really. They left hours ago." It was the first sign she had made, and they recognized her to a man.

There were uncertain mutterings below till a new man raised his voice. Both Roy and Helen recognized Dextery.

"Boys, we've overplayed. We don't want these people—McNamara's our meat. Old bald face up yonder has to do what he's told, and I'm ag'in this twenty to one midnight work. I'm goin' home." There were some whisperings, then the original spokesman called for Judge Stillman. The old man tottered to the window, a pained, terror-stricken object. The girl was glad he could not be seen from below.

"We won't hurt you this time, Judge, but you've gone far enough. We'll give you another chance; then, if you don't make good, we'll stretch you to a lamp post. Take this as a warning."

"I shall do my d-d-duty," said the judge.

The men disappeared into the darkness, and when they had gone Glenister closed the window, pulled down the shades and lighted a lamp. He knew by how narrow a margin a tragedy had been averted. If he had fired on these men, his shot would have kindled a feud which would have consumed every vestige of the court crowd and hidden himself among them. He would have fallen under a false banner and his life would not have passed to the next sunset. Perhaps it was for this now. He could not tell. The vigilantes would probably look upon his part as traitorous, and at the very least he had cut himself off from their support, the only support the northland offered him. Henceforth he was a renegade, a pariah, hated alike by both factions. He purposely avoided sight of Stillman and turned his back when the judge extended his hand with expressions of gratitude. His work was done, and he wished to leave the house. Helen followed him down to the door and as he opened it laid her hand upon his sleeve. "Words are feeble things, and I can never make amends for all you've done for us."

"For us?" cried Roy, with a break in his voice. "Do you think I sacrificed my honor, betrayed my friends, killed my last hope, ostracized myself, for us? This is the last time I'll trouble you, perhaps the last time I'll trouble you, no matter what else you've done, however, you've taught me a lesson, and I thank you for it. I have found myself at last. I'm not an Eskimo any longer. I'm a man!"

"You've always been that," she said. "I don't understand as much about this affair as I want to, and it seems to me that no one will explain it. I'm very stupid, I guess. But won't you come back tomorrow and tell it to me?"

"No," he said roughly. "You're not of my people. McNamara and his are no friends of mine, and I'm no friend of theirs." He was half down the steps before she said softly:

"Good night, and God bless you—friend."

She returned to the judge, who was in a pitiable state, and for a long time she labored to soothe him as though he were a child. She undertook to question him about the things which lay uppermost in his mind and which this night had half revealed, but he became fretful and irritated at the mention of mines and mining. She sat beside his bed till he dozed off, puzzling to discover what lay behind the hints she had heard till her brain and body matched in absolute weariness. The reflex of the day's excitement sapped her strength till she could barely creep to her own couch, where she rolled and sighed, too tired to sleep at once. She awoke finally, with one last nervous flicker, before complete oblivion took her. A sentence was on her mind—it almost seemed as though she had spoken it aloud:

"The handsomest woman in the north—but Glenister ran away."

CHAPTER XVI.

It was nearly noon of the next day when Helen awoke to find that McNamara had ridden in from the creek and stopped for breakfast with the judge. He had asked for her, but on hearing the tale of the night's adventure would not allow her to be disturbed. Later he and the judge had gone away together.

Although her judgment approved the step she had contemplated the night before, still the girl now felt a strange reluctance to meet McNamara. It is true that she knew no ill of him except that implied in the accusations of certain embittered men, and she was aware that every strong and aggressive character makes enemies in direct proportion to the qualities which lend him greatness. Nevertheless she was aware of an inner conflict that she had not foreseen. This man who so confidently believed that she would marry him did not dominate her consciousness.

She had ridden much of late, taking long solitary gallops beside the shimmering sea that she loved so well or up the winding valleys into the foothills where echoed the roar of swift waters or glinted the flash of shovel blades. This morning her horse was lame, so she determined to walk. In her early ramble she had looked timidly askance at the rough men she met till she discovered their genuine respect and courtesy. The most unkept among them were often college bred, although for that matter the roughest of the miners showed abundant consideration for a woman. So she was glad to allow the men to talk to her with the free freedom inspired by the new country and its wide spaces. The wilderness breeds a chivalry all its own.

Thus there seemed to be no danger abroad, though they had told the girl of mad dogs which roamed the city, explaining that the hot weather affects powerfully the thick coated, shaggy "malamutos." This is the land of the dog, and, whereas in winter his lot is to labor and slaver and starve, in summer he loafs, bloats, grows fat and runs mad with the heat.

Helen walked for and, returning, chose an unfamiliar course through the outskirts of the town to avoid meeting any of the women she knew because of that, that morning of the night before. As she walked swiftly along she thought that she heard faint cries far behind her. Looking up, she noted that it was a lonely, barren quarter and that the only figure in sight was a woman some distance away. A few paces farther on the shouts recurred, more plainly this time, and a gun shot sounded. Glancing back, she saw several men running, one bearing a smoking revolver, and heard nearer still the snarling hubbub of fighting dogs. In a flash the girl's curiosity became horror, for as she watched one of the now subdued group of animals and ran swiftly along the plank on which she stood. It was a handsome specimen of the Eskimo malamoot—tall, gray and coated like a wolf, with the speed, strength and cunning of his cousin. Its head hung low and swung from side to side as it trotted, the motion flinging foam and slaver. The creature had scattered the pack and now, swift, menacing, relentless, was coming toward Helen. There was no shelter near, no fence, no house, save the distant one toward which the other woman was making her way. The men, too far away to protect her, shouted hoarse warnings.

Helen did not scream or hesitate—she turned and ran, terror-stricken, toward the distant cottage. She was blind with fright and felt an utter certainty that the dog would attack her before she could reach safety. Yes; there was the quick patter of his pads close up behind her. Her knees weakened. The sheltering door was yet some yards away. But a horse tethered near the walk reared and snorted as the flying pair drew near. The mad creature swerved, leaped at the horse's legs and snarled in fury. Badly frightened at this attack, the horse lunged at his halter, broke it and galloped away. But the delay had served for Helen, weak and faint, to reach the door. She wrenched at the knob. It was locked. As she turned hopelessly away she saw that the other woman was directly behind her and was, in her turn, awaiting the mad animal's onslaught. But calmly, a tiny revolver in her hand.

"Shoot!" screamed Helen. "Why don't you shoot?" The little gun spoke, the dog spun around, snarling and yelping. The woman fired several times before it lay still and then remounted calmly as she "broke" the woman and ejected the shells.

"The caliber is too small to be good for much."

Helen sank down upon the steps. "How well you shoot!" she gasped. Her eyes were on the gray bundle whose death agonies had thrust it at night before.

Palamas Beat C. A. C.; Many Errors Made

The championship game played at Jackson Park yesterday between the C. A. C. and Palamas was full of errors. The Chinese made twelve mistakes—enough to lose two or three games. C. Akina at third base was a regular human sieve and let most everything that came his way escape.

For two innings the game was well played and no runs were scored. The fun started in the third inning, when the Palamas made two. The Chinese did not score until the sixth, and it looked for awhile as though they might be shut out.

John Lo was outpitched by Paululi. The former allowed six base hits and the latter four. Chi Bui's timely two-lagger was responsible for two runs.

The Palamas outplayed the Chinese boys at every stage of the game, and it looks as though the native boys will sew up the championship.

ATKINSON BASEBALL

Two fair games of ball were played in the Atkinson Baseball League yesterday.

The Pearl Handlers succeeded in defeating the Laundry team 7-3. The cops hit the ball hard at times and Rogers and Honan pitched for the losers. The Pearl Handlers did all of the damage in the first and fourth innings. The Laundry boys scored all of their runs in the sixth. M. Lee, in center, was the only Laundry boy to make an error.

Uncle Sam's sailors defeated the beer-makers from the Brewery by one run. They won their game in the ninth inning by forcing three runs across the pan. The final score was 7-6. The Iroquois have a good team and they are sure to make a hard fight for the championship.

JUNIOR RIVERSIDE LEAGUE

The Riverside Junior Baseball

League will follow immediately behind the heels of their elder brothers

just as soon as they are through with their championship series, at the Aala

Park grounds, perhaps on November

2nd or the Sunday following, and that day will be long remembered by baseball fans of this city as it will be opened amid flags and bunting of all nationalities. The day will be opened on a grander scale than that was attempted by their elder brothers, the

Riverside Senior Baseball League,

under the big stick of Bernard H. Ke-lekollo, then president, and if his plans are successfully carried out this time, the baseball fans of the city will not forget that they have been well-treated. As in the case of the Riverside Seniors the Juniors will appear in new uniforms and caps, and the standing rule of the League has been laid down that no barefooted player will be allowed on the field during the progress of a game. Thus the public will rest assured that hereafter, after the Riverside Seniors have laid down

their younger brothers will spring up at a moment's notice and take their place, giving the baseball fans of the city a baseball game that will be equaled, if not excelled, to that of their elder brothers.
